Supports Price Dairy Products Out of Market, Benson Asserts

March 23 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Earl Warren today said the industry would attempt to cut government support for its products out of the market.

Warren warned the industry that if present support is cut, "butcher prices" will be lower.

He said it is clear he thinks the farm price support system is a failure. No farmer can afford to raise his own price. He said he would like to see the government support the farmer, but not the consumer.

Warren said the government should support the farmer, but not the consumer. He said the government should support the farmer, but not the consumer.

Baruch Voices Emotional Appeal for Standby Curbs

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch said today if war comes and finds the government unprepared to clamp on immediate economic controls, "there will not be a person alive who will not bitterly regret this tragic, needless neglect."

Urging the administration to take action on a stand-by economic controls law—or that congress do the job if necessary—Baruch, New York financier and adviser to Presidents said:

"The next war—and all of us pray it will be avoided—is likely to explode in a big American city. We know who congress will be. We know who congress will be. We know who congress will be."

Baruch said in a statement to the senate banking committee, "Are we to take the elementary precaution of writing into law now what we know would have to be done in event of emergency?"

Baruch said he would like to see the government support the farmer, but not the consumer.

Full Inquiry Scheduled in Shel Claims

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Shocked senate investigators promised today to explore every angle of Gen. James A. Van Fleet's bitter charge that the U. S. eighth army lacked enough ammunition to meet a communist offensive in Korea.

Chairman Margaret Chase Smith, R. Me., said she would have an announcement "in a day or two" on the detailed plans of the senate armed services subcommittee. It is trying to learn who or what was responsible for the ammunition shortage. The subcommittee is expected to begin public hearings late this week, with Van Fleet, recently retired eighth army commander, as the first witness.

The full gravity of Van Fleet's charges was impressed on congress and the general public for the first time last week with the publication of the testimony he gave at congressional hearings of the full senate armed services committee during five days beginning Monday.

Van Fleet told the senators ammunition stocks in Korea have been "grossly miscalculated" for weeks. But as recently as December, he said, "critical" shortages existed for such common battlefield necessities as hand grenades, 81-millimeter mortar shells and 152-millimeter mortar shells.

"We are taking a gamble, a risk," he said. "Should the enemy start something, which is unpredictable, we will not be able to meet the offensive in the field."

"The lack of ammunition means that you do not shoot as much as you should. You do not shoot at all the targets of opportunity; that when the enemy is firing at you, you do not have sufficient ammunition to silence his fire; ... the more you shoot, the more enemy you kill, and the more you kill, the more you shoot. It is a vicious circle."

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, agreed that ammunition reserves in the far east have not been large. He said the army would have improved and he contended that the army has always had enough shells to protect its troops "and to carry out the type of operations we were authorized to carry out."

Juveniles Face Adult Penalties for Driving

BOISE, March 23 (AP)—When junior runs a stop sign he'll be taken into the same court as adult traffic violators under a new juvenile delinquency code approved by the Idaho legislature.

The legislature didn't provide for any additional patrolmen in the law enforcement department's budget, but did include money to man the port-of-entry stations.

State police headquarters said this wouldn't free any of the present port-of-entry personnel to patrol the highways. Two additional port-of-entry stations will be established after July 1—in the Boise and Pocatello areas. Two more will be needed to man each station and six present port-of-entry employees, carried on the highway department payroll, will be transferred to law enforcement. The other job will be relief men.

The new code goes into effect July 1. It will give prosecuting attorneys more authority in handling juvenile cases and will divide the way from probation officers from probation officers charged with the responsibility of being a parole officer.

The revisions to the juvenile code—the first major changes since 1911—were approved by the legislative interim committee on juvenile delinquency.

Many of the juvenile cases now brought to probate court will be handled by a conference of the present judges.

Reds Unleash Biggest 1953 Bid in Korea

SEOUL, March 23 (AP)—The Chinese communists loosed their biggest attack of the year early today and threw back allied defenders to the Chong Chai area after the allies drove from nearby Pook Chong.

