

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday the western Washington newspaper community has a special feature. It is the "Tucker's National Whirligig" which is a collection of news items and editorial comments on national and international news. It is a feature which has been running since 1914 and is one of the most popular features in the Pacific Northwest.

WASHINGTON—Many letters to the Springfield newspaper, writes Mrs. T. C. (Dorothy) Mass, "are about the Tucker's National Whirligig. It is a feature which has been running since 1914 and is one of the most popular features in the Pacific Northwest. POT SHOTS

VIRTY BE CAVERED IT
Dear Folks: You have been to visit the site later at the local street. Well, we were, but that was as far as we got. There's a lady sits there in front of the elevator and she's a woman getting out of the car. Well, if she doesn't have a card for you you just can't go up. (P.S. Note: That means there are such visitors in the room already.)

You can't even telephone to let them know somebody is waiting. Our powers were dropping, so we stayed in the telephone call. If you can't get these rows upstairs to Mr. J. you can't get the pot. We were to be an ass in the back row!

Anyway, the whole evening wasn't a failure. They've got a fancy sprinkling system, but it's a little while and then it stops. We got pretty well baptized by it as we went in so when we see these two women getting out of the car, we stuck around to see the show.

Says one, "Look! They turned that water off just when we were proceeding to walk over towards the door. Well, by that time this fancy sprinkling system decided to come on. Yep, you guessed it. The young kid could run pretty fast but not the old one. The water just chased her around. Well, it was a little while and then it stops. We got pretty well baptized by it as we went in so when we see these two women getting out of the car, we stuck around to see the show.

WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

CAMPAIGNING WITH GOVERNOR STEVENSON—One thing about this presidential contest has not always been true in the past campaigns. It is that the two candidates are dissimilar, utterly dissimilar, in almost every respect.

To begin with, they hardly ever look more unlike than they do, with the single exception that both are almost entirely bald.

While Stevenson is on the short side, somewhat stocky, he has a bold, quick tempo that comes into everything he does. "Ike" appears in contrast to be massive, slow-moving, deliberate in his manner.

It is above all, in the way in which each candidate approaches the campaign that the contrast comes out. While Stevenson is in considerable detail. He is attempting by reason to persuade the voters, or enough of them, that he understands the problems before the country and is capable of leading the nation through continuing storms ahead.

While this is an oversimplification, "Ike" appears to be more emotional, less logical, less logical, less logical. He is frankly told the workers in the Citizens for Eisenhower office in New York, he believes in the "Ike" approach through emotion rather than reason.

He is appealing to deep impulses of loyalty, patriotism, religious faith, and the desire to see the world as it is. With Eisenhower this often seems to add up to the desire of a great many Americans to return to a simpler way of life. The "Ike" approach is to see the world as it is, to see the world as it is, to see the world as it is.

School Teachers For Blaine Meet

CAREY, Sept. 20—A dinner meeting for all school teachers of Blaine County was held in Carey Wednesday evening. Cecil Olsen, Blaine county president of the Idaho Education Association, was the speaker. Jimmy Werry, Hatley, was elected vice president of the county I.E.A. Robert Day and Eunice Billingsley, both Carey, were elected district officers with Victoria McDoniggle and Harvey Stroud, Hatley, as alternates. Olsen, former association vice president, automatically became county president and he appointed Eunice Werry his secretary.

Fairly, except in an occasional game of tennis, does Stevenson let go. He is like a very alert tiger who would let it alone. Some have wondered how he stands the concentration he brings to everything he does.

That same concentration is going into his campaign. Stevenson is acutely aware of how much he must make up for in the ignorance of most of his fellow Americans about who he is, what he stands for and what he has done up to now.

When this campaign is ended, perhaps no candidate in our political history will have covered so much ground, both literally and figuratively. He means to discuss every phase of each issue in as thorough a fashion as time will permit. And it is humanly possible he is going to get into every corner of the United States to carry on this discussion.

So here they are, these two so very different men, going around the country in the traditional way, offering their wares to the voters. Hope rises and falls mercifully.

Two weeks ago the Stevenson camp was full of confidence that there was certainly unreasoning. Now there has been a notable shift. The Eisenhower backers are jubilant at the enthusiastic crowds turning out to see their candidate.

DISASTER RELIEF

Now that plans are being made to have the region flooded by Big Wood river last spring declared a disaster area, those who suffered actual damage may receive relief from the government. It recalls the length to which the government went in trying to sell a similar bill of goods down south.

