Court's Ruling Said 'Blow' to New Business

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—General Electric company, convicted with 14 other defendants of violating the antitrust laws by conspiring to monopolize trade in hand metal compositions, said yesterday the court's decision would retard "development of new business."

Federal Judge John C. Knox, who gave the verdict, said he believed this is the first criminal patent pool antitrust case.

After more than a year's consideration he ruled "the defendants engaged in direct price fixing."

Subsidiaries Convicted
Two General Electric subsidiaries and three individuals were convicted. The subsidiaries are the International General Electric company of New York and the Carbonyl subsidiary of Detroit.

The individuals are: Walter G. Robinson of Detroit, president of Carbonyl; Zay Jeffries of Cleveland, chairman of the board of Carbonyl; and Walter M. Stearns of Schenectady, N. Y., former General Electric manager of trade relations and special accounts.

Subject to Fines
The companies are subject to possible fines totaling $25,000 each. Individual defendants may have to pay similar fines, with possible imprisonment of five years each.

General Electric's statement said: "The law applicable to situations of this kind is in a state of utter chaos."

The statement said the court's decision was based partly on a U. S. supreme court case which showed "that the justices of the supreme court are themselves in fundamental disagreement as to the applicable principles."

The company added that it believed "when the judges themselves cannot agree upon the boundaries of right and wrong, then there are dark days ahead for the development of new business enterprises."

3 Divorce Decrees Awarded by Court

Three divorces were granted here Friday in Judge Hugh A. Baker's district court on grounds of mental cruelty, grievous mental suffering and willful desertion. A default was recorded in each of the three actions.

Irvin H. Robinson was awarded a divorce from Jenness A. Robinson. Robinson's complaint charged mental cruelty. The couple was married Sept. 18, 1946, in Alhambra, Calif.

Geneva D. Belding in her complaint against Robert Belding had charged he had caused her grievous mental suffering. She was awarded the divorce and a trailer house listed as community property. They were married May 30, 1947.

Charging willful desertion, Oscar Dosh was awarded a divorce from Faye Dosh. The couple was married Jan. 2, 1946, in Twin Falls. Dosh is the father of a minor child. Custody of the child was awarded to Mrs. Dosh.

Little Boy Nearly Drowned in Poorly-Protected Lateral

Quick Action by Father Saves Boy From Drowning in Lateral

By RON RICE
Jimmy Tegan, 3 1/2, is lucky to be alive today. He lives at 703 Juniper street, with his father, mother and sister. Just across the narrow roadway which bounds two sides of his yard runs an irrigation ditch known as the Eighth avenue lateral.

Jimmy isn't too steady on his feet. Because of a vitamin deficiency he was forced to wear braces on his legs until last August.

At 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, Jimmy's mother looked out the kitchen window and saw that Jimmy and two small playmates had crawled over the rickety fence which bounds the ditch and were playing on the bank.

Federal Court Terms for '49 Now Changed

BOISE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Terms of federal court convening in Idaho have been changed for the calendar year 1949.

Ed Bryan, clerk of the court, said the northern division term held at Coeur d'Alene would commence on the third Monday of April and the second Monday of October.

Other terms are:
Central division—At Moscow on the first Monday of April and fourth Monday of September.

Southern division—At Boise second Monday in February and fourth Monday in August.

Eastern division—At Pocatello the second Monday in May and second Monday in November.

Lack of Evidence Slows Spy Action

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Attorney-General Clark says insufficient evidence has kept the justice department from seeking the four spy indictments demanded by the house un-American activities committee.

In a report last month the house group urged indictments against Communist Party Organizer Steve Nelson, Atomic Scientist Clarence P. Hilskey and John H. Chapin, and Hilskey's former wife, Marcella Sand Hilskey.

Clark said in a radio broadcast that the justice department knew about the cases as long ago as 1946.

Alibi BOISE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Justice of the Peace J. M. Lampert was lenient with this hunter brought before him on a game violation charge.

This is what happened according to J. D. Powell of Boise: Powell was charged by the state fish and game department with shooting a grouse out of season.

Powell admitted shooting the grouse but said the circumstances were unusual.

