Units to Aid County On Inventory Taxing

A group to be selected from memberships of the Chamber of Commerce and the Taxpayers' association will aid county commissioners in finding a special tax investigator and in equalizing tax assessments.

The group will meet Friday morning before the county commissioners, county assessors and 12 members of the two civic organizations.

45-minute session. Claude Dettweiler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce civic action committee, said that he had been doing since the commissioners agreed four weeks ago on an emergency appropriation to hire an investigator in connection with incorrect inventory tax assessments.

Chairman of the Taxpayers' association, Dettweiler, said that when the commissioners and merchants agreed to a change in assessment procedure three months ago, the merchants were to check among themselves to assure correct returns for tax purposes.

All Action Possible

Dettweiler said the merchants had agreed to take the job that had been assigned to the Taxpayers' association. Dettweiler asked if four special assessors had been contacted and if the merchants were to be called on to determine if they would be willing to accept the job.

County Assessor George Childs was to have approached the accountants.

Four Willing

Dettweiler said the four accountants he had contacted had agreed to take the job.

Pilot Escaped Death in This Crash

FILER, June 25—In the fourth crash in less than three weeks, Laurence Johnson, Reeder Flying Service pilot, escaped death when his crop-dusting plane flew into a grove of trees at 6:45 p. m. Thursday.

Johnson, who was dusting peas for the Associated Seed Growers' association, was just completing the dusting of the E. J. Reeder farm three miles west of Filer when he sheared through the tops of trees near the Albert Schenker farm and crashed in a nearby pasture.

Johnson was quoted by witnesses as the crash as saying that his work in this last turn he had been blinded by the setting sun and did not see the trees in time to fill the plane, which was heavily laden with dust.

Johnson's injuries were a broken nose, bruised face, and minor cuts. He was treated in a doctor's office in Filer. Charles Reeder of the Reeder Flying Service said it was the second or third year Johnson had dusted crops.

Johnson was chosen as the best all-around pilot in the state of Idaho for the year 1947, and owns his own flying service which he operates out of Halley.

This is the third crash the Reeder service has had in the last three weeks. The plane Johnson was flying was a rebuilt war-surplus model, powered by a 200-horsepower engine. The plane is almost a total loss.

Guard Recruiting Halt Ordered As President Okays Draft Act

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Army Secretary Royall telegraphed all state adjutants general today to stop recruiting national guardsmen immediately. He told them congressional leaders will not favor extra appropriations to pay more guardsmen than the regular budget provides.

The budget for the next fiscal year provides for a total national guard strength of 341,000.

The rush of enlistments by men who otherwise would be eligible for the draft is believed to have pinched the strength to near 375,000. Under provisions of the draft act, eligible men who are not in the guard by midnight are subject to draft.

Signed Bill Yesterday

President Truman signed the start of the nation's second peacetime draft when he signed the two-year selective draft law at 4:40 p. m. (EST) yesterday.

Earlier he signed a $100,000,000 foreign military aid bill and an act to amend the law on the United States position in foreign affairs.

Registration Soon

Registration for the draft will get underway as soon as the nationwide machinery is set up—perhaps in 12 months. The 18-year-old draft boards must be organized to handle the thousands of men 18 to 25 who must sign up.

But new drafters won't start making their way to training camps until Sept. 22, after the law has been in effect for 30 days and the bill and the order to shoulder arms.

25,000 May Get Call

Up to 25,000 men through 25 may be called up for 21 months' service—mostly in the army—in the first 12 months of the law. 10,000 youths 18 years old may volunteer for one year's training to escape the draft.

But the 18-year-old volunteers must put in six extra years in the active reserves, or five years in inactive reserves after their 21-month hitch.

The law was not regarded, however, as invalidating the general reserve force which has held generally for two of its four weeks.

Col. Count Thord Bente, head of the trace mission, has informed Cairo of the violation, the spokesman added.

State Chamber Head Raps Demo's Charge

HARRY EBLECK, president of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, came back at Don Cavanagh Friday in answer to charges which the Democratic state chairman made Thursday against the state chamber.

The two falls merchants' bureau, and the present Republican state administration.

Among other things, Cavanagh said that "the present desperate effort of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and the local Republican leadership of the Twin Falls Merchants' bureau is nothing more than a political ruse to cover up an inept and inefficient state administration."

