TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—In a determined effort to hold wavering agricultural states responsible for President Truman's 1948 triumph, the resolute Secretary Francis T. Tucker today is producing job over to the nation's "most radical farm organization."

In this fight, Tucker has chosen to remain in the background because of general hostility among producers and consumers to his abandoned two-price plan for marketing farm supplies. Although endorsed warmly by Truman when it was once associated with Congress the Democratic platform makers at Chicago and Governor Stevenson has rejected it as economically unsound.

Indeed, like Secretary Acheson, the Denver lawyer turned agriculturist may not be permitted to exhibit his case on the stump, although his known ideas are as radical as any in the United States.

PROXY—Not even the Farmers union which stands far to the leftward of the National Grange and the American Farm Bureau on all major issues, appears in the campaign publicity.

The Farmer union, an organization known as the Committee for Agricultural Progress. But the CAP's national and state officials consist of men once associated with Brannan and one of his predecessors, Henry A. Wallace.

REPUTATION—Although Stevenson has consulted and posed with CAP's top men, it is doubtful if even they would wish their connection with him and their connection with Brannan.

The nominee's reputation as a "hard man with a stick" might do nothing to close alignment with supporters of a program which would keep farm income high and retail prices low by outright subsidies from the U. S. Treasury.

The Farmer union, the only agricultural group to endorse the forgotten and discredited two-price scheme. This was not surprising, for its president, J. B. Baldwin, who managed Wallace's 1948 campaign, and Nathan Silvermaster, who frequently has been accused of pro-communist sympathies.

IMPORTANCE—Brannan became the fair-haired friend of the Patton organization, which he served as its attorney for the farm security program administration, which worked closely with PU in helping defunct farmers. Other FSA officials during this period were J. B. Baldwin, who managed Wallace's 1948 campaign, and Nathan Silvermaster, who frequently has been accused of pro-communist sympathies.

The CAP has assumed such political importance that Stevenson posed with its officials several weeks ago. They included Alfred R. Barnes and Ben Slong.

Slong, who was the CAP's principal promoter and organizer, resigned from agriculture only a few weeks before the Chicago convention. He had been special assistant to Brannan. Previously he had been south Dakota chairman of the old AAA committee.

CLOSE—Slong has been an employee of the Farmers union for several years. He is now the Washington representative of the Committee for Agricultural Progress. He shares office space with Wayne Darrow, the newsletter.

Darrow worked for the old AAA, and maintains close contacts with its successor, the production and marketing administration Darrow's former assistant, Porter Hedge, is now a special aide to Gus Geisler, FMA administrator.

INGENUITY—CAP's state chairman in such key states as Illinois and Minnesota were former field agents for AAA and FMA. It is understood that many officials in CAP's organization in the other states have had similar associations with agriculture and its various field agencies, whose personnel totals more than 100,000 throughout rural communities.

This play for Stevenson—agriculture, the Farmers union, and CAP—stiffens again to Brannan's political ingenuity and strategy. It recalls his role of selling tactics to Truman at an early date in the storage shortage issue robbed Governor Dewey of almost certain victory.

TRUMANISM—Brannan's efforts to camouflage his political aims derive most from treatment toward his 1948 tactics and his pricing proposals. They also are due to growing recognition that Truman has taken over the campaign for the Stevenson-Barkman ticket.

Truman himself plans to "whistle stop" extensively because the nominee is not stirring such groups as farmers, labor and the colored people. Secretary Chapman is acting adverse and whoop-it-up man in the west.

Labor Secretary Tobin, Federal Security Administrator Evling and Mutual Security Administrator Harrison are making daily or nightly speeches. And these are only the more important Truman appointees out in the field. In addition, two White House secretaries are working with Stevenson at Springfield.

Stephen Mitchell, whose appointment as Democratic national chairman was supposed to have been the nominee's independence and dissociation from "Trumanism," is handling only routine matters. He relies on his staff of house holdwives for advice on major political problems.

