Russ Policy Shows Trend To Concord

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
 An Foreign Affairs Analyst
 In one respect, which still remains to be tested in the field of action, Russian policy seems to have taken a twist toward greater cooperation in the past few days.
 Her representative at the U. N. economic and social council meeting in Geneva suddenly dropped their attacks on the United States and the Marshall plan last week, and now they have agreed to development, by the economic commission for Europe, of improved trade relations between the east and west.
 The council asked the commission to get its technical committees busy on actual trade negotiations with Russia joining in the unanimous vote. This was quickly indicated in some quarters as indicating she was ready to accept the facts of the continent's economic interdependence despite her opposition to the European recovery program. Whether this was brought about by pressure from the satellites for trade which Russia could not satisfy, or whether it might have some connection with the current negotiations in Moscow, was not clear. Nor could its ultimate importance be determined until the details act underway.
 Allied diplomats returned long ago what Russia agrees to do and what Russia does are different matters. Moscow's agreement to negotiate over free navigation of the Danube with the subsequent revelation that it meant freedom for the communist countries only, is a daily reminder.
 Russia, however, has been trading with the west itself and so have the satellites. The Russian attitude has not been an embargo on either side. But Russian demands on eastern European production, at staggered prices and exchange rates, has served to stifle the trading ability of her sphere.
 The crying need in Europe is an exchange of western capital goods for eastern food. If there is a glimpse in the latter Russian attitude of readiness to cooperate, this probably is it.

'Potato' Plant Really Grows, Expert Learns

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 6 (AP)—A University of Massachusetts agriculturist today was skeptical about amateur Farmer John Nicholson's potato-tomato crop.
 "Probably potatoes grew to seed that just look like tomatoes," said Prof. Roy M. Koon, director of the university's Waltham field station.
 The two plants are so closely related that potatoes could grow on tomatoes, or vice versa.
 "But not by cross-pollination," said Koon. "Only by grafting."
 He planted a patch of seed potatoes near a field of tomato plants early in spring—and then turned the whole project over to his six daughters.
 The delighted girls informed him Wednesday that 550 of his 600 potato plants bore clusters of what appeared to be normal tomatoes.
 Nicholson took a look, yanked up a couple of the tomato-bearing potato plants and found normal potatoes growing from their roots.
 He credited bees with doing a remarkable job of cross-pollination.

WASHING POST—Neither President Truman nor his Republican opponents in Capitol Hill had a need to attack the basic causes for the cancerous inflation now afflicting the United States for the simple reason that they might then have had to face the voters in the November elections. This is the opinion of almost every recognized economist at Washington.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—The members of Congress who do not care to be quoted on this ticklish subject, they contend, are the ones who are being brought down, or another round of higher wage demands, or another round of higher price increases, or another round of higher artificial prices which, under the old Roosevelt-Wallace theory, now maintain the price of oil and food prices at an extremely high level.

Inasmuch as food accounts for from 30 to 40 per cent of a family's weekly budget, and in view of the fact that the cost of rent, utilities, clothing and medicine, vegetable and fruit prices, and the cost of a car, there can be no real reduction in the cost of living until a family's outlay for meat, bread, dairy products, vegetables, fruit and oil has been brought into a fairly reasonable relationship with wages.

It is the imbalance between the payments for eating and the income from working which, even more than anything else, has caused the inflation. The reason for this is that the cost of living cannot be brought down, or another round of higher wage demands, or another round of higher price increases, or another round of higher artificial prices which, under the old Roosevelt-Wallace theory, now maintain the price of oil and food prices at an extremely high level.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL HIRTLIG POT SHOTS

WHO WERE THEY?

Dear Pot: A group of prominent local women went to the home of Mrs. Lewis Clark at the Rock Creek ranger station for a bridge party. Their auto had a flat tire about five miles this side of the station, but the girls figured they had only about two miles to go. In high heels, and high-heeled shoes, they started to walk the rest of the way. We might mention here that all were dressed fit to kill.

Along the way, they were picked up by a sheep truck, not equipped with a pot. Came the rain.

When they arrived, the girls were a rather peculiar odor, one that could only result from a sudden rain hitting a sheep truck.

JOE AND HIS SPIDER

Dear Pot Shots: You should question Joe Bradford on the type of spiders he fetches around to the city hall. He'd just as soon he carried a mouse around with him, dropping it on desks instead of the critter he brought around the other day.

Maybe it was funny when people with faint hearts reacted in a right gratifying manner to his fake spider. But give me a mouse, or rat, just any day.

