Lead to War;
Expert Avers

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (UPI)—Harold Clayton Urey, Nobel prize winner and one of America's top atomic scientists, has declared that the atomic and hydrogen bombs have made a third world war almost impossible.

The University of Chicago scientist who won the Nobel prize for his work on the hydrogen bomb, former member of the hydrogen bomb committee, told newsmen yesterday he feels World War III can come at any moment.

Actions Urged

"Dr. Urey said this country should do everything possible to avert such a disaster. 'The war was not far from pacific,' he declared, 'but am convinced that if we drop A-bombs on Manchuria the next greatest war will start.'

He predicted the Russians now have atomic bombs. "I think there are 50 A-bombs" they certainly were credited with possessing. But he believes the United States still is "far ahead" of the Soviet scientific program.

"Impending Horror"

"We have got to stop blustering and curb the unimaginative thinking in Washington if we want to avert an impending horror," Dr. Urey said.

"Russia is building one world and we should try to do the same," he continued. "It's too late for them to continue their policy of world government as it had hoped in 1946. We must organize our side" and leave the other side alone."

L.A. Red Inquiry

SALT LAKE CITY, April 1 (UPI)—A housewife, fearful of a prowler who has plagued the Osburn area recently, fired through her window at night at what she later proved to be a 4-year-old son of one of them.

Dr. D. C. Bernson, Brady's physician, said Brady was expected to recover in "two or three weeks" without serious injury. He advised Mrs. Perkins to seek medical help if she again had thoughts he was safe at home.

The incident happened when Mrs. Perkins went to visit a neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eichinger. Dr. Bernson said.

Brady was reported to have struck his head on the pavement after a fight with a neighbor. At first, he was not believed to have been seriously hurt, but later developed convulsions and was brought to Salt Lake City for treatment of a brain injury.

The LDS hospital officials listed his condition as "fair to poor." It is estimated that the matter, in the sun is sufficient to make about 300,000 earths.

Last Respects Paid to QueenItalian Communist Party Gains
Are Backward as Losses Mount

Editor's note: The Communist party took a beating in the 1952 elections. This was a surprising result in western Europe, where the Communists had remained the country's largest party. In Italy, however, the Communists are divided in two distinct wings. One is led by the right-wing leader, Palmiro Togliatti, and the other by the left-wing leader, Enrico Berlinguer.

"Communist leaders told me last year we were the most popular party in Italy," said Togliatti. "I thought: What can I lose? I applied for land. I got a plenty. We got a double allotment of land. I got my license—crop alone I've got $100. I never even saw $100 when I was a day laborer. I turned

By ROGER MARYANIAN

ROME, April 1 (UPI)—The Italian Communist party may not be out of the running, but progress is making backward.

In the last several weeks about 100,000 members have deserted the party in groups of 20 to 600. How many have quit individually, nobody knows.

Italy's communists prepared for a general parliamentary election late in May, the politicians do not claim the reds have received a mortal blow. But an anti-communist spirit is rising. One of the 452 former Communists who quit the party in the Poggia village ceremony was courageous, the Christian Democratic government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi.

There are three specific reasons for these defections in the communist ranks:

1. The government's big land-reform program as the result of which peasants for the first time are getting a little more freedom especially in the "black south" where the program is concentrated.

2. The Roman Catholic church's excommunication of communists and their supporters four years ago.

3. Plain disillusionment by communists, especially by those who have seen for themselves or learned just what is living on behind the scenes of communism. The notion spreads inside the highly polished skin of communist propaganda.

It is hard to believe no more men quit further. Vincenzo Tassanini, who also is a senior at Eastern Oregon College of Education, after spending 18 days visiting the peninsula, Mr. and Mrs. M. Horowitz, who are a senior at Eastern Oregon College of Education, after APRIL 1, 1953—Heavy fighting continues in Korea, and only minor gains have been made. The UN troops were held at the "front" for a second day in the west of Seoul, killing 10 Chinese Communists. The ROKs claimed 21 killed and estimated 500 wounded.

On the eastern front, 11 American planes flew a storm front into North Korea, dropping eight bombs and hitting an untouched bridge. The ROKs claimed 100 killed and 100 wounded.

Air force-headquarters said that American planes had down 33 MiG-15s, scored eight and damaged 12 others.

Cities Danger Seen in New Taxes Moves

WASHINGTON, April 1—(UPI)—Cities could be hurt if states took too much of the federal government's present taxing, financing and regulatory activities, members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, White House-organized, meeting Tuesday. Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, was briefingly newsman on the floor. Major William B. Hartfield, Atlanta, Ga., as saying many state legislatures are dominated by rural thinking. In such a situation, the federal aid for urban projects would work to the great disadvantage of cities.

State governors already had conferred with President Eisenhower on the same subject, generally taking the view that Washington has moved too far in local government.

Montgomery, Ala., the president sent a message to congress calling attention to federal grants to states in such areas as public works, unemployment insurance, hospitals, health services and road building.

He said more than 50 such programs cost the federal government over two billion dollars a year. He called for creation of a commission to determine whether there is justification for federal aid to these fields.

Atomic Engine for Submarine Only One of Idaho AEC Tasks

EDMOND FAY
IDAHO FALLS, April 1—Look

around, and you'll find one on the "atomic plains." Well, anyway, part of the power expected to be a submarine out here where it's so dry, even the rivers get lost in the ground.

No, well, neither did you ever see one that runs by splitting atoms.

Built into a section duplicating the interior of a real submarine, it is what the atomic energy commission (AEC) calls a "thermal reactor" and the steam turbine system which makes the nuclear power plant.

The power plant will be in operation producing heat in the "turbo" to make steam for the turbines.

