Voting Record Given Defense By Dworshak

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, R., Id., in a statement today defended his farm legislation stand in the 80th congress.

Commenting on an address by Justice Bert H. Miller, his Democratic opponent for the U. S. senate at Lewiston last night, Dworshak said Miller "apparently is proceeding on the old Hillerian theory that if you tell a big enough lie, the people will believe it."

Justice Miller ripped Dworshak's farm legislation record.

"Farmers of Idaho are hardly as glib as to take loose, unsupported and inaccurate campaign statements at anywhere near face value when the record is down in black and white," the senator declared.

Dworshak said he supported the Republican program for agriculture research which he said involved greater appropriations than by any previous congress.

"Republicans in the last congress appropriated $80,000,000 for rural electrification, compared with a total of $78,000,000 more than appropriated for that purpose by the six preceding congresses," he declared.

"Appropriations for western reclamation made by the 80th congress, with my assistance as a member of the Appropriations committee in the senate amounted to $388,000,000," Dworshak said. "That is 50 per cent greater than any other congress ever appropriated for reclamation in the nation's history."

Joan was a robust normal youngster until last July. Then she complained of a pain in her stomach. Doctors told the family it was can-

Joan asked for the chocolate cake and the pink candles. Her parents will be red—her favorite color.

"The last thing she bought when she was still able to walk," her mother said, "was a bright red piggy bank."

Co-Ops Emerging As "Middle Way"

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23 (AP)—Co-operatives are emerging in the middle west as a "middle way" between huge industry on the one hand and mushrooming government on the other.

Howard A. Cowden, president of the Consumers Cooperative association, told delegates to the association's annual convention here last night.

Cowden termed co-ops "a positive answer to the dangers of growing economic concentration—a great equalizer for the small-scale farmer in his contest against corporate type farming."

Onetime Solid South Breaks Up for Voting

ATLANTA, Oct. 28 (AP)—The onetime solid south will be far from solid in Tuesday's presidential election. The electoral vote, usually Democratic by default, probably will be split.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York, is a good bet to carry at least two or three southern states, perhaps more. He thus would become the first GOP presidential candidate since Abraham Lincoln in 1860 to crack the Dixie Democratic tradition.

Thurmond Gains 4 South Carolina's Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, the States' Rights candidate for President, has an apparent block of four deep south states, he might win in others.

President Truman, that depicts considerably the backlog of southern electors, votes normally without argument to every Democratic presidential nominee.

Truman Showed Off The States' Righters showed Mr. Truman off the ballot in Alabama, look over the party in that state and in Louisiana, South Carolina, and Mississippi. The 38 electoral votes of those four states are considered the bag for Thurmond.

Thurmond electors also are on the ballot representing a separate party in Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and one northern state, North Dakota.

Mr. Truman seems safely ahead in New Hampshire, Kentucky and Florida, the States' Righters may pull enough votes to swing those states to Dewey.

That would give the GOP candidates 10 electoral votes. Without surprising anyone too much, he could pick up another 10 or 12 in Tennessee, where the three parties are locked in a close battle.

Henry Wallace, the Progressive party candidate, is on the ballot in most southern states. But he is not expected to poll more than 2 or 3 per cent of the vote in any of them.

They Run All Minidoka County Schools

When this school board meets, it has to consider all the problems of all Minidoka county schools. Left to right, members are Herschel Barnes, Jackson, district No. 3; J. C. Merrill, Paul, district No. 2; Lee Merrill, clerk; Supt. Don Dafeo; Claude Bowman, Heyburn, district No. 1; Melvin Gruevel, assistant superintendent; J. J. Van Every, Rupert, district No. 4, and George Sullivan, Acquia, district No. 5. (Staff engraving)

All Minidoka County Schools Are Supervised by One Board

By IDA CARLSON RUPERT, Oct. 28—Members of a school board usually have a big headache setting policies and operating schools in a community, but the Minidoka school board has to solve the problems of all schools in the county and two districts in Cassia county.

As a result of school reorganization elections, the board has been in existence since March 8. It didn't take members of the board long to discover that they are binding a not only the school board but also the central office of the district served by the board in joint class A district No. 31.

Eight elementary units and four high schools are operated by the school board. The two Cassia county districts under supervision of the board are Jackson and Rouston districts.

One of the big headaches of the board is the recommendation of the reorganization committee that one central high school be constructed in the county. The board is studying feasibility of starting such a program.

Under supervision of the board, a broader educational program has been started in the county at both secondary and elementary levels. Examples of the accomplishments are the industrial arts and vocational programs. Music, shop and art facilities have been enlarged for the elementary level. Extension and adult education programs are available to all adult members of all communities in the county.

Members of the county board of trustees are Claude Bowman, Heyburn, chairman; J. J. Van Every, Rupert; George Sullivan, Acquia; Herschel Barnes, Jackson, and J. C. Merrill, Paul. Lee Merrill is clerk and Mrs. Margaret Stevenson is treasurer. Administrative members of the staff are Supt. Don Dafeo and Melvin Gruevel, assistant superintendent.

Henry's Afraid He'll Become 'Scraper' After Watching Japs

By HENRY McLEMORE TORONTO, Japan—Here in Tokyo we are filled with the superstition, considered by many to be Frank Lloyd Wright's architectural masterpiece. It without the devastating 1923 earthquake and the equally devastating bombing we are handed Tokyo during the war.

It's quite a fancy place for an old streamer, there being sufficient brass in it to rent a hundred cannon. New arrival need not bother to try to remember names. He is perfectly safe in saying, "Good morning, General" to anyone he meets.