BOB HOPE

Muscles are flying. Yes, sir, the Olympic games aren't in England. In fact, there hasn't been this much excitement in London since they caught Sir Reginald peddling fuff and chips in the back of the house of lords.

Just picture it—hundreds of stalwart young fellows, some of them from every part of the world using their strength to bring glory to their country.

I wonder what they call the "breast of champions" in Czechoslovakia. Every type of sport is represented, including water polo, fencing and discus throwing. Discus— I still think that's one of my wife's pan-cakes that got away.

America has already done very well in track. I heard there was a recommendation last week to put Roy Cochran, under control of the United Nations.

And we've got some great diving champs. I love diving myself, but when I do the Jack-knife, all four blades are open.

And, of course, wrestling— one of the most exciting of all sports. Men's wrestling is so good, they face contorted in agony as they push against one another. Everybody trying to see the television screen.

I'm interested in the Olympics because my whole family has always been athletic. In fact, my brother participated in so many sports he used to get them confused. Every time he stepped into the ring, he took a dive.

Old Settlers Group Sets File Program

FILER, Aug. 6.—The annual picnic of the Old Settlers' club for residents of Twin Falls county who have lived here more than 25 years will be held at 1 p. m. Aug. 22 at the Filer fairgrounds.

J. L. Barker, Hansen club president, announced a special program has been scheduled. He asked all club officers to contact him first in the picnic.

The United States ranks first in production of about half of the 30 most important mineral products.

CITY MANAGERSHIP SPREADS

Indications are that the city manager plan for municipal government will have an excellent opportunity of adoption in Twin Falls, now that the present city administration and both chambers of commerce have gone on record favoring such a change.

Of course, it remains for the voters themselves to decide if they want the manager system of city government. Between now and the time the matter comes to vote, however, the chambers of commerce and present city officials will make a conscientious attempt to familiarize the people with the advantages of a city-manager ship over our present form of city government.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the council-manager or city manager plan of government is spreading rapidly throughout the country. Cities in the north-west which are now considering such a change include Pocatello, Nampa and Yakima, Wash.

The Yakima Republic, in support of city-manager ship, has pointed out that in 1920 there were 129 manager communities in the country as compared with more than 850 last month.

"Today, one out of every four cities of more than 10,000 population has a city manager ship," says the Yakima newspaper. "At the same time, the manager plan will overtake the mayor-council system in the late 1950s. The manager cities vary in size from Tebororo, N. J. (population 40) to Cincinnati (population 455,000)."

California has many cities as large or larger than Twin Falls operating on the city manager plan. These include Alameda, Alhambra, Burbank, Richmond, Stockton, Santa Monica and Bakersfield.

Almost every city of any size in Oregon, with the exception of Portland, has city-manager ship. These include Eugene, Medford, Bend, Astoria, and Astoria. Twelve of Oregon's 21 city-manager municipalities have been voted in since the war.

Idaho is one of only four states in the union which as yet have no city-manager municipalities. There is one in Montana, at Bozeman. The other states not yet in the city manager bracket are Indiana, Louisiana and Rhode Island.

"The city manager plan of municipal government," says the Yakima Republic, "offers an opportunity for more efficient and effective management of the public's business."

It's a change in which we believe Twin Falls should be interested.

DOWNWARD—Bumper wheat and corn crops here and abroad should hold out the hope that the level of meat prices will drop when animals fattened with these two crops are marketed.

Even this providential dispensation of fish harvests will not lower living costs unless it is accompanied by the new meat and poultry dispensation from the man in the White House and the men in Capitol Hill.

Beef cattle, hogs and lamb have been selling at abnormally high prices, because the wheat and corn crops of 1947 have been bringing $3.25 and $2.50 respectively. Due to prospective harvests, the cost of wheat has dropped to approximately $2.15, and corn to $1.50. It is allowed that it will in accordance with the law of supply and demand it should go even lower, and this decline should be reflected in the price of meat.

The same consideration should hold true for several other major food crops, especially potatoes. Naturally, downward price movement in the price of these products should be reflected in almost every other dish that goes onto the consumers' table, especially in dairy products.

RESPONSIBILITY—But the federal government is committed to preventing the cost of wheat, corn, potatoes and government-owned products from reaching a normal and natural level. And the responsibility for this artificial situation rests upon both the government and the consumers.

It is the responsibility of the government to prevent the powerful farm bloc in Congress, or to take a chance of losing the agricultural states in the November election.

