OUR COMMUNITY CHEST

What you give makes a difference! We all should like to hear of full membership statements as this year's Community Chest campaign gets under way. Unless we all contribute even individually so it really makes a difference, the drive will fall short of its goal. This would only present a serious problem.

There is one thing the people of Twin Falls should keep in mind. The Community Chest method of raising funds to finance the operations of the participating organizations is actually on trial. Several weeks ago there was some doubt as to whether it would be advisable to continue with the Community Chest in Twin Falls because of an apparent lack of interest. It was pointed out that several organizations, including the Boy Scouts, had withdrawn from the Community Chest, making it increasingly difficult to keep the consolidated plan in operation.

What would happen if Twin Falls discontinued the Community Chest and all the participating organizations went out on separate drives?

That question naturally presented itself. And it didn't take long for those discussing the problem to reach a logical answer!

The duplication of effort involved in all of these individual campaigns would be a burden to all the contributors. . . there was no end of reasons why the Community Chest should be kept intact if at all possible.

So, with renewed determination to continue the campaigning for funds into one general drive as possible, every effort was made to revitalize the Community Chest. The Boy Scouts agreed to come back into the organization, compromises were made on certain budgets, many public spirited citizens volunteered their help in perfecting an efficient campaigning organization.

But to be real frank about it all, the public's response up to now has been anything but enthusiastic. Many average contributions have been too small.

All of which amounts to bringing about a showdown on an important question which the people themselves must decide. If they will support the Community Chest, all by giving it the necessary support, or they'll let down the bars for every organization that chooses to "shoot for the works" in individual campaigns which at best will become a general nuisance.

There may be things about the Community Chest which some of us do not like. Perhaps, because of insignificant interest. However, support, it has gotten out of balance and needs re-organization in certain respects. But even with its faults, it is far superior to uncontrolled wholesale solicitations.

I'd give what it takes to put this year's Community Chest over the top. By so doing we'll retain a good fundamental idea at least and keep the participating organizations going.

Then, if any changes are necessary or desirable, let's come forth with constructive help and suggestions to make the Community Chest just what we want it to be in the years to follow.

To take any other attitude will only work to our own disadvantage.

LOOKEE, THE O' RABBIT!

We have been expecting it right along! It was just a matter of time.

Vice President Barkley couldn't hold out any longer. At a Democratic party rally at Milwaukee he pulled that honest old rabbit out of the hat.

It's time to change horses in the middle-of-the-stream-land, when you don't know whether you will get another horse.

What was foremost in the vice president's mind, no doubt, was the fear that the people might try any kind of horse in preference to a broken down donkey.

There were other developments indicating that the Fair Dealers are pretty much concerned in spite of the fact that they are Democrats in the present election campaign.

"The Brannan plan is a good example. At Milwaukee, Vice President Barkley 'hinted' that Secretary Brannan's farm plan is losing favor with the administration. It was the first indication that the much discussed proposal might not be pressed actively by Democrats in the present election campaign.

"The Brannan plan is controversial," said Barkley. "It is entitled to be studied, but I am not committed to it and the administration is not committed to it."

Or, in other words, so far as the vice president and the administration are concerned, politics come first. The Brannan plan has become unpopular with the people. They have known it was highly controversial all along. The only difference is, an election is near at hand and the Brannan plan is not too popular with the people.

The present administration did make one statement which no one will deny. The nation, he said, faces its gravest period.

Of course, he indicated in no way that the national administration might be at all responsible for this predicament.

POT SHOTS

NEAT LITTLE PROFF

Dear Doctor:

This business of potatoes and the price continues here as they do in the heart of the spud-growing areas. Your "Pot Shots" Sunday didn't do anything to end that thing.

So growers are getting from 80 cents to a dollar for hundred pounds of potatoes. And from your story I rather imagine not many potatoes were trading hands at all figure. Anyway, it's the market price, I believe.

Now go down to your grocery store and see what you have to pay for potatoes. The potatoes are clearly different from a 10-pound bag the other day. That's $200 per 100 pounds. There's a neat little profit for someone.

If you'll check the Chicago market report in your paper, you'll find that Idaho russets, U. S. No. 1, size A are bringing from $12 to 15 cents a bushel in Chicago.

I've asked for Idaho and never satisfactory answer. (HOW COME?)