He said he was firing his gun at spaced intervals in signalling to his companions who were alone in a deer hunting camp.

Firing into the air, Powell said the grouse tumbled dead out of a tree after the first shot.

Lampert ordered Powell to pay only $8 court costs.

Firm Expected to Seek Temporary Ban on Hearings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Trans-America corporation is expected to ask a federal court for a temporary order halting the monopoly hearings scheduled for next week before the federal reserve board.

The west coast corporation, holding company for the A. P. Giannini banking empire, already has requested a regular injunction to stop the anti-trust proceedings under a federal reserve board complaint which charged Trans-America with operating a west coast credit monopoly.

Trans-America is now expected to ask for a restraining order to postpone the scheduled Tuesday hearings until the court has time to consider the injunction request.

The hearings were announced last Monday when the board revealed that it had charged Trans-America with violating the Clayton anti-trust act.

Under that act the board can act as a court and hear evidence on the complaint. It could issue a cease and desist order which would, in effect, force Trans-America to get rid of its holdings in some 600 banks in 11 states.

Phone Union Heads Probe Pay Proposal

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 (AP)—President John J. Moran of the American Union Telephone Workers, CIO, and president of 31 local unions today said a wage offer of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

The wage offer, affecting some 25,000 workers in 43 states and the District of Columbia, was made during negotiations at New York Sept. 21, and provides for increases up to 40 per cent.

Some employees, however, would not be affected by the offer, union officials said.

Moran said he expected the session to end tomorrow. He explained the union must approve or reject the offer before next Friday. Negotiations have been conducted under a contract clause requiring a decision within 30 days.

"If the local presidents reject the company's offer, it means that it will not be passed along to the membership for a vote. Such a decision also would mean the freezing of wages at the present level unless the company agrees to increase its reopening rights," Moran said.

If the presidents reject the offer and the company declines to exercise its reopening right, a strike could result, Moran explained.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—Harry S. Truman, banker, office and home address, 2220 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C., says "who's your?" description of President Truman's occupation and residence at the Nov. 20, 1944, assuming that he will run second on the November 20, 1944, election.

Anyhow, it is the belief among bankers that through the appointment of Harry S. Truman as Secretary of the Treasury will become a key figure in the reconstruction of the nation.

Mr. Secretary Snyder, who has job opportunities that he will win up with the financial empire when he quits Washington, has pursued political life in favor of the nation's bankers.

He has, albeit behind-the-scenes in most instances, opposed the federal reserve board and the securities and exchange commission when they sought to tighten restrictions on the branch banking operations of financial and his financial friends.

Despite Snyder's protests, it is generally believed that he will support the nomination of Charles McNary in view of his experience in that field, his services with the reconstruction finance corporation and his close relationship with the Federal Reserve Board. In view of his experience in that field, his services with the reconstruction finance corporation and his close relationship with the Federal Reserve Board, he could be a valuable addition to any corporation.

He is more natural than that he should land a job for his old friend in the White House, who made him what he is today?

LEGISLATOR—Prior to this new development, there had been talk at Washington that a defeated Mr. Truman would be nominated for the Missouri seat in the 1946 election. Like John Q. Adams, Mr. Truman had become a more useful and distinguished legislator than he had been as a member of the Missouri legislature.

But the hitch here, according to grapevine informants from St. Joseph, Mo., is that President Truman, who has been nominated for the Missouri seat, could not win the senatorial nomination from Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, who is expected to run for the senate after his resignation, Governor Donnelly's executive. According to all reports, Governor Donnelly stands with his great predecessors in that office.

BANKER—Almost every Missouri governor was of presidential caliber, but they missed out because of political lack—David Francis, William J. Stone, Henry Wilson, and others. Donnelly is the only one that would be a valuable addition to any corporation.

SCANDAL—Unfortunately for Missouri Truman, a terrific sex scandal has broken in Missouri that may bring the chance of Roosevelt to carry the home state. It may also endanger local Democratic candidates, who were expected to win regardless of the results.

