Documents on 'China Lobby' Will Be Eyed

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The department has sent the justice department to investigate documents allegedly revealing high-powered operations of the so-called "China lobby."

It has been learned that Undersecretary of State David Bruce has asked the justice department to look into the case said "leak" and "propaganda."

Sen. Wayne Morse, R., Ore., in April made public a series of dispatches from nationalist Chinese officials in this country to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The dispatches reportedly revealed how the Chinese sought a "secret" pipeline to high temperature officials in 1950.

Most of the dispatches were signed by Chen Chi-mao, now minister counselor at the Chinese embassy here. Chen has denied the authenticity of the controversial messages.

Morse asked the state department last month to find out whether the documents were false or whether the Chinese embassy officials were lying.

"I am convinced that the cablegrams I introduced into the (Congressional) Record are, therefore, true," Morse said. "If they are, then these Chinese officials," he said, "are lying."

Urges Action

"If they have lied to a United States senator, whether it is I or any other senator, then they should be recalled by their government," Bruce, replying to Morse, said the state department lacked facilities for determining whether the documents were false. Bruce said he was asking the justice department to take action on Morse's request.

No Help Expected On River Control

POCATELLO, July 13 (AP)—Plans for flood control work on the Portneuf river, which raged out of control early this spring and caused damage throughout the region, are being studied by the city of Pocatello and Bannock county today.

The city and county commissions have exhausted their last resorts in appeals for aid in combating the spring rise in the river next year.

Late last week the commissioners asked Idaho's congressional delegation for aid. They received prompt, but negative, replies.

The commissioners then tried the corps of engineers at Walla Walla, Wash., for some aid. The corps answered: "Your request to include funds for flood control along the Portneuf river in our 1954 plan has been referred to higher authority."

Officials said today they would have to start work on the river bed with what funds "we have available." Engineers said the river needed straightening in many places, rip-rapping, dredging and deepening.

The Gowen field aircraft control tower reported no such objects and the weather bureau said it had no weather balloons in the air at the time Lesley reported seeing the objects.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

CHICAGO—The Republican board of strategy, which probably will establish campaign headquarters in Chicago, has announced that it will support a ticket from the Mississippi valley, has devised an entirely new program for November election.

President Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, major platform orators, furnished the tip-off on the party's strategy. It is to select a ticket from the Mississippi valley, both of whom are in the same New York hotel, and to announce their respective convention orations.

The GOP's 1952 plan is to soft pedal attacks on the new deal and deal itself, instead of the domestic reforms they have produced are concerned. The GOP will fight to move sham and losing battles over her social and economic policies established between 1929 and 1932.

POT SHOTS

WANTS TELL 'EM? Do you believe flying saucers are something besides the figment of the imagination? Gilbert S. Givens, a Senator, thinks they're the real McCoy. He is director of France, Illinois, is Rue St. Georges, Paris, and he has some dope on flying saucers. Here's a letter received by R. J. Schwendman, addressed to the mayor of Twin Falls:

"Our magazine has always been reluctant to sensationalize unconfirmed or doubtful reports, but we feel the existence of flying saucers—whatever they actually may be no longer can be disputed.

"The latest survey of this controversial question, we are trying to contact as many major witnesses as we can and we would appreciate it if you could spare the time to answer the attached questionnaire as soon as possible.

"Major Schwendman allows as how he hasn't seen one of the design. The questionnaire asks description of the flying saucer, date and place observed along with circumstances, names of any other witnesses, further reaction toward witnesses, opinion and a photo of the witness.

"By the way, just what is a flying saucer?"

Love knots should be tied with one bean, Our Punspar says.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

CHICAGO—This is the first time in my long experience that a national convention actually caused a pause in the souls men and women, frightened by the dawning realization that the system by which Presidents are elected in this great republic are picked in only a partial or a very partial way.