CANADIAN DOLLAR SURGE

The fluctuation in the value of the dollar in the world's market is doing it own level, after being pegged at 49 cents to the American dollar. It is now at 51 cents, about half a cent above its dollar value.

There are two apparent reasons, one Canadian dollar is being sold in the U. S. market at a higher price than it is being bought in Canada. The other is that the U. S. market is being flooded with Canadian dollars. This is due to the fact that the U. S. market is being flooded with Canadian dollars. This is due to the fact that the U. State and county officers, a wrecking and salvage crew and an Idaho Power company repair crew worked until after 11 p.m. Friday to clear the debris caused by the overturned trailer above. The wreck occurred at 4:10 p.m. at a curve three-fourths of a mile north of Kimberly on U.S. highway 30.

Funeral services were held at the Rev. Donald B. Peterson minister, 121 N. Main street, in the Twin Falls chapel, Tuesday afternoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bottoms.

Crash Damage Totals $4,500; None Hurt in Several Mishaps

No one was injured, but damage totaled more than $4,500 when a trailer loaded with potatoes broke loose from a truck and overturned on a curve three-fourths of a mile north of Kimberly at 4:10 p.m. on Friday.

A second accident occurred seven hours later near the same spot along the highway. A truck carrying a trailer was being towed to Twin Falls. However, no one was hurt in that accident or in several others investigated by state, county and city authorities.

Donald I. Cox, 18, Hiale, Calif., was the driver of the truck pulling the trailer which spilled. He told state patrolmen the fifth wheel broke as he was rounding the curve heading toward Twin Falls. Investigation showed tire marks for 102 feet around the curve.

The trailer came to rest on its side against a power pole. It was shortly after 11 p.m. before the debris was cleared from the highway and an Idaho Power company crew completed repairs to the pole which was pushed over. Two buildings in the immediate area were without power for several hours.

Damage to the trailer, truck and load was estimated at $4,500. However, most of the 500 sacks of potatoes were salvaged. The Idaho Power company loss was estimated at $100.

Two cars were damaged as they slowed down to pass the wrecked trailer as it was being towed to Twin Falls at 11:15 p.m. Clara J. Mort, 10, route 2, Hansen, had slowed down to pass the trailer when it overturned.

Recorded Friday at the police station. At 12:50 p.m. John M. Berde, Twin Falls, driving a 1940 pickup truck, collided with a 1938 sedan driven by Esther S. Tolman, Twin Falls, in the intersection of Eighth avenue and Locust street.

A 1938 sedan, driven by Shirley Larson and a 1938 coupe driven by Dolores Worsham, Kimberly, collided at 3:20 p.m. in the intersection of Second avenue west and Madison avenue west. Both cars were damaged considerably.

At 4:15 p.m. Claude Cardwell, Twin Falls, driving a 1937 Ford sedan, attempted to make a U turn in the middle of the 300 block of Third avenue south and collided with a 1940 Cadillac sedan driven by William H. Deweller, Hasleton. The left front fender of the Ford and the right front fender of the Cadillac were damaged slightly.

Pat was cited for reckless driving. According to the state patrolman who investigated, his car sideswiped a county road intersection one-fourth of a mile west of Murrah.

A scratch on a fender was the only damage reported in a collision between cars driven by Nellie B. Moore, 33, Twin Falls, and Mrs. D. E. Nelson, 53, Wendell. The accident was reported at 5:25 p.m. Friday. It occurred on the curve south of the Ferris Memorial bridge on U. S. highway 92.

Slight damage also was reported in an accident between cars driven by Donald Garrison, 435 Filer avenue west, and Frank Borgerson, 465 Addison avenue. It occurred at 8:05 p.m. in the 100 block on Main avenue west.

Fenders and radiator grills were damaged in three traffic collisions.

Judge Issues Divorces for Three Wives

Criticism Held as Example of Benefits Under City Manager

Editor, Times-News:—It is an opportunity to acknowledge a little criticism because it serves as a good example of how the city manager form of government is being handled under the new constructive plan. The criticism is being handled under the new constructive plan of the city manager form of government. It is pointed out by the Twin Falls Association of Insurance Agents, with the start of fire prevention week today.

As a member of the city board of commissioners, I must admit the criticism was justified. But under the present system of administering our city affairs, this criticism, instead of arousing any antagonism, was accepted for what it was worth. It was constructive criticism, calling our attention to something the city officials were overlooking.

