A large cattle ranch in Nevada has been purchased by a group of Idaho men and California associates, including Jim Brailford, Twin Falls, who was a sheep farmer on the ranch during the old days of the Utah Cattle Company, and A. L. Houghlin and his son, J. A. Houghlin, large scale livestock and the operators in this country since 1904.

Brailford recalls the ranch with sentiment for it was there his father, the late A. H. Brailford, prominent livestockman, gained his first employment in this country after coming from Canada in 1884. It was known then as the Gamble ranch.

The new operation, to be known as Gamble Ranch, Inc., was bought from Charles E. Brailford, Jr., and Albert Black Brailford, a consideration exceeding $1,000,000. The ranch is located in the Nevada desert, and is a large cattle ranch.

A parcel of land 40 miles long and 20 miles wide, the ranch contains 220,000 acres of wooded land and adjacent rangeland, including some 100,000 acres of rich land irrigated from wells and reservoirs. The sale included more than 4,000 head of cattle.

The new owners plan gradual development of the ranch, with improvements to rebuild old reservoirs which have washed out, with a gradual increase in herd numbers. The ranch is put back in production. Brailford says there is a possibility of adding to the cattle holdings later.

Leader of 8th Army Is Killed

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 23 (AP)—A drab army ambulance took the body of Lieut.-Gen. Walton H. Walker back across the bleak Korean country today to his U. S. eighth army headquarters for transfer by air to Tokyo.

The fighting little general was killed almost instantly this morning by the collision of his jeep and a South Korean army truck as he was bound for the front to decorate members of the 27th Commonwealth brigade.

Service Held

As Col. Paul Maurer, ninth corps chaplain, formerly Vincennes, Ind., said in a brief, impromptu service near the scene, this is a grievous loss to the United Nations army in Korea at this difficult time—that this great commander should meet his end in such a tragic fashion.

Top general of Walker's command and a military knot of tough-as-iron GI's bowed their heads as the chaplain intoned a brief prayer.

Attack Expected

The general had died at the moment when his army was facing the first probing thrust of what is expected to be a great Christmas offensive by the Chinese Communists.

The army thus went under temporary command at a moment of grave peril.

Walker's heavy little vehicle, rugged undergrowth with the jeep, was stuck against a land mine and upturned.

Chief Leaves To Command Eighth Army

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway left tonight by air to take command of the eighth army in Korea.

The 57-year-old air transporter leaves his duties as army deputy chief of staff for administration to take command of the eighth army.

Secretary of the Army, Paul H. Nitze, said that Gen. Ridgway is a man of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff.

Before boarding the plane Ridgway told reporters he wanted only to pay tribute to the "indomitable heart of the man whose death is the real loss."

Pace walked Ridgway godspeed and said the U. S. and the United Nations are fortunate in having a man of his courage and ability to lead the fight for free nations.

During the conversation, General Walker's death, General Collins called him a "man of the joint chiefs of staff."

During the conversation, General MacArthur reported, General MacArthur said he would like to have Ridgway succeed him as commander of the eighth army.

Engineers figure the atomic submarine will be able to cruise at 25 miles an hour at great depths for an indefinite period. They also say the boat will be as aggressive as a plane for a year or so without refueling. And the new machine will have no exhaust system.

Present subs must behave like spiders, waiting for unwary prey to fall their way, the new subs, even when they are as aggressive as a hungry coyote.

The British are less optimistic about the atomic submarine. They say a 1,000-ton boat that will power a cruiser, going to finish it by 1954.

Atomic engineers like to compare their new sub motor here with the history of the diesel engine, which proved the world was not that it was adaptable for trucks and trains and small ships. Before 1919

Christmas Prayer

O divine Infant, who, after the wonders of Thy birth in Bethlehem, wastest to extend to the whole world Thy peace, the Prince of Peace, the Redeemer of mankind, the very Son of God; renew in us Thy children, the proofs of Thy goodness and almighty power; enlighten our minds, strengthen our wills, and inflame our hearts to know Thee, to serve Thee, and to love Thee in this life, meriting thus to enjoy Thee eternally in the life to come, Amen.

