Big 4 Governors Of Reich Meeting Again for Debate

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (UP)—The big four military governors of Germany met again today in their series of conferences which reliable sources said might result in ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin by Sunday.

The governors convened their second session to work out plans for the agreements reached in the Kremlin conferences at 5:06 p. m. 11:06 a. m. EDY after Marshall Yansuly D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander, was a few moments late in arriving at the allied control authority building.

About 500 Germans stood in Potsdamer Platz in front of the building to watch the governors arrive, but made no demonstration.

Gen. Pierre Cochin, French military governor, was the first to arrive, followed closely by U.S. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, U.S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U.S. commander, Sokolovsky arrived at 5:04 p. m. and met the military governor after his scheduled arrival.

Subordinates of the military governors had been working through-out the day in special committees to deal with the governors' decision of establishing the Soviet-backed eastern bloc in Berlin's outer districts and lifting the Berlin's blockade which began 74 days ago.

Final and transport advisers to the military governors met at the Reich control authority building today in a council building to break the Berlin blockade. The council had been in existence since four-power rule ended last March.

Reich control reports said the transport committee discussed plans to install the Russian mark as the sole legal currency for Berlin, subject to four-power control.

Directives From Moscow The expert committees to be assigned specific tasks by the four commanders after the military governors held their first meeting here yesterday since the Russians called off the allied control authority in Berlin. The committee working on directives from Moscow discusses of western representatives with Soviet counterparts.

The group of experts, like their counterparts at the allied control authority, will discuss the financial side of the Berlin problem in the meeting with trade matters. The finance group will meet later this morning.

Members already has testified he got the job through two ex-federal officials who have been accused of wartime spyings in the United States. They are Abraham George Silverman and Irving Kaplan.

Silverman was employed by the retirement board; Kaplan by the Federal Reserve board. Captain Benley, admitted ex-Soviet courier, has named both as members of an alleged espionage ring headed by Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, former farm security administration official who was sentenced to life in prison.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, R., Calif., said Chambers has given the committee an additional link to the Benley espionage ring by naming one of his superiors on the federal job as a communist.

Wallace Gained Peace in Visit To Alabama

DECATUR, Ala., Sept. 1 (AP)—Henry Wallace, first vice president in Alabama today was peaceful and he drew scattered cheers when he said he did not come south to preach diastany.

The Progressive party candidate, Wallace met with a group of farm mates, eggs and boob in North Carolina, spoke to an orderly crowd and then a few minutes to the Morgon county courthouse.

His audience was not segregated, but only a few negroes were present. At the end of his talk, Wallace thanked them for their courtesy.

"I do not come south to preach diastany," he declared, "but to advocate that we all pull together. There are no racial hatreds in the world and it is possible to develop Christian cooperation."

Wallace spoke briefly on international relations, and said that his mission is to end the long struggle between the east and west. He said that he is going to reduce the cost of living. The cost war can be reduced by the use of the products of millions of Greece, Turkey and China to back fascist regimes.

"Then," Wallace added, "we could spend billions for more TV's." Bringing his campaign into the deep south, Wallace faced an icy reception from municipal officials.

Other city officials warned him they would strictly enforce segregation laws. Mississippi and Arkansas are the only two states which permit a former vice president to speak from the steps of their state capitol.

Airtop Building Near Completion

The new administration building at the Twin Falls municipal airport has been installed but still have to be attached.

Two U. S. Senators, Candidate Discuss U. S. Foreign Policy on Forum Program

Left to right, they are Nelson Glen Taylor, Judge Bert Miller, Democratic candidate for the senate, and Sen. Henry C. Dworshak. The three men discussed the topic of the United States foreign policy. Each speaker was allowed a short time, before the forum closed, to bring out any additional arguments for his particular stand on the question.

Senator Taylor spoke out against the Marshall plan stating it was the greatest "steal" known to mankind; that it was done to corner the business of Europe; and it was being carried out by the "name group" of Wall Street men who were backed by Adolph Hitler.

Judge Miller countered with statements regarding the extremely low percentage of our national production which is actually going overseas to foreign countries on the plan. Senator Dworshak said the U. S. organization should be given an opportunity to settle the problems of the world, rather than by another battlefield.

The forum was sponsored by the League of Women Voters, a non-political group headed by Mrs. L. S. Simmenfeld, president of the league, stated the forum had no connection with the Progressive party which has sponsored the forum since it was organized entirely on relations with Russia and postwar agreements. On two occasions, Senator Taylor spoke out against the Marshall plan, while the others spoke in favor of it.