As a result, the city has ordered an entirely new set of signs to replace those which long since have been replaced. The new signs are ready for use by Armistice day. As it did nine years ago, the city's competence is underwriting the cost of the purchase.

This little incident illustrates that no matter how conscientious we may be in our desire to give Twin Falls good government, we are likely to overlook certain important details, and, with constructive criticism, these oversights can be corrected. All that we need is opportunity to receive criticism in the full benefits of such cooperation possible. And this illustrates the purpose that I am sure you have under our present setup.

For one, an unwarrantedly enthusiastic and almost militant city manager form of government, if we were already an enjoying many of the benefits from this improved method of city administration, and that with the cooperation of all those who have many more advantages will appear apparent to us all.

I urge the board of city commissioners and the city manager will welcome more constructive criticism with respect to the city manager form of government. I am sure that the cooperation of all those who have many more advantages will appear apparent to us all.

I urge the board of city commissioners and the city manager will welcome more constructive criticism with respect to the city manager form of government. I am sure that the cooperation of all those who have many more advantages will appear apparent to us all.

Teacher Enjoys Homecoming to Childhood Area

Editor, Times-News:—It is always homecoming to get back to this part of Idaho. My parents also are here. My homecoming was a trip to the city.

In 1947, I received a letter from my father, Mr. W. B. Smith, who was a teacher in Idaho. He said to me that he was glad to see me and that our school must be healthy and strong. He said that this demands a consistent, long-term program. It must begin now and not tomorrow.

Guard Plans Campaign to Boost Forces

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The national guard announced today a nationwide campaign to recruit 200,000 young men in its ground and air units during this fiscal year, ending next June 30.

Men aged 18 to 25, inclusive, will be recruited by guard units in all the states and to perform weekly drills of two hours each, plus 15 days' summer training, as long as their units remain under state or territorial control. For this they will receive about one sixth as much pay per year as regular army and air force men receive for full time duty.

Will men of draft age who join the guard before receiving induction orders under selective service be clear of the draft?

An army spokesman said they would. But he added that recruits would not have any guarantee against their being called into federal service. In that case, the recruits would go into federal service unless they had adequate grounds for a delay.

The army said the recruiting campaign is intended to build up the strength of the national guard up to the ceilings authorized for this fiscal year—320,000 ground troops and 60,000 airmen.

The spokesman said the recruits will not be used to form new units to replace those which already have been called into federal service. He said he explained, they will go into numerous units still under state or territorial control and now being authorized strength.

DAV Officers Are Guests for Dinner Meet of Local Chapter

Bradley chapter No. 5, Disabled American Veterans and auxiliary, held a potluck dinner in honor of the department and national officers Friday evening at the DAV memorial building, c. O. Cox, chapter commander, was master of ceremonies.

Honored guests were Mrs. Doris Bradley, local auxiliary commander; Mrs. Nellie Horek, state co-conductor; Mrs. Clarice Helita, past state president; Ted Helita, state commander; George Benning, 13th district committee man; Gus Olsen, sergeant-at-arms; and Ray Fender, national service officer.

The briefing was given by T. M. Night and the president of the DAV constitution was read by Helita. Plans were made for the state convention to be held in Twin Falls June 16-18, 1954. Plans were discussed for the Christmas party to be held at the Veterans hospital in Boise.

Order Continued By District Court

A temporary court order restraining Franklin H. Murdock from visiting his wife, Treasie L. Murdock, both Twin Falls, pending the outcome of a divorce action was continued Friday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Murdock also was ordered to pay $10 a month for the support of his wife and child until the case is settled and $100 for attorneys' fees. Mrs. Murdock filed suit for divorce Sept. 26, charging cruelty. She claims her husband has neglected her and their 11-year-old son, threatening them with serious bodily injury.

Her attorneys are Smith and Jacob. The next regular meeting of the chapter and auxiliary will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the DAV building. Mrs. Clarice Wolters is in charge of refreshments.

Board Clears John Service Of Red Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—John S. Service, a principal target in Senator McCarthy's charges of communism in the state department, has been cleared of the department's loyalty board.

Final action was taken by the board yesterday. State Department Press Officer Roger Hubby told reporters he had been told that Service's name was on a check on one new rumor from the far east which finally had been found "baseless". The general inquiry on Service as a security risk was completed last June.

Tangled With Harley The board action is only the latest in a series which has kept Service, a career diplomat, popping in and out of hot water since 1944, when he tangled with Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley in China.

