Wraps Taken Off New Tank By U.S. Army

NEWARK, Del. July 1 (AP)—The Army today took the wraps off America's newest tank, the Patton M48, which it has placed, nearly $2,000,000 worth of orders with the big three auto companies.

Boasting a score of improvements, the fighting monster now is in production by Chrysler corporation at its Warren, Pa. body plant, General Motors at Grand Blanc, Mich., and Ford Motor company at a still-to-be-completed plant at Detroit.

All three of the firms have mass production orders for the 45-40-ton tank. Chrysler's call for more than $1,000,000,000 worth. Ford for nearly $475,000,000 and Ford for $425,000,000.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, and a dozen top generals, looked on while Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., widow of the World War II hero, christened the T-48 the Patton at a ceremony here.

At Warren, Ford executives and General Motors officials staged a simultaneous introduction of the new tank, which was designated by Chrysler engineers working with Army experts.

Biggest feature of the new weapon is the one-piece cast hull, with an elliptical shape and no sharp angles presenting no flat surfaces to enemy shells.

It is the first time that American armor makers have been able to produce a one-piece hull cast, which is welded with a streamlined turret with sloping sides, deflects direct hits.

Return From Pacific Paradise

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD WARR. They are visiting sons and daughters in Magic Valley after completing a two-year LDS mission in the Pacific ocean. They are described by Warr as most nearly in the garden of Eden as anywhere on earth. (Staff engraving.)

Dream of 45 Years Concluded For Area Pair After Mission

Mrs. EDWIN BRUNE, Murtugah, Idaho.

Forty-five years is a long time to wait for a dream to come true, but William Edward Warr, Oakley, has just finished his.

In 1905 at the age of 12 he made a two-year mission to Samoa for the LDS church. He returned to Idaho as a young man, but he never forgot the island he saw as nearly like the garden of Eden as anywhere on this earth.

Since that time his ambition has been to return. On June 18 he and Mrs. Warr returned from a 21-month mission to Samoa.

Warr had taught school in Idaho for 30 years before making his second mission.

The Warrs left Oakley Aug. 30, 1950, and sailed from Los Angeles Sept. 12 on a Matson line freighter. The voyage took 12 days to Pago Pago, Tutuila island, one of three larger islands making up the Samoan group. Bayall and Upolu are the other two.

Mrs. Warr says her first impression was that the island looked like a great green cushion rising out of the water. It appeared most wonderful to her after having been sick most of the way.

They lived at Apia, Upolu, while on their mission. Upolu is the most populated of the islands. It has several miles of oiled and hard surfaced roads. Around Apia, natives wear when they work in American in warm climate. Some wear sandals, but most go barefoot.

In outgoing villages natives wear much the same as they did 45 years ago, very little of anything. Their food consists of taro, breadfruit, fish, beef, pork, chickens, bananas, pineapples, mangoes, etc. (called native foods).

Best out of beef and pork is found when the Warrs first arrived and prices had gone up to 22 cents a pound by the time they left.

Meats, butter, potatoes and most of the fresh vegetables and fruits were shipped from New Zealand. Canned fruits and vegetables come from Australia.

"The white people on the island are mostly New Zealanders, working for the government. Five meal times are observed. They consist of breakfast, 10 a.m. tea, lunch at noon, 2:30 p.m. tea and dinner. The natives are very hospitable and frame house with 16 other missionaries. These were teachers, office workers and laborers on the school building. The branch where the Warrs lived had 500 members and 1,200 members are recorded on the three missions.

The LDS church is constructing a $200,000 school building to be completed about Sept. 1. It has 24 class rooms, a manual training department, a home economics building and an auditorium for about 1,500 people. Warr said the people, especially the younger ones, were very anxious to acquire a better education.

Warr's official title was the first superintendent of the mission and superintendent of four large schools. He said his stay on the islands was most enjoyable than the first time because he had acquired fluent knowledge of the native language.

Mrs. Warr was superintendent of the junior Sunday school of the Peoga branch. Average attendance was 125 children between the ages of 6 and 12.