Wreckage of Plane Found; Pilot Is Dead

PENNINGTON, N. C., Dec. 23 (AP)—A rescue plane that tonight reached the wreckage of a DC-3 airliner which crashed yesterday high up on 8,000-foot Mount Ocran with 18 persons aboard.

The two talked over the luncheon table in McGlo's Big Horn home for the first time since the 1941 crash. The two pilots were both in the wreckage of the plane.

As head of the powerful Social Security party, Schuman has become a spokesman for the strong anti-remuneration groups in West Germany.

They also found 106 dead breadstreak hens, part of the 3,000 breadstreaks stocked at the farm. A few were found to be fresh, but the rest could be edible, Sup. Bill Glenn said Saturday night.

The dog is being checked for possible rabies. He was found near the wreckage of the plane.

Jerome Students May Gain Pheasant Lunch After Dog Visit at Game Farm

JEROME, Dec. 23—It isn't certain yet, but Jerome school youngsters may get pheasant on the holidays.

The school children's events began Friday morning when attendants at the state upland game bird farm found a mighty wild English setter in the pheasant brood chook pen. He spent the night chasing pheasants.

He admitted it was possible but not probable that the dog could have made the fence break in two leaps—once to the top of a covered pen then over the fence.

The dog belongs to W. R. Hand, Jerome, who has agreed to replace his dog's one-night ban. No pheasant hens are available in Idaho, but

Korean Fight Darkens U.S. Yule-Holiday

By The Associated Press

Americans in the midst of plenty face Christmas seriously this year with their minds on fellow countrymen fighting in Korea's barren wastes.

Shops never more abundant, Yule decorations never more lavish. But an outward air of Christmas cheer could not obscure grim world events and hardships at what the future might hold.

The grim outlook placed emphasis on home ties as Americans across the country gathered for Christmas reunions.

President Truman flew from Washington to Independence, Mo., for a quiet Christmas observance in the family home with his wife and daughter, Margaret.

Other Americans beamed into railroad stations, airports and terminals for similar homeward journeys.

Mr. Truman, before taking off, gave autographed photographs of his cabinet to each cabinet member. He sent signed Christmas cards to White House employees and shook their hands at their annual reception.

One of the impressive Christmas observances in the nation is at Bethlehem, Pa., where the original star of Bethlehem came is symbolized by a 90-foot lighted star in Bethlehem, Pa., where the original star of Bethlehem came is symbolized by a 90-foot lighted star.

An estimated 500,000 persons traveled to Bethlehem to see the star to gaze on the star, visible to 20 miles.

Bethlehem also planned its 194-year-old Christmas Eve candle light ceremony in the old Moravian church.

Red Forces Gaining in South Drive

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 24 (AP)—Chinese and Korean red advance forces, edging south of Korea's 38th parallel, gained up to a mile Saturday.

The U. S. eighth army, under temporary command because of the death of its commander-in-chief, General MacArthur, is making progress toward mobilizing the forces of the border, which is 2,000 yards, to a little more than one mile, beyond their previous penetration.

General MacArthur's headquarters confirmed that leading elements of the Chinese and Korean forces had reached the Chongrye area, a two-mile south of the 38th parallel, the pre-war boundary of North and South Korea.

The Chinese invaders apparently were not as yet crossed the border in force.

Associated Press Correspondent William J. Waugh in Seoul reported that the Chinese had made an unconfirmed report circulating in the South Korean capital had the red Chinese across the parallel in numbers. He said that only a few advance units had stepped across the border, which is 2,000 yards, to a little more than one mile, beyond their previous penetration.

Jaycees Deliver Tons of Food

...delivered five and one-half tons of food in 178 Christmas baskets yesterday afternoon. A truck with Christmas "dinner" is left to right, Mark Dodson, Addison Parker, Newell and John Fickens. Baskets ranged in value from $12.50 to $40 depending on the size of families to be fed. Among foods donated for the Jaycees Christmas project were one and one-half tons and 600 pounds of turkey. Volunteer help also was given the Jaycees in sharing Yuletide with the less fortunate. (Staff photo-engraving)

YOUR MINISTER SEES IT So It Is Christmas

...HUGHES Pastor of the Nazarene Church in Twin Falls, Idaho, sees Christmas as a time when the world is brought together in such a way as the Christmas spirit.

