Rain and Snow Hit In Valley

Wet, sticky snow was falling in many Magic Valley areas Saturday night following a warm day in which streets and highways became liberally dotted with large patches of slush caused by rain and melting snow.

Wet snow fell throughout the valley Friday night. The fall ranged from a trace in Twin Falls to about 10 inches in Gooding, Halley and Richfield reported a little. About two inches fell in the Burley-Rupert vicinity, six inches in Shoshone and about four inches at Magic Mountain.

Temperature Warm
Warm temperatures were reported from cloudy skies and cleared from most areas Saturday. Thermometers were in the 40's.

Closed
Despite efforts to keep open the route to the Magic Mountain ski area, indications Saturday were that the ski road would be closed on Sunday.

Cancellation of proposed bus trips to the area was announced. Two busloads of Twin Falls high school students became stalled about two miles from the area Saturday and hiked the rest of the way, Kermit Perkins said. The trip took four hours one way, he said. Snow in the area is now about 62 to 60 inches in depth.

of rain was a bother to Saturday shoppers in Twin Falls and Glenns Ferry. The snow was piled up in gutters and on sidewalks. In Gooding trucksloads of slush were taken from the main street, and in Burley the snow was piled so high that smaller trucks had to be taken before they could be elevated walking trucks.

Flights Curtail
City workmen took until noon to clear the Gooding airport and in Twin Falls only two flights were allowed to land during the day. Empire Air Lines and one for United Airlines reported snow on the ground.

Offices reported snow on the ground around dusk to 8 p. m. in Twin Falls and snow was reported falling in the area around Gooding and Richfield late in the evening.

Highways Open
Main highways were open throughout the valley, but there was snow in many places with slush and rain. County roads were closed in places, reports indicate.

Christmas shopping was beginning all the area's main shopping districts found street cleaning difficult. The streets became mired during the warm day.

This was particularly true in Burley, Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls and Shoshone, reports indicated.

Vaccinations On Smallpox Sought Here

Those desiring vaccinations may go to either their family physician or the central Idaho district health unit. A large number of vaccinations were reported yesterday both from the health unit and doctors' offices. Although there is now an adequate supply of vaccine, the health unit telegraphed for an additional supply expected to arrive today.

To prevent spread of the disease, health officials encourage the public to stay at home and to avoid crowds in any community in which there are non-immune persons. The disease can be carried by persons not afflicted with it, and is spread by nose and throat discharges, pus and pustules.

Symptoms as described by health officials include a severe acute illness accompanied by a high fever for three or four days, headaches or backaches. At the end of that time these symptoms disappear and a rash breaks out.

Anticipating possible confusion between the rashes of chickenpox and smallpox, health officials detailed these differences: Smallpox: Small pustules appear on the palm of the hand and the soles of the feet, on the arms and legs, and a few on the body.

Public health education in the past has shown the value of preventive measures, was credited with the extremely low incidence of the disease in this area.

'Bobcat Kid,' Now 76, Returns Here To Greet Old Friends, Swap Stories

The "Bobcat Kid" Is Back

By HARRY ARNOLD
 "I don't know where I'm at—not at all!" was reply of Charles Stanton, 76, when asked about the changes here since his arrival in 1908. And with a twinkle in his eye, Stanton added, "I still like it here better than any place I've been."

He is known to early-day residents here as the "Bobcat Kid." His explanation of how he came by that nickname is that he killed 17 of the varmints in 32 days back in 1913. That figure includes one he roped when he didn't have his shooting irons along.

"Buckshot," as he is also known for his deer hunting ability in the panhandle area, resides on a half-acre tract at Sutherland, Neb., which serves as his headquarters for gardening, hunting and fishing. He is en route to the Pacific northwest and will remain here through the Christmas season.

During his stay here he hopes to meet all of his old-time friends and acquaintances. So far he has lunched with Charles Bullis and dined with Burton Ferris, a friend of long standing. Ferris was a toddler when Stanton first met him.

When he arrived here 40 years ago, Stanton bought the place in the Addison T. Smith addition from Charles White. He left for Florida in 1910 because of the poor health of his stepfather, Charles Sexton, who resided at Curry, Texas, here in 1904. Stanton was said, and died five years ago at the age of 104.

During his first stay in this area, Stanton worked for Darrell Rigby on a ranch in the Jerome area. Stanton could not recall the name of the railroad lawyer who owned the ranch. Another of his early-day employers was Ivan Epperson.

Stanton's last visit here was 10 years ago. At that time he astounded some of his friends by declaring he had already got his deer for the season. They demanded proof, and he threw back his coat to expose a hunter's deer.

The hunting and fishing expert said his hobby is writing, and recited verse after verse of advertising jingles he had written during seven years of employment by a Colorado timber concern. He also related a number of early-day anecdotes of which this is typical:

Some years ago it seems, Jake Fritz was breaking in a new stage driver. Among the passengers were two eastern women who exclaimed the Blue lakes must have been there thousands of years. "None," said the stage driver, "Me and Jake Fritz dug 'em."

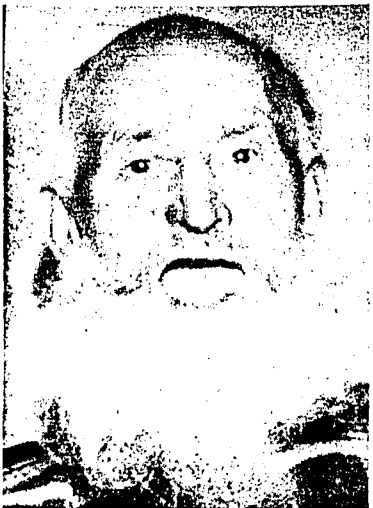

The passengers then exclaimed that Snake river canyon must be millions of years old. "None," said the stage driver, "Me and Jake dug 'em." The passengers then asked what had become of the dirt. Said the driver, "We dug a hole and buried it."

It was in connection with his writing that Stanton grew his beard, he explained it was part of an assignment from a Texas roundup magazine. He added his family did not highly regard the idea. As to his family, he said he had reared four children here, and has 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

While here, he is staying at the home of his half-sister, Mrs. William A. Hurrell, 302 Jackson street. First emphasizing Mr. and Mrs. Hurrell are in no way related to each other except by marriage. Stanton said Hurrell is his cousin on his father's side and Mrs. Hurrell is his half-sister on his mother's side.

Just to make things clear he added, "My sister is my cousin and my cousin is my brother-in-law."

Some 40 years after he first showed up in these parts, Charles Stanton has returned to greet old friends in Magic Valley. Known as the "Bobcat Kid," he acquired the nickname of "Buckshot" for his deer slaying prowess in northern Idaho. Among Stanton's old-time friends is Burton Ferris, whom the 76-year-old Stanton recalls as being of handy head-patting height. (Photo by Harry Arnold-staff engraving)

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The American people's bitterness toward Russia and Henry A. Wallace's wretched performance in the presidential campaign are chiefly responsible for the "Red" Party's current, all-out attack on "communism" in his organization, according to his close friends and advisers.

They have been their own worst enemies insofar as wooing and winning over the American workman as concerned. They have been so busy with their deeply religious man, Murray has always hated communism and its American affiliates. But he has tolerated them in the "Red Party" because of his intimates' belief—because an aggressive campaign against them earlier might have lost him his throne and smashed the CIO.

EFFECTIVE—The mass union was offered and manned with many letters and believers in direct action when Murray succeeded John L. Lewis in 1940. For the latter kept his promise to resign if Wendell Willkie was defeated by Truman.

Although no... himself, Lewis used fellow-travelers in his belated and brutish drive to utilize their might against him this year and smashed the CIO.

HEARD—The Wallace rebuff has heartened President Truman and National Chairman J. Howard McGrath in their planning for the party. In their opinion and his feelings as to the threats in the 1950 congressional contests and in future presidential campaigns.

PROTAGONISTS — House Democratic leaders are engaged in a backstage row which may break into the open when they organize the 81st congress next month.

FARLEY AND FRANCO — James A. Farley has returned from Europe with the conviction that we ought to establish diplomatic relations with Franco Spain.

POINTS OF VIEW — The former postmaster general blames a "group in the state department" for our present policy.

DON'T CROW YET! Remember last fall when I predicted we were going to have a long winter this year, and a hard one, 2007 seems to me one of your readers wrote a little note to discount the prediction.