"As I tried to suggest—saw—some of the Americans here concerned themselves with the porters and the speculators, were troubled by private groups of thought for young men, some of them fathers of little children, caught by tricks of the draft and the reserve army of labor, and some who were forbidden to win it and almost totally forgotten by their countrymen.

General MacArthur referred to them in his speech, a rolling oration of rhythmic waves, one of the few judges of decency and honor in the entire debacle. But Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon, non-republican Republican, expressed his opinion that the ever-else was quoted on the side of the Aldrich-Rockefeller-Ford wing of the party had only scored MacArthur's unprovoked intrusion of spiritual thoughts into a brawl so frankly sordid. The boulder seemed to be in base state.

A large number of good young citizens had been picked by a rigged ticket, sent away and abandoned by their countrymen who now washed their hands of the tragedy and gathered in a wicked row of seats to witness, eventually, through use of anaesthetic, piety and a screwdriver, Mrs. Snedden's husband removed.

Now before any of you women was indignation, you might read on a few words in Sandpoint, Mex. Snedden's husband is known as Dr. Snedden, a dentist. And all this happened while they were attending the recent dental association meeting at Sun Valley.

All those dentists around—more than 1000—no voters in the matter and the fault was not theirs but an ugly development ripening into a tragedy after many years. But no individual arose who had the force of character, a heartfelt pity for those poor fellows and the party's unprovoked intrusion of spiritual thoughts into a brawl so frankly sordid. The boulder seemed to be in base state.

Each state is allowed a number of electors equal to the number of its senators and representatives in congress. But that constitutional system has been ignored for 122 years and meanwhile the party convention system has degenerated into the vile spectacle which disgusted so many citizens here last week.

General Eisenhower was not nominated by the delegates. He was nominated by Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, twice rejected in the popular elections and one of the most cynical hypocrites in our political history, working in open collaboration with the Wall Street firm of Winthrop Aldrich, Nelson Rockefeller and Henry Ford II.

Tuesday night, they sat together in a box a few feet from Dewey's position at the head of the New York delegation.

Paul Hoffman, the head of Ford's enormous foundation, a mountain of money which old Henry received from the American people in fair reward for his enterprise to ham the world's dealer now turned to "the" of any other of the same type.

These foundations have an ominous potential power to harm the United States. But we keep hands off and—let them meddle in our politics and in international affairs at the whim of men who are strangers to us, who shape their own purposes without consulting us and yet the power of money over all but their own judgments.

A confounding, frightening change has occurred in many of our rich men. Nelson Rockefeller, Aldrich who is related to the Rockefellers; Marshall Field; Averell Harriman, with an inheritance of $40,000,000 derived from American opportunity by an exploiter never noted for his generosity to labor; and now the Ford Foundation, which is playing a dubious role in affairs.

And in this case, Rockefeller, Aldrich and the Ford foundation are together against Taft, the incorruptible, conservative Republican.

As Henry Mencken wrote long ago, we Americans are always wanting solutions. We are never content with mere progress.

I long for a solution of this fearful development in our government but I would be grateful for little steps of progress on the way. And I believe discussion of the merits of a group interest is a beginning.

MOTORIST HAS TWO CHOICES

Looking for the cause of 320 traffic fatalities in the nation during the Fourth of July week-end, a new record for a three-day holiday on that date, speed must rank high.

Combined with overcrowded highways, a comparatively large number of inexperienced drivers out for a holiday, hot weather and sharp tempers, speed can and does rank high on the list of traffic killers.

This point is given weight by what happened the first day of the long week-end on two of the country's best-known speedways, the New Jersey Turnpike and the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

On the eight-month-old New Jersey super-highway, where the speed limit is 60 miles per hour, a heavy trailer-truck rammed into three automobiles parked at the side of the road. Five persons, including a three-year-old boy, were burned to death in the flaming wreckage.

Later in the day another crash on the turnpike cost two more lives. They raised to 25 the number of deaths on the 118-mile highway since it was opened last January.

But the speedways weren't yet through for the day. On the Pennsylvania Turnpike five persons were killed in a two-car crash.

