The legislature today passed 26 bills, including a major roadblock removing with passage of a new truck license bill, tackled a long list of large appropriations bills.

Committee recommendations for normal general fund expenditures, which have been accepted by both houses on all bills considered, total $100 million, $10 million above Gov. Len Jordan's recommendations.

The total passes 26 million dollars with addition of deficiency appropriations to teachers retirement, and funds for proposed new state buildings, which now must be approved before the session ends.

In addition, those over 24,000 pounds would pay a use fee ranging from $10 to $100 a year. The bill also would raise the license fee for those over 40,000 pounds to $200.

Effective Jan. 1, the bill would require all Idaho-licensed trucks to pay a flat fee license ranging from $10 to $100 a year, depending on weight. The bill also would raise the license fee for those over 40,000 pounds to $200.

Increases for Property Tax Are Reported

BOISE, March 6—Idahoans were charged with $62,047,705 in real and personal property taxes in 1952, an increase of 81 per cent since 1946, the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho reported today.

It amounts to $63.37 a person more than double the $33.37 per capita in 1946.

Most for education
More than half of the property tax load went for educational purposes—$22,123,612. That is an increase of 106 per cent over the nearly $11,000,000 collected in 1946.

Property tax charges, counties charged $1,288,900; cities and villages $4,524,824; state $2,341,632; highway and good road districts, $1,240,430; and other taxing units (irrigation, cemetery, fire protection districts, etc.) charged $1,136,482.

More Services
Although the value of the dollar and population increase are partially responsible for the tax increase, governmental officials and taxpayers are becoming more alarmed at the demand for more governmental services. The Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said a review of government functions is needed to determine which are absolutely necessary.

The assessed valuation in Idaho has increased $145,153,105, or 34.1 per cent since 1945, while property taxes have increased $16,947,002 or 81.9 per cent over the same period.

State ad valorem tax charges have increased 13 per cent, county charges 12 per cent, cities and villages 72 per cent, and other taxing units 193 per cent.

Boundary county taxpayers in nine counties were able to reduce their total property tax charges in 1952 over the same period by more than $600 each. Counties with tax reductions were Hancock, Boise, Buhl, Clark, Jefferson, Latah, Nez Perce, Shoshone and Washington.

Two counties were able to decrease their tax loads in 1951. Adams county paid $3,072,439 in property taxes, the first time an Idaho county has topped the five million mark. Other leading counties were Twin Falls $2,702,824, Blaine $2,611,141, Bannock $2,130,330, Bonneville $1,991,955, Shoshone $1,960,427, Nez Perce $1,829,479, Benewah $1,650,500, and Latah $1,433,461 and Latah $1,255,725.

More Control Cuts Ordered

WASHINGTON, March 6—The government today took price ceilings off bread, automobiles, laundry and dry cleaning services, and practically all home appliances such as refrigerators and stoves.

The decontrol action includes a long list of other items. It leaves less than four per cent of common goods and services still under price controls.

Price Stabilizer Joseph Frechill said price increases may result on some appliances, laundry and dry cleaning services, probably on bread and, in some parts of the country, on auto parts.

President Eisenhower, meanwhile, told his news conference he was gratified to see that previous decontrol actions had brought little discernible evidence of any effort by anyone to gouge the consumer or force up prices.

Major home appliances decontrolled today also included dishwashers, clothes washers, dryers and ironers. Food waste disposal units and hot water heaters will be decontrolled later.

Today's action was the fifth in the step-by-step program to decontrol all prices by April 30.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—In a sharp split with his erstwhile isolationist and isolationist comrades of the middle West, the amazing Robert Alton Tucker is shifting slowly to the middle-of-the-road group of congressmen on many major issues confronting congress. It is one of many major "flips" he has made since the election.

The Ohio senator has parted with the isolationist group, the McCarthy-Jenner-Capahart bloc on domestic and foreign questions. His latest move is the most striking in the light of his previous record. It concerns the approach to alleged communist influences in the educational system.

Whereas they insist on an extended and exhaustive inquiry, with questioning of professors and college officials, Tucker believes that "whistle-blowers" should be left to the institutions themselves for solution. He fears the effect congressional intervention might have on the schools. As a trustee of the Yale corporation, he has an intimate grasp of this subject.