He blamed the present administration for the "deplorable" condition of Idaho's roads and charged the Republicans with violating their pledge to the people in the 1948 campaign.

"The purpose behind Cavanagh's statement is clear," said Mr. Ebleck, "and it demonstrates better than anything else the need for getting our highway department out of our highway department altogether. Even yet, until our highway program all but broke down, he cannot refrain from using the highway bureau as a political football."

"When the statewide highway state committee was set up by the State Chamber of Commerce, it was anticipated that certain political big game hunters would be fearful that they might lose control of the state highway department which they had used for so long as a political party's pet project."

"The fact that the study committee is making up a subcommittee, representative, broad-minded group of men from all parts of the state, and that the highway department is being turned over to Mr. Cavanagh, is more than enough to show that the highway department is being turned over to a man who is not a member of the highway department and who is not a member of the highway department."

"The State Chamber of Commerce has come to the realization that the highway program is largely dependent upon an efficient road program."

Frank D. Judd, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, said today that Don Cavanagh, Democratic state chairman, was off base when he charged the local Republican leadership of the Twin Falls Merchants' bureau into his attack against the Republican state administration.

Arab Plane Fires On U. N. Aircraft

TEL AVIV, Israel, June 25 (AP)—A United Nations spokesman said today that the Egyptian air force fired a clearly-marked white U. N. plane piloted by an American.

The spokesman said 10 of the Egyptian planes had refused to permit a U. N. approved Jewish supply convoy to pass over the Sinai peninsula, and that the U. N. commission here as witnesses of the truth.

The case was not regarded, however, as invalidating the general reserve force which has held generally for two of its four weeks.

Acclamation Vote Okays Choice Set by GOP's Leaders

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 25 (UP)—The Republicans by acclamation today named Gov. Earl Warren of California to run for vice president on the ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The choice was made with surprising suddenness after Arizona delegates decided to give up their plan to nominate Harold E. Stassen. The 1,001 delegates to this 24th GOP national convention whittled the straggling, 57-year-old Californian into the party's No. 2 spot and wound up their major business for another four years.

They had given Dewey the presidential nomination by unanimous vote last night on the third ballot, and they were pulling even closer together today.

Warren Accepts

Warren made a brief extemporaneous acceptance speech in which he said he had been "shocked" to be hit by a street car.

"And before you have a chance to change your mind," he told the cheering delegates, "I want to say that I accept the nomination."

He promised to join Dewey this summer and fall in a great crusade throughout the nation to return this nation to Republican principles. He said he would work with Dewey for a humane government, a frank government, an efficient government.

Dewey's Choice

In picking Warren for vice president, the delegates ratified Dewey's own choice of a running mate. The New York avenger conferred with party leaders throughout the night and for three hours today before the decision was announced.

The vice presidential nomination actually was offered to Warren at 11 a. m. He did not immediately accept, and Dewey was reported leaning to Harold E. Stassen, one of his best-standing competitors for the presidential nomination.

Agreement General

Today's conference produced general agreement on Warren, however, and California was named.

Four years ago in Chicago Warren turned down a chance to serve as Dewey's running mate. He was then with John W. Breker and had to the ticket headed by the late President Roosevelt.

This time, however, Warren allowed himself to be persuaded to take the post. But he made a condition—that, if he took it, the vice presidency be turned into "a working job."

"Full Partner"

Governor Dewey later said he planned to make Warren "a full partner" in the administration of the national government.

He told a press conference that he had no intention of being "ordered out of chaos."

Dewey said he expected to take full advantage of his expanded administrative authority.

Running Mates Dewey Gained Recognition as Racket-Buster

NEW YORK, June 25 (UP)—Thomas E. Dewey got his start toward the presidential nomination as a racket-buster when he won the $100,000,000 a year New York racket.

His pursuit of criminals as a special clean-up prosecutor from 1923 to 1927 brought the conviction of such notorious figures as Charles "Lucky" Luciano, the vice king James J. Linen, the Tammany politician.

Appointed by Democrat

Dewey was a 33-year-old private country attorney earning $15,000 a year when he received the appointment, which brought him national attention. Ironically, he was appointed by a Democrat—Gov. Herbert W. Lehman.