With the 1952 presidential election campaign in full swing, it calls to our attention other developments in the same connection. In fact, the current issue of Farm Management magazine, western farm business publication, has raised the following pertinent question:

"Is the Democratic party using federal funds and government employees for political purposes in a campaign year?"

The article is authored by Democratic heads of the U. S. department of agriculture. The magazine points out, "that it is merely coincidence, and of no political significance whatever, that the department:

"1. Released its 10-month-old family farm policy review showing most farmers think the Democrats are doing a good job.

"2. Announced that FEMA committeemen are to call on every farmer and tell him personally what the Democrats are doing to keep farm prices up.

"3. Proclaimed 12 states total disaster areas (drouth) and announced a $33,000,000 relief and loan program, even as the rain pelted much of the area."

According to Farm Management, "leaders of the Farm Bureau and National Grange, both of which are non-partisan farm organizations, charge that the review was not an unbiased report to obtain farm opinion on programs and policies; that the USDA was attempting to bypass farm organizations and leaders as spokesmen for farmers, and that the review was an effort to justify the Truman plan, rejected by the farm organizations."

Particularly interesting is what Farm Management has to say about the third coincidence—"the deep sympathy (plus $33,000,000) which was extended southern and eastern farmers who went through a dry spell in July.

Ninety states and 1,500,000 farmers were declared the terrible victims of a disaster. Government agencies in all the states were instructed to use newspapers, farm magazines, the radio and public meetings to assure farmers that they had true friends in Washington. They put the money on the table and invited farmers to come and get it."

"To the amazement of almost everyone in Washington, 89 out of every 100 farmers said a polite 'no thank you, we really don't need it.' Weeks after the generous offer only 645 farmers in 8 out of 12 'disaster' states had accepted the offer of federal relief in the form of either gratuities or loans."

All this may have no parallel with the move afoot in the Wood river area, but it does give some indication as to how "disaster" relief, which the government has been so eager to dole out, has actually worked elsewhere.

BYRNES FOR EISENHOWER

Since Adlai E. Stevenson derives so much pleasure from was-cracking, maybe he can think of something to say about Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who has backed his allegiance in favor of General Eisenhower.

Governor Byrnes has openly denounced Stevenson as promising only "more of the Truman administration."

The United Press, which described the switch in allegiance by the South Carolina hustler, pointed out that Governor Byrnes, one-time new deal and fair deal power, "is probably the single most influential southern statesman."

What Governor Byrnes had to add was significant in that respect:

"I shall place loyalty to my country above loyalty to a political party.

"If you want more of the Truman administration, you should vote for Governor Stevenson. If you have had enough, you should vote for General Eisenhower."

He expressed the belief also that General Eisenhower "could do more than any living American to bring about an end to the war in Korea and prevent our stumbling into another world war."

All that shouldn't be so easy for Adlai to laugh off.

COMMUNITY CHEST

Now that advance solicitations are being made, the annual Twin Falls Community Chest campaign is under way once more, and all the workers naturally are hoping there will be a liberal public response.

It is not easy task for those who volunteer their services in the Community Chest campaign, and for that reason the cooperation of the people will be greatly appreciated.

The Community Chest, as we all know, is a worthwhile civic endeavor, to which we all should contribute our fair share. The more readily we do that, the sooner we reach our goal and the more we can do for those who are putting forth their time and effort on the solicitations.

Poison Danger in Use of Vitamins Cited by Doctor

SUN VALLEY, Sept. 20—"Vitamins A and B are a serious hazard to children today unless mothers are careful not to exceed the normal dose," Dr. John Caffey warned pediatricians here today.

"A man-made disease created by crippling disease in the skin here by the North Pacific Pediatric society. The well-known New York physician, formerly Salt Lake City, is professor of clinical pediatrics at the college of physicians and surgeons, Columbia university, and radiologist at Columbia and Presbyterian medical center, New York City. He is the guest speaker at a three-day meeting at this resort Sept. 18-20.

"There is no reason," Dr. Caffey said, "why any child should get an average American diet including milk should take vitamin A concentrate."

"Although the first case of vitamin A poisoning was recorded as early as 1947, he pointed out that many mothers still consider vitamin A a harmless preventive medicine rather than a dangerous drug that is superfluous."

Symptoms of vitamin A poisoning, Dr. Caffey told his audience, are loss of appetite, itching of the skin and loss of hair. Within six to 15 months, painful swelling of the extremities begin. An important part of the diagnosis is X-ray findings of changes in the bones of children who have been given the vitamin in excessive amounts.