"The Samoans are a very happy people and love to dance, sing and eat, especially eat," said Warr. Mrs. Warr said the natives sang songs to them and their work on government roads and plantations and private plantations. The most important export is coconuts, coconuts and bananas.

"The weather is very hot and humid, raining practically every day for an average of 14 inches a year. A large baseball with a hole in it is used to play football. The natives sleep on a grass mat on the floor.

The thatches are made of sugar canes or reeds similar to sugar cane. Heavy mats woven of coconut leaves form a floor covering over the gravel. During a rain storm, blinds or shades, made of tiera of woven coconut leaves, are drawn over the roof. Sixteen to 24 posts, depending on the size of the house, form an oval-shaped room. These posts are spaced three feet apart, forming an open air pavilion, topped with a peaked thatched roof.

The Warrs celebrated their 68th birthday while waiting for passage on the overtaxed airlines. Mrs. Warr is 68 and Mr. Warr is 67. They said that although one plane left Hawaii each day, they had to wait 12 days to get passage. It took 9 hours and 20 minutes to reach San Francisco. They arrived June 13 and were met by their son, Mark Warr and family, who flew from Honolulu.

Both were happy that they were able to accomplish their mission, but very happy to see the United States flag on American soil. They have many pictures and souvenirs given them by the natives.

"The Warrs will live at their farm in Oakley, but have made no plans for the future other than to visit their sons and daughters, Jess Warr and family and Farnum Warr and family, Murtugah; Bill Warr and

Parched Area Of Southwest Needing Rain

By United Press

The worst drought on record parched portions of the southwest today while hot, humid weather stretched from the smoky-southward to Idaho and Texas.

A relatively cool mass of air extended from the Great Lakes to the east coast and southward along the coast to its central portion. Thunderstorms here—lowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Crops Retarded

The drought retarded critical water shortages and related crops in southwestern Missouri and portions of Oklahoma and Kansas.

For many sections it was the drought on record, surpassing the drought of 1915-16.

Six towns in Missouri and one in Kansas and Oklahoma reported water consumption at an all-time high during June. Many dairies in southwestern Missouri said the milk supply was the lowest on record.

Blockyards reported drought-induced runs, with farmers selling their stock because their pastures were burned out.

Miss Missouri

In Missouri, the blackberry and raspberry crops were not expected to reach 10 percent of the 1951 production and the drought was expected to cut the tomato crop in half.

Chickasha, Okla., faced one of the most critical water shortages. Water in the Washita river, source of the city's supply, was less than a foot above the lowest pump pipe despite a dam built as an emergency measure last week.

In some sections of Oklahoma the drought had extended for 23 days. In southwestern Missouri, only 7 1/2 inches of rain fell during the entire month of June.

A drought in sections of the Dakotas, however, was broken by heavy rains the last few days.

Legislators to Seek Another Year in Office

BOISE, July 1 (AP)—Advance information from state-level politicians today indicates that many members of the 1951 legislative session plan to return to their posts in 1952.

A few, however, are giving up legislative positions to run for other political offices.

State Sen. Erwin Schwedler, R., Canyon, and L. Cobby Levy, R., Boise, have announced their candidacies for nomination for congressional seats from Idaho's first and second districts.

Carlton Nielson, D., Bannock, and W. C. Smith, D., Shoshone, said they plan to run for commissioner posts in their respective counties.

Tom Bell, a veteran Minidoka county representative, said he will not return to the 1952 legislative session. He plans to stay on his state-appointed job as public works commissioner.

Among the 1951 legislators hoping for reelection are:

State Sen. Ray J. Davis, R., Bannock; Richard Sarnon, R., Blaine; Harvey Schwendman, R., Fremont; W. C. Thornton, D., Gooding; W. Everett Johnson, D., Idaho; William J. Costley, D., Lewis; J. Kenneth Thatcher, R., Madison; Charles Collins, R., Minidoka; and Clark Hamilton, R., Washington.

Gem Senators Help Kill Veto

WASHINGTON, July 1 (Special)—Idaho Senators Dwyer and Walker joined in the 97-0 majority that overrode the presidential veto of the McCarran-Walter immigration bill.