To all the doubters, I say: Look out the window. As evidence I offer some stories the Times-News has been printing, particularly one in which a certain storm was termed the worst December storm in 30 years.

Let Us Not Forget The REAL MEANING of CHRISTMAS

At this time every year the papers are full of Merchants advertisements urging people to buy their commodities as gifts to their friends and relatives. It is only natural that it should be done this way, as it has been an ever increasing tradition since the days of the Three Wise Men, that people exchange gifts at Christmas time.

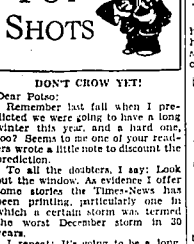

Truly Christmas should be set aside as a day of rejoicing and happy fellowship among friends and families.

This year exchange Gifts in the true Christmas spirit... make it a Spirit of giving of a material one. Thinking God for his Son, Christianity and Christmas.

Santa Makes Annual Jaunt To See Tots

and to help handle the crowd so he could talk to all of the children present.

More than 3,500 peppermint candy canes were distributed to children by members of the Chamber of Commerce apically delegated by Santa for the job. Although during the celebration rain began to fall, but that did not dampen the spirit of the occasion.

It seemed to be a happy event for all. That is, all except for 6-year-old Scott Phillips. He told a Times-News reporter, through racking sobs and large tears, that he had lost his letter to Santa after carrying it all the way from home and now he wouldn't get anything for Christmas. Santa Claus wouldn't get his letter.

When Santa heard of the boy's plight he asked to see him immediately. Scott had a chance to tell Santa all about it. As he told his story a Boy Scout came forward with the letter. He had found it in the park. It was placed in Santa's special mail box.

Scott went home happy with a bright smile shining through his tears and a peppermint candy cane clutched in his hand.

Many children were accompanied by parents just as eager to see Mr. Claus. The crowd pushed as close to the roped-off square as possible to catch a glimpse of the white-haired gentleman.

Bidnie Lee Spens, 4, was afraid he would not get a chance to talk to Santa, but members of the Chamber of Commerce saw to it that he was not missed.

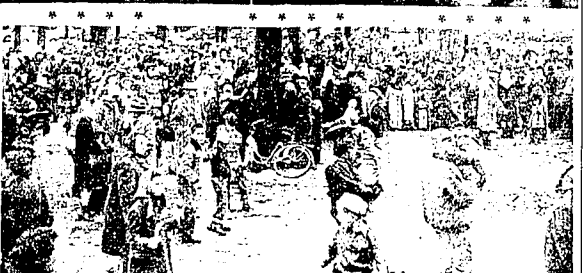

Prior to the arrival of Santa, children were treated to free movies at the Idaho Rexy and Orpheum theaters. The feature attraction of the free movies was "Alice in Wonderland" and five cartoons, according to Max Lloyd, who was in charge of theater arrangements for the event.

Although street was closed to traffic between Fourth and Sixth avenues along the city park during the celebration, no accidents or injuries were reported.

Jack Carson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas party committee, said he wished to thank the Boy Scouts, the police and fire departments and all persons who cooperated to make the event a success.

Serving with Carson on the committee were Jim Harmon, Edward W. Crane, Al Neston and Wilbur Bierman.

Cantata to Be Given Tonight At Auditorium

A cantata entitled "Child Jesus" will be presented at 8 p. m. Sunday in the high school auditorium by Junior high school students under the direction of Helen Bannister.

Three groups of songs will serve as an introduction. The first, a series of four selections by the girls chorus, consists of "Rise Up and Follow," a Negro spiritual; "Sweet Little Boy Jesus" by McGilvey; "Till It on the Mountain," another Negro spiritual; and "Moon of Winter-time," an Indian folk song.

Second in Series

The second in the series is "Patience" and "The Sleigh," which will be sung by the choir to complete the introduction.

Theme of the cantata is "Child Jesus" by J. W. Clokey and Hazel J. Kirk. The chorus will sing the first 2 of 11 parts in the following order: Part one, "The Prologue," part two, "The Annunciation," with solos by Joan Beckwith, soprano; Carl Brauman, tenor; and Clark Whitehead, bass; and part three, "The Apparition to the Shepherds."

Quartet Part Four

Part four will be a quartet consisting of Billy Martin, Dan True, Eugene Ritchie and Raymond Hendrix, singing "The Adoration to the Shepherds." This will be followed by "The Star" by the girls' glee club, and "The Wise Men" by the boys' glee club for parts five and six.

"At the Manger" will be sung by the chorus, with solos by Betty Hall, soprano; Joyce DeWynne, alto; and Dan True, tenor, on part seven.

Theme Part Ten

Part eight, entitled "Mary's Lullaby," will be sung by the girls' glee club and a trio consisting of Carole Johnson, Janet Deich and Mary Louise Chittie, sopranos. Donald Good will sing "Song of Devotion" in part nine. This will be followed by the chorus, "The Child Jesus," sung by a sextet composed of Rose Emery, Duanna Lincoln, Arta Mae Bradley, Leann Clark, Carl Lance and Buddy Patton.

"Glorious Fidelity" will be sung by the chorus as the finale. Throughout the cantata Robert Holten will serve as narrator and Shirley Halverson will accompany all vocal groups on the piano.

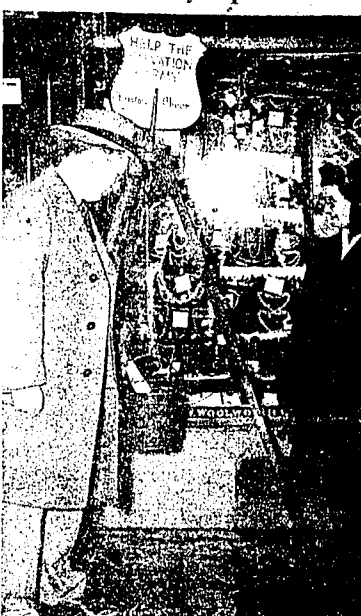

Opera Last Year

Last year the glee club saw the opera "Tom Sawyer," some of which were used to purchase church pews to be worn for the first time Monday night.

Another opera will be presented by the group in February. Behaviors will begin soon after Christmas vacation, Miss Bannister said.

Following the cantata, a reception will begin for a concert to be given in the spring.

Salvation Army Opens Drive

Christmas kettles of the Salvation Army made their first appearance of the year on Twin Falls streets Saturday. The Rev. Donald H. Blackstone is shown making a donation to one of the kettles while Mrs. Betty Lyda smiles approval. According to Major Clara E. Nielsen, a 21 with children donating filled stockings for distribution to needy rural children. The annual children's Christmas party, sponsored by the families instead of baskets and Salvation Army is scheduled for Dec. 22. Major Nielsen said grocery orders are being given to needy families in Jerome county as well as Twin Falls county. (Staff photo- engravings)

Romania Ousting Four Diplomats; U. S. to Retaliate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Romania is throwing two American and two British diplomats out of the country, and the United States is retaliating by similar orders for two Romanian envoys assigned to Washington.

The Romanian communist government said the four it is tossing out consist of spies and saboteurs. The U. S. called this "ridiculous." Britain delayed a decision on whether to retaliate until the recall of Romanian diplomats from London.

This latest flap in the cold war was revealed both here and in Bucharest, where the major action centered. It involved an exchange of diplomatic insults in polite terms.

The four Anglo-American diplomats had been named in connection with trials in Romania of alleged plotters, spies and saboteurs against the communist government.

Oleo Eaters Support Product Of Cheap Labor, Writer Says

Editor, Times-News: I should like very much to place a few ideas before the dairy producing public.

For my part, I would be perfectly willing to have H. H. Stiles of Twin Falls eat oleo, because anyone who has so little interest in the welfare of the United States that he is willing to support products of cheap wages of other countries makes little if he also is willing to work for $1 per day.

In this country of ours he has been economically on the law of supply and demand. Therefore when labor is scarce supply wages are high. When wages go up everyone who employs labor must cut back production or continue production at a loss. This is an increasingly higher price for produce.

Mr. Stiles, when you attend your bread with your delicious oleo, remember that it is a product of foreign vegetable oil and cheap labor

Oleo Consumer Gets Sympathy For 'No Taste'

Editor, Times-News: In regard to H. H. Stiles being able to eat oleo for two weeks and not know the difference from butter, he has my deepest sympathy. All food must taste alike to the poor man.

