WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Senator Fulbright, D., Ark., said today the new Democratic-controlled congress is certain to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine.

'Peace' Is Theme of Armistice

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Military leaders urged all Americans on this Armistice day to work and pray for the peace that 440,000 of their countrymen died to achieve through two World wars.

At Arlington cemetery, just across the Potomac river from the capital, the American Legion paid tribute to the unknown soldier of World War I. A wreath was laid on the tomb of Cpl. Louis H. Renfrow, assistant military aide to President Truman.

Truman Quiet

In Key West, Fla., where he is vacationing, Mr. Truman himself planned no special observance in commemoration of the 30th anniversary of the end of World war I.

Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan asked all citizens to join in a "prayerful petition that God may give us the wisdom and the courage to do all those things which need to be done to keep this America safe and this world of ours at peace."

New Determination

Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington appealed in a statement for renewed determination "to help bring about a lasting peace through full support of an increasingly effective international organization devoted to establishing the basis of world understanding."

"If it takes patience," he said, "let us be patient. If it takes humility, let us be humble. If it takes strength, let us be strong."

Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, reminded Americans that if this country had not won victory in two World wars "then the history of the world would have been turned permanently away from the path of freedom."

"State of Armistice"

Symington in a speech at Rochester, N. Y., warned that the world is now living in a state of "armistice, which is no peace."

"We all know that this hope for permanent peace was not realized (after World war I)," he said. "Peace does not come to a people for the asking . . . peace must be planned for, negotiated for, and if all else fails, fought for."

In Birmingham, Ala., Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall told a "world peace" luncheon that "wishful thinking and good intentions are not enough to save the peace."

"We face a troubled world again today," he said. "We find our gaze turning—unwillingly but hypnotically—toward at least the possibility of another world war. Again we detest the idea of war. Again we have an overwhelming urge to avoid it."

OK Given Minidoka Repayment Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Approval of an interim repayment contract with American falls reservoir district No. 2, Gooding division, on the Minidoka, Ida., reclamation project, was announced by the interior department.

William E. Warne, assistant secretary of the interior, said the new contract, as drawn up by him, has for its major purposes the following:

1. To establish at 20,300 acres the maximum area of new lands within the district for development.

2. To outline more clearly the terms of the existing contract of September, 1927, as to expenditures which may be included in the maximum obligation of $5,000,000 established by that contract.

3. To provide a revised formula for the distribution of construction costs between new and old lands, but to defer at least until completion of all construction under the contract, any revision of the repayment schedule now in effect.

Revised Assessment

4. To revise existing contract provisions on the maximum amount of the annual operation and maintenance charge to be assessed by the district against new lands during the first five years of their development.

5. To provide for a deferment of $90,023 of the district's construction charge installment for 1948, the deferment to be passed on by the district to 3,588 acres of new lands.

Payment Adequate

Kenneth Marshall, acting commissioner of reclamation, said the existing maximum repayment obligation of the irrigation district is adequate as to amount.

"The repayment problem in this case is that of clarifying an ambiguity in the present contract as to what expenditures may probably be charged within the present obligations," Markwell said.

"Actual construction is substantially completed. There remains only some additional work in the main canal to reduce seepage losses."

Holiday Not Observed in Local Court

Holiday or not, the district court trial of a civil action brought by R. C. Calico against J. H. Muse went into its third day Thursday. District Judge Hugh A. Baker explained delays in a heavy calendar this term made it necessary to hold court on Armistice day.

The case was expected to be heard in one day and other cases were set to follow it immediately. Several other matters have been scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Meanwhile, next Monday had been set for the jury trial of Orville Reinoehl on a charge of attempted extortion.

Judge Baker pointed out it is necessary to take care of the other matters before jury trials resume. The calendar of case motions has been set for Friday, and a divorce and several civil matters also face the court.

The Calico-Muse suit, which has occupied the court for three days in trial sessions, was filed in 1947 regarding use of an irrigation ditch. Calico seeks an injunction restraining Muse from using a ditch. The two men are neighbors at Hansen.

Calico's attorney is Ray D. Agee and Muse's represented by Frank E. Stephan. Witnesses called by Agee include Mr. and Mrs. Calico, Charles Behrent, Bryon Harris, Troy Siscoe, Leonard Lyle, A. E. Daw, Ivar Ridgeway and Charles E. Smith. Defense witnesses include John Oemsted and John E. Hayes. Muse was expected to testify Thursday.

No Blame Set by Coroner's Probe

JEROME, Nov. 11—A coroner's jury which held an inquest into the traffic death of Mrs. E. E. LaTurner, Jerome, reported late Wednesday that she came to her death in an automobile accident on state highway 93, five and one-half miles north of Jerome Oct. 27, according to Coroner J. R. Wiley.

Mrs. LaTurner died of injuries received in a head-on collision, of autos driven by Richard Sims, Chico, Calif., and Mrs. R. O. Freeman, Jerome.

ROBINS MARCHED

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins marched with military units and other organizations in today's Armistice day parade.

Reinoehl Case Trial Set for Monday Start

Orville Reinoehl is scheduled to appear in district court at 10 a.m. Monday for the start of his trial on charges of attempted extortion.

Twenty-five [illegible] residents have been called by Dr. J. W. Creed, county coroner, to appear in court at that time for possible jury duty.

According to the complaint, the former city police sergeant is charged with attempted extortion in connection with receiving $1,000 from O. A. Rambo, former local cafe owner.

Reinoehl entered a plea of not guilty to the charge Nov. 1 after District Judge Hugh A. Baker overruled an eight-point motion to "quash" the information and an 11-point special demurrer presented by Defense Attorney W. L. Dunn.

In Dunn's actions, he generally sought reduction of the felony charge to a misdemeanor.

Late last week, Judge Baker, in a court order, stated it appeared to him the jurors will be required.

The judge said the sheriff is, or may be disqualified, for participating in the selection and summoning of additional jurors.

He ordered Dr. Creed to replace the sheriff in the drawing of 25 more jurors. The names were drawn by Dr. Creed, Probate Judge S. T. Hamilton and the clerk of the district court, Charles Bulles.

Names drawn include:

Harry Barry, Lee Burks, Frank L. Pfier, R. E. Hughes, James C. Leighton, R. L. McCracken, Mrs. Juneau Shinn and A. V. Williams, all Twin Falls; R. B. Beatty, Mrs. C. W. Trevan and Mrs. Lyle Schnitker, route 1, Twin Falls; Arch Gallner and D. E. Quillici, route 3, Twin Falls.

S. Canfield, Evert Magar and Walter Slaughter, jr., Kimberly; Marian Edget and Thorlief Rangel, Buhl; Frank Barron, route 1, Buhl; Arnold Svancara, route 3, Buhl; Mrs. Mary Gullet, route 4, Buhl; Mrs. Lawrence Blei, Murtaugh; Parra Larsen, Hansen; and C. G. Peters, Filer.

Tojo, 24 Others, Awaiting Decree

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other onetime Japanese warlords probably will hear their fate from the far eastern war crimes tribunal tomorrow.

The 11-nation tribunal neared the end of the longest trial in history today. Sir William Webb, presiding justice, was expected to finish reading the 250,000-word judgment tomorrow morning—early this evening in the United States.

Then, after a recess, he was expected to begin reading the individual judgments against the 25 defendants accused of shaping and wielding Japan's wartime policy of aggression. The sentencing itself was to follow.

First of Concert Series Here Is Good, Program Exceptional

By HELEN TUCKER

With an extremely well chosen program, the Paganini quartet opened the Community Concert series at the high school auditorium Wednesday night.

Artists were Henri Temianka, first violin; Gustave Rossrelli, second violin; Robert Courte, viola, and Adolphe Frezin, 'cellist. The four instruments used were made by Stradivarius more than 200 years ago and at one time were owned by Nicolo Paganini.

The program consisted of three quartets by Haydn, Beethoven and Dvorak. Haydn's Quartet in D, Opus 64, No. 5, better known as "The Lark," brought out the full tone of the four instruments as well as the skill of the musicians. In the first movement, Allegro moderato, the first violin played counterpoint. The second movement, Adagio Cantabile, was perhaps the most expressive in its quiet meditation. Final movements of the Haydn quartet were Menuetto and Finale.

Beethoven's Quartet in C major, Opus 59, No. 3, was the second quartet on the program. Movements were Allegro, Menuetto, in which the first violin was outstanding; Andante Contabile and Allegro.

After intermission the musicians played Dvorak's Quartet in M major, Opus 96, which was written by the composer during his residence in New York and is distinctively American in style. The first movement was Allegro ma non troppo. The second movement, Lento, brought out the impressive melody in a minor key which was emphasized by the overtones of the 'cello pizzicato. Third and fourth movements were Molto vivace and Finale.

As an encore the quartet played Haydn's Serenade in which the first violin carried the melody while the other instruments were pizzicato.

Although the selections from which a string quartet has to choose for a concert are somewhat more limited than those for complete orchestration, the program of the Paganini quartet was well balanced.

Audience reaction was more than favorable with the quartet receiving three curtain calls at intermission and a tremendous ovation at the end of the program.

In spite of the fact that chamber music can, in short while, become monotonous, the melody, rhythm, and harmony of the Paganini quartet was exceptional.

Farm Aid Congress Tiff Seen

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Reporter

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 11 (AP) — A sharp fight in the next congress over farm price support laws was forecast today by leaders of the National Grange.

Here for the farm organization's 82nd annual convention, Grange leaders expressed opposition to a congressional proposal for drastic revision of laws now in force, law passed by the Republican-controlled 80th congress.

See Truman Opposition

They also predicted the proposal would be opposed by President Truman and his agriculture department.

The revision proposal was made in Washington yesterday by Representative Cooley, D., N. C., who is due to become chairman of the powerful house agriculture committee in January.

Cooley's attack on the GOP farm law was directed principally at its change of the present formula for calculating the so-called "parity" or "fair" farm prices and a shift to a flexible support program. Both are due to become effective in 1950.

Revisions Supported

The Grange, as well as the American Farm Bureau federation, supported these provisions when they were before the last congress.

Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, said his farm organization was expected to oppose the revision.

In his keynote speech to the Grange convention, Goss described the GOP law as providing essential "defenses" against another farm depression.

Indiana Pledges Fight

Herschel D. Newsome, master of the Indiana State Grange and member of the convention's committee on agriculture, predicted the Grange would fight Colley's "plan to kill improvements in the Federal farm program."

The new farm law would lower parity prices on most crops and raise them on most livestock products.

It also would replace the present 90 per cent parity price supports for basic crops with a system of flexible supports ranging from 60 to 90 per cent of parity.

Supports Would Vary

Supports would be high in times of crop shortages to encourage production and low in times of surpluses to discourage overproduction.

Goss, who was one of the first to urge the flexible system, favors it because, he said, it would lessen the need of government controls.

Cooley, on the other hand, favors continuation of present support levels. He would couple them with government production and marketing controls to prevent surpluses.

Radio Chains' "War" Flares Up Into Open

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP) — The war of the networks broke into the open today with Jack Benny show as the main battleground.

Both NBC and CBS are dangling million-dollar offers before the "ightwad" comic. Daily Variety reported NBC is the winner with an estimated lure of $4,000,000. Benny's lawyer denies a deal has yet been made.

Meanwhile, CBS is bringing up reinforcements. Bossman William Paley arives in town today.

No "Cold War"

This is no cold war. It has been waged hot and heavy over cocktails in Hollywood's swank dens.

It started a year ago when NBC dealt a heavy blow by luring away such CBS stalwarts as Jimmy Durante, Ozzie and Harriet, "Take It or Leave It" and "The Hit Parade."

Bereft of all but one topnotch show (radio theater), CBS tried to develop its own, meeting with one exception (My Friend Irma), the efofrts failed. Then Columbia pulled its own coup.

Grab Amos 'n' Andy

The trade was startled by the news that Amos 'n' Andy, who had graced NBC since the crystal set days, were going over to CBS. The complicated deal was a lawyer's delight, but roughly it goes like this:

Amos 'n' Andy incorporated themselves, then sold their entire rights to the Harlem characters to CBS. A. 'n' 'A' will receive a reported $2,000,000 over five years, plus a weekly salary, plus a share of profits. The sale is reported to the treasury department as capital gains, taxable at 25 per cent, instead of the sliding income tax scale.

Many another tax-weary radio star eyed the deal with envy.

Livestock Auction Firm Share Sold

The sale of his share of the Twin Falls Commission company to Bert Callen and Chris Callen has revealed Wednesday by Tom Callen, former co-owner of the company.

Details of the sale were unavailable. Callen said he would be working with the company for some time, but had sold his portion of the company to enable him to attend to other business matters. The new co-owners said business will be conducted as usual.

New Gooding Grade School Plan Outlined

GOODING, Nov. 11—Preliminary plans for the new $300,000, 20-classroom grade school building were outlined here Wednesday night at a meeting called by Lee Ingersoll, superintendent of local schools.

Representatives from 11 community clubs, Mayor J. Wesley Miller, members of the school board and taxpayers attended the meeting.

It was announced the new, two-story building will be made of concrete and located on the present athletic field directly south of the junior high school building. It will be placed 50 feet back from the sidewalk on Main street and will run approximately the full length of the block.

Ingersoll showed the plans and explained they were not expecting to add any additions to the new building in future years. The new structure will be patterned, some-

Russ Bid for Parley Called Blow at Unity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — Russia's apparent encouragement of a Truman-Stalin "peace meeting" was seen in diplomatic quarters here today as another Soviet attempt to destroy western-power unity.

High-ranking diplomatic authorities expressed the belief that the Kremlin would exploit any conference between President Truman and Premier Josef Stalin solely for its propaganda value.

These sources predicted that Russia would waste no time in using such a two-power meeting to weaken ties between the United States and the non-communist nations of western Europe.

They suggested a conference between the two leaders would give Russia additional ammunition to sabotage the Marshall plan and the proposed north Atlantic security alliance.

The Washington Times-Herald reported Monday that a Truman-Stalin meeting might be in the wind. The report was picked up by the Soviet news agency Tass and was given heavy play in Moscow newspapers yesterday. This was interpreted generally as a sign that the Russians are not opposed to the idea.

The state department heaved an official sigh of relief when a spokesman for the President said at Key West, Fla., that Mr. Truman had no plans for a meeting with Stalin, unless the Soviet leader came to this country.

In the opinion of state department officials, such a meeting probably would be unprofitable and even harmful until the United States builds up its military strength so that Russia understands American foreign policies mean "business."

Moreover, diplomats believe the Soviets have ample opportunity to demonstrate any amity with the west in Berlin, in the United Nations, and elsewhere.

Coroner Warns Public Against Moving Victims of Accidents

Dr. J. W. Creed, Twin Falls county coroner, issued a statement Wednesday evening in which he used the accidental death of 6-year-old Harold James Roy as an illustration with which to warn the public.

The coroner said it was his understanding the boy's body was moved to the roadside immediately after the youngster had been run over by a school bus.

"I am criticizing no one," said Dr. Creed, "in this particular instance it may have been necessary to move the body to protect it against oncoming traffic. There are circumstances at times under which accident victims cannot be left in the roadway, particularly when there is no one to guard traffic.