The Imperial is a honeycombed with miles of long, low corridors, and there is an endless place in the world to get lost, you name it. I am sure that Frank Lloyd Wright is still in the building somewhere, trying to find his way to the lobby. Jean left two days ago to go to the dining room and hasn't been heard of since. However, I am not worried, as I have been told that three days is par for getting to the dining room and back.

The long, low corridors are alive with the servants of both sexes and all ages. Being one of the most courteous races on earth, the servants spend a great deal of their time bowing to guests and to each other. They don't just bow a little bit, either. They bend over until their heads are half way to the floor.

For some reason, this bowing business is very catching. Before you can stop yourself you find that you are a member of a conquering nation, are bowing to conquered subjects.

It is a wonder to me that there are as many Japanese alive as there are, they being completely oblivious to traffic. Pedestrians never look right or left when crossing a street and actually will walk into the side of a moving vehicle. Those who ride bicycles come tearing out of side streets without so much as a glance at the passing traffic.

Not that there is much for sale in the shops. There are still lots of lovely porcelain on display, but that is about all. Most of the shops, and that is to anyone but the Japanese on each side of the Ginza, have little more to offer than inferior five and ten cent store goods, such as locks which you can pull apart, neckties of horrible design and texture, miniature cameras which almost fall apart at a glance, wooden clogs, and shoddy binoculars.

The Japanese love to gather outside the PX and gaze at its wares. It is a common sight to see a group of the women, who stand six and seven deep in front of the windows in which are displayed dresses, coats, and shoes. The people are in great need of warm clothing and shoes.

Valley Is Not Big Skinfint, Scribe Avers

By VIRGINIA McPHERSON
The Skinfint Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25—Rudy Valle, who's been accused of having the first look for her earned, said today in his interview. He just doesn't like to pay for things he can do himself.

Doesn't believe in redcaps, porters, hat check girls, and parking lot attendants. "And that character actor," makes me a upward. I know that what people call me also skinfint. And mixer.

Hangs Onto Cash

He is not, Valle says, a man who throws his money around. When he has to catch a train he buys his own suitcase. At Ciro's he refuses to park his Ford. He leaves it in the parking lot. Leaves it on a side street and walks his bicycle to the office.

"That says Valle, makes him a skinfint."

"I'm not. I say those handle out of a buck. The truth is, it saves wear and tear on my motor and my fingers. And I don't have to stand out on the steps while someone yells, 'Mr. Valle's car, please,' and I have to wait while someone writes those parasites bring it out."

Doesn't Like to Tip

He doesn't like to tip waiters, either. Says all they do is carry the stuff on a tray. But he'll send the butcher to the butcher for the chef—or to the bartender who mixes his drinks just right.

"Especially if he asks for a tip," he says. "Some of these biggest producers may be, but I like to do things for myself. I even hate to have a barber shave me."

Remembers Snow-Shoveling

Used to shovel snow eight hours a day for a man who paid me 10 cents," he added. "And I blessed the guy for that. It was a hell of a lot to lose away 50 cents to let a girl check my hat."

Wasn't get annoyed if anyone puts in a phone call and then has to call back to finish what he had to do. "That's not a half and half cents throws away—two back-breaking hours of shoveling snow. And I can't forget it."

Toothaches Laid To Nerve Upsets

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25 (AP)—A Temple university psychiatrist says that old bugbears—the toothache—may be caused by a lack of emotional control.

Dr. John A. Lyons, Jr., told a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Dentists society that while laboratory tests are being made, research has indicated that bleeding gums and tooth decay is directly traceable to emotional disturbances.

Dr. Lyons also suggested that the toothache victim's visit to the dentist may be harder emotionally on the practitioner than on the patient.

A dentist, Dr. Lyons said, often has a feeling of self reproach because of the necessity of hurting a patient.

Volume Being Distributed on Plans for Columbia Drainage

BOISE, Oct. 25—A 400-page book outlining the department of interior report on the development of land and water resources of the Columbia river for irrigation, power and other beneficial uses is being distributed this month by the regional office of the bureau of reclamation.

The publication, complete with numerous maps, charts and photographs, presents both an immediate program being followed and the ultimate objective of full resource development and a procedure for carrying out the program. The land developments listed would provide 10,000 to 20,000 new farming opportunities and the books of support for a population of 1,000,000 persons throughout the nation. The report was prepared by the bureau of reclamation.

The entire plan, which will take 20 years to accomplish, comprehends irrigation water for 5,300,000 acres of land. Of this total, 2,800,000 acres are now land—double the existing irrigated acreage in the entire United States. The land developments listed would provide 10,000 to 20,000 new farming opportunities and the books of support for a population of 1,000,000 persons throughout the nation. The report was prepared by the bureau of reclamation.

Retention of Navy Air Arm Pleaded

BOISE, Oct. 25 (AP)—Retention of the navy's air arm was urged by Rear Adm. G. S. Colquhoun in a navy day address.

Admiral Colquhoun, commander of the Pacific fleet submarine forces, said "further shrinking of the sea air power of the navy would be foolhardy and not spell the end to the navy's role as America's 'first line of defense.'"

OAKLEY, Oct. 25—Mrs. Ernest Adams has been discharged from the Cottage hospital at Burley following an appendicitis operation.

U. S. Agencies Favor Length Limit for Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The state and defense departments favor U. S. participation in the proposed North Atlantic security alliance should be of limited duration, it was learned today.

Authoritative quarters said American planners would like to apply to defense problems in the future, perhaps up to five years.

Thinking Not Set

It was emphasized that final thinking has not yet crystallized on the proposed regional alliance between the United States, Canada and the five western union powers of Europe. However, it was clearly indicated that this government does not intend to negotiate anything like a 50-year agreement.

The western union powers—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—signed a 50-year treaty for collective military aid in Brussels last March 17.