BEARS OUT STATEMENT—Once regarded as head of the isolationist or nationalist group, Tucker now believes the United States must continue fairly general support of the United Nations. He is most striking in his campaign, that he and Eisenhower "differ only in degree" on this question.

Although he has denunciations of Yalta and Potsdam, Tucker agrees with the White House that any repudiation should be acted upon with caution and discretion. He is a trustee of the Yale corporation, he has an intimate grasp of this subject.

He disagrees with the demand that tax-cutting be placed ahead of budget-balancing. He still feels that annual expenditures should be reduced to at least $100 million below making handouts to the taxpayers. Regardless of the merits, this is a bold and nonpolitical attitude.

STILL "MR. REPUBLICAN"—The Taft stand indicates President Eisenhower's program on any issue is almost certain of enactment without any serious opposition. Tucker is still "Mr. Republican" on Capitol Hill. Indeed, his Alliance with the White House has strengthened his claim to that title.

His Alliance-at-the-bridge posture will prevent any real break in the Republican ranks. At the moment, he is the only one who would desert the party. Since the Byrd-George group of Democrats generally share his viewpoint, the opposition will provide a strong check on making handouts to the taxpayers. Nothing is mysterious about the senator's present position. He always has been moved by realities rather than emotions, sometimes too much for his own party.

When Truman wanted to draft railroad employees into the army to break a strike, it would have been thought through. Tucker is a trustee of the Yale corporation, he has an intimate grasp of this subject.

SOVIETS NEW ARMY HEAD—Marshal Vasily D. Sokolov, Russia's new chief of staff, is the first Soviet military leader to be well known to our top-level defense experts. Soon after the war, he headed the Soviet army in the East. He is a close friend of Gen. George S. Patton and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. He is a close friend of Gen. George S. Patton and Gen. TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—In a sharp split with his erstwhile isolationist and isolationist comrades of the middle West, the amazing Robert Alton Tucker is shifting slowly to the middle-of-the-road group of congressmen on many major issues confronting congress. It is one of many major "flips" he has made since the election.

The Ohio senator has parted with the isolationist group, the McCarthy-Jenner-Capahart bloc on domestic and foreign questions. His latest move is the most striking in the light of his previous record. It concerns the approach to alleged communist influences in the educational system.

Whereas they insist on an extended and exhaustive inquiry, with questioning of professors and college officials, Tucker believes that "whistle-blowers" should be left to the institutions themselves for solution. He fears the effect congressional intervention might have on the schools. As a trustee of the Yale corporation, he has an intimate grasp of this subject.

POT SHOTS

CANT RUBB IT

Dear Pot Shots: The weather is not so hot as it used to be, but those streets where one tried to do anything about the recent snow came along fine all by themselves.

Did you see what the city did? Piled up the snow in the middle of the street so it couldn't melt! And that wasn't all. As long as I'm heckling the city, might as well do a good job of it.

Somebody finally discovered that snow doesn't melt very fast when piled up. So what happens? The city goes back and spreads the snow out.

Suggestion: As long as we're playing around with it, why not pile the snow in areas and save it until next July when someone will appreciate it?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Arizona is a relatively small state in population and industry, but Barry Goldwater, our new senator, a Republican, observed a few days ago that we had 18,000 employees of the federal government in the state.

He said that in the middle of the road, and I observe the Phoenix telephone exchange. There is a disposition among their trade journals to depict them as self-sacrificing patriots who have us in their debt, and that of course, is incorrect. But some of them are, as I say, capable workers and reasonably industrious.

This acknowledgment being made, however, we must return to the fact that the whole horde of them are fed on the public treasury, and that we have to get them off our backs except by abolishing their jobs.

As a dispatch from Washington on the same subject said the executive committee of the Republican national committee had found that the Democrats had abused the civil service system by "blanketing thousands of jobs into it in the last seven years."

An organization of civil service employees recently wrote me as much in some of its papers to remonstrate against an observation of mine that the civil service had become a monstrous thing, protecting countless employees in arduous jobs under conditions which gave them a first lien on our income taxes practically for life.

Their objection to this statement of indisputable fact were very abusive in some cases, but I have learned that it is not so sensitive it is all to the good to poke up the animals. It stimulates discussion and you find out things. One that I have established beyond challenge is that these parasites on the living body of the best element of our nation, meaning the people who pay the taxes as devoutly they hold themselves to be much more precious and deserving than we are.