"But this accident does serve as a reminder that all inexperienced persons should avoid moving anyone who is seriously injured or even those who are apparently dead.

"It is possible that unskilled handling would seriously aggravate an injury caused by an accident, even to the extent of causing death, which otherwise might not result.

"Even though it may seem inhumane thing to do," said Dr. Creed, "the public must realize that to move an injured person may prove the actual cause of his death."

The coroner also pointed out that in all serious accidents the vehicle involved should not be moved until permission is given by a law enforcement official.

China Reds Using Japs for Soldiers, Chinese Tell U.N.

PARIS, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—China charged in the United Nations political committee today that Chinese communists are using 50,000 Japanese war prisoners as artillerymen, airmen and tankmen in the war in China.

Another 30,000 Japanese are doing "technical work" in Manchuria for the communists, T. F. Tsiang, China, said. He said the Japanese were taken prisoners by the Russians and turned over to Chinese communists.

Tsiang was opposing Russia's proposal for a one-third cut in the armed forces of the big five powers within one year. He said disarmament was impossible as nationalist China in her present plight.

Proposes Red Slash

Tsiang said China would propose U.N. action for "disarming (communist) fifth columns through the world."

He said the U.N.'s first serious step toward disarmament should be the "disarmament of fifth columns in Greece, Korea and China . . ."

He said it was "commonly known" that Japanese prisoners captured by the Russians during World war II were fighting for the communists in Manchuria.

Words, Attitudes Differ

"The words of the Soviet delegation here (on disarmament) and the attitude of the Soviet government are as far apart as the north pole from the south pole," Tsiang said.

He likened China's position today to that of the United States during the Civil war and the bolsheviks during their attempt to solidify their revolution in 1917 and their harassment of foreign intervention.

Negative Outcome Seen

Despite the fact that the outcome was sure to be negative as regards any reduction in armaments, U.N. diplomats were ready to argue the Soviet proposal and ultimately to adopt a resolution underscoring the desirability of arms cuts when they can be based on international confidence.

The entire U.N. setup was shut down for the morning in a half-day observance of the Armistice anniversary.

Airlift Planes Flying Despite Russ Threat

BERLIN, Nov. 11 (AP)—American and British planes flew the supply route to Berlin today in the face of a Russian threat to force down planes straying from the 20-mile wide air corridors to the former German capital.

The American answer to the Russians' threat, made last night, was a terse promise from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, that "we will keep them flying."

Both British and U. S. authorities said publicly the Russians would be held responsible for any action they take.

The Russians, citing a long list of alleged violation of their territory, also said they would force down "all aircraft without identification marks of nationality" flying over the Soviet zone, including the three air corridors.

Complain on Commercials

The second threat presumably refers to non-military planes, which do not carry nationality markers. The Russians have complained of commercial flights in the Berlin air corridors.

Some official sources tended to discount the Soviet note as another move in the "war of nerves."

The Russians posted another warning at the Berlin air safety center that they will hold three hours of air-to-air (probably plane to target) firing practice today over a field in the British Buckeberg air corridor. At other points in the corridors, they said, they will hold "local flying maneuvers."

Will Use Soviet Zone

Although both Allied officials and U. S. have said in the past they would use fighter escorts if necessary to keep the airlift going, American pilots said they had standing orders to obey orders of fighter plane seeking to force them to land.

A senior American air officer who declined to be quoted by name said:

"Russian Bluff"

"If this is a Russian bluff—and it looks like one—we called it. Now it remains to be seen how far they intend to go."

Another group of allied officials took a more serious view of the Russian threat. They pointed out previous threats of action against the airlift had been countered in the Soviet press but the Russians had not heretofore committed themselves in official notes.

The new Soviet move was disclosed when Brig.-Gen. F. K. Galley, Clay's chief of staff, replied to a letter from Gen. G. S. Lukjantschenko, Russian chief of staff.

T-H Chief Agent Intends to Retain 'Usual Business'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Despite the administration's pledge to seek repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, its chief agent, Robert N. Denham, intends to follow a "business as usual" policy.

Denham said in an interview today he will keep on administering the Republican-sponsored labor law "as if nothing had happened," so long as it is on the books.

He has some ideas of his own for changing it, but "nobody has asked me for any so far."

A number of labor leaders have suggested privately since President Truman's upset election victory that Denham either should quit or be ousted in a revision of the law's terms.

But to questions about his future, the 61-year-old general counsel of the national labor relations board responded:

"I am still general counsel and I will be until the law is changed."

"Nobody has asked me for my resignation yet," he laughed.

Record U.S. Crop of Corn Seen for '48

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department, in its semi-final crop report, has estimated this year's record corn crop at 3,540,510,000 bushels.

This is 81,555,000 bushels more than the 3,458,955,000 forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's unusually small crop of 2,400,952,000 bushels and with the 1937-46 average of 2,813,529,000.

Today's crop report did not have any new estimates on this year's production of several crops, including such major ones as wheat, oats and barley.

Stand Until December

Last month's estimate on those crops will stand until mid-December, when the department issues its final report based on actual, rather than indicated production.

$2,652 Asked As Result of March Crash

A civil suit filed Wednesday in district court seeks $2,652.25 damages as the result of a railroad crossing accident, in which a truck was demolished.

Floyd Collins filed a complaint against the Union Pacific railroad, Don C. Anderberg and Howard H. Lewton which charges that as a result of a railroad crossing signal being inoperative and the failure of Anderberg and Lewton to sound a signal as their train approached a crossing, a two-ton truck owned by Collins was demolished. The truck was damaged to the extent of $1,520 and Collins seeks also $1,132.25 for loss of profits on contracts he held.

According to the complaint, Tommy Collins was driving the truck in an easterly direction on U. S. highway 30 at 12:30 p. m., March 28, 1948. As the driver approached the railroad crossing at Curry his vision to the north was obstructed by a warehouse.

The complaint continues that the blinker signals at the crossing were not in operation and Collins was unaware of the approach of a train. When the train, upon which Anderberg was engineer and Lewton, fireman, appeared from behind the obstruction, Collins attempted the truck into the side of a building south of the crossing to keep from colliding with the train which was traveling at an estimated speed of 40 to 50 miles per hour.

Collins is represented in the action by Walter M. Oros, Boise, and Lawrence B. Quinn.

Grazing Districts Set Voting Dates

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Five Idaho grazing districts will hold board elections this month, W. H. Schnabel, district grazier of the bureau of land management, said today.

He said elections to the board of grazing district one will be held at Boise Monday. Other elections: district two, Burley, Nov. 20; district three, Idaho Falls, Nov. 30; district four, Salmon, Nov. 20, and district five, Shoshone, Nov. 18.

JAP MINERS STRIKE

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Some 70,000 Japanese coal miners struck from three to 24 hours today in demands for higher wages. The strike took place at 70 coal mines.

China Clamps Martial Rules In Wide Area

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—The nationalist government imposed martial law today on the entire lower Yangtse valley, including Shanghai and Nanking, in effect converting the Chinese heartland into a forward war zone.

Threatened with disaster, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek suspended civil rights in a vast stretch of China as communist armies struck for the gates of Nanking and hunger riots spread.

Curfew Also Ordered

Along with martial law, the government ordered a nightly curfew from 11p. m. to 6 a. m. in the rich valley from Shanghai to Nanking, 200 air miles west, and on northward to communist-threatened Pengpu and south to Hangchow.

The sternest measures that this part of China has known since the Japanese occupation were invoked as a precaution against communist fifth column activity, to deal with internal disorders and to throw every resource against the communist push down from conquered Manchuria.

Money Readjusted

On the economic front, the central political council decided to readjust the exchange rate of the gold yuan to 20 to one U. S. dollar, making the gold yuan worth 5 cents American. The rate was introduced about three months ago, it was worth 25 cents. The executive yuan (cabinet) is expected to approve the action.

The martial law decree authorized local military commanders to censor the mails, telegraph and publications, and to forbid strikes, demonstrations and whatever other activity they may deem necessary.

The army was empowered to requisition private stocks of food for the feeding of troops "as it sees fit. Travelers will be subject to strict screening before they can enter or leave the area.

Attlee Rejects Bid For Big 3 Parley

LONDON, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee today rejected a suggestion in commons that he propose a new big three meeting with Premier Josef Stalin and President Truman.

The suggestion that Attlee approach Stalin and Mr. Truman "with a view to meeting them at an early date for discussion of present-day problems" was made during the question period in the house.

"Generally speaking," Attlee said, "I think it is preferable that international problems should be discussed through the United Nations if they cannot be settled through normal diplomatic channels."

Trucker Wrecks His Vehicle at Crossing

BUHL, Nov. 11—Francis Brandon narrowly escaped injury at 6 p.m. Wednesday, when he swerved the beverage truck he was driving to avoid hitting a train. The truck overturned, according to Chief of Police Clyde Pryor.

Brandon was approaching the railroad crossing in a southerly direction when he noticed the train approaching the intersection from the same direction, the officer said.

The brakes on the truck failed to hold, Brandon told police, so he swerved the truck turning it parallel to the track. The truck traveled 100 feet along the track before it plunged from an eight-foot embankment and overturned.

According to the officer, no estimate of damage has been made. The machine is owned by Ralph Howard.

Price Warns U. S. Path Is 'Totalitarian'

HAGERMAN, Nov. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State J. D. (Cy) Price said today if the United States continues along "the lines of our present tendency" it will inevitably "become a totalitarian state."

Price, former American Legion department commander, spoke today to a Legion-sponsored Armistice day celebration here.

Powers Increased

Price said, ". . . We have been constantly increasing the power of the central government in Washington, giving power to boards, bureaus and commissions to do the things we have heretofore been doing for ourselves."

"We have given them the power to tax unlimited, to set the hours of work, to set the prices of wages to be paid, the amount of production to be achieved and the price the products will bring."

He declared "This has brought about a condition wherein the government has purchased 30 billion dollars of its own bonds by the use of fiat money.

Debt Takes Hold

"Debt has taken hold of every American family until it owes $7,000,000 to the federal treasury. Our total national debt today stands at $415,000,000,000, which is two times the assessed valuation of all the property and wealth in the United States."

Price continued, "It is very evident that if we progress along the lines of our present tendency that we must inevitably lead to a permanent control of labor, production, wages, rent, education and every other field of activity in which we engage and thus become a totalitarian state."

Thorium Sand Is Sent to Chicagoan By McCall Mines

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—The first domestic shipment of monazite sand—a substance from which the fissionable element thorium is obtained—was claimed today by a west Chicago refiner. Thorium and uranium are used in atomic energy production.

Charles Lindsay, president of the Lindsay Light and Chemical company, said 40 tons of the sand had been shipped to his firm from deposits at McCall, Ida.

Lindsay said monazite sand previously had been imported from India or Brazil. However, India has virtually embargoed such shipments since the first of the year, he added.

Lindsay said his firm had contracted for "sizeable tonnage" of the sand from Idaho. The Idaho deposits have never been commercially worked up until now, he added. He said the deposits there were sufficient to meet the full needs of this country for the present.

Sales of thorium salts require licensing by the atomic energy commission.

Wright Brothers' Airplane Returns

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—It took 28 years to start the Kitty Hawk, Wilbur and Orville Wright's first airplane, on its way back to the U. S.—but it's now headed for Canada.

The plane was being returned this week to America aboard the liner Mauretania. The ship changed its course and headed for Halifax, N. S., because of a longshoreman's strike in New York.

The aircraft has been in London's science museum for 28 years—where Orville Wright sent it after a dispute with Smithsonian institute officials in Washington.

It is now scheduled to be placed in the institution's national air museum, as requested in Wright's will.

Museum officials in Washington said the plane probably will be sent from Halifax to New York by navy ship, and then trucked to its new home in Washington.

Brewster Avers Barkley Will Be Steady Influence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Senator Brewster, R., Me., said yesterday he believes the newly-elected vice president, Senator Barkley, D., Ky., will be a "moderating influence" on President Truman.

Brewster said he also thinks Barkley will be able to give "more continuity" to the Democratic platform.

"It was a break for the Republicans to have Barkley taken from the floor leadership and put on the rostrum as president of the senate," Brewster told a news conference. "They (the Democrats) can't fill his shoes as a floor leader."

Brewster was asked if there is any feeling among Republican leaders that Senator Taft, R., O., should step down as GOP leader in the next congress.

Brewster indicated he does not believe there is any need for Taft to be shunted aside. He said the importance of the leadership has been "exaggerated" and the policy committee does not "dictate" to the senators.

Dairy Producers Hear Plan to Halt Taxation on Oleo

PORTLAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—The national Cooperative Milk Producers federation yesterday heard a proposal for eliminating oleomargarine taxes but forbidding sale of colored butter substitutes.

John Brandt, Litchfield, Minn., federal president, said "this would be a fair and impartial deal and would be a recognition of the long established right to the exclusive use of the color yellow in the manufacture and sale of butter."

Eugene S. Trask, Idaho Falls, urged the convention to provide the public with complete information on income and costs of dairying.

"One of our big problems," he said, "is to keep an understanding on the part of housewives of the cost of properly pasteurizing, packing and delivering milk."

Hoover was booked on suspicion of grand theft.

Vet of 2 Wars Recalls "Silence" of Armistice

Thirty years ago on Nov. 11 a young soldier from Idaho brought his truck to a halt in a sunken road on the outskirts of Bar le Duc, France. Rain was falling, the night was cold and miserable, as were most nights, as supplies rolled toward the front under cover of darkness.

This particular night was different, the rumble of artillery fire across the fields of Flanders was not to be heard. The corporal walked to a crossroad and asked a question. An infantry lieutenant leading a detachment of muddy doughboys near the crossroad answered the corporal's question.

"The war is over," he said, adding that all ammunition trucks would report to the advance dumps as usual.

The rain continued to fall and the mud of Flanders stuck to wheels and matted the tails of the tired horses that drew the guns. Only the silence was different and there was no return load to be hauled over sunken roads. There had been an armistice.

The corporal from Idaho, who learned of the first armistice in the mud of Flanders, returned to the shores of France and fields of Normandy in June, 1944. Now a colonel, he led his command in the assault of the Normandy beach and in the drive across France to the Rhine river.

He was awarded the croix de guerre with silver star by the Republic of France for heroic action. The Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg decorated the colonel with the military cross of her nation. Since his return to Twin Falls another decoration has been conferred by the Belgian government, the military cross, first class, one of Belgium's highest military awards.

The colonel, a veteran of two World wars and holder of 14 decorations and medals, is Kenneth A. Keveren, Twin Falls.

Lag in Wages Hikes Demand On Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A government report that wages still are lagging behind prices gave unions fresh ammunition today for their fourth round pay boost offensive.

The new wage demands are already developing. The AFL recently called for worker-employer cooperation to step up productive efficiency and cut costs to clear the way for pay raises without new price hikes.

And an industrial relations research firm has just reported that " a few fourth round buds are beginning to bloom." This firm, the National Foremen's Institute, said a survey of 600 newly negotiated labor contracts showed an initial pattern of about 9½ cents an hour more.

Past Averages Given

The first three postwar pay increase rounds averaged out at about 18½ cents, 15 cents and 11 cents an hour, respectively.