Truman is no longer a "back burner" in the rear ranks. He has maneuvered himself into the role he would occupy as "key man."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

"A BOMB AND GERM WAR"

Herbert Cohen, his of the team of Cohen and Cohen, White House spokesman during the 1948 election, has grown up into a statesman since then, to the point where he made the solemn announcement at the time that the United States would not use atomic bombs and germ warfare on the Reds if they start anything big.

Whereupon we suppose Russian propagandists will cheerle up and feel this as an admission that the United States favors this type of warfare and is planning to inaugurate it against an innocent world. This should be a bold day for them.

Doubtless the announcement could have been more tactically phrased, but we see no reason why the American nation shouldn't be this bold in the point that is generally known. Or why the announcement would not act as a deterrent to Russian schemes for world conquest.

It is generally known, especially in Moscow, that the United States would not provoke or start any war, that our atomic weapons will be used only in defense of our own people. And that the great reason we haven't used them in Korea and are evidently not planning to, though we've never seen any reason why we shouldn't, except possibly that the atomic bombs wouldn't be effective there, and unexploded bombs might fall into Russian hands.

Was it this death, New Improved weapons don't kill the victims any faster than the old ones. The objection should be in war itself, not to more effective means of warring. If And Russia has the key to the bomb, she can make the bomb as effective as she needs to do to reach her aggressive policies and nobody will be killed by an atomic or any other kind of bomb.

It is a simple as that, and our propagandists should hammer the fact home fearlessly. The U. S. defends itself and other free nations against Russian attack. We will not. Nobody ever kills.

IT'S A GOOD IDEA

We see in the Associated Press where 100 thousand people are reading 20 million and at Napier, Utah. And also a declaration calling for complete equality between men and women.

It is a good idea. The committee disagree with that point. It is a good idea. The men, we have been hearing it for years. It is a good idea. It is a good idea.

BOOBYTRAP!

Potay:

This new lawn and new-fangled sprinkling system at the Magic Valley Memorial hospital, or "sickery" as I. M. Noll puts it, constitutes one of the finest boobytraps I have come to light in these parts for many a moon!

Potay, but it appears to me that sprinkling system must have been installed AFTER those paths were worn in the new lawn by folks taking short cuts across the lawn and whoever gets "baptized" by the sprinkling system is sure in need of baptizing.

Boy! You should have seen the look on one woman's face when she sank ankle-deep in the new lawn! And the crying and wailing and screaming at workmen! The way she acted you'd think she WANTED the one who was waiting there she had no business waiting.

We need more boobytraps like that to keep people away from new lawns.

TAKE YOUR BILFOLD

Dear Shooter:

Those hunters who plan to participate in the Big Bearage in the south hills this week-end should go completely equipped with bilfolds. We've got some range stock kicking around in these hills. Unfortunately, the cows can't shoot back! And every year it seems some trigger-happy, would-be hunter mistakes a whiteface for a deer. Of course, it could be the fault of the whiteface. They tell me some of them look remarkably like a deer, particularly when they go bounding up the side of a mountain, 20 feet at a jump.

If they boys who have poor eyesight will take their bilfolds along with them, no one will be particularly unhappy except the cow. Of course, if that cow in the brush turns out to be another hunter, ...

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Soon before the Wisconsin plant and just in time to smear Ray Joe McCarthy, the civil service commission suspended an employee of the boy.

The review board of the Wisconsin plant, on suspicion that she had permitted McCarthy to leave the plant to look at confidential documents, tended to show that McCarthy's "loyalty" had not been made a sincere effort to get rid of McCarthy.

The documents were minutes of a loyalty review board hearing showing the board itself had ridiculed the state department for its attitude.

And the fact that the board did not utilize the state department, as the action against the examiner implies it was a worse offense to punish McCarthy than the truth than for the state department to harbor suspected persons.

The state's duty to punish a loyal American is in strong contrast to the practice in other known leaks of information which was legitimately confidential and private.

