Railroads Seek Opening of 'Gate' Rates Case Again

June 25 (P)—Eight railroads have joined in petition in U. S. district court to force the interlocking commission to allow them to restate their petition on the long-haul freight rate case.

On Thursday, had been anticipated since when the ICG finally closed its books on the case and the railroads filed petitions for reconsideration.

The eight companies seek a temporary injunction against the ICG order of annual rate increases for the next 12 months denying the right of any party to make application for reconsideration for the next 12 months.

German Reds Stage Worker Loyalty Show

BERLIN, June 26 (U)—Thousands of Germans marched under East German banners in East Berlin today in a profession of loyalty to their East German government.

Soviet riflemen ringed the government headquarters here on the night of July 17, while the Socialist Unity (Communist) party brought the workers into the streets and they took part in a general strike at the time of the revolt, but they have been brought under the control of the East German government.

"Shows Treachery"

Premier Otto Grotewohl's regime has taken the quarters of the trust of the working masses in their government. But Grotewohl was taken by the Communist party in the backing of two armored divisions and 35,000 German troops.

The Russian occupying forces apparently were about ready to lift martial law. It was believed they would pull their armed forces out of the city if they could see the demonstration showed the party in control.

Reforms Proposed

The East German puppet regime, meanwhile, set up what looked like a substitute government, to speed reforms designed to ease the workers' rebellion against communism.

With apparent Soviet approval, the government announced the formation of a special legislative committee with full power to introduce laws and to amend the constitution.

Mine, Union Resume Contract Discussions

HALLEY, June 26—Negotiations between management of the Triumph mine and representatives of the local Miners union were to enter another round at 1 p. m. Friday, referred by a federal conciliator.

In an attempt to reach a new wage agreement before the current contract between mine and union expires Wednesday, negotiations were renewed Thursday under Lewis Zimins, Spokane, Wash., regional commissioner of conciliation, federal mediation service.

The mine company, represented by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, had been asking for a 10 percent pay raise.

Senators Add 46 Millions to Interior Fund

WASHINGTON, June 26 (U)—The senate today added $46,000,000 to the interior department during fiscal 1954, after adding $60,000,000 to the amount voted by the house.

The senate vote, however, was all Republican, while the house vote was split.

The senate action was by voice vote with only 10 senators on the floor at the time.

The bill now goes to a senate-house conference committee for adjustment of differences between the two houses.

Land Open

Rep. Hamer H. Budge reports the secretary of the interior has issued an order for immediate release for entry on 29,294 acres of land previously withdrawn by the bureau of reclamation.

The land is adjacent to the north-river project.

Representative Budge says the area is potential for the lands he has requested to be restored to entry for development. The bureau of reclamation had no present plans for the land.

That's what they're saying all over IDAHO

DO YOU KNOW? Water and its mineral content largely govern the flavor of beer. When water is used from different sources the taste of the beer will vary even if ingredients and brewing formulas are the same. That explains Bohemian's uniformity of taste. ALL Bohemian is made from the same exceptionally pure water which comes from specially drilled wells at Boise which tap the underground flow from Idaho's mountains.

Look around you... at taverns... in food or beverage stores... among acquaintances. Note how many are choosing Bohemian. Ask them for the reason and you'll find the answer a simple one. It's because they like the TASTE of Bohemian.

Bohemian's full-bodied, sparkling flavor, results from the use of best quality ingredients—pure water from special wells... and time-tested, precise brewing methods.

Prove to yourself that Bohemian is a superior beer. Try it TODAY—and you, too, will say—Bohemian tastes so good!

WASHINGTON—The mutinies behind the iron curtain and the postwar chaos in Czechoslovakia have changed the diplomatic atmosphere of the world in favor of the United States. It is one of our greatest victories since the outbreak of World War II, and a great department of the United States.

The spreading revolts against the Russian police state and the active rebellion in red China, demonstrate to such skepticism and critics as Sir Winston Churchill and General A. J. Acheson that America has come of diplomatic age. Our foresight in that field matches our foresight in financial and military matters.

It is one of the most important and untold stories of the 20th century, assuming more heat and substance against communist rule and suppression herald the beginning of the end of the red empire. Informed experts on Russia entertain that viewpoint.

POT SHOTS

POETIC JUSTICE!

While driving to Boise the other day, I saw a big, burly fellow come up from behind in a hurry, with the driver obviously just "upped" with the bit to get around. When he did pass us, we asked the Little Woman to step out and see why we had stopped.

