WARNINGS IN BRITAIN

During the British parliament's debate on the bill to nationalize the steel industry, Sir Stafford Cripps, who introduced the bill, said that the bill did not pass, said the chancellor of the exchequer, "the ugly alternative would then be that any such change which is to occur must be brought about by other and more violent means."

This act the house of commons in an uproar, and Sir Stafford never got to finish. But it might be inferred that he was offering the house a choice, not between socialism and private ownership, but socialism and communist revolution—or at least some kind of revolution.

All this is of interest to Americans, because since it is their money that is paying much of the freight in Britain's drive toward recovery. And if Sir Stafford is sincere in his implied warning, then it seems that this country should know more about it.

Our view of the English scene is distant and our knowledge of the complexities of English social and political life is sketchy. But we would be inclined to discount Sir Stafford's dire prophecy. If communism is so strong that socialism is the last bulwark against the violent seizure of private property, this alarming state of affairs has certainly been kept quiet.

We would rather think that the Cripps statement was a political exaggeration to further a political end. This would fit into the whole history of the Labor party's nationalization program. For the program is a result of a major pledge in the party's successful 1935 campaign.

The situation is not the same in the British steel industry as it was in the British mines or transportation system. But in theory they are all of a piece. The theory holds that basic industries must be state-owned. And the theory is being put into practice regardless.

Nationalism has evidently worked some improvements in British mining, particularly in a more efficient working of veins through elimination of private boundaries, and in the ending of some restrictive practices by operators. But production remains inadequate and expensive.

Improvements in mining do not mean that there will be improvements in steel production. Perhaps there will be. It does seem, though, that higher production is not enough, that higher production is not the British government's first consideration in pushing this major changeover.

There is nothing in the magic word "nationalization" itself that guarantees more efficiency and more steel. A socialist system will have to pay off in performance to justify the disruption it is in permanence to cause.

The still-throndere British people deserve more than promises. So do the generous American people. America's position in all this is delicate. Our government's policy is to help—within reason—Britain to spend American money without encroaching on British sovereignty.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—Truman-Marshall wrestling with the problem of the vast and ancient continent of China has brought forth no program...

The situation in the orient has deteriorated to such a degree that internationalism is to be foisted upon the world. As a military tactician, who has also studied the country's shabby...

Ray Tucker says that the communists have thrown up their hands. Although they committed two embassies to visit China and to devise a program of military aid...

DESERTING—As a military technician, Secretary Marshall would have Chiang Kai-shek withdraw to southern China, establish a line along the river in the delta between southern China and the Indo-China...

MYTH—The Moscow-manufactured myth that Chinese communists are a separate breed has now been exploded. The anti-kiumintang armies are using Russian guns and ammunition.

While the United States, England and France bicker over problems involving Germany, western Europe and Stalin's red hands are marching through China.

CURT—Even to carry out Secretary Marshall's military plan, which has been offered as a prospective rather than a practical maneuver, would require an American presence of at least 300,000 men.

It is also doubtful that any congress and the American people would approve dispatch of such an army, for it would be a virtual declaration of war against Russia.

FACE—Diplomatic sources here and in the orient report that the Chinese communists' warning that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek would be regarded as a "hostile act" was dictated by the Kremlin and actually written by a Stalin aide.

PLAN—Although the Roosevelt family has quit the White House, the family history has been queried with the suggestion that the historic home be abandoned as a residence for Presidents because of its unsightly appearance.

NEVER—Under the scheme, which is supposed to have Mrs. Roosevelt's approval, the present uncomfortable and unwholly White House would be replaced by a new structure.

Views of others: Idaho rates midway in the list of western states in the number of taxes levied, the amount of taxes per capita collected and the amount of property tax per capita levied.

Idaho has a total of 31 taxes. Lower are Wyoming with 16; Nevada with 17; Utah with 18; Montana with 20; Oregon with 21; Texas with 22; New Mexico with 23.

Idaho's property tax rate is 2.4 percent. Other states with higher property tax rates are Montana with $73.00; California with $69.50; Colorado with $64.40; Utah with $63.19; New Mexico with $61.19; Wyoming with $49.09; Utah with $47.40; Oregon with $41.16, and Washington with $29.40.

Firms Report Farm Devices Sales 'Soften'

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Leading farm equipment manufacturers have reported booming production and sales, but that there are signs the market is "softening" on some items.

Deere and company said some farm implements are moving at a less rapid pace, and forecast a trend toward a normal balance of supply and demand.