It might be a good idea for him to talk his doctor in regard to his taste buds.

As for the cheapness of oleo, I will gladly grant that, but why not buy some coloring and flavoring that you add to oleo and buy a can of shortening. It is much cheaper, and after tasting a necker of oleo, I'll bet it's just as appetizing.

As for this family, say butter for that delicious butter flavor regardless of the price.

Again, my deepest sympathy to H. H. Stiles for having missed so much of the tasting of delicious food.

P. M. LARSON (Bellevue)

He Supports Editorial Stand On Operation of Slot Devices

Editor, Times-News: May I voice a "well done" to your editorial attack on slot machines entitled "Outlaw Tan for Good!"

It is regrettable indeed, that our Idaho communities—especially Twin Falls—have suffered such injury as a result of corrupt legislation and administration.

Any indictment of those responsible for our condition cannot rationally exclude the officials of our incorporated towns and villages who, obviously, are not content of the operation of a man who has been indicted in the stomach does not find the best remedy for his pain in hitting himself in the nose. Sure, fatal action, punctuated by their cry, "Now look what you've made me do!" doesn't evoke as much sympathy as it does regret from those who shared the conviction that the self-inflicted wounds were as unnecessary as they were fatal.

Our indictment of an Inverette legislator could be more severe only if it had not allowed Twin Falls and our other Idaho communities the right to self-defense. We need to ward off the subsequent and fatal blow.

We should be grateful for the democratic process which affords us the right under such conditions to decide whether or not we should subscribe to a questionable way of

She Says People Aren't Aware of Cost of Farming

Editor, Times-News: Many people do not know the inside story of farming even in an advanced country like this.

A farmer may produce his own eggs, poultry, milk, butter and vegetables, but he does not do this as a cost of exactly nothing. Into these things go his time, his labor, the land he feeds his land to produce, etc. A farmer not only has to feed himself and his family but he must produce extra with which to pay his bills.

Many people will complain of the high cost of living but they do not know what it costs to produce a new car, a fur coat or good furniture. I believe butter is better food than oleo.

I knew a man once who said that it was impossible to make a living on a farm, but that it is now 50 cents a bushel of wheat. It is not any thing to own a farm and make a living on it by entirely your own efforts.

Many people who criticize farmers would in no wise be caught doing their lonely chores. I know people in Magic Valley who think direct and honest dealing with their customers is a thing to be avoided.

Some people want cheap food and high wages. Cheap food is the farmer's wage. If you do not want your own wages lowered why lower his?

Some think an economy cannot run on cheap food and high wages without a depression.

He Says Monday Is Correct Day To Begin Week

Editor, Times-News: The Rev. Calkins' forum article on his proposed change in our calendar is interesting and logical, but let us put the blame where it belongs, on the calendar makers who still persist in making Sunday the first day of the week instead of Monday.

It is not too late to make the change without disrupting our regular week and would please all denominations.

I have read many plans of calendar reform but the 13-month year, much easier to remember, seems to be the only one with sufficient merit to justify a change.

It would simplify our schools and payrolls and be a great help in many ways too numerous to mention. The second quarter could begin on April 8, the third July 15, and the fourth, including the extra day, October 22.

The last month when we do our big celebrating could have 29 or 30 days, and every year 1,500 days there would be another day correction, but we should not do it.

If there is a better plan let's have it, but in the meantime, step on the calendar makers who put a stupid burden when they force their first calendar and just can't seem to get out of the rut, but all they need to do is to let the world be a free country. It is just as simple as that.

Mediation in Copper Strike Is Stalemated

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 11 (AP)—Federal mediation officials here admitted they still could find "no common ground" between the Utah district of Kennecott and members of the brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and engineers who have been on strike since Oct. 1.

A proposal for a program of evaluating the jobs of all of the firm's 8,300 employees and setting new wage scales was accepted by the company at a long conference yesterday but rejected by the Union. The union said it would not answer proposals reworked in their current strike for higher pay.

Mediator Donald G. Goodman said he was disappointed by the union's action and that no further company-brotherhood conferences were planned until some new idea for settlement is found.

The strike by the 311 mine haulage employees who make the same pay scale as men on the mine-to-mine haulage route has forced the company to suspend operations, putting more than 5,000 persons out of work. A spokesman for the CIO Progressive metalworkers council, whose 700 members were affected by the dispute at the same time issued an appeal for landfills to withhold their allegiance against Kennecott employees. The spokesman pointed out that unemployment compensation received by the men was barely sufficient to cover food costs for their families.

Scientist Says Spuds Hurt by 2,4-D Spraying

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (AP)—Idaho's well known Russett and Bliss potato varieties are being hurt by the use of the 2,4-D chemical weed killer, the University of Idaho said today.

Lambert C. Erickson, weed research specialist at the university, recommends that potato growers stick to old-fashioned ways of weeding their fields for the present.

Assure Clark "With both Russett and Bliss spraying the vines, or leaving a coating of 2,4-D on top of the soil is a sure-fire way to get a crop of culls," Erickson said.

Research to test the tolerance of the Russett and Bliss varieties was undertaken at Idaho when reports from the east indicated that Sour culls were being used by the weed killer spray on the Katanadna variety.

Cuts Grade Erickson said that some test fields where 2,4-D was used failed to produce a single No. 1 potato and that few made the No. 2 classification.

Charles E. Seely, director of the university's research on non-irrigated land, said that several crops are being observed to determine their tolerance of the chemical.

"Additional systems of weed control in potato production will be undertaken in next year's experiments," Erickson said, "and a system helping to weed out that will be helpful to the Idaho potato grower."

BURLEY, Dec. 11—Burley volunteer fire department was called out at 8 a. m. Thursday to the Henry Hill Center at View, where a three-room house was completely destroyed by fire.

The house, occupied last summer by Jewel Thompson, contained all of the Thompson belongings stored there. Thompson had gone to the house the night before to check on his furniture, and he built a fire when he decided to remain that night.

Chief Otis Williams said the fire was caused by a defective fuse. Exact cost of the fire has not been determined.

$1.35 Butterfat? Hailey Resident Points to Error

Editor, Times-News: In answer to Mr. H. H. Stiles I would like to ask Mr. Stiles where he found butterfat at $1.32 per pound? I have never heard of $1.35 for butterfat in this part of the universe. I have had cows all my life and as yet have never heard about or received more than 8 cents for butterfat from any creamery or buyer.

But Mr. Stiles, if you prefer mind in this place of truth that is okay. I think you have the price of butter mixed with butterfat prices. There is a large difference. Ask a reasonable man to explain the difference as the price of butter is much higher than the price of butterfat.

Water Is Vital Idaho Factor; Leader Avows

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—One of the most vital factors in the development of Idaho is its water resources, both in rivers and in underground pockets.

An Idaho reclamationist and water expert is warning the Gem state is draining its resources faster than the relatively scarce commodity can be replaced. They will ask the state legislature to take action on two fronts to do something about it.

Most important is to request for a ground water code, similar in form to the present water code covering streams, rivers and canals. Secondly, the lawmakers will be asked to approve a Snake river compact construction and set up funds for the commission's use, to work out an agreement with Wyoming on disposal of water in the upper Snake river.

William Welsh, secretary-manager of the Idaho reclamation association, is one of the principals in the fight to get an underground water code. He says "it is absolutely necessary to have such a code without it the state's water resources are drained completely and we'll be bankrupt."

Gov. C. A. Robins lists a ground water code as one of the most vital issues which must be faced by the legislature.

Reclamation Engineer Mark R. Kulp has drawn up a tentative bill, which may be introduced on the floor, declaring that it is "vital to the ground water code now to prevent serious damage in the future."

But there is another danger, which stems from those farmers who already have sunk artesian wells and are tapping the vast underground water flow. The opposition to a new ground water code is based on a fear their "prior rights" may be endangered if the state takes a step to halt the drilling of wells without permits.

Welsh has assured farmers that insofar as possible existing water rights will be observed. "We don't want to have people think we're trying to rob them of water; we want to put a halt to the practice of drilling without permits and drilling without showing the amount being taken out and without regard to the damage that might be done to other farmers in the area."