The labor department's bureau of labor statistics said in its report that wage rates for factory workers have jumped 43 per cent since V-day, but price increases have "largely cancelled out the advance."

However, the actual pay received by factory workers—as distinguished from their pay rates—increased an average of 30 per cent a week and 33 per cent an hour in the three years since Japan surrendered. This led the bureau to observe that:

Price Index Gains

"Rising prices have more than offset the increases in gross weekly and hourly earnings. The consumers price (cost of living) index for moderate income families in large cities rose by about 35 per cent over the three-year period."

The bureau's figures show that wage rates increased 8.7 per cent between October, 1947, and September, 1948—a period in which the living cost index rose 8.5 per cent. Comparable figures on the gain in actual earnings for the same period were not given.

The bureau said there are several reasons why actual earnings don't show as much increase as the 43 per cent jump in wage rates.

WHAT WILL TRUMAN DO?

Mr. Truman is now on his own. And being President by popular choice instead of by accident is bound to make a great difference. The country will be waiting with interest and perhaps some anxiety to see how his reaction to the vote will affect his attitude and policies.

It seems natural that the election results might give Mr. Truman more poise and confidence and stature. But will he feel vengeful toward those in his party who abandoned him to what seemed certain defeat, and left him to win his amazing victory almost single-handed? Will that victory encourage him to strike out on a bold course, or will the narrowness of its margin dictate prudence and caution?

Will he attempt to reassemble the Democratic party with the same components that adhered to it in the Roosevelt days, or will he try to purge the extremists and scuttle their Wallace and Dixiecrat parties? Will he administer the country's affairs with an eye toward re-election?

These questions, while they cannot be answered now, may have a decisive bearing on the conduct of our government and on world affairs in the next four years. And while the answers must wait on Mr. Truman's actions, some of the most important influences which will be brought to bear can already be seen.

One is the survival of the new deal tradition. The 1946 congressional elections might have led some to believe that American opinion was shifting to the right of center. But on Nov. 2 the majority vote shifted it right back again. This was even more apparent in the turnover of congress than in the choice of President.

How far and how quickly will Mr. Truman follow this lead? He may be influenced by the knowledge that he owes nothing to the big-city leaders and many of the top southern Democrats for his victory. Since neither group is rabidly new dealish, the President does not need to hesitate on their account. On the other hand he does owe something to pro-new deal organized labor—not to the top-level leaders so much as to junior officials who rang doorbells and got out the vote that may have turned the tide.

At the same time there have been indications that Mr. Truman may have clung to new deal policies through loyalty or duty or expediency more than through conviction. This suspicion is bolstered by his cabinet appointments.

Another brake on any sweeping domestic program may be the expense. With stepped-up rearmament and the world aid program, and with peacetime taxes as high as any politician wants to see them, there aren't going to be any billions lying around for unessential projects.

If the President does not take the very fact of his election as a signal for full speed ahead, then the size of his opposition may persuade him to go slow. The smallest vote in 12 years gave him a plurality of a little more than 4 per cent, as against Mr. Roosevelt's majority of 18 per cent in 1932, 24 per cent in 1936, and more than 7 per cent in 1940 and 1944. Wendell Willkie, losing in 1940, polled substantially the same number of votes as Mr. Truman did this year.

So the important factor of unity must be considered in Mr. Truman's program for the future. Unity was Governor Dewey's theme in this campaign, and Mr. Truman was inclined to scoff at it. But we hope and trust that the scoffing was that of a campaigning politician and that, as statesman, the President will chart a progressive course in domestic as well as foreign affairs that the whole country can support and follow.

MECHANIZED UTOPIA

Because zippers offer quick relief from the onerous job of fastening buttons, snaps, buckles and such, their manufacture has grown into a $100,000,000-a-year industry.

And because they also will get out of order at the most embarrassing and frustrating times, we now have a zipper repair tool which, its maker says, "is adjustable to 100 per cent of all zipper problems."

We find all this encouraging. For the gadgets that make our lives simpler (and at the same time more complex) also make jobs.

If this keeps up the American citizen may reach the point where he carries more equipment than a telephone lineman. But that's probably a small price to pay for banishing the specter of technological unemployment.

SALUTE TO A RARE BIRD

Congressmen who admit they are wrong are about as scarce as the whooping crane. So we should like to call special attention to such a phenomenon, in case any reader missed it.

Rep. Harold Knutson of Minnesota has owned up that he was wrong in voting against the Marshall plan, which he thought would be another UNRRA. (He didn't like UNRRA.) He says now that in view of the plan's record he would vote to extend it and give it the money it needs.

We are not so optimistic as to think this modest candor will sweep the 81st congress. But we still want to salute one member who is brave enough to shed his congressional infallibility as well as his congressional immunity once he finds himself away from Capitol hill.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

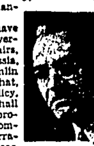
WASHINGTON—President Truman's election in his own right is a body blow to Stalin, despite the Missourian's sneaking liking for "Uncle Joe" and despite campaign charges that the administration had harbored communists who crept into key offices during the Russo-American wartime alliance.

The Soviet propaganda agents here and abroad were prepared to interpret a Dewey victory, albeit wrongly, as a repudiation of the Truman-Marshall doctrine and program.



Ray Tucker

Although political enemies have accused the White House of wavering in the conduct of foreign affairs, especially with respect to Russia, China and Palestine, the kremlin cannot and does not forget that, breaking from the Roosevelt policy, Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall authored and implemented the program for rehabilitating anti-communist countries in the Mediterranean and western European areas, for rearming the United States and for encircling Russia with a ring of armed foes from Scandinavia to Korea.

• • •

FOREIGN—Even Trumanites admit that the President handled foreign problems with his eye on the Nov. 2 political returns. They note, too, that he is not the first chief executive to realize that many millions of voting Americans have economic and blood ties, mystic but compelling, with their kin and friends across the seas.

Now that he owes possession of the White House to nobody but himself, Mr. Truman is expected to take even greater command of the handling of foreign affairs.

In doing so, he will probably get rid of Secretary Marshall and Under Secretary of State Lovett. Although an excellent soldier, Marshall is no great shakes as a diplomat. Both he and Lovett embarrassed the President at critical moments during the campaign.

• • •

CONTROLLED—It is also doubtful whether the so-called bipartisan foreign policy will survive the Republican debacle. It was built and represented as a bipartisan affair only because the Republicans controlled the house and the senate, with Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., and Rep. Charles A. Eaton, N. J., heading the senate and house committees which deal with these issues.

Now, those committees are chairmaned by such loyal, unquestioning Democrats as Tom Connally, Tex., and Sol Bloom, N. Y.

• • •

INSTINCTS—Despite his political handling of foreign matters during the last few months, Mr. Truman's instincts and impulses are good, honest and democratic. When he ousts a few "brass hats" and hidebound diplomats in the state department and abroad, he will probably pursue these general policies:

1. Strong support inside and outside the United Nations for a larger Palestine than the Bernadotte plan, which won Secretary Marshall's immediate approval, provides.

2. Possible revival of the abortive idea of sending a personal emissary such as Chief Justice Vinson for a last-minute showdown with Stalin.

Should this attempt fail to wheedle or force Russia into a change of heart, as it probably would, Mr. Truman would have greater justification for asking huge appropriations for rearmament and a military lend-lease measure to aid anti-communist nations abroad.

3. Greater assistance, both financial and military, to China.

Failure to recognize that Moscow's penetration of this vast and heavily populated land may be more dangerous than the kremlin's poke into central Europe and the Balkans, is blamed on Marshall's personal dislike of Chiang Kai-shek.

4. The use of American might and prestige in regional difficulties which the United Nations seems unable to compose because of Russia's power of veto. In such instances, however, President Truman will make clear that he is supporting majority U.N. opinion rather than bypassing the international organization.

• • •

JUDGMENT — Despite the Democratic landslide which washed out so many Republican members and brought back to Washington many Democrats who were drowned by the GOP's 1946 "wave of the future" in congressional contests, the voters showed extraordinary and encouraging judgment in voting for members of the house. They picked, chose and voted with uncommon common sense.

Here are a few outstanding members who were re-elected without regard for the presidential voting, meaning that there were many thousands of split ballots:

Christian A. Herter and George Bates, Mass., both Republicans. Gordon Canfield, although his election is still in doubt, and Harry L. Towe, N. J., both Republicans. Andrew Somers, N. Y., a Democrat. Dan Flood, Sam McConnell and John C. Kunkel, Pa., Flood being the only Democrat. Jim Patterson, R., Conn., a distinct comer on capitol hill. Also Rep. John D. Lodge of the Nutmeg state.

• • •

SMARTER—Others deserving and receiving re-election were:

John M. Vorys, O., a GOP brilliant. Albert J. Engel and Roy O. Woodruff, Mich. Dick Welch and Jack Anderson, Calif. Mike Monroney, Okla. And, of course, despite their philosophical enmity, Speaker Joe Martin, Mass., and future Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex.

This does not complete the list of worthy members who were re-elected. But it is sufficient to suggest that the American people are far smarter than Stalin thinks.

They vote with their heads, not with their hips!

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SHAKE ON THAT

Prince Akihido, only son of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, is taking lessons in the fine democratic art of shaking hands, preparatory to entrance upon the democratic way of life. In our own country, meanwhile, many democratic citizens go on shaking hands every day without knowing the first thing about it.

Among the worst handshakers, in our judgment, is the one whose hand has to be removed from one's own hand and handed back. At the other extreme, and still worse, is the handshaker who has been learning how to impress others with the electric impact of his personality, and who grasps the other fellow's hand in a vise of steel, crushing down on it with implacable magnetism. Then there is the ruminative handshaker, who retains the hand indefinitely, every once in a while pumping it up and down in a rather absent-minded way to give emphasis to some point he is talking about.

We gather that Akihido is going to avoid all such amateur errors as a professionally trained handshaker. Also we gather that he is going to shake hands like as good a democrat as possible—which, considering the Japanese monarchy in general, probably isn't much.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

PENSIONS FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

Before the election quite a bit was said about pensioning ex-presidents and it was generally agreed that congress would vote one, probably $25,000 a year and maybe a non-voting seat in the senate.

President Truman has very limited financial means and because of present income tax rates the office actually pays its occupant less than it did 40 years ago when a dollar was nothing to sneeze at.

But the election didn't produce an ex-president and Herbert Hoover will monopolize this distinction for another four years. He doesn't need or want a pension so the question has suddenly become academic and you'll hear no more about it.

But the idea's a good one at that. Probably our presidents will never again be able to save much out of their salaries and they shouldn't be forced to endure poverty in their declining years as some have—and some of their widows.

We punish them enough without adding this indignity.—Nampa Free Press.

FOWL PLAY?

Maybe some of your readers have some information concerning the present location of Hans Thorne. His friends haven't seen him for a couple of days now and we're all pretty much worried.

When last seen, he was in the company of two rough looking characters headed in the general direction of American Falls. We don't have any information on Hans, but the other two men were both carrying guns. We suspect fowl play somewhere over in Power county.

The two guys seen with Hans, according to our latest information, were identified as follows: One of them is an ex-sheriff gone bad and the other has been accused of wearing a mask all the time to hide his real face. Their names were reported to be Grover Davis and Warren Lowery.

PATS ON THE BACK

Dear Pots:

I know a newspaper has gotta use so much of its space to tell about what's wrong and what oughta be done, so I'd like to point out a couple of really right things:

1. Those new street signs are swell. They really do a lot of good for our city. City fathers responsible really earned a big "thank you" from us taxpayers.

2. There wasn't anything in the Times-News about it last Wednesday, but I happen to know that a lot of T-N staffers worked all day Tuesday, all night Tuesday, slept a couple of hours and came back Wednesday for their regular daytime shift so us folks could get our nickel's worth Wednesday p.m. in a darn fine day-after election edition.

REFUND

We've been threatened with mayhem and what have you if we tell this story, but we'll take a chance and tell it anyway. We don't dare mention the gents' names, though.

The morning after election, when everyone was fairly certain President Truman had been re-elected, a fellow dropped in to ask us if we'd heard about the 100 to 1 bet made on Dewey—by a well-known Democrat. Just about that time, the Demo stopped at our desk.

Seems another guy had offered to bet on Truman and the Demo just laughed at him. The fellow who wanted to place a wager on our Harry egged him on with successive offers of 25 to 1 odds, 50 to 1 and finally 100 to 1. The gent grabbed the last odds of 100 to 1, even though he was putting up $100 and could get only $1 for it. The morning after elections, he really looked ill.

He scraped $100 together, left it for the winner. Later in the day, the winner of $100 on a $1 risk picked up his winnings, counted the dough and gave $85 back to the middleman with the explanation, "The odds were only about 15 to 1."

Our Democratic friend's health soon returned to normal.

HMMMM!

Dear Potsy:

Naturally, if the following has any resemblance to any recent events in this great land of ours, the similarity is merely coincidental.

There was once a Missouri Mule which teamed up with a Kentucky Stallion. At the same time, a New York Billy Goat and a California Scotch Collie were pals while an Iowa Jackass and an Idaho Jack Rabbit tried to attract a lot of attention.

Well, the three sets of pals got interested in the same feed box. Much braying, neighing, barking and what-have-you ensued. When the dust cleared away, the Missouri Mule and Kentucky Stallion had kicked the others away from the feed box.

But there was so much dust during the scrap that none of the contestants or witnesses were able to explain what had happened.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . . And doesn't Senator Taylor have anything to say these days?"

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE

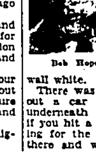
The automobile manufacturers are displaying with pride their long awaited 1949 model cars.

It just sort of makes you proud. Never before in automobile history have such improved, beautiful, slick, powerful, luxurious cars not been delivered to the American public.



Bob Hope

And for the lady drivers they are turning out very pretty new models with two-tone fenders . . . robin's egg blue . . . and garage wall white.

There was some talk of bringing out a car with a television set underneath it. The idea was that if you hit a pedestrian, while waiting for the ambulance, he can lie there and watch a football game.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

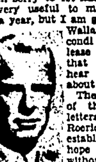
I am sorry to let him go, for he was very useful to me for more than a year, but I am giving Henry Wallace his unconditional release and I doubt that you will hear much more about him.



Westbrook Pegler

The authorship of the babbling letters to Nick Roerich has been established and I hope I may say without immodesty that the revelation of Bubblehead's tangled conduct cut down his popular vote from a potential of 6,000,000, the figure which Jim Farley mentioned last spring, to about 1,000,000 votes. Some tea-leaf readers then thought Henry would get 8,000,000 votes, but all this was goose-bone prophecy.

Speculation and prediction will continue, however, and the election will find experts and pollsters at it again as though nothing had ever happened. Does a baseball seer retire because the team he picks in April winds up last?

• • •

I would point out, too, that not only we professionals of punditry and the more modest lines of journalism, the strident oracles of radio and the bookmakers, were wrong.

Barney Baruch, the—in a generous manner of speaking—elder statesman, must have felt sure that Governor Dewey was practically in or he never would have slammed the White House door forever in his own face by calling President Truman a "rude, uncouth, ignorant man."

True, he thought the better of it after a sleep, but his scared statement that he had not authorized quotation of his remarks was neither truthful nor extenuating.