COMEBACK—Governor Donnelly might have supported the nomination of Charles McNary in the November election, thereby helping both Presidents Truman and State Auditor Smith in the November election.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

WASHINGTON—In our study of Felix Frankfurter's inevitable government, we must not try to associate his name with the Communist plot. There were and are communists in the government.

He read in the Times-News where football players got the idea they should "go to school" from "youth month" activities. They say these activities might cause a little trouble on the team.

Why don't you do a little more effort? It shouldn't take too much effort to learn the real facts in the case. If you had said football players were forced to withdraw from the elections, you would have been closer to the truth, a student.

HOW TO EAT BULL MOOSE Judging by recent photos appearing on the sports page, several residents of Magic Valley liked most during the recent animal hunt. If the critters were anything but bull moose, they would have been a lot better.

ANY OLD DRESSER? Did someone have news that was nothing more useless than an old-style dresser? They were five or six dresses of the 1928-29 period. Remember those long-waisted, short dresses worn in the 1920s?

KITTENS FOR KIDS DEPT. Dear Pot Shots: I have seven kittens I would like to give to any young American, including those who voted against him, with Mr. Truman more fortune as a banker than the fame he won as President.

BACK TO KARTH? Dear Kent: About a year ago I dropped you a few lines to report what a visitor said after watching our hogs wallow around in the mud. In case you don't recall, the visitor opined that anything as valuable as hogs shouldn't be allowed to play around in mud holes.

DEER HUNTING TRAGEDY

It is tragic that a Jerome woman lost her life on the opening day of the special five-day hunt in the Mindoka forest, but it demonstrates better than anything else how dangerous it is when hundreds of deer hunters swarm into the south hills with high-powered rifles.

It may never be known under just what circumstances the victim lost her life when struck by a bullet which had acquired its velocity. That would indicate the bullet had been fired from considerable distance by some hunter who may have had no idea that he played a part in the tragedy.

Those who were in the Cassia district of the Mindoka forest on the opening day, however, must realize that conditions are highly dangerous at best, without any one being careless and the hunters heard bullets, whine and ricochet about them as the heavy bombardment boomed forth, particularly during the first few hours.

It goes without saying that it's inconsiderate of anyone who will shoot at anything unless he knows positively it is not a human being. Those who are inconsiderate should shoot in the direction of roads and camp sites, where they know there is the possibility of killing someone. It's hazardous business at best, with everyone risking his life to a certain extent. With so many hunters concentrated in so small an area, more of them are sure to be killed at some time or another.

It goes without saying that it's inconsiderate of anyone who will shoot at anything unless he knows positively it is not a human being. Those who are inconsiderate should shoot in the direction of roads and camp sites, where they know there is the possibility of killing someone. It's hazardous business at best, with everyone risking his life to a certain extent. With so many hunters concentrated in so small an area, more of them are sure to be killed at some time or another.

DEER HUNTING TRAGEDY (Continued) It is tragic that a Jerome woman lost her life on the opening day of the special five-day hunt in the Mindoka forest, but it demonstrates better than anything else how dangerous it is when hundreds of deer hunters swarm into the south hills with high-powered rifles.

Chief of Police Howard W. Gillette is shown flanked by the new chief and assistant chief who were appointed to fill these offices as a part of "youth month." They are pictured above with the six new patrolmen who will be on duty tomorrow. They are, left to right, rear row, Patsy Rabha, patrolman; Bertie Langdon, patrolman; Zandra Thomas, assistant chief of police; Chief Gillette; Pat Dalby, chief of police; and Beverly Nelson, patrolman. Idaho Hunter Gravely Hurt By Rifle Shot

ST. MARIES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chris Schmidt, 56, Coeur d'Alene, is fighting for life in a St. Maries hospital today as a result of a bullet wound from the gun of another hunter.

The attending physician said this morning that Schmidt's condition is "very serious" following a major operation last night. The bullet wound caused by a .30 caliber rifle bullet.

Chief Cron Thomas said Schmidt was hunting early yesterday morning with his son Dan when the accident occurred.

"We had just shot an elk near Whitelock and were looking for it," the boy told the sheriff. "Suddenly Dan turned and said 'I've been shot' and fell to the ground."

