BOSTON, Oct. 6 (U.P.)—The Boston Braves, behind the stout-hearted pitching of big Johnny Sain, won their first game of the 1948 world series today, 1 to 0, on an eighth inning single by Tommy Holmes, one of the two hits yielded by Bobby Feller of Cleveland.

Until the eighth, the Braves never trailed but they made good on their one chance. Bill Sulzick, who drew the starting pitching assignment for manager Billy Southworth, struck the victors off when he drew the second base yielded by the Cleveland infield.

After Mike McCormick sacrificed third to second, Eddie Stanley was passed purposely. Holmes comes through. Sain, trying to win his own game, failed to pitch to the reliable of the Braves, came through. Feller's first pitch to him was high and Sain hit him.

Braves and Indians Open Series Before 40,000 Fans

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two of baseball's greatest right-handers, Bobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians and Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves, fired 'em across Wednesday in the opening game of the 1943 world series at Braves field. For Feller, the old Iowa farm boy, the honor of pitching the first game of the classic was a fitting climax to one of his brilliant careers of modern times. Though he was off his best, the big fast-hitter won 19 while losing 15 for the American league champions.

Sain, ace of the Braves' mound staff, turned in 24 victories in the regular season while losing 15, and it is largely on his pitching that the Braves' fans pinned their hopes of beating the red-hot Cleveland club.

Stakes of any sort were at a great premium Wednesday and the Braves' medium-sized park was packed to its absolute limit by some 40,000 fans when Sain loosed his first throw across at 1 p.m. EST.

Johnny Sain, left, and Bob Feller were on the mound when the Boston Braves and Cleveland Indians clashed in the world series opener at Braves field in Boston Wednesday afternoon. Sain won 26 games for the Braves and Feller won 19 for the Indians. Both hurlers are big right-handers.

Cleveland Goes Wild as Indians Clinch Pennant

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6 (AP)—Painful cleaning crews swept up tons of confetti and ticker tape in the dawn hours Tuesday, the remnants of the mass hysteria that flared throughout Cleveland when the Indians won their first pennant in 28 years.

The celebration reached its peak at 7 p.m. with autos jammed bumper to bumper along Euclid avenue and the streets leading to the stadium. A night determined trier fans still held forth and continued until Wednesday.

Everyone Listens

Almost everyone in town Monday turned one ear to a radio to listen to the crucial play-off game with the Boston Red Sox. When the game ended, office windows were flung open and almost everyone was on the street.

Drug stores rapidly sold out their supplies of toilet tissue as the Indians won. Orlis were kited and there was dancing in the streets.

Mothers called the school board, asking if classes would be closed in honor of the Indians, and were surprised when told classes as usual.

Bewildered Leader

An impromptu snake dance started in public square and gained momentum as it wound up Euclid avenue, the main street, to Playhouse square.

At the head was a bewildered air force sergeant.

He was just crossing the street, he said, when he grabbed my shoulders from behind and another latched on to him."

Idaho State Grid Club in Good Shape

COACATELLO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Idaho State college gridlers are in good shape following a tough tie game with Colorado college. Head Coach John Vesper said Thursday as the team begins for the Wyoming university game.

The Bengals got a 13 to 13 tie in their battle with Colorado college, and rested over the week-end.

Vesper sends his squad against the non-conference of Wyoming Saturday at Laramie. A large group of Idaho State rooters has chartered buses for the game.

Nevada Leads Nation in Total Offense

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Nebraska is known as the leader in total offense, but as long as it operates against teams of its own class the University of Nevada holds an edge as potent as anything seen in college football this season.

Belmont's chief passing attack is spearheaded by Stan Heath, Nevada has rolled up the amazing total of 123 yards with its running attack passing in only two games—against San Jose State and San Francisco.

Top in Passing

Of its total gains, Nevada has covered 637 yards through the air and led heads all the teams in the forward passing department with an average of 31.8 yards per game.

Wyzoming, also with only two games behind it, is tops in rushing offense, having covered 754 yards against Colorado college and Colorado State. Although Wyoming gained only 200 yards on passes, it has been outstanding in the rushing department in second place in total offense with a 46.1 average.