Sprittles became separated from other members of his party north-west of Rocky Bar, an isolated mining camp in Elmore county, when he took the wrong path Thursday night.

Potatoes at Paul Become Biennials

PAUL, Sept. 20—Last fall the cold weather came so rapidly the Porter brothers in Paul were unable to harvest six acres of potatoes before the potatoes were frozen in the ground. The brothers left the potatoes in the ground and last spring planted beets on the six acres.

After a few weeks they were surprised to find a complete crop of potatoes coming along with a good stand of beets. They debated what to do and finally decided in favor of the potatoes.

They dug the potatoes last week and averaged 250 bushels to the acre and maintain it was the cheapest storage they've ever had.

BRUINS DROP BRUISING 6 TO 2 GAME TO POCATELLO INDIANS

Fourth Quarter Drive Dashes Twin Falls' Hopes

Outlighted and outmanned, a 34-0 Twin Falls eleven was hammered into 6-2 submission by the Pocatello Indians Saturday night on Lincoln field. It was a case of lightning striking once. The Indians, bottled inside their own territory the whole first half, struck 80 yards in four plays to score a fourth-quarter touchdown which eased the two-point lead the Bruins had nursing since the first period. There were rumblings earlier in the second half that the Indians were getting themselves for the decisive strike. It came after the Bruins recovered a fumble to cut short the Indians' sustained march of the game, then put the opposition back on their heels with a long punt. Marching from their own 20, the invaders were in Bruin territory two plays later, after Jack Worley ripped off a first down on a quick cover and the middle and Dave Anderson sliced over tackle and across the midfield strip. A reverse—carried by Ken Spahr—put Pocatello on Twin Falls' 25-yard line. Spahr Worley streaked for the touchdown as he rounded his own left end, cut back in sharply and spun through the Bruin line. He would-be tacklers in the Bruins' secondary. The smitten Bruin team had the Indians on their heels for the first half. Once the Bruins were as close as the one-yard line to a touchdown and a quick decision were inside the 10-yard line. But each time the big Indian line stiffened to the challenge and claimed the ball on down. After the Indians had taken over on downs on their one-yard line, they changed a running play instead of punting and the alert Bruins picked up two points on a safety. Halback John Propper tumbled the play and was tackled in several end zones as he was gathering up the loose plegkin. In the second half, the Indians reserved their superior weight and reserves until Twin Falls weakened. Even as the final gun sounded Pocatello was knocking once more deep in Bruin territory. Worley and Anderson sparked the Indian offensive with their ripping runs. And Jim Terry and Mike Tripp were the defensive stalwarts of the Pocatello club. They got in the Bruin's backfield more often than a pet mascot to break up plays. To the Twin Falls' case, tackle Wayne Brown and Dave Chaney, guard Joe King and backs Al Mingo and Dave Taylor. They gave inspired performances. The contest had no bearing on Big Six standings.

Back Again

BILLY SANDOW... who will appear in a tag team match at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Radio Rodeo. He will team with Frank Stojack, his opponent on last week's card, against Leo Wallick and Jack Lipscomb. Sandow and Standow wrestled to a draw last week.

Tag Team Bout Features Card

A tag team match pitting Frank Stojack and Billy Sandow against Leo Wallick and Jack Lipscomb is scheduled for the main event of the weekly wrestling card at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Radio Rodeo. All appeared on an exchange of punts. Utah started another drive on the Ut 47 that carried them into a touchdown. The scoring play was a 27-yard pass to Jack Cross who took it on the Oregon State 30 and tumbled his way through tacklers for a touchdown. The scoring play was good for 53 yards. Halback Charles Kalini converted from placement.

Utah Lose To OSC By 14-7

BALTIC HARBOR CITY, Sept. 20 (AP)—Pocatello's punting and blocking running and a dogged defense in the clutch carried Oregon State to a victory over the University of Oregon Saturday night. Utah's showing against the heavier and more highly rated Pacific Coast conference team was surprising, although the Utes' heretofore passing attack never materialized. A desperate attempt to score in the fourth quarter after Utah recovered an Oregon State fumble on the Beavers' seven-yard line lost four yards. Utah's superiority on the ground was best seen in the statistics. The Beavers gained 290 yards in four days. Baker scored two touchdowns in the first period, and gained a total of 143 yards rushing. His first play was a short carry after the opening kickoff. With the ball on the OSC 40, Quarterback Jim Wilbur drove for a series of first downs on the Utah one. Then Baker carried the ball to the Ut 5, where Baker carried the ball for the touchdown. Jim Cordial converted. Utah missed after their first period drive failed and Oregon State took over on the Beaver 36. Halback Jack Pinion, alternating with Baker, carried for a series of first downs on the Utah one. Then Baker went through center for the second touchdown. Utah's first offensive play was seen in the second period. The Utes carried the ball to midfield, but bogged down. After an exchange of punts, Utah started another drive on the Ut 47 that carried them into a touchdown. The scoring play was a 27-yard pass to Jack Cross who took it on the Oregon State 30 and tumbled his way through tacklers for a touchdown. The scoring play was good for 53 yards. Halback Charles Kalini converted from placement.

