Public Forum Bellevue People Taking Issue With School System's Survey

Editor, Times-News: We of Bellevue feel we should take issue with the recent "survey" printed in Times-News and other papers pointing out the deficiencies of our high school and defend publicly our position on the question. In the first place it seems highly probable that the so-called "survey" conducted in Blaine county could be true as substantiated by pictures. We are basing our opinion on the times involved in making the "survey." Since all five schools in the county were visited by a "survey" group of four men during one school day and during a time when most conditions might be expected to be at their best, it is extremely hard to believe that not too much time could have been spent in any one school.

In Bellevue the group arrived at 11:15, toured the school building and grounds, visited the lunchroom and from there went into a called hearing with residents to believe chosen to represent the community. They left the building immediately following the hearing, without making any statement whatsoever. Since these are the facts we do believe that their statement that academic work in the field of English is as basic as their actual knowledge as is the statement, "it is obvious that the curriculum is weaker spots center around the commercial, vocational shop, health and physical education departments."

Several times during the two meetings grandmaster Bellamy, the proficiency of Bellevue's English teacher was cited, which is no doubt a commendable impression of strength in the curriculum. However, since Bellevue high school does have both boys' and girls' health and physical education instructors, and because state recommendations have been adhered to in teaching the subjects, there can be no weakness in those departments.

The full commercial course is not offered in Bellevue this year, but has been pointed out to members of the state and local boards. The curriculum here is planned by our capable superintendent. Although all subjects are being taught, we offered each year, they are increased so that, through a high school course, a wide choice of subjects is offered.

It is true that we do not have a certified teacher of shop in our school, but it is not apparent to parents of boys in the shop class that the skill they are gaining is not of the highest quality. It is true that in our teaching, we do feel that the class is well taught.

It is true that our lunchroom is operated in conjunction with the home economics class, but this is no handicap to either department, so far as can be determined, and we value the practice of offering both the course and the service to the students and patrons of our school.

The "survey" states that "another obvious weakness is the complete lack of use of the library as it was being used in being re-catalogued. The addition of some 300 new books to the already existing stock of reference and fiction material collected over a period of many years seemed to be the best use of the material for the best use to the students. The "survey" group was invited to see the school through school-community enterprise a fine program and sound system are in constant use in our school. Since the district director of the audio-visual program is on our faculty, we feel quite sure that Bellevue students are receiving the full program. Incidentally, the new books were school-community purchased also, in the main.

The "survey" states that there has been continued loss of accreditation in our school, but, since the faculty has been strengthened, the curriculum broadened and other improvements have been made in the past few years, we are confident that, before that, this seems a wholly unfounded statement. It is true that students from Gannett, by passing our high school and students from our community attending school in Ellay, in the past, though there were instances which induced Halley residents to send their students to Bellevue. Since their action then did not jeopardize the position of the Ellay school, we fail to see why the action of a few people now should be used as a whip over us in our struggle to attain what we feel is rightly ours.

There are many things we feel have changed in our schools, but we are in a constant struggle just to survive, we haven't much energy left with which to build. We know, however, that there is too much public misunderstanding of our situation, that there are too many people bringing pressure, without fully understanding the whole picture, hurrying us to believe the busy rumors, with students of all ages hounding so severely a verdict as did the "survey" group. We feel that our powers of resistance are not comparable curriculum to Halley's, which all aspects are understood, and we believe we shall stand nothing and we certainly shall lose nothing. We are proud to have our own privileges that the "survey" group enjoys in the extra-curricular field. In Bellevue high school we have student body activities covering groups. We turn out a splendid amount of money in terms of uniforms and boys' state. We recruit numerous all-school and high school groups and sports events. All our young people who wish to do participate in athletics, with an athletic team in football, basketball, and boys' state. We recruit numerous all-school and high school groups and sports events. All our young people who wish to do participate in athletics, with an athletic team in football, basketball, and boys' state.

Hells Canyon Speakers Get Hot Reaction

(From Post Co.) The wide range of economic and political factors involved in the controversy was summarized the expected benefits from the construction of Hells Canyon. He readily admitted that the project, that one of their main concerns is the possibility of power revenue from Hells Canyon paying the bulk of the cost of the Mountain Home Irrigation project. He was questioning several times how the bill assures that Mountain Home would receive the power revenue.

"Must Have Faith" His answer was that "we must have faith in the bureau of reclamation and federal government." For an example of the bureau's interest in Mountain Home project, he pointed out that the proposed bill does provide for one of the features of the project.

Glabay's other main point in his attempt to justify construction of the project was that it would need low cost power to develop phosphate deposits and bring in new industry. He said that the project would be a "low cost" power and Glabay gave a figure of "about 2.5 mills per kilowatt-hour."