They insist on special pension systems for us, and that the old-age assistance laws are producers of taxes are offered and compelled to pay for them.

Judges, district attorneys, congressmen, clerks and a thousand varieties and grades of ordinary bureaucrats are counting the years or months until they will be able to claim their pensions, retire and get a new job out of the civil service or just go to Florida or San Diego and vegetate.

To be sure, they pay varying pensions toward these pensions but it is equally sure that we producers of taxes, again distinguished from the consumers of taxes, also pay a share.

Certainly in sense and fairness, the parasites of the civil service should not receive at our expense pensions bigger than those provided for ourselves in social security and old-age assistance.

But they are hysterical with rage when you suggest that we who have new jobs out of the civil service or our own as doctors, lawyers and so forth, and provided the money for their work all through the years, deserve pensions at least as big as theirs.

Or, put a better way, that if the social security rate is good enough for us, it ought to be for them.

I must write the general description of the parasites as I do at present, by way of acknowledgement that many of them are as decent as any of our income tax payers without a word of accusing or explanation.

In the most literal sense, the CIA pocketed billions of dollars absolutely unknown to us and we can't prove it because they have a right to do so as they please with our money.

CIO'S "FAIR" STATUTE

The Taft-Hartley act is now nearly six years old, and memories of the circumstances surrounding its passage have faded. They need to be revived to put a reasonable frame around present-day talk of modifying the law.

Labor leaders have long argued that the act was passed in a mood of revenge against the unions and therefore could not possibly be a fair law. There is no question that Congress in 1947 was marked by a spirit of reprisal which had been stirred by the great rash of crippling postwar strikes.

But that does not mean that the men who voted for the act—that included a majority of both Republicans and Democrats in the house and senate alike—were motivated by a desire to destroy the labor movement.

What they were trying to enact was a measure that would compel unions to act with the same sort of responsibility toward society, toward their membership and toward employers that the law requires of other organizations. Under the encouragement of the 1835 Wagner act, unions had grown to great power almost without effective legal restraint.

The general idea was to prevent unions from recklessly tying up whole segments of the economy to achieve ends often quite selfish and narrow, to do so without committing acts of violence with impunity, and from practicing coercion either upon employers or their own members. It was felt, too, that unions, like other groups should be answerable in court for their transgressions, and should put their financial cards on the table for all to see.

All these things together, congress felt, would restore balance to the labor-management-public equation. Balance was the word, not a tipping toward dominance by management.

Through all the protracted hearings that led to the Taft-Hartley law, the two great union organizations never at any time came up with a realistic, constructive program designed to meet these thoroughly evident shortcomings. Their solution was to offer no solution at all, to deny the problem existed.

During the years that followed, CIO and AFL leaders continued in this irresponsible vein, but two subsequent Democratic congresses turned deaf ears to their wild charges of "slave labor law" against the act.

Only now have these leaders, understanding at last the depth of the support in all parts of the country for the labor law, ceased demanding repeal and indicated they would settle for amendments.

But the CIO, in the name of a "fair" statute, has proposed a string of seven basic amendments which actually amount to repeal of Taft-Hartley. It is trying for its old goal in a different guise. Virtually all the legitimate purposes of the law would get poor service, if any, under the CIO proposals.

There is no likelihood that they will be adopted now, and little that they would be under some future Democratic congress. Perhaps in another six years the CIO may learn that.

NON-COMMUNIST OATH

It is a commonplace that Communists lie as easily as they talk. They think nothing of swearing a false oath if it suits their tactics of the moment.

One may wonder, therefore, how the non-Communist oath required of all union officials by the Taft-Hartley law could ever have been even slightly useful. Nevertheless, it was.

That was so because many key labor men in 1946 and 1947 were well known as rascals. They could not have succeeded at the bald device of false swearing. Thus a good number were pushed off the labor stage. Others were penalized in a different way, when the CIO purged whole unions that were dominated by Communist leadership.

But the pattern has changed. Key red operators are deeper underground today, and those planted in unions are not so easily recognizable. They can take the anti-Communist oath and never bat an eye, and who will be the wiser?

The administration and some top lawmakers are asking of requiring the same oath of cooperation managers, and of other matters. But the chances are that the oath has not lived its usefulness and might better be discarded altogether.