Bonds on Jerome Schools Are Sold

JEROME, Dec. 11—Members of the Jerome school board accepted a bid by the First Security bank of Utah and Idaho for purchase of $45,000 in bonds for construction of a new high school.

Edward Eakin, chairman of the board, said the bid of 1.89 per cent interest was the lowest in the history of the state for bonds of this type.

He Favors His Latest Painting

Olaf Moller, Valley Artist, Exhibiting 33 Oil Paintings Here Sunday, Monday

A total of 33 exquisite oil paintings by Olaf Moller, Rupert, are being displayed in the basement of the public library from 2 until 5 p. m. Sunday, and from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Monday. The paintings are landscapes of the Intermountain district and the Canadian Rockies.

In the pictures autumnal scenes predominate, showing a remarkable contrast of colors, some of which give unusual lighting effects to the paintings.

All of Moller's paintings are done directly from nature rather than sketches, he says, in order that he may have an authentic atmosphere in the pictures. He is also extremely particular in selecting scenery. Consequently, none of his paintings are commonplace.

Moller was born May 21, 1891, in Copenhagen, Denmark. He came to the United States with his parents when he was four months old, and received his early education in Salt Lake City and Idaho.

He entered the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts at Philadelphia in 1921, studying there for eight years. During this time, he also attended summer school at Chester Springs, near Philadelphia, each year.

Moller was awarded special prize at summer school and the academy in 1925, and second prize for landscape in 1926. In 1927 he was awarded a scholarship to the Tamm Combs Tiffany foundation at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y.

His works have been exhibited in many of the leading art galleries of the east. In 1933 he was awarded second prize at the Springfield national exhibit, Springfield, Utah; first prize at the Helyburn exhibit in 1934 and second prize of the same exhibit in 1937.

He is represented in Augustanum, Rock Island, Ill.; Idaho State college, Pocatello; Boise art museum, and many private collections. He designed the murals for the Carnegie public library, Boise.

Moller is a member of the Rocky Mountain Artists' association, Augustanum College art association, Washington Landscape club, Washington, D. C.; Teton Artists' association, and other clubs.

One of his paintings was displayed in an art exhibit at the world's fair in New York.

Most of the pictures require from three to four sittings for completion, Moller said. However, some of the smaller sketches are finished in one sitting.

Sometimes difficulties arise when he is painting landscapes. Once his painting was interrupted when a bear crept up behind him. Not knowing whether the animal was

Analyst Raps Bevin's View For Defenses

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's Foreign Minister Bevin seems to be predicting the inevitable when he suggests that the western nations will one day have a unified defense system, even to the point of budgeting.

Something very much like it is already in the air. The representatives of the United States, Britain, Holland, Luxembourg and Canada are now in the process of working out the terms of the proposed Atlantic alliance.

It will be a statement of the conditions under which the countries will come to one another's aid in case of war.

The very next step, after completion of such an alliance, must be to decide on what is needed for the defense of Europe. What each country can contribute. What will be needed from the United States to complement European military resources. How it will be administered.

An estimate of the United States' contribution has been bandied about as the probable cost of this program to the United States in the event of a European military recovery.

Whether the Atlantic alliance actually takes the United States into the western European union or whether the U. S. merely used the union as the agent for military relations with all her European partners, both of which will be brought to a pitch which has never been dreamed of in her history.

Europe's national budgets already are so intertwined with the Marshall plan as to form an inseparable whole. With addition to the Atlantic alliance, none of the nations will be able to move hand or foot without the consideration of others, whether through the ordinary forms of consultation or through the joint ministerial council which Mr. Bevin envisions.

Icy Road Blamed In Auto Accident

BOISE, Dec. 11—Icy roads were the cause of an accident at 7:30 p. m. Thursday on U. S. highway 38 south of Malta when a 1940 Ford driven by Walter Skypcek, Minnehaha, Minn., slid into a trailer attached to a Willys jeep driven by Albert Richardson, Gaudin, N. J.

Investigating officers said Richardson had stopped on the highway to assist another motorist who had slid off the road. The Skypcek car, coming over a slight hill on the road, was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the trailer.

No one was injured, but damages to the trailer were estimated at $700 and the Ford received $200 in damages. Sheriff Saul Clark and the state patrolman investigated the accident.

Senator-Elect Resigns From Judicial Post

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The resignation of Sen. Elect Bert H. Miller from the Idaho supreme court has been received by Gov. C. A. Robins. The resignation is effective Dec. 21, the governor said.

Elected to the United States senate Nov. 2, Miller has served four years of six-year terms.

The governor said he has been considering the endorsements of Boise district judges to succeed Miller. He said he has received endorsements for C. J. Taylor of Idaho Falls, L. E. Glennon of Pocatello and Hugh A. Baker of Rupert.

Governor Robins said he has received no formal endorsement of Abe MacGregor, Gov. McCraw, for the post. There has been speculation that Govt might be appointed. He was defeated in the first district congressional race by Democrat Compton I. White.

The Idaho bar association has adopted a method for the selection of a single candidate to be recommended by the association to the governor through secret balloting of the 11 district bar associations.

The governor said he "didn't know" if he would wait for the bar association's recommendation before making an appointment. Concerning the appointment of someone to fill the vacancy, the governor said he hadn't yet "made a determination." He added, "I don't think the court is busy; it wouldn't make much difference right now."

Second Quake Rocks Resort In California

FALM SPRINGS, Calif., Dec. 11 (AP)—Another earthquake shook this winter resort community today but residents shrugged it off as "something we're getting used to now."

Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, timed the jolt at 9:12:40 a. m. (Pacific daylight time) and described it as "good sized."

He said this tremor and one experienced here yesterday at 1:43:28 p. m. were the strongest of the aftershocks which customarily follow a big quake like the one which rocked all of southern California a week ago today. During the week there have been other, lesser tremors.

The Palm Springs police department says today's quake was "a nice, rolling one." It lasted about 20 seconds. There was no reported damage.

The desk sergeant said the first telephone call he had about the quake was an Associated Press call for information. Police and other residents said many persons here were not even aware there was a quake.

Quiet Period

At the exclusive Raquet club the management and executives before the Christmas holidays, is a quiet period with not many celebrities to town. The season really does not begin until after New Year's day.

Among those vacationing here now is radio star Edgard Bergen. Raquet club employees said the quake "couldn't compare" with the quake a week ago and "taken in stride." Last week the rear of one building collapsed, merchandise fell from shelves and several persons suffered minor injuries in falls.

Dismissal of Contempt for Sextet Asked

SEATTLE, Dec. 11 (AP)—Six defendants charged with contempt of the legislature's un-American activities committee have demanded dismissal of the charges because they have not been brought to trial within 60 days of the filing.

Attorney Lloyd Shoretz who filed the case while prosecutor, conceded that the law does grant right of trial within 60 days. But he said courts have held the requirement does not apply when the defendants themselves have interposed preliminary motions that delayed trial setting.

In No Hurry
"The defense let us to believe that they were in no hurry to get to trial," Shoretz said.
He added he will ask a hearing Monday on the state's demand that the case be set for immediate trial. Shoretz said that while the cases were filed Aug. 8, the defense filed motions and demurrers which were not disposed of until Oct. 22. The defendants pleaded Oct. 20. Shoretz said he will contend that the 60 days did not start to run until entry of the plea.

Discharges

The defendants are charged with contempt for refusing to answer legislative committee queries as to whether they were or had ever been communists.

They are Ralph Gundlach, associate professor of psychology at the University of Washington; Dr. Herbert J. Phillips of the philosophy department; Rachael Forchmiedt, a research worker in the city of Seattle; Burton W. James and his wife, Florence; and Albert Ottensmeyer, co-director and assistant director of Seattle's repertory playhouse.

Deadline Set To Apply for Credit Loans

RUPERT, Dec. 11—Applications for commodity credit loans on wheat, barley, oats, rye and flax must be made at the county agricultural conservation association offices by Dec. 31, he said. This will give the county office sufficient time to complete all loans and purchase agreements by the end of December, he added. All loan papers must be in the hands of lending agencies in time to permit disbursement not later than Jan. 15, 1949.

Loans Available
Loans are available on grains and flax, meeting certain grade requirements, which are stored on the farm or in approved warehouses, Merz said. All loans will reach maturity on April 30, 1949, or earlier on demand. They will bear interest at three per cent per annum.