Dwyer said "the bill certainly isn't perfect but it lays down a constructive immigration policy, which will permit potentially desirable persons to enter this country without jeopardizing our basic American interests. During the 37-0 majority that we have been extremely liberal in opening our doors to immigrants, and I can see no reason at this time for any drastic relaxation."

Walker declared "I think this is much-needed legislation. It is supported by the FBI, the immigration service and all other people interested in keeping out of this country those who do not desire to become good American citizens."

"There isn't any question but this country is being infiltrated by thousands of immigrants yet I know our American traditions. I think this is a great step toward building a stronger America."

On the house side, both Representatives Budge and Wood voted to override the veto.

Report Given on May Goods Sales

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Manufacturers sold $22,400,000,000 in goods during May, cutting their inventories from $42,000,000,000 to $43,500,000,000, the commerce department reports.

Both sales and new orders received by manufacturers shrank a little in May, but the department said the backlog of unfilled orders remained near a peak at $84,300,000,000. The new orders totaled $21,900,000,000.

BOISE, July 1 (AP)—The bureau of reclamation will open bids July 22 for painting of houses and garages in Big Falls, Idaho.

High Court Gets Case of Veteran On-Right to Job

BOISE, July 1 (AP)—An appeals court has asked the U. S. supreme court to decide whether a veteran entitled to his $25,000-a-year job in the government printing office—his last step in a court fight he says has cost him $100,000—has a right to his job.

Lt. Col. Orion T. Campbell, stationed at Boise, said he was notified that his appeal has been filed for the October session of court.

Campbell said that when he returned to his old job after World War II, he was rehired as a new employee. A U. S. district court ruled favorably on his suit to get back his former position. At that time, a government attorney said the litigation had cost the government half a million dollars. The Washington office of appeals later overruled the district court.

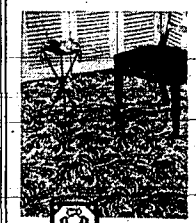

Campbell, who since has returned to the air force, said other veterans are affected by the litigation, and that the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars had intervened in his behalf.

Kremlin Blueprint for Revolution in Asia Outlined by Aide for Secretary

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1 (AP)—The Kremlin's blueprint for revolution in Asia calls for incitement to rebellion against the west and then communist "seizure" of all political power. Assistant Secretary of State John McAllister said today.

He told an institute of international affairs meeting at the University of Washington that Asian nations since World War II could have established political and economic stability but for the influence of militant communism.

Allison said the key to the Soviet strategy for Asia was applied, but Allison said the Communist party has complete control, ousting the others.

"Fourth, form an alliance of the working class and the peasantry, led by the Communist party.

"Fifth, the Communist party has complete control, ousting the others.

"Sixth, remember that true national independence can be achieved only in unity with the Soviet union.

There is no third, middle, or neutral road.

"Seventh, from powerful peoples liberation comes under the leadership of the Communist party. It is the struggle of the masses with the armed struggle which is the chief activity in colonial national liberation movements.

To meet the red strategy, Allison said the United States was using its military, economic and political power to create free countries based on strong and stable governments.

Allison took issue with charges that the Korean war is "senseless." SEN. ROBERT A. TAIT has called the war "unnecessary" without naming names. All on said this type of charge would be abridged.

BERLIN, July 1 (AP)—The western allies sternly accused the Russians last night of trying to split Germany in two permanently by tightening communist restrictions along East German frontiers with the west.

The allied notes said the Russian-inspired tactic of closing border crossings and forcing border crossings to be made by military trucks and trucks from the surrounding Soviet zone represent a clear attempt to restrict movement of people and goods between the Soviet zone and the rest of Germany.

Meters Asked In 10-Minute Parking Zone

Replacement of 10-minute zone signs with 12-minute parking meters was suggested to the board of city commissioners Monday night by City Manager J. H. Latimore. No definite action was taken on the matter.

Latimore said the change to parallel parking has created a surplus of meters which could be painted a different color and fixed for 12 minutes. He said this would increase meter revenues and allow better control of the 10-minute zone. He said he favored leaving one loading zone for each hotel.