Occasionally we would glimpse of the car as he wound in and out of traffic or got caught behind slow trucks on wide, busy streets of road long enough for us to catch up. Then finally he just disappeared into the distance.

And we couldn't help noticing the same car pulled out on the shoulder of the highway as we entered Boise. The driver who had been in such a big rush was pouring gas into the tank of his car.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Although our journalism has developed a large corps in specialists in subjects pertaining to the union, our people nevertheless are ill-informed and misinformed on the general labor situation.

As in most other fields of topical interest, the public themselves are at fault to a degree, but not altogether. They are at fault in that they are lazy-minded and slow on the uptake.

The coverage of the labor situation by our West Coast Press and the articles of those who write in the same sort of moral or social subsidy and the reliance which have cultivated general news reporting emanating from Washington.

The miscellany labor specialists are actually specialists in unionism. They seldom deal with the interests of the rank and file who constitute labor.

They have been negligent, at best, in failing to tell us the true personal background of John R. Steetman and perhaps to tell us the greatest strangers to the American people who slipped in and out of powerful jobs created by fiat to permit Roosevelt and Truman to deal generally favorable to the great union boss.

While House car to send those little pots of the new deal school, Rita and Buzza, to a private school, but in my own mind she was gone when her own little girl was gone.

"The first lady of the land," since she had suggested several times that the car could just as well pick up this other child, going and coming."

The young mother took a noble stand. One way or another, she became an almost invisible news dealer later on, but that is another story.

Incidentally, from the founding of the noble tribe down to La. Brea's grandchild, not one of the Brea's has ever put foot into a public school to mingle in the "democratic" way with the common herd including the cherished "minority" group.

It has occurred to some of us in journalism that members of our craft have been taking too many airs into themselves. They are "celebrities."

By the score they are among those present at big dinners and very materialized capital. Inevitably, many of the wives yearn for love and the husbands, etc. Under pressure to be grateful to the females who throw parties and to their husbands in the bureaucracy.

For that matter, the bucks themselves are not immune to a state that they are really getting ahead when they find themselves cornered by the potted palms in a catered production in a rented suite at the Mayflower, in some conversation with the chairman of ways and means or some deputy chief of staff.

After all most of us are country-club boys. We know enough about the newspaper business to keep an eye peeled for an opening as press relations expert in the commerce department.

The unions have their own great bureaucracy. They have their own publications which are now multiplying, and their radio and television services. They have hundreds of millions and they need to be unshakable in print.

I am not just indulging. I say inside the limits of facts known to me. We have never before had so much material thrust at us about

EAST BERLIN RIOTS

On the pavements of East Berlin, 50,000 German rioters forced the Soviet union to drop its benign mask and present its evil face to all the world.

The Russian policy in Germany, and perhaps in wider orbit, cannot be the same heretofore. The Kremlin has been propagandizing endlessly for German unity. It has told the world life in the communist realm is good. It has tried to practice a softer diplomacy in Europe and beyond.

But the courageous Germans who rose up in fury kicked the stuffing out of Soviet propaganda and pretensions. To subdue them, the Russians had to bring in a full army division, with tanks, armored cars and machine gunners.

The Russians sent their trucks careening wildly down the streets to scatter the mobs. Machine gunners fired over rioters' heads, and when that did not have the desired effect, they fired directly into the masses. Jet hoses were turned on others.

All this must have been heavily embarrassing to the Soviet masters trying to pose as the benefactors of Germany. Even more humiliating was this revelation of how deep runs German revision against the Russians.

Unarmed except for rocks and sticks and clubs, badly led and organized, the East Berliners tore down red flags, burned cars and buildings, disrupted all transport, halted industrial output and briefly imperiled the city's puppet government.

To appreciate the German fury unleashed that day, take note of the reason which rushed from a burning building with a new red-owned typewriter in his hands. He threw it to the ground with full might, pulled out a man's hammer and young girl to place, humbling was this revelation of how deep runs German revision against the Russians.

Unarmed except for rocks and sticks and clubs, badly led and organized, the East Berliners tore down red flags, burned cars and buildings, disrupted all transport, halted industrial output and briefly imperiled the city's puppet government.

BERMUDA CONFERENCE POSTMORTEM

The most immediate and practical effect of the civilian uprising was the postponement, or less prominently, of the Eisenhower-Churchill conference in Bermuda. "Like" never did like the idea of Churchill's corollary proposal for an eventual meeting with the President.

