WASHINGTON—Figures as formidable as current estimates at the budget counter date Secretary Ezra Tamm Benson from according to angry cabinet members' demand for application of 90 per cent government supports (subsidies) to their products.

Every phase of the proposed solution has been studied by administration officials, but the attempt to still the growls of the mid-western interests, who threaten to do something about the matter, if their party program is not included in any agricultural plan to the White House submits to the next Congress.

On their face, the meat producers' suggestions seem reasonable. Uncle Sam has extended subsidies to five other so-called "basic" crops, including the corn and wheat cattlemen must feed for food. On several occasions, with respect to potatoes and hogs, he has taken other commodity interests into consideration.

But, aside from the fact that President Eisenhower and Benson would like to liquidate this costly and embarrassing program, the federal aid to the agricultural considerations close this avenue of escape. It is amazing that White House publicity agents have not publicized this data nationally in capsule form.

STAGGERING FIGURE—Benson's statisticians estimate that almost $1 billion pounds of wheat would be lost to the market to raise the price of this product to the 90 per cent parity level. And it is probable that the same amount would have to be taken from the market to keep the price of wheat at 90 per cent parity level.

Although the figure may have no meaning to the average consumer, it means that about 10 million people for 10 months at the total population of New York state and New England, if Massachusetts is omitted for calculating purposes.

Unless a special program is developed, possibly upsetting the eating habits, prices and markets for fish the storage problems become staggering.

FREZZING SPACE NEEDED—Freezing the carcasses would require almost double the storage space available throughout the country. The cost of the space accompanying party guarantees for wheat and corn surplus, which have had to be tucked away in caves, former office buildings and old ships, would provide a good example of the cost of the supply, and eventually would break down the existing industry. Moreover, the freezing process causes beef to lose weight and fat in the choice cuts of beef to make them susceptible to canning. Uncle Sam would sustain a tremendous loss through either process of present canning or freezing of surplus meat.

Unless a special program is developed, possibly upsetting the eating habits, prices and markets for fish the storage problems become staggering.

Carcasses would require almost double the storage space available throughout the country. The cost of the space accompanying party guarantees for wheat and corn surplus, which have had to be tucked away in caves, former office buildings and old ships, would provide a good example of the cost of the supply, and eventually would break down the existing industry. Moreover, the freezing process causes beef to lose weight and fat in the choice cuts of beef to make them susceptible to canning. Uncle Sam would sustain a tremendous loss through either process of present canning or freezing of surplus meat.

REUTHER'S "THINKING"

Recently Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, charged that the Eisenhower administration is practicing "a typical Republican trickle-down philosophy."

By this he meant, "giving enough food on the banquet table to the wealthy so that some of the crumbs would trickle down to the poor."

We will not attempt to argue whether this description was ever before applicable to economic attitudes in this country. But we would like to suggest that it certainly does not fit the picture today.

There may be some businessmen around who regard the citizen of modest or slender means as someone to combat—whether or not this citizen is part of the organized labor force.

But the evidence is extensive that the overwhelming majority of business leaders in 1953 have a broad social consciousness. They understand there is no lasting well-being for the United States that is not founded on the well-being of the ordinary American citizen.

Those who hitherto state otherwise are generally uninformed of the state of mind prevailing in the business community. There is no wide feeling that people in the lower income brackets deserve only the crumbs.

There is, however, a definite businessmen's conviction as to the way the average American should be best helped economically. Most leaders believe that the American "economy," if it be that, is productivity—the ability to produce more and more goods with the same or less expenditure of human and mechanical energy.

They believe that the American economy should be so ordered and managed as to encourage the constant expansion of industrial facilities and the steady application of technical improvements. Thus, they reason, will productivity advance. Thus, too, will better goods, more goods be made available to consumers at the same lower prices.

That is the fundamental theory upon which our economic society is based. And the record of our economic life, especially in the past 10 years, indicates that it has usually worked remarkably well. Living standards have increased mightily. They are far higher than those in any socialist land you care to name.

To describe this process, this technique by which our resources are developed and spread across all economic levels, as a "trickle-down" system is to descend into absurdity. It has been more of a flood of the good.

Reuther is guilty of pat and outmoded thinking. He is spouting the kind of stuff labor leaders voiced two or three decades ago. He is striking an emotional, political attitude, not expressing a sound view rooted in the economic facts. In consequence he is unlikely to command very serious attention.

RED "PERSUASION"

Communist and U. N. officials at Panmunjon are at another deadlock, and it's one the Reds really ought to welcome.

This impasse developed from the refusal of 8,000 anti-Red North Korean prisoners to enter the "explanation" tents and listen to communist efforts to persuade them back home.