Up to 3,500 Chinese landed on the Chong Chai area, and the allies drove from nearby Pook Chong.

At the same time, other Chinese crossed a 350-man assault on the north of Old Baldy. The Chinese were still in place at all points.

The attack in the west was led by a relatively minor two-pronged assault Monday night. But Chong Chai and occupied it in a house and a mine later.

Others attacked it. At the same time, other Chinese crossed a 350-man assault on the north of Old Baldy. The Chinese were still in place at all points.

Summit Roads Plugged After Being Cleared

HAILEY, March 23 (AP)—Two state highway district snowplows, after reaching the top of Galena summit road, plugged the road with snow back down the mountain Friday because of the new, heavy fall of snow in the area.

The plows broke over the top late Wednesday and proceeded about 100 yards down the other side. The snow was nearly eight inches deep and had dropped to 6 1/2 feet on the north side.

The plows returned to the mountain at Ketchum, Thursday, and drivers intending to continue down the other side of the mountain but were blocked during the night. Most of the day was spent clearing the road back to the summit.

The same procedure was continued Friday. The fall of snow had increased and by the time the plow had reached the store at Galena, it was nearly eight inches deep and had dropped to 6 1/2 feet on the north side.

Mrs. Pearl Barber, who spent a day on the mountain, returned to Galena about three weeks ago. This winter is the first she has spent on the mountain in 15 years. Since her return Galena had had more "winter" than it had for the rest of the season.

Mrs. Barber reported that it had stopped snowing at Galena after 22 inches had fallen. She said the snow had fallen 30 inches had fallen at Galena so far this month. The snow is 6 1/2 inches deep on the north side.

Four Drivers Nabbed Here Over Week-End

Twin Falls city and county officers arrested four drivers over the week-end and Monday, one for drunken driving, the others on charges of reckless driving, negligent driving and running a stop sign.

Paying a fine of $100 and $3 costs in police court Monday was Reed Whitesides, Burley, who was arrested on Blue Lakes boulevard by city police at 3:45 a.m. Sunday on a drunken driving charge. He had posted a $250 bond. Officers noticed White's side's car weave and after stopping him, found he could not stop the car. He carried no driver's license.

Preliminary hearing for Dorothea Hertzsch, Beverly Hills, Calif., will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Hertzsch was arrested on Wednesday morning on Monday. Miss Hertzsch is charged with the death of Deborah Tacha, a 16-year-old baby, in a traffic accident at the intersection of highways 23 and 25 on March 18. The baby was a passenger in her car.

Marlin said the extension would serve as a notice to the individual congressmen to get their bills introduced. The federal government would step out, except in critical defense areas.

Senator T. R. O. Stearns' senate bill, which would create the White House Office, is standing pat on his nomination of Charles E. Bohlen to be ambassador to Russia despite some senate opposition.

Taft also reported the President and congressional leaders had decided to keep out of the current battle over the form of legislation to give coastal states control over offshore lands.

TVA Future Poses Puzzle as 20th Anniversary Date Nears

Editorial Note: Several in a series of stories reviewing national electric power projects.

By BELMONT MORIN, Knoxville, Tenn., March 23 (AP)—The Tennessee valley authority is marking its 20th birthday anniversary.

Celebrations are in the making here, but even as they plan the party, people here, and elsewhere, are beginning to wonder about the TVA's future.

It was the first Republican administration since 1919 that was created to support the work of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933.

Washington apparently has taken the hopes of advocates of private power.

One of the most recent statements came from Sen. Weller, R., Ill., who said in Chattanooga

Parole Appeal Draws Protest

SHOSHONE, March 23 (AP)—Lincoln County Prosecuting Attorney Howard E. Adkins has protested to the Idaho Board of Parole and Pardon application of Myrtle Carroll Williams to appear before the board in Boise.

In his letter to the board Adkins points out that Williams was convicted of murder in 1931. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Roy M. Reams, the father of Alvelda Reams, who was shot with a 22 caliber rifle at the instance of Adkins, who held her sleeping father in a living room beside her. The federal automobile while Williams fired the fatal shot.