The President agreed to go through with the Bermuda powwow mainly to iron out differences between London and Washington, which evolved into a common future policy toward Moscow and Peking. Mr. Eisenhower has refused to regard the Bermuda session as a necessary prelude to another vodka-and-antacid session.

Now, even though the current anti-Russian demonstrations may be suppressed by military brutality, Eisenhower has no arguments against an appearance before the Washington really-had-down Downing street, why negotiate with a dictatorship which may be nearing its end?

GOING SOMEPLACE, BUD?

Speaking of rocket ships and such, remember the two old ladies who claimed they didn't want to go faster than sound because they like to talk?

Everybody always talking about the place to pick up.

"What's the good of having breakfast in New York and lunch in London if you don't have lunch in London if you don't have lunch in London?"

As for me when my two weeks vacation comes around finally I try to head for the hills, where the air is fresh and pure and doesn't move about 180 miles per hour.

STEELMAN, we should remember, ruled against the delivery of a small bunch of coil miners in the so-called "Pearl Harbor" case. But later, wearing another "cap" and under another title, he reversed himself and gave these miners to Lewis as though they were so many head of stock on the morning that Pearl Harbor broke into the papers.

Under cover of that excitement, this strange and ominous development was to John Lewis and his pretension of all but a few of Lewis.

It was ominous because Roosevelt had said in so many words that, to deliver himself to Lewis, he would have without any consultation of his preference, with the terrible grant of control over their lives and being which such a grant would imply, would be "Hitler's way."

Prudling himself in routine jam with Lewis and having no respect for the human or political rights of those workers constituting the "masses," Roosevelt thought nothing of resorting to "Hitler's way."

Their fessness did not mitigate the

CONTRASTING VIEWPOINTS

The American and British positions vis-a-vis Russia have been far more conflicting than is generally realized. The contrasting views of the two nations are being expressed in a series of articles in the Times and the New York Times.

In fact Harry S. Truman deserves a great deal of credit for the anticipated diplomatic coup. The leading theory of Truman's policy of containment and encirclement, Turkey-Greece reinforcement, the Marshall plan, NATO, the resistance in Korea and our military buildup—was that it would cut Russia's state of World War III, at least until the war was better prepared than it was in the 1948-47 period.

Truman also argued that this display of power and determination of the democratic world would give hope and help to the imprisoned peoples of eastern Europe, the Balkans, the middle east and the far east.

Only a few days ago, Truman, in his appearance as an administration spokesman on Capitol Hill, Gen. Omar N. Bradley attributed the Berlin riots to this American counter-revolution. In several instances the several engineering reports which in civilian viewpoint appears to have been more correct and prophetic than the opinion of Europe's professionals.

HARD-BOLTED ATTITUDE BEST

Both Churchill and Prime Minister Nehru have questioned the wisdom of this hard-bolted attitude toward Russia, especially the now abandoned Eisenhower-Dulles idea of "liberalism" and "peaceful co-existence" with the American bloc in the United Nations have lined up against us.

In general, they have favored agreement with the discommodement largely because of Russia's supposed monolithic strength. Semi-humorously, Churchill once told American friends that, he signed the "cold war" with the Russians.

"You folks," he added, "take it too seriously! We must co-exist with the Russians!"

Now, in view of widespread internal dissonance within the communist camp, the American civilian viewpoint appears to have been more correct and prophetic than the opinion of Europe's professionals.

VIEWPOINTS OF OTHERS

CIO'S SELLING JOB

The CIO recently gave a dinner in Washington for members of the senate. All senators were invited, except Joseph R. McCarthy and Pat McCarran—deliberately snubbed by the hosts—and about a third of the invited guests were members of the more bitter opponents of the CIO. A similar dinner for members of the house is planned soon.

Mr. Reuther's speech at the dinner was designed to win friends and perhaps influence some people. Other phases are television shows to explain CIO ideas and a news broadcast with the CIO's own commentaries.

The presidential election was a setback to the CIO. No longer can organization speakers boast, as one did last year, of the "rather friendly gentleman in the White House." The new administration is not under obligation to the CIO. Moreover, since the CIO was not invited to the November election, it is not invited to the White House.

Mr. Reuther is very wise to adopt a conciliatory tone. It must have been apparent to the CIO president that his group was not getting a hearing by threatening to block lawmakers who do not vote as demanded. But whether dinners and broadcasts will "sell" the CIO is problematical. The CIO's original error was to make an alliance with the political party. Many persons will remember that Samuel Gompers warned organization labor against such action a generation ago—Salt Lake Tribune.

