TWIN FALLS, Jan. 31—In a special statement issued this afternoon, the prosecution announced it will insist on the maximum penalty—death—for Neale Butterfield, confessed slayer of Glenda Joyce Brisbois, 7, murdered in a surprise move late yesterday afternoon in district court by Butterfield pleaded guilty to the information charging him a first degree murder in the death of Glenda Joyce Brisbois, 7. The move has the effect of shifting the burden from and to the judge. Court sources pointed out Butterfield pleaded guilty only to the information filed against him and not to any specific charge. Under state law, the judge is required to hold a hearing to determine the degree of guilt before passing sentence.

Truman Calls for 70-Day Truce, Fact-Finders in Miners' Dispute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman today called for a 70-day truce in the mining deadlock while presidential fact finders investigate. He proposed to act outside the union-hated Taft-Hartley act, following the same pattern set in last year's steel strike.

Truman asked that they agree to: 1. Suspend all coal production beginning Feb. 6. 2. The investigation by a presidential board of three which would be under instructions to make recommendations within 60 days of a settlement of the mining contract dispute.

Neither side would be bound to accept the board's recommendations. The president said he would accept his proposal by noon Saturday, Feb. 4.

Mr. Truman stepped into the situation as the number of coal miners rose to over 100,000. In a 24-hour period, 24 hours before John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, is to return to the north and western miners. Their talks are to open here at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

"If production will be resumed, this proposal may be disregarded. If you can not inform me that no production will be resumed on Monday without reference to the proposal, I would then want you to refer to the proposal by 2 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 4, and I urge your acceptance in the national interest."

Boise, Jan. 31 (AP)—P. H. DeLoach, secretary-manager of the Idaho coal association, said today the coal situation throughout the state is now critical.

DeLoach said that unless action is taken by the end of the week, the state will be without coal.

Berger made his statement as Idaho temperatures fell to sub-zero temperatures. It was the first time during the present coal dispute he was willing to call the situation critical.

Several weeks ago, Gov. C. A. Brannan, in a letter to the coal industry, said that an emergency coal situation was developing in Idaho.

Berger said that unless production is resumed immediately, the dealers in Idaho will not be able to satisfy coal users.

He pointed out that the unusually cold weather had taken a big toll of Idaho's coal stocks.

Burley, Jan. 31—District Judge Hugh A. Baker this morning took information charged by the state with the death of his wife Sept. 23. The judge will give his ruling at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The new information, which alleges involuntary manslaughter, was filed on Saturday. The charges were brought by Attorney General J. T. Lowe.

U. S. Mediation Chief Acts in Phone Threat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching hurried back to the capital today to take over government peace efforts in the threatened Feb. 3 nationwide telephone strike.

Ching has been on a month-long tour of mediation service efforts west. His top aides, William N. Margolis and Peter Selts, planned to brief him on the phone crisis and then meet with President Joseph A. Beirns of the Communications Workers of America (CWA).

Beirns announced yesterday that 100,000 phone workers who have been poised to strike will be called out eight days hence if there is no change in their contract deadlock with Bell system companies.

The strike would start at 6 a. m. local time. Immediately after Beirns' announcement, Margolis ordered employees in the field to try to bring the union and company together.

The government's strategy is believed to be aimed at arranging a settlement between the union and a company like Western Electric which is close to payment of a new contract.

The police are being kept by the department at prices averaging $45 to $100 per month for a part support program.

Brannan was expected to outline the plan before a closed meeting of the senate agriculture committee.

A Brannan assistant said the secretary was prepared to sign a "destruction" way out for the government.

The surplus potatoes could be used for making alcohol, but processors would take them only if the government would take them from areas of production to plants that had next year's crop. It list close to $200,000,000 in excess of the purchase price.

Green Light Given to All Atomic Jobs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman today told the atomic energy commission to work on the "so-called hydrogen or super-bomb."

He said in a statement that he has ordered the AEC to continue work on all forms of atomic weapons, including the superbomb, because of his responsibility "to see to it that our country is able to defend itself against any possible aggressor."