Since that time his name has been a favorite with congressmen accusing the state department of leftist leaning.

Indictment Refused The most spectacular of the incidents came in 1945 when Service was one of six arrested in the America magazine "whore" documents case. A grand jury refused to indict him and James P. Byrne, then secretary of state, called him back from suspension to active duty with a letter welcoming the grand jury decision.

McCarthy, a Wisconsin congressman, set off the latest case last spring by naming Service as a man high in communist ring he said was operating in the state department.

Caught at Sea The accusation caught Service at sea on the way to a new assignment in New Delhi, India, and he was rushed back home to answer.

Since then he has been making for the loyalty board's findings and studying background material for the job as co-ordinator of embassy in India. As of last March when the charges broke he was a class 2 foreign service officer at $19,350 a year. He has not been under suspension.

If the loyalty board's finding are accepted by Deputy Undersecretary of State Carlisle Hummel and by President Truman's special loyalty review board, Service's employment will start again on his interrupted trip to New Delhi.

Pair of Cases On Calendar; Plea Changed

The district court criminal calendar was reduced to two cases Friday when Lainery Odie, 23, Illinois transient worker, changed his plea to guilty after the state reduced the charge against him from first degree burglary to petty larceny.

Wednesday Dewey Dean Bitter, 24, transient, with Odie on the calendar, reversed this plea when the state reduced the charge. They were engaged in harvest work in this area prior to their arrest on a charge of burglarizing the L. S. Shays ranch house south of Klamath Sept. 2.

Both men were sentenced to 100 days in the county jail from the time of their arrest. Judge Hugh A. Baker told them the state and court were being lenient in their cases because neither of them previously had been accused of a felony.

Charley Howard Feuer will be tried today on a charge of grand larceny. He was arrested on Oct. 7 on a charge of burglarizing a home in the neighborhood of the city.

Decision on Plans to Divert Columbia Waters May Be Known in Next 3 Months

...because of our growing military and economic commitments in Asia will make Great Western "inflexible" in much less than 50 years. They are now even talking about short periods of 10 and 15 years.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior William E. Worne, a Californian, talks of the day when there will be 20,000,000 people living in California and reminds the managers of the fact that the state will gain more than 2,500,000 new citizens in the next 10 years.

But he adds, and his thinking is echoed by editorial comment in Oregon and Washington papers, "this means not only new citizens of wealth in California, but it means also, new markets in California for the products of other states. The new and growing markets of the southwest he observes, "Oregon, for instance, once had to ship lumber and cheese 2,000 miles to find a market of 10,000,000 consumers. Now she has a market that size on the Southern Pacific railway in the State south of the Columbia river."

...Tel California dip into the Columbia near its mouth for such crops of fresh water as will meet the need. Their subscription would be modest.

Despite this ferment of interest in diverting surplus Columbia waters southwest, the reclamation bureau maintains an official attitude that if they are doing it "conducting a project of the project, maintaining a project, the project plan as follows:

"The system would deliver water progressively all the way down from northwest to southwest, picking up some surplus waters from some of the streams that it intercepts, and redistribute that water and the diverted water all down the west coast and finally deliver into the Colorado river an amount of water which will permit the meeting of the Mexican treaty requirements. This, in turn, would permit the distribution of and an increased use of water within the Colorado basin.

"The far-reaching effects of the scheme can be seen in the following:

"This water that would be brought from the Pacific northwest down the west coast will in turn, make possible the redistribution of projects in Wyoming that this would be so because some of the Wyoming water which must now go to California to meet the compact requirements for delivery to Los Angeles, and the delivered water under the Mexican treaty, could be used at home in Wyoming. The same is true for such states as Utah, Colorado, Nevada and others.

based. Will there always be more water in the Columbia watershed than will ever be needed by the inhabitants of the whole northwest?

They do say, however, that nothing will ever be done to jeopardize the maximum development of the region.

In any event they point out, and are seriously planning to literally pipe any portion of the Columbia to Los Angeles. What is being considered is a gradual displacement of present sources of supply by redistributing the two great water sheds.

Whiz Kids Bow Out After Dropping Four Straight

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—New York Yankee pitching and Yankee power hit in a lullaby Whitey Hotel from Philadelphia's relief to defeat, 5-2, in the world series today before 48,098 roaring spectators. The fourth straight victory gave the Yankees their 13th world championship in 17 attempts.