He also requested approval of a fireworks display to be given by the city recreation department at Jaycee park Thursday night. He said the baseball game will start earlier than this. Approval was granted.

The city manager said trash haulers have been notified their licenses are expiring and some have applied for renewals.

City Attorney Robert N. W. Balaban said some insurance men have asked for an ordinance prohibiting drivers from getting out of the driver's side of a car and stepping into a lane. Police Chief H. C. Giffels said he would investigate the problem.

Howard Mamma, Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager, said he and Commissioner O. E. Chaney had obtained permission from the state highway department to put up directional signs at the Five Points intersections showing the way to the business district. He said five points was a especially confusing.

Moffat also said he understands a contract will be granted this fall for improvement—was identical—across the narrow bridges.

The date for receiving bids on liability insurance for the city was set from July 14 to July 20 because the insurance association has not obtained the necessary data to be submitted to the various companies.

Bids will be received July 21 on petroleum supplies and anti-freeze as well as a three-day holiday. An ordinance was passed under suspension of the rules adopting the 1952 edition of the uniform building code.

The board authorized closing of city offices Saturday to allow employees a three-day holiday. The closing was recommended by Latimore because city offices are open only three hours on Saturday and other business establishments will be closed.

The police judge reported receipt of $1807 in fines, bonds and costs during June.

The state department of public health reported four negative results from water analyses. Licenses were issued to DeLuxe Gas company and Valley City company taxi parking. Hello motel, 1241 Kimberly road, motel license; Evergreen Stores, Inc., 147 Main avenue east, pool table license; Clover Klub, Earl Knoeke and Cardinal Food Market, Paul Cronkline, bar license and Jerry Stenings, Edens, and Francis J. Layne, Twin Falls, both taxi drivers.

Ore Tram Removal Is Completed

An example of the task in moving the old Triumph mine tramway to Salt Lake City for use by a television station in this load of buckets in a truck driven by D. W. Simmers. The load weighed about 13 tons. Simmers and other drivers have completed the task of moving 200 tons of tram equipment. (Staff photographs.)

Removal of Historic Triumph Mine Tram Finished at Hailey

HAILEY, July 1—The last truckload of approximately 200 tons of tram material were taken from Triumph to Salt Lake City Friday by the Shary Engineering company which has the moving contract.

The equipment originally was used in the erection of a tram to transport lead, silver and zinc ore from the Triumph mine to loading bins on the railroad some five and one-half miles down the hill. Eleven miles of 1 1/2-inch cables were used as a hauling cable. The other two cables known as truck cables, each were 5 1/2 miles in length—the one being 3/4-inch cable and the other 1 1/2-inch cable. Seventy-five buckets, holding 1,300 pounds each, operated 24 hours a day as the day and night shifts dug out the ore. The ore was taken to the top of the Triumph workings by a 700-foot shaft. At the railway siding large loading and discharge stations were used. These also have been moved to Salt Lake City.

When the depression hit after the tram had been used a little more than a year the Triumph closed. On reopening again in 1938 the tram again was put in use and was operated continuously until 1941. At that time mine officials decided to renovate the old North Star mill and run a tunnel through the mountain, a distance of some 8,000 feet, through which the ore could be brought by cars.

In this way the shaft was no longer used, the tram was discarded and has not been used since. After the tram is assembled again its cargo will be made up of people rather than ore. It will be used as a service tram for the crew of workers.

Fireworks Replaced by Auto As Big July 4th Holiday Killer

MINNEAPOLIS, July 1—As a fourth-of-July killer, the automobile has almost exactly replaced the fire-managing fireworks and the tetanus-producing blank cartridge pistol of 50 yrs ago, says the family economic bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

With a long week-end holiday coming up this year, the insurance company points out that our last long week-end Fourth of July holiday, that of 1950, saw 491 traffic deaths, in 1951, with a one-day, mid-week Fourth, the national holiday produced a much smaller traffic total, variously reported at from 91 to 105 deaths.