International Harvester, which last month reported the biggest sales volume in its 100 years, said it is taking more "selling effort" to move many implements, particularly dairy equipment.

Sales Still Good
Most of the big manufacturers questioned in a survey of the industry said sales still are good, however.

The Oliver company reported that dollar volume of its sales in 1947 is 38 per cent above that of 1947, "we can sell all we produce," a company spokesman said.

International Harvester reported its dollar volume is running 25 per cent above the 1947 level.

51 Per Cent Hike
Industry spokesmen said farm equipment prices have gone up only 51 per cent since 1941, while the wholesale price of manufactured products generally has increased approximately 96 per cent.

Most firms said they believe prices have stabilized at current levels, but they declined to predict future price trends because of the possibility of a "second round" wave of increases.

A1115 Chalmers Manufacturing company said, however, that "prices will not go up unless there is another round of wage increases."

Medico Group Chooses U. S. Doctor of '48

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 — The family doctor of the year had been named today by the American Medical Association — Dr. William L. (Buck) Presley, a six-foot-one former professional baseball player, first baseman who has secured the folks of Due West, S. C., for the past 34 years.

He will receive the association's gold medal, known as the general practitioner award, at a special meeting Thursday night, on his 61st birthday anniversary.

Due West population 2,250, is in South Carolina's Piedmont. Native of Iowa.

Dr. Presley was born there. His father was professor of Greek and Latin at Grinnell college, which admits 650 students today in Due West's population. He wanted to be a doctor, and was chosen for the money.

He went to Emory college, Atlanta, to medical school, and played baseball summers to get the money. He was first baseman of the Roanoke, Va., Virginia league team from 1909 to 1913—salary $150 a month, until the last two years when he was playing manager at $5,000 the pennant in 1914.

Married to "Fann"
One of the Roanoke fans was Emma Lipcomb, and Presley married her. She died in September, this year. Two daughters are living in Florida.

He made $750 dollars his first year as a country doctor, and today he said:

"I wondered why in the world I left baseball."
He has delivered in and around Due West 4,200 babies, including 10 sets of twins. He started just after horse and buggy days, and used model T Fords on the rough roads.

The first three winters he had to use a horse and buggy because the roads were so bad.

Edward Everett spoke two hours at Graysburg in a speech that is little remembered; Abe Lincoln spoke two minutes in a speech that is known to this day.

Permits of 2,000 Corporations Are Declared Expired

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Charters of about 2,000 Idaho corporations were forfeited today by the secretary of state's office.

Secretary of State J. D. Price said the corporations had failed to file annual statements as required by law and the final day for redeeming the delinquency on the papers has expired.

Price said notices were sent to about 6,000 Idaho corporations earlier this summer reminding them to file annual statements by July 1. After Sept. 1, the corporations were termed delinquent and a $10 penalty fee was assessed.

Corporations whose statements have not been received will be termed "inactive." Price declared. The corporations must pay the $10 penalty, a $3 charter reinstatement fee and any license fees past due to be re-activated.

$1,222 Given For Drive in Gooding Area

GOODING, Dec. 1—A total of $1,222 has been reported to date in the Gooding Boy Scout finance campaign with 55 workers all to report on 200 prospects not yet contacted, according to Harley V. Crippen, drive chairman. Workers have been urged to complete remaining calls this week.

The group working on the campaign this year and the willingness of people to invest in the program of the Boy Scouts of America make us feel that this year's drive will far exceed past efforts, Crippen reported.

Team 10, led by Andrew F. Jones, competes to hold team honors with $200 reported to date. Emmett Clemons' team 9 is in second place with $204. Individual workers honored are headed by Roy Murphy, Ray Stephens, James W. Geise and Kenneth Rice, all of whom have turned in more than $50 each.

Nine workers have not reported any of their completed calls and 20 other men have five or more calls to report.

Similar campaigns are now in progress in Fairfield and Wendell in addition to the Gooding-Camas county total to assist the Snake River council in promoting the Scouting program for more than 3,500 leaders and boys in eight counties of Magic Valley.

New Method For Elections Gaining Favor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A plan to revise the method of electing Presidents is gaining new support in congress. It would scrap the historic provision whereby a state's entire electoral vote goes to the candidate who gets a majority of the popular vote in that state. Instead, its electoral vote would be divided among the candidates in proportion to their percentage of the popular vote in that state.

'First Ladies' Are Upset by Mme. Chiang

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek by her sudden unofficial visit to the United States has not only put two men—President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall—on the spot but their wives as well.