Running

Harvard, second on the ground and 300 in the air in beating Columbia, holds the runner-up spot in the rushing department with Army third on a two-game average of 34.6.

Trio of Vandal Gridders Injured

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (AP)—Still on the doubtful list Tuesday for the University of Idaho's scheduled battle with the Oregon Ducks were three players who were injured in a practice game last Saturday and also had injured themselves in Saturday's bruiser with UCLA.

Ensign Charles Kiser, former Navy tackle, is helping the Ducks.

All three were injured in Saturday's bruiser with UCLA.

Williams Wins Batting Title in Junior Loop

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The American league playoff game between Boston and Cleveland shaved one percentage point off Ted Williams' season average, but his final .369 gave the Red Sox rousing his second straight batting title by a 14-point margin. Runner-up was Cleveland's Lou Bourdault, who slugging four-for-four hitting which helped his club to an 8-3 playoff win over the Red Sox, lifted him three points to a final .355.

The cast game specialists counted in the 60-day season average. Cleveland's Dale Mitchell and Boston's Bill Goodman each lost two points in the playoffs, giving them final averages of .333 and .311 respectively. Mitchell, however, still finished third in points ahead of fourth-spot Al Zarilla, St. Louis, who had .279.

Williams' fourth league batting crown—the also won in 1942 and 1941—was the first of a producer of two-baggers with 44 for the season.

Yonkers' Joe Di Maggio was the league's slugging champion with 39 home runs and 106 runs batted in.

U. S. Hunters To Rid Alaska Of Predators

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The federal government is moving hunters, traps, guns and 25 airplanes to Alaska to clear out packs of wolves and coyotes.

Ten federal hunters are on their way to help out the one loney fed hunter who has been trying to take care of the wolves and coyotes since 1946.

The fish and wildlife service said the federal men will be stationed in various "strategic" areas where they will recruit other hunters from the territory's population.

The planes will be used to spot wolfpacks and coyotes from the air and also transport hunters to the many otherwise inaccessible areas where the predatory animals hide out.

Headquarters for the control program will be at Anchorage where District Agent Maurice W. Kelly is now in charge. Hosen R. Garber, stationed at Petersburg, is his principal assistant.

Spud Harvest Begins Slowly In Few Areas

BOISE, Oct. 6 (AP)—The late potato harvest is getting under way slowly in Idaho as maturing fields occurred in only a few areas. Killing frosts have been infrequent and the tubers are maturing slowly, the weekly cooperative crop and weather summary said. Good quality and high yields were being reported, however. The grain harvest was being completed in the late sections of the state as planting of fall grains continued. Bean threshing was resumed with drying weather in south central Idaho. Rain damage to beans was light. Some Grain Left In northern Idaho some oats and barley were still to be harvested. Some late hay was being cut but operations have been held up by rain. The third cutting of hay was nearly completed in southwestern Idaho and much of the beans have been threshed. The apple harvest was well under way. The color and quality of apples were good despite many small ones. The onion harvest was practically completed. It is a good quality of good quality lettuce is being harvested. Beet Harvest Starts The third crop of hay in south central Idaho is about 20 per cent up and sugar beet harvest is just starting. Bean threshing was under way as rains subsided. Fall grain planting was well started in the higher elevations of eastern Idaho with more consistent conditions. Rains have improved ranges and pastures but fall feed prospects are poor. In the Snake river valley, the report said. Corn and green peas showed good yields and there is a large amount of legume seed. The report is issued weekly by the U. S. weather bureau, the University of Idaho extension service and the bureau of agricultural economics.

Bombardment Sinks 1 Troop Ship, Old Sub

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 6 (AP)—Newly commissioned USS Skate, the war famous U. S. submarine, and the troop transport Critenden. The two vessels were battered in a thunderous shooting war last off southern California. Bombers finished off the Skate. The five-year-old submarine—survivor of seven war patrols in which it sank 120,000 tons of Japanese shipping—thus gave its last service. It went down in the ocean depths northwest of San Clemente Island. The Critenden followed—victim of progressive air and warship bombardment. The Skate and the Critenden, a wartime attack transport, were two more of the Bikini atom bomb ships marked for destruction because of radioactivity. Military Watchers High army, marine and navy officials watched the demonstration—part of the largest amphibious exercises ever held in peacetime. Sixty ships, 275 aircraft and 30,000 men are taking part. The submarine and transport were designated as units of an exercise force attempting to prevent the landing of marines.