The North Atlantic project complies with American military support of the non-communist European nations through a program of aid. But, authorities here made it clear such program would be set up on a short-term basis.

The European partnership in a European military alliance would be a new venture for the United States.

The immediate aim of the North Atlantic treaty would be to safeguard the European recovery program and, with the help of U. S. arms, give the democratic countries of western Europe a chance to strengthen their own defenses over the next few years.

The treaty would be determined later on the basis of western Europe's military strength, and the tactics followed by the Soviet union and the satellite bloc, it was said.

4,500 Men Idled By Utah Strikes

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two Utah strikes idled more than 4,500 men today, with wages the center of the dispute in both cases.

At the Kennecott Copper corporation's Bunker Works in Bingham, all striking members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and about 400 other employees have been idle for four days.

In Salt Lake City, members of the Independent International Association of Machinists entered the second day of their strike against the Independent and May Furniture operations, with 40 men of the union on strike.

The machinists called the strike yesterday, when negotiations over wages increases broke down. Other foundry workers were respecting the machinists' picket lines.

Chicago Bakeries' Walkout Is Ended

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Operators of 18 large bakeries in Chicago, Gary and Hammond, Ind., hoped to bring bread and cake production back to normal today with the end of a four-day strike of 1,500 AFL bakers.

Settlement of the wage dispute was reached last night, when the AFL factory bakers union accepted 11 to 14 cent hourly increases.

The union originally asked for hourly pay boosts of from 12 to 18 cents, plus fringe demands.

Price Takes New Rap on Opus

EAGLE, Oct. 25 (AP)—Secretary of State E. A. Tamm said yesterday that the price of the opus in effect left Idaho voters they do not know enough to pick a good superintendent of schools.

Price said the amendments would "take away your privilege to elect school."

SIX calls for the elimination of the county superintendent as an elective office and SIX calls for elimination of the qualifications of the state superintendent of public instruction.

Idahoans will vote on the amendment at Tuesday's general election.

Truman Backing Set by S. C. Unit

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Supporters of President Truman in South Carolina today formed a new state Democratic party and made plans to "elect" Gov. J. Strom Thurmond and others who bolted to the States Rights banner.

The new group, built around Truman-backer electors, said it expected "almost immediate" recognition from the national Democratic party in Washington.

Thurmond, informed of the movement in Greenville, S. C., said it seemed like the "proper" action of work of the national Democratic organization.

Formula Set For Defense, Envoys Aver

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
 AN Foreign Affairs official said today that the formula set for a defense agreement between the United States and Western Europe which will not violate our traditional antipathy toward ironclad military alliances.

It is expected that the proposed treaty will not automatically commit the United States to war if one of its partners is attacked, but merely provide that such an attack will be "considered in the same light as though it were a direct attack."

Vital Part of Defense
 Under the present conception of Western Europe as a vital part of America's defense, this may seem a highly technical reservation, but it preserves the right of Congress to determine when the United States shall go to war. It stands against future discovery that we are committed to a line of action which might not be compatible with a changed situation.

The wording of any treaty, of course, is meaningless unless taken in conjunction with a true evaluation of the will and ability of its signatories.

Allies Lagging
 Right now the allies, marching toward the establishment of a better power which they hope will forestall war, are dragging one leg. The limp is not so serious as it was a few months ago, but still obvious.

The U. S. proclaimed military help for nations threatened by Communist aggression—the Truman doctrine—several months before the Atlantic pact for Greece and Turkey was signed, so far, by this program.

But Washington reports that plans for a program of military aid in Europe are progressing slowly.

If the western allies place preparations for conventional war ahead of internal strengthening against fifth columnists they may find they have made one of history's great mistakes.

Italy apparently does not have the strength to control 85,000 armed Communist troops organized within her borders who are supported by 2,000,000 Communists among her population.

Forces Hard to Control
 There are indications, as reported earlier this week, that France might not be able to control her fifth columns as home while making the contribution to the general defense of Europe which would be expected of her.

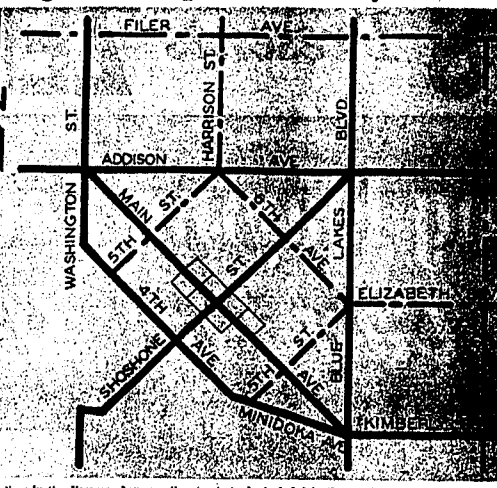

Britain is finding her rearmament program to put it more in balance with her economic recovery. France must do the same.

Western European military alliances must have direct American aid in rearmament if the economic program is to have a proper wall of confidence behind which to work. That, of course, is something which is hardly both as to her army and internal police, by the peace treaty.

Engineers Propose Future Major Streets

Dotted lines in the diagram above are the streets to be included in the eventual major arterial system proposed for Twin Falls by the Associated Consultants in their report to the city council. The solid lines show the present system of arterial streets. (Drawing by Associated Consultants-staff engraving)

Experts Suggest Arterial Streets in Future; 'Orderly' Development Urged

(Editor's note: In addition to their recommendations on traffic congestion, street problems and dangerous intersections, the Associated Consultants included a number of general observations on street matters throughout the city in their report to the city council. Their findings in this connection are similar to Mayor L. G. Larson's views on the need for a city planning commission.)