Person's other red reporter, Andrew C. ... was exposed by a patriotic American housewife who joined his cell in spy traitors. After the denunciation, Pearson wrote that he himself had discovered the error, mislabeled "loyal" for "disloyal" and had been able to show him the right way.

Pearson probably had here as he has in other matters. He did not mention Older's guilt until it had been exposed in official proceedings. By that time Older was dead.

During the war, the censorship office seized personal letters written by Vivien Kellems, an outstanding patriot, to a German citizen living in South America.

Pearson broadcast them and sneered Miss Kellems as a nationalist on the unproven suspicion that the German was a spy. No person ever was arrested for the violation of the censorship laws.

The traffic in stolen documents and confidential knowledge has grown into an alarming menace. The communists almost always get the breaks and the old Dies committee went to great pains to photograph its documents showing guilty activity by many of the Roosevelt-Frankfurter crew when it appeared, for a time that Senator Roosevelt and his friends would pose as if abolishing the committee in this case, the files would have been turned in once.

In the "frame" investigation of the Acheson-His apparatus, Adolf Berle, a typical Harvard law school liberal of the Frankfurter-Acheson group, testified that a "big man" for Pearson had been obtaining secret information valuable to the Soviets out of the state department. He did not name this "big man" who might have been Katz, late of the communist Daily Worker, or Older.

None of these revelations in their aroused even a whisper of in-

In a flagrant case, Drew Pearson, a faker, liar and notorious scoundrel, after the denunciation, Pearson wrote that he himself had discovered the error, mislabeled "loyal" for "disloyal" and had been able to show him the right way.

The chief justice called a meeting of the court and either accused Murphy directly or strongly hinted that he was under suspicion.

Murphy was a cheap, night-club type of man. He was also a Communist party member. He was also a Communist party member. He was also a Communist party member.

Another individual, once a cabinet member, had told me Pearson sent an emissary to see him when he took office, offering to praise him on the radio and in print in return for exclusive news tips. This cabinet member declined the proposition.

Jesse Jones said Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace both leaked confidential cabinet matters to Pearson, Ickes, of course, was as red as Harry Hopkins or Roosevelt himself.

And Wallace, after running as the communist candidate for President, and ballyhooing Russia's ardent desire for peace, only now has found it expedient, for some occult reason, to admit that he was mistaken.

He is a persistent liar, however, as I have proved through the correspondence concerning his ruthless betrayal of two scientists of the department of agriculture in connection with the Asiatic expedition of Nicholas Borch, his personal guru, or god-man.

Pearson has a reporter on his staff of "leg-men" who admitted he had been a reporter on the Daily Worker, and another who was exposed as a Communist party member in a secret Washington call after he had died.

The first, David Katz, alias Karr, still is connected with Pearson and with the William Weinstark Advertising agency in New York, which handles Pearson's radio business.

Madeline, the wife of Katz, got into the White House as correspondent of an obscure New York weekly Greek-language paper and was barred by order of Gen. Harry Vaughan after Pearson had tried to signation in the name of the Daily Worker. Pearson's broadcast of them and sneered Miss Kellems as a nationalist on the unproven suspicion that the German was a spy. No person ever was arrested for the violation of the censorship laws.

By ANGELO PATRI
Most of us are feeling the pinch of high prices and heavy taxes and find it difficult to keep the family on the old standards. Prices may rise and taxes increase, but the children and the needs of children remain, as usual, at full tide. Allowances cannot be increased and the children want to know why. Tell them to keep no secrets as to family finances. As soon as children are old enough to count, begin letting them do so, insist that they do so. Explain how much money is at the service of the family and tell them it is used for. In time, even the most selfish child will get the idea that a dollar has strict limitations in the matter of its spending.

Dodgers Can Win National League Pennant Today

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians gained a half a game in their desperate pursuit of the long-eluding New York Yankees by beating the Detroit Tigers 5-3 at Cleveland in the only game played in the major leagues today. The win put the Tribe within a game of the title Yankees. It was the sixth straight win for Cleveland, the 15th in the Indians' last 17 starts.