Students Put Last Touches To Campaign

Students of Twin Falls high school take their politics seriously. This fact was quite evident at the final rally before the election of officers to occupy city offices under a "youth month" project sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Students filled the high school auditorium Tuesday to hear campaign managers extol the qualities and virtues of their respective candidates and to listen to persuasive arguments of "why he is the man for the job."

Carry Banners
Groups of students supporting Donald Hazard, Jack Cross and Kenneth Falter (all candidates for the office of mayor), carried placards and banners bearing the name of their choice, while a hand intermitter blared out with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Duane Bell, president of the student body, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the campaign managers for the mayoral candidates for seats on the city council.

"Political" Broadcasts
Local radio stations have donated time so the political hopefuls can make their platforms known. The broadcasts were to be heard Wednesday from 3:55 to 4:25 p. m. over KTFZ; 4:30 to 5 p. m. over KVMV, and a special broadcast direct from the stage of the Orpheum theater was scheduled from 7:30 to 8 p. m. over KLLD.

Thomas Speedy spoke in behalf of Donald Hazard, Zandra Thomas for Jack Cross and Mary Jean Deagle for Kenneth Falter. Campaign promises flew as thick and as fast as if it were a regular campaign—and the students took them almost as seriously.

Carry Candidates
Campaign managers for the candidates lauded their leaders who were carried through the crowd on the shoulders of their supporters. All candidates had individual managers, and each gave a short talk.

Managers who gave talks for the students seeking seats on the city council were: Donna Lee Young for John Chevelier; Thomas Speedy for Robert King; Carol Nielsen for Merlin Howard, and Robert Stanbury for Roy Ellsworth.

Candidates for the city council from the junior high school are Joseph King, Patrick Daly, Dale Deagle and Clark Whitehead. Elections are scheduled Thursday afternoon. Winners in the election will be feted in a parade Saturday morning and will hold the office Monday.

3 Valley Girls to Represent Groups At Idaho College

CALDWELL, Oct. 6 (P)—Eight College of Idaho students have been elected to represent the four classes on the student body executive committee.

Vance Peckham, Wilder, and Aubrey Smith, Twin Falls, will represent the senior class. Others elected were Bill Cooper, Caldwell, and Jean Thomason, Cambridge, juniors; Ann McMillan, Twin Falls, and Rose Myers, Caldwell, sophomores, and Lavon Boyinger and Verda Coffman, both Nampa, freshmen. Myrna Knipe, Nampa, and Catherine Reese, Buhl, were named yell queen and duchess.

Youth Month Election Campaigns Reach Climax

High school political campaigns reached a climax Tuesday in the auditorium of the high school. Successful candidates will occupy city offices under the Junior Chamber of Commerce "youth month." Three candidates for mayor, Kenneth Falter, Jack Cross and Donald Hazard (top left), compare campaign notes following the rally. Joseph King, Patrick Daly, Dale Deagle and Clark Whitehead, (top center), council candidates from the Junior High, are interested in the whole proceeding. High school council candidates, Merlin Howard, John Chevelier, Jane Dittmer, Roy Ellsworth and Robert King, (top right), are vitally interested in the outcome and watch closely. Mary Jean Deagle, Thomas Speedy and Zandra Thomas, (lower left) display campaign posters of candidates of their choice, while (lower right) Donna Lee Young, Speedy, Carol Nielsen and Robert Stanbury chat about the candidates for the city council. Campaign banners and posters were displayed (center) during the rally. (Photos by Ron Rice-staff engraving)

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 6 (P)—Federal Judge Oscar Palma Beltran Tuesday ordered the arrest of John Griffith, former United States cultural attache here, on a charge of participating in a plot to assassinate President Juan D. Peron. Griffith, now living in Montevideo, Uruguay, across the river Plata from Buenos Aires, has denied any connection with the alleged plot. Palma Beltran has been investigating the case since the police announced Sept. 24 a plot had been uncovered to overthrow the Argentine government by assassinating Peron and his wife, Eva Duarte Peron.