But for an error by outfielder Gene Woodling with two out in the ninth inning, Whitey Ford, a 21-year-old freshman marvel from the sidewalk of New York, would have played over the National League champs with their second shut-out of the one-sided playoff.

So wonderful was he had to be taken out when the next pitch singled, and the veteran Alie Hirschman went in to strike out the pitcher, Stan Lopas, for the final out of the series. But the greatest cheer that rocked the arena today accompanied the little soupman as he strode to the dugout.

Purdue Humbles Notre Dame to Head Upset

Not Enough

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Notre Dame, mighty battler of the gridiron since 1946, fell with a tie that cost point underdogs, turned the trick at South Bend, 27-14, before the rapturously cheering eyes of 56,748 onlookers.

This was perhaps the biggest college upset of the post-war era, for the Irish have been the most invulnerable in the annals of running up a defeatist streak of 39 games, although they were tied twice.

Not was the Notre Dame team the only one of the day, in East Lansing, Mich. The second-place team of the country, Michigan State, caught its bumps at the hands of Maryland, 47-14, another decisive upset that stunned 39,373 spectators.

Purdue's freshman team, the first of its kind, was the only one to win a game in the Big Ten conference. The team, which was coached by the legendary coach, was defeated by Michigan State, 27-14.

The final marker was made on a 56-yard run by the Irish, which was the only one to win a game in the Big Ten conference. The team, which was coached by the legendary coach, was defeated by Michigan State, 27-14.

SICE Official Cites Actions Of IEA Meet

tute of teachers in which the pupil was the center of attraction. The teachers must take the child as the point where the child is and teach him from there, he explained.

His sixth impression was that the teacher to carry out the proposed curriculum changes, must be better educated. The teachers must have a high degree of specialization and have a broader and more general field of knowledge.

The seventh impression, according to the speaker, was that the development of the curriculum is an education in itself. The curriculum by learning it as they develop it. He pointed out that the curriculum development is not the resulting study guide but the education of the teacher.

Factors Recommended
The eighth impression was that several factors must be considered. The teachers must make it work and the curriculum must be continuous.

Health, Physical Education
Highlights of the health and physical education section were recommendations that the course be continuous from grades six through 11 and that sex education by qualified instructors and the effect of narcotics on the body be taught to students.

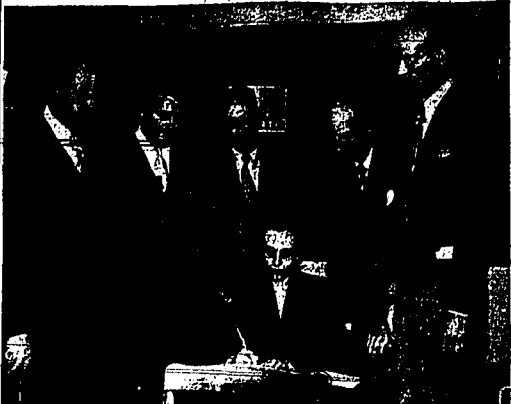

Industrial Arts
Child recommendations of the industrial arts section was that a coordinated state industrial arts program be established with continuing advisement from a state industrial arts director.

Language Arts
The language arts group recommended that a continuous program of study be planned for grades one through 12, and that the curriculum be flexible to meet needs of students.

Impact of Atom
He pointed to the coming age of atomic power and warned to the philosophy of Henry Adams who gazed in wonder at a dynamo about 1882.

Recommendations for curriculum changes were made by each course group at the convention reviewed by Doctor Snyder at the closing assembly.

District IEA Officers Confer

New and old officers of the fourth district Idaho Education association held a brief meeting Friday afternoon after the close of the regular district convention. Two new officers were elected at the convention. Seated in Lois Huby, Beth, standing are: J. A. Miller, retiring president; J. Carl Worthington, Jerome, new vice president; and Garth Reid, Twin Falls, new president. Reid, as former vice president, automatically became president at the convention. (Staff photo-entourage) and that the subject be correlated with other subjects. The language arts section said there should be continuous teaching of reading and areas across the library work. Other recommendations were that the course be increased a year for the student to increase a full-year course which should be placed on learning how to listen and that remedial study be continuous.

The mathematics section also recommended that mathematical fundamentals should be taught continuously in grades 1 through 12. They suggested meaningful subject projects—either for "extension" of knowledge, a stress on the social values of mathematics, supervised workbook studies and more teaching equipment and materials.