SECURITY DIFFICULT

While the Washington press corps complains about too much secrecy in the White House, President Eisenhower has been amazed by how little secrecy there is. James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, says the President recently asked him if a luncheon talk he was to make to a group of guests in the White House was to be of the record. Hagerty says he told the President: "I have discovered that in Washington, the only way to talk off the record is to get into a closet and talk to yourself—and even then something may leak out."

It's a fine idea to stop buying things you can't afford—if you can get along without eating.

BIG MAN TO THE SOUTH

In advocating the immediate union of the Argentine and Chile, and the eventual consolidation of all the South American countries, Elictor Feron, a Chilean, said that we would like to hear from European statesmen about their theories, but which are alarmingly close to the southern half of our hemisphere.

The trouble is that Feron is not interested in the formation of an integrated democracy. And, of course, he is not interested in the welfare of the people of the South American countries. In addition to his vainglorious motive of personal aggrandizement, he would like to command the resources of other nations and take the country he ruled out of its troubles.

If the issue were left to the free and fair decision of all the people concerned, there would be nothing to worry about. Feron is beginning to take a hand in the politics of other South American countries. For example, he has a sympathizer in Chilean President Carlos Ibáñez del Campo. The Argentine dictator is planning a visit to Chile in a flagrant attempt to influence the forthcoming Chilean congressional elections.

Such a lack of self-defeating to a North American. But politics to the south of the United States are often most unorthodox. What is impossible here may not be improbable there. Even so Feron's scheme suggests a new type of imperialism, one that is based in particular, has no desire to be annexed by the Argentine. And even the most fascist-minded Latin American would not be so stupid as to be absorbed by the Super-Ego of Buenos Aires—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOR THE WHOLE PEOPLE.

A majority of the present congress presumably is in favor of returning to the states they border the nation's tidewater oil fields, title to which now is legally with the federal government. The present congress, President Eisenhower expressed himself as being for it, too. It would seem that before long those favored oil fields should be returned to the states.

This will give an emotional argument but raise another, a growing chorus will clamor: "Texas and California are to have the tidewater oil. Wyoming must be given Yellowstone park, Colorado the national forests within her borders, Washington all remaining waterpower rights, New Mexico the atomic bomb reservation, Maine exclusive coastal fishing rights, and Kansas certain gas-underground wastelands to which the federal government has title."

There is more plausibility and political appeal in that argument than there is logic. The claim of the coastal states to the tidewater oil is microscopically tiny. The income from the states to the federal land within their borders even thinner.

Except for the original 13, the states were created out of federal land to begin with, and what the federal government retained should be indisputably the federal government's.

Whatever the legitimate arguments, by rule of reason these assets of the United States of America should be for the benefit of the people as a whole and not for some geographically select group of them. Hutchinson (Kansas) News-Herald.

And even the most fascist-minded Latin American would not be so stupid as to be absorbed by the Super-Ego of Buenos Aires—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOR THE WHOLE PEOPLE.

A majority of the present congress presumably is in favor of returning to the states they border the nation's tidewater oil fields, title to which now is legally with the federal government. The present congress, President Eisenhower expressed himself as being for it, too. It would seem that before long those favored oil fields should be returned to the states.

This will give an emotional argument but raise another, a growing chorus will clamor: "Texas and California are to have the tidewater oil. Wyoming must be given Yellowstone park, Colorado the national forests within her borders, Washington all remaining waterpower rights, New Mexico the atomic bomb reservation, Maine exclusive coastal fishing rights, and Kansas certain gas-underground wastelands to which the federal government has title."

There is more plausibility and political appeal in that argument than there is logic. The claim of the coastal states to the tidewater oil is microscopically tiny. The income from the states to the federal land within their borders even thinner.

Except for the original 13, the states were created out of federal land to begin with, and what the federal government retained should be indisputably the federal government's.

Whatever the legitimate arguments, by rule of reason these assets of the United States of America should be for the benefit of the people as a whole and not for some geographically select group of them. Hutchinson (Kansas) News-Herald.

Disease Traced To Rail Car

BOGOTON, March 5 (AP)—An epidemic of hemorrhagic fever throughout the state has been traced to a single rail car which was carried out of Bogoton last June on a special train.