The boy ran to the nearest phone and called a doctor from St. Maries who gave emergency treatment in the forest. A forest service crew helped carry the wounded man on a litter more than a mile to the nearest road.

Schmidt's physician said the bullet entered the chest and passed entirely through the body, emerging from the left hip.

Sheriff Thomas said the shooting had only been officially reported to his office last night. He said it was not known what action, if any, would be taken.

No Alarming Array of Facts, Buhl Man Opines on 'Answer'

Editor, Times-News: Mr. Joseph W. Adam, in answering my reply to his opinion on foreign policy fails to make himself clear. He says his letter was merely a statement of fact. To my way of thinking, his answers were simple statements of opinion and not an alarming array of facts.

Why did Mr. Adam seem so concerned about our feelings toward the late Mr. Denev? Is that alarming? Why does he give only one side of the story? There must be some good reason.

In a recent letter to the Buhl Herald, Mr. Adam pointed out the fact that the heads of our occupying forces in former enemy countries are all military men. I wonder, is it fair to the United States, if fairness to the United States, he didn't mention the fact that the Russians also have military men at the head of their occupying forces? Why not mention the occupations to world peace in every country where the Russians could get a foothold?

Why is Russia in favor of atomic control provided no one comes snooping around her country? Can you imagine anyone doubting Russia's word? I can't. Why does Russia object to foreign representatives to their quarters, but come and go if they please in the United States, if they have nothing to hide? There are a lot of other questions bothering me, too.

Mr. Adam asks me if I want another war and more disabled veterans.

He Avers Wallace and Taylor 'Accuse Others' of Own Aims

Editor, Times-News: The time has come when I would like to voice my opinion of the Progressive party and its leaders which Joseph W. Adam, as an administrator, after hearing speeches made by Wallace and Senator Taylor, it is my opinion that they are accusing their opponents of doing what they themselves are trying to do in the United States. The Russian government and their agencies are the same matter by Vladimir and Molotov in the United States. When Senator Taylor made a speech in Twin Falls in October, 1947, he called all foreign governments dictatorial. The U. S. is supporting dictators. So when his speech was over I personally asked him what type is the Russian government. He shrugged his shoulders and said it is a dictatorship of course.

Sanborn Says He's Favoring Pumping Plan

RUPERT, Oct. 9 — Rep. John Sanborn, R., Ida., believes pumping may prove the answer to settle the controversy over use of American falls reservoir water, he told the Minidoka county Republican committee. He said his investigations indicate the pumping idea may prove feasible. If further tests prove it is, Sanborn said he would ask funds of congress for full development of the north side extension by pumping. Sanborn previously has been placed on record as opposing use of unsold space in the American falls reservoir, and favoring sale of the water to current lessees, the 23 canal companies along the river. According to the bureau of reclamation, Sanborn said, there are 4,000 acres on the north side extension, of which 60,000 could be irrigated from ground water pumps. He also discussed the European recovery (Marshall plan) program.

School Plan Act Cleared for Club

HAILEY, Oct. 9 — Little-known aspects of the Idaho school reorganization were discussed by Rotary club members at their weekly luncheon. Glen Smith, Hailey, and Holger Albreitson, Pocatello, led the discussion. They are members of the county school reorganization committee. They explained the necessity for attending meetings where speakers present explanations of the reorganization plan. Berwyn Burke was program chairman. E. M. Pezrony was a guest of Gordon Reed. Ray McGoldrick transferred his membership from Salmon to the local club, raising total membership to 29. RETURNS FROM VISIT EMERSON, Oct. 9 — Mrs. P. P. Solons Given 3-Point Farm Help Program of a policy adopted at a meeting earlier this week, Johnson said the group would meet again in December at Twin Falls to appoint a legislative committee.

Explain Plan

Johnson explained the 90 per cent plan would stabilize both the nation's economy and banking. He foresees a tightening of credit next year when the present price support program ends.

The lawmakers, however, opined the government would have difficulty in continuing price supports.

Senator Dworshak saw shipment overseas as leading to domestic shortages causing inflation and bringing about high prices.

Legislators and councilmen alike agreed the farmer is not responsible for today's high food prices and scored the interests in between the farmer and the consumer. They cited a farmer selling his potatoes at two cents a pound and the consumer buying them at 10 to 15 cents a pound.