He was chosen for the job of special prosecutor in June, 1925, when a grand jury revealed alleged racketeering activities. He already had some experience in criminal prosecution as assistant and subsequently U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York from 1921 to 1923. During that time he obtained the conviction of Jack (Les) Diamond, a gangster, and Wesley Gordon, New York beer baron.

MCCALL, June 25 (UP)—This report today plans a definite court test of the Idaho law on gambling. This action is expected to follow a local ordinance to require police to bring "order out of chaos."

Soviet Makes New Changes On Cold War

BERLIN, June 25 (UP)—Hitler made another of her brazenly turn-about in cold war strategy today.

Allied officials in Brussels, on the border between the British and American zones, announced that the Soviet commander at Marienburg, Russian boundary controls, had said freight shipments to the zone of starvation could be resumed.

The Russian action regarding the allied route to Berlin came after a series of Soviet moves apparently designed to force the western powers clear out of the German capital. The Russian moves had seemed near to achieving that end.

The Russian action to permit freight shipments to the zone of starvation from some 2,000,000 Germans in sectors of the capital which are under American, British and French control.

It also would relieve any immediate pressure on the western allies to withdraw their military and civil establishments—totalling some 30,000 persons—from Berlin.

Earlier Russian moves had halted all traffic from the west into and out of Berlin except by air, and the allied administration they could not possibly supply the Germans in their sectors of the capital by plane.

It was deemed likely that the Russian threat to starve Berlin in the western sectors ultimately would force the allies to quit Berlin entirely, leaving the city under the Russian control. Both U. S. and British sources had admitted that possibility.

Nichols Says Martin Given Sores Arms

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
PHILADELPHIA, June 25 (AP)—The so-called pair of arms in Philadelphia being to a little girl named Joe-Joseph William Martin, Jr., of North Attleboro, Mass.

Normal times he's speaker of the house of representatives in Washington. Today he's running the show as M. C. at the Republican convention.

But at home or away, Joe Martin is strictly a gavel man. Since the Republicans took over Congress, he's had a gavel in hand most of the time trying to keep the Democrats in line.

He did a good job of it, using both hands—one at a time. At the start he got a little rough and came down so hard on shattersome crackers. He broke a water pitcher under the rostrum and flooded the platform.

He gavelled on, as one after another the candidates were nominated, reelected and toasted in wild confusion.

First Convention

This was my first convention. I had pictured myself sitting quietly behind my eyeglasses on a high perch in the press box. But you can't cover national pow-wows that way.

I found myself looking at the arena between the spiraled legs of a cameraman standing on my desk. Not a very good vantage point. Worse, the eye was a knee knocker as he bobbed into position to snap a good one, and a couple of my ears suffered.

That caught this old-time hazz runner off the bag. But between the knocking knees, like the fliker in the old circuit times, I could see Mr. Martin letting the block have it with his gavel. It looked as big as a night stool.

Final Honor Paid Charles Brockway

The victory left the smooth-playing Wranglers only one and one-half games behind the Rustlers, and gave Twin Falls an opportunity to narrow the gap in half a game with a Gil McDougald and big Gus Triandos provided the hitting power Thursday night, and Arthur Kuehl limited the visitors to six hits in gaining his fifth win of the year.

The Cowboy victory almost knocked the rustlers out of the playoffs. Only five percent points separate Idaho Falls and the Pioneer league leader in the race to win the title.

tripped down the right-field foul line in the fifth inning. McDougald scored after the Rustler pitcher cleared "Red" Joe's long fly. McDougald's hit made a 2 to 2 in the third inning. McDougald started the rally with a long fly to center field, and a solid single to right-center scored him.

Idaho Falls tied the count in the second inning. Priester starting the rally by beating out an infield hit. Shortstop Joe Polich made a sensational stop of the ball, but his throw was wide and not in time to reach Priester. Stanton's long single to right-center scored Priester, and Stanton went to second on the throw to the plate.

Score Tied

Bivens' home run tied to right. Stanek's advancing hit to center then drove in the tying tally with a fly to left.

The determined Twin Falls club came back in the last half of the fourth inning to take a lead which it never again lost. The team opened the inning with a walk and went to second on a single by Polich. After Bob Kordecki's batted to left field, Triandos struck a shattering fly to scoring Metro. Kuehl then lifted out to the pitcher, who threw to first base for a double play.