The epidemiologist, assistant secretary of the American Medical Association, said that the disease is a rare one, but that it is a serious one, and that it is a disease which is not known in this country.

The disease was first reported in Bogoton last June, and it is now spreading throughout the state.

The department of health is especially stationed around Bogoton to watch for the disease, and it is now being traced to other parts of the state.

The department of health is also tracing the disease to other parts of the state, and it is now being traced to other parts of the state.

Tried

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 5 (AP)—City Councilman Cae Walker and some friends were hunting for a coon Saturday night near Hawkinsville, Ga. About 1 a. m. they decided to wind things up, but Walker, a veteran coon dog, was nowhere to be found.

They searched the area without success.

Walker yesterday sent three men into the area to search. One of the trio found Walker—his dog was in a hollow tree for four days.

He'd tried a coon, tried to go after him and got stuck. The dog seemed to be in good spirits despite his experience.

The coon is in the bag—which also should prove something.

Boyle Ponders on Thoughts of Stricken, Helpless Red Leader

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The hammer and sickle have fallen from the hands of Joseph Stalin.

The "great comrade" has come to twilight on his long, bloody road to power.

It is super irony that this man whose words and actions frightened more people than any other man in history should end his life as a helpless, stricken, helpless man.

Maybe he wants to give an order as for a drink of water... a complete prisoner of a small group of men in whom he has no faith.

What terror must seethe in his mind as he looks at the strange shadowy figures probe his numbing body in Moscow's official medical inquisition! ... What panic in his mind as his thickened tongue refuses to say what he wants it to say! ... Maybe he wants to give an order... 'Don't anybody... can't anybody hear him?' ... Maybe it isn't an order at all... Maybe the great

BLAINE, March 5 (AP)—Rep. F. E. Blaine, told the Idaho Legislature Wednesday that during the state liquor law enactment department Tuesday he had said a statement which was "not correct."

Blaine had said one liquor law amendment section had "taken effect."

Blaine next later his remarks on the floor Tuesday had reported correctly in the press.

Quick Action Is Sought for Soviet Envoy

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) — Senate leaders considered urgent action on the nomination of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Russia today to speed him to Moscow to make an on-the-scene analysis of developments growing out of Stalin's grave illness.

Speculation on an "imminent struggle" for power inside the Kremlin and the possible changes presented for the west by behind a movement by some senators and the state department to get Bohlen on his way. He is a leading Russian expert who speaks the Russian language and knows the Russian people and their leaders.

His standing regarding events in Moscow would be of the highest value. This country has not had a top-flight Russian expert in the Soviet capital since Ambassador George F. Kennan was ordered expelled last year.

There was no mistaking the gravity with which the country viewed the prospective transfer of power in the Soviet Union.

Top officials conferred on the situation all day yesterday. President Eisenhower called an unscheduled meeting with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden last night. And the government-wide discussion continued unabated today.

Divorce Sought By Lula Gosney

A divorce complaint has been filed by Mrs. Lula Gosney in district court against Wilbur Gosney.

Mrs. Gosney states her complaint the couple was married May 22, 1941 in Elko, Nev., and have two children.

She charges extreme mental cruelty. She claims her husband drinks to excess, beats at her and associates with other women.

Mrs. Gosney also states her husband has threatened to kill her and asks the court to issue a restraining order to keep him from molesting her.

She asks for custody of the children and $100 per month for their support, $100 per month temporary alimony and attorney fees.

Mrs. Gosney also asks the court to grant her a fair share of their community property which consists of a 1948 Ford dump truck, household furnishings, concrete mixer and paint spray outfit.

U. P. Faces Suit

BOISE, March 8 (AP) — The U. S. government today filed action in federal district court to collect $100 from Union Pacific railroad.

The government charged the railroad company with towing a tank car from Glenn Ferry toward Pocatello with a "disconnected and insecure" safety railing.

Indo-China Trek Planned by Clark

TOYOYO, March 8 (AP) — United Nations far east commander, Gen. Mark W. Clark, will fly to the Indo-China warfront about March 17.

Clark's headquarters said he would visit the French command at Saigon, Indo-China, and remain "several days" before returning to Tokyo.

The visit will be at the invitation of Jean Lejeune, minister for the associated states and high commissioner of France in Indo-China.

It follows Gosney's recent visit to Japan and Korea of Marshall A. Thompson, commander of NATO ground forces in Europe and France's leading soldier.