The New Jersey Turnpike is a modern miracle of winding concrete—wide, sweeping curves, no cross traffic, no towns to go through, no nothing much except sit there and hold onto the wheel and zoom along at 60.

This sounds fine and it is, for a while. Then the whole thing gets to be a little monotonous. And that's where a lot of the turnpike trouble apparently comes from.

The senses lose some of their edge, lulled by the steady smooth-pace and the motor's hum. The reactions seem to miss the frequent test of dealing with cross traffic, turns, starts and stops.

Also the driver is inclined to lose sight of the fact that he is traveling fast. So when an emergency does arise, when a car cuts sharply in front of him, or someone ahead brakes to a sudden stop, his senses often are not up to coping with the swiftness with which things happen, and accidents result.

At high speed accidents can be bigger killers than ordinarily—five killed in the Pennsylvania crash, five dead in the New Jersey one.

By engineering standards, the turnpikes are marvels. But they don't, and they can't, take into full account human behavior. The relationship of man and his machine can be satisfying and productive, one up to a point, but the machine steadily becomes stronger and faster and there comes a point beyond which man cannot follow it and remain the master in control.

So sometimes along about now, man, the American automobile driver, is going to have to make up his mind whether he's going to sacrifice speed or sacrifice himself.

CAMPAIGN—Admitting the advent of Franklin D. Roosevelt's changes as the Republican can now endorse. But rule of controversy has been pulled from beneath both major parties. The GOP never can win a national election unless it represents the fact.

But the Republicans believe Hoover and MacArthur have given them the tip on the kind of campaign to conduct. The two septuagenarians gave their relatively young audience a lesson in political strategy.

ATTACK—Instead of hitting the Democrats where they are strong, that is domestic reforms by permanent benefits, the GOP will attack from other, more telling angles. It will assail Truman's handling of domestic to foreign policies with hardly a mention of Democrats' achievements that are now acclaimed and accepted by both major parties with a few minor exceptions.

In the order of their supposed importance the GOP will highlight these issues:

1. Peak public debt, back-breaking taxes and no relief for the Democrats remain in office.
2. A foreign policy which has weakened us both in Europe and in the far east.
3. Corruption that pervades almost every form of the government, especially those under White House jurisdiction.
4. An unconstitutional arrogation of so-called "inherent power" in the steel strike and other labor disputes.

CHANGEOVER—Although this may seem like an unimportant decision it reflects an extremely significant change in Republican tactics. A swift review of the party's record since the Truman administration achievements and program furnishes complete proof of the changeover.

London, 1932, and White in 1940 took only one mile at a time. Dewey "too good" his distinguished opponent in 1944 and 1948, thereby losing the election.

The campaign slogan will not "passport." Although accepting the enemy's basic reforms and thereby moving them from the field of campaign controversy, the Republicans will launch their campaign on broad national allegiances and mismanagement of bread-and-butter problems and its failure to formulate a firm foreign program.

In short, the Republicans feel they have enough winning issues without making the London-White-Dewey blunder of campaigning the new deal in blanket attacks on the same day. L.V.C. of Chicago has said "a me, too, campaign, as Dewey did in 1948."

MEMORANDUM—A state department reporter is writing a highly confidential memorandum of the Republican-Democratic deliberations at Chicago for the benefit of our diplomats throughout the world. Never before has an official agent from Washington been assigned to this task.

It seems everyone has the wrong slant on this fishing and hunting business, particularly fishing. More people should look on it as a sport, something to do for outdoor exercise. When that time comes, it won't matter that there aren't so many fish. Catch 'em and let 'em go, if you see, or use hooks with no barb.

Try that just once—file the barb off a hook so that you have only a straight hook with nothing to keep it from pulling out again. When you land a fish, you know you've done something!

JUST KILL THE PAIN

Sun Valley is a mighty poor place to develop a loathsome. You don't believe it? Ask Mrs. A. P. Snedden, Sandpoint.

