DESERVING OF HELP

American sympathy is naturally very great for the man a thousand miles from the unrelenting flood havoc that has struck the low-lying coasts of Britain, Holland and Belgium.

Inevitably, there will be from this country a generous outpouring of assistance of many kinds. Americans recently have been chafing under the continuing heavy burden of foreign aid, but they think not the sort to let the politics of foreign affairs get in the way of their humanitarian impulses.

One can make no distinction among people who are undergoing such heart-rending suffering. To all must go the helping hand and the fullest understanding of their plight. Yet there is a special and brutal irony in the fact that they, doubly Holland is the worst hit by disaster.

Only a short time before the storm sent towering waves to engulf the Dutch coast, the Netherlands government had indicated to the United States that it would renounce 18 million dollars it was scheduled to receive under the lend-lease program.

The thrifty, hard-working Dutch had bravely lifted themselves up to a condition of at least temporary self-reliance, and were an example to all Western Europe.

More than that, the Dutch had not long before just managed to overcome the last lingering effect of the mammoth food distribution program by the end of the war. They abandoned Netherlands soil in World War II. The Germans had opened the dikes and allowed ruinous salt water to pour over productive lands. Thousands and thousands of acres were rendered useless for a long time.

Painstakingly, the Dutch set about restoring this soil as arable land as very minutely the damaging effects of salt deposits. In many places, the task is considerably slower. Now, with that ordeal barely behind them, many Dutch farmers must go through the same thing all over again. This fantastic double burden must strain their patience and endurance to the limit.

Because they have suffered most, it is fair that we give money and clothes and other necessities with a special eye to the Dutch. In the humanitarian view, theirs is the commanding need. From the hard-boiled, practical standpoint, if any insist upon it, the Dutch have eminently earned our help.

Just as a footnote here, isn't it reasonable to ask what the Russian communists, those great humanitarians, those saviors of the masses and friends of the downtrodden, are doing to help ease the anguish of Western Europe's great disaster?

They'll surprise men of real good will if they send one old samovar full of rubles.

PROSPERITY AND TAXES

The new dealers, fair dealers, double dealers or whatever you care to call them would like to have us believe we have enjoyed an unprecedented era of "prosperity" the last 20 years.

For instance, they point out that during the last 12 years, personal income has risen from 73 billion dollars to 254 billion dollars. And no one can deny that's quite an increase.

But they are careful not to make any mention of the fact that personal income reported by the federal treasury during the same period have jumped from 1.2 billion dollars to 25.1 billion dollars!

High taxes are caused by big government spending. The only cure for both is rigid economy. And we all must keep in mind that the economy in Washington begins with the citizens back home.

So let's not be swept away by those who will try their eyes out when the new national administration starts screwing down the clamps of economy-in-government to make lower taxes possible.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The depressed prices now threatening the producers of major foodstuffs in this country are the result of the supposedly all-powerful farm bloc on capitol hill has fallen in pieces during the period of wartime and postwar prosperity. Members of the farm bloc are feeling some of the pain as never before instead of undying for submission of a specific and strong program to President Eisenhower and Secretary A. A. Benson.

Like Eisenhower, Benson would like to deal with a committee or committee of congressmen for the farmers in framing or modifying the existing system. But he has been unable to identify any group he could recognize as representative of the nation's agricultural interests. So far he has resisted the "farm bloc" attempt to "re-organize" to win him over to its viewpoint.

Once ranked with labor and the veterans as the most formidable and effective lobby at Washington, the farm bloc is now a much less powerful group. It cannot agree on plans to check the price decline, to force down the cost of things farmers must buy, to stimulate lagging export trade or to improve the lot of their client.

IDEAL CHOICE—In fact, the disagreements within the farm bloc are so great that the National Farm Bureau, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union—largely account for Eisenhower's selection of Benson as secretary of agriculture.

Although long interested in co-operatives and marketing problems, the Utah man has not been identified with either of the two major farm organizations. His neutral position made him the ideal choice.

He demurred mildly against accepting the job, giving four reasons: (1) Utah is not a great farm state; (2) better men could be found in the mid-west's corn-and-cattle country; (3) he had been for "Senator Tom Hefner" in the Chicago campaign; (4) he had no special considerations, however, only complied him to President Eisenhower. "Ike" did not want a "professional farm-bloc influence."