Morse Blasts Wilson Choice

CHICAGO, March 8 (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, Ind. Ore., yesterday attacked the methods of congressional investigators and said Senate confirmation of Charles F. Wilson as secretary of defense was "the tragedy of the 83rd congress."

Morse, speaking at the University of Chicago, said "institutions, agencies and state chambers" could result from the present methods of conducting congressional investigations.

He said "basic freedoms" are being threatened. Innocent persons often are not given a chance to refute charges brought against them in committee hearings, he said. Supposedly "secret" testimony is too often "leaked" to newspapers.

Morse attacked the confirmation of Wilson, former president of General Motors. Morse said it was "the tragedy of the 83rd congress" that a man who had once held so high a position in a private defense industry should be appointed to such a post.

Power Companies Protest PUC Plan

BOISE, March 8 (AP) — A "minor" protest against public utilities commission proposed accounting system for amortizing power plants used in defense production was filed today by the Washington Water Power company.

Washington Water Power, along with Idaho Power and the Utah Power and Light companies, met with the PUC yesterday to discuss the proposed system.

The amortization program was authorized under the 1950 national defense act. The protest was taken under advisement by the PUC.

Estate Awarded In Two Decrees

Two decrees of distribution involving the estates of Mrs. Jeanie Beaton, who died Dec. 9, 1920, and her daughter Jeanie Beaton, who died March 30, 1932, have been filed in district court by Mrs. Mary Beaton Mackay, another daughter of the first Mrs. Beaton.

In the first decree, the mother's estate, which consists of about 40 acres of land a mile east and three-fourths of a mile north of Buhl, was left to both daughters.

With the death of the second Jeanie Beaton, it passed to Mrs. Mackay. According to the decree, she now receives the entire estate. Asher H. Wilson represented the petitioner.

2 Men Billed As Heirs Are U.S. Enemies

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The two men billed as the leading candidates to succeed Stalin are generally believed to be traitors to the United States.

Most experts agree that the two men are the editor George M. Malenkov or Vladimir M. Molotov, both deputy premiers, would represent any improvement over the man who has guided Russian policy for so many years.

Could Spell Trouble In fact, there is some evidence they would not be traitors as conservative, and this could spell trouble for the United States and the free world.

Malenkov, 50, has a hardiness and ruthlessness of manner that have brought him along Stalin's path at a more rapid rate in recent years.

Molotov, 53, is regarded as a wild, hard-bitten revolutionary who planned his star to Stalin in the early 1920s. He has come through many purges unscathed despite his early background as the son of an upper class Russian family.

Molotov may be made acting premier and figured in place of Stalin. But the real power is expected to be exerted by Malenkov as Soviet Communist party boss.

Sawtooth Money Given 4 Counties

HAILEY, March 5.—Blaine, Camas, Custer and Elmore counties have been allotted $27,414.88 through the distribution of 25 per cent of the Sawtooth national forest receipts for 1942.

Charles E. Daugherty, forest supervisor, said the receipts benefit by national forest receipts in accordance with an act of congress which provides that 25 per cent of the receipts shall be returned to the states to be used in the counties in which the forest lies for the benefit of school and roads.

In Idaho, the distribution is 10 per cent for Teton and 25 per cent for Blaine county. Blaine county will receive $13,366.94; Camas county $9,871.10; Custer county $1,622.50; and Elmore county $4,485.07.

Blaine county has 494,146 acres in the Sawtooth forest and 2,800 acres in the Challis National forest.

West Timber Threat Cited

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5 (AP)—An insect epidemic threatens vast areas of choice timberland in the west, a leading lumber mill operator said today.

Truman Collins, who runs mills in Oregon and California, told 300 delegates to the Western Pine association annual meeting the west faced with one of the most serious insect and disease problems in history.

Important timber species are under insect attack, and infestations in forest timber land are showing increased activity, Collins said. Insects could cause a possible loss of up to 20 billion board feet, he said.

Collins said the most critical epidemic facing pine region manufacturers is in Montana and northern Idaho where 600 million feet more than 800,000 trees of Engelmann spruce already have been killed by bark beetles.

Area Display Is Slated for '53 Ramblers

Neah dealers throughout Magic Valley will display Friday the new '53 Rambler, featuring a new station wagon and hardtop convertible.