The neutral nations repatriation commission, hopefully torn over the issue of whether to force the North Koreans to appear, believes now that only the allied and communist commands can settle the problem. And the Indian chairman of the commission is doubtful the explanation procedure ever will be resumed.

Since red propaganda on repatriation is founded on the phony contention that the U. N. has won over communist prisoners by deception, the Reds must necessarily insist on every attempt to get them to the "persuasion" table where they may hear the "truth." Hence it is no surprise to find Poland and Czechoslovakia, on the commission, urging force.

More than that, red leaders who still cling stubbornly to the idea that their propaganda represents the truth may actually believe they can convince a large number of prisoners they should come over.

But the wiser heads, who have watched the efforts made thus far to woo the prisoners home, must appreciate how foolish that hope is. Red explainers have been reviled, spat upon, shouted down and ignored. There is not the slightest reason to doubt they would get the same from the overwhelming majority of men still held in allied stockades.

Up to now only about two per cent of allied prisoners have elected to return to communism. Two per cent of the 23,500 prisoner list is a figure too humiliating for the Reds to contemplate seriously.

Consequently the Reds may be trying to decline to listen to their appeal, they are forcing them a convenient excuse for breaking off a procedure which for them has proved totally embarrassing.

It is to our advantage, of course, to have the explanations made, so that the world may see how false are the claims that we have badgered the prisoners into refusing repatriation. But it will be no small surprise if we get much more opportunity to make this demonstration.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WATERLILIG

WASHINGTON—Figures as formidable as current estimates at the budget counter date Secretary Ezra Tamm Benson from according to angry cabinet members' demand for application of 90 per cent government supports (subsidies) to their products.

Every phase of the proposed solution has been studied by administration officials, but the attempt to still the growls of the mid-western interests, who threaten to do something about the matter, if their party program is not included in any agricultural plan to the White House submits to the next Congress.

On their face, the meat producers' suggestions seem reasonable. Uncle Sam has extended subsidies to five other so-called "basic" crops, including the corn and wheat cattlemen must feed for food. On several occasions, with respect to potatoes and hogs, he has taken other commodity interests into consideration.

But, aside from the fact that President Eisenhower and Benson would like to liquidate this costly and embarrassing program, the federal aid to the agricultural considerations close this avenue of escape. It is amazing that White House publicity agents have not publicized this data nationally in capsule form.

STAGGERING FIGURE—Benson's statisticians estimate that almost $1 billion pounds of wheat would be lost to the market to raise the price of this product to the 90 per cent parity level. And it is probable that the same amount would have to be taken from the market to keep the price of wheat at 90 per cent parity level.

Although the figure may have no meaning to the average consumer, it means that about 10 million people for 10 months at the total population of New York state and New England, if Massachusetts is omitted for calculating purposes.

Unless a special program is developed, possibly upsetting the eating habits, prices and markets for fish the storage problems become staggering.

FREZZING SPACE NEEDED—Freezing the carcasses would require almost double the storage space available throughout the country. The cost of the space accompanying party guarantees for wheat and corn surplus, which have had to be tucked away in caves, former office buildings and old ships, would provide a good example of the cost of the supply, and eventually would break down the existing industry. Glad You Asked!

Dear Pot Shots:

How do you cancel one's membership in a book club? I've done it and I don't want to do it again. I don't want to be a member in a book club. I don't want to be a member in a book club. I don't want to be a member in a book club.

They go merrily right on sending me notices of books being shipped, bills for same (although they have been paid). This goes on and on and I'm getting dizzy.

My kind letters asking you "cancel" membership are never acknowledged. What do I do now? Maybe some experienced reader knows.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

DANBURY, Conn.—There are two men in New York whose personalities are crawling to mind again now that Winston Churchill has finally took the awful truth about the Russian underpinnings of the Polish underground movement and the treachery of the Soviet political machine in Moscow.

To be sure, the American army and navy would include the actual killing of the Russian traitors, the Russian traitors touched off the uprising in the midst of the occupied capital, then they came back and let the Germans butcher them.

At that, it took the Germans more than two months to realize the combined reasons that they had their hands full to the west and that the Poles were magnificent heroes.

The men in New York I refer to are a renegade rabbi and pro-communist propagandist calling himself William E. Gallmer, and the sponsor of his broadcasts back in those days, the late, great, and distinguished, William E. Gallmer, and the treasurer of the Electronics Corporation of America.

Gallmer stole automobile, bounced checks, and was arrested at that time if they could show ABC a profit, was death to fire in the square off the air even when the radio was thrown in the face of the executives in their own offices in Rockefeller city.