Small Group Hears Taylor At Rally Here

A crowd of 259 persons assembled in the Twin Falls high school auditorium Tuesday to hear their Progressive party's vice presidential candidate, Sen. Glen H. Taylor, speak here Tuesday.

The senator put in a belated appearance, for he had participated in a radio forum and did not begin to speak until 9 p. m.

He was introduced by Michael Loring, a Hollywood movie actor, who was speaking at the time of his appearance.

The senator talked out against the Marshall plan, high prices, big business, foreign policy, the present administration and politics.

The first fair in Twin Falls county was held in a couple of tents and in several temporary school buildings in the present fairgrounds in the early 1890s.

Wholesale Price Index Decreases Another 4 Cents

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Dun and Bradstreet's wholesale price index for the week ended Aug. 31 fell another four cents to 80.80, the agency announced today.

The index, which has fallen to the lowest level since May 4 when it stood at 82.20, has dropped 18.67 points since the index was established on July 13 of 1914.

"East End Day" Is Observed at Fair; 3,000 See Opening

FILER, Sept. 1.—Residents of the east end of Twin Falls county are flocking to the annual county fair and today for the official "east end day." Most stores in the east end of the county closed at 1 p. m. for the celebration.

Residents of the west end of the county will hold their day at the fair tomorrow. Attendance at the opening day yesterday dropped below records set last year. Only about 3,000 people paid admissions to view the thousands of exhibits and displays.

Tom Parks, secretary of the rodeo board, reported only 2,500 people witnessed the first night's rodeo performance.

However, Parks said, interest in the event is at an all time high and attendance figures will mount rapidly. More than 1,000 people had pushed their way through the turnstiles by noon today.

Judging in most classes at the fair has been completed. A livestock parade of blue ribbon winners was to be held at 2 p. m. today preceding five horse racing events.

Judging in FFA and 4-H club divisions is being held this afternoon and will continue through tomorrow. All club demonstrations are scheduled for tomorrow.

Produce Excellent Produce at the 1948 fair has been described by many of the oldtimers as the best on record, Parks said. More exhibits of high quality are being shown in all divisions than in past years, he explained.

Crop, livestock and home economics exhibits are holding the interest of most spectators. The exhibits will be featured tonight and all day tomorrow. Fair officials said.

The rodeo will hold its second performance at 8 p. m. today. The Twin Falls mounted police will do special rides during the regular rodeo show.

100 Cowboys Ride Nearly 100 cowboys and contestants are taking part in the rodeo. Many top performers who are still on hand to participate in the thrills and spills of the rodeo events, which will continue through Thursday night.

Large Crowd Attends First Rodeo Showing

FILER, Sept. 1.—One of the largest first-night crowds in the Filer fair and rodeo history turned out Tuesday night for the opening of the 1948 celebration. Splashed with color and well paced, the show kept the audience constantly entertained.

Last night's contests are in competition with those planned for tonight, with the winners being determined by results of the two nights. National champions were entered in all divisions, and kept the show lively and, at all times, a thrilling performance.

In addition to many contestants, clovers Slim Pickens and Andy Womack provided interim amusement, along with riding exhibitions by Louie Cabral and his blond bombshells, a trio of beautifully synchronized palominos, and by stunt riders Berlie Dosey, Tad Lucas, D. Bartholmeo and the Cabral troupe.

The Jerome sheriff's posse, decked out in maroon habits with gold braids and yellow bandanas, gave an excellent exhibition of precision and timing in several drill numbers.

An unexpected climax came near the end when all the lights in the fair area and rodeo amphitheater, which was handled by Jack Jordan, suddenly blinked off leaving the crowd in darkness for some 20 minutes.

Jordan handled the situation with skill as the one to whom it had happened before, so that not many left the grandstand during the long forced intermission.

First night winners, who will vie for awards with tonight's winners at the rodeo, were:

Benes Fails Fast, Drops In Come

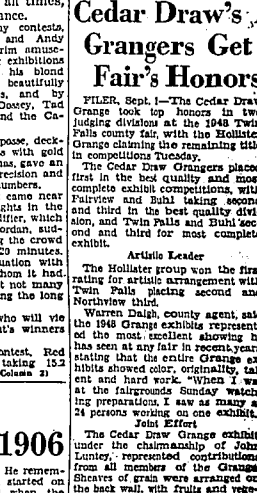

PRAGUE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia fell in a circus ring today and a member of his household said he did not expect to live through the day.