Features of the Rambler series include a new body design, rear tire mount as standard equipment on the convertible and country club models, improved engine with increased horse-power, hydraulic transmission at optional cost, larger one-piece steering knuckle, new interior solid and two-tone combinations with new interior upholstery and trim structures.

The '53 series has a longer, front- and wider appearance. Front fenders rise above the new hood which affords greater visibility. A new air scoop directs cooling air into the engine compartment.

Two steel side rails frame the top of the side windows on the convertible providing the safety of a sedan model with advantages of an open automobile.

The Super Flying Scoot six-cylinder I-head engine, now rated at 85 horsepower, has improved performance. The engine, with a compression ratio of 7.25 to 1, features a new induction system incorporating larger valves, redesigned combustion chambers, improved manifold and new camshaft.

All '53 Rambler models have the air-ride suspension. Longitudinal coil springs at the front are located at the side windows in the convertible. Semi-elliptic springs are used on the rear wheels.

Interiors of the new Rambler models have been redesigned, including new upholstery and hardware. Many new interior upholstery combinations as well as genuine leather are available. Thirteen exterior solid and two-tone colors are offered.

State Historical Material Sought For Schools' Use

Collection of historical information for use in Idaho schools is being recommended by the state curriculum development and textbook committee, according to Arthur Kleinkopf, committee chairman.

Kleinkopf said much emphasis is placed on teaching Idaho history and geography at the fourth grade and junior high school levels. However, at the present time there is a lack of suitable textbooks for use in Idaho history and geography classes.

For this reason the state committee recommends all interested persons and teachers throughout the state make an effort to collect local Idaho historical information.

Kleinkopf said there is a wealth of material in the state in the form of letters, maps, stories and biographies waiting to be collected for classroom use.

Recognizing the importance and value of the Idaho history project the state board of education is co-operating in the program and all interested persons are asked to contact their school's history and geography instructors.

Students Hired

Mrs. Ann Erison, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Mabel Box, Jerome, who are now students at Twin Falls Business College, have recently accepted positions.

Mrs. Erison is employed at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and Mrs. Box is a stenographer at the First Security bank of Jerome. Both will complete the Speedwriting course at the school this month.

Rupert Is Asked To Accept Plats

RUPERT, March 5—Larry Wright and Walt Asson, representing the Idaho Realty Investment company, requested the Rupert city council Tuesday to accept two development plats to the city. They gave the council plans of the two small additions which will include 28 resident lots north of the city.

Wright and Asson informed the council the investment company plans to begin construction of the lots immediately. They also requested the city to provide sewer and water lines for the 28 lots. They suggested that an improvement district be created to handle sewers, streets, irrigation and water for 20 homes, including the 28 to be built.

The council decided to have the cost of the work estimated along with an estimate of costs for streets and sidewalks in the Sunset addition to the city.

Etherna Bellwood, city attorney, reported to the council that the best way to start an improvement district would be by petition signed by 50 per cent of the residents in the affected area.

'Ike's' Enthusiasm for Golfing Recalls Sports of Other Chiefs

WASHINGTON, March 5—President Eisenhower's enthusiasm for golf is a reminder of the fact we haven't had a golf-lover in the White House since Warren G. Harding.

Harry S. Truman liked to take an occasional dip in the White House pool. He seemed to have a lot of fun throwing the ball of the baseball season.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was a fair shakes as a golfer. He was a fan of hunting and horseback riding. Ulysses S. Grant had a fascination for fast horses and is the only President ever arrested for speeding. A mounted cop stopped him and gave him what amounted to a ticket in those days. Grant paid a $20 fine and complimented the embarrassed cop for a job well done.

Grant is believed to have been the first President ever to see a golf game. He commented: "It looks like good exercise, but what's the little white ball for?"

Harding—up to the present—was our most eager golfing chief. He found in golf a chance to relax. He usually made small bets with his opponents, sometimes on each hole. His advice used to be to give the boss a lift by throwing his ball out of the rough or traps, but Harding would throw the ball back. He wanted to play fair.

Calvin Coolidge started out as one of the worst sportsmen ever to enter the White House, but a secret service man finally got him to ride an electric horse and to fish.