Dan Tobin, the doddering king of the teamsters, and his regent, Dave Beck, Seattle, were equally at loss and missed the bandwagon. John L. Lewis had been at war with Truman for years, so this was only another proof that his authority ends when the miner votes.

• • •

This brings us to the fact that the miscalled labor vote still flouts the orders of the union bosses and the alarms of candidates. There is a theory afloat that a "labor vote" elected Mr. Truman in response to his unblushing recitation of all the formulated union claptrap about the Taft-Hartley act.

But "labor," in that evil sense of an honest word, is concentrated in centers of population which Governor Dewey carried with eclat or lost too narrowly as to disprove the idea that "labor" licked him. This fact only muddles the confusion again. It is futile to accept explanations which are false on sight.

I find two homely parallels in this situation of old events on the sport side. When Tunney fought Dempsey the first time, most of those who made a professional practice of picking winners for a few cents a copy, the standard price of papers before Truman inflation, were convinced that bluejaw couldn't lose.

The few who picked Tunney, like those who professed to be confident of Mr. Truman's victory, were personal friends or dependents of one degree or another. Their wisdom, therefore, was divided by their loyalty and self-interest.

• • •

And, in the same vein, we have in Mr. Truman a buck Cinderella, a felow who, as it were, had to tape his own hands, carry his own bucket and swing his own towel.

Like Jimmy Braddock, a fighter of very similar characteristics, improbable, rejected, and forlorn, Mr. Truman won by himself. And he won despite the men who owed him help but denied him oft ere cock-crow. He seems a bitter fellow, for his closing remarks were fierce warnings of revenge to be taken if he won as now he has.

If that be so, surely he owes more hurtful and degrading punishment to William O'Dwyer, New York, to Jimmy Roosevelt and Eleanor, to Frank Hague, to Jim Curley, Boston, to Jake Arvey, Chicago, Senator Pepper, Florida, Henry Wallace, Tobin and Beck of the teamsters, Johnston of the railroad engineers and Harold Ickes than to men who never took his food or fee but met him frankly as political enemies.

All these and Baruch, as professed Democrats in debt to the White House, turned Truman down at Philadelphia. It was, for a fact, a sore humiliation that a man of pride and masculine ethics could not forget.

• • •

Naturally, Republicans and dissenting essayists would fight him, but these were his own people and they didn't fight but sneered. If he is a conventional American he must still respect the State's Rights Democrats who fought him on issues as declared opponents. He never has believed in so-called social program himself.

O'Dwyer, Hague and Curley not only quit him; they insulted him. Jimmy Roosevelt, a party parasite who fattened at the trough and gave nothing, publicly belittled him in Los Angeles.

Eleanor and Leon Henderson, a marvel of levitation who stayed up for several years without visible means of support, organized a thing called the American for Democratic Action which yelled for Eisenhower or Douglas.

The old girl came through with a letter at the last minute after Truman had barnstormed the country on his own, but it had the sound of a plea for her $12,000 job in the United Nations, her last means of public attention.

She had to write it. Truman might tolerate her, but Dewey certainly wouldn't. So what had she to lose?

• • •

They haven't the finest character, these professional bleeding hearts. After all his scurrilous abuse of Robert R. McCormick, John Boettiger, Anna's husband, poor wight, called on McCormick last winter and came away with dust on his knees.

He wanted a job with the Tribune, who was remarkably decent, all things considered, but sent him away.

After all his abuse of Truman, Ickes came in toward the end for obvious motives. Turned columnist after he quit the cabinet lest he be fired by Truman, he soon lost his Washington client, the Star, by a brutal attack on the facts of a known situation.

This cost the old miser money, a tragic turn, and his vanity writhed, for now he had no soapbox in his own town. It is strange that Truman received him, for he swings no vote but his own.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime . . . and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts . . . figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Few Non-Slav Countries Are Self-Sufficient

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Only seven of the world's 87 recognized nations outside the Soviet orbit raise enough food to meet their own need.

This had been reported today by the food and agriculture organization (FAO), a United Nations agency set up to improve food production methods and uses.

It based the report upon information submitted by 30 of the member nations and 16 territories. FAO's membership does not include Russia or Soviet-dominated countries.

"Self-Sufficient" Listed

FAO said those nations which could feed themselves if their production is equally distributed in proportion to domestic needs, are: Australia, Canada, Denmark, New Zealand, Norway, Switzerland, and the United States.

Outside those seven countries, the FAO found this picture:

"For the world as a whole per capita supplies of food and fibers are far below prewar levels.

"Even taking into account government plans for substantial increases for 1949-50 and beyond, it is apparent that present plans, even if fully carried out, can not meet the great need for the products of agriculture and forestry."

Seek Better Uses

It said governments of all nations now are seeking to make better use of all supplies for immediate requirements, with plans to assure enough food in the future.

But, the report said, there are a number of "major drawbacks" to increased food production. It said these include fear of future unmarketable surpluses, soil fertility and erosion problems, lack of improved seeds and fertilizers, shortage of livestock feeds, farm machinery and fishing equipment, labor problems and currency difficulties.

States Uniting Against Boost Of Rail Rates

BOISE, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—The west is going to form a solid bloc to fight the proposed increase in freight rates by the nation's railroads, L. F. Purvis, rate expert for the Idaho public utilities commission, announced today.

He said the 11 western states, in a recent meeting in Salt Lake City, had decided to fight rate increases as a solid bloc rather than as individual states.

Purvis said the group which met in Salt Lake would, after returning to their homes, begin working on plans for fighting the rate increases.

Fought Individually

The Idaho rate expert pointed out that in the past the states had fought the matter individually.

"No single person," Purvis said, "can hope to accomplish what is needed. Nor, for that matter, can two or three persons, working together. It takes the combined action of 10 or 11 men, each working on one phase of the voluminous problem, to work out a program which can be presented to the interstate commerce commission."

To Attend Hearing

Purvis said he probably would go to Washington, D. C., for the rate hearing before the ICC at which the railroads of the nation would present their pleas for a rate increase of 13 per cent.

This increase, said Purvis, "when superimposed on the many increases already granted the railroads of the country, will, if granted, raise the rates to 62 per cent of what they were in June of 1946."

He said that the west has to face some problems concerning increases which are not met in the east, where markets are closer together.

Old and New

In this case, uniforms are the issue as World war I Legionnaire Ralph Gregg (left) studies new-styled garb worn by World war II Legionnaire Herb Brown. The Legion's new pension plan may be the issue that will cause a split between young and old vets.

Giant Pension Plan Bothering Legion Chiefs in Washington

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Many top American Legion officials are unhappy and embarrassed over the expensive veterans pension plans which the recent covention dumped in their laps.

Against their better judgment however, they are mandated to swing the powerful guns of the Legion lobby behind these plans in an attempt to get them made into law.

What makes the situation a particularly bitter pill for Washington Legion officials is the fact that top men of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are frankly admitting that VFW members "raided" the Legion convention and had a big hand in getting the pension plans shoved through at Miami.

If passed by congress the pensions would cost U. S. taxpayers about $2,000,000,000 a year at first and within five years might be costing up to $5,000,000,000 annually.

One plan would give all World war I veterans the same pensions being given to Spanish-American war vets. That's $43.20 a month at the age of 62 and $90 a month at the age of 65. It also provides pensions for widows and orphans of the vets who were getting pensions.

Another plan would give $60 a month to World war I and World war II vets when they reach the age of 55 and $75 a month when they reach 65. Approximately 1,984,000 first world war men and 217,000 last war vets would qualify for this money in 1949. By 1955, it is estimated that a total of 2,500,000 men would be getting the pension. This plan also includes pensions to widows and orphans of the vets.

Since the war, a big faction in the VFW has been working hard to get one of several liberal pension and bonus ideas approved by congress. But VFW leaders realize they have been unsuccessful because the Legion hasn't joined forces with the VFW to present a united front in behalf of such a costly measure.

More than a year ago it occurred to these avid VFW pension supporters to join various local Legion posts, become active and try to put their ideas across in this manner. A man can be a member of both groups. It is now admitted by both Legion and VFW officials that this group was an important factor in getting the Miami Legion convention to adopt the pension plans during the confusion of one of the meetings.

In addition to opposing pensions for veterans just because they reach a certain age, many key Legionnaires fear that adoption of a general pension plan as a goal of the Legion might create serious internal dissension. And that is just what is happening over it.

Already, many World war II members are saying that the pension idea is just a boondoggle for the World war I boys. The average age of first world war vets is 55. That's the age at which the pension would start under the one plan. There has always been some smouldering resentment among the younger vets in the Legion toward the older ones. But so far there has never been a split between them over an important issue. It is feared that the pension issue may be the one to cause it.

Another big faction in the Legion which is bitterly opposed to giving pensions to veterans just because they grow old is made up of the disabled vets and those who are working to help them. The rehabilitation work of the Legion has been one of its most important functions and the one which has done more than anything else to justify its existence.

The men who were actually wounded in action or disabled by their service are the veterans who should logically get the most important consideration from the government, some Legion officials claim. All the work to date in their behalf, however, has won an average monthly payment of $56 for 311,000 disabled World war I veterans. The wounded of World war II still suffering a disability of one kind or another now get an average of $41 a month.

The officials who appose giving all veterans $60 a month just because they live to be 55 think that the Legion should concentrate on helping the men with service connected disabilities first.

Japan's Once-Vaunted, Feared Navy Now Large Pile of Junk

By HENRY McLEMORE

KURE, Japan—Want to buy some junk? Then come to this town in Japan, because it has the biggest junk pile on earth.

The junk consists of a little item that used to be in the back of most of our minds—the Japanese navy.

McLemore

It takes hours to walk around the dock and see the rusted, barnacled remains of the battleships, cruisers, carriers, destroyers and submarines which, only a few years ago, set out to conquer half the world.

The metal of the once proud ships now is being used to build pots and pans, farm implements, and mechanical toys. And it is the Japanese who are in charge of the salvage. By a humiliating twist of fate former officers and seamen, who sailed and fought in these ships, are those who have to do the scrapping and breaking up. Working under the British occupation forces, admirals, captains and commanders supervise the tearing apart of the ships, plate by plate.

I talked to a former officer of the imperial navy, who now rides around the vast Kure base on a bicycle as a courier for the occupation forces. I asked him how he felt when he looked at the ruins of the once great fleet. He sailed on the "Yamato," the biggest battleship ever built. Beside the "Yamato," Britain's "Vanguard," America's "Iowa," and Germany's "Bismarck' would be dwarfed. She was built at Kure, secretly, all under cover. But she didn't last long. She had barely reached the sea before she was hit and sunk by American carrier-based bombers and torpedo aircraft. Eleven torpedo hits finished her off, and only 300 of her complement of nearly 3,000 survived.

"It was a dreadful sight," the former officer told me. "A dreadful sight." He looked as if he wanted to talk more, but a British sergeant waved him on with a, "Get about your business, mate."

Kure was 75 years in the building. It was destroyed in three days.

During those three days American planes made more than 3,000 strikes. Not only did the strikes eliminate the Japanese navy, they all but obliterated one of the greatest military arsenals of all time. The arsenal, with its mile upon mile of factories for the production of every weapon from the smallest pistol to the huge 18-inch guns for mounting on secret battleships of a size the rest of the world had not contemplated, was completely knocked out.

Kure is ringed by high hills—almost mountains—and the mountains were honeycombed with under ground factories. But even these did not escape. So precise was our bombing that the small openings into the cells in the hills were sealed. The Japs had put all their eggs in one basket, figuring that the anti-aircraft guns mounted on the hills, the hideaway spot of Kure, and the fleet air arm would make it invulnerable.

Many of the ships now being broken up scored victories over the U. S. navy at the start of the war. Covered with rust and slime is the cruiser "Aoba," leader of the group which sank the "Quincy," "Vincennes" and "Astoria" in the battle of Savo island, near Guadalcanal, in 1942.

For years, Kure was a mystery city. Visitors were discouraged. Tourists were not allowed. A high fence ran parallel with the railway line, obscuring it from train passengers. The 100,000 Japs who worked in the shipyards were bound to secrecy, and death was the punishment for violators.

Now Kure is open for all to see. The waste of war never was more evident than here.

Let's hope that sometime the world will learn that Mars is a false god.

U. S. Chamber Says Election Warns Demos

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce interpreted the election returns last night as a signal to the Democratic administration to "proceed with moderation."

An article in "Business Action," the Chamber's weekly publication, said the Democratic success was by no means "smashing" but was "only so when viewed in the misleading light of the mistaken forecasts."

It stressed that the popular vote margin was "relatively close—about 2,000,000," and said:

Rated as Signal

"If this fact is assessed correctly by the administration, it will be rated as a clear signal to proceed with moderation."

The article mentioned low rent housing and slum clearance, a modified excess profits tax, federal aid to education, repeal or revision of the Taft-Hartley act, control of prices, public power extension and reciprocal trade agreements as items congressional Democrats are already talking about for early action.

Not Unified Support

"However, it is noteworthy that an important segment of the Democratic congressional majority is not likely to give unqualified support to all this program," Business Action said.

It recalled, for instance, that about half the Democratic minority in the 80th congress voted to override President Truman's Taft-Hartley veto. The article went on:

"Also it is unlikely that the Democratic leadership—always looking at least two years ahead—will fail to observe that a switch of fewer than 100,000 votes in five states last week would have transformed the top result."

Reclamation Leaders Plan Area Parley

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP)—W. E. Welsh, secretary-manager of the Idaho State Reclamation association, said about 50 Idaho reclamationists will attend a national reclamation convention in Oklahoma City Nov 17, 18 and 19.

Welsh, field representative of the National Reclamation association, has charge of the second day program of the convention. His program is called "Water Users Day."

Headed by Filer Man

The Idaho delegation will be headed by N. V. Sharp, Filer, president of the Idaho association and Idaho director of the national association. Most of the Idaho group will be composed of officers and directors of canal companies and irrigation districts.

Welsh said one of the most important items under discussion at the convention will be the "valley authority issue."

Opposed to Authorities

"The Idaho delegation has always been 100 per cent opposed to authorities. Idaho water users will never tolerate such an invasion of their right to control the waters of the state of Idaho," Walsh said.

He said "Idaho delegates have always been very much interested in a small projects program and will undoubtedly have a resolution to offer on that subject."

"It has been variously estimated that Idaho has at least 100,000 acres in small projects scattered throughout the state which are in dire need of small reservoirs and canal improvements and would benefit directly from a small projects program," Welsh added.

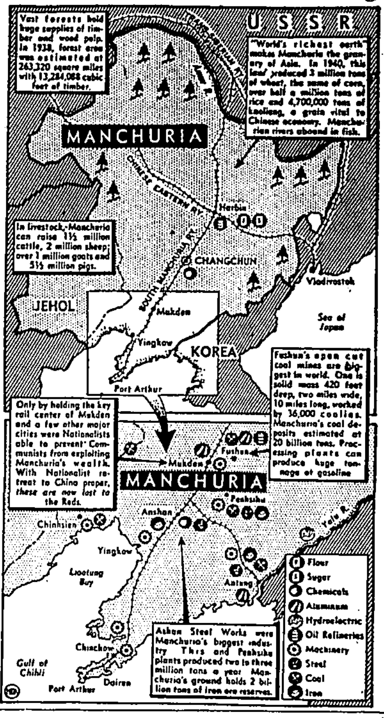
Reds Get Manchuria, Bursting With Resources



Seizure by Chinese communists of the whole of Manchuria puts at the command of Russia one of the richest—and one of the most strategic—areas of the far east.