TAXES FOR PROPAGANDA

Supporters of the Hells canyon fighting for the last ditch by the "power dam" have forced the release of a number of engineering reports favorable to the dam.

As far as we are concerned, the future of Hells canyon rests with the federal power commission, where all sides are to have a hearing. But we are also concerned with the power. The dam is a project that is revealed the reclamation bureau had made during the time the Hells canyon propaganda was spread for and wide.

No thing person would assume that the reclamation bureau would hire an engineer to survey Hells canyon who did not favor the general reclamation program. These reports were prepared by other states, unacquainted with Idaho and Idaho problems, undoubtedly were provided only the information and back-up power. These reports were prepared by the interior department. To say the least, these reports were made to order for the Hells canyon planners.

It is interesting to note that the Hells canyon is the amount of money expended by the reclamation bureau to obtain these Idaho reports. The expenditure would be small. Idaho taxpayers should be heard in the case of this propaganda cost them—Boise Statesman.

POOR UNION LEADERSHIP

The temperate language of union leaders is understood to be a political tactic, and their initiative is revealed in the denials of the Hells canyon project. The advice of Local 6 of the United Auto Workers to members at the International Harvester company goes far beyond the ordinary limits and into vicious irresponsibility.

Angered at Harvester's refusal to reopen a contract that runs until 1955, Local 6 officers "speculated" that they would support the Hells canyon project. The reality of the company's products. An alleged incident of sabotage at Chrysler was cited as an instance of the success of this method in gaining wage concessions.

It would be hard to believe that the workers would resent this incitement to conduct both dishonorable and foolish. Their job depends upon the quality of the products they make for sale in a competitive market.

Ordinarily, union members excuse the excesses of their leaders, believing they were meant in the workers' interest. This antic is so damaging to the good name of the union that it is difficult to believe that it will be well advised to repudiate it emphatically—Chicago Daily News.

BOUND SLEEPER

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has been making a good bit of kidding from other cabinet members for his ability to sleep through a fire. It happened at Slou City, Ia. The trip there had been tiresome, and when Secretary Wilson arrived, he had to meet scores of prominent citizens and attend a couple of social functions. When he finally got to bed at his hotel he was exhausted.

A few minutes after he went to bed the fire broke out in his hotel. There was a noisy alarm, followed by the screaming of the arriving fire apparatus and the confusion of the firemen trying to put out the blaze.

Secretary Wilson slept through all the commotion, but not Mrs. Wilson. She leaped out the window, watched the fighting with great interest and shouted instructions to the firemen climbing their ladders nearby. Even this didn't awaken her husband.

But when he got back to Washington, his fellow cabinet members wanted to know what his former was being able to shed his worries so completely, as soon as he got into bed.

TRUMAN GETTING EAGER

Rumblings out of Independence, Mo., would indicate that Truman is getting impatient with the former President Truman's championing of the "eager" to start tearing after his favorite adversaries, the Republicans.

Mr. Truman has been in a very silent mood these many months. He is waiting for congress to go home, so he can comment on the 1953 Republican legislative record in full.

This is an admirable touch of restraint. A good many Americans may hope he shows as much when he begins stomping again. For in the 1952 campaign, Mr. Truman often was wildly irresponsible and sadly inept in taste. Many Democrats believe he hurt the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket by his excesses.

He made the mistake, for one thing, of thinking 1952 was 1948, and following the same plan of attack. But time and issues had changed. The strategy still, if the former President is to regain his reputation as an effective campaigner, he surely will have to change with them.

Cotton Report Figures False, Langlie Avers

BOISE, June 25 (AP)—Gov. Arthur B. Langlie has challenged the accuracy of figures in the "Cotton Report" which favors a high federal dam at Hell canyon on the Snake river over three small private dams.

Langlie, speaking of the cuff at a Rotary club luncheon, said the report lists the cost of the three dams and transmission lines at $25 million dollars.

Figures Challenged

"All the plans that have been shown show the three dams can be built for 183 million," the governor said.

John S. Cotton, a consulting engineer from San Antonio, Calif., prepared his report at the request of the interior department under the Truman administration. The department then favored a high federal dam.

The report, however, wasn't turned in until the Eisenhower administration took over. Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Green had a week after charges that he was holding it back because of what it showed.

Small Dams First

Cotton used 61 pages of text and tables in his report and concluded that the Idaho Power Company plan for a series of small dams on the Snake was not economically feasible.

Langlie challenged the accuracy of his figures.