Both the Indians and the Yankees have now won 80 games, but the Indians have lost two more than New York, 60 and 58.

If New York wins four of its remaining six games, the Indians will have to win all their remaining four to nab a tie.

Two of Cleveland's remaining four games will be played here against Chicago. The other two will be at Detroit.

New York plays three at Boston and three at Philadelphia.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have a good chance to clinch the National League pennant Tuesday sitting down.

Needling only one more victory over the New York Giants to qualify for the world series, the Dodgers will anxiously wait out an afternoon at Boston, doubleheader before playing a two-night twin bill with Philadelphia.

If the Giants lose one of the two games with the Braves, pressure immediately would be taken off Brooklyn's manager Charley Dresser, who could then start reading his weekly pitching staff for the series, starting Oct. 7, against either the New York Yankees or Cleveland.

If the Giants should insist on winning, then clinching ceremonies for the Dodgers would be delayed until they can win one of the six remaining games.

Black Slated To Open Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Manager Charley Dresser withheld formal announcement that rookie Joe Black would pitch the first game of the world series for the Brooklyn Dodgers today, pending the discovery of a pitcher who could take his place in the bullpen.

Dresser clearly indicated he hoped to be able to start his major league winner and rookie-tender Black today in the opener and planned trial runs for Ralph Branca and Clem Labine which would assist in determining the decision. If either Branca or Labine is impressive between now and the season's finale next Friday, Black will get the call.

There was, of course, one formally—the actual clinching of the pennant—but with the Dodgers requiring only one victory in their remaining six games or one Giant loss in their six to clinch, the players were concerned only with the likelihood of their series rival.

Runners-up Press Musial, Fain In Bat Derbies

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Stan Musial and Fain Fain, the major league batting leaders during most of the 1935 season, are being hand pressed to hold their all-around advantages as the campaign enters its final week.

With only six games left in which to maintain his edge, Musial has a meager four-point lead over Chicago's Frankie Baumholtz in the National League lead-off derby. The St. Louis Cardinal slumped dropped two valuable points last week and fell to 334 while Baumholtz put on a five-point spur to 336. The Cubs have three games left to play.

In the American league, Fain's 328 mark is also four points better than the average of his closest pursuers, Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Indians. While Mitchell's average remained at 324 during last week, the Philadelphia first sacker lost three points. Fain has four games to go and Mitchell five.

Hoople Covers up With "Plot" Charge; Winner Misses One Game

By M. JON AMOS, B. BOVILL

Ready to drink the "I Am Hoople" beer, Hoople would fall victim to a "plot" to steal the title of "Hoople" and all the time that has behind the term "Hoople" right misses, or at least which were not contained in original calculations.

But the Hoople system of computing batting averages provides that it will be discarded in favor of a new system of computing batting averages. Hence one of a simple formula along with predictions of last week were 100 per cent. absolutely correct.

However, an astute student of the Hoople system should have noticed that the Hoople system for the season has been picking the winner of all except one game. William L. Chancey, 1250 Sixth avenue, says that the Hoople system would beat KAN today, but nevertheless he gets $10 to his guesser of the game.

Connie Lee Glenn, 1713 Hansen avenue, says that the Hoople system would beat KAN today, but nevertheless he gets $10 to his guesser of the game.

Ex-West Point Players Star On Gridiron

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Several former West Point football players, including 184 year in the carbons scandal, started for their new alma maters over the week-end.

Quarterback Gil Reich, one-time cadet now with Kansas, drew most headlines with his performance in tossing both touchdown passes at Jayhawks turned back Texas Christian 13-0.

Gene Filippi galloped 43 yards on a reverse in the opening minute of the third period to score a touchdown that clinched a 25 to 6 Villanova victory over Kentucky. Filippi is a former West Pointer from Sacramento, Calif.

Another former cadet, Bill Rowan, played brilliantly for Missouri, beaten by Maryland, 13 to 10. Rowan was the receiving end of several passes that put Missouri into scoring position for its one touchdown. He also acted as defensive right end, blocking the conversion attempt on the first Maryland touchdown.