Now in the planning stage, America's latest carrier will be about twice as long and wide and nearly six times as heavy as the first carrier. The Ranger, converted to carry aircraft, was the first flat-top which was especially designed and built to carry airplanes. Previous carriers had been converted from other type ships. Silhouettes show how aircraft carriers have evolved.

Navy Arranges Combat Plane Overseas Hop

HONOLULU, Oct. 6 (UP)—Twelve single-engine navy combat planes hopped to Barbours Point, Hawaii, from Moffett Field, Calif., Tuesday in 11 hours and 53 minutes. The short range aircraft made two fueling landings on the carriers Princeton and Tarawa on the way. The navy staged the flight—first of its kind—to show how such planes can be ferried across the ocean if necessary.

12 Planes Arrive
The flight leader, Lieut.-Cmdr. William B. Bringle, Nashville, Tenn., said: "One thing solved us down. 'That was the pilots wanting to eat so much on the carriers.'"

Flota greeted
Mrs. D. C. Ramsey, wife of the Pacific fleet commander, greeted Bringle with a Plumeria lei and a Aloha kiss. The other 11 pilots received the same treatment.

Admiral John L. McCreery, deputy commander of the Pacific fleet, and Rear Admiral J. M. Hoskins, chief of staff to the commander of the fleet, were on hand to formal greetings to the airmen, who lived the 2400 mile flight.

The single engine fighters and dive-torpedo bombers took off from the carrier Tarawa, 1600 miles out in the Pacific, at 4:29 p. m., MET, pointed toward Barbours Point, Oahu.

The planes, spanning the ocean in the first long range overseas flight to test the use of carriers as refueling bases, had landed first on the carrier Princeton, 900 miles at sea.

Peiping's Residents Just Love Cricket Chirping, Henry Finds

BY HENRY MCENORE
PEIPING, CHINA—I stole a dog today.

There are innumerable lovers in Peiping, but the one that fascinates me the most is the Fox lover, which stands at the southeast corner of the city wall. For centuries Peiping people have believed that this lover is haunted by evil spirits which often appear in the form of a fox. The people don't want the evil fox to stay in the tower so, unlike the gates of the other towers, the gates in the Fox tower are always kept open, so the fox can always get out and get out of town whenever he wants to. There is always the chance that he won't return when he leaves in the form of a fox.

The citizens of Peiping—who still call themselves Pekingese—love crickets. The song of the cricket is as sweet to their ears as the song of the nightingale is to the English. It is possible to buy exquisite jeweled cricket cages so that you can carry a single cricket about and listen to his chirping. Crickets are great fighters and are often pitted against one another, with large stuns being wagered on the outcome. Men have cricket stables, with trainers to supervise their roadwork and diet, and to handle them in battle. Crickets, however, never kill one another. When one sees that the crickets are getting too rough, he kills, and the opponent withdraws without rushing in to finish off his "man."

Nearly all the homes and temples here, have walls around them. They are to protect the inhabitants against evil spirits. Evil spirits, like early airplanes, are believed to be unable to fly very high. Thus, confronted by a five- to six-foot wall, they must make a detour, and take some other route. Good spirits, on the other hand, are believed to have pressured cables, so to speak, and can fly very high, making it possible for them to soar over the walls with the greatest of ease.

You know a man might make a good living teaching the art of pole vaulting to evil spirits.

A cubic mile of warm or hot air may hold as much as 40,000 tons of potential rain, snow or hail.

Krug Opposed to Reduction in Size, Number of Parks

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Oct. 6—Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug Tuesday said he would not stand for any reduction in size or number of the national parks and monuments.

He reiterated an often expressed policy in an address to the annual national park services conference. Present to hear their chief were 160 men who administer the national parks and monuments scattered across the nation.

Considering the needs of the future, Krug said, "we do not have too much; and as present opportunities on other areas are gradually lost, what we have will be increasingly precious, more than ever worth keeping unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations."

Krug disclosed a new statement of policy regarding concession operations in the areas administered by the national park service has been completed except for a few minor details.