DISCORD WEAKENS INFLUENCE—The discord among the farm organizations has weakened their influence on capitol hill to an unprecedented degree. The farm bloc's influence on the National Farm Bureau federation and the Grand Old Party proposal for appropriation of 250 million dollars for the soil conservation payment program. Normally conservative farmers did not believe that they should pay farmers for the ordinary upkeep of their investments.

Prominent members from farm states showed that neither the Grange nor the federation, although the oldest and largest organizations of their kind, could speak for the nation's farmers. And congress was wary of the money in either of the two bodies, which have almost 2,500,000 dues-paying members.

UNION REPRISALS—The third farm group, the National Farmers Union, had only 100,000 members. It represents marginal, one-crop farmers, and it is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is generally regarded as the more radical group, and it has supported the new fair deal legislative program.

The influence has always been less than that of the federation and the Grange, and it has been under the Eisenhower regime. With former officials of Benson's department, it sponsored a pro-Stevenson movement known as the committee for agricultural progress in the 1930s campaign.

SQUABBLING OVER FARM POLICIES—Besides waging war on each other in their scramble for Benson's favor, the farm groups are also warring internally over future farm policies. They cannot agree on a 30 per cent, 100 per cent or a sliding scale for 30 per cent of parity.

Ironically, the farm groups' disorganization and lack of a positive, price-support program for the long-range future may mean a break for another equally unorganized, but more cohesive, group in the near future in many years, they are beginning to enjoy relatively reasonable prices at the grocery and meat stores.

MUDGUARDS FOR TRUCKS?

Every try to pass a truck on a wet pavement? You have to stay back for a long time and then make a dash for it through the sheet of dirty spray, driving almost blind until you get alongside and you splash with their wet.

It's a nervous business. Most motorists have had this experience, and some have souvenirs of it—wind-shield nicks from flying pebbles—not to mention the creative effect of that spray on automobile finishes. So the feeling runs biennially that "there oughta be a law."

As though a matter to legislators as you might think. For trucks are entitled to the road, too, and regulation of them has to be reasonable. If you require mudguards, what kind? Were wensible flaps are not too effective at high speeds, whereas mudguards tend to accumulate ice. Some claim the guards can't prevent spray anyway, but only stop solid matter. They are state-made—a device that have mudguards, ranging from mere grants of regulatory power to very precise formulas. Some trucks, it is said, carry removable guards, mounting and demounting them at the state lines as the law varies.

A mudguard bill was killed in the last Wisconsin legislature. The consensus was to let the trucking industry come up with a voluntary remedy if it would. There is no clear sign, however, that the legislature-makers are now reported to be interested in fathering such a bill at this year's session.

Federal scientific research on this subject—some practical experiments on the effects of various types of guards—by our university and highway safety experts. The trucking industry's concern for good public relations should induce it to cooperate.

This is a relatively small matter, but a satisfactory solution would do a little bit to make the highway safer and every little bit is worth while.—Milwaukee Journal.

WE PAY FOR THIS

Mistake! Congressman Frank E. Smith was a 18-year-old schoolboy when the U. S. congress passed the "Buy American" act as a depression era trade-protection measure. Since then Smith has entered the army as a private, fought with General Patton's army in Europe, and come out of the service as an artillery major. In the eighty-third congress he leads a direct attack against an untold law that has cost the U. S. taxpayers billions of dollars in procurement expenses as well as inestimable good will among our foreign allies.

The Buy American law requires that the government may not buy anything from a foreign firm unless the foreign price is at least 25 per cent below the lowest American bid. During the war "and after" the law has been modified by executive order so as not to apply to military purchases. But much government buying abroad is nonmilitary.

This tired old turkey of a law has enabled U. S. manufacturers to take a boost in prices to the government. It is a definite factor in contributing to inflation at home, and the dollar shortage abroad. A similar law has induced southerners in the past to amend the rural electrification act of 1936 that requires borrowers of REA to use only U. S. manufactured goods which contain no foreign materials. The law was put through twenty years ago—and so has our need for government economy as well as for foreign salesmanship. It is recommended that such antiquated and costly restrictions be allowed to stand all these last-moving years. Congressmen Smith in proposing that the law be amended with the time that many of his critics in the great body. The new congress, if it is on its toes, will give the Smith bill quick action.—Detroit Post.