And even then, there was no objection to Gallmer's repetitious plugging of the radio. That group was the kernel of the Moscowite government which took over Poland and still runs that wretched people in a tragedy which brought no profit from Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry S. Truman.

Novick was Gallmer's sponsor and although the FBI was right on top of him throughout the war, he went to his manufacturing electrical stuff in New York and elsewhere.

IS THIS ANOTHER ITEM IN THE VOLUMINOUS DOCKET OF INCIDENTS WHICH HAVE BEEN INVESTIGATED BY THE FBI?

It is another item in the voluminous docket of incidents which have been investigated by the FBI. It is another item in the voluminous docket of incidents which have been investigated by the FBI. It is another item in the voluminous docket of incidents which have been investigated by the FBI.

I know the FBI was onto Novick on the very best authority of all, that of the FBI. But he went right along with his electrical business using secret stuff, and the revenue from his electrical business was used to pay the renegade Gallmer for his lostsome hubble about the Lublin line.

Four years after he had been thoroughly exposed and even the ABC had been forced to drop him off the air, Gallmer showed up as a pick-man in the Henry Wallace campaign.

MAYBE WE'RE OFF OUR ROCKER

Consistently we've advised against installation of TV sets and antennas prior to the time stations go on the air.

HERE'S WHY

There is only one best of everything, whether it's television antennas or horse teeth. Even with our local station KXIX, we'll have antenna problems, however they'll not be the same as with fringe reception. Here, our problem will be too much signal. We'll have ghosts, multiple signals. Wait a minute, let's not get involved with that problem until the time comes. More about that next spring.

TODAY'S PROBLEM

Will we receive Boise and Idaho Falls TV? How high must our antenna be? What type will be best, will 40' be high enough? Will 50' be better? Will one aerial be enough for Boise, Boise, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls? How will we point it? Will it cost $200.00 or $300.00?

WE DON'T KNOW

And nobody else does either. The dishwasher's guess is as good as the engineer's.

Within a very short time after the station hits the air, we'll have a general idea how the signal's behaving over the audience. Until that time we can only apply the logic we've learned after hundreds of checks and thousands of miles of travel.

Ear Channels Give Balance

Knowing "which way is up" is a much more complicated operation than most of us realize. For example, how does a floating fish in the intense darkness of the ocean deep know this? Or man, when he is in a lighted room, how does he know which way is up? The answer to this balance lies within the tiny inner ear.

All animals with a backbone—from the shark, lowest of the vertebrates, to man, the highest—have a set of semi-circular canals in the head partly filled with a watery liquid.

In these liquid-filled canals are tiny hairs which bend easily in the direction the liquid flows when the head is tilted. To the base of these hairs are attached tiny nerves which tie in with the right of the 10 or 12 major nerves all large have in their heads, and this arrangement makes possible the balance sense.

Now then, when the head is tilted, the fluid within these three semi-circular canals in the inner ear flows in that direction, pushing the hairs, and quick as a flash nerve and brain the information is sent to the brain where appropriate action is taken.

Should a person make a sudden turn, the "round" motion would tend to keep the canals from turning, but it would continue to turn and keep the person off-balance.

When these nerves attached to the canals are over-stimulated, the result is dizziness.

plane, or from spring back forth in a swing of from left to right, or from right to left, as in a merry-go-round, or from back and forth as on a boat. Under such conditions, "round" motion, the basin, may cause dizziness.

Although the use of ships in the 1800s gave Americans an advantage on some ocean routes, America's brilliant merchant shipping already had begun to close at this time.

Farmer Unity Is Advised by Co-Op Leader

IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 4 (AP)—The president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives told the Idaho Cooperative council last night the cooperative movement must make it imperative that they "stick together" to do an effective job of production and marketing.

Frank W. Cussey, Prague, Mo., declared a strong agriculture economy is needed. He also said farmers have a definite responsibility to their cooperatives and they must have a common interest they must have.

A. A. Deane, University of Kentucky professor, told the council the long-term success of farm co-ops lies in informing young farmers of the functions of such organizations and in encouraging them to take part in their activities.

Representing the American Institute of Cooperation, Deane said "cooperatives must carry on an educational program to show young farmers how these organizations can serve them."

Oscar E. Reed, Caldwell, manager of the Western Idaho Potato Growers, said farm cooperatives should fit into the general economic and social life of the community.

Some 50 members of the council met over the state war on hand for the two-day sessions.