It is the responsibility of the consumer to pay the price for wheat at $2 a bushel, and it is higher in some instances. For corn it approximates $1.50 a bushel. If the market price is $1.50 a bushel, it is a fair price for those amounts on government loans, and its subsidized holdings are then stored. Should the price never get to $1.50 a bushel, it will not mean a serious drop in the cost of meat. Beef now selling for $1.65 a pound, for instance, would probably drop to about 50 cents a pound.

POTATOES—Many families are subsisting on potatoes through the land, the death toll on America's highways continues to mount. It's one of the nation's greatest problems.

When automobile fatalities first became a matter of serious national-wide concern, those scratching their heads for some solution thought it best not to dramatize all the slaughter and bloodshed. It was too ugly a picture to be shown the people—the details were too gruesome.

Now it's a different story. The American Safety Council is figuratively beating the American people over the head in trying to bring them to a full appreciation of this carnage on the highways is all about. Instead of handling all the publicity with kid gloves, the council is now encouraging newspapers to carry pictures showing all the bloody details of highway tragedies.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is erecting big white crosses at places where people have lost their lives in automobile accidents. Luminous paint is being applied to these crosses so they will serve as a ghastly warning to drivers at night.

In several mid-western states an insurance company has been carrying on a campaign of erecting roadside crosses at every fatal accidents have occurred. One cross is erected for each person killed. Occasionally there will be as many as six or seven crosses displayed at one spot where, for instance, a school bus may have been involved in a fatality.

It's going to take such drastic steps as these to bring American motorists to their senses because in the main they are still foolhardy enough to think that individually they are immune from the possibility of being involved in a fatal mishap.

More effective legislation is another step that must be undertaken to bring this parade of death under control.

SUCCESS FORMULA

We predict great success for "The Babe Ruth Story" — The new film is off to a start. It is funny, it is happy, it is unobtrusive by accuracy, in detail or in viewpoint. It makes a sweet, sticky goo-goo out of one of the most colorful swashbucklers in the history of sports. The best critics condemn it as uninteresting and the sports writers who knew the Babe from the day he came up as a rookie pitcher to the day he hit three homers and announced his retirement. It is no more the Babe Ruth story than it is the Frank Merriwell story. Undoubtedly it will make millions for its producers.

Grand Coulee May Be Key For Controls

SPOKANE, Aug. 6 (AP)—The possible use of gigantic Coulee dam as a control on future Columbia river floods was told here by Col. Theron D. Weaver at the Bonneville regional advisory council meeting.

Col. Weaver, head of the army engineers' northwest Pacific district, said federal agencies are interested in the use of part of the storage at Grand Coulee dam for flood control.

Power Bosses Needed

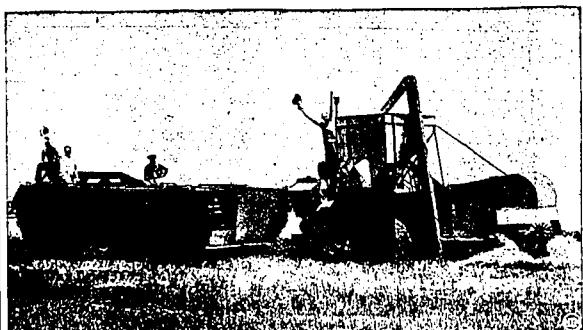

The army engineer also explained yesterday the need for a three-fold increase in electric power in the area. "Judging from normal development of the northwest by 1962 we will need to plan for a peak of 10 to 11 million kilowatts. That will require new generating capacities to be developed between now and 1962."

Could Be Changed

To use Coulee for flood control, Col. Weaver said the structure could be changed to hold back approximately 3,500,000 acre feet of water. He is acting on normal development of that type would make it necessary to cut down the power production at the dam since it is used primarily for generating and irrigation purposes.

Up to the floods of May and June, reclamation bureau officials explained that it was impossible to keep the reservoir level behind the dam high for power production and use the dam at the same time to hold excess water from melting snow in the mountains.

Farmer Makes Beachhead in Wheat Field

Billy Koelich, St. John, Kans., wheat farmer, bilched his combine to a war surplus landing barge when heavy rains made his fields too muddy for ordinary tractors. Koelich's ingenuity saved his wheat crop, which yielded about 30 bushels to the acre. With regular equipment, he would have had to wait another week before he could harvest.

Happy Birthday to Atom Age, Boyle Cries; It's 3 Years Old

BY HAL BOYLE

Never did an era in the story of man open more dramatically. It was like something out of the old testament or Greek mythology.

The packages were atomic bombs. They proved to be a deadly new Pandora's box for the Japanese.

Up bloomed a towering destructive mushroom of death, flame and smoke. And beneath it, the city had disappeared.