POT SHOTS

ABUSED BOTH WAYS

Dear Pot: I have been interested in the different viewpoints regarding coffee drinking on the boat time. Ten minutes off during the morning or afternoon shouldn't be begrudged anyone, but don't you think that privilege has been abused?

On the other hand, there is the employer who demands a 10-hour day, six days a week and some Sunday (and would like more). That work, at times, is a 10-hour day, and that's not to mention the fact that there should be a happy medium.

A little girl is grieving for her lost doggie, the little cocker spaniel someone took from the J. N. Nebecker home two and one-half miles east of Gooding sometime early last Saturday morning.

Dear Pot: Referring to the poem about the telephone scavenger in which it is said she has oversteer feet and boxer shoes, a lot of us, including me, have oversteer feet, but we have lost what the Good Lord thinks we should pay farmers for the ordinary upkeep of their investments.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In its pelmy days the new deal was accused of having decreased a formula to stay in power, expressed as "tax and spend and spend, elect and elect." Those words were attributed to Harry S. Hopkins.

Like Eisenhower, Benson would like to deal with a committee or committee of congressmen for the farmers in framing or modifying the existing system. But he has been unable to identify any group he could recognize as representative of the nation's agricultural interests. So far he has resisted the "farm bloc" attempt to "re-organize" to win him over to its viewpoint.

Once ranked with labor and the veterans as the most formidable and effective lobby at Washington, the farm bloc is now a much less powerful group. It cannot agree on plans to check the price decline, to force down the cost of things farmers must buy, to stimulate lagging export trade or to improve the lot of their client.

IDEAL CHOICE—In fact, the disagreements within the farm bloc are so great that the National Farm Bureau, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union—largely account for Eisenhower's selection of Benson as secretary of agriculture.

Although long interested in co-operatives and marketing problems, the Utah man has not been identified with either of the two major farm organizations. His neutral position made him the ideal choice.

He demurred mildly against accepting the job, giving four reasons: (1) Utah is not a great farm state; (2) better men could be found in the mid-west's corn-and-cattle country; (3) he had been for "Senator Tom Hefner" in the Chicago campaign; (4) he had no special considerations, however, only complied him to President Eisenhower. "Ike" did not want a "professional farm-bloc influence."

DISCORD WEAKENS INFLUENCE—The discord among the farm organizations has weakened their influence on capitol hill to an unprecedented degree. The farm bloc's influence on the National Farm Bureau federation and the Grand Old Party proposal for appropriation of 250 million dollars for the soil conservation payment program. Normally conservative farmers did not believe that they should pay farmers for the ordinary upkeep of their investments.

Prominent members from farm states showed that neither the Grange nor the federation, although the oldest and largest organizations of their kind, could speak for the nation's farmers. And congress was wary of the money in either of the two bodies, which have almost 2,500,000 dues-paying members.

UNION REPRISALS—The third farm group, the National Farmers Union, had only 100,000 members. It represents marginal, one-crop farmers, and it is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is generally regarded as the more radical group, and it has supported the new fair deal legislative program.

The influence has always been less than that of the federation and the Grange, and it has been under the Eisenhower regime. With former officials of Benson's department, it sponsored a pro-Stevenson movement known as the committee for agricultural progress in the 1930s campaign.

SQUABBLING OVER FARM POLICIES—Besides waging war on each other in their scramble for Benson's favor, the farm groups are also warring internally over future farm policies. They cannot agree on a 30 per cent, 100 per cent or a sliding scale for 30 per cent of parity.

Ironically, the farm groups' disorganization and lack of a positive, price-support program for the long-range future may mean a break for another equally unorganized, but more cohesive, group in the near future in many years, they are beginning to enjoy relatively reasonable prices at the grocery and meat stores.

Freeze Rule Is Explained

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Frank R. Credon, defense department director of installations, said today no military construction work already in progress will be stopped until a review ordered by the budget bureau is completed.

He made the statement to a reporter to clarify an order by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson under which the army, navy and air force secretaries must prepare lists of projects less than 20 per cent complete on February 10 but considered essential.