"It is difficult to see how justice can be done in this case," Adkins said. "It is in my protest, or the best interests of society served by any action the board could take at this time, only two years and two months after the imposing of the life sentence. It is noted that no application is made by Alvelda Reams, who accompanied Williams to the Idaho state prison, each to serve terms of life imprisonment for this murder."

Church Nuptials Unite Mary Hall, Robert G. Miller

HAGERMAN, March 23—The Hazelton Presbyterian church, was the scene of the wedding last Friday evening of Mary Erlene Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hall, and Robert Gordon Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Arden.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. L. Taylor.

The bride wore a white satin gown. The fitted corset was fashioned with a deep net yoke edged with lace and accented with rhinestones. The long sleeves were pointed at the wrists and the full skirt was designed with a cathedral train.

Barbara Hall, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, a gift of the bridegroom, and her finger ring, set with red, white and blue stones, was held by a pair of pearl earrings.

Her bouquet was red rosebuds tied with white ribbon.

She was made of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Harold Miller, Jr., Hansen, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Len Fritchok, Twin Falls; Leana Anderson and Kay Clough.

Colleen Nye and Glenda Standie lit the tapers. Judy Laughlin was the flower girl and Lorna Laughlin was train bearer. Larry Pool carried the ring.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Harold Miller, Jr., Hansen. Ushers were Jim Fritchok and Jerry Conrad, Twin Falls; Bruce Standie, Hansen, and Eugene Standie, Hansen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hall chose an afternoon dress of navy blue with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy blue afternoon dress. Their corsages were of red rosebuds.

Music was furnished by Barbara Clouser, who accompanied the soloists, Gladys Watson and Danny Sellers.

A reception followed in the church parlor. Reception assistants were Mrs. Len Fritchok and Mrs. Phillip Clough.

The bride is a senior at Valley high school and valedictorian of her class. The bridegroom is a 1952 graduate of Hansen high school. After the bride's graduation, the couple will make their home in Hansen.

Guests were present from Nampa, Burley, Rupert, Arden, Kimberly, Twin Falls and Hansen.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Children should be admonished to keep family affairs within family. It is only natural that outsiders may be interested in the doings of their neighbors. However, occasionally there is someone, perhaps, close to the family, who is too inquisitive for comfort. This person may be a neighbor, a friend, or a relative, but his prying into other persons' activities.

Such a person has been known to spend some time seeking information from a child, assuming a friendly approach, he asks the youngster:

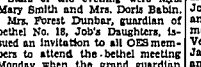

"Where did you go with your mother yesterday? What did she buy? Do you know where she bought that? When did you see your grandmother last? What did your mother say about that? Do you like your Aunt Kate?"

Usually, a little child is helpless under such a barrage of questions. This inquisitive person may try to ingratiate himself by giving the youngster candy, or a toy. In his inquisitiveness, the child is likely to disclose just the information sought by the prying adult, to the subsequent embarrassment of the child.

The child should be instructed to avoid such prying persons.

It is not only irritating to have the family's private affairs through the child, eventually broadcast by the inquisitive adult, but it also has a harmful effect on the child's character. He should be warned to shut them out when he has been warned to shut them out.

TVA Future Under Republican Regime Presents Mystery as Anniversary Near

 nearly than will be $301,500 kilowatts compared with $200,000 for hydro.

Physically the TVA is composed of 30 giant dams on the Tennessee and its tributaries.

A web of transmission lines carries power through the TVA system. Besides the dams, there are canals and locks. Behind them are the aluminum lakes, an integral part of the machine. And TVA is chemical plants and schools, buildings and display rooms.

The "factory" makes many things. It produces massive blocks of electric power. It regulates the electric and threatening rivers. It provides transportation for millions of tons of lumber—eight from Paducah, Ky., to Knoxville, Tenn., some 630 miles. At Paducah the system connects with the Mississippi of the Mississippi, the Ohio and the Missouri.