During silent cat's first fishing trip, he fished for about 30 minutes and was about to give up when a six-pound pike struck his line. Coolidge landed the beauty and ran to where Mrs. Coolidge was waiting. "Mamma," he cried, "look what I caught!"

Mr. Eisenhower is serious about his golf. The other day his caddy was asked at Augusta, Ga., if the President had managed to break 90. The boy grinned and said: "Hardly, but maybe some day he will."

HERMAN NIKOLA, a Twin Falls resident, is shown in a photo. He is a golfer and has been mentioned in the article.

Mary Lee Taylor's HUSBAND-TESTED Ripe Olive Tuna Ring

- Turn on oven and set at hot (425°). Put 1/2 cup BISCUIT MIX into a bowl and stir in (with a fork) a mixture of 1/2 cup SEGO MILK and 1/2 cup WATER.
- Turn out on lightly floured board and knead lightly 10 times. Roll 1/2 inch thick. Cut into 12 rounds with floured 2-inch cutter. Place close together on greased baking sheet to form a ring.
- Brush tops with 2 teaspoons SAUCE. Bake on oven rack above center 10 minutes, or brown. Keep warm.
- While biscuits bake, heat 1/2 cup SAUCE in a small saucepan till steaming. Add 1 can MUSTARD, 1/2 cup TUNA broken in pieces (1 cup), 1/2 cup sliced RIPE OLIVES and 1/2 cup canned PEAS, drained.
- Arrange biscuit ring on warm plate. Put mixture in center. Garnish biscuits with slices of ripe olives. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

These soft, fluffy, golden-brown biscuits taste better because they are made with a Sego Milk and water mixture that's richer than ordinary milk.

And they're covered with sauce that's smoother and richer... because the Sego Milk you use is whole and concentrated to double richness. It makes creamier, smoother sauce every time.

They'll really love this easy meal!

ADD THAT EXTRA RICHNESS—GOODNESS—TO ALL YOUR MILK USING SEGO MILK. IT'S LESS THAN HALF AS MUCH AS CREAM.

Ghosts of Once-Potent Tanks

Haunt Korea Valley, Aid Reds

By AL KAPP
EASTERN FRONT Korea, March 5—Steel ghosts haunt the Munding-Ni valley in battle, the corpses of 22 American tanks lie in the valley in the shadow of famed Heartbreak ridge.

The cannon of the rusting hulks point toward communist lines, but they were silent for 16 months.

You stood with one on an American hill near Heartbreak ridge and looked into the valley below, you could see the ghosts headed northward in eerie attack columns.

The action of the tanks seemed suspended like the stopping of a car driver in mid-air in a traffic jam. The tanks sat there and ready to fight, you need only to start the film through the projector again.

The ghosts of the Munding-Ni valley perished in the battle of Heartbreak ridge.

Chinese soldiers climb into the turret at night to spy on American lines. In the burned hulks, communist gunners now brand their mortars and throw shells and death into our bunkers and positions.

The tanks have dug trenches and escape hatches on the underbellies of the tanks.

But American soldiers still challenge the traitor ghosts. A few nights ago, an American patrol slipped into no-man's-land and fought with the charges to a five-ton battery a quarter-mile away," Yowell said.

In ripping and tearing power, the match charges equalled 50 pounds of TNT.

After connecting his wire, Yowell returned to the tank and looked through the hatch.

"Light from a bright moon poured through the ruptured turret, casting long beams of light inside the turret-outlet. There might have been a Chinese in there and we

Buhl to Build

Chimes Tower

Buhl, March 5.—Mayor Thomas R. Smith reported to the city council Tuesday night that the balance of the money needed for the erection of the memorial chimes tower in the cemetery has been contributed and urged the council to start construction as soon as possible so the tower can be ready for Memorial day.

The council also signed a contract with John Heworth, Buhl architect, for the construction of Buhl's new ordinance. Heworth has been working on the ordinances for some time and will meet with the council next week to discuss progress.

Complaints received from residents pertaining to garbage disposal along the highway to the city dump were referred to Deputy Sheriff Curtis Perry because the area in question is outside the city limits. Bernard Starr, city clerk, requested the city to purchase a calculator for his office but no action was taken. Mrs. Kenneth Ellison tendered her resignation as a clerk in the water department. Police Chief Harold Johnson was authorized to obtain a list of automobile registrations for the area and Jesse Holmes.