As a result the nation's capital is watching two households, the White House and that of a historic home in Leesburg, Va., with considerable interest.

The Marshalls have invited Madame Chiang to be their guest at their 18th century Virginia home, Dodona Manor.

At the White House it was learned there is no plan as yet for the wife of the generalissimo to be entertained at Blair house where the Truman family is living while the executive mansion is being repaired.

Such an invitation may be issued later, of course. But the Trumans have not moved into Blair house and they are not yet fully settled.

In the opinion of Henrietta Nesbitt, former White House housekeeper, Madame Chiang was just about the most difficult guest during the 12-year Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Mrs. Nesbitt related that Madame Chiang spent a lot of time in the kitchen and every day she got out even for a short time, both sheets, the two pillow slips, and the blanket quilted with lace insertions and lace edges, had to be changed.

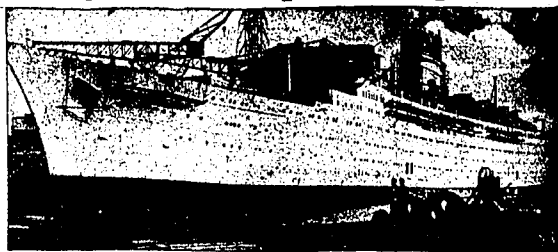

Madame Chiang was allergic to color and wool, and she brought with her her own silk sheets. Mrs. Nesbitt trying to run an important house in wartime had never gotten "how much it cost to clean the sheets and spreads, but it was very fussy and expensive, her getting in and out."

She said Mrs. Roosevelt knew about it, but wouldn't mention it. The reason being that guests in the home can do no wrong.

But there is a rumor, perhaps not known either to Mrs. Roosevelt or Mrs. Nesbitt, that the White House staff, weary of laundering those silk pressed "em."

Quite obviously Madame Chiang's present trip to this country is to pay a U. S. aid to the husband's government. Although they are unwilling the red carpet, there is a hint of coolness in top administrative quarters.

U. S. Trying To Reassure Businessmen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The government is seeking to reassure businessmen who might be worried about a possible crackdown in the administration's fight against inflation.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer talked it over with President Truman at the White House, and afterwards, the cabinet officer told newsmen.

"There is no reason for any legitimate business to be fearful," Economists Optimistic

Government economists likewise took an optimistic slant. The outlook for business, they said, is good, strikes are dwindling.

Production is hitting new peacetime levels, particularly in steel and automobiles.

Sawyer discounted nervous qualms expressed by some business and industrial leaders over what Mr. Truman, backed by the new Democratic-controlled congress, might do to combat inflation.

Stock Value Drops

The quoted value of stocks on the New York exchange has dropped $2,800,000 since the election.

When a reporter noted this Sawyer commented briskly.

"I see no reason why business should be concerned."

Sawyer dropped a hint that a speech he will deliver in New York Friday night, before the National Association of Manufacturers, will give some clue to the administration's plans.

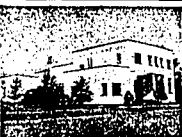

The original home of the honey bee was in southern Asia, probably including the eastern shores of the Mediterranean sea.

Warren Sees No Need for Recount

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—The President of the United States won the state of California, and no election recounts are warranted, says California's governor.

"In California we pay off on the score board. From all I have heard, President Truman carried California. It was an honest election. It's over. I sent my congratulations to him. I wished him every success and I meant it."

The complete count released by the secretary of state gave President Truman 121,134 votes in California; Dewey 1,895,292; Henry Wallace 190,381; and Prohibition candidate Claude Watson 10,926.

Water Group Favors Bond Law Revision

BOISE, Dec. 1 (AP)—The state water pollution committee today had recommended a constitutional amendment to authorize villages and cities to issue revenue bonds for construction of water and sewage systems.

The group also discussed establishment of a permanent stream pollution agency. Endorse Resolution Mark H. Kulp, state reclamation engineer and chairman of the water committee, said the group endorsed a proposed joint resolution calling for authorization of revenue bonds.

The state attorney general's office said issuance of revenue bonds by municipalities has been held illegal by the Idaho state supreme court in two decisions, the first time in 1924. The court said that bonds issued by cities and villages must be general obligations and provide a tax levy for repayment.

Comments of Traffic Experts Reported for Last of Series

Comments of the Traffic Experts of the Associated Engineers' street traffic plan for Twin Falls material is taken verbatim from the series of articles in a series on local traffic problems and how they may be corrected.