The 64-year-old statesman had been reported in an office when he resigned from office shortly after the communists seized control of his country last February.

He took a turn for the worse yesterday and his doctors said he had lost consciousness.

Jim Hatley looks like he's headed for the first in the picture shown above, but he managed to stay on this 'em' until now. Gene for the full rodeo ride at Tuesday night's season of the annual Twin Falls county rodeo. Hatley, along with other Tuesday night riders, will vie for honors with tonight's contestants. CLOSING THE DANUBE
By the lapsed score of 7 to 0, Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and a team of Soviet stooges shut out the western world from most of the Danube river at the Belgrade conference.

DIFFERENT—It is different this year, however, simply because the Danube is different. The retention of their jobs will depend on the good will of Dewey-Warren distributors of patronage. They do not want to see the Danube administration for fear that their heads will roll in the political waters next year.

PROPHETIC—Numerous fairly high-ranking officials have refused offers of promotion, or have asked for demotion to a comparatively minor job, even though it entails the sacrifice of a vast income.

OUTRAGEOUS—The main of new and bizarre stamps now being issued by the postoffice department has brought a flood of complaints from unusually courageous postmasters, business men and ordinary citizens at 40 windows. Almost the only beneficiaries from this degradation of the U. S. stamp, which is tantamount to a sovereign seal, are the federal government and the country as a whole.

TEST—While politicians are preparing for the November battle, another contest will be going on in the United States and Democratic duress.

HOW ABOUT IT, EVERYBODY!
E. J. Wilken, chairman of the school board, has made an appeal which we believe the people of this vicinity should give serious consideration.

Recognition by the Federation of Railway Progress of the services of a Pullman porter to the traveling public outside the railroads is a matter of bringing to the fore the entire question of tipping—how much, when, should we ever tip, and the effect that tipping has upon the good public servant, the general public, and the economy of the country as a whole.

West Urged To Halt East Dependence

POCATELLO, Sept. 1.—The western states, rich in phosphates, should be depending on the east for fertilizers, Assistant Secretary of Interior C. Girard Davidson said yesterday.

Davidson, in a statement for the release of public opinion on new regulations for phosphate production on public lands, said Idaho, Utah, Montana and Wyoming together possess 60 per cent of the nation's phosphate deposits, yet account for only eight per cent of the annual output.

Get Eastern Product
"At present, farmers in the western area are getting their phosphate fertilizers from processing plants in Florida and Tennessee," Davidson said.

Western farmers are paying as much as $50 a ton more than the Florida farmer pays for the same product. It is in the national interest to meet western demand from processing plants in the west which will mitigate this freight differential.

Boyle's Happy After Vacation With His 15-Month-Old Buddy

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Watching a naked child crawl out of the ocean is like seeing the west which was born all over again.

One morning I had the hiccoughs. Each burp brought gales of laughter from the baby. Early next morning when the traveling alarm clock crawled in to awaken me, I faked a loud hiccough. My reward was a look from Michael that said more clearly than words:

High Cost-of-Living May Be Cut by Growing Own Produce

PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—If you have a King-size appetite and don't mind missing a little shuflery, you can get the high cost of living a bitter tussel—at least on fresh produce.

This bit of budgetary cheer resulted from a Pittsburgh produce market report which said: Tomatoes—one car on track, market about steady. New York state 8 1/2 bushels 14 1/2 lbs. 73 cents, nearby 80-60 cents.

Tomatoes can sell for as much as 10 cents at a neighborhood grocery. Simple arithmetic dictates the tomato price at the produce market was less than five cents a pound.

That called for a pro-dawn hunting trip to the produce market. The trip resulted in a taxful of green stuffs and fruit for $4.50—plus $1.20 cab fare.

New Model of Kaiser-Frazer Causing 'Stir'

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automobile Editor
DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP)—There's a lot of enthusiasm these days around the Kaiser-Frazer plant at nearby Willow Run.

K-F has some new models that apparently satisfy everybody in the organization from Chairman Henry Kaiser right down the line. They will be shown publicly within the next two weeks.

Newsman who got a preliminary view of the new cars this week were impressed with a re-styling and re-engineering job that adds materially to their eye appeal and riding comfort. Many predicted that if prices are not increased too sharply K-F will run into a substantial backlog of unfilled orders.