By obtaining a purchase agreement, the chairman explained, a producer retains full ownership of his stock, but the county office, by delivering the commodity to CCC within the 30 days immediately following the maturity date of loans he said.

Merz Report Asked
Merz advised farmers and ranchers that all conservation practices being carried out under the 1948 agricultural conservation program must be completed by Dec. 31, to be eligible for payment. He also said that all crops as practices are completed, all receipts or other evidence for fertilizers, seed, or other material used in carrying out the practices should be furnished to the county office. Prompt reporting of completed practices on the part of farmers greatly expedites conservation payments, Merz stated.

According to Merz, conservation under the program is aimed at holding soil, keeping it productive, controlling excess water, and making the most efficient use of water where irrigation is necessary.

Due to Erosion
Gullies, he points out, are just an indication of erosion, or of land that is being lost to production. Often hundreds of tons of topsoil have been removed from a field before a gully starts. At first, slight erosion results from loss of organic matter in the soil.

The agricultural conservation program has provisions for treating soil and practices to keep them from getting bluer, but the most important are the practices which prevent gullies—practices which keep the land in condition so that heavy erosion does not start.

The amount of soil from which all people in the country must obtain food and fiber is limited. Production is increasing. Enough food for the future depends on keeping the limited land we have productive, Merz said. "If it washes away or wears out, and becomes unproductive, that means just that much less land for which the food and fiber must come."

Adventists Hear Elder's Address On Sunday Laws

Rider R. L. Benton, Portland, Ore., northern states secretary of religious liberty for Seventh-day Adventists, spoke Friday night before members of the Twin Falls, Dubl and Piler Seventh-day Adventists at the local church.

Benton, author of "America, the Bible and the Constitution," pointed out that all Sunday laws and ordinances which prohibit religious observance are not in accordance with the constitution which guarantees complete separation of church and state.

He also stated that private schools should be maintained by private funds and that church schools have no right to expect help from public tax funds.

College Need Of Donations Is Told Here

The need of the College of Idaho Caldwell, for annual gift support was called to the attention of Magic Valley residents Saturday by Edwin H. Schiewert of the college administrative staff who is in Twin Falls on college business.

"Higher education is expensive," he pointed out. "Every college needs either increased tax money or gifts. It has never been the practice in America to charge the student the full cost of his education. It is always necessary to add to his fee either taxes, income from endowment or gifts. If student enrollments in any state university the taxpayers contribute to the cost of his education from $300 to $1,200 per student per year."

$100 Per Student
"It should be surprising, therefore, that the College of Idaho, non-tax-supported, needs gifts of approximately $100 per student per year to help in meeting operating expenses."

Schiewert pointed out that America's privately financed colleges are currently finding their fixed costs of operation outrunning their normal sources of income despite tuition increases, the problem being aggravated by shrinking $117.1 values and endowment return.

The College of Idaho educational budget, excluding dining room operation, is more than $250,000 this year, he said. "Student fees now provide 67 per cent of this amount; endowment income provides 11 per cent, and minor sources, five per cent. This leaves a gap of 16 per cent that can be met only from broadened gift sources."

Good Investment
Considering the value of the College of Idaho as the only endowed college in the state serving all demographics equally, the annual gift support needed to keep it a strong college is one of the best investments that can be made by residents of Idaho, he stated. At the same time, such gifts are also deductible for income tax purposes.

Schiewert pointed out that the College of Idaho must continue to seek support of two main kinds: (1) annual giving (living endowment) to meet its operating costs; and (2) capital gifts for building and permanent endowment funds.

Living Memorial
"The latter offers unusual opportunity for men and women to perpetuate their good influences through the most enduring type of living memorial," he said. "The help of so many Twin Falls people is needed and appreciated, and it is hoped that many more will share in the responsibility and join in the opportunity for investment in young people," he concluded.

Seal Sale Told

Common school district No. 18, Springs, was the first to report its share of seal sales activities to the office of the county superintendent of public instruction, officials said Tuesday. PTA support of the Springs school contributed $11.65 to the campaign, and 67 pupils in the Union school of class A district No. 411 contributed $20.31.

Legislators in Utah Urged to Cut Expenses

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 11 (AP)—Governor-Elect J. Bracken Lee urged Republican legislators to "forget politics" during the 1949 legislative session and devote all our energy to the state's economic measures in Utah's government.

He spoke at a meeting of Republicans elected to the state legislature at the Nov. 2 election.

Asks Support

He asked support for his proposed governmental reorganization, including the abolition of many of the state's three-man commissions. He has suggested replacing them with non-partisan advisory boards which would name departmental commissioners.

"At first," Lee said, "I thought it would be feasible to create one-man commissions in only one or two departments. But, the more I think about it, the more I am convinced that we should do away altogether with the present three-man commissions and create a full-time authority to one full-time man who would be charged with the responsibility of the departments."

Big Saving Possible

"You'd be surprised at the many thousands of dollars that can be saved in the cost of Utah government by a well-organized, well-managed economy campaign in state agencies."

Robins Quiet On Successor In Court Post

BOISE, Dec. 11 (UP)—Gov. C. A. Robins today declined to say when he will appoint a successor to Bert H. Miller, supreme court justice and senator-elect from Idaho, who resigned yesterday.

Miller's resignation is effective Dec. 21.

The governor said the appointment will be "a very difficult task because of the number of good candidates from which to choose."

When asked if he would wait until the Idaho Bar association selected its candidate for the position, Robins said "I don't know about that."

The bar association has proposed a method for replacing district and supreme court justices by a ballot among the members of the various district bar associations. The proposed plan would have a replacement for Miller on Jan. 15.

Robins said that so far, only three candidates have been endorsed officially to his office. He listed District Judge L. E. Clemons, Pocatello; 11th district Judge Hugh A. Baker, Rupert; and ninth district Judge C. J. Taylor, Idaho Falls.

The governor said no official endorsement has been made to his office for outgoing Rep. Abe M. Coff.

131 Million Bushel Corn Exports Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department predicts corn exports from this year's record crop will total about 131,000,000 bushels. That is the amount exported in the 1946-47 season. Last year's poor harvest caused exports to drop off considerably.

The department said exports this season will be limited more by demand in foreign countries and by transportation than by U. S. supplies. The harvest has been estimated at 3,650,000,000 bushels.

The department has allocated 23,000,000 bushels for export in the October-December period. But it said all of this probably will not actually be shipped out by the end of that time.

Burlal will be in the Filer IOOF cemetery.

State's Educators Prepare Formula To Divide Funds

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—If the state congress approves federal aid for education, Idaho school administrators have worked out a formula for distribution of the funds.

Meeting in Boise, the administrators have approved a formula providing for the distribution of $1 in federal funds per child in average daily attendance in all the commonwealth schools.

Under the formula, the remainder of the federal funds would be distributed on the basis of equalization to the various school districts with those districts with the highest mill levies receiving the most benefits. Districts levying less than five mills would receive no further federal aid money.

If the federal aid bill is passed by congress, the administrators will submit their formula to the Idaho legislature. The legislature also will be asked for enabling legislation to prepare for acceptance of such funds. The meeting was called by the school administrators department of the Idaho Education Association and the state department of education. It ends today. About 70 educators are attending.

POCATELLO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Idaho Falls Tigers, piling up 56 points in five appearances, won first place in the first Big Six conference basketball jamboree Saturday night...

Boise Bruves were second with 49 points, and sharing third spot were Nampa and Pocatello with 39 each.

Twin Falls Bruins were fifth with 35, and Caldwell closed with 28 points.

Pocatello Indians missed a clear claim to third place by putting only five points when needing six in the last game of the jamboree.

Idaho Falls, an early leader in the jamboree and a stand-out with its smooth performance, maintained its high scoring until the final game when Caldwell, low scorer for the two nights, almost blanked the Tigers...

A crowd estimated at 1,000 attended the final round, the post-attendance mark being charged to the weather.

The luck of attendance brought up a question of whether the jamboree will be continued.

Saturday night scores were: Pocatello 14, Nampa 6, Caldwell 5, Twin Falls 3; Idaho Falls 11, Boise 7; Twin Falls 10, Nampa 6, Caldwell 6, Boise 3.