Twin Falls occupies a somewhat unique position in that it is almost entirely dependent upon motor transportation for its continued existence. In fact, it is almost entirely dependent upon motor transportation for its continued existence.

Other cities, at least partly as the result of inadequate transportation facilities, have experienced a dispersion of their commercial centers as businesses have sought the nearby scenic and recreation areas at a point of maximum accessibility to customers.

Because of its street pattern and present land use, Twin Falls has an ideal opportunity for developing a street parking system of an extremely high order. The continuity of its street pattern will permit efficient movement so long as the streets are operated under a modern traffic control plan.

A most unusual opportunity for developing parking terminals exists as the result of current land use and the location of existing streets. Twin Falls recently may be the problem can be had only at a prohibitive cost.

By foresight and courageous action now the citizens of Twin Falls can go a long way to assure the growth and prosperity of this city through its adaptation to the needs of a public which moves on rubber tires.

Remaining that Twin Falls was rapidly outgrowing or had outgrown its street traffic system, and believing that practical improvements in the system were readily obtainable, the city officials arranged that a simple analysis be made of its current street traffic needs and that plans for improvement be developed.

This report contains the findings and recommendations resulting from that analysis. The study in some of its phases was not sufficiently comprehensive to allow exact definitions of ultimate plans, but whenever such exactness has been desired, it has been so stated in the following recommendations.

With these clearly indicated exceptions, the recommendations submitted are soundly predicated on facts secured in Twin Falls and the experience of other cities. Data that is lacking not at all affects the direction that planning should take; it merely precludes a determination of the ultimate details of these plans.

Cities and their traffic are not static things; instead they grow and change. Thus an analysis made upon the experience of other cities. Planning must be a continuing activity to permit it to keep abreast of current problems.

Therefore, whereas this study outlines a plan of action for today, it should not be viewed as a conclusion. Actually it is but a start toward efficient street transportation in Twin Falls. Reviews and replanning will be needed from time to time to enable the community to meet its current traffic needs in the years ahead.

Street traffic, parking and traffic regulations are matters of vital concern to businessmen, property owners and every citizen of Twin Falls. Some are more directly concerned than others, though all have a stake in the future of Twin Falls and that future is very directly influenced by the efficiency of the city's street transportation system.

Citizens, therefore, often are far more eager to suggest and criticize traffic plans than they are matters such as sewage disposal, street construction and similar technical work.

U. S. Shares Food Supply With Others

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The United States shared a record amount of its food with other countries during the past crop year and still fed itself better than before the war.

It reported the agriculture department in a review of this country's food supply for the year ended last July 1 totaled 10,247,000 long tons. This is the largest quantity of food ever shipped by any country in a single year. It topped American exports of the previous crop year by 187,000 tons.

Have More at Home

Even after sharing this record year, Americans had 14 per cent more to eat than in the 1935-36 period.

Grains, including rice, made up about 81 per cent of the export tonnage. Wheat and wheat products represented about 67 per cent of the grain shipments.

On a quantity basis, Americans took 64 per cent of the country's food supply. For some commodities, U. S. civilians consumed practically all the supplies. Meat was an outstanding example. Exports of meat were about 1.1 per cent of the supply.

Most to EHP Areas

Most of the exported food went to countries receiving aid under the European recovery program. They got 65 per cent, other European countries 1.4 per cent, far eastern countries 10.4, Latin America 2.3, Canada 4.1 and other areas 3.6.

The British-American yards of Germany received more American food than any other country.

The department said Americans consumed slightly less food during the past crop year than in the previous two years.

Food consumed in greater quantity than in the preceding crop year were evaporated milk, dried milk, eggs, lard, margarine, shortening and other edible fats and oils.

Decreases in consumption were reported for wheat and corn products, rice, butter, cheese, milk and cream, meat, potatoes, sweet potatoes, dry beans and peas, fruits and vegetables and peanuts.

Bragging Hank Gets His Foot In Mouth—Thus Ending 'Hula'

By HENRY McLEMORE
HONOLULU, Hawaii—As those of my readers who are professional acrobats know—they are the ones who hang upside down every word I write—

Yesterday's cast and crew dealt with my enrolling for a course of hula lessons.

In many more words than needed to tell it I described how I learned to do the hula I would be able to abandon my role as a wallflower at parties, and, actually show up some of my friends who have been getting by these many years with a Peter Dinklage reputation of "On the Road to Mandalay," doing card tricks while wearing an "off-the-face" hat, and playing a piano badly but loudly.