Resources for Western Reich Not Sufficient

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign News Analyst
FRANKFURT, Germany—The one great governing factor in western Germany's immediate economic outlook is that the area has never been and will never be self-sustaining in food and raw materials.
 Currency reform, ECA and all the other aids to recovery can't outweigh this. Any sort of stable economy in the new Germany depends upon the speed with which industry will arrive at the point where it can export enough to pay for what must be imported. In that respect western Germany is in much the same position as Great Britain.

(And in that respect there is a clash between British interests and the allied recovery program for Germany. But that is another story.)
 One German expert estimated for me that German production is now about half of what it must be if the German standard of living is to be supported, at even the present bare existence level, without outside help. He thinks that if it were doubled, enough could be exported to pay for a fairly decent ration.
 But in addition to food, Germany must import raw materials. Important supplies of both are lost through the loss of eastern Germany to the Russian sphere.

Predict $15 Billion
 American experts estimate that this total deficit in food and materials for the new western state is now about one and a half billion dollars annually.
 At the present rate of agricultural production, this area could produce about enough food to raise the present ration from 1,350 to 1,800 calories a day. The rest of the pre-war consumption of 3,000 calories a day would have to be imported.
 This means that western Germany will have to produce considerably more goods for export—perhaps 10 per cent more—than it did before the war.

Allied Policy Interferes
 The Germans insist that allied policy constantly interferes with attainment of any such goal. They are most vociferous about dismantlement, and blame the United States. They recognize that the European countries were really behind dismantlement, but claim the United States should have exerted sufficient pressure to limit it to actual war plants.
 This attitude, that the United States is the real power in everything, is to be credited for the good and blamed for the bad, is widespread, almost unanimous, among the Germans to whom I have talked. And it is a certainty that it is to America that they will look as long as they are unable to meet their own needs.

Male Cinderella, Father of 5, to Inherit $363,000

BRANTON, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—Out of "I Just Right Place" Tuesday came a male Cinderella story.
 It's actually the address of 52-year-old truck driver Walter Pearson, father of five. And Pearson had a story to top the swiftest winners, the radio quiz programs and what not.
 He'd inherited exactly $363,000, a 16-room stone mansion in Montreal, Can., and a hunting and fishing lodge on the shores of Lake Ontario.

Last June, Pearson related, a man looked in his house, announced he represented a law firm in Montreal, and did he have an uncle in Canada.
 "I told him I did," said Pearson, "and he told me I would hear from him later."
 And he did hear later.
 "They told me my fish uncle died up in Montreal and I was named in his will. Later I went up there and found out it represented $363,000, the stone house and the lodge."

Pearson said the uncle, a bachelor, came to Canada about 80 years ago and made a fortune in the brewery business.
 "I'm going to keep right on working," Pearson told reporters.

Soviet Copies Of Superforts Are Reported

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Soviet copies of the American Superforts were reported in Germany for the first time Tuesday.
 Leut. Martin Von Rosenberg of New York, a former B-29 pilot, said he recognized Soviet versions of the giant four-engine planes flying high over Berlin's western air corridor. The planes were in formation with attack bombers which looked like American A-26s and presumably were participating in air maneuvers.

Coincides With Developments
 His report coincided with these developments:
 1. A high allied air officer, who asked to remain unidentified, said the Russians have about 4,500 planes in the eastern zone, of which 1,600 are front line combat planes.
 2. The Russians announced that their satellite troops were making practice jumps from 2,500 feet in the Buckeberg-Berlin corridor used by British-American airmen, crews. Airlift planes usually fly at 7,000 feet or more.

Diseased Complaint
 3. The Americans brushed aside a complaint by the Russians of last week-end which listed more than 700 violations of air safety rules by British and American airlift fliers. Maj.-Gen. George Hays, U. S. deputy military governor, said in a 50-word reply that the whole complaint was "in error."
 Von Rosenberg said the Russian model B-29 formation flight did not hinder the airlift nor attempt to harass it. He said other pilots also saw the planes.

The senior air officer who told of Soviet flying strength in Germany said the bulk of the fleet consisted of low-level attack fighter bombers. They are improved versions of the Stornovik which the Russians used effectively in ground support against the Germans, he commented.