Mrs. Snedden developed a toothache at Sun Valley. The dentist who was removed, eventually, through use of anaesthetic, piety and a screwdriver, Mrs. Snedden's husband removed.

Now before any of you women was indignation, you might read on a few words in Sandpoint, Mex. Snedden's husband is known as Dr. Snedden, a dentist. And all this happened while they were attending the recent dental association meeting at Sun Valley.

All those dentists around—more than 1000—no voters in the matter and the fault was not theirs but an ugly development ripening into a tragedy after many years. But no individual arose who had the force of character, a heartfelt pity for those poor fellows and the party's unprovoked intrusion of spiritual thoughts into a brawl so frankly sordid. The boulder seemed to be in base state.

Each state is allowed a number of electors equal to the number of its senators and representatives in congress. But that constitutional system has been ignored for 122 years and meanwhile the party convention system has degenerated into the vile spectacle which disgusted so many citizens here last week.

General Eisenhower was not nominated by the delegates. He was nominated by Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, twice rejected in the popular elections and one of the most cynical hypocrites in our political history, working in open

Dear Shoter: One in a while there's something about fishing in your column, referring mostly to how many fish-folks are catching at such and such a place. That's the sort of thing that won't go on forever, even here in Idaho where you like to think you can catch all the trout you want.

Mark my words, he said, shaking a finger, the day will come in the not too distant future when folks will be begging about taking home one or two trout. Unless fishermen change their ways a lot.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

Congress seems to be able to procrastinate on many issues and get away with it. The question of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska is a prime example. Again on the matter of the St. Lawrence seaway, congressional delays have had the effect of avoiding decision.

Unfortunately for congress, this is an international issue involving Canada as well as the United States. And Canada, tired of waiting for this country to make up its mind, has decided to build the seaway alone.

The seaway admittedly is one of the thorniest issues ever to hit congress. It has been kicking around in political action and inaction lately has been coming up for legislative consideration every year on the year.

This is not the place to delve into the pros and cons of the question—these have been argued long and lustily.

The important point for American interests is that by not taking clear action one way or the other, the congress has passed the ball to the Canadians, who now have the initiative.

By contrast with their simple determination to go ahead with the project, our lawmakers' continual backing and filling over the seaway makes them look weak and vacillating.

Probably they never believed the Canadians would carry out their threat to go it alone if we did not piddle in. They imagined they could enjoy indefinitely the luxury of indecision. The rude shock is now upon them.

Reports from Canada have it that the seaway will pay for itself. This is the testimony of exports.

Furthermore, there are indications that when it goes into operation American shippers and vessels will find themselves fouling more of the bill than they expect.

This might be accomplished by charging low tolls on products like wheat, which the Canadians ship in volume, and higher tolls on motor cars and other manufactured goods produced in America.

By while seaway bills gather dust on congressional shelves, Canadian dredgers and bulldozers will swing into action and make the controversy on this side of the border largely academic.

Locker Empty? One Bargain in Meat Can Solve Your Problem

By The Associated Press. It's possible to fill your locker with meat at less than 25 cents a pound if you like mutton. Trouble is, few people in Idaho and Utah care for it.

More mutton is being slaughtered in Idaho this year than 450,000 pounds the first five months compared with 143,000 in the same period of 1951—but it's only a fraction of the 42,500,000 pounds of all meat consumed in Idaho.

Man Released

From habit-forming laxatives. "I feel happier, younger now, not constipated," writes Detroit man. "After all, I've been doing so much for me. I wish wonderful relief, after so many pills and medicines." If you can't keep regular because of lack of diet-bulk, try Kellogg's At-Lax and see if it doesn't help you regain youthful regularity as thousands have. It's the only one ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's not habit-forming. Rich in iron, high in cereal protein, provides essential B and D vitamins. Eat 1/2 cupful daily, drink plenty of liquids. It not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich., and get perhaps your money back!