Friday scores were: Nampa 6, Boise 2, Idaho Falls 12, Twin Falls 14; Pocatello 7, Caldwell 2, Nampa 15, Idaho Falls 10; Boise 16, Caldwell 12; Pocatello 10, Twin Falls 16, Caldwell 6, Idaho Falls 16, Pocatello 3; Boise 11, Twin Falls 10.

Buhl Woman Develops One of Her Many Unusual Hobbies Into Novel Business

By HUGHETTE WINEGAR
 Buhl, Dec. 11.—Fascinating hobbies, one of which developed into a business, keeps Mrs. Louise McClusky busy.
 Two years ago at a family reunion Mrs. McClusky was persuaded by a sister to try fashioning jewelry and placecards out of sea shells. After seeing her work, acquaintances wished to purchase it.
 The placecards are made of small sea shells tinted in soft pastel colors and placed against a stiff paper background to make flowers appear unbelievably lifelike.
 Through experimenting, Mrs. McClusky has been able to make lifelike reproductions of many domestic and wild flowers. In addition to placecards she makes jewelry, brooches and earrings can be made to match any ensemble.
 When asked if the work was tiring because of its exactness, Mrs. McClusky exclaimed, "Never! I hate to stop even for a minute."
 In addition to her business-hobby Mrs. McClusky finds time to care for one of the most lovely homes in Buhl. Many persons stop to admire her flower garden at 810 Main street.
 Social life occupies a part of her time. She is an active member in the Order of the Eastern Star, Women's union, Garden Friends, Anti-Tuberculosis association and is an associate member of the Y-Teen adult council.
 Another of her hobbies is collecting antique vases. In her collection are more than 100 years old.
 Like all other artists she has a signature—a four leaf clover—which is

MRS. LOUISE MCCLUSKY always inserted into her work Whether it is a sea tray made of live flowers or a delicate piece of embroidery work the four leaf clover "signature" is worked into the design in some place.

 She arrived in Buhl as a young bride on June 21, 1908. Her husband, the late Dr. A. F. McClusky, began his medical practice here and was mayor of the city for six years.
 In recalling the early days, Mrs. McClusky said the big social event of the season was the firemen's ball at which sing-along songs were featured. The next largest event was the annual Christmas celebration at the community church with all citizens in attendance.
 Mrs. McClusky is 72 years—young.

Bugs Develop In Operations Of Big 'Scope'

MR. PALOMAR, Calif. Dec. 11 (AP)—Mr. Palomar's 200-inch telescope developed flaws and probably won't be able to operate until next fall, an observatory scientist said.

First photographs were made with the world's largest "eye" in December, 1947, observatory director, Dr. Fra S. Bowen, said. But since then he and his staff have discovered "bugs" in the giant instrument.

The mirror and its supporting mechanism have caused most of the trouble. First, Bowen said, it was discovered that the mirror was not holding its form correctly. Modification of 35 support mechanisms removed this trouble.

Another major trouble was that the outer edge of the mirror was too high by about 20 millionths of an inch. This flaw was intensified by another—the mirror was not adjusting uniformly to temperature changes. The observatory staff working to correct these two conditions and Bowen said noticeable progress had been made.

Bowen pointed out that it was a year and a half after a 100-inch mirror—previously the world's largest—went up at Mt. Wilson, Calif., before it was put in operation and it was nearly 10 years before that mirror was thoroughly satisfactory at all times.

They've Had Enough of Germany

Pilot and Family Here for Christmas After Living in Germany for 3 Years

By HELEN TUCKER

First Lieut. K. H. Werner, who has "had enough of Germany for a while," and his wife and baby daughter are spending the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. Anna Werner, Twin Falls.

The Americans also supervise recreation for German youths and try to guide them in democratic thinking. Those in the late teens are more susceptible than the younger German children, he said, for they have not recovered completely from the Hitler regime.

In January, 1947, the Werners spent a week in Switzerland. "It was a nice change after seeing Germany where cities were nothing but piles of rubble," he said. "The country was clean and the shops luxurious compared with those of Germany."

The Werners left Germany Oct. 12 and sailed to New York on the Edmond B. Alexander.

Lieutenant Werner left the United States in February, 1946, for Munich, Germany, where he was stationed at an airbase for more than two years. He then moved to Kaufbeuren, about 65 miles from Munich, with the 60th troop carrier group.

He flew the Berlin airlift for three months from June through September, making 63 trips into Berlin. At first, only flour and canned goods were hauled into Berlin. Lieutenant Werner said, but later, newspaper was taken to a German newspaper.

Lieutenant Werner flew C-47s, and said that the only difficulties encountered were caused by bad weather during the first month when he had to fly almost entirely by instruments.

He received training at the European air transport service which stressed instrument flying.

"There was nothing different about flying the airlift," he said. "Any work can become routine."

Before flying the airlift he was assistant legal officer for his base and squadron adjutant.

There is still much debris left in Berlin, Lieutenant Werner said. The Germans do not express their feelings toward American soldiers. They have accepted their fate and are living from day to day not knowing what to expect. Some of them are in dire need," he added.

Recreation centers are provided for American military personnel in Berlin, Lieutenant Werner said, and

Airline's Free Dimmer Halted To Cut Fares

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (AP)—Western Air Lines, the first air carrier to serve food in the air, has proposed to eliminate "free" meals so a five-cent surcharge can be made on tickets to passengers.

Western is submitting to the civil aeronautics board a "no meal tariff," which will be effective Jan. 1 or as soon thereafter as the CAI will permit. Western said it would be the first airline to take off the meals.

Eliminate Meals

Terrell C. Drinkwater, Western's president, said the only way airlines could hope to expand their market was to eliminate the free meals and bring the price of a ticket down within the reach of everyone.

"The serving of 'free' meals by the airlines is not one of the functions, nor is it the responsibility of our transportation system," he said. "No other transportation system gives away 'free' meals and why should we?"

Available at Cafes

Passengers will be able to buy meals at airport restaurants if they wish, he said.

Cost of meal service on Western lines during the first 10 months of 1948 totaled $23,732, or 5.24 per cent of gross revenue of $4,532,417, he said. This saving will be the basis for the five per cent reduction in passenger fares under the new system.

Muscles Clue To History of Men in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Muscles—or the lack of them—may be a clue to a man's history.

Experts from the Army's new department of anthropometry reported these observations to the army after two years of measuring 100,000 soldiers.

New England soldiers are the strongest, while the weakest are usually from the south Atlantic states, Middle Atlantic states, like the New England region, contain a high percentage of well-muscled types.

Officers Are Fatter

The Middle Atlantic states also provide the most fat men (and officers generally are fatter than enlisted men).

Soldiers from the Pacific states in general are well-balanced between fat and muscle. Mountain states army personnel often are very thin or a bit fat, although muscular.

Easterners Hefty

Men from the west-north Central states tend to average about the same height and weight as men from the east.

Married men are found to be heavier than the unmarried, while moderately educated men are more strongly muscled than the poorly or better educated.

The study, incidentally, is aimed at getting better fitting army uniforms.

Officers Selected By Paul Masonic Lodge at Meeting

PAUL, Dec. 11—Officers to head the Paul Masonic lodge were elected and installed at the last meeting of the group, W. M. Wheeler, retiring worshipful master, presided.

Trustees elected were Ralph Benedict, Walter Stoller and Wheeler McCall.

Installing officer was Frank O. Redfield, Burley, district deputy, and installing marshal was Walter Benedict.

NAMED FOR DELEGATE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Dec. 11—Meredith Glenn, Twin Falls, and Richard Frank, Cagle, were members of the debate teams representing the University of Idaho as a tri-state meet in Missoula, Mont., Saturday. Tax Increase Needed, Avers Demo Solons

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Congressional Democrats believe the government may have to raise tax rates if it is to stay out of the red next year.

Sen. Walter F. George, Ga., incoming chairman of the Senate Finance committee, told a reporter that a final answer on higher taxes would have to wait until President Truman sends congress his budget for the 1950 fiscal year, which starts July 1.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., a ranking member of the Finance committee, said in a separate interview that a 1949 tax increase seemed inevitable.

"I would hate to see any increase in taxes," Byrd said, "but if we are going to spend as much money as it looks like, we should raise taxes rather than go back to deficit spending."

