Kulp Outlines Plans for '49 State Session

BOISE, Nov. 23 (AP)—State Reclamation Engineer Mark R. Kulp today outlined the legislative suggestions he has made so far to the governor and which he has prepared for the legislature.

One of the major items on Kulp's program is the proposed Snake river compact. The reclamation engineer said he will ask the legislature to authorize the governor to appoint a commission to work with Wyoming officials and a commission appointed by the President.

The compact would regulate the use of water from the Snake river and all its tributaries between the two states.

Congress OK Needed

Kulp explained that the compact must be ratified by both legislatures and approved by the U. S. congress in order to be effective.

Kulp also will ask the legislature to amend the flood control district law. His proposal would allow existing flood control districts to extend their boundaries and thereby get more funds by having more taxable property included. The flood control tax amounts to about three mills on the assessed value.

Treatate Underground Waters

Another bill proposed by Kulp would regulate the appropriation and administration of underground water in the state in a way "similar to the present regulation of the use of surface water."

"This 'underground water code' is being discussed by a legislative committee of the Idaho Reclamation association, and will probably be drawn up largely by that group," Kulp explained the code might not be ready for this session of the legislature. However, he said, some action must be taken in the matter.

Eliminate Filing Fee

Also, the reclamation engineer proposed that the legislature eliminate the requirement for a filing fee in cases where the state engineers are doing flood control work.

Other amendments proposed by Kulp would change requirements for examinations of land to be covered by a permit in connection with water users, allow time examinations for completion of work on water rights, require publication of all applications for permits, and clarify the law governing changes in points of diversion of points of use.

He also has drafted a bill which would continue the present state water utilization committee for a longer period. Kulp explained that the present commission law expires early in 1949.

River Water Pact Studied by Group

MONTPELIER, Ida., Nov. 23 (AP)—The Idaho River Water Pact committee will meet here today to study the effects the proposed river pact would have on Idaho water users.

Fred J. Price, secretary of the committee, said the meeting would be held in the Montpelier city hall.

The proposed pact would regulate the use of waters from the Snake river between Idaho, Wyoming and Utah.

J. K. Burns, area rent director, said Richter will investigate complaints on charges of over-occupancy, veterans' preference violations, and other matters.

Richter is from the veterans affairs branch of the housing expediter's office in San Francisco.

Contribution Jar Overflows at Burley

Boyle Finds Many Things U. S. Could Be Thankful for in 1948

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—There are many things to be thankful for this Thanksgiving, not including the price of turkey.

For example, everybody can still afford a car.

So let the cost of the Thanksgiving turkey, 1948, take more than the 1947 "Thanksgiving into a turkey. We can always give the traditional bird a traditional bird—and pick something better, perhaps, out of our teeth.

Forget the turkey. Let's count a few real blessings to be thankful for.

Tests Reveal Polio Drug Is Not too Good

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 23 (AP)—A new drug for polio, used for the first time this summer, is "apparently not a wonder drug and apparently not very effective," two pediatricians said today.

The drug is named darvalin. It was tried on human patients after laboratory tests showed that it helped protect mice from the polio virus.

Today's report was a preliminary study on some patients in Texas and North Carolina who got the drug. It was stressed that it is still too early to tell how effective the drug may be.

Report to Academy

The report was made to the American Academy of Pediatrics by Dr. Clifford C. Grunlike, Jr., associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Texas Medical School, Galveston, and Dr. Robert B. Lawson, professor of pediatrics at the North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, N. C.

"The preliminary examination of some patients at treatment centers in Texas and North Carolina shows that darvalin is not very effective, although it may help in some cases," they said at a roundtable discussion on poliomyelitis.

Can't Be Counted on

"It apparently cannot be counted on to prevent paralysis in humans, or to aid materially in a patient's recovery."

They reported on patients who were studied carefully for weeks, after receiving the drug, and compared with other patients who were not given it.

Any drug or treatment for polio is extremely hard to evaluate, because of the nature of the disease. Many patients recover completely, and it can't be predicted how severe any attack will turn out to be. Also, it's almost impossible to find two cases of infantile paralysis that are exactly alike.