Supports Plan

Johnson added he feels the 90 per cent plan is justified in view of the present national emergency and in view of a recession in economic conditions in 1951 following World War I. He contended a support price of 50 per cent of parity is necessary as an incentive to farmers to curtail acreages and to avoid overproduction.

During the discussion George Hershey, Boise, state Orange master, suggested a ceiling for consumers as well as a floor for producers in a price program. Senator Dworshak emphasized the present need for food at a reasonable price.

Ben Janzen, Twin Falls county ACA chairman, suggested immediate action be taken to correct inequities in the potato market. The council will send a copy of 10 recommendations to the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state offices of several farm agencies.

Commenting on the two-day meeting, Johnson said:

"We feel we have exchanged views with the congressmen which will give them the definite position of Idaho farm leaders on federal policies in return we have learned how they stand and hope their positions will reflect our views."

Confirms Unity

Johnson declared the meeting confirmed the unity of farm leadership in demanding a stabilized agriculture and in showing the 90 per cent proposal is not inflationary. "It is between the farmer and the consumer that inflation comes," he said.

Turning to the Palisades dam delay, the council chairman stated:

"The delay presents a regrettable picture of thousands of lands and others ready to go on potato acreage and land while the land is not ready for lack of water. Difference between the water users in the lower and upper Snake river valley have been reconciled, and for that matter the dam could have been constructed while the differences were being settled."

Queried on Delays

Trying to learn the reason for the delay, the chairman asked the congressmen if they knew what was holding back construction of the dam. Neither one could supply the reason. Senator Dworshak suggested the question be asked the regional director in Boise. Funds are available, he said, adding he hopes construction will start next spring.

Attending the meeting were representatives of the 18 statewide farm organizations from which the council is formed.

T. F. Club Hears Therapist Speak

Ann Swelley, physical therapist consultant with the state crippled children's service, was guest speaker at the Synoptist club's luncheon meeting here this week.

Miss Swelley stressed the need for trained workers in the field of physical therapy and said scholarships were available through the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Founders' week of the club will be observed at the monthly dinner meeting Oct. 26 at which time street, night and a special program will be presented. This will mark the 37th anniversary of the founding of the service club for executive women.

The Twin Falls club follows the national club's pattern of service by providing a scholarship for a local girl to receive a college education.

Matthews, Burley; June Thayne, secretary to Representative Sanborn; J. P. Smith, Twin Falls, and Representative Sanborn. Of the cows, 560 were in milk. The three highest producing herds were those owned by Ralph Baughman, route 4, Buhl; J. B. Shoemaker, route 2, Filer; and T. W. Richmond, route 2, Buhl.

The Baughman mixed herd of 10 cows had an average production of 1,020 pounds of milk and 40.6 pounds of butterfat; Shoemaker's mixed herd of five cows, 713 pounds of milk and 37.4 pounds of butterfat; and Richmond's 27 registered and grade Holsteins, 1,023 pounds of milk and 34 pounds of butterfat.

Health Leader Outlines Plan At PTA Meet

Dr. Madeline Donnelly Boise, director of the bureau of maternal and child health of the state health department, spoke to the Washington PTA study group this week on the planning and organization of a well-balanced school health program.

Dr. Donnelly said there are many agencies in every community working toward the same goal of providing every child with all the means of attaining the best in life. Until these agencies coordinate their activities much effort is wasted, she added.

Cooperation Needed

"All service organizations and government agencies should get together, study their community problems and cooperate in their work," she declared.

It was announced a general meeting of the Washington PTA will be held Monday at the school auditorium. Open house will be conducted from 7:30 until 9 p. m., after which a business meeting will be held.

Speaker Scheduled

Mrs. John E. Hayes, national PTA executive, will speak to the group on the subject of holding the family together through recreation in the home.

Edith Corlis will sing several songs and Borena Makar will perform a toe dance of French court style. Miss Makar is ballet instructor at Weir school of dancing.

The PTA executive board met recently at the home of Mrs. A. O. Kathon, president. After a business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Mackey E. Brown.