He said, however, that he favors some form of short-term excess profits tax rather than to boost the normal corporation tax rates or restoration of the cut made in individual income taxes last year.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., incoming chairman of the joint economic committee, said tax returns must be large enough to finance American "win-the-peace" efforts.

He said testimony of some witnesses before his committee, to the effect that actual business profits are not as high as reported, appears designed to discourage any congressional boost in corporate taxes.

The site of the budget which Mr. Truman will hand the Democratic-controlled congress next month is not yet definitely determined. But there are signs it may run as high as $45,000,000,000.

Twin Falls Native Gets 'Man of Month' Title for His Engineer Work in Brazil

Frank Peavey, son of Mrs. A. J. Peavey, Sr., Twin Falls, has been chosen man of the month by The Em. Kayan, magazine of Morrison, Knudsen of Brazil, railroad building.

Peavey who is now general superintendent of Raymond-Morrison, Knudsen of Brazil, railroad building, was born in Twin Falls and was graduated with engineering honors in 1933 from the University of Idaho.

Before joining M-K in 1938, he had worked during vacations on a sheep ranch, in the state highway testing laboratory, in the Idaho Power company, for a short period after graduation.

He began his career as an engineer in Boise headquarters. Clerk, however, when in greater demand than engineers so Peavey was assigned as clerk on a Caliente, Calif., railroad line change. He was later timekeeper on the joint-venture construction of Moffat tunnel, Colo., managed by M. C. Kennedy, now M-K vice president.

Peavey went to Ogallala, Neb., in July, 1938, following a brief return to Idaho Power, during a depression lull in 1937, and several months with Amalgamated Sugar company in Oregon. He became M-K job engineer on a 32-mile railroad relocation job.

In April, 1939, he became job engineer at Jeffrey dam, Neb., an earth-fill structure where 500,000 cubic yards of materials had to be placed under strictest control of moisture content, as the fill was so spongy tractors had to go into third gear on moderate, five per cent grades. Peavey returned to Ogallala that July to finish the new rail line and salvage the old one.

In October, 1939, he tackled a rail project at Holbrook, Ariz., and in March, 1940, he became engineer and later superintendent, again under Kennedy, at Fern Ridge dam, Ore. Rains and floods, he said, made this the longest dam in the world, for in wet weather with only best travel possible, it was a 15-mile roundabout trip from one end of the dam to the other.

Peavey transferred to Anderson Ranch dam in November, 1941, as project engineer for 10 months work on the world's highest earth-fill dam.

He was project engineer for Contractors, Pacific Naval Air Bases, of the Walpaha underground ammunition depot on Oahu island, building 120 tunnels that were driven 200 feet into solid rock. In January, 1944, he became assistant project manager for Hawaiian Dredging company to complete a dredging program at Midway Island.

FRANK PEAVEY

In August, 1944, Peavey returned to Boise and immediately flew to Brazil as assistant general superintendent for M-K. He was assigned to the construction and relocation of about 90 miles of the Victoria-Minas railroad that runs inland from the port city of Victoria through 373 miles of swamp and jungle country to the Itabora mine.

Peavey has been M-K's general superintendent of additional Victoria-Minas work since April, 1946. This construction, sharply curtailed a year ago, was resumed last October when a 30-month, $10,000,000 contract was signed calling for rehabilitation of about 200 miles of railroad. Peavey stayed in Brazil on maintenance during the period of inactivity and spent his spare time studying Portuguese. During the past few months he has been recalling his scattered staff of key men.

The article in the Em Kayan concludes "With the renewal of this tough, pioneering job, 35-year-old Frank Peavey keeps on demonstrating the double-barreled effectiveness of a civil engineer who took naturally, as well as by preference, to the rough-and-ready production side of business."

Peavey's sister, Ann Peavey, a member of the faculty at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., will visit him in Brazil during the Christmas holiday. As a Christmas present, he has sent her a roundtrip airplane ticket to Rio de Janeiro. Miss Peavey was to leave today for New York where she will spend a few days before flying to South America.

Democratic Unit Conducts Tea for Bannock Senator

The Democratic Women's club honored Nellie Cline Steenson, Democratic senator from Bannock county, at a tea at the Idaho Power auditorium during her visit here. She was introduced by Mrs. T. Dan Connor. Mrs. Steenson spoke on legislation expected to come up in the next session of legislature, especially legislation pertaining to women's interests, such as equal rights, education and health bills.

Mrs. Ann Smith Hartshorn, Jepperson, presided at the tea service. The arrangements for tea were made by Mrs. Cora Stevens, Mrs. W. A. Bannock, Mrs. L. G. Hill and Mrs. Ada Powell.

The tables were arranged by Mrs. Burton Perrine who used the Christmas decor. The centerpiece was a tree made of Christmas bulbs flanked on both sides by red tapers. Club members also entertained Mrs. Steenson at a no-host dinner at the Rogerson hotel.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT
What matter how the night be? What matter how the north wind rave? Blow high, blow low, no all its own. Could quench our heart's fire's ruddy glow.

Who should have been most recently but George W. Blinn and his partner, Dan Daniels. Many have known some under the name of Blinn. George was a little member kid down the road from the Blinn farm. The boys had a cup of coffee, talked about business and old times. They had a good time. Roofing and improvement companies are doing okay. "In nine months we have a million dollars' worth of business, over $100,000 and all due to the people, newspaper and the radio."

It was nice to see business partners with such respect for each other. The thing I like about Dan and George, is that he's a perfectionist; when he does a job it's done right. Dan installed a new roof on the best salesman's house ever. We talked about new developments in insulation and roofing. "When it comes to roofs of houses, every one seems to be turning to the new material," the partner said. "The new Dudley Reed house on Locust in Twin Falls even has white asphalt shingles, the only shingles of this type in the U. S."

They said the Douglas Biorac roof will have the same kind of life as the old one. The boys had some advice for the public. "In good times like these, people should maintain a good job regardless of cost, then, if it comes to a stop, they are not in a bind. A door without weather stripping lets in much more than a brick house with one brick missing." Both men insisted that the rapid growth of the business was due to honesty in selling and perfection in workmanship. Such words are nice to hear in these sleep-dash times.

Lots of fine organizations of women in the valley. The Twentieth Century club is probably the cream. Many of its programs are wonderful, and our grandmothers probably organized it. We were proud to have the program and the chairman, Mrs. Bevel Williams, invite us to her great Christmas party. When the president, Mrs. Charles Casey, called blues in order, the beautifully decorated tables at the Legion hall were well-filled. Lots of attractive girls in come-dress hats and tie backs; many familiar faces; Mr. H. C. Gettler with his usual, friendly smile; Mrs. Bevel Williams, Warren Larsen, dignified and charming; tall Mrs. Hoy Palmer in a brown feather hat; and Mrs. Verneia Hogsett, state president of the Idaho Federated Women's clubs, wearing purple and looking slim, dark, and smart enough to be prey of a dozen chaps. "These Legion women have done a wonderful job," said President Casey. When we admired the table decorations, she told us they were the handiwork of young members under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. D. Brown.

"When the gracious blond woman over at the northwest end?" we asked our charming Mrs. Bevel Williams who sat at the right end, that Mrs. Jack Blinn," said Mrs. W. "She used to be Wanda Hawley, the movie actress. They are now to present the main speaker, Miss

Charles Merrill, our friend down Buhl way, sends suggestions about Ordehlye, the attic rat. "When I saw the 'Life in Magic Valley' flag flying upside down," he writes, "I consulted Bevel; found catch-em-all rat traps listed in two places. . . . The illustrations didn't look right. . . . so different from the intricate curves of my childhood; but the mechanics are the same."

Mr. M. says not to be surprised when we catch Ordehlye to find him white with pink eyes. Seema a colony of this type, pioneered in the '30s, and now spreading westward by the city fathers of Twin. Mr. M. says we can sprinkle quicklime or fly and Ordehlye will probably kill the tender soles of his feet and pass on or away to other scenes.

The action of alkaline soaps on the tender soles of the common gray rat is perhaps the reason it is seen so seldom west of the Rockies. He writes, "Well, thanks Mr. M. We'll try that trap first. . . . Mrs. C. D. Fairley of Twin sends a card to say she has two lovely Blinnes kittens and for us to get them to add to our animal children. . . . Inez Stowell of Jerome writes a nice letter describing a summer she saw over Baldy mountain, and encloses poem on the coming of winter in Sun Valley which we had space to print these. . . . "We had a good week work," writes a California friend from the floor and the best future, just back. You know how it is. I went and stood in the doorway and prayed."