Top map at left, with close-up of the industrialized southern area, indicates Manchuria's natural wealth. Next communist step will probably be setting up a Soviet-sponsored "people's republic" of Manchuria, the procedure used by Russia to obtain control of Outer Mongolia a few year sago. The Outer Mongolian "people's republic" is now indistinguishable from a province of the USSR.

Mukden, a mudhole of a city, is the key to Manchuria's strategic importance. It controls the north-south route from Harbin and is the natural organizing point for the conquest of China. This is the second time within a generation that China's central government has lost Manchuria, which the Japanese grabbed in the "Mukden incident" of 1931.

A state-proud Texan in Manchuria would have to pipe down, because Manchuria, as the diagram shows, is nearly twice the size of the Lone Star state, as shown on the small map above.

Rate of Births For State Sets Month Record

Total number of births recorded in Idaho in September was the highest for any one month since birth registration was made a state responsibility in 1911, it was revealed in a recent issue of the Idaho public health bulletin.

If the upward trend that started in August continues, it is likely that the total for 1948 will equal and probably exceed the all time high of 15,941 established in 1947, the bulletin stated.

County Figures

Births reported by counties in Magic Valley include Blaine, 19; Camas, 1; Cassia, 38; Gooding, 25; Jerome, 28; Lincoln, 9; Minidoka, 9; Shoshone, 43, and Twin Falls, 87.

Diseases listed for Magic Valley counties with the division of vital statistics of the department of public health include Blaine, one cancer victim; Camas, four cases of measles; Gooding, one case of scarlet fever, one venereal disease, one tubercular patient, three cases of whooping cough, six cases of chicken pox.

Other Reports

Jerome, one venereal disease, one case of polio, and two cancer victims; Minidoka, one case of measles, one tuberculosis victim, one case of whooping cough and one cancer victim.

Shoshone, one venereal disease, one measles, one mumps, three tuberculosis, three cancer, and one pneumonia; Twin Falls, one scarlet fever, two venereal, one flu, and one cancer.

Valley Pioneers Visit Buhl After 26-Year Absence

BUHL, Nov. 11—Visiting here after a 26-year absence were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winters, Cobelo, Calif. They were guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Swiger.

The visiting couple was among the first to settle on the Twin Falls tract, coming here in 1906 from Oregon. They settled in the Deep creek area several miles west of Buhl.

They lived there for 16 years. Both were amazed at the changes since they left.

William Swiger, Boston, Mass., was a week-end guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Swiger.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harms left Monday on a vacation trip to Cheyenne, Wyo., where they will visit his sister and family.

Versatile Chicken Lays Egg, Crows

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Mrs. F. A. Gilliam has a versatile chick she says crows at the rising sun and lays eggs every other day.

"It," she said, began its productive life complete with cock's comb and egg-laying ability.

The eight-month-old fowl is a mixture of Rhode Island Red and Buff Orphington, she said. It is one of a dozen birds the Gilliams own.

Its status is unusual but not unheard of, according to Prof. Frank E. Mussehl, professor of poultry husbandry at the state agriculture college. He said the chicken's condition indicates an endocrine gland disturbance.

Hughes Postpones Huge Plane Test

LONG BEACH, Calif., Nov. 11 (AP)—Howard Hughes postponed again yesterday for an indefinite period—taxi tests for his mammoth plywood flying boat.

Hughes had scheduled the tests to start, probably within the next few days, but changed his mind and decided to wait until after construction of a steel hangar for it at Terminal island. He wouldn't estimate how soon that might be completed.

The $25,000,000 plane, built entirely of plywood except for its elevators and light metal surfacing on the stabilizers, has a wingspread of 320 feet. It was designed to carry 800 infantrymen and a like amount of cargo.

Last year Hughes took the ship aloft, flying it about one mile at 70 feet above the water.

"Wolf Whistle" Is Breach of Peace

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—George R. Reiller, 42, a painter employed at Buffalo state hospital, will think twice before he gives forth with a wolf whistle again. The last one landed him in city court for breach-of-the-peace.

Attractive 20-year-old Elma Kittinger, a New York telephone company employe, said she encountered Reiller, a stranger, almost daily at her bus stop.

After a long, low whistle, Miss Kittinger said, Reiller would give her "an up and down look" accompanied by the observation "I like that."

Reiller was placed on probation. He explained, "After all, I'm not so old, and I hope I never get so old that I don't turn when I see a nice looking girl."

Boeing's B-29 Plant Readied For Stratojets

By JAMES J. STREBIG
AP Aviation Reporter

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 11—The plant that built the most B-29s in wartime is being readied for mass production of the Superfortress' jet successor, the B-47 Stratojet.

Boeing Airplane company officials indicated, however, that it may be well over a year before the spectacular six-engine bomber rolls off the production line in quantity.

29,000 Are Needed

J. E. Schaefer, vice president in charge of Boeing's Wichita operation, estimated that 29,000 workers will be needed to build Stratojets. That equals the peak employment by Boeing here during the war.

But this time, Schaefer told a group of writers on an airforce sponsored visit to aircraft factories in the west, only 15,000 men and women will be hired for the Wichita plant. The rest of the work will be sub-contracted outside of Wichita to avoid disturbing too seriously the labor market here.

Recruiting Begun

Boeing already has begun a recruitment program in the Wichita area and will extend it to neighboring states as the job gets underway.

The program calls for 636,000 man-hours of production engineering on the B-47—a 10-month job for 400 men. Another 400 engineers will be needed for other phases of the overall task.

Two B-47s have been built at Seattle, Wash. The plane is rated by the air force in the "600 miles an hour class." Unofficially it is reported to be able to outrun any American warplane except the North American F-86, which set the world speed record at 670 miles an hour without using full power.

Labor Demand in Area Continuing Downward Trend

Magic Valley area reports indicate demand for labor continued downward to a total of 233 vacancies Nov. 6, according to A. J. Meeks, manager of the Idaho state employment service office here.

Twin Falls reports a surplus of labor in all except skilled trades, Meeks said. In the Gooding area, the harvest of potatoes is completed and the beet harvest is more than 75 per cent complete.

Cassia and Minidoka counties report the potato harvest over and the harvest of beets gradually being completed.

Well established seasonal labor demand trends held sway in Idaho's employment picture, as job openings dropped again by a net of 1,009 to a total of 1,482 Nov. 6.

Winter weather, which swept the state, drove farm job openings down to 337. Similar declines were noted in all outdoor activities, such as logging, construction and transportation.

Labor surpluses were developing in most areas, as laid-off workers found most of the remaining unfilled jobs beyond their skills or qualifications, Meeks added.

New Main Line Of Railroad Is Opened up Here

A new main line railroad has been opened in Twin Falls.

The big event occurred in the basement of the Pete Goertzen home at 637 Second avenue north when the Snake River Model Railroad club held its last regular meeting. The main line is an addition to Goertzen's model railroad system.

Three new members were admitted to the newly-organized club which now has 15 active members ranging in age from 11 to 76. Because of the growth of membership, next meeting of the group will be held in the basement of the Jesse Chase building Nov. 23.

During the business meeting, members discussed affiliation with the National Model Railroad association. It was decided to join as a unit about Jan. 1, but one member will join the group immediately so national literature will be available for the rest of the club.

The club has had two visitors since its recent organization, one from Spokane, Wash., and the other from Salt Lake City.

Coffee and doughnuts were served after the meeting.

Honor Court Held For Declo Scouts

Awards were presented by Anderson, Dan Stephens and Henry Norton.

Boys receiving advancements in ranks were Earl Hurst, Lamar Hurst, Donald Miller, Allen Jacobs, Gary Blake and Gary Voyce. Merit badges were awarded Voyce, Blake and Lamar Hurst.

Barrett gave the closing talk. The invocation was given by Gerald Anderson and the benediction was given by Norton.

Trade Convention Avoids ITO Issue

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—The national foreign trade convention yesterday sidestepped the controversial proposed international trade organization which it backed last year.

The final declaration of the convention was adopted unanimously today. It did not mention the Havana charter for the ITO, which has been increasingly under attack from business groups.

The declaration did endorse strongly, however, the reciprocal trade agreements, and urged "an extended and liberalized trade agreements act." to replace the present one as modified by the 80th congress.

Farmers Are Urged to Buy Savings Bond

As part of a national promotion of U. S. savings bonds beginning Armistice day, R. J. Schwendiman, chairman of the Twin Falls county savings bonds committee, urges farm families in the county to put away all the surplus cash they can in E, F and G bonds and to help the committee sell bonds to their neighbors.

"This is not a national bond drive such as we had last spring in the security loan," Schwendiman explained, "but a special campaign with three aims: To add more payroll savers to the 7,500,000 wage and salary earners who are now buying bonds regularly through payroll allotments; to get more bond depositors to sign up on the bond-a-month plan, and to urge farmers to build up their financial reserves in these safe bonds.

Principal Aim

"So far as this county is concerned, the last named is the principal aim, for the welfare of this community depends chiefly upon the financial well-being of its farmers. The security loan, from April 15 through July 15, came at a time when most of the farmers of the nation were planting and cultivating their crops. Now most of them have the bulk of their 1948 crop money in hand, to spend or put away as reserves.

"C. L. Mast, jr., editor and publisher of Agricultural Leaders' Digest, read by farm and home economics leaders across the nation, sums up the matter in a full-page editorial in the October issue. Mast points out that total savings bonds owned by individuals have increased from 43,500,000,000 (at the end of the victory loan) to more than 47,000,000,000 dollars today and farmers have increased their holdings from 5,000,000,000 to 0,000,000,000 dollars, cash value, in that period. Meanwhile, the national debt has been reduced from a peak of $280,000,000,000 to $253,000,000,000. The inflationary portion of the federal debt is that which is held by banks, now totaling $87,000,000,000. Bank debt has been cut down by more than $30,000,000,000 and in this same $4,500,000,000 net sales of savings bonds above maturities and redemptions has played an important part.

Best Insurance

"'The best insurance all of us can have that our huge debt will not come tumbling down on our heads,' Mast continues, 'is to distribute it as widely as possible among individuals. Every dollar of our federal debt . . . which is transferred to individual savings bonds brings just that much more stability to our economy and lessens the inflationary pressure.'

"Addressing agricultural leaders, he concludes, 'there will be a drive for the sale of savings bonds for farm people particularly, beginning Nov. 11. You will do a real service if you will put forth a special effort during this drive not only to urge the farm people with whom you work to invest in savings bonds, but also wherever called upon by the treasury department to help build a peacetime organization of volunteer workers. For, like anything else, bonds have to be sold, and nothing takes the place of personal solicitation.'"

America's New Voice in U. N. Speaks Softly, but Carries Big Burden on Job

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A Columbia university student of international law, assigned to write a term paper, telephoned to his professor.

"How many footnotes should there be on a page?" he asked.

Without hesitation the professor answered: "Seven, of course."

When the paper came in, every single page had exactly seven footnotes. Because of that it received a very low grade.

The story is told to illustrate several facets of the character of Dr. Philip Caryl Jessup, a little-publicized American who is carrying much of the burden, in Paris, of battling Russia's vituperative Andrei Vishinsky about the Berlin blockade.

Jessup has been an invaluable member of the U. S. United Nations staff since the summer of 1946. But he never really burst into the public's eyes until the day in Paris, after Vishinsky had delivered one of his bitterest tirades against this country and the rest of the non-communist world, and Jessup answered him.

It would have been easy for the American to blow his top, as Britain's Bevin did, or to answer in biting terms as Belgium's Spaak did. But Jessup quietly, in measured tones of a full, resounding voice, confined himself to telling Vishinsky that when the shouting was all over, the Berlin issue still would be before the UN for discussion.

At Columbia, until he took leave of absence in early 1947 to devote full time to the United Nations, Jessup was one of those rare professors who can drive their students, demand their utmost, and still be highly popular.

He is pleasant, helpful. Even when he doubled in brass for six months between his classes and the UN he never was too busy to see any student and help him. He is tolerant, even of ignorance. But stupidity—such, for instance, as that of a student who thinks term papers will be judged by the number of footnotes to the page—can make him boil.

He is known among associates and students as a master at handling work. He can demolish a big pile of mail in a few minutes of dictation. He reaches conclusions quickly, formulates statements easily and understandably, and is hard to shake in a decision.

As a teacher he used the Socratic method of questioning, and was a bug on detail. He expected meticulous performance by students, and, in turn, read their papers so carefully that few errors in spelling or punctuation escaped without marking.

Only the general public was surprised when President Truman appointed Jessup last January as deputy representative to the "little assembly," where he presented U. S. proposals for 31 changes in security council voting procedure that he had done much of the work of drafting. His ability and achievement had long been known to insiders.

In June the President made him deputy to Ambassador Warren Austin on the security council, after Herschel Johnson had been sent as ambassador to Brazil. In September he was named with Marshall, Austin, Mrs. Roosevelt and Dulles as representative to the Paris session of the general assembly.

Jessup's great-grandfather, William Jessup, presented to the GOP convention of 1860 the platform on which Abraham Lincoln was elected President. His father, Henry, was a professor of law at New York university, author of legal works, a lay leader in the Presbyterian church. Philip Jessup was born in New York in 1897.

He was graduated from the Ridgefield school in Connecticut and then got degrees from Hamilton college, the Yale law school and Columbia. The first, from Hamilton (with Phi Beta Kappa key), was delayed because he took time out to enlist in the New York national guard, serve in France with the famous Rainbow division infantry, and briefly—by order of superiors—enroll at West Point.

After two years in the First National bank at Utica, N. Y., and two more in Washington as an assistant solicitor in the department of state, he joined the Columbia law faculty and worked his way up to a full professorship in 1935.

In 1929 he was an assistant to Elihu Root at the conference of jurists on the permanent court of international justice (the world court). Out of that close association with the great statesman grew an authoritative two-volume biography of Root. He lectured for a year at the academy of international law at the Hague, and then in 1929 [illegible] legal adviser to the U. S. ambassador to Cuba. In 19[illegible] [illegible] America for the Carnegie endowment for international peace. He held important posts in UNRRA under Director Herbert H. Lehman. In 1945 he was an assistant on judicial organization to the American delegation at the San Francisco conference on international organization.

He had been giving "spare time" to the United Nations for six months, and keeping up with his Columbia work, when President Truman in April, 1947, made him U. S. representative on the UN committee on the progressive development of international law.

Jessup is an inch over six feet tall, weighs 165 pounds, has hazel eyes and curly brown hair that he parts in the middle. He smokes pipe and cigarettes but not cigars, and likes an occasional cocktail. He dresses conservatively, preferring dark suits and a hamburg hat. His appearance has been described as "Lincolnesque." Actually, only his rather sharp features, kindly face and the frequent twinkle in his eye fit into such a picture.

When time used to permit, he collected stamps and liked to work in the garden at his Norfolk, Conn., home, and chop wood.