Heinrich Passes for Two Scores As Washington Whips Idaho 39-14

SEATTLE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Don Heinrich, the wizard of Washington, stepped back on the football stage Saturday and flogged Idaho, throwing two touchdowns passes as he piloted the Huskies to a 39-14 Pacific Coast conference victory. Washington ran up 32 points in this season opener before visiting Vandals got their first touchdown late in the third period. An All-American quarterback who sat out the 1933 season with a shoulder injury, Heinrich kept the air full of leather through the first half. He pitched 24 times and completed 17, in action briefly in the second half he had just one more completion in five tries. Tough luck dogged the Vandals. Penalties bogged them down several times in the first period. And the coaches had never seen the second period when quarterback Wayne Anderson was thumbed out on a rules infraction. The official said Anderson was banged for kneeling a blocker. Unable to get beyond Washington's 34-yard line in the first half, the Vandals were miserably until it got a scoring break in the third. Center Mel Bertrand sent a pass from Washington's Jim Worslake at the Husky 32 and eight plays later Dave Murphy dived over from the one. Sophomore Dick Pickett came in to lead a 45-yard drive to Idaho's second touchdown in the fourth quarter. The Bill Parley was the chief target for Heinrich's passes. He scored Washington's first touchdown on a Heinrich pass with the game only five minutes old. Idaho made a tight of it but Heinrich pinpointed a flip to end the contest. The game was good for 66 yards and a touchdown early in the second quarter that culminated a four-play touchdown pass. Before the half ended the Huskies chewed out 87 yards in 11 plays for still another tally. It was Heinrich playing to the hilt. He pitched the ball and the burly halfback pounded over on a line plunge from the two for the score.

Maryland Maintains Win Streak by Slim Margin

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 20 (AP)—The University of Maryland's proud 12-game winning streak and national reputation for the pitching and passing arm of Jack Scarbath and the churning legs of Ralph Pettor, to a narrow 13-10 comeback victory Saturday over the University of Missouri's supposedly out-classed Tigers. Pettor took a pincushion from Scarbath and carried it 15 yards across the goal line early in the fourth quarter to give Maryland its first touchdown. Scarbath, calmly picking his receivers under the pressure of defense, spotted Lloyd Colterman on Missouri's 25-yard line and opened the door for Maryland's winning score with barely a minute remaining. Except for that brilliant comeback, Maryland looked like a fallen giant. For three quarters the crowd of 10,000 sat ready to believe they were to be in on the first major upset of the 1934 season. Missouri, playing as though he had never seen the field rankings, opened up halfway through the second period out of a spread formation that left five men in the center of the line and accelerated five eligible pass receivers. A touchdown and a field goal with a minute remaining in the half left Maryland trailing 10-0, and that's the way it stood until late in the third quarter.

UCLA Saved By Narleski In Close Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP)—Tiny Ted Narleski saved the UCLA Bruins from a major upset Saturday when he brought his Pacific Coast conference team back from the brink of defeat in the last half to defeat an under-rated Oregon team 13-6. In the center of the line and accelerated five eligible pass receivers. A touchdown and a field goal with a minute remaining in the half left Maryland trailing 10-0, and that's the way it stood until late in the third quarter. The Bill Parley was the chief target for Heinrich's passes. He scored Washington's first touchdown on a Heinrich pass with the game only five minutes old. Idaho made a tight of it but Heinrich pinpointed a flip to end the contest. The game was good for 66 yards and a touchdown early in the second quarter that culminated a four-play touchdown pass. Before the half ended the Huskies chewed out 87 yards in 11 plays for still another tally. It was Heinrich playing to the hilt. He pitched the ball and the burly halfback pounded over on a line plunge from the two for the score.

GOODING SENATORS KICK OVER CHAMP JERSEY TIGERS 14-7

Defending Seven Contest Stopped by Defending Champions After 13 Straight Wins

Sept. 20.—The defending Big Seven champion, the Gooding Senators, today extended their string of consecutive wins to 13 by defeating the Jersey Tigers 14-7 in the annual, the C. J. High school event.