These are the three principal functions of TVA: floor control and navigation. They are the easiest to assess in terms of dollars earned, saved or spent.

But how do you evaluate the "by-products" of TVA.

The original purpose of this system was to control the Tennessee. More than 20 years ago a group of army engineers was working through the hills, surveying sites for dams. The study was based on the plan the engineers devised.

Having created the storage lakes beyond the name TVA, went on to build new dams, social and economic. First, it had to make more than 10,000 families—200,000 acres of land from farm lands to make room for water.

With the lakes came many things besides water: recreation, vacation homes, an outdoor amphitheater of two TVA bought and sold small lands. These are some "by-products" of TVA.

It battles soil erosion and sells superphosphates for farm chemicals and fertilizers.

It takes considerable credit for the stimulation of the cotton, corn, soybean and tobacco. It has been a major factor in the valley's expansion. It is possible because of TVA that the valley is now being irrigated with its pumping machines, electric and so on.

Public control is on the list of TVA "by-products." By dropping the water levels in the lakes, mosquito larvae are kept high and die.

TVA, in short, affects virtually everything in the lives of five million persons in Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Really, TVA is a national corporation. It reports directly to congress, gets its money from congress. It is not a part of the interior or agriculture, but a part of the power under the federal power commission.

Twenty years ago this spring, the first congress passed the Tennessee valley authority act. The preamble of this act stresses such purposes as flood control, reforestation, navigation and industrial development, national defense.

Nothing is said in the preamble about generating electric power. You don't get that until page 12 of the act itself.

It is this act that gave TVA the right to generate power. It was not until that until page 12 of the act itself.

It is this act that gave TVA the right to generate power. It was not until that until page 12 of the act itself.

ness valley the whole of the nation has been strengthened.

TVA's critics in the marketing and distribution of the valley is being subsidized, and they do not believe the electric power could be sold so cheaply if it were not for the federal income tax and did not have the other subsidies. They say TVA should be run like a business.

They say they feel the physical benefits of TVA may have been overdone by the effect on the thinking of the people. As one of them put it: "running to the federal government for everything they need."

What seems indisputable is that the valley has prospered. Whether it would have done so without TVA is a question each man decides for himself.

As Year's Record

Let's see what has happened in 20 years:

For 20 years Washington has been pumping money into the Tennessee valley. More than 1 1/2 billion dollars in economic vitamins have been pumped here.

What are the results?

You can look at the big picture first:

The area expanded from 54 per cent of the national total to 62.2 per cent. Nearly 2,000 new industries in the valley, about 80 per cent of them, have been built since 1933.

A people's magazine reports that the number of electric appliances, not counting radios and television sets, is "the fastest growing electrical industry in the country."

Now, focus down to a spot on the map.

Athens is a busy little town in central Tennessee, surrounded by rolling farmland, neatly manured. Cows, healthy cattle are grazing in the pastures. The hills are green, kept, farmhouses freshly painted.

Athens has a population of 8,000. It has two private high schools and a junior college, three movie theaters, three banks, a new restaurant near the station, 22 automobile dealers and a newspaper, the Daily Post-Athensian.

Neal Ensminger, who manages the Athens plant, has lived in Athens all his life. The paper records the changes as they came along.

"You know," Ensminger says, "the valley has been built up with its pumping machines, electric and so on."

It is this act that gave TVA the right to generate power. It was not until that until page 12 of the act itself.

owned plant at rates fixed by TVA. He cites not only the changes in the power rates but the fact that the lakes, the pleasure boats moored up there, He says:

"I have seen stores will tell you that fishing tackle and boating equipment is a big business now. It just didn't exist before the lakes were here."

Thus, one small town in Tennessee.

TVA statisticians have economic data for the valley as a whole, indicators for what may express these changes in figures.

Since the pre-depression peak year of 1929, they say, per capita income in the valley has gone up 132 per cent. The national increase was 132 per cent in that time.