He was married in 1921 to Lois Walcott Kellogg. Their one son is named Philip Caryl, jr.

Mrs. Jessup is a Quaker. Quite a bit of Jessup's life work has been aimed at promoting peace. But both his fighting record in the first World war and his activities in the United Nations show that he wants peace badly enough to be willing to fight for it. His philosophy seems to be summed up in a remark he voiced at San Francisco:

"It is a great mistake to think peace is a kind of ornament to be placed on the mantel and admired. You may find one day it is broken."

Kimberly Sending Youths to Parley

KIMBERLY, Nov. 11—Local FFA chapter delegates to the 20th annual convention in Kansas City are Norman Peterson and Gerald Seivers.

Peterson is one of five vocalists from Idaho who will sing with the FFA chorus. He is a member of the high school band here.

Both boys are seniors and have been outstanding in FFA work. They left here Wednesday on a chartered bus carrying delegates from the entire northwest.

Tips Given Vets On VA Letters

Suggestions for veterans who write to the veterans administration were listed Wednesday by Don Durall, Twin Falls VA representative.

Veterans should not write unless it is absolutely necessary and then the letter should be brief and to the point, he said.

Service serial number, claim number and the name of the school or business establishment of training should be included. If the letter pertains to insurance, the policy number should be included.

A veteran should sign the letter with his full name and include present home address. If the letter contains more than one question, they should be listed in numerical order.

Following these instructions will simplify the work of answering letters and speed up replies to veterans, Durall said.

The first steel made in America was made in Connecticut in 1728.

how YOU benefit when you ORDER COAL NOW

1 QUICKER DELIVERY! Now, before roads get muddy, slushy and slippery, is the time to get prompt service. Then, too, the usual major cold weather rush might cause temporary shortages which would mean still further delay.

2 CLEANER DELIVERY! Your fuel will be cleaner if you get your coal now before the worst weather begins. Cleaner fuel means greater heating efficiency.

3 SURER DELIVERY . . . of the exact quality, size and type of coal your heating system requires! Right now, there is ample selection available. Later, the big rush might cause unfortunate delay in delivery of the kind of coal you need.

24 hour SERVICE

If your heating system requires immediate service at any time (nights, Sundays and holidays included), call the Emergency Phone Number for your community, listed below. Fees are moderate for this expert service. (Coal delivery is NOT offered on this 24-hour basis).

French Labor Evolves 'New' Strike Tactics

By CARL HARTMAN
(For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

PARIS—French labor unions, which invented the sit-down, have another novelty to their credit—the "revolving strike."

This invention consists of an endless chain of work stoppages, some big, some little, but none lasting more than a few days. Their purpose is to cut production, while holding down the amount of wages lost by strikers and keeping the pot of social agitation boiling.

Fights Recovery

The communist-led general federation of labor (CGT), which invented and perfected the new weapon, is fighting the European recovery program. Its success can be measured by the estimates that the generalized strikes of November and December last year cost France the equivalent of what it received as interim aid from the U. S.

But at the same time those strikes cost the CGT most of the contents of its unions' treasuries. What was even more serious, a split in its ranks put about a third of the CGT's 6,000,000 members into a new non-communist group, workers' force.

Prices Rise

Prices kept rising. For the first time since the war the government succeeded in enforcing a new rule—no pay for days lost in strikes. The result was widespread discontent among labor's rank and file, but no disposition to take it out in widespread work stoppages.

This situation made it easier to get the support of non-communist unions for brief "protest" stoppages. Workers' force and the Catholic CFTC (French Federation of Christian unions) are cooperating with the ERP and not pulling any big strikes. On local level, however, the CGT can bring heavy pressure on their leaders to joint in demonstrations of "working class solidarity."

Strikes Tailored

The revolving strikes, sometimes called "harassing" or "irritation" strikes, were tailored to fit these new conditions. The common report is that general instructions were passed along from Paris to communist cells all over France—make trouble wherever you can through the CGT, but keep it short.

Trouble is just what happened. One week the stevedores at Oran would be out, and the metal workers at Marseille. Within a few days they would be back at work, but before then Paris suburbanites would be without bus service over a week-end and street cleaners at Lyon would miss two or three rounds of garbage collections. Literally thousands of these strikes were called.

Results

The results: Some public irritation, though not enough to support strong government action; a few local improvements in wages and working conditions (which probably would have come anyway), and an economy kept off balance by a series of short jabs to vital spots.

For several months the CGT refused to admit the existence of the revolving strike. Its official theory was that all walkouts had ordinary trade union motives on the local level and that there was no central direction. Louis Saillant, who resigned recently as a secretary of the CGT, scoffed at the whole idea as just a "newspaper invention."

Salvation Army to Hold Boise Parley

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Members of the Salvation Army advisory boards throughout Idaho will meet in Boise Monday.

The Twin Falls, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Nampa, Caldwell and Payette advisory boards are expected to send representatives. Lieut. Thomas Mack, officer of the Boise corps, said.

Principal speaker will be Worth W. Caldwell, member of the Portland advisory board.

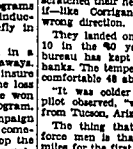
Mack said the conference has been called to make plans for emergency and disaster relief and to discuss army services in the state.

Crown Prince of Quiz Shows Defends His Give-Away Ideas

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—The crown prince of the radio giveaway shows passes out more than $1,000,000 a year.

And this queer variety of wireless philanthropy pays Mark Goodson at the age of 33 more than the president of the United States gets. His net take is better than $100,000. How much better is his own secret.



Hal Boyle

Goodson won a Phi Beta Kappa key at the University of California in 1937 for knowing the right answers. But today his six-figure income comes from asking questions over the air.

He has six network quiz programs, and is probably the most successful young radio producer in the business. Among his shows are "Hit the Jack-Pot", "Time's Awastin'," "Winner Take All," and "Stop the Music."

But today Goodson's invisible realm, like the British empire, has its troubles. CONSMAN Fred Allen and the federal communications commission are threatening to stop the music of his private cash register.

The FCC has under consideration rules to ban or regulate programs which "buy the audience" by inducing listeners to tune in chiefly in the hope of winning prizes.

Allen is currently engaged in a one-man war against the giveaways. He has posted $5,000 bond to insure any of his listeners against the loss of any prize they might have won by listening to any rival program.

Goodson thinks Allen's campaign is only a reflection of the comedian's annoyance because "Stop the Music," aired over a competing network, knocked the funnyman out of a top Hooper rating last spring. The most recent Hooper poll, however, showed Allen again ahead of the musical quiz show.

"Frankly, I was flattered to have one of America's best comedians throwing rocks at us," said Goodson. "But we aren't going to throw any rocks back at him over the air.

"We feel that the man at the dial is the one who should decide what he listens to—not a comedian or a federal bureau."

He denies that "audience participation" shows—he dislikes the term "giveaways"—are only nuisance programs that attract morons.

"Audience participation shows are about the oldest thing in radio," he said, "but only about 12 per cent of the network programs can be classed as this type.

"They aren't bad, and they all aren't successful. As many so-called giveaway shows have failed as have succeeded.

"It's my honest belief that quiz show audiences are considerably above the national average in intelligence and educational background.

"The shows are competitive and appeal to eager, competitive people. Most people realize they have perhaps only one chance in 20,000,000 to win a prize. They tune in for the excitement and entertainment—and I don't think entertainment has to be justified."

Goodson believes he will win what he calls his fight against "the Goliaths of the radio industry."

"The right to tune in is as free as the American ballot," he said. "We'll have quiz shows over the radio just as long as we have baseball or any other game."

Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suits

Two divorce complaints charging extreme cruelty were filed Wednesday in district court. Harold B. McFarlin seeks a divorce from Dorothy J. McFarlin whom he married Oct. 3, 1947, in Boise. No children or community property were listed.

Rita Arlene Alldritt, who married John Keith Alldritt Sept. 5, 1946, in Twin Falls, is seeking the custody of their minor child, $35 per month for his support, $50 for her personal support and all community property which consists of household furnishings, a trailer house and an automobile.

McFarlin and Mrs. Alldritt are being represented in their respective actions by W. L. Dunn.

Man Mystified By $1,000 Gift From Peddler

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11 (UP) — Auto park attendant Robert Petty, 38, wondered today why an apparently destitute shoestring peddler gave him $1,000 cash.

"Usually he'd turn up at the auto park and say 'I've got something new under the sun,' then show some new knickmack," Petty grinned. "Monday he handed me a slip of paper reading "I hereby will to you $1,000' and said he'd be back Wednesday."

Sure enough, the peddler turned up yesterday, took Petty to a bank, cashed some war bonds and gave Petty 20 $50 bills. Then he left.

"I don't even know his name," said Petty.

The peddler, who covers downtown streets on foot, said he picked Petty because he considered him "worthy of it."

Alaska Heat, Arizona Chill Stuns Fliers

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 11 (AP) —The pilots of five B-50s who landed at nearby Kelson field scratched their heads and wondered if—like Corrigan—they flew the wrong direction.

They landed on the hottest Nov. 10 in the 40 years the weather bureau has kept records in Fairbanks. The temperature was a nice comfortable 48 above zero.

"It was colder than that," one pilot observed, "when we took off from Tucson, Ariz., last night.

The thing that troubles the air force men is that they flew 2,500 miles for the first tests of the B-50s under Arctic conditions. They had been looking forward to temperatures down to 40 below zero.

The B-50s were the first Super-Superforts to arrive here from the United States. They left Davis-Monthan field at Tucson, Ariz., at 11:35 p. m. Tuesday. Some were held overnight at Spokane by bad weather.

An announcement as the planes left, said each of the plane's crews was to participate in survival procedures and, navigation and bombing problems. Each crew will spend a week afoot on Arctic ice packs.

Officers said they were expected to encounter temperatures of from 30 to 40 degrees below zero.

There's still time for that. The group will remain here 45 days.

Fire After Explosion Razes Building on Farm Near Here

Fire which broke out following an explosion completely destroyed a building on the Ralph Maxwell place Tuesday night, it was reported Thursday.

The incident was reported to the Twin Falls county sheriff. The razed structure was located in a berry field on the Maxwell place three and one-half miles northwest of Twin Falls. The berry field is traversed by a lateral.

A neighbor told Maxwell he heard the explosion in the vicinity of the building at 8:30 p. m. A short time later, the blaze was discovered. Some 24 used tires piled beside the building also burned, sheriff's deputies said.

The explosion was believed to be a shot fired by a hunter at a duck on the lateral. A smouldering cigarette or a match used to light a cigarette and thrown in tall grass adjacent to the building is blamed for the fire.

No one could explain why a hunter would be shooting at ducks long after darkness.

Oh yes, the burned structure was one of those buildings which used to be the main center of attraction on Halloween.

Smoke Damage Is Complaint's Basis

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP) — A Canyon county resident has entered a complaint in federal district court asking damages from the Amalgamated Sugar company for alleged smoke damage to his lettuce crop and property.

Percy C. Rand, who said the plant's smoke stack caused a total loss to his 16¼ acre fall head lettuce crop.

Rand said the crop was worth $4,550. He said damages done to his buildings and other property by the smoke amounted to $5,000.

Rand charged in his complaint that the sugar company "negligently and carelessly permits great volumes of smoke, cinders and soot" to be emitted from the stack.

Truman Balcony Is on New Cash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Truman's White House balcony, celebrated in controversy, is going into the nation's favorite picture gallery—it's paper money.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said yesterday the $20 federal reserve note has been modernized to show the present-day appearance of the White House's south front and grounds.

The $20 notes circulating now show the same general scene. But the scene dates back to 1929 when Herbert Hoover was President.

Snyder said he expects the public to find the new $20 note more attractive artistically. "We will as more acceptably up-to-date in its White House portraiture."

Survey to Be Completed At AAUW Meet Here

During the joint meeting and luncheon to be held Saturday at the American Legion hall by the Gooding and Twin Falls branches of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Vera C. O'Leary will ask for a report on the survey being taken this week by the AAUW.

"In what way do you feel that your college education is of value in your life today?" is the question being asked of all AAUW members. In the light of careers as homemakers, business or professional women, the members are to make suggestions for improvements or changes in present day college training for women.

This survey is being made for the purpose of fitting education more fully into the needs of society, to aid those concerned with the guidance of women students and to aid college administrators who are planning curricula for them.

Mrs. Ed Tolbert will be the hostess chairman and Mrs. Vera O. O'Leary is in charge of the program.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. Elsie Lindgren talking on the "UNESCO and You."

There will be a musical program by the trio, Mrs. Thomas Peavey, Mrs. Max Brown and Mrs. Oren Booth with Mrs. Peavey in charge.

Jay-C-Ettes Hold Monthly Dinner, Business Parley

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes was conducted Tuesday evening at the American Legion hall. Members of the committee in charge included Mrs. Frank McIntyre, chairman, Mrs. Gene Brienholt and Mrs. Dave Hiltz.

The dinner was served at tables for four, decorated in the Thanksgiving motif.

During the business session led by Mrs. Robert Wall, following dinner, Mrs. E. K. Rayborn reported on the state quarterly meeting held in Nampa on Nov. 5 and 6. A report on the plans for a state convention to be held in Coeur d'Alene sometime in May was presented by Mrs. John Detweiler. She also reported on the national Jaycee convention to be held in Colorado Springs, Colo., in June. Both conventions are to be family affairs with attendants provided for children.

Mrs. Robert Warberg gave the results of the style show. Christmas charity plans and the yearly welfare project were discussed. Members were reminded of the dance to be given jointly by the Jaycees and the American Legion on Thanksgiving eve at the American Legion hall.

Pinochle and bridge were played after the session.

Rupert Women's Club Has Annual Teachers' Party

RUPERT, Nov. 11—Approximately 75 guests and members attended the annual party for Rupert school teachers given by the Woman's club at the Episcopal guild hall.

Baskets of chrysanthemums were used in hall decorations and Thanksgiving decorations and autumn leaves adorned the refreshment tables.

Mrs. George Zeimetz, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Peter Hoyd. The group sang "Idaho," led by Mrs. Louis D'Spain and accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Judd. Mrs. Zeimetz led the flag salute.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Bateman, party chairman, consisted of welcome by Mrs. Zeimetz. Supt. Don Dafoe said the party reflected the friendly spirit of Rupert and was indicative of the cooperation existing between community and schools.

Dafoe introduced school board members, administrative officers and principals of the schools, who in turn introduced their teachers.

Music was furnished by the Elks' quartet composed of Osmer Lowe, Hal Matthews and Mac Martin, Burley, and K. Clark, Rupert, who sang three numbers. Mrs. Matthews was director and pianist.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge, pinochle and Chinese checkers. High and low prize winners for bridge were Mrs. R. B. Turner, Mrs. E. H. Elmore, O. M. Mitchell and A. F. Beymer. # Vandal's Football Teams Of Future May be Strong

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Nov. 11—If experience is a big factor, the University of Idaho's grid machines of the future will be powerful.

On the 1948 varsity squad, 23 of the players are sophomores and 19 juniors, while only five are seniors. The team's two alternate left halfbacks, both sophomores, continue to lead the Vandal's football offensive after seven games.