Power Shut Off

Electric power in Twin Falls was shut off at 3:30 a. m. Saturday until 3:30 a. m. and was to be shut off again at 3:30 a. m. Sunday to allow the Idaho Power company to install a new transformer at the Filer avenue substation.

Officials at the substation said the new transformer will allow a larger power load. No additional stoppages in local power are scheduled, they said.

Russia in No Rush to Give Back Trieste

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

TRIESTE—Russia or no Russia, indications are it will be a long time before Trieste is returned to Italy, as the western allies suggested before the recent Italian elections.

By the same token that Yugoslavia's split with Russia served to lift the veil of siege and imminent danger which has surrounded this supposedly free territory since the war, it also dimmed Italian hopes for regaining control.

As long as the common front continues there would seem to be small point in the allies' continued closing off Yugoslav hopes regarding Trieste. It is a magnet which draws Tito's eyes away from the east.

Not that he will ever get it. But as long as it is not formally returned to Italy he can still see the ball and still have some hope, however small. It tends to pull him away from closure of the rift with his communist neighbors.

There was never any chance that the Russians would agree to return Trieste, anyway. The western allies' suggestion merely set the stage for taking advantage of some future split with Russia such as resulted in their decision to establish a western German state without Soviet consent.

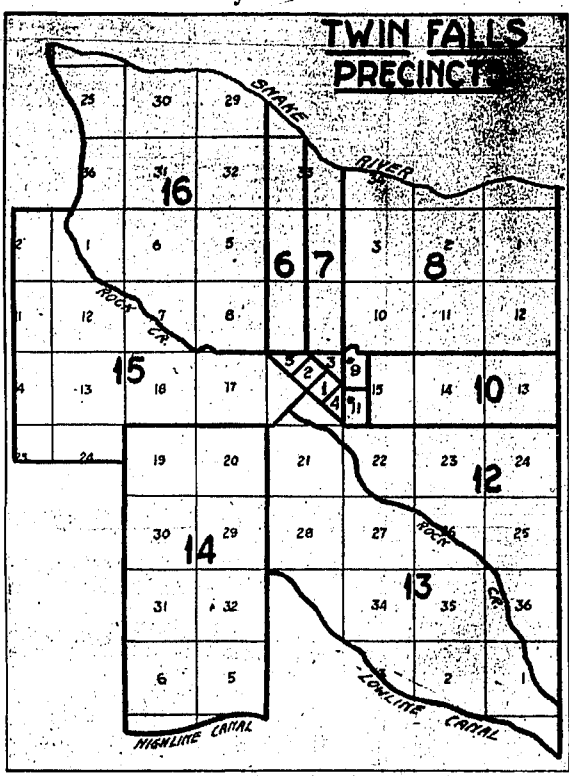

Retention of the city in allied hands is thus a two-way weapon. The threat that it will be returned to Italy can be used to meet Russian intransigence elsewhere, while the fact that it has not been returned has its effect on Yugoslavia.

The Italians, so far as I can learn, do not seem too worried about it. They would like to have Trieste back. Its return would be a feather in the cap of the Rome government, which could use a whole headpiece.

But Trieste already is operating so much like a normal Italian province that it is hard to tell the difference. The government is set up the same way. It has a connection with Rome through representatives there, and trade between the two areas flows almost as easily as in the rest of Italy.

The Italians also know that there is no danger, as long as the city is under allied occupation, that it will be taken over by the pro-Tito Slovene communists who form an important part of its population, or even by Slovene-Italian communist coalition. The Italian government has had enough trouble in northern Italy to realize the value of such insurance.

Union Head Says GOP-NAM Concur

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Joseph S. Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, declared today a complete split between the Republican party and the National Association of Manufacturers to destroy the American labor movement.

In a news conference, Potofsky said: "Cong. (Fred A.) Hartley, R., N. Y., co-author of the infamous anti-labor act, who does not dare run for re-election this year, admits that the Republicans plan to finish the job against labor begun with the 'Tilt-Hartley act.' He added: "The 'Tilt-Hartley' conspiracy, in the event of Dewey's election, would seek to outlaw industry-wide collective bargaining, which in the clothing industry, has served as a model of peaceful employer-employee relations for the past 11 years."