The judgment on darvalin will have to wait until other tests can be completed from other physicians. Drs. Grunlike and Lawson said.

'War-Emergency' Measures Drawn

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The national security resources board has drawn up legislation outlining a complete system of price, wage, power and other economic controls necessary in case of war.

Ralph Watkins, a board official, said the measure is about ready for submission to the White House. He said some board officials hope it will be sent to congress and enacted promptly on a standby basis, ready to take immediate effect if the nation is suddenly drawn into war.

Watkins would say only that the measure consisted of some 20 to 25 sections and dealt with price controls, allocations and other war-time measures.

M'Arthur Decree Stated Tomorrow

TOKYO, Nov. 23 (AP)—Japanese wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and his 24 co-defendants will get Gen. Douglas MacArthur's verdict on their appeals from war crimes sentences tomorrow morning. It was announced today.

The announcement said the general expected to complete tonight his review of the sentences handed down by an international war crimes tribunal. They call for death by hanging for Tojo and six others.

A reliable informant said MacArthur was expected to follow the verdict of the tribunal "pretty much."

Everyone Wants Them

Everybody in the United States can get one of those new Idaho french-fry cutters; everyone except residents of Idaho. Dorothy Stevens, Ada county home demonstration agent, is shown using the device which alters a whole Idaho potato for french-frying in one second and one operation. But Idahoans will have a chance to get the gadget.

Ad Commission Changes Plan; Idahoans Can Get Spud Cutter

Ever since the Idaho french-fry cutter for slicing Idaho potatoes was made available, the Idaho advertising commission has been swamped with requests for the gadget.

The device haven't been difficult to obtain. The advertising commission has offered them at cost to consumers of Idaho potatoes through advertisements in some 45 major cities. Also, coupons were placed in consumer-size bars.

There was just one catch: Everyone overworked Idaho residents when distribution of the gadget started. An Idahoan could not eat nothing except potatoes without even having a chance to get one of the french-fry cutters.

But the oversight is being remedied. Leo Heller, secretary of the Idaho advertising commission, says the gadget will be made available to Idahoans at last. He said he had received numerous requests concerning the devices from residents of the Gem State.

"We realize," he said, "that coupons for the french-fry cutters are not available to Idaho people. However, anyone can get a cutter merely by mailing 30 cents in coin to the Idaho advertising commission, box 1068, Boise."

Heller went on to explain that demand for the cutter has been much greater than anyone had anticipated. He said the factory which manufactures the device is stepping up production to meet the commission's needs. With increased production, the commission secretary said there should not be much delay in filling requests.

The french-fry cutter is a handy little gadget for people who want to french-fry potatoes. Idaho potatoes, of course, it slices a whole Idaho potato for french-frying in just one second and in one operation.

First place winner was awarded a trip to Hawaii.

Airmen See "Automatic" Flying Soon

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23 (AP) — While military men disagree on the outlook for "push-button" warfare, aviation and radio experts have scheduled today the arrival of automatic flying.

It should be here in 1953. The first phase of an air navigation and traffic control system which can ignore weather—known as the common transition program—is but five years away.

Development Stage Varied
Most elements of this program are in stages ranging from early development to virtual completion.

This phase will go about two-thirds of the way to the final goal shown during a three-week demonstration at the civil aeronautics administration experimental station on Weir-Cook airport for top military, government and industrial officials in aviation and radio.

Unscheduled Aids
An unscheduled development was announcement that the slope line approach light system developed by the CAA has been adopted as standard by the air navigation committee, a division of the military board which represents the air force, navy and civil flying agencies.

The slope line lights are arranged so that a pilot making a proper descent sees two unbroken lines of light.

The lines break into echelons which indicate the direction of error if the plane veers from the glide path. CAA officials said the slope line system was selected because of high visibility, ease of interpretation by the pilot, and low cost of installation and maintenance.

Idaho Military Agency Drafts Disaster Plans

BOISE, Nov. 23 (AP) — Brig. Gen. John E. Walsh, Idaho adjutant general, has the Idaho military department working on a disaster relief plan to cover "any conceivable emergency."

Maj. Peter Brooks, plans and training officer, said the Idaho plan will fit in with a national program announced by the civil defense planning office in Washington, covering a permanent system of civil defense including the possibility of atomic warfare.