In 1903, the Fourth of July week-end saw 466 deaths due to fireworks. Of these, 408 resulted from tetanus, which in turn was caused principally by germ-laden wadding blown into hands and faces from blank cartridges. The 1903 holocaust from tetanus resulted in severe restrictions being placed on the sale of blank cartridge pistols in many cities. By 1908, when July 4, as in 1951, came in the middle of the week, total fireworks deaths dropped to 158.

Of the 158, 75 deaths resulted from tetanus; 18 were from gunshot wounds, including 14 persons killed by stray bullets many people did not believe in using the tetanus-producing blanks, so they shot regular cartridges instead. Fires resulting from fireworks burned 38 people to death; another 18 were killed in miscellaneous explosions which occurred during the days of the celebrations. Cannon and capon-crackers killed seven; a rocket killed one and one died in a runaway after the horse was frightened by a capon-cracker.

In succeeding years the fireworks toll continued to decline, as a mounting tide of public feeling against the useless annual disaster resulted in more and more legal restrictions on the use of explosives, while "safe-and-sane" public celebrations became the vogue. In 1951 three deaths were reported from fireworks, for the entire United States.

Rapid Expansion of Domestic Uranium Production Urged by Congress Group

WASHINGTON, July 1—A congressional atomic energy subcommittee recommends a "rapid" expansion of domestic uranium mining to guard against the possibility that foreign ore supplies might be cut off in time of war.

In a formal report on its six-month-old investigation of the atomic raw materials situation, the subcommittee called particularly for stepped-up exploration and mining on the Colorado plateau, which has provided most of the uranium ores found in this country to date.

It also proposed a "large-scale program" for recovering uranium as a by-product of the phosphate fertilizer industry in Florida, and possibly in Idaho, Montana and other phosphate regions.

The subcommittee backed up recent statements by Sen. Brien McMahon, D., Conn., chairman of the full congressional atomic energy committee, that uranium acreage can no longer be "held as a reserve" for restricting the size of the U.S. atomic program.

"It was should come some years hence and if the United States did not then possess as many atomic weapons relative to other types of armaments as would have been desirable," it said, "there could be no valid exonerations of either the military or higher authority in terms of uranium shortages."

"The military cannot escape responsibility for fixing weapons requirements at whatever level needed to defend the United States effectively and cheaply."

While the subcommittee did not say so in so many words, it left little doubt that it disagrees with the defense department over the relative priority given atomic and conventional weapons.

It urged the atomic energy commission to take all necessary steps to increase "substantially" the amount of atomic ores which this country buys abroad—mainly from Canada, the Belgian Congo and South Africa—as well as expanding domestic output.

In that connection, the subcommittee stressed the desirability of beginning to stockpile thorium, a comparatively plentiful radioactive element which has not previously been used in atomic production but

Injured Worker to Face Theft Count

ROYSE, July 1—Richard Pritchett, 37, of Royse, was charged with receiving stolen property after he was brought to town on a stolen automobile charge as soon as his condition permitted.

The pickup truck demolished in the crash in which Pritchett was injured belongs to Arnold Moeller who resides west of Rupert. The truck was taken Saturday evening while Mr. and Mrs. Moeller were in the city.

Their son, David, 17, saw a man drive off in the new Dodge pickup and telephoned his parents. Moeller notified the sheriff's office.

and that "it is a virtual certainty that good producing areas exist but have yet to be located."

Anniversary Observed by Chinese Reds

TOKYO, July 1.—The Chinese Communist party marked its 31st anniversary today with a special ceremony in the most important city in Asia.

With increased government controls on trade, industry, education and religious, social and intellectual pursuits, Mao Tse-tung's regime appeared firmly in the saddle.

Millions purged themselves with a blood purge that took more than a million lives and an invidious, all-pervading indoctrination which turns children against parents and wife against husband.

From Peking, the Moscow of the pipelines of communist propaganda and political authority infiltrate most of the other countries of the east, from Japan to Indonesia.

Communist orders go out and reports flow in through a network of agents, diplomatic pouches and radio channels. Organization of cells in other countries goes forward ceaselessly.