The order does not mean work on these projects will stop while the review is in progress, Credon said. He said the only "freeze" now in effect is on the award of new construction contracts.

Sabotage Hint Is Checked in Blast of Plant

PINOLE, Calif., Feb. 13—Agents and army intelligence officers searched for signs of "possible sabotage" in an "earthquake-like" powder plant explosion that killed at least 12 persons and injured 45.

"We're checking to see if there is any possibility of sabotage," FBI Agent D. K. Brown said.

A police inspector said he had "found indications" of foul play in the disastrous blast that rumbled out of the Hercules Powder company's dynamic plant yesterday.

Two workers were missing Friday in the shock when fire broke out shortly before 1 p. m. (PST). Seconds later, as other employees hurried to help put out the blaze, the shock exploded.

The blast rocked a three-company region in this bay area near San Francisco and sent an atomic-like mushroom of smoke hundreds of feet into the air. The smoke column could be seen for at least 20 miles.

Crews Worked.

Medical and disaster crews worked into the night treating injured and trying to determine how many men had been killed.

Shortly before midnight, the county coroner's office at nearby Richmond announced that 12 persons definitely were missing and presumed dead.

Plant officials said only a roll call of company workers would reveal the names of all the casualties.

Group Seeks Hearings on Use of Land

(From Page One)

In addition to the gunnery ranges, the air force also has about eight spot target areas in the Bruneau desert. Each is two miles square.

The land development firm holds two well permits, but they have been suspended. One well being financed by 66 members who contributed $112.50 each, reached a depth of 300 feet before work was stopped. The group hopes to bring in an artisan well.

Considerable discussion was devoted to well-drilling and finances. Members were urged to write congressmen to seek a special hearing for the group. About 50 people attended the session at the city hall.

Group Refuses to Endorse Blast at Power Subsidies

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13—The national water conservation conference has deferred action on a committee proposal to go on record against any federal subsidy in the development and transmission of hydroelectric power.

The conference, which ended a two-day meeting Thursday, is also labeled the report of its land and water policy committee a final progress report.

"The disputed point will be sent to the full membership for study, then is expected to come before the organization at a later meeting."

John G. Will, secretary of the upper Colorado river commission, opposed the no-subsidy plan. "It is an attack it would cripple the development of such power."

The committee's recommendation also called for rates for such power projects to be no less than an amount necessary to repay the original cost of the project and its operation and maintenance within 50 years from the date the power goes on sale.

No date has been set for memorial services in Salt Lake City. Friends have been asked to make donations to the Mignonette scholarship fund of the Pacific trust territory.

Report Cites Mineral Finds in State, Record Value on Crops

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—The report of the geological survey of Idaho were dated today among the national mineral discoveries of the year.

They were included in an interior department report, which also said that the state's mineral resources are being developed at a record value of more than $21 million.

Solon Says Fund Boosts Will Help Teacher Problem

BOISE, Feb. 13—Approximately $12 million dollars to the public school income fund and nearly $1,000,000 to the teacher retirement fund will be paid by the state's past and current obligations are "a real step forward in the solution of Idaho's teacher and public school problems," Rep. Clarence W. Kimpton, R. Clatskanie, said Thursday.

Kimpton, superintendent of schools at Challis, said he had made an extensive study of the state's educational problems and concluded that reopening of Northern and Southern Idaho Colleges of Education "is neither necessary nor desirable" in solving the teacher shortage.

The legislature has passed and Gov. Len Jordan has signed a bill appropriating $1,254,713 to pay the state's past obligations to the teacher retirement fund and a $1,200,000 appropriation for its current expenses. It also cleared the way for the house to pass the $12 million dollar appropriation for the public school income fund.

Leaders Declare Mines in Middle Of Major Slump

DENVER, Feb. 13—United States mining leaders believe that the industry is in the midst of its worst depression and that legislation should be passed "to get the government out of the mining and mineral business."

Charles Jordan, Alma, Colo. mining operator, contended that 48 per cent of the nation's unemployed are miners. Richard L. Jones, Leadville, Colo. in another address before the 50th annual meeting of the national western mining conference, attacked the federal government for its "total disregard of the plight of the mining men."

Edward J. Bloom, Seattle mining engineer, said the need for immediate legislation by congress, "the objective of the industry is that it function without aid from, or interference by, government, to supply the raw materials necessary or useful to the nation and the superior living standards of each of its citizens and inhabitants."