Boise Readies For Big Game

BOISE, Sept. 23 (AP)—A record football crowd is expected Saturday when the University of Utah meets the University of Idaho at Boise Junior college stadium.

Gale L. Mix, manager of athletics at Idaho, said temporary bleachers have been secured to bring the stadium capacity to 15,000 for the annual contest.

The Vandals and both lost their opening games Saturday. Oregon State beat Utah 14-7 and the Vandals lost 39-14 to the University of Washington.

The Vandals gridders will fly to Boise Friday morning and both the Vandals and the Vandals will work out Friday afternoon at the stadium. Idaho did not suffer any injuries beyond minor bruises in the Washington contest.

Penn Asks Okay To Teleview Game

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (AP)—The University of Maryland, long an advocate of live telecasts of college football games, Monday asked permission of the National Collegiate Athletic association to telecast a game with Notre Dame Saturday.

The University at the same time offered to donate the receipts from the game to establish scholarships of a broad inter-faith nature if the NCAA should so decide.

The NCAA has taken over the power of authorizing which games throughout the nation shall be telecast during the weeks of the fall season.

Walcott Is Underdog In Marciano Tangle

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (AP)—Young Rocky Marciano rules a 3 to 2 choice to wreath the world heavyweight title from 38 year old Jersey Joe Walcott's "Wallop" right in the same municipal stadium where the two fought last year.

Depsey just 25 years ago.

Copromoters Jim Norris and Herman Taylor expect a crowd of 50,000 and a gate between $55,000 and $60,000 for the fight.

The weight promotion since the weather forecast calls for a cool, cloudy evening with temperatures in the 60s.

There will be no home television nor radio broadcast of the bout scheduled for 7 p. m. (MST). However a record number of some 50 theaters in 12 states will show the fight on a coast-to-coast theater television network.

Like the Tunney-Dempsey fight, this too is a battle of youth against a veteran. But this time it's the oldest heavyweight champion ever to defend his crown when he steps into the Municipal stadium ring against 29-year-old Marciano. Walcott's listed birth date is Jan. 21, 1891.

Walcott's camp insists Marciano's concrete jaw never has been fully tested. They run down his perfect record of 37 knockouts in 42 straight fights in a row.

Charles Goldman, the Marciano trainer, "he'll only find more coming after him. He can't block or get away from all of them. Every one that hits his belly will take something out of him. He'll feel it in his legs first. When he's ready, Rocky will knock him out."

Youth Given Nod for Win In Big Match

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (AP)—You've got to go with raw, rugged youth in this one, so the pick is for Rocky Marciano, 29, to wear down Jersey Joe Walcott, 38, and stop the world champion somewhere after the 10th round of Thursday night's fight. It might happen a little sooner if the Camden puppy becomes careless.

Walcott is a remarkable specimen for 38. He might even be a remarkable 43 or 44 if you wish to believe some promoters who claim Joe fought for them several years before his official record began in Nat Fleischer's big book. But 38 will do for the purposes of this essay, and we don't care if Bob Fitzsimmons did wind up fighting from a wheelchair, as they claim.

Marciano is an untested young man of great potentialities, plans to go and take down his granite jaw and throw punch after punch until something comes loose. He and his brain trust fully expect that many of them will miss, and that Rocky will at times be made to look like a novice. But they also feel certain that a fair percentage of blows will reach Walcott somewhere and they know for sure that every one of them will hurt.