...The reason is, because we are celebrating the birth of the only one who can ever generate such a spirit in the hearts of people. This spirit of joy and love was never known in the world until that silent night on the hills of Jude when the Heavenly Host announced the birth of the Christ Child. His such inspiration has ever come from the birth of another.

...The Christmas carols live in the hearts of people and are repeated over and over because they are inspired in One who has the embodiment of love and peace. When Jesus was here in the flesh He never met His match, although He was challenged at every step. Denied a place in the palace, He was born in a King in a stable. Refused the adoration of the sages, He was worshiped by shepherds. Since no Levites came to chant, angels sang His Christmas carol. The great did not apply for tuition in His school, so He chose humble fishermen and taxgatherers to be His disciples.

...Being Himself a miracle, the normal atmosphere of His life was friendly to miracles. People regularly came to ask Him to do the impossible. And after admitting it was impossible, He was right again and asked Him to do it anyway. In the language of the Bible Christ is the answer to every need. To the hungry He is bread. To the thirsty He is water. To the sick He is physician and healing balm. To the accused He is advocate at court. To the condemned He is mercy and pardon. To those whose lives are wasted He gives beauty for ashes. He is the Rose of Sharon for beauty, the Morning Star for hope, the Lamb of God for redemption, and a Great Rock in a weary land and "a shelter in the time of storm." He is the Lion of the Tribe

Judge Settles Ownership of 16 U.S. Bonds

Disputed ownership of 16 U.S. Savings bonds was settled in district court Friday by Judge Kates R. Lowe. The bonds were awarded to George C. Woods, administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Mildred Irene Dobbs.

...Lowe, in the court battle, was a winner from the deceased March 21, 1948.

Complicating the matter of ownership was a property settlement approved at the time of the divorce which in part awarded the deceased $800 in cash and bonds. Crispin contended he made the settlement entirely in cash and that he was entitled to the bonds. Woods started the suit to quiet title to the bonds which bore the names of both Crispin and Mrs. Dobbs. The administrator had possession of the bonds.

Judge Lowe ruled Crispin was mistaken in his recollection that he had paid the $800 in cash and also of the date of the payment.

Parry, Keenan, Robertson and Daily represent Woods. Crispin and attorney were Rayborn and Rayborn.

For several years the bell served as a fire alarm. Last year it was taken down and placed on top of the village hall. When the fire alarm was acquired, however, the bell was retired from service. Currently, it is resting in a shed at the village hall, just waiting until it will be called into service again.

Pruett Relates Guesses Over Yuletide Stars

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division,
Oregon Higher Education System
At Christmas time it is customary for astronomical writers to speculate as to the nature of the star of Bethlehem.

This writer several times during the past 10 years has enumerated the various theories, both natural and supernatural. The year, however, we shall discuss the so-called "new stars," or novae, simply as scientific phenomena and let the reader draw his own conclusions.

Well-Known Fact
It now is well known that a star sometimes appears in great splendor in a region where no stellar object has been noted before, and remains visible for weeks or months.

This is called a nova, or "new star." At its best it is visible in full sunlight. The noted English astronomer, Tycho Brahe, observed it and left us a careful account of its appearance. He wrote:

"I was contemplating the stars in a clear sky when I noticed that a new and unusual star, surpassing all others in brilliancy, was shining most above my head. . . I was astonished at this sight that I was not ashamed to doubt the trustworthiness of my eyes. A minor accident, either the greatest of all that have occurred in the whole range of nature since the beginning of the world, or one certainly that is to be closely watched by those attuned by the holy spirit to the things of heaven."

Andean Account
The earliest account of a "new star" was one described by the Greek scientist Hipparchus in 134 B. C. Many have been observed in modern times.

They are not sudden new creations as the name might imply, but have been faint stars unnoticed until something caused them to flare into great luminosity. After their blaze of glory they slowly fade back into obscurity again—or at least into telescopic stars.

Photographs taken at their regions of appearance long before the culture generally show faint white stars. Some terrible upset later causes them to increase thousands of times in brightness.

No entirely satisfactory explanation of the stellar cataclysm producing a nova has been given. Some have suggested that two stars collide, or at least suffer surface grazing.

Others consider tidal action between two passing stars may be responsible. Or the star may be heated by passage through a nebula less than of a meter through our atmosphere.