Promptly at 4 in the afternoon I entered the ballroom, or arena, where visitors to Honolulu are taught the hula. It is a spectacular in the Royal Hawaiian hotel, roughly about the size of Madison Square Garden when the garden is set up for a hockey game.

It is a pretty room. Look straight through the picture windows and there is Waikiki beach, with hon-ton-to-goodness live people riding the squamaine waves on surfboards, and tearing in toward the sand aboard an outrigger canoe. Shift your eyes a little to the left and there stands Diamond head, looking as if some unknown green fiend has reached out and laid a mighty paw in the water's edge. Shift the same eyes to the right and they drink in all the tropics—pinks, flowers, birds, sails against the sunset, and everything else that goes up to make a technician travelogue in reality.

Back to dancing.

The teacher asked me if I had ever done any hula dancing.

I said no.

"Do you dance?" she asked.

"Yes, m'lady," I answered.

She wanted to know what type of dance I did.

She went's scaring me. I gave her a full and complete answer. The Virginia reel. The square or barn or any your partner. The bunny hug. The turkey trot. The shimmy. The black bottom. The Charleston. The Lindy hop. The Lameth walk. The Jersey bounce. The rumba. The samba. The waltz. The gavotte. The polka. Not to mention the dance that people do in Chinese restaurants in New York on New Year's eve. I tried that the first year I got to New York—1928, if you're busy—and am not quite sure that I have fully recovered.

The instructor drew herself up to the full height allowed by a grass skirt and asked, "Did you come here to learn the hula or to brag about your supposedly unlimited knowledge of the dance?"

If I hadn't heard her well enough to quote her I would say that I didn't hear her, so carried away was I by my subject.

"Ever hear a song called 'Too Much Mistaken'?" I asked her. "That was a song that the Vernon Castles loved to do the one step to."

I asked her if she ever danced to "Dardanelle," "Goodbye Girls I'm Through," "Hindustan," "How Come You Do Me Like You Do Do Do," and "Sam, the Ghiek of Alabam?"

The instructor asked me to repeat my name.

"McLemore," I said. "McLemore."

"Oh, McLemore!" I asked her. "For a moment I thought it was John Guiney Adams. You know dances and songs that haven't been popular since Bunker Hill. Glad to meet you. Tell me, was Valley Forge as tough as they say it was? Was it worse than the weather at the bulge?"

So ended by hula lesson.

Those who want to engage me will please call my agent.

Club Owner's Hearing to Be On Later Date

The hearing of R. D. Shane, who is charged with unlawful operation of a place licensed to sell beer, opened Tuesday afternoon in probate court but was continued until a later unspecified time.

The charge is the result of a raid conducted at 1:45 a. m. Sunday by Sheriff Broda R. Rayburn on the N club, located just west of Twin Falls. Shane is the proprietor of the club.

Rayburn said approximately 50 automobiles were parked outside the club, and although no lights were showing, 11 persons were inside the club and 17 open bottles of beer were found on the tables and bar.

Meanwhile, county commissioners announced they have set Dec. 10 as the day for a hearing on revocation of Shane's amusement hall and beer license.

Champ Steer, Hog Received Choice Foods

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The world's finest steer was fed molasses, stockmen disclosed today, and the body of the hog today was raised on a diet of buttermilk.

The two animals chosen as grand champions at the international stock and stock show here this year eventually will become.

Charles E. Yoder and sons brought the grand champion steer, a 1,200-pound Aberdeen Angus, "Old Gold" from their 400-acre Minnesota, where cattle raising is just a hobby.

Gains Barrow Award

Donald Brown, 20, co-owner with Y. E. Yoder, of the farm "Top Farms, Florida, Ind., picked a Chester White, "40 Model" from his herd of more than 200 pigs and raised the 300-pound hog here to win the grand champion barrow award.

Carol Yoder, 21, brought a finest son to his father and brother, raised "Old Gold" on corn and feed, "The Yoder" on a diet of buttermilk.

"When we added a special touch to his diet," Carol said, "we fed him a little bit of buttermilk as a regular requirement and took him off when he hadn't lusted since last year."

"Greatest Combination"

Dr. A. D. Weber, Kansas state college, approved the animal as "the greatest combination of all breeds," the most unusual and best."

Two judges picked "40 Model" for his symmetry and balance, smoothness of hampers, eye size and Hampshire legs. The judges were Professors L. A. Weaver, University of Missouri-Columbia, and R. G. Church, of the Ontario Agricultural college at Guelph.