"Walcott might get away two or three of them in a row," says Charlie Goldman, the Marciano trainer, "but he'll only find more coming after him. He can't block or get away from all of them. Every one that hits his belly will take something out of him. He'll feel it in his legs first. When he's ready, Rocky will knock him out."

ing grocery stores, but not if the ordinance prohibits sale of the other items. He said those in favor of the measure can petition for a election. Merrill said he believes people want grocery stores closed, but are against the all inclusive ordinance and said he did not believe it would survive. He said he believed the ordinance could be drawn to apply only to the grocery stores. City Attorney Balleisen said he studied the ordinance with Harry Bennett and Bennett told him to write it so, in Balleisen's opinion, it would stand up in court. Balleisen said a Lincoln, Neb., ordinance tried to close just grocery stores and lost out in court although the people and the council supported it. He questioned the city's power to forbid people from doing business when they see fit if there is no state law to the contrary. Balleisen said he tried to draw an ordinance which would stand up in court. He said an ordinance could be written to please everyone. Commissioners Chaney suggested the ordinance be voted on so the supporters of it could take what ever action they wished.

Company Appeals New Trial Motion

BURLEY, Sept. 23—An appeal on a motion for a new trial has been granted the Tower company, Oakley, against Michel Sanchoitena. Last spring, in district court, a jury returned a verdict of $1,318 in favor of Sanchoitena. He had asked $8,319 for damages to his crops because of a pump he purchased from the defendant had failed to operate. He claimed it had not been installed properly. The jury, in its verdict, granted the company a counterclaim of $778.22 for money still due on the pump. On Aug. 8 District Judge Kales E. Lowe granted the plaintiff a new trial which now is being appealed to the supreme court.

Following the address will be a general assembly and business meeting of the IEA with an election of officers concluding the session. Mrs. Williams, president of elementary schools and chairman of the nominating committee, will report with nominations. Treasurer's report will be given by Barbara Hovley, Burley. Field work and the IEA will be discussed by Harold Provancha. Administrator's luncheon and business meeting will be held at noon at Wood's cafe. Doyle Londer, superintendent of elementary principals, will preside over his group and Mrs. Stern, president of class room associations, will preside over the luncheon session at the high school cafeteria.

Workshop sessions will begin at 2:15 p.m. A group meeting for high schools will be held at the high school cafeteria under the chairmanship of Don Matthews, Burley. Separate workshops for mathematics, driver education, English, physical education, visual education, homemaking, vocational agriculture and music will be conducted by educators of the state acting as moderators and consultants. Mrs. William Melser, Jerome, is chairman of the junior high school group, which will hold its general session in the high school study hall. Arthur Kleinkopf, Twin Falls, will discuss the purpose of the workshop. Separate sessions will be held for art, reading problems and physical education.

Chairman of the intermediate group is Eugene Gibbons, Gooding. This group will meet in the junior high school auditorium. Gibbons will speak on the purpose of the workshops and Donald Daw will discuss reading demonstration. The group will close its session with a panel discussion. The primary group will meet in the high school auditorium with Helen Perry, Twin Falls, as chairman. Separate groups will meet for reading, writing, speech correction and reading material. All workshops will adjourn at 4:15 p.m. A dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. will be held for all unit presidents and district officers. Roy Barry and Harold Provancha will preside.

The state department of education will be in charge of the 2 1/2 day meeting. The invocation will be given by the Rev. J. D. Crege, pastor of the Methodist church at 9:30 a.m. J. James Boise, state superintendent of schools, will speak. Gertrude Zachman, Boise, state elementary supervisor, will discuss child development and Joyce Fisher, Gooding, will sing.

Workshops will convene at 10:15 a.m. Of special interest to the intermediate group will be the demonstration and discussion of the following aids by Aeri Chaburn, Boise Junior college. The hot lunch program will be discussed by E. Marion Roy, Boise, director. This session will be held in the junior high school study hall.

Arrangements for special luncheons have been made for the school masters club at Wood's cafe and Delta Kappa Gamma will meet at the Owl cafe. The final general assembly will convene at 2 p.m. Report of the session committee will be given by Randall Wilson, Jerome, chairman. Carl Warner, Rupert, will report on the resolutions committee. The high school group workshops will be evaluated by Matthews, junior high school group by Kleinkopf, intermediate group by Gibbons and Mrs. Mary Harrington, Burley, will evaluate the primary grade workshops.