Indian Lecturer Featured for Town Hall Event Wednesday

Charles Eagle Plume, known as America's foremost interpreter of the life and culture of the American Indian, will be presented in the chair of the Town Hall program at 8 p. m., Wednesday at the high school auditorium.

Eagle Plume proudly boasts a strain of Indian blood as a descendant of the Blackfoot tribe. Since his graduation from the University of Colorado, he has successfully made anthropology his vocation.

He is known as a lecturer of great charm because of his remarkable sense of humor. His dancing is enhanced by authentic and colorful costumes which he wears to give a better portrayal of the story of the primitive Indian.

The interpreter of Indian culture will show how all races have borrowed endless factors from each other and he will make a plea for better racial understanding.

The son of a French-Indian mother and a German father, Eagle Plume was reared in Montana and graduated from the University of Colorado. He was a student for a doctor's degree in anthropology at Columbia university when World War II began.

He served three years in the southwest Pacific with the U. S. army as a scout.

Conservation of an estate, in the interests of dependents and heirs, is a matter that rests largely in the hands of the testator. The foresighted person, who confers with us before making a Will, knows in advance what taxes and other expenses will have to be met, and can plan his Will accordingly.

Adventist Pastor Speaks Today on Last World War

Erling E. Calkins, pastor-evangelist of the Twin Falls Seventh-day Adventist congregation, will speak at 8 p.m. today at the Adventist church on "Armageddon: World's Last War. When, Where and How Will It Be Fought?"

Pastor Calkins is formerly of Wisconsin and Pocatello. The church is located at the corner of Third avenue and Third street north. "The world today is longing for peace," said Pastor Calkins, "yet men are perfecting new implements of destruction. This is a striking fulfillment of the prophetic. People of all faiths ought to sit down together and study the Bible, which alone gives the answer to perplexing international and domestic problems," he said.

Old-Age Official Will Visit Rupert

Lloyd C. Young, Twin Falls social security representative, will be in Rupert at the courthouse from 9:30 a. m. until noon Wednesday for consultation.

"Many people still associate social security with the age of 65," Young said, "while it is true that retirement benefits cannot be paid to anyone until they are 65, survivors' benefits can be paid to widows of any age and to children who are under 18. Survivors' benefits constitute over 60 per cent of all benefits paid under the old-age and survivors insurance program."

The word hammock stems from the Spanish word hamaca, derived from the Indian name of a tropical tree.

'Ambling Alp' Primo Carnera Doing OK in Second 'Career'

By H. BOYLE
NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—The hotel door opened and a fist the size of a mutton flapped out. It caught me playfully on the chin and snapped my head six inches to the left.

Ed Boyle

"This is the way 'Da Preem' will welcome any visitor to his room except a dwarf. And dwarf probably get in his face too—'I was lucky not to swing that low."

I walked in with a friend, who carelessly tossed his hat on a bed. "Oh, my god, oh, my god, oh, my god, do that," Carnera roared. This hat had luck—to put the hat on the bed.

But today bad luck is something the big man they used to call the "Ambling Alp" no longer has to worry about. He's riding the crest now—making $200,000 to $250,000 a year in the wrestling ring.

At 42, the ex-heavyweight boxing champ is a success again, and happier than he has ever been. He is in love with his own story. And he likes to tell it, with the simple pleasure of a small boy reciting an adventure tale. But there is hardly space in one hotel room for Carnera, his king-size bed and his over-size voice.

The big fellow, so poor as a boy in Italy he wore gunny sacks for shoes, became European wrestling champion before he was old enough to vote. In 1928 he turned to boxing and was brought here in 1930. He was built up to the championship in 1933, and lost it a year later to Max Baer. The huge champion—man—he's 6 feet 6 1/2, weighs 265—was a somewhat pathetic figure in those days. The men who manipulated him cut his features more way than a castrator pie.

"It's not true that I went home in Italy in 1939 old brother," insisted Carnera, who has pride in his Italian villa, a farm with eight tenant houses and some other property, which I still have. "No, the big mistake I made in my life was to take back my American dollars to Italy. When the currency there fell I lost all my cash."

During the war the Germans put

Primo to work with a pick and shovel, and paid him 15 cents for a 10-hour day—something, he said, no fight manager ever did to him. Carnera returned to America with his family late in 1945 and reconverted immediately to "my first love—wrestling."

"It is much better than boxing," he said. "After 30 in boxing you are thrown out. You lose the eye, you lose the strength. You can't get your brain it don't get hurt. When you get the legs around the body and the squeezer, it don't hurt the brain."

"My advice to Joe Louis is to quit before he gets hurt. He has gone down a long way, I was lucky not to get hurt."

"I am much better off now, in the boxing game you make the big gate. But maybe only once, twice a year. But in wrestling you work four, five six nights every week. Carnera gets from $350 to $2,000 a night, and, as he says, "this time I get to keep most of it myself."

He used to be only amiable. Now he's smart as well. Carnera wants to become an American citizen. His family—his wife and their children, Umberto, 9, and Giovanna Maria, 6—live in Los Angeles.

"They didn't speak English when they came over," he said. "Now Umberto is in the fourth grade, and pleased of the others in the class, I am amazing about it—by the way, he speak English. He is going to stop and learn a trade. But not boxing or wrestling—oh boy, not!" And then Carnera, who is artistic but was never an athlete as he has made to appear, said with impressive dignity: "It is all wonderful. I am very, very happy."

The sunny sack days are gone. There's food in the pantry, a car in the garage, cash in the bank—money earnings more way than a castrator pie.

"It's not true that I went home in Italy in 1939 old brother," insisted Carnera, who has pride in his Italian villa, a farm with eight tenant houses and some other property, which I still have.

WE'RE FEATURING DOLL CRADLES - Single and Double Bunk Beds

Now! Kitchens free of garbage thanks to electrical wonder!

Food waste is gone before you set the table—disposed of electrically while you're getting dinner ready!

Imagine the convenience! Let the potato peelings fall into the Disposall unit—deposit meat scraps, even bones, fruit pits and corn husks in the sink—as you prepare the meals.

In a matter of seconds, your General Electric Disposall shreds it into fine particles and flushes it down the drain under pressure. It's gone—before it can become garbage!

Use it, too, for cleaning up after meals—just scrape food waste from dishes into the sink drain outlet. The Disposall unit is a handy and willing servant. No more wrapping or saving garbage—no more harrowing trips to the garbage container. Your kitchen stays sweet and sanitary, just the way you've always wanted it—but without messy garbage handling.

Usable with either sewer or septic tank.

THIS IS HOW IT WORKS

1. You scrape food waste off your dishes, into the Disposall.
2. You lock the cover, a single twist to the left.
3. You turn on the cold water, which automatically starts the Disposall.

You can hardly believe the remarkable job the Disposall does unless you actually see it. We will be glad to show you how it operates—and how completely it eliminates all your food-waste handling problems.

Chiang Kai-shek, One of Communists' Big Foes, Boosted to Power by Reds

By NEA Service

Communism helped Chiang Kai-shek become master of China 22 years ago.

Since then, he has been one of communism's most persistent enemies.

Today communism is threatening the end of the generalissimo's era.

Chiang's military career began at 10 with a scholarship to the National Military academy.

When he returned to China in 1911, Chiang led the military academy.

He had already married (his two sons by his first wife are national officers).

He met Mei-Ling Soong in 1922. When Dr. Sun was married to one of her two sisters.

The marriage gave Chiang tremendous political and financial advantages.

Prices, including a jackpot, will be awarded to the pilot who will be broadcast over KLLX at dance intermission.

Now, 61, newly bald, he often wears a cap and frequently wears a suit that is as inescapable as the normally expressive oriental face.

Although he has traveled as far as the little people of China, and he has always been a world citizen.

Even the stories of his early association with Russia are conflicting.

Some historians claim that he observes Michael Borodin and General Bliucher in China to work with President Sun Yat-sen.

Others insist Dr. Sun himself discovered Chiang and made him his lieutenant.

Chiang had learned from the Russians, too. In two years, when Dr. Sun died, he became military commander.