University Gets Electron Microscope

An electron microscope, 1,000 times more powerful than an ordinary light microscope, has come to the University of Idaho as a gift from the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company of Kellogg. The instrument, costing about $20,000, will be used for research by all divisions of the university. Examining it are Stanley Easton and R. E. Spiker, physics instructor. New Equipment at University of Idaho Opening Entire New Fields of Studies

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, July 1.—Housed in the science building at the University of Idaho is new equipment that is giving greatly added significance to the means of the building. Included are an electron microscope, 10-foot grating spectrograph, spectrophotometer and polarimeter.

Opening up entirely new fields of studies for various divisions at the university, from agriculture to mining, is the electron microscope. This highly intricate machine has been developed as a research instrument within the last 12 years, but already its contributions in many fields have been of tremendous significance.

Electron microscopy extends man's vision to objects 1,000 times smaller than those easily studied with the light microscope, thereby permitting the study of particles of molecular dimensions. Photographs developed from pictures taken with this machine show objects enlarged as much as 25,000 times.

In the mineral field, for instance, the electron microscope is used to study the shape and size distribution of minute particles such as are found in clay, dust and smoke; to evaluate the texture of metals, glass, porcelain and many other materials; and to aid in the basic problems relating to the structure, chemical character and origin of matter.

"The University of Idaho has been given this machine, costing about $20,000, by the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company as an all-university gift to scientific progress," said President J. E. Buchanan. "The plaque over the machine tells the story. It reads: 'This electron microscope is a gift from the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company, and is dedicated to the advancement of science and its consequent benefit to mankind.'"

The huge spectrograph, also recently installed at the university, is giving university scientists another big hit. Emission spectroscopy provides a powerful method of recognizing and measuring the chemical elements in the structure of the compound in which they exist. Accurate quantitative determinations to percentages as low as 0.001 for certain elements can be made by relating the intensities of the lines of the spectrum of the sample with those of standard patterns. For this reason, and because of the speed of the method once a procedure has been established, spectroscopy has greatly supplemented and in specific instances, supplanted wet chemical analysis.

The spectrophotometer, another added tool of science, is an instrument for comparing the intensities of the corresponding colors of two spectra. It evaluates absorption in the visible region, and is used to study the color and amount of absorption of solutions, glasses and other transparent substances, as well as the color, gloss and lustre of reflecting surfaces. It is an invaluable instrument, for example, in the study and control of pigments.

The polarimeter is an instrument for measuring the degree of rotation of plane polarized light by certain chemical compounds, which enables the scientist to determine relatively high rock content in oil. The instrument also may be used as an analytical tool for determining the concentration of certain substances.

MYF Officers in Hansen Installed

HANSEN, July 1.—Kenneth Naylor read the installation services for the new officers of the MYF Sunday evening with Mrs. Hugh Sanderson assisting. Each officer placed a lighted candle in a holder, getting the light from a single candle representing Christ. The vice president, Carolyn Naylor, accepted the service for Marilyn Moore, the president, who was not present.

Other officers are Margaret Klutik, secretary; Dean Moore, treasurer; Barbara Klutik, commissioner of worship; Ruth Sanderson, commissioner of world fellowship; Bill Hill, commissioner of community service; and Jean Mathison, commissioner of recreation.

Mrs. Sanderson sang a solo and the ceremony ended with the Fellowship circle. During the recreation hour games were played and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Sanderson and her husband are the new commissioners of the group, replacing Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Naylor.

BULL, July 1—Competition in the Bull Knothole league will continue Wednesday with four games scheduled.

The loser of the Fletcher-Spreading contest meets the Berry Motor team at 1:30 p. m. followed by a 1:30 p. m. game between the Moose lodge team and the Jayces team.

League standings in the 8 to 10-year-old age group find the Fletcher Oil team in front with three wins and no losses. In second place is the Berry Motor team with a record of one win and two losses. Spreading Service is third with no wins and two losses.

In the 11 to 12 age group, the VFW team is on top with two wins and no losses, followed by the Elmer Drive team with one win and no losses. The Jayces with one win and one loss, and the Moose lodge with no wins and two losses.

International Spy Game Developed by Great War, Discovery of Atomic Bomb

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

An international game of "I spy" is being played around the world today, with life and death as the stakes.