Three days later American atom-bombers confirmed the arrival of the atom age by dropping a second bomb over Nagasaki. Another mighty mushroom blossomed.

Atomic bombs killed 120,000 people—60,000 at Hiroshima, 40,000 at Nagasaki—and injured 220,000 more.

President Truman justified the dropping of the atomic bombs by saying they had saved 250,000 American lives by avoiding the need of a full-scale land invasion. But he said another global war would mean the end of civilization.

"We are not going to do that," he promised. "We are going to accept the golden rule and we are going forward to meet our destiny, which I think almighty God intended us to have—and we are going to be the leaders."

The powerful baby, the most destructive prodigy yet conceived by man's inventive mind and the force of nature, was put into harness and dedicated to the path of peace.

But the terrible infant also was given secret training to develop his muscles, like a fighter working out for his next battle. And he has grown stronger. Just how strong perhaps no one truly knows, because—like any baby—he is still growing.

His power for peacetime good, however, is growing more apparent. His radiant energy is helping medical men on a hundred fronts in their age-old quest for new methods of fighting disease. He has been put to work on the farm, helping to grow better food products.

And in a laboratory on Long Island by the end of this year, the Atomic child will be producing electricity to serve the needs of a village of 1,000 people. In time he will supply power for people far removed from cheap sources of coal and oil.

Fear of him has dulled somewhat in three years. People who live under the threat of constant danger have learned to reconcile themselves to it—or go mad.

In every land the population now worries more over man's eternal problems of food, clothing and shelter than over the potential disaster locked within the atom.

But the shadow of another global war still lingers and settles like a vagrant cloud.

History's biggest juvenile delinquent—the atom—has done pretty well since he went to reform school. Yet on this birthday the question of his permanent guardianship is still unsettled.

Let's hope he never plays hockey and goes on rampage while the world argues over what to do with him. A growing boy can cause much more harm than a baby—and what a baby he was!

'Rodeo' Planned by Truck Group

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—A new type of show—a rodeo—will be staged at Gowen field here Aug. 20-21 with Idaho's finest heavy vehicle drivers participating.

The rodeo will be sponsored by the Idaho Motor Transport association. It will be open to truck drivers with a full year's driving without accidents. An obstacle course will be set up to provide a check on drivers' ability to judge distance within a matter of inches.

Extension Set On Debate of Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The interstate commerce commission has arranged to hold further hearings on steel freight rates between Utah and Pacific coast points on Oct. 25.

The session will be held in San Francisco.

The notice was given in a letter to interested parties by Commissioner Clyde B. Atchison, who will preside.

The case involves special low freight rates established by the western railroads last year for shipments from the Geneva Steel company plant near Provo, Utah, to the west coast. Steel interests elsewhere protested that these rates placed them at a disadvantage unless steel rates generally are reduced.

The ICC temporarily suspended the reduced rates and held hearings in Washington, but permitted the rates to go into effect March 31, 1947. It was announced at that time that further hearings would be arranged to examine the rates in relation to steel rates elsewhere.

Splitting Hairs

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6 (AP)—The American Gem society has ordered that the term " flawless" be substituted for "perfect" in advertising or describing diamonds. Executive Director Alfred L. Woodill announced today.

It also outlawed use of "blue-white diamond" by its 1,200 member jewelers and ordered that gems be described as either blue or white.

Idaho Air Event Rescheduled for Sunday, Aug. 15

The fifth Idaho aviation breakfast scheduled by the state department of aeronautics will be held Aug. 15 at Parran, instead of Aug. 8 at St. Maries as originally scheduled. It was revealed Friday. Flood damage to the St. Maries field was given as the reason for the change.

Host to this fifth breakfast of the 1948 series will be the Parran Flying club and Parran Flying school. Breakfast will be served at 10 a.m., and prizes will be awarded for best spot landing, best pattern and several other accomplishments.

Four previous breakfasts have been held this season without an incident to mar a perfect safety record. The most recent breakfast was at Sun Valley in July.

Smallest Crop of Lambs Predicted

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—The smallest Idaho lamb crop on records dating back to 1929 has been forecast for this year.

The estimated crop of 950,000 lambs was made by the bureau of agricultural economics of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The bureau said this number is 32 per cent less than the 1937-46 10-year average. Last year's crop was 1,427,000. This is the seventh consecutive year of declining lamb crops.

Breeding ewes numbered 226,000 at the beginning of the year, six per cent lower than last year.

The bureau said weather conditions were favorable for lambing operations. Range feeding conditions have been good for the most part and lambs moved out at good weights.