"I raised that pig from a baby, and I think that makes a difference," said, "He was brought up on buttermilk."

U. S. Planning Hard Bargain In Grain Pact

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Farmers had a promise today that Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan will drive a hard bargain for them in the forthcoming world wheat meeting.

Brannan said he would be "most reluctant" to accept a world floor price of less than $1.0 a bushel for American wheat. This was the first-year's floor in the March wheat agreement which died because Congress failed to okay it.

Doing "All Possible"

He said he hoped the new agreement can apply to next year's wheat crop. The government, he said, is doing everything possible to get the drafting conference started "as soon as possible."

Brannan said he agreed with President Truman that the new congress will approve a wheat agreement.

The original pact would have guaranteed the United States a wheat export market of 100,000,000 bushels a year for five years. The floor price would have been pegged at $1.00 a bushel the first year, dropping to $1.10 the fifth year.

Prices Drop Sharply

When prices have dropped sharply since the agreement was signed, however, Britain and other wheat importing nations are set to press for sharply lower floor prices in the new pact.

Brannan discussed the coming negotiations after the windup of the meeting of the United Nations food and agricultural organization.

In its final session, the world food organization:

1. Instructed its policy-making institution council to study the possibility of other international agreements on sugar, rice and also nitrogenous fertilizer, cotton and wool. The council will report back next year.
2. Urged the United States and other surplus producing countries to cooperate with the council's record grain crops against future emergencies. It said they should kindle "over-expansion" of grain-raising livestock herds.
3. Said western Europe may have to look to the western hemisphere for grain for some time. Eastern Europe, it said, is trying to step up wheat and dairy production. It will leave less food for export to western Europe.

Man's Dream Causes Thefts Of Bank Cash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—A month ago Frank Bowers had a dream he robbed a bank and when he counted the cash there was $70,000 in the pile.

But he woke up and the money was gone.

So Bowers set out to make the dream come true—with hard, cold, glittering cash in the pile instead of the nebulous stuff of which dreams are made.

Opens Account

He opened an account at the Barrett National bank and got a key to the night depository. A carpenter by trade, he fashioned a gadget from a hit-stretcher and a couple of boards.

On Saturday night, Bowers unlocked the little door to the night depository, stuffed the gadget into the chute, closed the door and walked away and wistful.

A man came along, dumped some money bags into the chute and left. Bowers went in and fished them out. Pretty soon two more men came along and shoved in money bags. Bowers lifted them out, too.

Counts Lost

He went away and counted the loot. It was $52,500 in cash and about $200 in checks. He locked the checks into the St. Johns River.

Then he returned to his new-found mine, but there was a crowd

Tried Out

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 1 (AP)—Truck driver Joe Blair wobbled when his motorists tagged along behind him as he drove from Kansas City to Warrensburg, Mo.

Blair left Kansas City Monday with a truckload of 600 new passenger cars—$15 to $18 each. When he stopped for coffee at Warrensburg 50 miles away, the trucks rear doors were open. Approximately 230 tires had become untraced along the way.

He traced his route but found only two tires in the darkness.

Patrol cars searched the highway yesterday and found a few tires. A couple of honest motorists also turned some in. But 209 still were missing last night.

around the place. Someone had discovered the gadget.

So Bowers left in a hurry, but before a bystander noticed his excitement. His description was broadcast and the police picked him up. They found some of his tools in his pockets and some in a tool box.

Bowers, a slightly-built man of 32, admitted it all in federal court. He pleaded guilty to violating the federal bank robbery act and only one explanation—the dream and that adding $70,000 in cash. He will be sentenced Friday.

Plane 'Brake' Proves Value In U. S. Tests

By PAUL F. ELLIS (UP Science Writer)

CALDWELL, N. J., Dec. 1—A four-engine airplane was "braked" in mid-air, demonstrating that an airliner can descend safely at rates exceeding 10,000 feet per minute.

The braking was done by reversing the propeller. Heretofore, reversed propellers have been used as a brake only when the plane was taxiing, or landing.

Military airlines and government officials, flying in a companion plane, watched the demonstration.

Value Described

1. To enable multi-engine commercial or military craft to be quickly and safely brought to the ground in the event of emergencies at high altitude. The maximum rate of descent in existing multi-engine transport or military craft is ordinarily in the range of 3,000 to 4,000 feet per minute. In the tests on reversing in flight, rates of the descent averaged 8,000 feet per minute, and a rate in excess of