John Brogan, a sophomore from Coeur d'Alene, leads in total yardage, and Bob Mays, sophomore from Boise, has the most yardage on the ground. Brogan also leads Pacific Coast conference kickers with an average of 41.8 yards per punt and Mays is close behind with a 39.3 yards average, according to the Associated Press.

Gains 356 Yards

Mays has carried the ball 46 times for 303 yards and made five of 11 pass attempts good for 58 yards. This gave him a total of 356 yards in 69 attempts or 6.6 yards per try.

Brogan ran 83 times for 254 yards and passed 18 times for 170 yards. His total of 424 yards in 131 attempts gave him a 3.23 average.

Ties for Honors

King Block, a fullback from Twin Falls, is tied for scoring honors on the team with Brogan, and Jerry Diehl, junior halfback from Jerome.

Block has a rushing average of 3.5 yards per attempt.

Area Players

Former T. F. Cowboys Lead Semi-Pro Loop

Former members of the 1948 edition of the Twin Falls Cowboys are now playing the diamond sport in their "off" season in the fast semi-pro leagues in the San Francisco bay area.

Last Sunday Gus Triandos and Red Jessen polled long home runs to lead their teams to victory.

Three-Run Homer

Triandos socked a three-run circuit clout in a game in the Alameda city league. His team, Kenealy Yanks, downed the Oaks 9-4.

Other former Cowboys playing on the Kenealy team with Triandos include Joe Polich, sparky shortstop, who has been recalled to class A ball for the 1949 season.

Cowboy Pitchers

Jim Eskenberry, big left-hander, and Frank Cerimelli, who ended the 1948 season fast after a slow start for Twin Falls, shared the pitching role for the Kenealy team.

Jessen pounded out two home runs Sunday as his team, the Rogers Clothiers, blasted the Alameda Merchants 16-6. The big first baseman hit safely three times in six appearances at the plate.

Jessen's team is studded with major and coast league players.

Maruca After Experience

Bob Maruca, erratic fast ball hurler for the Cowboys, is gaining more experience playing Winter league ball in San Jose, Calif.

Oil McDougald, San Francisco, all league second sacker, passed up semi-pro ball this winter to give his ankle a rest. McDougald broke his ankle when the Cowboys were in a race for first place honors with Pocatello this year.

Golf Course to Be in Best Shape for Spring

The Twin Falls municipal golf course will be in its best shape in history when the links open for regular play next spring, Zeke Browning, course professional reported. The links were closed last Sunday for the winter months.

Browning said 200 trees have been planted on the course's fairways and grass all over the course is being reconditioned. All traps are being reconditioned and new sand will be laid before next spring.

The new club house has been finished and a sidewalk will be constructed in front of the house.

Closed for Winter

The club house has been closed for the winter. Golfers having clubs in storage, who wish to use them before spring, should contact Fred Stone at telephone 1621, Browning said.

He said he has several sets of clubs at the pro shop. Owners are asked to pick them up before Sunday.

Browning will leave Twin Falls early next week for a short vacation and then go to Phoenix, Ariz., where he will spend the winter at the Encanto Park golf course. He will return to Twin Falls about April 1.

400 Took Lessons

Browning said there are more golfers in Twin Falls than at any time in the past. He gave golf lessons to more than 400 people this year.

To aid beginners, a section of the links is going to be set aside for practice, Browning explained.

SICE Squad Put Through Rigid Practice for Tilt

SOUTHERN IDAHO COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, Albion, Nov. 11 — Southern Idaho's grid machine was put through another rigid scrimmage Wednesday in preparation for an expected tough game this Saturday with Idaho State college.

The Panthers and the Bengals will lock horns in a traditional game at 2 p. m. Saturday at Lincoln field in Twin Falls. Both teams are being geared for this all-important battle.

Added emphasis was placed on defensive play by Coaches Gene Cooper and Ernie Craner. Their forward wall will be outweighed by the formidable Idaho State squad.

Run Through Plays

Coach Craner set up defenses as the SICE team ran through expected ISC plays. The Panthers hope to set up an adequate pass defense to take care of the aerials of Bengal quarterbacks Jim Blake, Twin Falls, and Jay Paris, Jerome.

Practice Wednesday was hampered by a light fall of snow in Albion. However, the condition of the Panthers is the best this season. No regular players are injured.

Fundamentals Stressed

Coach Cooper was to run his team through a drill on fundamentals Thursday morning. Cooper fears a lack of sharp blocking and tackling might mean victory for Idaho State.

In both touchdowns scored against SICE in Jerome by Boise Junior college last week, several Panther gridmen had their hands on Dave Weeks but were unable to stop the slippery back from long touchdown runs.

New Play Added

Several more new plays were added to the Panther list Wednesday especially for the Saturday game. Fans can expect a wide open ball game from the Panthers.

The Panthers will have to stop ISC halfback Jake LaRue from getting past the line of scrimmage. The Negro star has been a thorn in the back of opposing teams all year. LaRue has been clocked at 9.6 seconds while running the 100-yard dash in track competition.

ISC in Top Shape

The Bengals also are reported in top shape for the contest. They had an easy time last week in routing Northern Idaho College of Education.

It is reported from Pocatello that Coach John Vesser has worked out several new play combinations to throw at the Panthers.

Major Loops Pick 19 Players From Minors

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11 (AP)—Those talent-tagged kids known as bonus players were ignored Wednesday as the major baseball leagues staged their annual draft.

Although the minors are studded with 270 youngsters who were good enough to get $6,000 or more for penning their names to contracts, not one was considered ready for a big league trial.

Instead, the major moguls handpicked 19 players from the high minors at a cost of $182,500 as they sought experienced talent to plug their leaky lineups for the 1949 flag chase. Last year 13 clubs drafted 29 players costing $275,000.

About 5,400 players from 58 leagues were eligible to receive the major league call, but the big top took 16 from the triple-A circuits—five from the International and five from the Pacific Coast and six from an American association—two from the double-A Southern association, and one from the double-A Texas league.

Here are the draft selections, and what they did in 1948:

National League

Chicago: Swain Sloat, pitcher, won 10, lot 8, for Fort Worth in the Texas league; James Kirby, outfielder, who hit .286 in 152 games for Shreveport.

Cincinnati: Homer E. Howell, catcher with San Francisco, batted .292; John S. Pramesa, catcher, batted .284 for Jersey City.

Philadelphia: Bob Blattner, former New York Giant, batted .275 in 110 games for Jersey City, a third baseman; Ken Silvestri, Newark catcher, hit .201 in 129 games.

St. Louis: Edward Sauer, outfielder, hit .305 for Los Angeles.

Boston: Don Thompson, outfielder who hit .285 for Columbus, and Charles Gilbert, outfielder who hit .385 for Nashville.

American League

Chicago: Matthew Surkont, pitcher who won 15, lost 11 for Rochester; Gene Markland, infielder who hit .280 in 147 games for Milwaukee; Don Wheeler, catcher who hit .302 in 139 games for Minneapolis.

St. Louis: Robert Malloy, pitcher, won 21, lost seven for Indianapolis; Irving Medlinger, pitcher, won 3, lot 3 for St. Louis, won 10, lost 5 for Birmingham and Scranton.

Detroit: Marvin Grissom, pitcher, won 11, lot 7 for Sacramento.

Philadelphia: Tom Davis, shortstop, hit .252 for Hollywood; Jim Wilson, pitcher, won seven games, lost 13 for Toledo.

Cleveland: Herman Reich, right-handed outfielder, batted .324 for Portland.

Washington: John Simmons, outfielder, hit .304 in 139 games for Montreal.

Records Show More Hunters Take to Hills

Idaho deer hunters who thought they saw a lot more people in the hills this fall were right. Records of the fish and game department show 4,000 more deer tags sold during September and October than during the same months a year ago.

The figures were 27,362 for 1948, compared with 23,249 the previous year.

The increase indicated the total number of deer tags for 1948 would exceed 85,000 in comparison with 82,000 last year. Returns from many of the 800 license vendors were incomplete when the record was compiled and the panhandle deer season, which is the full month of November, had not started.

Resident hunting license sales jumped nearly 2,000 from 10,116 in the fall of 1947 to 11,968 in 1948 on the basis of two months' figures. Resident fishing licenses also went up in volume, 5,162 compared with 3,893. Non-resident big game license sales rose to 764 from 721.

Combination resident fishing and hunting licenses declined to 15,106 from 15,930. Non-resident season fishing licenses dropped slightly from 8,753 to 8,220.

Sale of elk tags during the two months decreased to 11,066 compared with 11,985 in 1947.

Total license sales in all classes for the year 1948 up to Nov. 1 showed 174,000, an increase of 10,000 over 10 months of 1947.

HUNTERS BAG ELK

KIMBERLY, Nov. 11—J. D. Claiborn, W. B. Savage, William Savage and Dean Shipley each bagged an elk on a 10-day hunting trip in the Selway forest.

Horse Racing In Colorado Slated in '49

DENVER, Nov. 11 (AP)—Horse and dog racing plants will be in operation in Colorado when the annual flood of tourists begins to roll into this scenic state next summer, reports indicate.

Colorado voters, told that racing would give the multi-million dollar vacation business a shot in the arm, decided by a comfortable majority in the general election to legalize pari-mutuel betting on the dogs and ponies.

Immediately after the results became definite, Irving L. Jacobs, owner of Mammoth gardens, a local sports arena, announced organization of the Denver Greyhound Kennel club.

Jacobs said the club would apply for a permit to build a $800,000 dog racing plant in the Denver metropolitan area. It would include a 20,000 seat grandstand, a modern clubhouse and spacious kennels.

Gene Normile, a former Denverite who has been prominent in California racing circles, said he would head the Rocky Mountain Jockey club and that Colorado funds would be solicited to finance a $1,500,000 horse racing track in Denver.

George McCarthy, head of the Colorado Racing association which sponsored the pari-mutuel measure, added that as far as he knew, control of all tracks would be held by Colorado people.

Owners Feud On Control of Spokane Club

SPOKANE, Nov. 11 (AP)—One partnership exploded Wednesday and another team was being sold in the Western International baseball league.

Co-owners of the Spokane Indians, champions of the class B league, agreed to sever relations but disagreed on who should remain in control.

Meanwhile, the management of the Yakima Packers announced a deal was in the making to peddle the club to the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league.

Buddy Ryan, a former Coast league player, said he was parting company with his partner, J. Lamar Butler.

"Either I will sell out to Butler or he will buy me out," Ryan said. "There can be no middle ground. I hope that Lamar will sell to me."

Butler said he probably will be in Spokane next week to discuss insurance collections on the team's home park which was destroyed two weeks ago by fire and go over plans to rebuild the park. The two owners probably will settle then the issue of who will control the club.

Ryan said the park was insured for $252,000. The city of Spokane, which once owned the field, has first claim on a $34,000 unpaid balance, he said, and Sam Collins, former owner of the Indians, still has an unannounced amount due him.

In Yakima, Dick Richards said he and his two partners would sell the Packers to Dewey Soriano, Seattle, Frederick Mercy, Yakima, and the San Francisco Seals.

Soriano said that "nothing has been settled yet" but that the deal should be completed Friday or Saturday. A relief pitcher with the Seals last year, Soriano said he would pitch for Yakima. A manager would be brought in.

O'Neill May Land Job With Indians

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—What are Steve O'Neill's chances of being offered a job with the Cleveland Indians' organization?

Pretty good, said the Indians' front office tonight, if a spot suitable to his talents opens up. In fact, Bill Veeck, president of the Indians, makes no secret of his high regard for the recently ousted manager of the Detroit Tigers.

He says: "It would be a loss to baseball if Steve didn't return."

Putting that in plain language, reliable sources said that meant:

The Indians have been dickering for a working agreement with three west coast clubs—San Diego, Hollywood and Sacramento. If any one of those works out, O'Neill will be offered the job as manager.

Wrong Bet

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—Coach Dud Degroot of West Virginia university will be investing heavily in haberdashery in a few days, in order to pay off about 50 bets.

Assistant Coach Bob Titchenal says Degroot bet every member of his grid squad a new shirt and tie they would not score 25 points against Ohio university Saturday. They won 48-6.

Cadets Lead Grid Play in Ground Gains

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Wars, they say, are won by the infantry Army must figure the same is true of football games.

The power-minded Cadets, who have never yielded to the modern pass happy trend, are grinding toward a new all-time collegiate record for advancing the ball by land.

In seven games they have rolled up a staggering total of 2,640 rushing yards—an average of 377.1 yards a game.

Break Own Mark

If this keeps up, the national collegiate athletic bureau reminds us, the Black Knights of the Hudson are bound to wreck their own existing mark of 359.8 yards a game set in 1945 when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were stomping all opposition.

Nevada, although upset last week by Santa Clara, kept its long lead in two offensive departments—total offense and passing.

The leaders:

Total offense—Nevada 490.9 yards average a game; Army, 450.4; Notre Dame, 405.7; Miami (O), 382.1; Missouri, 378.3; Texas Mines, 372.4; Maryland, 372.3; Michigan State, 370; Wyoming, 367.3; California, 363.3.

Lead in Rushing

Rushing offense — Army, 377.1 yards a game; Texas Mines, 335; Notre Dame, 331.3; Michigan State, 284.2; Oklahoma, 283.9; Maryland, 281.4; California, 271.3; Missouri, 265.3; Utah State, 259.6; Wyoming, 257.2.

Forward passing offense—Nevada, 284.9 yards average a game; Tulsa, 173; Georgia Tech, 168.4; San Francisco, 167.3; West Viginia, 156.9; Michigan, 155.6; Columbia, 155.2; Southern Methodist, 154.6; Washington and Lee, 153.3; Georgia, 149.1.

The University of Mississippi first rewarded its athletes with letters in 1904, 11 years after the inaugural football season.

Area Girls Play Hockey at College

COLLEGE OF IDAHO, Caldwell, Nov. 11—Ellen Rae Joslin, Filer; Lois Bungum, Wendell, and Mary Redfield, Burley, are members of the 14 girl College of Idaho field hockey team which will take part in the northwest hockey championship games at Seattle, Wash.

The team left Thursday for Seattle. Last year at the conference in Portland, Ore., the Caldwell team placed second. So far this season the girls have defeated Boise Junior college in two contests.

Conn Signs Match In Comeback Try

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP) — Dallas promoter Joey Rey said Wednesday Billy Conn, Pittsburgh, Pa., heavyweight, had accepted terms to appear in the main event of a boxing card here Nov. 25.

Rey said Conn's opponent was yet to be selected. He said Conn would come to Dallas after a bout at Miami, Fla., Nov. 15. Conn twice fought Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship.

HARVARD OUTLAWS HELMET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11 (AP)—Informed that the broken ankle sustained by Ken O'Donnell, Harvard football player, resulted from contact with a plastic helmet, Athletic Director William J. Bingham advised the Crimson coaching staff that such equipment would be illegal after the 1949 season.

Physician Urges Manslaughter Law To Punish Hunters

EAGLE, Colo., Nov. 11—Dr. Robert Barnard, local physician, has joined the campaign for a new law providing punishment for big game hunters who shoot other hunters.

Dr. Barnard said they should be tried on charges of involuntary manslaughter. He recently treated a New Mexico surgeon whose hand was shattered by a bullet from another hunter who fled from the scene when he realized his mistake.