17,870 Idahoans Given Public Aid

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—A total of 17,870 Idahoans received help from the state department of public assistance during June.

The department said 421 persons were approved for assistance during the month. The number includes 115 asking old age assistance, 284 asking aid for dependent children, and 21 asking direct assistance.

There were 418 cases closed out during the month, the department said.

Sale of Security Loan Bonds Falls Far Below Quota

Total security loan sales of series E, F, and G bonds for Idaho amounted to $5,307,000, Grant Pickett, area chairman, announced Thursday.

The quota for Idaho was $9,500,000, according to the announcement.

Vernon L. Clark, national director of the United States savings bonds division, declared in the announcement that the deficit of the security loan will be felt for months to come through the addition of some 2,000 firms and 2,500 workers, bringing the total of payroll savings bond buyers to more than 7,000,000, and through the addition of other thousands as regular purchasers on the bond-a-month plan.

The security loan accomplishment of nearly $3,000,000,000 for the United States is splendid testimony to the vigorous, patriotic service of thousands of volunteers to whom the real credit must go. As a result of this campaign the entire saving bond organization is better prepared to carry on this essential program." Clark concluded.

Mine's Executive, Son, Die in Crash

WALLACE, Aug. 6 (AP)—James R. Shreve, 35, Big Creek, office manager of the Sunshine Mining company, and his son, James, Jr., 11, were killed almost instantly last night in an automobile accident two miles east of Wallace.

Mrs. Shreve is in a Kellogg hospital and a daughter, Janet, 5, escaped with minor injuries.

State Foreman Robert Luckner said Shreve suffered a fractured skull and his son a broken back. Pieces of Shreve's car were going west, was struck almost broadside by a car driven by Mrs. Arnold O. Erickson, Emmetville.

Rate Hearing Given Recess Until Sept. 27

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—Despite a motion for dismissal of the application the public utilities commission hearing on the telephone rate increase has been recessed until Sept. 27. The commission approved the recess following a motion by Attorney General Robert E. Smylie.

W. H. Huddleston, assistant attorney for the Idaho Farm Bureau federation, made the motion for dismissal of the application for the Mountain States Telephone company for higher rates.

The recess was granted to give the commission time to prepare material and exhibits for cross examination of witnesses.

Net Earnings Down
Dewey Walls and Z. L. Pearson, both of Nampa, appeared as witnesses at the Farm Bureau hearing.

W. K. Koch, general commercial manager of the telephone company, presented the closing testimony for the company.

He said that net earnings have declined despite the rapid growth of the business in Idaho. He said this was due to expenses increasing faster than revenues.

Chiefly responsible for increased expenses were wage costs and rise in cost of materials, Koch said. He said total wage payments and salaries increased from about $1,800,000 in 1944 to more than $3,500,000 for the year ending May 31.

He said 62 cents of each dollar received by the company is absorbed by wage costs.

Utah Senator Raps Maw on Dewey Attack

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Senator Watkins R. Utah, has said an attempt by Gov. Herbert B. Maw of Utah "to picture Governor Dewey of New York as the enemy of the school teacher hasn't been generally accepted at face value."

The Democratic national committee recently issued two statements attacking Maw's version of Dewey statements about a school teacher lobby.

Watkins told the senate "the intent was unquestionably an attempt to turn the school teachers of the United States against the Republican presidential candidate."

He said: "I regret that the governor of my state has brought himself into this controversy. It isn't pleasant (to me) to call to the attention of the people of the United States, outside of Utah who may be fooled by what he said, several facts in connection with the governor."

Watkins described Maw as a "foot-ball" governor "who came into power in two elections on the coattails of Franklin D. Roosevelt" but ran from 40,000 to 50,000 votes behind his ticket.

"This," he said, "was regarded as a reputation by thousands of Dem-

Minweggen Avows 'GOP Is Doomed'

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—Bert Minweggen, second district Democratic candidate for U. S. representative, says the "Republican bandwagon" may be a "broken-down hack by November."

Minweggen, Montpelier school teacher, speaking to the Idaho Democratic central committee, attributed that possibility to "failures of the Republican-controlled congress."

He said congress has failed to show "serious interest in holding down prices and working for the greater economic security of America's working men and women."

No general words... no vague statistics... but actual, unretouched photographs SHOW THE BENDIX METHOD IS MORE THOROUGH!

At last it's possible to know in advance what results to expect from the washer you buy. No more disappointments if you read and heed the results of tests just completed by America's largest independent testing laboratory.