The Senators, who notched a perfect record last season and won their first two starts this year, overcame a 13-0 deficit in the first quarter. Quarterback Bill Easterbrook spotted end Bill Mobley in the open with a 15 yard pass. Solvey Truitt kicked the extra point.

After the kickoff and an exchange of punts, the Gooding Senators beat to Jerome. The back Larry Fields broke clear on a 60-yard run for the touchdown.

The alert Senators, who finished second last to Jerome last year, pounced on a Tiger fumble in the third quarter for the break they needed to win. The Tiger's punter, Gray Tomlinson, kicked from deep in Jerome territory, dropped the ball, and after a Gooding recovery on the 15-yard line, the Senators broke the deadlock in five plays.

If the Tigers were superstitious, they could excuse their loss in view of the fact that they had broken in the final period, they drove to Gooding's one-yard line, only to see the Tigers' defense break the game ruled by a 15-yard penalty for holding.

The result sharply reduced the Tigers' season standing at Big Seven champions, for in the race this year, besides the victorious Gooding, are the six other teams. The victory was Gooding's second in league play. The Senators also have beaten Buhl.

Kimberly Notches 4th Win in Row

HAILEY, Sept. 20.—Rampaging to the lead in a season hardly begun, the invading Kimberly high school eleven pounded Hailey 28-0 Friday afternoon.

Showing the claim on the Little Six championship, the Kimberly Bulldogs marched on sustained drives to a touchdown in each of the first three quarters, and added insurance touchdowns in the last quarter.

Quarterback Jim Rees counted both Kimberly scores in the first half, capping the drive with a two-yard plunge and threading 10 yard passes for the second quarter touchdown.

Teddy Tate, the Kimberly fireballer who led a first conversion to the second touchdown, crashed 15 yards for the third score in the fourth period. Minutes later Leroy Fletcher rammed over the first touchdown, and Tate added the extra point.

Heyburn Tops Valley 14-6

EDEN, Sept. 20.—Heyburn high school scored a work spot in the Valley defenses and hammered it to two touchdowns to gain a 14-6 decision in Magio Valley class B competition.

Finishing the ends could be turned. Heyburn slanted to both touchdowns in the first quarter, after trailing 0-6 at halftime.

Valley jumped into the lead in the first quarter as the result of a series of off-back passes and sweeps. Halfback Glen Reed crashed seven yards for the touchdown. Play the line was better than clear. There was little passing in the contest.

Quarterback Bob Henry was the spark in the Valley drive, while guard John Hevranec and Vern

Schlang Paces Filer Win

HAILEY, Sept. 20.—Hard-tossing Don Schlang and sharp defensive play in the line brought the Filer high school Wildcats a 12-6 victory over the Rupert high school Pirates here Friday night.

Coach Larry Stone guided Filer to his first score in the opening quarter with halfback Schlang cracking over his own left tackle to get the last eight yards.

But the Rupert Pirates bounded back on a 40 yard punt from muffed. Larry North struck back on a 10-yard end jump.

In the second quarter a pass, Schlang to end Don Davis, covering 40 yards put the Wildcats in scoring position again. Quarterback Ivan Kistler streaked from the one-yard line on a 40 yard run.

The Wildcats' defensive prowess asserted itself in the second half to protect the ultimate result, as the 12-6 victory went scorelessly.

Rupert cracked up 13 first downs to the Wildcats' seven, but the invaders found the Filer wall impregnable on home soil.

Coach Larry Stone praised end Davis, guard Dave Wright and center Don Lancaster for the outstanding line play, and halfback Tom Remington for his sniping line-backing.

New Football Rules Go Hard on Rough Gridders

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The new football rules are rougher on the roughers.

Here are the major changes for the code from previous year. You will hardly notice them. But those changes that were made were designed to curb rough play.

The Johnny Bright incident—in which a star player was slugged out of competition—had a lot to do with the changes.

Here are the major changes for 1932: A player cannot strike another player with his elbow, forearm or locked hands while blocking or tackling.

Blue Devils Bowl Over Richfield 12-6

RICHFIELD, Sept. 20.—Dietrich notched his second win in as many weeks when he led his Blue Devils over Richfield 12-6 in eight-man football.

Coach Bob Jones' invaders got two touchdowns to Richfield's one in the first half, then battled the home team to a second half standstill.