Nixon Conducts His 'Goodwill' Trip Like He's Seeking Votes

By WARREN DUFFEE

IN ROUTE WITH NIXON, Nov. 4 (AP)—If shaking enough hands in American political campaign style will do the trick, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's far eastern "goodwill" trip will be an amazing success.

Already in half a dozen lands across the South Pacific and into Asia, Nixon and his wife, Pat, have given the natives a lesson in handshaking democracy they never saw before and apparently never expect.

Judging by the reaction, the natives are hooked.

Most of the time Nixon goes about the job like a congressman heading for his seat at a reelection campaign. He has shaken hands with barbers, booties, babies and bellows, stopped to chat with children and chauffeurs, doormen and diplomats, luners and factory workers—in fact, almost anybody who came along.

Both the vice president and his wife have concentrated on children and the results in local publicity in various countries have justified the effort.

A typical example was Nixon's arrival at Djakarta, Indonesia. Before he greeted any of the diplomatic bigwigs assembled at the airport, he walked over and shook hands with a tiny Javanese girl whose father had handed her up to see over a wire fence.

Every Djakarta paper except the anti-communist press hailed the incident and even the communist press softened its scolding remarks about the vice president's visit.

Nixon's zeal carrying out his announced plans to "meet the people" has raised the eyebrows of quite a few American and foreign diplomats along the way. There's nothing in the protocol books to cover such behavior by a high ranking official. But that hasn't deterred Nixon.

The jam-packed schedules for the Nixons in each country usually are top-heavy with official and formal functions. But they manage to meet a lot of people beside the diplomatics.

Nixon started his nine-week trip with whirlwind visits to San Francisco and Hawaii and hasn't let up since. In the first four weeks he had only one day of complete rest. He buzzed around Hawaii like he was running for sheriff, but that

Rhee Violently Proposes To Give India Role in Confab

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Rhee today violently attacked today suggestions that India be given a limited role in the Korean peace conference as a compromise with communist demands for neutral participation.

Preliminary talks at Panmunjon on arrangements for the peace conference are deadlocked over Rhee's insistence on giving Russia and Asiatic states a voice in settling Korea's future.

"Let India come to the conference as a communist state," Rhee said in a written answer to questions by United Press.

"But as a neutral, never!"

"Many American officials have been surprised in their praise of the Indians' fairness in handling the neutral custody of unrepatriated prisoners," Rhee charged, but they have sided with the communists.

"The Indians are not involved in Korea except as propagandists for the communists," he said. "At the Panmunjon prisoners compounds, the 200 or more Indian troops are parading about in a demilitarized zone armed to the teeth, killing and abusing and committing prisoners."

Rhee indicated one of the principal reasons for his animosity to India was his efforts to be neutral.

"Those who do not care whether democracy survives are not neutrals, anyway," he said. "They are against us."

Rhee expressed confidence that United Nations would not back down in their opposition to neutral participation in the peace conference and would not negotiate the issue in the current Panmunjon talks.

He said U. S. special envoy Arthur H. Dean, negotiating for all the UN allies and South Korea, has no authority to settle the composition of the peace conference.

"He cannot act, nor can any action be taken to alter the conference composition without reference of the whole matter to the Republic of Korea and the anti-communist allies that have helped to fight the war," Rhee said.

The peace conference, he said, "is not supposed to be the meeting of a debating society but a face-to-face showdown pitting the Republic of Korea and its allies against the aggressor communists."

"There is just one issue, and that is the ROK insistence that the Reds get out of all Korea and the ROK."

He declared to state clearly what action he would take if the convening of the peace conference is blocked indefinitely by the communists over neutral participation.

Senator Asks Delay of New Power Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sen. James E. Murray, D. Mont., said Tuesday he has urged President Eisenhower to postpone the interior department's new power policy. Murray made public a letter to the president criticizing the department's "hasty enactment" of a new policy. He condemned in particular proposals for disposal of federal power in the Missouri basin. Murray, ranking minority member of the senate interior committee, said the new policy has made the future supply of Missouri basin electric power "uncertain." Murray said they unanimously have petitioned postponement and authorized an injunction suit, if necessary, in the alternative, to protect their future.

Hugh Farmer and Donald Nelson were appointed to investigate the possibility of conducting a shoot and report their findings at next Tuesday's meeting. Eleven names were proposed for club membership. Water Supply Is Normal for U. S. Projects

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Interior Secretary McKay announced Tuesday that water storage in 17 federal reclamation reservoirs in 17 western states "is on the average normal or slightly below normal, although in some areas of the southwest storage is extremely low." Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Drexler said water supplies should be adequate to meet next winter's irrigation demands from storage in such reservoirs as Shasta and Millerton lakes in California and Lake Mead, on the Colorado river. He also stated it is likely to have adequate supplies the Minnesota and Snake project reservoirs in Idaho. "Supplies for a majority of the other reclamation reservoirs will be dependent upon the extent and amount of winter and spring precipitation," Drexler said. "In general, the outlook is favorable for water supplies in California and the Pacific northwest, and is good through the Mountain states."