Takes Issue Here Moffat took issue with the fact that the dam would be built on the site of the dam. He said that the dam would be built on the site of the dam. He said that the dam would be built on the site of the dam.

Glaby countered the question by saying that downstream benefits would reduce the cost and point out that last year Bonneville sold power for an average of 2.33 mills. In turn, Moffat informed Glaby that the 4.5 mill figure set by Bonneville included the downstream benefits. Moffat did not deny Moffat's statement.

Moffat also attacked Glaby's statement that cheap power would be available. He said that the dam would be built on the site of the dam. He said that the dam would be built on the site of the dam.

To the economy-minded folk who think they are being misled by the tax dollars, we say that this theory of centralization has not a shadow of merit. It is interesting to see how much the loss of the little community of Gannett has been pointed out to members of the state and local boards.

The folks who advocate closing of the school have not stated that there will be any saving—or any improvement in Blalley school—they just say "close the school." The closing of our school, if it comes, will say to us that democracy is being destroyed. The trouble today is that we are not a part of our heritage.

W. N. HEAD (President) (Bellevue Lay-Advocate Council) She Says People Need to Go Back To Reading Bible

Editor, Times-News: I notice nowhere there is no mention of the Bible in the troubled, God-forgotten world. It seems to me anyone can find the right answer or perhaps the right answer is to go back to the Bible. I am not ashamed if it comes to me that I am not a part of our heritage.

We have to bring the Bible back in our home in order to prepare ourselves and children to go into the church. That is the meaning of the lesson. Seek eye first the kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you. (Matt. 6:33-34)

He is the one who is not heard in the roar of the crowd. He is the one who is not seen in the eyes of the world. He is the one who is not mentioned in the reports of the news. He is the one who is not seen in the eyes of the world. He is the one who is not mentioned in the reports of the news.

How long can their sense of honesty hold out against the tales of dishonesty of which they read and hear? How long will it take for corrupt politicians to convince the coming generation that the surest way to financial power is to sell their souls?

Does all of this sound the note of hopelessness? I do not intend it so. Several answers are at hand. One is suggested by the words of the Prophet, who said to a similar generation: "Let the wicked forsake his ways, and the upright man his thoughts. And let him return unto the Lord and he will have mercy and abundantly pardon."

Another answer is found in every school classroom where teachers still teach the basic things of good character. If the overburdened taxpayer of America thought for a moment that the school teachers of the nation were instilling the minds of youth with the kind of adult corruption common to our times they would want to abolish the school system.

Another answer is found in the vast majority of the homes of the nation where the parents instill the children with the fundamentals of morality.

Another answer is to be found in the churches. The ministry to childhood is one of the joyous privileges of the church. Its ministers give their lives for their altar training. Its consecrated teachers freely give of their time, their talents and their prayers to lead the children into the best way of life.

The final appeal is to all who may have been victimized by the into resist the evils of our times. And what is worse, too many have joined forces with the evil which they once abhorred.

Dr. Elton Truhead has a story which symbolizes what I mean. It concerns a New Jersey taxi driver with whom he once rode. The driver is speaking: "I don't see the world the way I used to. I don't believe what I'm taught as a boy. I've decided all of that was foolishness. I've got a new philosophy." And what was his philosophy? Here is what the taxi driver said: "This is my philosophy. This is the kind of world in which the biggest dog gets the biggest bone, and I mean to be the biggest dog. There isn't a thing I wouldn't do. I'll lie, I'll cheat, I'll undercut my best friend, I'm going to get mine, and I am going to get it soon, see?"

Truhead suggested when he got out of the taxi that he probably should read the meter. The driver was not quite prepared for that, he rose up with vigor and said, reconstructing his position, "No, I ain't gonna sell my soul for a quarter. If I was to do that the worms would go on my bones."

It is one thing for adults to be so hardened that they will take a bribe, and an extra dividend for a sack of potatoes as easily as a trout takes a fly. But it is another thing for such a "side-of-events" to reach the childhood of America.

What disturbs me these days is the problem of the children who are the potential victims of such an oncoming tide. How long will it be until they no longer believe what they are taught in childhood? How long will it be until they are victimized by the examples of adults?

Report on Scout Building Is Made At Rotary Parley

REPORT, March 1—Kenneth Tyree, building chairman for the Rotary Boy Scout newly completed building, gave a report at Rotary club luncheon Wednesday.

The 60 by 20-foot building is located between Second and Third streets, on E. street near the canal. The troop has a 44-year lease on the site which belongs to the government. The exterior was started three years ago and troop 51 has been holding meets there since. Interior work, consisting of knotty pine walls and plaster board ceilings, began Monday and was completed Thursday night. The building cost $3,000.