Foster, the starting Rustler batter, was hurt in the fourth inning and had to leave the game. Foster came to back up home plate when Metro scored on Triandos' hit. Foster stepped on an ankle. Metro's Waters replaced him on the mound after the play, and Ken Chapman came to the hill in the eighth inning.

Head Sinks Run Home

Twin Falls increased its lead to 4 to 2 in the fifth inning. Waters reached first on an error by Priester and went to second on McDougald's single to center. After being singled to center to score Jacobs, Waters reached first on the eighth.

Manager Metro opened the sixth inning for the Cowboys by blasting a flyball double to center field. Polich drew a base on balls, and Kordecki advanced the runners to second and third. Triandos then accounted for his second run-batted-in of the evening by singling to right to score Metro. Polich also attempted to score but was thrown out by the right fielder on a close play.

Big Gus Boss It

The Wranglers led the game in the eighth inning, when Triandos homered over the clock in left field with two men on base, making the score 8-2. The blow gave the team five runs-batted-in with a game. Five runners the inning with the name, Metro sacrificed, and Kordecki reached first on an error by the second baseman. Triandos then hit the first pitch for the retreat.

The Rustlers tried desperately to get back in the game in the ninth inning, but their rally was fruitless. Priester singled to left to open the frame, but the next two men were easy outs. Donnan then walked and third-baseman Carl Mussen hammered the ball over the job field wall to make the score 8 to 5. West then asked to left to end the game.

Warren Also Took Honors In Crime Cut

(True Case One) In 1928 when he was elected district attorney of Blaine county, which contains the city of Coakley on the east side of San Francisco bay, he was reelected in 1930 and 1934 and won a reputation as a racket-buster and prosecutor of corrupt public officials.

Impressed Sheriff In one case, he sent the county sheriff to prison for participation in a illegal hall-brawl on Coakley. He won conviction of a city commissioner for a paving contract deal.

In 1928 Warren decided to try for state attorney general, an important and powerful office in California. Although Democrats were elected to nearly every other state office that year, Warren won the attorney generalship.

In that job, he cracked down against illegal gambling, hitting hard at bookmaking and personally leading a state-wide raid on an offshore gambling ship.

Liberal Programs As governor, he sponsored a number of liberal programs. He tried twice—but failed—to get enactment of a state-operated health insurance plan. He did get approval for a "disability insurance" plan. It allows persons eligible for unemployment insurance to draw benefits for their loss because of illness as well as unemployment.

Warren sponsored a tax reduction plan that cut major state tax revenues by about $20,000,000 a year from 1940 on. At the same time, he built up a reserve of about $400,000,000 for construction of state mental hospitals, juvenile reform camps and other needed state construction.

Born In Los Angeles Warren was born March 13, 1881, in Los Angeles of Scandinavian immigrant parents. He went to public schools at Bakerfield, Calif., where his father was a railroad shop foreman. Later he was graduated from the University of California and from its law school.

He enlisted in the army in 1917 and became a first lieutenant, but did not get overseas. After military service, he was a legislative secretary in Sacramento and then went into the city attorney's office in Oakland, later transferring to the district attorney's office.

Warren and Miss Palmquist Meyers, a widow with one son, were married in 1925. The son, James, was adopted by Warren and they have five other children.

Educator Insists Fraternities Are Democratic Units

SUN VALLEY, June 25.—"If American college fraternities are undemocratic because they select their own members, then every Rotary and Kiwanis club in America is a threat to our democracy," Dr. C. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette University, Salem, Ore., told 700 Kappa Kappa Gamma delegates here Thursday.

Dr. Smith, who is national president of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, sent out to explain that fraternal and college organizations have opposed the fraternities on a basis that they were undemocratic. "Personally, I find nothing in the spirit of American democracy or in the wording of our constitution which would deny the privilege of the selection of one's elect friends into groups based upon ideals of mutual assistance and directed toward worthwhile objectives," Dr. Smith declared.

He said the scholarship standing of women fraternities are consistently higher than the average of the campus groups.

Dr. Smith told the girls that the obvious fault of a society is the thoughtlessness in their dealings with those outside their organization which causes the outsiders to classify society women as snobs.

He said the girls should be the obvious fault of a society is the thoughtlessness in their dealings with those outside their organization which causes the outsiders to classify society women as snobs.