The Bendix outwashed all others tested for both soil and germ removal.

Matched against three leading non-automatic washers in two-way tests of washing thoroughness, the Bendix did a much better job than any of the others, according to reports from the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory.

In soil removal tests, the Bendix automatic Home Washer removed 23.3% more soil than the "next-best" machine tested.

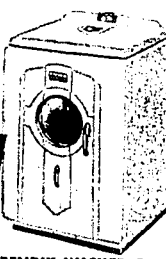

In germ removal tests, the Bendix did 10 times as good a job as the other washers tested!

Best way is also thiftest and easiest!

According to the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory's report, the do-everything Bendix used 40% less soap than the average of the other washers tested, and averaged 10 gallons less water for a single load of clothes! Get the whole story and see a demonstration at your authorized Bendix Dealer's.

"HOW THE TESTS WERE MADE"

The soil removal tests were made in accordance with the Test Manual of the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers' Association, with water temperatures of 160° for the automatic machine and 125° for non-automatic type machines as specified by the Manual.

For the germ removal tests the washing procedure as shown was supplemented by a pre-determined rinse procedure established from contact with authorities in the field of home laundering including the manufacturers of the machines used. The Bendix was used in accordance with the manufacturer's published instructions. Staphylococcus aureus bacteria (bacteria commonly used for test purposes) were used to measure efficiency of germ removal. The four washers used, three non-automatic and a Bendix automatic Washer, were purchased in the open market by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory.

FCC Frowns On Programs Giving Prizes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Your radio isn't a slot machine, and the Federal Communications Commission has taken steps to prove it.

It announced a new set of rules designed to pull the switch on giveaway broadcasts based in any way upon lot or chance.

The FCC proved it knows a trend when it hears one. The commission announced it drew up these rules because of the growing number of "money" programs on the radio.

It barred, determined when the new regulations will go into effect. However, the commission said it will accept statements from interested parties up to Sept. 10.

The announcement called attention to a section of the communications act which says that no radio station shall knowingly permit the broadcasting of any advertisement or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance or any list of the prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift enterprise or scheme.

Each program may require individual study to determine whether it is within the law, the commission said. It added, however, that any program will be considered illegal if it offers prizes of money or other valuable prizes to any person whose selection depends upon chance.

Also barred, the commission said, would be programs which as a condition of winning a prize or other thing of value, or have in its program any advertisement of the sponsor, or be required to be listening to the program for viewing television, or required to purchase any product, or be required to give an answer previously announced by the station.

The proposed rules would cover standard (AM) radio programs, FM, and television.

Network officials in New York withheld comment pending a study of the commission's statement and its possible effect on their programs.

In a related development, the commission also published a ruling by one of its hearing examiners that radio station WURL in Arlington, Va., violated the lottery statute by winning a contest there in 1947 by broadcasting a program called "dollars for answers."

Church Installs Address System

Marking a continuous program of development, the First Christian Church here has installed a public address system throughout the entire building.

To date three speakers have been installed and additional ones will be used as the need arises.

One of the features of this installation is the convenience of eight earphones for the convenience of those who need them. This work was a project of the '39' Men's Club, Frank Rogers, president, and Dr. E. J. Miller, teacher.

The installation was made by H. E. Goddard of the Royal Radio Service. Further plans include the installation of equipment for the playing of transcribed programs.

Curbs Sighted For 'Boom' of Prize Awards

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—The federal government is looking for signs of a proposed crackdown on radio cash prizes is expected in industry circles.

The first reaction is that the commission announcement will have an immediate drastic effect on programs on the air, but will put a damper on the trend and cause careful re-examination of present programs.

Comment Refused

Network officials were reluctant to comment on the probable effect of the commission's proposed new regulations. They said they had a chance to study them.

The networks have contended all along that their give-away programs make a dramatic effect on a constant's skill or knowledge and could not be classed as lotteries.

Doctor's Lost Son Is Found In Air Force

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 6 (UP)—Air force officers today said Edward Potts, 21, who turned up as a basic trainee at Lackland air force base after a two-month disappearance, may 'stay right here' and continue his training.

Potts, the son of Dr. Willis J. Potts, noted Chicago "blue baby" surgeon, disappeared from the University of Rochester, New York, June 2. He left behind a wife, two children, and a note saying he was going to New York City and then to California.

"Tired Out, Fed up" His father, acting on a tip from United Press, located him at Lackland air force base Wednesday. Young Potts told his father he was "tired out and all fed up and enlisted in the air force."

Public relations officers at the base said Potts would not be given a leave to visit his father, who was recovering from a serious operation performed Saturday.