Prices Not Given
The only reference to prices so far was made by Kaiser who said they had not yet been determined but that he believed "everybody will be happy" when they are disclosed.

The new cars are lower; they have a re-designed front end and the rear bumper is lower. 192 construction changes have been made in the chassis. Engine horsepower has been increased to approximately 112 in all but one model.

There is also a new and wider variety of upholstery fabrics in tones matching color finishes.

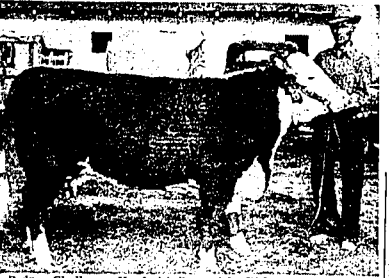

Change Without Halt
K-F made all these changes in eight months, put the new models into production without halting assembly lines at the same time completed virtually all the preliminary work on a new lower-priced model.

The lower-priced vehicle will not go into production this year; whether it will reach assembly production in 1949 will depend upon the availability of raw materials.

But, said Kaiser, it was connected with the idea of competing in the Ford-Plymouth-Chevrolet field and will be ready when the competitive market returns to the car merchandising business. Its price, he added, will depend upon production costs at that time.

New Drug Is 'Most Potent' Killer of Pain

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Discovery of a new pain-killing drug many times more potent than cocaine had been reported today to the American Chemical society.

The society's 114th national meeting also brought word of three other still-experimental materials:

- 1. A group of drugs which have produced temporary relief from high blood pressure in animals.
- 2. Another group of substances which have shown evidence of being able to combat blood clots in animals.

The pain-killing drug was described by four chemists of the Smith, Kline and French laboratories in Philadelphia.

It has the jaw-breaking name of 1-(6-dimethylamino-ethoxy)-4-aminotoluquinoline, but is called "SKF 538-A" for short.

The chemist said it's so strong that in dilution as low as one-hundredth of one per cent, it produced local anesthesia in rabbits lasting over three hours. This compares with 60 minutes for another synthetic, dibucaine, 18 minutes for cocaine, and two minutes for procaine.

(From Page One) Instruction and newspapers in general. "The Marshall plan is the greatest thing in the history of the world," Taylor said, "and you, the taxpayers, are paying for big business to wipe out the Marshall plan. Europe and take over the markets. There is no hope of reaching an understanding with Russia so long as either of the two big parties remain in power because they are both under the thumb of the militarists and monopolists. "Henry Wallace is the only candidate for President who has consistently refused to sell the interests of Russia and he is the only candidate who has not gone out of his way to keep China publicly in the reactionary press by denouncing Russia of every opportunity and blaming all of our troubles on communism," Taylor said. At one point in his speech Taylor asked the audience to call the Wallace a "visionary," and himself a "crack-pot," which brought applause from the back of the hall, to Taylor's regret that coming from the "Times-News boys" it was a compliment.

Analyst Says British 'Cool' In Cold War

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

LONDON—Officials here, discussing the outward British calm over the cold war which has given rise to various commentaries in America, say they do not think the United States is hysterical.

They give various reasons why people here are less volatile, depending largely on which phase of life or diplomacy the particular official is most intimately connected with.

They may say the British have been longer, seen crises come and go, and are more resigned to an attitude of wait and see.

Not Easily Excited

They may say that after the experiences of the last 10 years, it takes an awful lot to excite them, that they are emotionally exhausted. Some of them evince a feeling that delicate international affairs are better conducted in an atmosphere of public affection. Others stress that, because of the paper shortage, the British people are never fully up-to-date on international developments.

None of them say that Americans are wrong in viewing the cold war as extremely critical. All of them say that there are no differences between British and American official policy toward Russia. They have been cautious, they admit, in the realization that if cold war turns to hot, Britain will become a great target for American attack. But they are quick to add that firm policies toward Russia are now as much British as American.

Not Entirely Convinced

I cannot tell whether the British are entirely convinced as to that firmness on the part of America. As individuals they are so courteous, unanimously friendly to an American newspaperman, so deprecatory of the implications of differences which may arise between the two countries, that one is bound to wonder if so much sweetness and light is really possible.

Outside these official sources there are certain suspicions which are expressed. Suspicions may be too strong a word. Perhaps it is only a momentary suspicion. But the suspicion is here as to what might happen to Britain if America and Russia do reach an agreement.