By HARRY ARNOLD
 Future arterial streets suggested by the Associated Consultants are depicted in the accompanying illustration. However, the engineers did not stop there, but took issue with the way in which street systems are being developed in new parts of the city, and also warned against having too many arterials.

Emphasizing the usefulness of arterial streets or boulevards in expediting travel from one section of the city to another, the consultants say the present boulevard system meets all the needs of present traffic to the business district and across town.

Some of these boulevards exist because they carry state routes but have not been properly included in the municipal ordinances. They point out. They urge the existing boulevard system be adopted officially, properly covered by ordinance, and suitably protected by traffic signs.

Caution regarding arterials in these paragraphs from their report:

"There is a widely noted tendency for municipalities to create an excessive number of boulevards with the intention of preventing accidents. Generally, this condition arises because one or two intersections along a street have been the site of accidents or near accidents producing complaints from citizens.

"The establishment of an arterial street or boulevard is not truly an accident prevention measure. In fact, as this type of traffic regulation is used to excess in a community, accidents are prone to increase rather than decrease.

"It is obvious that as a city grows, a network of major streets must be made available to permit traffic to

Labor Needs Cut Severely Across State

BOISE, Oct. 22 (AP)—The state-wide demand for labor dropped abruptly during the past week as the harvest passed its peak.

The state employment service said there are 2,888 unfilled job openings listed, a decline of 2,444 over the previous week. The agency said this indicated most of Idaho's potatoes had been harvested in near record time.

Best Harvest Still On
 The employment service said the best harvest is not so far along, being estimated in various areas at 80 to 75 per cent completed and in several areas as now reporting sufficient labor on hand to finish the harvest if the weather remains dry.

The agency said the weather has cooperated in making full-time use of all labor and machinery available.

Construction opening jumped at mining was started for winter work at Anderson ranch dam and at Bliss. Logging and lumbering openings continue to decline.

44 Per Cent Drop
 Eastern Idaho showed a 68 per cent decline in labor demand for a total of 785 job openings. Only about 300 were farm jobs. The potato harvest was practically completed and the demand for pickers is slackening off.

South Central Idaho also reported a large net decline in openings while southwestern Idaho posted an increase in openings. The prime labor demand at Boise was for construction workers, while Caldwell and Emmet offices were seeking sugar beet harvest hands.

Northern Idaho offices reported a decline in job openings.

'Death at Hands' Of Reds Waits, Writer Declares

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22 (AP)—Death at the hands of communism awaits him if he is returned to his homeland, a Swedish writer said yesterday at his deportation hearing.

He is Gustav Martin Ericsson, 46, who with his wife, Agnes Dorothy, 32 and their two daughters, Margaret and Helen, 17, are charged with creating a violent Communist front.

Ericsson wrote anti-Communist books and articles in Sweden before coming to the United States in April, 1947, and had published no more there since that time.

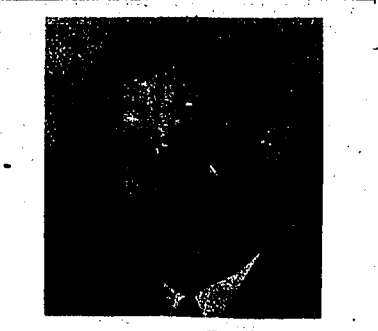

"I have been hounded most of my life by communism," he said. "I will not return to Sweden alive while the present conditions exist, and would rather see my family dead than go back. Only starvation and death await us if we return."

Ericsson will be sent to Washington for final decision. They are being held in lieu of $500 appearance bonds.

$1,538 Payment On Note, Check Asked in Court

A civil complaint seeking $1,538.98 plus interest on a promissory note and check and court costs was filed Wednesday in court by Lavern Strong against Al. O. Larson.

Strong seeks $954 plus interest on the check, $949.98 plus interest on the note, $180 attorney fees and costs of the action. He is being represented by Ray D. Acce.

Cities Holding Keys to Ballot Victor in 1948

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Political Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey cannot be elected next Tuesday if the Democrats hold their own in the populous industrial areas.

But forecasts of a Republican election sweep in the industrial states suggest that the Democratic party has lost essential support among white collar and manual workers.

Henry A. Wallace's third party thrust is cutting heavily into those Democratic votes in some states, notably New York.

President Truman of New York's 41 electoral votes, Wallace may achieve as much as California, Minnesota and possibly, Massachusetts.

Wallace Gains Cities

Wallace's punch finds the Democratic chin in the big towns. There are 91 cities of 100,000 or more inhabitants and they were the powerhouses of Franklin D. Roosevelt's new deal-Democratic coalition. PDI carried all but eight of those cities in 1944 when he defeated Dewey and won a fourth term. Dewey was defeated among the 21 big cities of New England, the mountain states and the Pacific.

Of the cities in the 20 middle Atlantic states, Dewey got only New York, N. Y. He won Erie, Pa., Cincinnati, O., Grand Rapids, Mich., Indianapolis, Ind., and Fort Wayne, Ind., among the east north central states. The west north central states gave Dewey only Wichita, Kan. In the south he carried Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Roosevelt's home town.

City Percentages Given

For all 91 cities of 100,000 or more the 1944 percentage score was:

Professional and business	53
White collar	41
Manual workers	49
Farmers	48

It was Mr. Roosevelt's hold on white collar and manual workers that enabled him to lick Dewey in 1944. In 1948 and 1949 Mr. Roosevelt had support of the farmers, as well. But the tide was turning after 1940.

Perjury Count Is Given for Woman

BOISE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The trial of Chancy Ayres on involuntary manslaughter was resumed today after a perjury charge had been filed against one of the state's chief witnesses yesterday.