He added that this work will be pursued on an equal consistent with American plans for peace and security.

The development of atomic weapons is to be continued, the President directed, "until a satisfactory plan for international control of atomic energy is achieved."

This is his statement launching the government officially into a hunt for a new weapon perhaps as much as 1,000 times as powerful as the atomic bomb.

"It is part of my responsibility as commander-in-chief of the armed forces to see to it that our country is able to defend itself against any possible aggressor."

He has directed the atomic energy commission to continue its work on all forms of atomic weapons, including the so-called hydrogen or super-bomb.

Road and Signal Mixup Cause Crash

CHOWIE, Jan. 31—Road conditions and a different variety of signal were blamed by state police today for a crash at the intersection of two roads in the town of Chowie.

Two cars were involved in the crash. One was a 1949 Buick sedan and the other was a 1948 Ford sedan. The Buick was traveling north on the main road and the Ford was traveling south on a side road.

The Buick driver, Mrs. E. J. Smith, said she was stopped at a red light. She saw the Ford car approaching from the side road and tried to stop. However, the Ford car was in the intersection and she could not stop in time.

The Ford driver, Mr. J. W. Brown, said he was traveling south on the side road. He saw the Buick car stopped at the light and tried to pass it. However, the Buick car was still in the intersection and he crashed into it.

The Buick car was damaged at the front end and the Ford car was damaged at the rear end. Both cars were towed to a nearby garage.

The police are investigating the cause of the crash. They are looking for witnesses and checking the signal at the intersection.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

Under the spreading chestnut tree... In the 50th year of the automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free enterprisers. In his unadorned shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the whorling of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the acid smell of burning hoof, the hissing of cold water when a red-hot horseshoe is plunged into it. The brassy blacksmith—not so numerous as he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad who did their smithing in the very same shop—is a nostalgic part of the American homeown scene.

Mini-Cassia's Potato Parley Is Scheduled

BURLEY, Jan. 31—Mini-Cassia unit of Idaho Potato Producers association will meet for its annual session at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Burley Odd Fellows hall.

Ray Marques, Paul, president of the unit, reports the purpose of the meeting will be to elect directors and secure farmer views on certain matters affecting the industry. Mr. Ledberg of the Aberdeen experiment station will discuss potato improvement and disease control.

Growers Invited

"Many growers sustained severe losses from water-borne late blight last two seasons, and they will be asking for advice in preventing the disease," Marques said. All Idaho farmers are invited to attend and hear the goals of the organization and join the membership, he added.

Officers aside from Marques are Ford Wells, unit vice president; Willard Cranney, Oakley, secretary; George Mitchell, Burley, and Rulon Rocks, Rupert, directors.

State Meeting Set

President Marques also called attention to the state meeting of the Idaho Potato Producers association to be held Feb. 8, in Pocatello, following the preliminary or reunion meetings. A. W. Glander, Shady, president, recently stated:

"We erect a premium potato, not excelled anywhere in the entire world. Our acreage was comparatively low and our growers' business was few. Our supply was limited and the demand good."

Scams Has Changed

"Competition was not felt and freight rates were low. The potato industry in other states was not organized and they did not have to worry, but today the scene had changed."

He urged farmers to form local organizations to improve their varieties, yields and markets.

Potato growers are urged to bring their potato problems to the unit meeting on Wednesday as well as to the state meeting in Pocatello, Marques said. At the Pocatello meeting, local potato men will speak.

They are B. B. Smith, director of the fruit and vegetable branch of the department of agriculture, and Whitney Tharion, executive secretary of the National Potato council.

Expert Describes Best Weights in Marketing Swine

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Jan. 31—A hog weighing about 240 pounds is the best size for profitable marketing, Wade Wells, swine specialist at the University of Idaho extension service, advised Idaho farmers this week.

In cooperation with the department of agriculture, the extension service is encouraging producers to continue orderly marketing of hogs at reasonable weights. Holding hogs for feeding to greater size, Wells said, might result in substantial discounts for heavier animals in the live market.