Road Funds OK'd for '49 Improvement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—State charges that the $50,000,000 authorized by congress for road repairs and construction during the year beginning July 1, 1949, have been announced by Maj.-Gen. Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator.

The money is provided under the federal aid highway act of 1948, which authorizes appropriation of $40,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1950 and 1951 to help states continue the postwar highway program under the federal aid highway act of 1944.

Funds Authorized

The federal works agency said nearly all funds authorized by the 1944 act have been used up by project commitments.

The funds will be administered by the public roads administration in cooperation with state highway departments. The states generally are required to match federal expenditures.

State Shares

State shares in funds for primary roads included: Montana, $2,048,884; Nevada, $2,564,698; Oregon, $3,330,489; Utah, $2,259,221; Washington, $2,145,241.

USAF to Try Speed Record At Ohio Show

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
CLEVELAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—The U. S. air force will attempt to set a new world speed record with a North American F-86 jet fighter at the national air races Saturday.

The present record is 657.76 miles per hour, set by Marine Lieut.-Col. Marion E. Carl at Muroc, Calif., Aug. 2, 1947.

Air force officials announced the forthcoming attempt today and said it would be the first time in modern aviation history the public will have an opportunity to see a world speed record attempt.

Run Each Day

Because weather is such an important factor, the F-86 will make the run each of the three days of the national air race program. However, if a new record is set on Saturday, the runs Sunday and Monday will be merely untimed demonstrations.

The pilot on the speed runs will be Maj. Richard L. Johnson of the air mail's command flight. The test section at Wright-Patterson air base near Dayton, O.

The F-86 will make the attempt in full combat readiness, carrying machine guns and ammunition. However, for the first time in history a combat plane ready to fight has been used in such a record attempt.

However, at the same time, the F-86 is making its run the navy will be flying the 2,000-Bendix race course from Long Beach, Calif., to Cleveland carrying guns and ammunition.

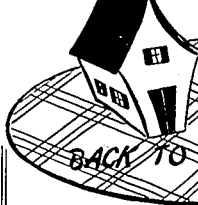

Fastest Combat Ship

The F-56, which does not yet have a popular name, probably is the world's fastest combat aircraft. The air force announces its official speed, reading as "over 650 miles an hour."

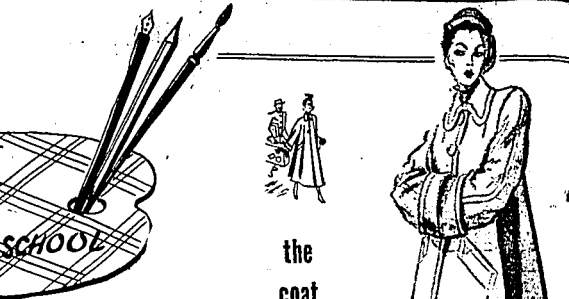

Actually, it is understood to exceed that reading by a considerable margin and its power dives is reported to have exceeded the speed of sound on many occasions.

The run will be made under rules of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the world body of sporting aviation.

Zoo Director Gives Advice on Ailing Python; Gets Two Free

By HERMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A snake charmer wrote in from California to say one of her pythons had come down with a bad stomach ache and what should she do about it.

Dr. William Mann, director of the Washington zoo, was sympathetic, as always. He knew that nothing was as nasty mean as a python with a belly ache. He wrote the lady and suggested that maybe the snake was merely "with eggs."

Turned out the good doctor was right. He had diagnosed a misery clear across the land and by mail at that. He got his reward the other day. A box labeled "Diamonds" arrived at the zoo. It contained two baby pythons. Free and express paid.

"That's the way it goes in the dingy, book-and-paper-cluttered administrative office of one of the world's most famous zoos, where Dr. Mann sits alone with the dime-store mouse trap he keeps cocked under his rollock desk. He writes a lot of letters on animals and people get the idea he knows everything. He does—almost. But the other day a 6-year-old zoo visitor stopped him cold with "why does the flamingo stand on one leg?"

"The director had to admit he'd be doggone if he knew.

"Often wondered myself," he told the little fry.

Some one called in not long ago and wanted to know how to handle a flying squirrel. Dr. Mann, the shy little moustache, knew the answer, of course. But he was busy at the moment explaining to a lot of people that he didn't saw the horn of the zoo rhino and that the pachyderm wore off his ivory snout scratching it. So he turned the squirrel problem over to the assistant, Ernest P. Walker. Mr. W. got right to work and produced a learned monograph on the subject.

First, the assistant said, few smart