Dietrich scored first on a 60-yard march which ended with a 20-yard dash by Norman Edwards. Richfield's defense changed himself with a time out should the offensive team be awarded a first down on a kick.

Mushers Edge Bliss 7 to 0

BLISS, Sept. 20.—Fairfield Mushers got the top of a 7-0 score in gridiron play at Bliss Friday night for nearly three quarters.

The invading Mushers, bounding back from a 4-0 deficit inflicted by Fairfield in the first quarter, scored on an explosive run of over 70 yards by Art Taylor.

Jersey Joe, Rocky Clash for Crown

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Jersey Joe Walcott, a crafty old cogger of 38 with a knockout punch in either hand, defended his world heavyweight boxing title Tuesday night against unbeaten Rocky Marciano, a swarming youngster with the blunt working power of a bulldozer.

The lure of a heavy slugger putting the pressure on a cagey champion who practically wrote the book of boxing styles promises to attract some 70,000 fans and a $500,000 gate to the vast concrete arena where Gene Tunney's Jack Dempsey fought a crown fight 24 years ago to the day.

There will be no home television or radio. The only people to see the show, except those who pay from $10 to $45 at the stadium, will be the fans at 80 theaters in 31 cities on the coast-to-coast theater TV network. This probably will attract at least $100,000 to the gate.

At 28, Marciano has 10 years of youth going for him against the stout champ who insists "a man is only as old as he feels." Youth, stamina and the crunching punch of the Brockton boy's fists make him an 8 to 5 favorite at first fight in the tradition of John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis as heavyweight champion of the world.

Not since 1929 when unbeaten Jim Jeffries knocked the title off Bob Fitzsimmons' head, has a man come up to a heavyweight title shot without a 4-0 record. Now comes Marciano with 42 straight since he started boxing in 1948, and 37 of them by knockout.

When Jersey Joe was fighting his first of 65 pro fights with Cowboy Wallace at Vinland, N. J., way back in 1939, he was 17 years old, a kindergartener when Walcott, Massachusetts, knocked him out with Louis in 1947. The Rock still was a golden soldier.

Marciano's rise has been spectacular. The rugged shoe-maker son hit the "big time" when he knocked out Rex Layne, Walcott's conqueror, in the summer of 1941. Then came his knockout of Louis in the Cleftstone ring.

Dunn carried the offensive lead for the Wolves, while Bill Smith, at tackle, was his offensive standout in the Cleftstone ring.

Larry Loozil, Paul Falkner, three several scars into the invaders while his fine punning and passing.

JERSEY JOE WALCOTT who will collide at Philadelphia Tuesday night. An estimated 50,000 light fans will pay nearly $500,000 to see Rocky try to wrest the world heavyweight crown from Jersey Joe's head.

ROCKY MARCIANO who will collide at Philadelphia Tuesday night. An estimated 50,000 light fans will pay nearly $500,000 to see Rocky try to wrest the world heavyweight crown from Jersey Joe's head.

Philadelphia Get Mikan

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The Philadelphia Warriors have retained the Minneapolis Lakers for the 1951 basketball season.

The deal was for a big money every team in the league without exception.

The Lakers' acquisition of Minneapolis' Rick was just how much it could get in Philadelphia.

And here's a dime to call de cups." With that he drove off. The police found the car abandoned shortly afterwards.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Lincoln county's fair may not be the biggest in the world but the two-day exposition this year had an exhibit from halfway around the world.

From Russian-occupied Germany to be exact. The exhibit of wood carving and lace tablecloth weren't exactly inspired by a German family but the articles were made by Germans living in Glatzen, Czecho-slovakia.

Each of these is a letter from the "MAGIC HOME" produced from Rudolph Proeger, in which he described the life and work in Germany and included a list of names.

Mrs. Fred Clinger who writes at the post-office, thought about the letter for some time before she and all other sending a box. The letter from Proeger contained German stamps worth 95 cents. It was written in good English and included a description of the area and his family.

Proeger had learned English in the United States and England when he was a waiter in the two countries. The stamps were offered in exchange for food commodities. He said they represented a "good two days' net wages" for him. He explained that he had written the letter in a letter from the Shoshone sisters along with notice that a food package was being sent.

His second letter Proeger said his family was "down-hearted" when they saw the stamps offered. An American envelope for their thought their plea for help had been denied. "The whole family wept with grief after having been informed of your letter's meaning and we were the more touched by your goodness and Christian charity," Proeger explained.

The friendship of letters has continued through several years with several packages of food and clothing having been sent to the German family. The handmade articles shown at the fair were sent to the Shoshone women in return for their kindness.