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

For some time now the smaller towns have been considering a central school to do away with the little district schools where all grades are taught by one teacher. Right here I want to convey a word of appreciation and gratitude to those teachers. They have worked devotedly to rear a generation of American citizens who have served their country well. Now, if the times have changed so as to make their schools obsolete, the teachers should be honored for service of distinguished quality.

Can the central school take the place of the old schoolhouse? If it is to be a success, it must be able to carry his lunch home for lunch, be taken home if he cannot feel right about having his children travel in a bus for over an hour, pushed around by older, heavier and rougher children. The bus may call for a child as early as half after seven and bring him home nearer five o'clock than four. Maybe he has to carry his lunch—maybe he gets a school lunch. The lunch he gets from his mother, at home, is better than the one at school. The older children fare better. They can take the bus ride and enjoy it. The question to answer here is: "What will this school offer that the home one could not afford?" If this school is to be a success, it must offer a number of pupils and teachers, offer an enriched curriculum, offer activities in shop, studio, kitchen, music, art, and other subjects. If it offers only more of the same the home school offered, why use the expense?

To build a central school costs a lot of money, to staff it well costs more. The only thing that can justify this is the opportunity for individual development of the children. That calls for a well-staffed, well-attended school, workshops, extra space, extra plumbing, for we need water in every classroom and toilets on every floor. We need fine lighting, the best ventilation, in short, modern school building. Equally important with the building and equipment are the trained teachers. We need teachers who know how to use modern equipment. To develop the curriculum so as to bring out the strengths of each child, how to manage a class in active operation.

If these cannot be provided, if the central school offers the same routine day, rooms filled with benches across the floor, a program alike for all, and only the books for service, the old school will serve as well. The whole question must be reduced to costs. Costs to the children, first, then to the taxpayers who have to pay the bills. Can we afford not to educate every school child to his limit of ability?

CHAIRMAN NAMED
KING HILL, July 15—Mrs. Gail Jones and Mrs. Kordana Younes were in charge of a cooked food sale sponsored Saturday by the Women's Missionary society.

Thomason Loses Pitching Battle To Bannocks 2-1

Bill Thomason again demonstrated that he is one of the best pitchers in the Pioneer league, but also probably the most fixated hurler. In Monday night's windup of the Pocatello series Thomason hooked-up in a pitcher's duel with the Bannocks' Virgil Giovannini and came out on the short end of a 2-1 score. Although allowing eight hits Thomason was never in serious trouble. His tossing, good enough for a Pioneer league 90 per cent of the time, was for naught as the Cowboys were having trouble getting the three-knockout man Bannock moundsman, the lone Magic Valley tally came on Ed Sobczak's homerun in the eighth inning.

Giovannini, in going the distance for the visitors, allowed the locals only seven bingles to complete the series. He permitted the Cowboys to tag him more than once in only one inning, the sixth, but allowed no runs, only one base and one homerun before he was taken out of the game.

Tonight the Idaho Falls Russsets jumped on two home runs Monday night for 13 hits and a 6-3 Pioneer league victory over the Yankees.

Phil Humphrys singled in the Russsets third inning, Phil Steinhilber walked and scored when Frank Cimelich threw a two-knockout hit off the bat of Bob Van Bussick into right field. Van Bussick went to third on the play and tallied on Red Jessen's single.

The Russsets scored another run in the seventh. Jessen doubled in Humphrys, who led off with a triple. Bob Buckley poked a home-run for Idaho Falls in the eighth.

In the Yankees seventh, Woody Bannock hit a double and then Spike Wyatt, Jim Yarnber and Bob McCaffery walked in order, forcing in a tally.

The Yankees' other two runs came in the eighth. Bob Martyn singled, followed by a double by Lou Vitous, who scored. Bannock then grounded out and Vitous went to third. Wyatt doubled Vitous in with the last fly.

Reds Squeeze Past Mustangs In 7-6 Game

ODDEN, July 15 (AP)—Ogden's Reds scored twice in the seventh and eighth innings Monday night to beat the Billings-Mustangs 7-6 in a Pioneer league game.