As a result of the wound, the surgeon probably never will be able to operate again.

Thirteen persons so far have met death in the big game season in Idaho. Nine have been killed by shots of other hunters, two by accidental discharges of their own guns and two by exposure.

Yanks Want Sale Of Newark Club

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 11 (AP)—The Newark Star-Ledger Thursday quoted Dan Topping, co-owner of the Yankee baseball empire and president of the Newark Bears, as saying the local International league club definitely is for sale.

"It doesn't look like we're going to move the club in 1949," Topping told a Star-Ledger reporter, "but it is for sale."

Newark has been the kingpin of the Yankee farm system since 1932 when the Bears became the first tripple A club in the Yankee organization.

Boise Makes Bid For Hawaii Game

BOISE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Len Simpson, publicity director for Boise Junior college, said Wednesday the Broncos have made a bid for a football game with the University of Hawaii next month.

The Broncos have piled up a consecutive win record of 17 games that extends back to 1946. They have won 18 games with one tie intervening.

Simpson said he has sent a telegram to Hawaii officials asking that BJC be offered consideration under the same terms offered Montana State college.

Hollywood Stars Pick New Manager

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP)—Fred Haney, a figure in baseball for more than 20 years, Wednesday was named manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league.

He succeeds Jimmy Dykes, who stepped out of the job late last season.

Haney, who broke into baseball as a third baseman with Portland and later played in the major leagues, formerly managed the St. Louis Browns but left them in 1941. In recent years he has been broadcasting games in the Coast league, last year at Hollywood.

Ben Hogan Named "Golfer of Year"

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ben Hogan, who has earned $32,112 in the Professional Golfers' association tournaments this year, picked up another honor Thursday when he was named "golfer of the year" in a poll conducted by the PGA.

The Texan was elected to the honor by the press and radio of the United States in a practically unanimous vote, George Schneiter, chairman of the PGA tournament committee, said.

Runnerup to Hogan was Lloyd Mangrum, who also is second in money winnings. Only others to receive mention in the voting were Skip Alexander and Jim Demaret, Schneiter said.

Everyone Trades Slugging Mize From Giants, but His Pilot Leo Durocher

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Everybody and his brother has "traded" Johnny Mize away from the New York Giants since the close of the 1948 baseball season. That is, everybody but his manager, Leo Durocher.

"Every time I pick up a newspaper, I read where Mize has been offered to another club," Leo laughingly told a gathering of newsmen. "Who did the offering? It wasn't I. It wasn't Mr. Stoneham (Horace Stoneham, club president). Then who could it have been? The mystery man."

Durocher stated emphatically that he has not discussed his slugging first baseman with any team. He did admit he had talked with several clubs about Walker Cooper, his big catcher, among others.

"I don't say I wouldn't consider a trade involving Mize," he added. "That would be foolish of me. I'd consider trading anybody on my ball club. And that goes for Whitey Lockman, Bobby Thomson, Willard Marshall, Buddy Kerr and Larry Jansen."

Durocher said he couldn't understand why people should get the impression he was eager to peddle Mize.

"You've got to remember, Mize is Mize. He's a great hitter. One of the greatest ever. So what if he's no Fred Astaire around first base? He's not exactly a clown. He never loafs. He does the best he can.

"And who is going to hit more home runs? Who will drive in more runs? Show me a player with a better disposition. He never sulks. He's always giving it that big grin. He's solid. He'll give you 154 ball games a season. All he wants to know is 'where do we play tomorrow and what time?' And he'll be there—and ready. I never have to worry about him."

Interior Office OK's Refunds For Contracts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The interior department approved yesterday an interim payment contract with the American Falls reservoir district No. 2, Gooding division, on the Minidoka reclamation project.

Assistant Secretary William E. Warne, who drew up the contract, said its major purposes are:

1. To establish at 20,200 acres the maximum area of new lands within the district to be developed.

Outlines Terms

2. To outline more clearly the terms of the existing contract of September, 1927, as to expenditures which may be included in the maximum obligation of $5,000,000 established by that contract.

3. To provide a revised formula for distribution of construction costs between new and old lands, but to defer at least until completion of all construction under the contract, any revision of the repayment schedule now in effect.

4. To revise existing contract provisions on the maximum amount of the annual operation and maintenance charge to be assessed by the district against new lands during the first five years of their development.

5. To provide for a deferment of 490,023 of the district's construction charge installment for 1948, the deferment to be passed on by the district to 3,588 acres of new lands.

Kenneth Marshall, acting commissioner of reclamation, said the existing maximum repayment obligation of the irrigation district is adequate as to amount.

Clarifies Ambiguity

"The repayment problem in this case is that of clarifying an ambiguity in the present contract as to what expenditures may properly be charged within the present obligations," Markwell said.

"Actual construction is substantially completed. There remains only some additional work in the main canal to reduce seepage losses."

Markwell said the 318,700-acre Minidoka project produced crops in 1947 worth an average of $87 an acre.

The Gooding division contains 950,600 acres. An additional 700,000 acres in the Snake river valley receive partial water supply from the Minidoka project works.

County Board Approves Two Building Sales

RUPERT, Nov. 11—Bids on two "surplus" pieces of school property have been accepted by the Minidoka county school board and six more lots of school property have been listed for sale.

The New Pioneer Grange's bid of $800, the appraised value, was accepted for the old Lincoln school property and Elmo Foster, Heyburn, purchased the former Walcott school property at the appraised value of $625.

Listed for Sale

The former Riverview, Empire, Hopewell, Jackson and Washington schools will be sold Nov. 16 and the Big Bend property will be sold Nov. 23 with the board meeting Nov. 24 to canvass bids on the sales. Because of the Minidoka county school reorganization, the properties are no longer needed.

Future needs of the county district were discussed, including curricular needs, attendance units needed and adequacy of present school units. The report of the building subcommittee of the former county school reorganization committee was reviewed. The report recommended a long-range building program to include a central high school for the county and junior high school units at Acequia, Paul, Heyburn and Rupert until such time as a central junior high is necessary. The units would include elementary facilities where needed.

Surveys Asked

After studying the report, the administrative staff was asked to prepare preliminary surveys of population, educational needs of each attendance area and to prepare appraisals of existing plants for use in the future program. Surveys and appraisals are scheduled to be presented at the December meeting of the board.

One survey being conducted now, a complete census of all children through 18 years old in the district, is expected to be of much value in planning future needs. Supt. Don Dafoe discussed progress in the census with board members.

Reports Presented

In other business before the board, Superintendent Dafoe presented reports on the budget and status of fire insurance for school buildings and their contents. It was decided that a new blanket fire insurance policy will be sought on all school property in the district. Dafoe will submit a new statement of values to the Idaho surveying and rating bureau to secure a rate for the new insurance. All old policies will be cancelled in favor of new insurance following approval of the rate. Attorney Henry Creason is supervising the legal details.

Mrs. Evelyn Dunn, fourth grade teacher at Acequia, resigned effective at the start of Christmas vacations.

ERP Showing All Signs of Success

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The European recovery program is "showing every sign of success," officials of land-grant colleges and universities were told today by a top ECA official.

The word came from Robert Huse, director of overseas information for the economic cooperation administration. Huse added, however, that the reaction of communists to the program "is always a factor" in its ultimate success.

"In the meanwhile," he said, "they are throwing every monkey wrench that comes to hand. Witness, for example, the French coal strikes. They were communist inspired."

Buhl Dairy Maids

Pauline Yost, Buhl, (left) and Jeanne Kudlac, Castleford, call themselves the "Buhl Dairy Maids" and have had no little success in proving it. Working as a team they won top honors in a state agricultural demonstration milking contest and the right to represent Idaho at the Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland, Ore. They took second place in a milking contest at the exposition, missing the top bracket by a small percentage. The girls gave a report on their trip at the 4-H leader's recognition banquet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Legion hall. (Staff photo-engraving)

Grange Talks on Highway Problem

KIMBERLY, Nov. 11—A discussion on consolidation of highways was the main feature of the program at a meeting of the Pleasant Valley Grange recently.

Grange Master Curtis Bower presided.

Also held was a contest on naming the states. Mrs. E. W. McIntyre and Mrs. F. Bower served refreshments.

"SCORE"?

Yes, because it's easy to "score" with the pancakes you make with Sperry Pancake and Waffle Mix. With their enticing aroma, tender texture, and sour cream buttermilk tang, you'll rate 'em "tops" by perfect pancake standards. And, unlike Granny's famous pancakes, Sperry Hots require no fuss and bother. The trick's in the Sperry Mix, a blend of specialized ingredients.

"SCORE"?

That's correct, if you mean 20. Maybe the score of Sperry Hots your husband would like to eat, for breakfast. (Can eat, if they're dollar-sized!) Or perhaps you're thinking of the scores of occasions on which you'll want to treat your family and guests to the waffles, coffee cake, muffins and dumplings you can also make with the easy recipes on the Sperry Package of Plenty.

Barnyard Poll Is "Secret" of Truman Faith

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—There's a strong suspicion hereabouts that Arkansas-born Leslie Biffle's "barnyard poll" is one of the keys to the secret of President Truman's success as a political dopester.

Experts laughed when the President confidently predicted he would beat Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the national elections Nov. 2.

That is, everybody but dapper Democrat Biffle, 59, staff director of the Democratic senate policy committee and long-time friend of Mr. Truman.

Biffle told Mr. Truman he was going to win. And the President accepted his word.

Found People's Thoughts

"I knew he would win," Biffle said. "I went out to see what people were thinking, and I found out. He crossed the nation in an old truck, disguised as a chicken buyer.

Biffle started his "barnyard poll" after the Democratic convention in Philadelphia, when the experts said the election was in the bag for Dewey.

"I just couldn't believe Mr. Truman was as unpopular as the polls and the experts said," Biffle said in an interview before taking off for Key West, Fla., to spend a few days with the President.

Started in August

A few days later in early August, Biffle set out alone. His custom-made clothing and hand-painted cravats were discarded. He wore a faded blue sweater, an old shirt, an uncreased pair of breeches.

His conveyance was a second-hand truck loaded with two chicken coops. Biffle, the political expert, was now Biffle, the chicken and egg buyer.

In this guise, Biffle traveled through southern West Virginia, northern Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio—states which he considered to be key states in the voting.

He stopped in barnyards to talk to the farmers and their wives. He squatted on the porches of country stores and listened to the farmers, the miners, the merchants, the truck drivers and the loafers.

3 Argue Over Lewis

"Once," Biffle said, "I was hunched up on the porch of a country store in northern West Virginia. A farmer drove up and soon he was in an argument with a miner about John L. Lewis. And then the storekeeper joined in. They almost got into a fist fight—but I found out what I wanted to know. All three of them were going to vote for President Truman."

Biffle's poll-taking trail later took him into Minnesota, eastern Idaho, western Montana and the state of Washington. Everywhere, he said, the story was the same.

Broadcast Set by Episcopal Church

Charles Dickens' masterful story of the French revolution, "A Tale of Two Cities," has been selected as the seventh radio drama to be broadcast in "Great Scenes From Great Plays," over station KVMV at 8 p. m. Friday. The broadcast is sponsored by the Episcopal church.

Brian Aherne, for many years a star on Broadway and in Hollywood, plays the role of Sidney Carton, the brilliant London lawyer who sacrifices his life on a French gallows to save the life of Charles Darnay, his friend and husband of the girl he loves.

Fingerprinting was not applied scientifically to identification work until the late 19th century.

Line Favors Birth of Son To Princess

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (UP) — The chances are slightly in favor of the Princess Elizabeth's baby being a boy, but don't bet on it.

A spokesman for the American Medical association said there is a tendency of babies of one sex to predominate in families.

Genealogists said if that's the case, the odds should favor a boy as the princess' first-born.

Tracing the royal family tree back through 11 generations, the genealogists found that boys outnumbered girls 41 to 29.

11 in 3 Houses

The study included six generations in the English royal house, three in the family of Prince Philip, and two in the family of the princess' mother.

The spokesman for the medical association said there is another factor in favor of a boy. After a war, he said, there is a tendency for male births to predominate.

"The percentage of boys over girls after a war is small," he said. "But statistics definitely support this old folk tale."

22 Males in Line

The house of Windsor had 22 male births and 18 female births in the six generations from George III to Elizabeth.

Queen Elizabeth's family had 13 boys to eight girls in two generations. Her two daughters, including Princess Elizabeth, were included in the Windsor total.

Philip's house, descended from the kings of Denmark, had six boys and three girls in the three generations from King Christian IX of Denmark to Prince Andrew of Greece, Philip's father.

In every case, the generations checked were in direct line. No branches of the families were considered.

Kimberly Pastor Speaks at Men's Club Event Here

Featured speaker at a potluck supper sponsored Tuesday night by the Methodist Men's club was the Rev. Stanley Andrews, pastor of the Kimberly Methodist church, who spoke on "Christian Perfection," a theme given prominent place in the writings of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church.

The Rev. Mr. Andrews reduced a number of theological terms to language easily understood by ordinary laymen. His talk was well received by the 60 persons attending the supper. Arrangements for the supper were under the supervision of Edward Waite.

A meeting after the supper was opened by L. J. Schroyer, president, who introduced the program chairman, Theodore Knight. Group singing was led by George Byce with Mrs. Robert Miller at the piano. Two instrumental duets were played by Robs Miller, flute, and Beverly Miller, violin, accompanied by Mrs. Miller.

The meeting was the first of a series of "family night" gatherings sponsored by the Methodist Men each Tuesday evening during the rest of November.

Analyst Says China Plight Is Desperate

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This writer rarely uses the term "desperate" in describing a situation because that word implies hopelessness, but the position in China has deteriorated to a point which certainly is crowding desperation.

That unhappy land—housing close to a quarter of the globe's population—has sunk so deep in the chaos of civil war and economic collapse that no man can predict her fate.

The question of whether Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek can maintain his nationalist government and defeat the red rebellion is a matter of naxious speculation.

The Chinese communists, having overrun strategic Manchuria, are now driving southward in China.

Confidence Shaken

Meantime the economic situation has worsened. The military disasters in the north have further shaken the confidence of the people in the ability of the government to cope with the situation. The economic crisis has hit a new low and one of the immediate results has been a grave increase in the food shortage, said to be due in considerable degree to hoarding.

Small wonder that officials in Washington are deeply concerned. Small wonder that there should be speculation whether the generalissimo's government can triumph over the communists.

Marshall Confers

Secretary of State Marshall conferred privately in Paris with China's United Nations delegation chief, Dr. T. F. Tsiang. The future extent of American military and economic aid to Chiang's regime is said to have been discussed.

American sources said the whole question of Chinese aid is being studied against a general background of feeling that there is not much point in pouring water into a leaking bucket.

Reconciliation Sought

American delegation officials in Paris said U. S. state department experts are seeking a plan to reconcile the realities of the red military gains with the U. S. desire to give effective aid to the nationalist government.

The indications are that America intends to pursue a program of aid to China. The Chinese civil war is a vital part of the conflict with Russian communism, and China is likely to be an increasingly important theatre of operations in the orient.

It wouldn't be profitable to win the cold war in Europe but lose the fight in the far east.