Mrs. Proeger and her daughter are seamstresses and were able to make over old items of clothing. Mrs. Driskell bought a remnant of fabric in TWIN FALLS and sent it with an American pattern to the Proegers. The next letter contained a picture of Edith Proeger, the daughter from Germany, wearing a tailored suit made from the material.

A miniature angel band is among the gifts sent to the Driskell family with the wood carved chessmen which Proeger prized but which he sent to Shoshone to be sold and the money used to buy food and clothing here to be sent to Germany. The sisters have also several bread plates which they plan to sell for the Proegers. The plates are hand carved from wood.

With the correspondence, Edith, who was nearing 18, was asked what she would prefer for a gift. First on her list of wishes was a broom, "an old broom." Her second choice was "some vinegar."

In reply to the request, Mrs. Driskell bought a new broom. The handle was too long to meet mailing specifications so she had it cut. Arnold Branden cut a piece of pipe long enough to serve as a cushion for the handle and the broom was mailed to Edith as a birthday present.

The wood carved item that attracted the most attention at the fair is called a "way pole" which, to Americans, is a road marker. It consists of a little old man leaning against the pole which has two arrows pointing in opposite directions. On one arrow is the word "Weg" and on the other "Shoshone." There wasn't an explanation with the carving but upon recalling statements enclosed in previous letters to the Proegers, Mrs. Driskell said she had written that her daughter was attending a ball game at Halley and that Halley was a town near Shoshone.

Upon receiving a box from the Shoshone women, Proeger immediately writes and includes a list of the items to be by the way of the notice of the exhibit.

The wood carving exhibited at the fair contained several intricate cuts of antique wood. The Proegers completed with all details of equipment, from the little set of ball to a miniature pole and a tiny wooden fish boat, long from the end of the line.

There are two oak, symbols of wisdom, which were to have been mounted for back ends but the shortage of wood prevented completion of the work. Wolfgang Proeger, the son uses wood work for his work and it must be cut and dried for two years before it can be used. The German boy does the wood carving as a hobby. He is a bookbinder by trade.

Because yarn is scarce and because coffee is even more precious in Germany, the Proegers saved the cuts of coffee sent to them from Shoshone until they were able to trade it for enough thread to knit a pair of socks. The socks also have been sent to the Shoshone women.

Bank Gains Life's Ambition in Offering Aid-Free-to Banker

By HENRY McLEOPOR
MEXICO CITY (AP) A free money package on a little "yester" than I came here when I learned the word bank and the international monetary fund were holding their "inventions."

I didn't come as a telegrapher, I came as a reporter but simply as a man who enjoys looking at bankers. Bankers give me the same thrill as the gardener's club when, or what the mailman's girl's young bride on a "yester" day, she drove a motorcycle.

Bankers has intrigued me since I was a child. The bank president always had the biggest house in town and was the only man who could afford to have deer on his lawn. Bankers' children never wore hand-me-down clothes or had their shoes half-and. And on Sunday afternoon it was always the banker who had the biggest car for the Sabbath afternoon drive.

Even more impressive was the fact that the bankers' children always bought new school books, not second-hand ones which bore the names of the scholars who had gone up to a building in Mexico City. I had the opportunity to see a mess of bankers from all over the world. The bankers most of us see these days who sit back of glass-top desks with namelights. I think I speak for most Americans when I say that to face a lone banker, sitting in his cage-off little area, is a frightening experience. A man is there to see him but for one reason or another he needs some money and the banker has loads of it.

It was good to find, here in Mexico City, that bankers are almost human. Given a full chance I think they're fully human. When their passions are done, and they've put away their fish eyes for distinguish from borrowers.

They discard their stiff collars, peel off their coats, slip into sport shirts that would make the tellers in high banks faint from pure horror and act toward their fellow human beings as if they didn't care whether or not their fellow man happened of all when he saw a newly complete Boy Scout uniform, presented to him by his troop.

things had on "pieces of security" one old horse to be mortgaged. I played a world bank me about and his wife today, purely at random, and "laid down" them as they went about Mexico City. You can believe me of that, but she called him "baby" "The Times and a year her a half-ton horse in a turn."

It was in a silver shop that I found out bankers really have feet of clay. His wife found a pair of silver earrings she was not given to her, and didn't ask her to sign a note, but at her right arm for security. I give him some identification.

Then I heard him ask her, "What's that in dollars? For the life of me I can't get these people straight here, take all the money we've got, and from here on out you handle it."