However, where the CDP plan is chiefly concerned with war, Brooks said the Idaho planning covers any emergency requiring more than routine local or state action.

Brooks said Idaho planning is not complete but includes a total survey of communications, highways, hospitals and other facilities vital in an emergency.

The Idaho plan will follow those already in effect in Oregon and California and would allow rapid mobilization to meet an emergency. Brooks said the national guard in cooperation with civil agencies would be the implementing factor in utilizing the plan.

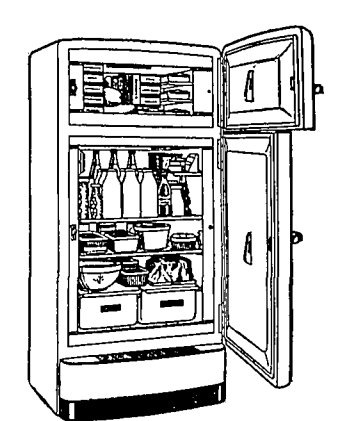

The United States ranks far ahead of any other nation in production of the four major sources of power, coal, natural gas, oil, and hydroelectric power.

State Power Aims Stress Better Work

BOISE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Improved production through better use of electrical power is one of the main themes of the 1948 program of the Idaho farm electrification committee.

Meeting yesterday in Boise, the committee said improved use of available rural power was its program for the next year. It will do work that most jobs need 90 percent of all Idaho farms have electric power furnished by regular power companies.

William H. Knight, Moscow, project director for the committee, said a review of the committee's 1948 program showed farmers had a keen interest in using electric power to do work that most jobs need 90 percent of all Idaho farms have electric power furnished by regular power companies.

Cassia Drive Head Selected By Red Cross

BURLEY, Nov. 23 (AP)—Ken Babcock, Burley business man, has been named as head of the 1949 fund drive for Cassia county chapter of American Red Cross, according to Mrs. Myrtle Miller, chapter chairman.

The annual fund drive will be held in March, but initial work will start soon.

From Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, 1949, Cassia county chapter aided 111 veterans, their dependents and service men. The help given consisted of general supplies, clothing, food, hospital bills and bus and train fares.

Of the 111, 33 were from Cassia county, and were given medical and hospital care, food, clothing, and other needed services.

Other services given by the local chapter included sending information to the veterans administration where claims are pending, sending information to the postmaster and general delivery, contacting servicemen in the service in case of illness or death in the family and reports sent to the service men's department to the welfare of the family.

Spaak Fails Try On New Cabinet

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23 (AP)—Premier Paul-Henri Spaak announced tonight that he had failed in his efforts to form a new coalition cabinet.

After talking with the presidents of the two majority groups, the Catholic party and the Socialist party, Spaak said he would inform recent Charles of his failure to form a cabinet.

He indicated the Catholic party was to blame. He said it was up to the Catholics to explain where there is disagreement "as I am incapable of doing so."

Gov. Wallgren Is President's Guest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Gov. and Mrs. Mon C. Wallgren, Washington, and his secretary, Reatha Wallgren, were dinner guests of President and Mrs. Truman at their home last night.

The three will leave tonight by train for Olympia, Wash., where they expect to arrive Friday. The governor told a reporter he plans to return to Washington after his term of office expires, but said he had no definite information as to whether he will have a job in the Truman administration, as has been rumored.

Slaying of Moose Costs $425 Fines

ST. ANTHONY, Ind., Nov. 23 (AP)—The fish and game department today reported that two hunters from Idaho had paid a total of $425 in fines for killing moose out of season.

The hunters, who were identified as John and Fred Harrington, were fined $200 each for killing moose out of season. The court also suspended $100 of their fine.

U. S. Readies New Query in Wheat Accord

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The United States was about ready today to raise the question of a new international wheat agreement.

But there was serious question whether this country's negotiators will be able to come up with an agreement as favorable to American farmers as was the last one.

That agreement died when Congress ended its session last August without guaranteeing it. It would have guaranteed American growers an annual export market for 105,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Parley Call Expected

Delegates to the annual meeting of the United Nations food and agriculture organization said the U. S. is expected to call an international conference to draft a new wheat pact as soon as a date can be fixed.