The Rotary club troop is the only troop in the area with a special building.

A. C. DeMay was in charge of the program for the meeting. Tom Maberly outlined the canning cooperative plan and asked members to help in the stock selling drive. The scholarship fund report was made by DeMay. This fund, which is to assist students unable to finish their final year at school, has helped between 100 and 150 students so far.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Most children look forward to their birthday anniversaries with eagerness and expectation for a birthday party is, almost, but not quite, as wonderful as Christmas.

Mary Pat was born in Atlanta, Ga., eight years ago on Feb. 29. As a baby it made no difference to her if her birthday anniversary was celebrated on Feb. 28 or Feb. 29.

When now an adult, "How old are you, Mary Pat?" she seriously replies, "None."

Members of the Episcopal Women's guild, HAILEY, are wishing for larger waitresses. At least each church party, if followed by waitresses will mean more money donated to start a fund for improvement in the basement of the church building.

The plan started at the regular meeting of the guild last week at the home of Mrs. Fred Vancil. Minnie Lippie was based around the pockets of cash which were left over the recipients what they must use.

The MORTAUGH high school nomenclature class is displaying an unique kind of living in Magic Valley. The boys and girls are making a total of 30 friends. A fireplace in the room was lighted and a dinner given to the guests.

Merrick will return to Bellevue at the close of the school year to take his wife and son, John, to their new home.

Johnson couldn't suppress a chuckle as he pulled the license out. He told Wright he'd been waiting for a warden to check his license. The one he showed to Wright turned out to be a 1912 fishing license.

Restrictions on fishing seasons in 1932 were rather severe. Saguhen and turtle are closed for the taking of any species throughout the entire year, except that it shall be unlawful to utilize any and during a threat to wild life.

4-H Clubs in Lincoln Plan Annual Event

SHOSHONE, March 1.—Lincoln county 4-H clubs will join in observing national 4-H club week Saturday through March 9. In addition to the 10 clubs working in the county in 1951, several new ones are expected to be organized soon. Today Roberts is starting a livestock club in northwest Shoshone and Clifford Suttman will organize a new livestock club in north Shoshone. The "Wagon Wheel Variety" with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Barnhart as leaders, and "Mile-a-Minute" with Mrs. Manning Pettit as leader, are the clubs presently working in north Shoshone. Another club may be started in the spring, Fred Kuhl, county agent, said.

Leaders are needed in Shoshone for girls' 4-H clubs, particularly for foods projects. Mrs. Leonard Bond, leader of the Shoshone Builders in 1951, will not be able to act as leader through the entire summer. Most of the 20 girls completing projects have indicated that they wish to re-enroll in Shoshone. Mrs. Myron Johnson has led the "Beaving Beavers" for the last four years.

"Ten Tens" is a new girls' club at Richfield. Mrs. William McKay is leader. The name was suggested when 10 10-year-olds signed up for the club. The girls don't know whether or not to keep that name permanently. Several of the members were 11 years old. The "Ten Tens" have met all winter. The livestock club at Richfield are the "Busy Beavers," led by Ben Haubrich and Ray Briggs, and the "Bicycle Challengers," led by Will Robinson.

Four 4-H clubs are serving the District area. Al Scott has led a livestock club there for 12 years, a record for the county. Mrs. Scott is assistant leader of their club, the "Bookies." The "Midgets—Home-makers," a girls' club, is led by Mrs. Jack Edwards. Mrs. Delbert Hickson has assisted with the club for four years but will be unable to do so this year. Other clubs at District are the "Bicycle Wranglers," a livestock club led by Howard Pittman; and the "Greasy Tractor Boys," led by Gerald Press. One of the 100 who enrolled in 4-H in 1951, 97, or 90 per cent, completed their work. Seventy of these were girls and 27 were boys. Five clubs had 100 per cent completion. They were the clubs led by Mrs. Manning Pettit, Mrs. Edwards, Elmer Pittman, A. B. Scott and Ben Haubrich.

They Aren't His Type

Frank Lawrence, one of three bachelor members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club, isn't convinced as three Kiwanis wives attempt to determine what type girl he should marry. Left to right are Lawrence, Mrs. Douglas Dean as the lady, Mrs. Jack Threlkeld as "Miss Miami" and Mrs. Stetling Lawson as the planner. It was all part of the ladies day program at the club session Thursday. Thirteen "types" were paraded before the three bachelors during the special program attended by 168 Kiwanis members and wives. The other two club members are Roy Jeser, and Richard Maschauer. (Keller photo—staff engraving)