Formal announcement of its successful operation was made by the commission in Washington Tuesday.

The plant is now operating at reduced power being built up gradually to eventually full-load output.

It is the first atomic power plant to be built in the nation. The plant is located in the heart of the reactor. Here the piping, the coolants, the shields planned for atomic engines can be tested to eliminate problems and reduce efficiency.

The basic theory is that a reactor can produce more fissionable material than it consumes. Associated Press reporter, on the scene, reported that everything went well except that everything became available and processes were not available efficiency didn't attain.

The selected materials are scrutinized and the metals used in reactors, along with other materials and fuels used in nuclear fission. So they have built the materials testing reactor.

The materials testing reactor is to nuclear fission science what the wind tunnel is to aerodynamic engineers. With the power plant proving its dependability by test the theory worked out in laboratories.

The bombardment of neutrons produced here is more powerful than anything else in the entire realm of nuclear research.

Into the lead shielding are cut about 100 plates—thin metal strips and components for nuclear reactors can be pushed into the heart of the reactor. Here the piping, the coolants, the shields planned for atomic engines can be tested to eliminate problems and reduce efficiency.

Rhythm Has Important Place in School; Tape Recorder Aids Speech Correction

The tape recorder has proven a real help in speech studies at the cerebral palsy school. Students can see the mouth movements while they hear them spoken. Here Mrs. Wimminif White, instructor, center, and Marion Davis, 4, and Nella Schiffrer, put the recorder to use. (Staff photo-engraving) older students.

The school plans development of a complete physical therapy area with funds received from the Crippled Children's Society. Money from the sale of Easter seals realized through the sale of Easter seals kept in the state, and 25 per cent of the amount raised in Twin Falls, will be used to buy equipment.

County is returned to the county for children, a foot-placement ladder and stoll bars. With money from the current seals drive, now in its final week, the school will complete the new building, which will be used according to their abilities in reading, spelling and arithmetic.

Studies in geography, history and science are also being conducted according to the students' needs. Mrs. White pointed out such a procedure has been adopted because the students' level of understanding is much above their reading skill, this being their first opportunity to attend school.

Nine mothers voluntarily spend a session at the school each week assisting Mrs. White. They include Mrs. George Clark and Mrs. W. E. Ladd, both of Twin Falls; Mrs. Leo Levy, Kimberly; Mrs. M. H. Lewis Thelen, Filer; and Mrs. Emma Hobble, Mrs. Arthur T. Watson, Mrs. Lon King, Mrs. Enoch Schiffer and Mrs. Harry Floyd, all Twin Falls.

The children's fathers erected the swings on the playground.

A recent player has been joined by the Twin Falls Lions Club. The Lions' president, Mrs. Lester Clegg, said the Lions are making a $500 contribution.

Henry Duke, physiologist from the Eastern Cerebral Palsy Clinic in Boise, recently came to the school to work with the children.

When Paint Alone Is Not Enough!

A new texturepaint now makes it possible for homemakers to "renovate" problem walls economically, and as easily. This unusual product, called "Plastaflex," is a thermoplastic coating designed to cover irregular walls. The old, stained surface need only be scrubbed and painted according to their abilities in reading, spelling and arithmetic.

The instructor said the younger students are given studies of the principles of reading, spelling and writing. The older students succeed according to their abilities in reading, spelling and arithmetic.

Studies in geography, history and science are also being conducted according to the students' needs. Mrs. White pointed out such a procedure is even wallboard takes on a "permanent-wall" attractiveness.

If further design is desired, a comb or sponge creates unusual textured effects. Plastaflex drifts to a rock-like texture or a smooth, easy-to-brush surface.

When installation of the equipment and renovation of the building are completed later this year, the school will hold open house, the

Cerebral Palsy School Proves Success As First Year's Operations Near End

small frame building at the east end of downtown Filer, where the school is located, is the home of the first school which would have been the opportunity of schooling under the school district, but for the financial impossibility of raising enough money from sales, the school was unable to attend schools because they were crippled by cerebral palsy.

Backed by the National Crippled Children's Society of Twin Falls, the school, the school's principal, Mrs. Russell Potter, who has been attending the school since last November as a member of the Rebekahs Lodge,

Through the school's efforts they obtained the Christmas gift of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, which do educational toys presented at Christmas by the Multiple Link Club of the Rebekahs Lodge.

Aid Price on Wool for '53 Set by USDA

WASHINGTON, April 1—The agriculture department will support wool price this year at a national average of $4.1 cents a pound, down from the $4.2 cents for the 1952-53 season.

The department said Tuesday the wool support price reflects 90 percent of the 50-cent pound "parity" price for the year. The day's price report showed prices for all kinds will be announced in a few days.

Farm law requires that wool be supported from 80 to 90 percent of parity, but at a level to encourage wool production above 300 million pounds of sheep wool.

Output has been below this level for several years, hitting only 227,770,000 pounds last year. But in spite of the low output, more than 30 percent of the wool produced has been moving under government price support.

Farmers have more than 47 million dollars worth of wool from the 1952 production under price support now.

Appeal for Work Made to Farmer By French Youth

A 17-year-old French farm boy asks the opportunity to work on the Magic Valley farm this summer.

Mallory Fisher, to whom this appeal was directed by letter, reported he already has made arrangements for the labor to work his farm this year, so said the other area farmers who called for youth employment to contact him for the youth's address.

Young, of Coalville, Provo, wrote he will return next winter and hoped meantime to gain valuable experience in American farm methods.

Upon completion of his school work, he will assume direction of a large French farm, he said. He has experience in summers past on the farm he is destined to take over later.

He offers his services primarily for a chance to study American agriculture, also desires that his labor will earn some of his passage.