The chief recommendations of the library group was that the facilities show more interest in the library and teach students how to use the library. Less emphasis on typing and shorthand with more emphasis on general business prerequisites was discussed projects which schools can carry out under the Junior Red Cross program.

Giant Gorillas Moved Without Trouble to Zoo

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Two giant gorillas, supposed to be the last of their kind, were moved Friday to their new home in the Bronx zoo. Zoo officials were jittery about the move. It took seven hours to transfer the pair 1,300 feet—a rate of about three feet a minute. The 400-pound male gorilla, Makoko, took one look at his new home and let out a mighty roar of pleasure, maybe, or perhaps anger. The crucial point came when it was Makoko's turn to lead his 300-pound mate into the steel transfer crates—but he hesitated in a quick flash as a wick and without causing any trouble when Keeper James Holly yelled at him: "Zoo!"

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By Times-News Correspondents and Staff Writers

It is getting around that in the time of the future use—say along next April or May, which means that a lot of things except life are about to be topped up.

Magic Valley's perennial oil drilling is in this category, former and later. While actual drilling for the oil is almost over, a lot of words about the subject are still in the air. The sun has been shining on the desert rattlesnakes' joints next spring.

The valley had its share of oil activity this year. But that is not unusual for they are not some of the fans the spark of oil fever again and haggings dot the landscape.

Thirty years ago a couple of outfits from Pennsylvania came into the valley and after poking around a bit decided to sink test wells southwest of CARLEVEY. One was located on the Devine ranch. The well drilled all summer long and residents of BURLEY drove out on Sundays to their Tin Lizards, their Chandlers, their Jewetts, their Franklins and their Overlands to "take a look at developments."

They turned more gasoline in their automobiles than the speculators ever got out of the well but it gave the people something to do, something to talk about.

It is true that the drillers did strike a little natural gas but that's all there was to it. The drillers went down to 1,000 feet.

Over in what is known as the Coal Creek area, the other group of operators from Pennsylvania sunk a well. They went down to 1,700 feet but didn't get anything but sand so they quit. Because the location was not so accessible as the Oakley well it was so popular that it was advertised superintendence. Do it drilling rigs were left standing, but for many years. They were pointed out to tourists as some of the old wells.

Again this year the oil fever descended upon the valley and two independent companies and one large oil company began operations. The first independent company to get into the valley was the Coal Creek company, Logan, Utah. Its outfit was set up on the other side of CARLEVEY and the two workers were located to put a hole in the ground.

Many rumors were started that this well was the best one yet had been struck and passed and another was that the drillers had hit a "flash," a word to describe a "dome" beneath the earth's surface under which oil may be found.

Also under "faux" are sand and salt water. In the instance of the Coal Creek well, nothing was found. The fault was not penetrated at 2,200 feet. The drillers ceased operations around Labor day and had the vicinity. People in Malta under a demand that the firm interest in the well be sold next spring with a large drilling outfit.

The other independent concern, the Idaho Oil Development company with office in TWIN FALLS, had done no drilling. According to Fred F. Fowles, an official in the company, intensive sale of stock has not started. He said he expects this phase of the work to be done this fall.

The large oil company which is drilling test wells in the Phillips Oil company. The firm's main well is known as the Juniper well and is located just over the Cassia line in Shoshone county. Right now the well is down to 11,000 feet. The oil company also has leases on other land in the area and if the present well proves to be an dry one it is possible other sites may be tried.

Residents of Malta are more interested in the Phillips well than in any other. They are hard headed about it and are not so concerned over the possibilities of oil as they are over business with the crew doing the work. But there's a hitch. Employees of the company can get to the site from Malta, 30 miles away, easier than they can get from Malta, 100 miles from the well. Malta has an all weather road to the well while Malta does not. And the only stretch of the road from Malta to the mine that is not all weather is only five miles long. Malta residents want something done about that.

Noris Goodman and Orlo Myers, MURTAUGH, went Elk-hunting this week but their horses didn't get the job. One of the party got out of the ordeal but killed himself in the process. While attempting to load the horse onto their truck, the animal became frightened and reared to one side. In coming down it struck a metal rod on the truck and stabbed itself. The plan was to sever the two hunters had to put off leaving on their hunt until after bottom of a box and covered it with straw. Then they put the turtles in the box. Almost as fast as a jack rabbit the two scooped beneath the straw and into the sand without error so much as a "good night."