The Washington chief executive said the three dams could produce 50 per cent of the firm power that Hell canyon dam would cost only a third as much. He said it is dangerous that Hell canyon dam conserves water and claimed the high dam proposal included virtually no flood control features.

Report of Jurors Notes Negligence in Canyon County

CALDWELL, June 25 (AP)—A Canyon county grand jury reported today there has been "some negligence" in the county government and declared that administration of the jail was inefficient.

The report, labeled "Final Report, No. 1," made no mention of a shortage of funds in the Canyon county sheriff's office, which led to calling of the grand jury.

The grand jury, which has been sitting intermittently since May 16, recessed and other reports are probable.

The grand jury said the sheriff's office during portions of the term of Ray Lucke, now state senator, was not properly organized as far as personnel was concerned, supervision of women prisoners was inefficient and trustees were not supervised properly.

The success of 11 federal prisoners in October, 1951, would not have occurred, the grand jury said, had the prisoners been retained in their cells rather than having been allowed to remain in the corridor. The jury said the sheriff's office is now efficiently administered.

Board Okays Road Project

BOISE, June 25 (AP)—The state highway board has given its approval for expediting construction on the Lewis and Clark highway from the Lochsa river station eastward eight miles to enable the U. S. forest service to check a spruce beetle infestation in the Holly creek area.

Meeting with the board members were members of the Crotline Chapter of Commerce, the U. S. forest service office in Missoula, Mont., and C. R. Palmer, Boise district engineer of the U. S. bureau of public roads.

State Highway Engineer Earl V. Miller said the $100,000 project proved transferring about $100,000 of forest highway funds earmarked for the Shaville-Murray road in Shoshone county and about $100,000 from funds planned for U. S. highway to apply on the emergency construction program in the Lochsa area.

He said another $400,000 planned for construction on the Crotline and Lewis and Clark highway from Lewiston to Missoula was being allocated to the project, making a total of $900,000 available.

Ike Okays Wheat Gift to Pakistan

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed the administration bill granting up to 100,000 tons of wheat to Pakistan to help avert famine.

The first shipment of the gift wheat to Pakistan was scheduled to go from Baltimore today. About 600 long tons of hard red winter wheat are being put aboard.

Bond Buying OK'd

BOISE, June 25 (AP)—The state land board has authorized the department of public investment to purchase $200,000 of bonds of the Kimberly school district in Twin Falls county. Land Commissioner Arthur Wilson said the bonds are for construction of a new grade school.

JOHN SARGENT FETED

MILNER, June 24 (AP)—Mrs. James Sargent entertained this week with a family dinner honoring their son, John Sargent, who is home on leave from the airbase at Amarillo, Tex.

Top Prize in Contest Won By Engineer

A year at Colorado college, and three years at the University of Washington, where he received a bachelor's degree in forestry and logging engineering.

In his entry, entitled "How to Plan and Pay for the Safe and Adequate Highways We Need," the Shoshone contestant noted the problem "boils down to the question of who is going to do with the trucks."

A truck, after being in use seven to 10 years, can be replaced with a new one. It is not that easy with highways. We cannot afford to rebuild them every 10 years. Engineers who designed and built roads in the early thirties thought they were building roads good for 25 years and they might have been, if only passenger cars had used them."

He pointed out automobile traffic has increased tremendously but does little more damage to the highways than it did 25 years ago because cars have been increased little in weight and now ride on larger, low-pressure tires.

He suggests building four-lane highways, two lanes for trucks and two for cars. "The two lanes for passenger cars would be designed with about half the base of the truck lanes."

He recommends a toll charge on truck traffic to make the trucks pay for the special construction, with

Judgment Asked

A civil action to collect an allegedly unpaid bill owed to the Idaho Power company was filed in justice court here Thursday by the Credit Adjustment bureau against Charles Dewey.

The bureau stated in its complaint, Dewey has owed the company $31.10 from April 15, 1950. It also seeks interest and costs of the action in the suit. Guillian and Wender, Nampa attorneys, represent the bureau.

The toll based on weight. He notes that in many states the gas tax levied from passenger traffic would be sufficient to take care of maintenance and construction if no other vehicles used them.

Safety Record in Forest Is Praised

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Council, has congratulated employees of the Sawtooth and Minidoka national forests for their record of an accident-free year.

Dearborn pointed out that, "Every such perfect record adds its bit of encouragement to those who believe that there can be control of accidents—accidents that currently are costing more than eight billions of dollars in a single year."

He also emphasized that safety comes as a result of hard work and of team work between management and employees. This division of safe working conditions and safe working attitudes are gratifying, he continued.