Mustangs' Cliff Depper-clouted a home run in the third which Bill Barone and Hugh O'Connor on base to give the Mustangs their big run. They had scored two in the first.

Billings led 3-3 when the Reds came to bat in the seventh. Bob Durnbaugh doubled, Grady Watts walked and the Mustangs Barone bled a grounder by Steve Mason, setting Durnbaugh to score. Bill Bowman's single then scored Watts.

Reds got two more tallies in the eighth. Carl Wells and Durnbaugh singled and Jim St. Claire walked to load the sack. A long fly by Doc Moore scored Wells and Durnbaugh came home when Barone connected another error on Watts' grounder.

Billings rally in the ninth was cut short after one run scored.

Grocers Set Own Pricing After Ruling

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Grocers started setting their own prices today on virtually all canned and frozen vegetables and fruits, and price officials forecast a possible further upsurge in the cost of living.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall yesterday removed price controls from nearly all staples in the housewife's market basket. From canned soups to cereals, the price controls were required under an amendment to the new defense production act.

Arnall said the new "situation" and predicted that prices might rise. But the food industry, in its long fight for decontrol, has contended there will be no general price increase. Many of the items decontrolled are now selling far below ceiling levels.

Controls were removed from 90 per cent of canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, including baby foods, fruit and vegetable juices, potato chips and dried fruits. The control applies to processing, wholesaling and retail levels. It is retroactive to July 1.

Controls were retained temporarily on fruit and vegetable items in which other products are mixed during the processing—such as vegetable soups, jams and jellies, preserves and tomato and chile sauces. Price officials said decontrol of such "borderline" items would have to wait until the limits of the amendment are "more clearly defined."

"Ike" Passes Rugged Tests in Family Gathering at Army Post

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—This guy Eisenhower is the answer to a politician's dream. He kisses babies and talks with photographers and seems to enjoy both.

He never was more at ease than Sunday, when he and his wife, Mamie, traveled to the Eisenhower III, 30 miles north of Chicago, to visit their three grandchildren—Deight David, Jr.; Barbara Ann, 7, and Susan, 4 months.

The children of "Ike's" only son, Maj. John Eisenhower, have been staying with their maternal grandparents, Col. and Mrs. Percy Thompson, while their parents got things in order for Major Eisenhower's departure for Korea later this week.

Both Eisenhower and the small fry seemed to enjoy every minute of it when photographers trooped across the beautiful army base on the shore of Lake Michigan to take the traditional "family" shots.

Little Davy was the first to put in his appearance. Riding gracefully on his tricycle, he parried newsmen's questions with aplomb and let out "Dad" David Eisenhower, the two, and "Ike," the one, that his grandpa didn't bring him a present the got it Monday and that he intends to be "a soldier and an airplane driver."

One reporter asked if "Grandpa" had said anything about his secretary of state. Davy gave him an icy stare.

Little Ann was even more secretive. Camera shy, she remained aloof from the give-and-take of the photo takings except to protest repeatedly to Mrs. Thompson that "I want to go with Mamie."

Mamie, dressed in a steel gray dress with a bolero, joined in the fun too. At one point, one photographer complained that she was holding baby Susan in front of her face.

"Hold the baby on your hip, he advised, or have two of them, and that's the way I hold them."

"That's the way I used to hold them, too," Mrs. Eisenhower said, "but I'm out of practice."

Eisenhower tried to push the children into the limelight—but he, of course, was the center of attention. He visited with his former cook, Sgt. James Martin, Chicago, and obeyed the orders of the photographers down to the letter.

At one point, the photographers suggested that he stand behind little Davy and put his hands on the nape of the boy's neck. Eisenhower obliged, but he couldn't resist commenting with a grin:

"Why this is rather a corny idea. And they're reported by waving goodbye to Ike and Mamie and to the photographers, too."

Then Eisenhower returned to Chicago and the land of politics which, he has learned, is not quite so peaceful.