In the same period, manufacturing output in the valley has risen 95 per cent, as against a national increase of 51 per cent.

Per capita income in the valley, however, is still only about 50 per cent of the national average.

But a national magazine reports Tennessee is the only state in which buying power decreased last year as against 1951. A Mississippi newspaper publishes figures indicating the rate of industrial growth there is greater elsewhere in the south than TVA's Tennessee.

Electricity of an issue.

Not far from Athens a British concern, Powells Southern Electric, is planning a clean ground for a $1 million dollar newspaper and pulp plant.

For that reason, says a man close to the negotiations, very nearly went to the Tennessee valley. The reason? No guarantee of electricity will be available in sufficient supply.

This is a sore point with many people in the valley.

They say the great government defense plants are sopping up electricity as rapidly as new sources are developed. For example, that the Oak Ridge atomic plant uses as much electricity here as the valley. A city of 600,000. The new aeronautics laboratory at Paducah will be another giant electricity eater.

The claim is that industrial expansion has been restricted simply because adequate power cannot be guaranteed.

This, incidentally, is one of the great points of contention between private and public power all over the country. The utilities assert that the valley is an exception. In the northwest, there is no true power shortage.

As for the Tennessee valley, the argument is that the demand for power has increased so rapidly that the valley's power supply is being stretched to the limit.

Over the past few years, power supply in the region has been tight. The Tennessee valley has denied national defense demands, growing requirements of industry, business, homes and farms.

The relationship between power supply and demand will be reported in a TVA report says: "If a public body operates a water system or collects its own garbage, no questions are raised. What is so different about electric power?"

2. That TVA's accounting system is a mystery.

3. That the Chatsanooga editor, says, "We gave up years ago, trying to understand their annual reports."

4. That TVA says its books conform to the system prescribed by the federal power commission and the Tennessee valley authority's general accounting office, an agency of congress.

5. That the rest of the country subsidizes the Tennessee valley.

TVA replies that the nation as a whole benefited from its operations. The Tennessee valley authority says that a lot of dollars were saved for everybody by the low-cost electricity that TVA has produced. It says that TVA has placed 66 million dollars worth of power in the Tennessee valley in Wisconsin, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania; that the valley people have spent more than 100 million dollars on electrical appliances in five years, most of them manufactured outside the valley.

6. That cheap power in the valley has taken industries away from New England.

Just April Representative Jones, D., Ark., discussed the question in congress. He said:

"Industry has increased in the TVA area. No doubt about it. In 1948 a check showed that over 1,800 new business enterprises had been established since 1933. The interesting thing about this survey developed was that not a single industry could be located which had moved from New England. There may be some, but if there are they are remarkably obscure."

7. That TVA displaced thousands of people with the lakes and flooded more land than it reclaimed.

8. That TVA displaced thousands of people with the lakes and flooded more land than it reclaimed.

9. That TVA displaced thousands of people with the lakes and flooded more land than it reclaimed.

10. That TVA displaced thousands of people with the lakes and flooded more land than it reclaimed.

Local TV Still Months Away In Spite of Approval of Plan

Magio Valley television is still months away in spite of recent approval by the federal communications commission of Southern Idaho Broadcasting and Television company plans for a channel 11 television station at Twin Falls.

Frank McIntyre, KLLX vice president and general manager, reports his most optimistic prediction is that the station will be in operation in one year.

It is gambling his whole future on the possibility that TV is going to be profitable. McIntyre declared, "This is an experiment—no other station in Magio Valley has done this."

He said that the station in larger communities than TV station cannot be supported by as small as Magio Valley, McIntyre believes television is coming to stay.

Construction of the Twin Falls station will cost between $150,000 to $160,000. Present radio facilities, office and studio space will be utilized. Purchase, equipment and installation of television equipment by factory engineers could run the station price tag as high as $500,000.

Programs will be transmitted from the Twin Falls studio via microwave relay to the transmitter site. A higher tower, calls for construction of a 100-foot tower. Steel for the tower has been purchased and is being fabricated.