Dr. Potts had postponed the operation while he hunted for his son. He spent days hunting Times square in New York to the futile search. Then he appealed to the press to help him locate Edward, and entered Rochester hospital in Chicago for the operation.

Hubby Henry's Dandy Fellow, But Forgetful, Spouse Asserts

By JEAN McLEMOIE ISTANBUL, Turkey—My husband, Henry, is a very dandy fellow in lots of ways, but it's a slightly nerve-wracking experience to go leading around the world with him. He lost the portfolio containing our passport, Pan American tickets, and all our money, TWICE yesterday. The first time he came back to the hotel without it, I took matters in my own hands, taking a taxi with the cry, "Full dress shirt, please." He arrived at the barber shop which he had just left. Sure enough, after plopping through the trimmings on the floor from a lot of beards of Abdullah, Pasha and Emir Beys, I found it.

The second time he arrived "without portfolio" I had to make the rounds of all the jewelry shops where he had been shopping for a little surprise present for me. Finally I found our worldly goods, this time on a counter of a shop in the huge bazaar. From now on I may look funny, but I intend to carry that portfolio with me to my death. Perhaps just to set it off, I will wear a piece of Turkish delight back of each ear. Here are some things you girls back home might be interested in: Modern mortars bind up their babies softly after they are born, just like little Egyptian mummies. As this wicks the babies are unable to move their hands or feet—only their faces are not bound. It's a strange thing to see a mother handling a baby as if it were a wren in a cage. Stranger still, the fact that the babies don't seem to mind. They love them about, place them in counter tops while shopping, and the babies gurgle and coo as happily as our girls at home. An Istanbul beauty parlor is the height of luxury. Four to the minimum number of attendants which work on you at one time. One washes your hair and meanwhile you have a manicurist for each hand. A fourth party does nothing but give you sips of lukewarm Turkish coffee and put a cigarette to your lips whenever you want a puff. The various kinds of "kebabs" which is the Turkish national dish, are so easy to prepare I wonder why we haven't caught on to the idea of cooking most of it at home. They just stick anything they have in the kitchen on a skewer, broil it over an open flame, and there it is. No, not quite—the sauces are something neither you nor I nor Aunt Susie could whip up in a hurry. There are many beautiful women in Turkey, and I'll bet they were glad when Ataturk told them to take off their veils. As for me, I have been shopping for a veil. Anything to cover up this face which has accompanied me this far through life. The American women here all want to make a trip to Egypt. Not to see the Sphinx or the pyramids, mind you, but because they know that soap flakes and cleansing tissue can be bought there. They girls realize it isn't very healthy for Americans in Egypt at this time. Not to let you risk it for the luxury of a box of tissues and something with which to wash out their underwear. This is the town of never-ending cocktail parties and dinners. Both American and Turkish women think nothing of having a dinner party for 100 people. So efficient are the Turkish servants that all our houses here to do is to cure home from bargaining around the bazaar, change into another dress, and be

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
 By DEWITT MACKENZIE
 For close to 100 years idealistic statesmen have dreamed of and fought to start a United States of Europe, but ironically enough it has taken the frightful menace of communism to start the vision in its way to partial materialization.

That seems like a queer twist of fate, but maybe it is not so strange after all. Austria turned to prayer in 1938, and men of many minds band together in mutual defense in time of danger. Anywhere in Europe, communism has started a swing towards a confederation of nations and democracies which are making concrete steps towards sovereignty for the common welfare.

Two More Indications
 We were given two further notable indications of this trend Wednesday. Italy's free thinking, outspoken foreign minister, Count Carlo Sforza, stated that in order to meet a European union his country is ready to take the lead in accepting "curtailment of its political sovereignty, even in the most unexpected aspects."

At the same time French Foreign Minister Paul Reynaud said he hoped Britain would come out in full support of a United States of Europe next autumn, after the dominions conference in London.

There is no indication of whether these two statements were coincidental or concerted. It would be interesting to know, in any event, they aim at the same objective.

Are First Developments
 Of course these pronouncements aren't the first. Positive developments along this line. There was the first national formation of the five-nation western European group some five months ago, when Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg formed an alliance, which was hailed by many observers as a decided step to the idea of union for the whole of western Europe, and received the blessing of the United States.

This western European combination neatly complemented the union of eastern countries which had the bannered together in support of the Marshall plan. Indeed, time may demonstrate that America's European recovery project provided the nucleus for a United States of western Europe—and perhaps finally of all Europe in the happy days when communism has had its run and the continent has returned to freedom.