Too Trusting

HAILEY, Oct. 9 (AP)—Bambi, the pet deer of the Rev. M. Shiras family, is dead.

Mrs. Shiras said two men stopped to feed from the Shiras ranch house about 5 a.m. and called to the pet deer. While petting him they slit his throat.

Mrs. Shiras said Bambi had been brought home by her husband in June, 1947, as a tiny fawn that had been found in a snowstorm. He apparently was so weak he had been unable to follow his mother.

They fed him on a bottle and he grew up to live the Shiras children, the dog, and cat.

During the day he would romp around in the mountains but would return in time to greet the school bus.

"He loved people far more than the freedom he had been given," Mrs. Shiras said.

"Bambi, so trusting, didn't even have to be shot," she said.

$60,000 Park Bond Vote Is Set in Rupert

RUPERT, Oct. 9—Members of the Rupert city council discussed plans this week for the bond election Oct. 19 to finance construction of a swimming pool and a municipal park.

A committee, representing civic organizations, will be asked to help select a site for the park if the bond issue passes. Mayor Henry Breaux said the park is limited because at least four acres will be required.

$60,000 Is Needed
In a discussion on the cost of the project, the mayor estimated $60,000 will be required to complete the pool and park. He said the $60,000 bond would require a five-mill levy to retire the bond in 10 years. This would amount to about $3 on a valuation of $1,000.

City Engineer Ray D. Armstrong, who has been studying other swimming pools in southern Idaho, said $40,000 would be adequate to completely construct a 50 by 100 foot swimming pool with a heating plant and dressing rooms.

The mayor explained the city has no bonded indebtedness and it was decided to call for a bond election so the city can continue the water and sewer extension program as planned.

Vote Requirements
It was announced that to be eligible to vote on the bond issue, a voter must be a resident of the city of Rupert, meet residence requirements of any general election and must be a taxpayer.

School Girl Talks For Girl Lions

RUPERT, Oct. 9—Margaret Hall, a Junior at Rupert high school, discussed activities at the Junior Red Cross training school held this week at Flathead lake, Mont., at the last meeting of the Rupert Lions club.

Miss Hall spoke of work in Junior Red Cross and the methods of organizing Red Cross councils in high schools. She said work of a council will be taken over by the club at the local high school.

In a discussion on fire prevention work, President Dick Benson pointed out that cooperation between residents and the Rupert fire department is essential. He said the fire alarm sound and when driving to pull over to the curb. He said a city ordinance makes it unlawful for persons to follow a fire truck to the scene of a fire.

not be required. However, a voter must sign an elector's oath before casting his ballot.

To pass the bond issue, voters must give the measure a two-thirds majority.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ FUCKETT

"When others tell him the wide man looks, To the sure companionship of books."

So you worry over income tax, the latest "L. A. Lang" shikhepoker, the mounting cost of beef and beans. "Living in these times is tough," you say. "Ah for the dear, dead past!"

back in yesterday's troubles, for, alas, our poor old ancestors at about the dawn of recorded history. They had protracted teeth, lambs-brows and a constant state of hysteria over the world that then. No science existed to explain why the sun shone, the rain fell, or the wind "whoooshed" across a plain in a primitive sport-shops. So the poor-doped figured it was all due to gods and evil spirits who were forever snooping around to do them harm.

If you want the real lowdown on their sufferings, read "The Divine Passion" by Hagerman. This volume is one of a series on the history of man, and once you start reading you won't lay it down. "Having no interest in the past," Fisher told us, "is like having no interest in the child while trying to understand the adult."

So he began this stupendous undertaking of our boy Vasquez who was what completed the perfection of his program. When you go to your next concert in Magic Valley here are a few things to remember as you watch the performers bow and smile. They hit a terrific pace, often playing twice a day, driving to the next appointment while you sleep, eating indifferent food, pausing in all manner of hotels. Often, at the end of a program, they are staggering with fatigue, and though you aren't aware, the fine white shirts beneath their handsome coats, are wringing wet with sweat.