Ayres is charged with involuntary manslaughter stemming from a traffic accident which killed his companion, Arthur Trautman, and five members of the Edward Janz family, Caldwell. The accident occurred west of Boise May 2.

The state resumed its testimony today before District Judge Charles W. Koelich.

A felony warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Joyce Newbold, red-haired waitress, who testified she "did not remember" details of the crash.

Strikes' Cost Set At 2 Million Days

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Labor department figures showed today that 2,400,000 man-days of work were lost last month because of strikes.

This was the biggest monthly loss since last May. Even so, the figures showed the loss amounted to only three-tenths of one per cent of all the time worked in industry during September.

Some 250 new strikes broke out in September, involving 100,000 workers. The labor department listed the big strikes of the month as the short-lived walkout at the Briggs Manufacturing company, Detroit, the west coast maritime tie-up and the California oil refinery strike.

BOISE, Oct. 28 (AP)—A meeting of Idaho Irrigation districts and canal company officials has been called Nov. 8 to discuss proposed legislation.

The meeting will be held in Boise. It will be led by John E. Van Dyke, Boise, secretary of the Boise and Sunset valley irrigation districts special legislative committee.

Representatives of all Idaho irrigation districts and canal companies have been invited to discuss canal and lateral rights-of-way maintenance, county treatment of irrigation tax deeds, qualifications of irrigation districts and allocation of federal security act to allow voluntary participation of public employees.

A committee also will be named to meet in Boise Nov. 6 to discuss the employe retirement program of the U. S. Couriers, Carriers, and Mailmen union. Charles L. King, Boise, is vice president.

Caution Asked on Support Potatoes

BOISE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Prompt action by ACA committees of the production and marketing administration to eliminate all possibility of government-purchased potatoes reaching consumer channels was asked by the Idaho potato industry coordinating committee.

The committee asked that all potatoes diverted under government purchase for use as stock feed be dumped into bulk lots and dyed so their identity would be maintained.

The committee also recommended that those potatoes which have been purchased under this program and stored for future feeding be dyed.

Leo Warner, Boise, chairman of the potato committee, said this action would stop rumors that potatoes purchased by the government under support operation and diverted for livestock feed were shown up in consumer channels.

China Units Fight From Manchuria

NANKING, Oct. 28 (AP)—A large-scale battle was under way today between an estimated 150,000 communist and six nationalist divisions trying to fight their way from Mukden into Jehol province from the west.

The outcome of this battle, taking place along a 150-mile battlefield around Hailinshu, will mean the success or failure of nationalists' attempt to withdraw from Manchuria.

A highly-placed source confirmed that Chiang Kai-shek has planned to withdraw most of his troops through Jehol province.

Young Radio Amateur Not Time-Waster

MONROE, N. C., (AP)—Like thousands of other North Carolina children, 12-year-old Phillip W. Nelson had to stay at home all summer. There were no movies, no swimming, no hikes, no parties.

The reason was infantile paralysis, which struck the Tar Heel state this year as never before. Most cities in central portions of the state banned children under 16 from all public gatherings.

To many families the polo quarantines meant hours of boredom, frayed nerves and sharp tongues. Phillip Nelson, however, was too busy with his hobby to notice anything unusual.

His father, Wayne Nelson, operates the first amateur radio station licensed in the fourth radio district (WAAA) and is owner of WAAA at Concord.

Father Aids Son
Nelson spent the summer helping his son learn the code and radio theory. At the same time Phillip finished a low-power code transmitter he put together from surplus parts. By late summer he was ready for the stiff license examination and traveled to Norfolk, Va., to take the Federal Commission test.

An inspector who said Phil was the youngest operator he had ever passed, broke regulations to write the boy personally to "get your transmitter ready."

Phil was on the air five minutes after the postman brought his license.

Music-Maker Seeks to Set U.N. Theme

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A music-maker we know and love that if he substituted ballads for bulletins and ballads, peace would come to the world.

Saucer-eyed Sammy Eisen, a 44-year-old band leader, thought it would be smart to go to another musician for a sympathetic hearing—piano playing President Truman.

Sammy couldn't get in to see Mr. Truman, in person, since the chief was out of town on important business. So Eisen wrote him a note.

He wanted the President to use his high office to press the United Nations into adopting an official anthem.

May Turn Truce
He reasoned that if army and navy enlistments could be bypassed and battles won with inspiring music, then the right set of octaves might turn the world toward global peace.

The baton-wielder first tried his plan out on Secretary General Trygve Lie of the U.N. He got a write-back saying that the United Nations merely is interested in a musical radio signature.

Sammy then appealed to the President, "who knows the value of music, which means for companionship and friendship."

No Fight After Song
"Whoever heard of a man coming out with his fists up after singing a song?"

"Music binds folks together," Sammy said. "And an anthem, conveying respect and feeling for peace and rights of others, would do more than a million articles, speeches, books or even another war."

Wheelchair Presented to Hospital

Two Wheelchairs Presented to Hospital by Junior Red Cross

Members of the Junior Red Cross chapter at the Twin Falls Junior high school have purchased two wheelchairs, one of which was presented to the Twin Falls county hospital for general hospital use and the other to the Red Cross for loan to needy persons.

The chairs, designed for portable use, were purchased by funds raised through membership donations in the Junior high school.

Student body officers, representing the chapter, presented one chair Wednesday to Evert E. Moody, superintendent of the hospital.

Officers making the presentation were Betty Jean Hall, president; Larry Church, vice president; Dale Filley, treasurer, and Gary Westcott, secretary.

The chapter purchased a similar chair for Red Cross use several years ago. Mrs. Helen Bailey, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, said the chair has been in constant use since it was purchased.