You Can Live Cheaper Than in '39— If You Eat Only Oranges and Apples

By DOUGLAS LAHSEN
 WASHINGTON (NEA)—If you could keep body and soul together just on oranges, apples, electricity and commercial gas, you could really lick today's record-high cost of living.

Electricity and commercial gas are the only consumer items which have gone down in price since 1939, according to the U. S. bureau of labor statistics. The drop has been approximately one per cent.

And oranges and apples are the only foods which the bureau shows have gone down in price since 1939. Apples about one half cent a pound and oranges about seven cents a dozen.

Those figures are national averages and of course vary widely among communities. But they do show that the war economy still exists to describe some prices.

Way to Win

If this girl actually lived on oranges (instead of just getting paid for posing in them) she could beat the cost of living. Oranges are one consumer item that's cheaper today than in 1939.

increased production. When the services stopped their huge purchases the farmers couldn't easily cut back production with a resultant large supply.

The big canning companies over-estimated the demand for tomatoes and peas and over-packed these items. The result is good for the canneries but has cost the canneries money.

The price of wheat flour has recently gone down because of the prospect of a giant wheat crop this year. Grain elevators are already overflowing.

Sugar has come down for the same reason. The Philippine sources have begun to pour tons of sugar into the U. S. and the prospects are good for record domestic production this year.

Truck garden crops like onions and spinach have tended to stay relatively low because the farmers who produce them mostly have small farms with no place for cold storage after harvest. They have to dump their crops on the market all at once, forcing the price down.

Bureau experts give the same reason for the fall of the few non-food items which have come down since last March. During the period of skyrocketing prices in rationing.

NAVY CRUISE

B. UHL, Aug. 6—Midshipman James Howard DePree, son of Mrs. E. B. Foster, Buhl, is participating in a two-month navy reserve training cruise in the Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier USS Princeton.

New Group of Superforts to Go to Britain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The strategic air command's second bomb group of 39 B-29 superfortresses was to leave today for England from the Davis-Monthan air force base, Tucson, Ariz.

The U. S. air force in making the announcement said the group was going over on routine training and would replace in Europe the 30th bomb group of B-29s which have been based in Germany.

3 Britain Bases

The second bomb group, commanded by Col. William E. Zuback, Jr., will be divided among the three British bases—Scampton, Marham and Waddington—to which two other bomb groups, the 30th and 28th, went recently.

The air force said there was no present plan to send the second bomb group to Germany. When they get to Europe they will be under the command of Lieut.-Gen. Curtis LeMay, commanding general of U. S. air force in Europe, and he may order them where he pleases, the air force added.

30th to Return

The 30th bomb group is due to return to its home base at Smoky Hill air force base, Salina, Kans., commanded by Lieut.-Col. Frank W. Miller, it went over in June.

It is expected that the 30th will leave for home about the time that the 2nd bomb group arrives overseas. Thus there will be no change in the total number of B-29s now in Europe. That number is 93.

Lesson

"Fill 'er up" doesn't always mean just that. At least that is the experience of William E. Counts and George Hale, Twin Falls pilots.

While on a cross-country flight Thursday the pair stopped at Boise to refuel and said "fill the tank." After returning from eating, they took off only to be forced down at Mountain Home, a short distance from Boise.

Both said that from now on they will check the gas situation before they take off.

FFA Designates Chairmen for Fair

Committee chairmen were named for the Future Farmers of America exhibits at the county fair when the local group met for a special meeting Thursday night.

Harold Mink, vice president, appointed the chairmen including Bill Rosenfelt, sewing; Fred Wananam, beef; Melvin Jaynes, sheep, and Howard Miller, dairy.

Beer License of Buhl Club Taken By State Officials

BOISE, Aug. 6 (AP)—Law Enforcement Commissioner R. C. Lewis has ruled that the beer license granted Harold W. Howard, owner of Harold's club between Buhl and Hagerman on U. S. highway 30, be revoked.

Howard admitted in Gooding county probate court July 15 that he had sold beer after hours. State law enforcement officers raided his club about 1:45 a. m. July 11. Officers reported that beer was being sold at the time and that a gambling game was in progress.

The probable court fined Howard $100 and also fined his card dealer Orville Ambrose, $100 and ordered Gooding County Sheriff Russell E. Carr to burn the table, clips and cards.

Divorce Granted

Becky Clark was granted a divorce from John Clark, Jr., Thursday in Judge James W. Porter's district court, on a charge of extreme cruelty. Clark defaulted in the action. She was awarded $1,000 as her share of the community property.