It is difficult to say who is winning. The world is divided into two camps, one of which is the Soviet Union, the other of which is the rest of the world.

Perhaps the war makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity. The atom-bomb, spawned from the blood and fire of the fiercest struggle in mankind's history, provided the challenge which built the vastest, and possibly the most successful, network of spies that the world has ever known. It is operated from Moscow.

The bomb was only a profound formula on paper when this network had its beginning. Secret agents of many nations awoke through a deadly race to make a mathematical formula burst into terrible reality. The nation first with this awesome weapon would hold vast power.

Long before World War II, scientists wanted to perfect new weapons, each more terrible than its predecessor. But the Soviet Union lagged far behind. What it could not do on technological know-how, but long on intrigue, the Russians began building a quarter century ago a spy organization which was to reach into all advanced countries and snatch life-and-death secrets that blocked the Soviet path to world domination.

By revolutions in Canada, England, Sweden and in the United States, all linked together in a single pattern which is still developing, are part of a story which had its beginnings somewhere around the year 1914, about five years after the Bolshevik revolution in Russia.

Lenin, founder of the Russian revolution, was dead. A new class, a spy organization, was born, dominated the Kremlin. Outwardly he spoke of building "socialism" in one country. He urged those who spoke of the permanent world revolution, while he dreamed and schemed world domination.

The organization was built carefully. Fringing young communists from abroad were brought to Moscow for special training in a school of the NKVD, the secret police.

Where the new Soviet union was recognized and had embassies, specially trained staffs were sent in for work quite apart from that performed by the ambassadors. In each embassy the NKVD had its representative. There were representatives of the military, the foreign trade commissariat, the political section, all reporting directly to the Moscow headquarters concerned.

There was also the counter-intelligence work in Moscow, directing the activities of communist parties throughout the world. Wherever possible there was a trade mission authorized status, making spy operations easy.

The communist party was the recruiting agent for the network, which was to pour secret information into the Kremlin. Party members and "sympathizers," a special code clerk and NKVD school graduate working in Moscow's embassy at Ottawa, revealed to Canadian authorities the existence of a widespread conspiracy to funnel secret and vital information to Moscow.

Gouzenko's disclosure disclosed "The Neighbors," Russia's code name for the secret police, began organizing spy operations in the "big" with native or naturalized agents, especially trained in Moscow for the task.

With World War II rushing to its climax, this network, closely linked with similar organizations in the United States, England and elsewhere, was put to its greatest test. The operations resulted in such celebrated cases as those of Dr. Klaus Fuchs and Dr. Alan Nunn May, the British atom scientists turned traitors; Harry Gold and Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and their spy activity in the United States; Ernst Rüdiger Anderson, a German physicist; and the spy network in Sweden, communist leaders Fred Rose and Sam Carr and the others in the Canadian spy ring. American calculations are that the activities of these persons advanced the Soviet Union's atomic weapons program by at least 18 months, possibly by much more, and placed in Soviet hands both exact calculations and educating guesses on the subject of atomic weapon progress here.

Investigations in Canada and elsewhere indicate Moscow, over the past 25 years, has built up a fantastic spy system which carries information on every conceivable subject to the United States, Britain and several other nations.

Today in the United States, the communist party actually has the ground, each of the 30,000-odd cells or saboteur, dedicated to recruitment, and regarded by violent authorities as a far greater menace than the Nazi subversion which peaked World War II.

In addition, the FBI says there are about half a million who are in the United States whose communist considerations are enough to be classified as "subversive." The country's total population is an average of one to two, 300 persons in the U. S.

National, American League Stars Selected for July 8 Classic at Philadelphia

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Seven Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees bulwarked the 25-player American league squad selected Monday by manager Casey Stengel for the July 8 all-star game at Philadelphia.

Yankee Pilot Stengel, at boss of the American all-stars, named six pitchers and the placements for the eight starters certified in the nationwide poll of fans which ended last week-end.

Every junior circuit club has representation on the Stengel aggregation which seeks to snap a two-game winning streak by the National all-stars.

The Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia A's each placed three players. The Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators five apiece, and the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, one each.

Stengel's picking staff included one lefty, brilliant Bob Shantz of Philadelphia; the agile St. Louis reliever, Satchel Paige; Vic Raschi and Alie Reynolds of the Yankees; and Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of the Indians.

With three exceptions, Stengel followed the ballot order in selecting his shock-troopers for the eight starters who must play a minimum of three innings, barring injury or illness.

Casey lumped past Vern Stephens of Boston, third in fan voting behind Yankee Phil Rizzuto and Chicago's Dickie Jones, to lead the list.

At third base, Stengel selected Washington's Ed Yost to back up starting Al Rosen of Cleveland and the Yankees over Gil McDougald running third and injured Hector Adair of Chicago fourth.

The top hitting Jackie Jensen of Washington, the lad Casey traded away, was picked by Stengel ahead of Cleveland's Hank Simpson, who won third from Jensen in the right field balloting.

Stengel backed up his fan-manifesting outfield of Cleveland's Dickie Jones and Boston's Dom DiMaggio in center and New York's Hank Bauer in right with Chicago's Mickey Vernon in left. Boston's Larry Doby and Detroit's Vic Wertz, all No. 2 ballot picks.

A third center fielder was Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, who Stengel has only two catchers, the Yankee-terrors, Yogi Berra and Cleveland's Jim Hegan, who made one-two runaways of the fan poll.

Fiscal Year's Deficit to Be Under-Guess

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The budget deficit for fiscal 1953 appears to be about five billion dollars or 38 per cent less than President Truman predicted.

This was indicated as treasury bookkeepers worked to get together Wednesday the final figures for the period, which ended Monday.

With only a couple of days' work remaining to be tallied, prospects were for an outcome about like this, in round figures: Spending $7 billion dollars, income $2 billion, resulting in a deficit of five billion.

The President estimated last January the deficit would be $2,200,000,000. But his spending figure of $70,900,000,000 has proved a big over-estimate, and his revenue figure of $22,700,000,000 a bit over-optimistic.

While a five-billion-dollar deficit for fiscal 1953 would constitute a big improvement over the President's estimates, it would nevertheless reflect an $4-billion decline from fiscal 1951, which ended in a budget surplus of $34 billion.

In the year just closed, budget outlays jumped 50 per cent higher than in the preceding year. Where the President went wrong was in expecting spending to zoom 57 per cent as a result of the expanding defense program.

On revenue, the President's estimate came closer. Tax receipts, boosted by rate hikes and new levies, climbed about 29 per cent above fiscal 1951. Truman forecast an increase of about 39 per cent.

Lucky Peak Dam Work Nears End

BOISE, July 1.—Within another year earthwork on the $22,600,000 Lucky Peak dam east of Boise will be "essentially complete," Engineer Leonard C. Eddy says.

He also disclosed that construction is expected to start soon on a $951,000 project to relocate nearly six miles of road from the mouth of Mores creek to Arrowrock dam.

Concrete work for a $1,500,000 bridge across Mores creek will be finished in July, but the steel bridge and defense needs still will hold up delivery of steel for the bridge.

Diversion of Boise river through the concrete and steel-lined tunnel of the dam will take place for ten to 15 days in July, Eddy said. The river will be diverted as soon as construction of the lower section of the intake tower is finished.

Work on the second phase of the earthwork will begin as soon as the river is diverted.

Anti-Paralysis Tests Outlined

HOUSTON, July 1.—Experimental inoculation of 35,000 young children will begin this week in a mass "test" of a drug to prevent paralysis from polio.

Medical scientists, financed by the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, will begin giving shots of gamma and globulin Wednesday. Half the children will get the harmless blood fraction and the other half will get a neutral inoculation.

Only the University of Pittsburgh research men will know which children get the gamma globulin.

The tests were planned by the Houston and Harris county areas of the state regarded as epidemic.

Dr. William Hammon of University of Pittsburgh will direct the inoculation of the children here.

The pilot test was made at Provo, Utah, last year where 5,168 children were inoculated—not enough for a conclusive answer, Dr. Hammon said.