She said her office has a long waiting list for the chair and the addition of the new chair will aid considerably in helping needy persons in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Bailey complimented the students for their project in helping others. Moody said the new wheelchair at the hospital would be put in daily use.

End of Record Ban Viewed as 5-Year Pact Reported Okayed

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—A five-year agreement was reported today to have been reached between the American Federation of Musicians (AFM) and the major record companies to end the 16-month ban on the manufacture of new disks.

Attorneys for the companies were said to have drawn up a new five-year contract with James C. Petrillo, AFM president, that will be submitted within a few days to the justice department for final approval under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The companies, RCA-Victor, Decca, Columbia, Mercury, Capitol, Mr. O-M and King, were understood to be ready to begin making new popular and classical records the moment the contract has been approved and signed.

The controversial part of the agreement to be submitted to Washington concerned the royalty fund into which the companies will pay a fee from the sale of every record. Under the plan it will be administered by an "impartial" trustee.

Most professional musicians, including members of popular dance bands and philharmonic orchestras, were ordered by Petrillo to stop making new records as of last Jan. 1. The ban was imposed because the Taft-Hartley law outlawed the practices of the companies paying royalties directly into a union-administered fund.

Company lawyers were understood to have some doubts that even the new agreement would gain approval under the new labor law if it is rejected by the department of justice as illegal, then the ban on disk making would continue.

Under other provisions of the agreement, it was understood there were to be no appreciable changes in the wage status of the musicians. However, the companies did agree to an increase in the fees paid to the royalty fund on records which sell for more than $1.

In return, Petrillo was understood to have given up his demand that the companies pay royalties on the records made and sold during the period of the ban from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.

Industry negotiations have been under way between the union and the companies in recent weeks, spurred on by a falling off in record sales as the public tired of buying old recordings.

Idaho Guard To Aid Hunt For Lost Man

LEWISTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—About 60 members of the 200th tank battalion, Lewiston unit of the 10th armoured division, today joined the ground search from here for two fliers missing among the craggy and canyons of the primitive Selway river area east of Lewiston since Sunday night.

Both ground and aerial search parties ended two days of intensive coverage this evening without sighting the plane that left Moose creek at 8:40 p. m. Sunday carrying Joe Rosenkrans and W. J. Bolick, both of Lewiston.

The two men left Moose creek in a maroon Stinson airplane with Rosenkrans, operator of Moose Creek Ranches, Inc., and vice president of Empire Air Lines, at the controls and with Bolick, a Lewiston electrician, as a passenger. The plane was bad and they apparently were forced back on a projected flight to Lewiston after flying down the Selway as far as O'Hara creek, a distance of some 35 miles.

40 Per Cent Fuel Saving

More than a year ago, GM's famed Charles F. Kettering showed off the 12½-to-1 compression ratio engine he points to here. New GM says it could fool top used to make such engines—if the gas were here to power them.

Automaker's New 'Gas-Saver' Awaiting New Quality of Fuel

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent
DETROIT — The world's biggest automobiles that would use 40 per cent less gasoline than those now in use. It would take only long enough to re-tool for the new engines. For two lines most of that re-tooling already is done. Yet it may be years before such cars are on the market.

General Motors is starting already to move toward this greater efficiency, which it believes is in the national interest. New Oldsmobile and Cadillac engines have been designed so that only cylinder-heads and a few minor details would have to be changed to handle the 12½-to-1 compression required.

The delay is caused by the fact that such engines need a quality of gasoline that can be found now only at airports.

That is the story told by C. L. McCuen, who has succeeded the famous Charles F. "Boss" Kettering as GM's vice-president in charge of research.

In June, 1947, Kettering showed a new six-cylinder motor that squeezes the gasoline-and-air mixture in the cylinders into 2/25 of its normal space. That is what 12½-to-1 compression ratio means.

grade portions, to keep them at 100-octane.

Part of the industry also double that 100-octane gas should be used much for such cars. Petroleum researchers say that even in a 12½-to-1 engine, 100-octane would be needed not more than a tenth of the time. For the rest, such an engine, they say, would perform just as well on lower octane fuel.

They suggest a second, small tank of 100-octane, that would cut in automatically whenever the engine was working hard. Or a tank of alcohol and water with which the engine would be supercharged automatically when it was needed.

W. M. Holiday, director of Soco-Vacuum laboratories, says that it would cost more than $100,000,000 for a plant to make 100,000 barrels a day of 100-octane gasoline. Present output of gasoline is about 1,600,000 barrels a day. He says it would cost at least $5,000,000,000 to make all refineries capable of producing 100-octane fuel.

But Holiday says the industry now could make a tenth of its gasoline at the 90-octane level, by adding three cubic centimeters of tetraethyl lead to each gallon. That, in his opinion, would be enough to provide for the 12½-to-1 compression engine. If a double fuel system were provided so that the 90-octane would be used only for starting, spurting and hill-climbing.

If the high compression engines were used for such purposes, they would save more fuel than the refineries would lose in such a changeover, Holiday concedes. But this does not care for one objection:

It would cost between $175,000 and $250,000,000 to put a third pump for the 100-octane fuel, in each filling station and secondary outlet in the country, so that you could find 100-octane wherever you drove in for ordinary gas. It would also call for between 250,000 and 300,000 pumps requiring steel, motors and other items that still are hard to get. Nevertheless, the trend is toward higher power gasoline, as competition among the big companies gets going again.

Large Crowd Reported for Buhl Concert

BUHL, Oct. 28.—The first of a series of concerts sponsored here by the Buhl Business and Professional Women drew a large and enthusiastic audience from Buhl, Twin Falls and surrounding communities. The artists featured in the concert, Samuel Mariel, Mexican violinist, and Gunhild Nilsson, American pianist, were called back several times for encores.