Bloom—saying—was speaking from a U. S. supreme court opinion, charged that the government's philosophy is "The whole ownership property in fact is now retained as but a fiction."

"I warn every one of you that the government is evil," Bloom said. "They don't think you own anything, they think you own nothing."

TWIN FALLS TOPS POCATELLO 44 TO 37 FOR FOURTH LOOP W Simmons Sparks Bruins With 20 Points; Locals Tangle With Idaho Falls Tonight

POCATELLO, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Twin Falls Bruins defeated a fourth-quarter drive by the Pocatello Indians Thursday night to win a Big Six conference high school basketball game 44 to 37. It was the Bruins' fourth league victory. Paced by junior Gary Simmons who scored 20 points the Bruins went into an immediate lead and never lost it. Pocatello was ice cold in the first half, scoring only one field goal.

The Bruins withstood the assault and went on to win going away. Both teams were wild in the first two periods with the Bruins holding a comfortable 24-10 edge. Eight of Pocatello's points came from the foul-line in the first period, but the club played on nearly even terms with Twin Falls outscoring 11 points to eight in the quarter. Then in the final fifth Pocatello scored 14 points to 13 for Twin Falls but the late scoring wasn't enough to help the Indians.

Friday night Twin Falls moves to Idaho Falls for a game with the defending state champions, undefeated Idaho Falls.

Knute Westerner turned in a fine game for the Bruins Thursday night as he scored 18 points and led the Bruins holding a six-point lead to the Bruins' victory.

Pocatello is scheduled to play a game with Idaho Falls at 8 p. m. Friday night.

Pirates Grab 10th Win, Beat Pilots

HAGERMAN, Feb. 13 (AP)—Hagerman backed up its 10th victory of the pre-journey season here Thursday night by defeating a good and never-say-die Glenns Ferry squad 7 to 3.

It left the Pirates with 10 wins against seven defeats so far this season.

In the Jayvee game Hagerman edged the Pilots 46-41.

Bud Palmer, a transfer from Bliss, led off with a home run. Hagerman as both players turned in neat offensive and defensive field games although neither were too high in the scoring column.

Ted Leach scored 20 points to lead the Pirates, Palmer and Donnie Harlow scored seven each and Bell Harlow scored six.

Charles Bloom scored 12 points for Glenns Ferry and Dick Raab scored six for the Pilots.

Huskies' Star Revises Coast Record Book

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13 (AP)—They'll need a whole new edition of Pacific Coast conference northern division records when this season ends. Not just revising the old books the way Bob Houbregs and the University of Washington Huskies are topping them.

And the division season has six more games to go.

Big Bob already has broken two records, with 276 points and 101 assists. The old record of 260 points was held by Jack Nichols of Washington's 1946 team. Vince Hancock has the field goal mark of 88 back in 1945.

Houbregs also appears a clinch to set new marks in field goal attempt, field goal percentage, free throw attempts and free throw made.

Washington, undefeated in division play with eight wins, leads as a team in all departments with 11 wins on the field, 72.5 per cent on free throws and a defense that's limited opponents to 56.1 points a game.

The week-end also brings a season of play in the southern division. UCLA plays at California and Southern California hosts Stanford. Cal leads the pack with a 5-1 mark followed by Oregon State, Idaho and UCLA, both with 5-3.

Red Devils Tip Castleford; Wait for Meet

MURTAUGH, Feb. 13 (AP)—Murtaugh warmed up for the sub-district basketball tournament by slipping past stubborn Castleford 66 to 40 here Thursday night.

The Red Devils of coach Gordon McEwen had things rough during the first two periods with Castleford back only 20-23 at halftime. Gary Dolson was lone for Castleford in 39-28 as the last quarter opened.

In the Jayvee game Murtaugh took a 4-3 victory.

High man for Murtaugh Thursday in the varsity game was Bob Wendell who will tip Castleford Tuesday night.

Castleford will wait for the meeting with the Red Devils at 8 p. m. Monday.

Heavyweight Fight for Crack at Rock Each Confident Of Knockout

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—A lucrative title for Rocky Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott winner will be Friday night when cautious Roland LaStarza, New Jersey head-on with aggressive Rex Layne, Utah, in a Square garden 10-rounder.