I won't tell you this man's name, but he can hand out millions if he chooses to, yet in a foreign country he was as helpless as a prisoner whose wife couldn't take a care. I was sorely tempted, as a long-time borrower from bankers, to offer him help in translating dollars into pesos or vice versa, but so deeply ingrained is my regard for a banker that I couldn't do it.

When his wife bought a necklace and he said, "Honey, can we afford it?" I couldn't restrain myself. I jumped to his side and said, "If you need any pesos, I can let you have a few."

In a split second the banker came out in him. He looked at me as if I were a member of Lepers among lepers.

I fled from the shop, but my day was made. I had offered a banker something for free.

Do Political Speeches Count in Drives? Expert Believes They're Mostly Ritual

By DOUGLAS LARSEN — WASHINGTON (NEA) — In a presidential campaign the machine's one thing, with all the high faluting oratory just a sort of necessary ritual.

That's one of the findings of a prominent psychologist, Dr. Rensis Likert, director of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

The most good that a candidate can do for himself by a major political speech is to provide his ready active supporters more ammunition for their efforts.

Any one speech in itself, Likert's research shows, changes few votes. However, he does have an idea for making political speeches far more effective than they usually are.

The term "machine" does not mean something bad, it refers to the members of the political organization, from state units on down who must make the personal appeal for actual votes and support.

It's this "face-to-face" effort which makes most difference in a campaign, Likert claims. It must start with the candidate himself seeking personal support from state and local leaders.

Likert found that the most successful sales appeals were not those of patriotism or savings. The best plea was to an individual to help his particular group meet its quota, with the plea made in person by a bond drive worker.

Likert's research technique is interviewing samples of the population before and after elections. His goal is to isolate the prime political motivating forces. It's a pure research, non-profit study, partly financed by the Carnegie foundation.

A study of the 1948 election, Likert reveals, shows that most voters went to the polls believing that Governor Dewey was out to protect business, while President Truman was simply out to protect the people.

Likert says that in 1948 the voters had scant interest in foreign policy. But he says that a study made last summer reveals that voters have now been convinced that their own personal welfare is identified with the nation's foreign policy, and that it could have an important issue.

He thinks this could also be a big topic, based on recent consumer studies made for the federal reserve board. People know they are probably making more money than ever before, he says, but they also believe increased prices make them less well off than they were four years ago.

Restraint Asked In Property Row

W. R. Cameron and H. O. Portner filed suit in district court Friday against Nolan Victor to obtain a restraining order to prevent him from interfering with property they own and which they claim he occupies until a dispute is settled.

The plaintiffs claim they own a building at 524 Main avenue west which they leased to Victor for $125 monthly. They claim he has paid only $75 monthly, so they asked him to move.

They spent $500 for fixtures and improvements when Victor entered the premises and do not want them disturbed.

He claims that the only real issues of a presidential campaign are those

Minority Group Far Better Off Now Than Any Previous Time

By SAUL FEET NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — As a free American, here are 10 million minority group of 22,000,000. Are they better off now than any previous time?

Are they eating better? In 1929 than they did in 1928? Are they better housed and better clothed? Are they better protected from discrimination?

These questions, friends and neighbors, have but one answer. And you will find that answer, not in empty platitudes, but in the facts as they are reported by an authoritative, non-partisan, non-political organization, non-profit source.

The fact is, friends, that they are better off today than at any time in our history.

Who says that? The National Dog Welfare Council, which selflessly and quietly has been sponsoring national dog week since 1924. That's what the neighbors.

In a most every respect, dogs have moved spectacularly forward to a better world. In 1924, the average dog ate only leftovers from the family table. Today America, its conscience awakened, spends no less than $175,000,000 a year on prepared dog foods alone.

In 1928 this great country of ours had only between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 dogs, says the council, and to our great shame many of them were homeless. Today, according to Raymond J. Hanfield, executive secretary of the council, there are about 22,000,000 dogs and comparatively few are homeless.

Sample surveys taken by the council show that about 17,000,000 families own a dog or dogs. That, friends, represents 2,000,000 more families than owned dogs 12 years ago. In 75 per cent of the dog-owning homes, our great, selfless American housewife feeds the dog most of the time, the husband about 14 and the children about 10 per cent of the time.

We hear much about discrimination. Would you believe it that not member, friends, as we observe national dog week Sept. 21 to Sept. 27.

What is the big question that gives him the feeling of solitary emptiness? Good results often start with such beginnings. This young man began to do some serious thinking about himself, and that is where life begins. Laying down the magazine he asked the librarian where he could find a Bible.