The specialist pointed out that current prices for hogs coupled with a market preference for hogs of "reasonable" weight will be economically sound to sell before they reach the heavy class. The return per pound is greater for moderate weights than for the big pigs.

A hog of 240 pounds will yield 80 percent of the cost of putting weight on hogs. A student of pig-raising figures showed that a return of $1.25 for each 41 of additional feed is necessary to break even.

For the reasonable hog the return is around $1.61. For the heavy animal it frequently runs about $1.06, which makes it unprofitable to put on the additional pounds.

Committee Is Censured for Project View

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The budget bureau has today issued a report which is expected to be one of the most important in the history of the federal government.

Representative Murdock, D. Ark., in a report to the committee, advised the committee on charges it will approve in basic reclamation laws.

The bureau's views differ to some extent, Murdock said, from those of the federal reclamation department in determining the feasibility of reclamation projects.

Bill Phippen-Holod, chairman of the committee, encouraged budget bureau objections and has remained pig-headed by the house reclamation committee.

Murdock said the budget bureau is not in agreement with the committee on what should constitute "non-reimbursable" items of cost in projects. Cost of public lands acquisition and power users are not required to repay.

"It Costs Included"

The committee bill would have included in the cost of reclamation for such benefits as flood control, navigation, fish and wildlife propagation and sediment control, improvement of public transportation, promotion of public health, promotion of the national defense and fulfillment of international obligations.

The budget bureau would like to flood control, navigation, fish and wildlife propagation and sediment control, improvement of public transportation, promotion of public health, promotion of the national defense and fulfillment of international obligations.

Robins Urges Expansion of Traffic Police

BOISE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Plans for expansion of the Idaho state police force have been approved by Gov. C. A. Rohrer in his budget presentation to the joint appropriations and finance committees of the legislature.

The department of law enforcement asked appropriations for 10 additional state patrolmen and addition of six radio operators to man the statewide radio network.

Alton P. Burderson, superintendent of state police, said there are now 40 patrolmen, including five mechanics. He said the number of state police is insufficient to adequately handle traffic in the state. He pointed out there are 13 or 14 counties where no state patrolmen are assigned.

USDA's Wool Supports Set At Top Level

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The agriculture department has announced it will support producer prices of wool this year at the maximum level permitted by law. The aim is to encourage greater production.

At present, market prices are considerably above the support rate. There has been a low level of production in this country and advancing prices in world markets.

The support rate will be 90 percent of the parity price of wool as of March 15. The schedule of support prices by grade will be announced about April 1.

The department is required by law to support prices at whatever level (between 80 and 90 per cent of parity) is needed to encourage an annual production of about 300,000,000 pounds of shorn wool.

Production totaled only 234,000,000 pounds in 1940, and 218,000,000 in 1941.

The department said that on the basis of current estimates, production this year is not expected to be much different from that of 1940.

Former Resident Of Gooding Dies

GOODING, Jan. 21 — Word has been received here of the death Saturday of R. McManan, 60, pioneer resident of Gooding, at his home in Portland, Calif.

Mr. McManan was born in Indiana Nov. 8, 1860, and came to Gooding in 1909, taking up a homestead northeast of Gooding.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Minnie McManan, a son, Roger McManan, Gooding; a daughter, Mrs. Marian Shuler, Portland, Ore.; a brother, Robert McManan, Gooding, and two granddaughters.

The body will be brought to the Thompson mortuary at Gooding where funeral and burial arrangements will be made.

State Will Open Road Bids Feb. 17

BOISE, Jan. 21 (AP)—The state bureau of highways will open bids Feb. 17 for highway construction work between Mountain Home and Tolaite in Blaine county.

The work consists of constructing the roadbed, drainage structure and bituminous surface treatment on 4.81 miles of the Idaho central highway.

Price adjustments from past years buying schedule.

In another major change, producers will be given an opportunity to decide after appraisal of their wool whether or not they want to sell it to the department. In previous years, after wool was tendered, producers could not withdraw it from the support program.