It's a superb artist with command of every platform trick, but we still think the splendid accompanying of our boy Vasquez was what completed the perfection of his program. When you go to your next concert in Magic Valley here are a few things to remember as you watch the performers bow and smile. They hit a terrific pace, often playing twice a day, driving to the next appointment while you sleep, eating indifferent food, pausing in all manner of hotels. Often, at the end of a program, they are staggering with fatigue, and though you aren't aware, the fine white shirts beneath their handsome coats, are wringing wet with sweat.

Don't ask us how the man does all this writing and research and still remains with health and eyesight. Vardis Fisher is casual about his hours at the typewriter—about three a day—he told us. He admitted though, that those three hours of terrific concentration. He must work at an incredible pace with few pauses to erase or re-type. Does that make the mouths of you scribes hang open? Ours, too! "No bubble is so bright or floats longer, than that blown by the successful teacher." A Big Wheel in the business world, gent named Carl Gray, breaks into a rash of print this week. Title of his prose comments—"A Teacher Is Worth More Than the Schoolhouse." Mr. Gray says a lot of communities have now raised their schoolmarmas from a semi-starvation to an able-to-see-some level of pay. He says he has a smug feeling they have done nobly by the teachers.

"As a manufacturer I have long marveled at the fact that a good bench hand in a factory makes more than a good teacher," he says, and that makes the mouths of you scribes hang open? Ours, too! "No bubble is so bright or floats longer, than that blown by the successful teacher." A Big Wheel in the business world, gent named Carl Gray, breaks into a rash of print this week. Mr. Gray says a lot of communities have now raised their schoolmarmas from a semi-starvation to an able-to-see-some level of pay. He says he has a smug feeling they have done nobly by the teachers.

There are also the women—and how Fisher knows his lady characters! You'll warm to Beth, the loyal and comforting wife; you'll smile over the sly cunning of Narda, the beautiful, scheming wife, and grime at the fat one who consoled herself with food. In each of these characters, so far removed in time, you'll recognize people you know today. The book also explains the origins of many of our present customs and taboos, including the observance of Easter and Christmas.

Fisher was never known to pull literary punches, and he doesn't in "Divine Passion." We have seen some of the first reviews of this book. The eastern critic was called Fisher "the modern American Rousseau," and lauded the power and beauty of his prose. All copies of his imagination, the authenticity of his background material. "A powerful imagination—a fascinating project," says the New York Times. "There are few works on earth that he hasn't consulted. He has applied his own good logic to these, his imagination is boundless," says the Saturday Review of Literature.

As for the actual work on this gigantic project—Fisher told us that all forthcoming books in the series will be documented, and that notes in the back of volumes 6-11 alone, will run from 20,000 to 40,000 words!

These will be based on the reading of I-don't-know-how-many hundreds of learned volumes," he said, and addresses in this column, so she hustled us this book. Remember our boy Vasquez who is pianist for Rubinoff? We caught his Brigham concert just like we remember Vasquez's (y'know in our book), played a white grand on a high stage, and for that one evening took all his bowing to us. He opened the concert with Chopin's Nocturne in a flat, and the First Movement of Sonata in B Flat Minor. Since Rubinoff was meeting engagements all through Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and points east, we were curious as to why he didn't come to Idaho. Seems he has been here but always tries to leave a "cover" space between concerts in each town. We hadn't heard Rubinoff for several seasons. He's a superb artist with command of every platform trick, but we still think the splendid accompanying of our boy Vasquez was what completed the perfection of his program. standing position—and do it so fast it made your head swim. Beautiful technique. Sit in many looks, but a lie is the handle which fits them all. The autographing jaunt to California was a thrill! We signed copies of our book, gabbled, visited and whooped it up. Most fun though, were the L. A. wrestling matches. We learned some lovely holds—the best being where you sneak up behind your opponent, get your fingers in the corner of his mouth and stretch it toward his ear. We can think of several people we'd like to try that on. Then there's the step-over toe hold, where you get the other fellow down and twist on his leg and toe. Our favorite wrestler was a gent from Quebec. He did a lot of kicking like they do in Europe. In fact, he could kick his opponent in the chin—from the