The Albertsons, who have placed the turtles next to the furnace in the basement, don't expect to see them again until in April. During the winter they are in hibernation they'll be easy keepers. As a matter of fact they won't eat a thing.

Opens Office

Dr. William H. Kibler has opened offices here for the practice of oral surgery, X-ray and diagnosis, he announced Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Kibler moved here from Postville, where he practiced for 14 years. His office and residence address is 142 Sixth avenue north.

Twin Falls schools got a boost this week when Alvin J. Jones, state superintendent of public instruction, in the city for the teacher conference. Jones said Twin Falls schools are using the most modern curriculum and teacher planning is at a peak.

Washington school, he said, is a model elementary school. Teachers from out of the city who visited the building during an "open house" were enthusiastic in their praise, he added.

One teacher said the building was planned rather than just planned, Jones declared. He said the parents' interest was evident in the warmth and color of the room decoration. The floor designs, he added, are fascinating.

Mrs. Winifred Newman, 78, BURLEY, is an enviable person—accident-free. She was struck by a car in 1910 and she didn't get any harm but she never got her leg in her "normal" way of life.

She does her own house work in the city and raises chickens and crickets. According to neighbors she has been in the city for 20 years and she is still as active as ever. She has a housewife and in less time, in addition she finds time to indulge in a hobby that makes her happy.

But that's not all. Mrs. Newman is a religious woman and she is devoted to her church. She has been in the church for 20 years and she is still as active as ever. She has a housewife and in less time, in addition she finds time to indulge in a hobby that makes her happy.

Last week the members of the first grade in the CARLEVEY school had an experience which, to them, was a milestone in their young lives. They took a ride on a train.

To many children this wouldn't mean anything but to the children in Carley it was a lot for Carley has no railroad. In order for them to take the train ride the children were taken to the school bus. They boarded the train there while the bus went on to PICOBO to meet them when the train arrived. Then they were taken home. Their teachers, Mrs. Elmer Smith and Mrs. Alva Bush, and a PTA representative, Mrs. Loris Bimpton, accompanied them.

A farmer over in BUHLL apparently could quit farming any time he wished and make a living singing. Gene Klusa is a baritone of no mean ability but very few people who know him know about it. About the only time he uses his voice nowadays, except "after-dinner" course, is to call square dances and to sing in the choir at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

In 1931, however, Klusa won first place in singing contests in Nebraska and then went to St. Joseph, Mo., to win the mid-western regional contest. Since then he has done very little singing.

In case any of you are interested, the ancient turtles owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Albertson's children in BUHLL have gone to bed for the winter. Being in the south of the southern part of the United States, the recent cold weather was a little too much for them. The Albertsons put some sand in the

Let the Facts speak for themselves!

John H. Fact Alice M. Fact George Edward Fact Horace Fact

"It's the only leading low-priced car that has 8 hydraulic brake cylinders. The others have 4. That's why Plymouth Safeco Hydraulic Brakes give you better, more predictable control of the car."

"Plymouth doors open wider. For instance, the rear door opens 10 inches wider than the rear door of one of the other two leading low-priced cars and 12 inches wider than the other. It's easier to get into and out of."

"Just turn the ignition key of a Plymouth and the engine starts, with the choking done automatically, too. One hand does it all. It's another Plymouth exclusive in the lowest-priced field."

"In the lowest-priced field, Plymouth is the only car that gives you a 87-horsepower engine with 7.0 to 1 high compression ratio. Plymouth gives you top performance out of every drop of fuel."

Mildred Fact Joe Fact Willis L. Fact Note:

"Plymouth seats are higher than the seats in the 'other' cars. They're chair-height. You get full support. You sit up naturally. The chair-height seats hold you up where you can see, too."

"In case of a blowout, Plymouth's Safety-Rim Wheel holds the deflated tire tight on the rim—keeps it from twisting while you stop safely. No other car in the lowest-priced field gives you that protection."

"Plymouth fenders blend into exterior lines smoothly but they're not integral parts of the body—they're bolted on—front and rear. That means they cost a lot less to replace or repair in case of traffic damage."

There are many other Facts connected with Plymouth feature after feature that no other leading low-priced car gives you. Why not get to know the Facts? Your Plymouth dealer will introduce you.