The announcement may come tomorrow when President Truman is slated to address the food conference.

Other Developments

The meeting produced these other developments:

1. An FAO commission, studying world food production and distribution, voted unanimously to continue its work on food and feed until June 30, 1949. This includes wheat, rice, fats and protein feeds and nitrogenous fertilizers.

2. The full 37-nation conference was expected to discuss a new membership application until the United Nations determines the new country's status as a nation. Syria and Arabia was expected to be admitted as FAO's 38th member.

Richly-Laden Vessel's Pilot Defends Plea

ORANGE, Tex., Nov. 22 (AP)—The captain of a small Nicaraguan motor vessel which jumped into Orange last night laden with a million dollars in gold and silver ore said his ship was never completely out of fuel.

That was the answer he provided to a question which had been posed by the Orange port director.

Did the captain of a little shrimp boat that aided the motorship miss out on salvage by not claiming her as a prize?

Thrown Off Course

Capt. C. W. Colfelt of the motorship—the Explorer—said bad weather threw him off course and a broken fuel line helped in making the vessel a week overdue here from Honduras.

The shrimp boat Mary B found the Explorer Saturday, 10 miles off the Cameron, La., jetty, and fueled her.

Colfelt said he just didn't have enough fuel to make port; that he engaged the shrimp boat to bring him fuel from Cameron.

With the fuel the Explorer reached Orange today, chugging up from Sabine pass.

Repairs Planned

The captain said he planned to put the Explorer in the shipyard here for repairs before setting out for Honduras.

J. P. Kerr, Orange port director, had raised the question "Did the shrimp boat captain pass up a fortune?"

Kerr explained:

The motor vessel had been merely low on fuel, the shrimp boat skipper would have had no claim, but if the Explorer was out of fuel, the Explorer and her million dollar cargo would have been subject to salvage under maritime law. The shrimp boat could have thrown her a tow line and, according to the law, claimed her.

Industrial Health Program Is Being Studied for State

BOISE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Plans for the restoration of an Idaho industrial hygiene program were being considered today by state and federal officials.

Officials of the industrial hygiene division of the federal health service in Idaho for the meeting included J. J. Bloomfield and Dr. Lewis Gralley, both of Washington, D. C., and Henry N. Doyle, Denver.

A conference was held with Gov. C. A. Rolins attended by W. Oppenheim, Leo R. Heitz and C. R. Hunter of the state accident board, and L. J. Peterson and H. C. Clive of the state department of public health.

The industrial hygiene program covers industrial workers' hazards to health such as mine silicosis. Idaho has been without such a program since 1943 when state funds for it were not appropriated.

Shaved by Ballot

The Denev mustache club is in a tatter. Organized in the defeated Republican candidate's home town, Orono, Mich., with members pledged to grow Denev half-clips, it recently held final rites, with victorious Democrats shaving off the GOP mustaches. Lee Janssen, president of the club, has his emblem by film camera, a staunch Democrat. Looking on are William Mills and Dave Thrush, right, the latter waiting his turn.

Judges Clamp Quiet Rule on Loudspeaker

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23 (AP)—A blaring loudspeaker on a picket line outside the federal court building raised the blood pressure of U. S. circuit judges and was silenced by a peremptory order of the presiding justice.

The loudspeaker, its volume rising higher and higher, was used to harangue some 200 demonstrators acting in behalf of 10 persons jailed in Los Angeles for contempt of a grand jury investigating communist activities.

Hearing Arguments

The U. S. circuit court of appeals, with five black-robed judges sitting, was hearing arguments on release of the 10 under bail.

As the loudspeaker echoed in the third-floor courtroom, Judge Homer James turned to Presiding Judge Clifton Matthews.

"Is this going to be a sidewalk trial or a court trial?" he inquired tartly.

Halt Is Ordered

Judge Matthews directed Bailiff Edwin T. Mattox to halt the noise.

The loudspeaker was cut off at Mattox's order, but resumed again during the next recess of court.

The court made no attempt to halt the demonstration, or prevent distribution of handbills demanding dismissal of charges against the 10.

The 10 were jailed for refusing to answer grand jury questions.