Perhaps enormous energy comes from a subatomic action within the star itself and blows off the surface shell. Spectroscopic studies confirm this.

Club Meets
BURLEY, Dec. 25 (UP)—Burley Kiwanis club, at the Wednesday meeting, heard a Christmas tale by the Rev. James Crowe, Methodist pastor. The Rev. Mr. Crowe, who served as a chaplain during the World War I, spoke on "The Life of Christ and His Followers in the World of Today."

The Junior high school boys sang three Christmas numbers, directed by Linden Latham. Chorus was John Thompson and Dick Butler.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

The next day, Scrooge got to the office early. So early, Bob Cratchit was late to work. "What do you mean by coming late at this time of day?" growled Scrooge.

Before Bob could say a word, Scrooge had added, "A merry Christmas, Bob! I am about to give you a holiday."

It was the most wonderful thing that had happened to him in his life. He had never been given a holiday before.

He was so surprised that he did not know what to say. He only stared at Scrooge for a moment.

Then he said, "Thank you, sir. I am very much obliged to you. I shall be sure to be here on Monday."

Scrooge looked at him for a moment, and then he said, "Very good. Now, about the office. I have a great deal of work to do."

Bob Cratchit bowed and then he went to his work. Scrooge sat at his desk and thought of the holiday.

He had never had a holiday before. He was so used to working that he did not know what to do with his free time.

Baptists Prepare for First Services in New Sanctuary

The Rev. Herman C. Rice, pastor of the First Baptist church, talks to Forest Steele about the new church's public address system at left while Mrs. John Bishop practices on her violin at center. The first services in the new church's sanctuary will be held Sunday morning.

Baptists Schedule First Services in New Church Sanctuary This Morning

Twin Falls Baptists will attend their first service in the sanctuary of their new church Sunday. The interior of the church is now complete and only drapes and carpeting remain to be installed.

The Rev. Herman C. Rice, pastor, has been busy all week arranging last minute preparations for the service while those who will take part in the service have been rehearsing in the new sanctuary.

The Sunday service in the church will be the climax of three years of work by the Baptists on their new building. They have completed a church which adds much to the beauty of the city.

Those who attend the service will sit in Phillips mahogany pews set on pean wood flooring. They will look toward a chancel done entirely in blond oak. The blond oak pattern of the reredos is backed by dark stained plywood to emphasize the pattern. Red velvet curtains will hang in the archway which looks into the baptistry.

Four choir pews face the center of the chancel from each side. The pulpit and lectern extend into the sanctuary from the altar rail. Organ and chime pipes are hidden above the choir pews behind organ grilles or blend oak.

From the high Gothic-arched ceiling hang 4-inch lantern-type chandeliers, each holding both flood and soft lights. Steel beams of the roof have been plastered over and extended down the green walls of the sanctuary. The windows are of amber colored glass.

The acoustics of the sanctuary are so good that, without temporary carpeting on the floor, a pin dropped near the altar could be heard at the rear of the room. Not only could the listener hear the pin drop, he could hear it bounce.

The sanctuary pews seat 300 persons and the choir pews seat 40. In addition to this seating space, a balcony seats 80 more persons.

Minor work remains to be done.

Navy's Recruiters Sending Two Big Groups for Exams

It will be post-holiday work for Magic Valley navy recruiters who will send two large groups of prospective enlistees to Salt Lake City for their physical examinations.

A group of 25 will depart Wednesday, as one of the largest groups since July, 1940. That group will be topped by another of 19 so far to depart Jan. 3.

Most of the men are from Twin Falls, Bluff and Paul. Recruiters said the early enlistees set off something of a chain reaction in going back to their home towns and bringing in more prospects.

on the new church, the greatest of which probably is laying carpeting in the sanctuary and chancel. However, the Baptists will find that their new church already is a beautiful house of worship when they attend services the day before Christmas.

Just off the pastor is the Boiler Memorial chapel. The chapel is used for services having an attendance of approximately 50 persons and was donated to the church in memory of Anthony Rober. It has gray walls with trim of gold and various shades of gray, green carpeting and indirect lighting. At the front of the chapel is a fine-looking painting of Christ in Gethsemane.

Minor work remains to be done.