The handsome, 25-year-old LaStarza is a 7-to-6 favorite to outbox the 24-year-old ex-CT from Lewiston, Utah. In a scrap which should provide plenty of blood and thunder.

Starting at 8 p. m. MST, the bout will be telecast by NBC into homes from coast to coast.

New York fight winners are determined by the number of rounds taken. If the rounds are divided evenly by the referee and the two judges, then a point system is invoked to break the deadlock.

Overhauled completely the last couple of weeks by the Kid Gavilan-Chuck Davey waterweight fight, the heavyweight promise to make this a more memorable number.

Although the fight matches hard hitting fighters for a four-round effort, these New Yorkers are not storming the ticket windows. It is a matter of opportunity, they say, to make the promoting International Boxing club happy. The TV sponsor pays his usual $200,000 for the fight.

Layne has vowed he will flatten the former O'NEIL physical ed student and make it quick. LaStarza makes a fight of it. This is a big one for both of us and I hope he doesn't loose it. Up by playing hard to get.

Rollie, picking up the gloves for a college education, declared "I'll try for a knockout. I know I've lost a lot of opportunities, but I'm choosy of opponents and careful in some of my fights. Let him come in, and I'll show him plenty."

If they try and make good on half of what they say it should be a thriller.

Nine different players were seen at this base for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1935. Pete Castiglione saw the most action there, playing in 11 games.

Connors Quits Baseball For Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (AP)—Chuck Connors has made his decision. He'll try for his in the movies instead of on the baseball diamond.

That became official Thursday when the major league baseball player applied for voluntary retirement to president Don Stewart of the Los Angeles Angels.

A former major leaguer with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs, Connors figures at 32 he has reached the end of his professional sports career that included baseball as well as basketball.

And with the same sharp eye that picked out pitches for rides out of the park, he sees an economic advantage in quitting.

"The baseball season is about 20 weeks with spring training," he explained. "It's an making as much from seven weeks on this picture as I do during a full season with the Angels."

Currently the tall slugger plays the role of Bert Lancaster's pal and Virginia May's sweetheart in "Gala Week." That's his fifth part since he played an after dinner rendition of "Casey at the Bat" and his baseball activities into a movie screen.

A casting director was more impressed with Connors' clownish behavior than his baseball skills. He was hitting and offered to test him for movies.

He made his movie debut last year in "Pa and Mike."

WSC Belters Hand Idaho Ring Licking

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 13 (AP)—Washington State college boxers checked-up their first season win in the Pacific Northwest, beating Idaho 5-3.

Four sophomore fighters and one senior, Chuck Morgan, won for the Cougars. All eight fights ended in decisions.

Ron Kalafat, runner-up in the Pacific coast intercollegiate heavyweight division last year, kept the WSC lead in the middleweight division, defeating Idaho's heavy weight, Hal Solinsky, using a left jab and a battering right cross.

125 pounds—Eddie Olson, WSC, outpointed Tom Howard, Idaho. 129 pounds—Eddie Olson, WSC, outpointed Hal Solinsky, Idaho.

It was just two strokes over the PGA record of 80 set by Al Bruce, Grand Slam, N. Y. here in 1925 and held by Billy Nair, Los Angeles, at 82 Pano last winter.

Kiner Goes to Bat

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (AP)—Ralph Kiner's home run slugger, Ralph Kiner, goes to bat Friday against Cleveland. Kiner, who has been hitting like a hot potato since he joined the Red Sox, is expected to lead off the batting order for the Red Sox.

Earlier this year Kiner set his son, Ralph Jr., sometimes known as the Twig, out to talk with Kiner. At that time Ralph said he'd cut a cut in his $40,000 salary of 1935, but believed a proposed 10 per cent cut was just too much.

Idea Washington, Feb. 13—

Interior Secretary Douglas McKay has called for "a restoration of good will toward employees of the government."

In a speech last night McKay said "there was a time when a man who had a job with the government had a position of prestige." However, he observed, there has been a lot of name-calling recently.

In order to achieve good will, federal employees should remember that when they speak to the public they represent the government, McKay said.

He spoke before the American Planning and Civic Association and the national conference on state parks.