The program opened with Johannes Brahms's Sonata for Piano and Violin. A major, opus 100. Generally called the "Spring" sonata, the selections were presented in a masterful fashion by the two artists.

William Grant Still's Suite for Violin and Piano, African Dancer, Mother and Child and Gamma was the second entry on the program. The composition was inspired by the works of three other Negroes, Richard B. Rogers, Sam Johnson and Augusta Savage.

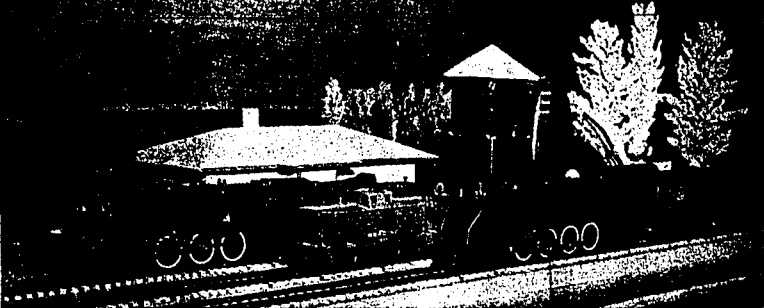

Last number before the intermission was Suite Populaire Espagnole, by Manuel de Falla, which Mariel and Nilsson presented in Argentina. Here the artists presented the type of modern Spanish music for which they are noted.

Baudouin das Salvas Brasileira, by Heitor Villa-Lobos was another of the selections in which Mariel and Nilsson specialize. It was followed by Sonatina Ritmica by Roque Cordero.

An informal reception was held for the Mariels at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Shott following the concert.

Just before the concert, Mr. and Mrs. Mariel were guests of honor at an informal dinner at the Shott residence. An elk dinner was served to the honor guests, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Lumley and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nichols, Houston, Tex.

Facilities of Railroad Get Maximum Use

The aerial view above shows how rail facilities at this Magic Valley station are used to get the maximum amount of efficiency. Three trains are shown on three sets of tracks. Two trains are waiting to pull out on the same main line while the caboose of a train headed in the opposite direction is shown between the two locomotives. Despite the obvious crowding at this particular station, there have been no complaints of delays in schedules and none are expected. The equipment shown above is part of the model railroad constructed in the basement of Peter Goertzen's home at 637 Second avenue north. Goertzen is president of the Snake River Model Railroad club organized here last week. All Magic Valley model railroad owners are eligible for membership in the club. (Staff photo-engraving)

Athens Scribe Avers Greeks Needing More

Editor's note: L. E. Chasles, AP chief of bureau in Athens, prepared the following article on the Greek situation while in the United States on home leave. He is now on his way back to his post in Athens.

By L. E. CHASLES
NEW YORK—A lot of questions are going to be asked when the 81st congress gets a proposal to dip into the till for an additional two to three hundred million dollars for Greece.

The congressmen are going to ask sponsors of the bill why President Truman and Ambassador Gready reported opposite results in Greece within a few days of each other.

Secretary Marshall's unexpected but brief absence from United Nations in Paris to visit Greece two weeks ago was the beginning of a building for the request to congress.

Not "Ballfactors"
The day Marshall arrived in Athens, Ambassador Gready, who had been conspicuously silent about the guerrilla war, bobbed up with an announcement that the Greek army's progress against the communist-led guerrillas was not "satisfactory."

This didn't jibe with President Truman's statement a few days previously. The President described the campaign against the communists in Greece as a "conspicuous success."

These conflicts on the highest levels in Washington and Athens cannot be dismissed easily. But there is a partial explanation, which goes back to March, 1947, when the Truman doctrine was pronounced.

Underestimated Guerrillas
The first American military men to appraise the Greek situation underestimated the guerrillas and over-estimated the enthusiasm of Greek politicians and military leaders when the air was announced.

Following an outstanding success in clearing up Roumeli in central Greece within a time set in the spring, the operations chiefs allowed three weeks to knock out the guerrillas concentration in Grammos.

Inadequately trained Greek troops then ran headlong into fanatic guerrillas defending amazingly well fortified positions. It took months for 50,000 Greek soldiers to root approximately 15,000 guerrillas out of Grammos and the adjacent area.

That extra two months cost a lot of money. Now the Greek army has bumped into equally stubborn resistance in the Vitsi mountains near the juncture of the Yugoslav and Albanian borders. This also is costing a lot of money.

Valley Shows Net Drop in Demand For Field Labor

Magio Valley area reported a big net decline in job openings as good harvest weather permitted maximum progress in the harvest of sugar beets and potatoes with the Oct. 23 total of openings at 1,092, a decline of 824, according to A. J. Meeks, manager of the state employment service.

In the Twin Falls area, there was more than ample labor available for the potato harvest, Meeks said. The major problem here, as well as throughout Magio Valley, is to get workers to take beet topping jobs, he added. When the potatoes are all in, it is anticipated that some workers will then go into the beets.

Jerome reports that the Bean Growers' warehouse in Hazelton opened Sept. 18, with about 45 women employed. The statewide total of job listings in 1928 offices stood at 3,883 Oct. 23, which included 1,209 farm openings. This was a drop of 2,444, and indicated that most of Idaho's potatoes have been harvested in near record time with only a small percentage remaining.

More Men Enlist For Navy Service

Latent Magio Valley enlistees in the U. S. navy include Arthur J. Hogue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hogue, Jerome, and Earl J. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Wright, Eden, according to Twin Falls recruiting station. Both youths enlisted for a three-year period and will take recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

Marshall Kept In Dark, Says Bureau's Aide

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall was kept in the dark by President Truman's latest Palestine statement only after the President decided to issue it.

Earlier this week, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the statement had been "cleared with the state department." The statement opposed any changes in the original U. N. plan for partitioning Palestine, unless the changes are acceptable to Israel.

Lovett disclosed at a news conference that the White House told him of the presidential statement on Sunday afternoon, a few hours before it was made public.

Lovett said he then notified Marshall, who is in Paris representing the American government in the United Nations discussions on the future of Palestine.

Lovett declined to say what Marshall said when he was told about the presidential statement. He also declined to answer questions as to whether there was a conflict between the Truman and Marshall stands. He said he would not bite on such bait.

Lovett's remarks today touched off speculation whether the President and Marshall are at odds on the Palestine issue.

The relations between the President and Marshall on another question—Russia—were much in the news several weeks ago. Mr. Truman wanted to send Supreme Court Justice Vinson on a peace mission to Moscow.

Spanish People Happy With Less Than Americans, Girl Learns During Visit

By HELEN TUCKER
"It takes much less to make Spanish people happy than it does Americans, because Americans are always striving for things they can't have while Spaniards are content with what they have."

This was the conclusion of Jessie Selays, Twin Falls, during a two-month visit in Spain. She went with her father and uncle, Lorenzo and Felix Selays, who left Spain 40 years ago to come to America.

The Selays flew from Twin Falls to Madrid in approximately two days actual flying time. After landing in Madrid they went through customs and had their clothing steamed from their bags in the usual haphazard manner. Besides having most of her dresses wrinkled, Jessie had to pay duty on all of her notions.

They spent three nights in Madrid during which time they saw the king's palace, Moorish troops and a museum of original Spanish paintings.

There are few cars in Madrid, Jessie said. No factories in Spain produce cars so they are all imported from the United States, Italy and France. In order to get a driver's license there, one must pass a rigid examination and practically be a mechanic, she said.

to $4 a day. She paid $4 for an American magazine.

In the Basque country, people are taller and fairer, she said, and they are constantly having fiestas. They are held in towns on the day which commemorates the patron saint of the town. The fiestas begin with the celebration of mass, followed by lunch, music, dancing and bull fighting.

The Selays visited San Sebastian, a seaside resort town, for two days. The women wear old-fashioned bathing suits with long, full skirts, Jessie said. Two-piece suits are not allowed on public beaches.

In most of the small towns there is a market square where the vendors bring all sorts of products on donkeys. Practically everything is black market there, she said, including money exchange.

Girls dress similar to American girls, but because of high prices, have less clothes. They live quieter lives and "don't tear around as we do," Jessie said.

They have many American movies in Spain but the movies use Spanish dialogue. "I would sit in a movie and see American actors' mouths forming English words, and it was disconcerting to hear unfamiliar voices speaking Spanish at the same time," Jessie said.

In Madrid, Jessie went to a night club, which, she says, was very much like night clubs in the United States, complete with a floor show, orchestra and dancing.

People in Spain live a lot more simple than do Americans, and there.

"Also," she added, "they do not date as we do. The girls go to a dance in a group and if a boy dances with a girl he likes, he escorts her home. If a girl is dating one boy, she can't break the monopoly by dating another occasionally. She either has to break off with the boy entirely—or marry him."

Hunting Deer

BUHL, Oct. 28—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiggins left yesterday on a deer hunting trip to the Soldier Mountain area.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nichols, Houston, Tex., are guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Lumley.

They are much more serious about their religion, Jessie pointed out. Although the Selays were visiting relatives, they managed to do quite a bit of traveling in Spain.

"Everything was new and everything was an experience," Jessie said. "I would like to have stayed longer, but I wouldn't want to live there."

Bus Strikers Back at Jobs After Walkout

NEW YORK Oct. 28 (AP)—Drivers on two city-operated private bus lines voted overwhelmingly last night to go back to work, ending a two-day walkout against union back-to-work orders.

The vote by drivers of the Third Avenue Transit Corp. marked the end of the biggest surface transportation strike in city history. It had been marked by bitter factional disputes and affected transportation facilities used by 3,500,000 persons.

Drivers of six other private bus lines agreed to return to work earlier today.

The vote of the Third Avenue drivers was 2,014 to 568. Drivers who waited at Transport hall while the House of Representatives counted the votes greeted the result with cheers.

Some 1,200 Third Avenue drivers had yielded earlier at a mass meeting to stay off their jobs, but agreed to abide by the result of tonight's secret vote.

The tieup began yesterday as a planned four-hour demonstration of 4,000 drivers but got out of control of union leaders.

Mayor William O'Dwyer blamed "communist leadership" for failure of an insurgent faction to go back to work.

Service throughout the city was spotty today as some drivers refused to carry out directions to go back to their jobs issued by Michael Quill, president of the CIO Transport Worker union.

At the mid-afternoon mass meeting, the 1,200 drivers were urged three times by a leader of the rank-and-file revolt to resume work.

They at first rejected his plea by a huge margin but eventually voted to accept the secret ballot outcome.

Insurance Notices Will Be Sent Vets From Area Office

Prior notice from the veterans administration branch office in Seattle, Wash., will be sent to veterans in the Pacific Northwest whose national service life insurance term policies expire after Oct. 31, Don Davall, Twin Falls VA office, announced Wednesday.

In most cases, notices will be sent two months before the expiration date of the original policies. This will give the veterans time to convert their term insurance to a permanent NGLI plan or to renew their term insurance for an additional five-year period, the VA said.

Renewals may be made without a physical examination, but at a higher premium rate based on the veteran's attained age at the time of renewal.

VA stressed the fact that veterans who plan to renew their term insurance must submit their renewal application, plus a premium payment, for the advanced rate, prior to the expiration of the original term policy.