Cabinet Men Deny Plan to Store Bombs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two cabinet officers declared Tuesday the U. S. has no plans for stockpiling atomic bombs at American airbases in Spain. The statements came from Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson. They followed press reports from Madrid Monday quoting Harold T. Talbot, secretary of the air force, as saying the air force eventually will have supplies of A-bombs at the newly acquired Spanish base. Talbot later denied these reports. "They are not true," he said upon his arrival in Athens, Greece. "I never made such a statement. Nor will I ever make statements about atomic weapons." He said that "it is a matter to be taken up and discussed between the respective governments."

She charges he has been mean and abusive toward her daughter by a previous marriage and has failed to assume his responsibility for the upkeep of their home in Kimberly. They were married in Los Angeles Jan. 5, 1944, she states in her complaint. She lets community property as a 1938 Chevrolet, household furnishings, a tractor and plow, a trailer house, 100 acres of dry land located about five miles north-west of Hansen and desert entry claims for 200 and 400 acre tracts of land. Mrs. Denning asks the court to affirm her possession of two lots in Kimberly and one in Twin Falls at her property and grant him possession of the other.

She further asks the court to award her their community property or divide it equitably. She also asks attorney fees and the issue of an order restraining him from molesting her or her daughter and interfering with their community property until the action is settled. Misty Outline for New Third Force Stirring West Europe

By PHIL NEWSON, UP Foreign News Editor. An idea, misty in outline and form, is stirring in western Europe. It comes from such men as Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, West Germany, from Paul Henri Spaak, former premier of Belgium and from former French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay. It is a vision of western Europe as a "third force" between the United States and the Soviet Union. A force aligned neither with Russia nor with the United States but a force to fill the power vacuum left by World War II.

It would be a democratic force and therefore its sympathies would remain with the United States. But economically and militarily it would stand on its own and would be the balance between the United States and Russia, the two great powers now locked in a bitter struggle for supremacy—in fields as far apart as the soldier and the philosopher. Spaak has called it a United States of Europe. Adenauer has given it no name but says the same thing in essence when he proposes a pact guaranteeing Russian security against attack—in other words, a "third" force whose main objective would be to prevent war through strength. Pinay, a strong supporter of the European army plan, sees the third force in a series of economic agreements and in the removal of unnatural barriers which eventually would make it as easy to go from Hamburg to Paris by bus as it is now to go from New York to Cleveland or Chicago.

The growing awareness of western Europe's own strength arises from the early success of the European plan pooling goal and the success of the European plan. But there are, of course, many obstacles in the path of the formation of any European "third force" of elements within the membership of any European "third force" membership presumably the same as that proposed for the European army. The Netherlands, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. Another is the question of which—whether based on common plans for world domination or Russian fear of attack, makes an agreement almost impossible to reach. But before the United States America becomes a reality, it must be a dream. Maybe the answer lies in western Europe.

DeSoto in '54 Features New Transmission

Improvements in style and performance are featured in the new DeSoto, which goes on display at the Idaho Valley showrooms Thursday.

Leading the list of improvements is the new DeSoto 16 Power Pilot 160, a 160-horsepower transmission. In styling, body lines provide the appearance of a longer, wider car. The new DeSoto includes a new "floating" front suspension, and the headlights and taillights are keyed to the new color schemes.

Interior features include new instrument panel and dashboard moldings. The new DeSoto is available with either the new 160-horsepower Power Pilot 160 or the new 170-horsepower Power Pilot 170. The new DeSoto lines are offered in two DeSoto lines.

Compromise Ends Cotton Quota Riff

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 4 (AP)—The long struggle between growers and processors of cotton over the quota has ended with a compromise that sets the quota at 10 million acres above that set in 1957.

The compromise was announced at a meeting of the producers held in Memphis Tuesday. The compromise, announced by Ben Eastland, D. M., secretary of the producers, is a compromise of their own making.

The proposal Eastland and Ben Eastland, D. M., work out was believed to boost cotton acreage to 21 million acres, a 3,000,000-acre increase over the 18,000,000-acre quota recently by Ben Eastland.

Per Capita State Tax Gains

The annual state tax burden soared to a new high, averaging $85 per person for fiscal 1958. This is $4 more per person than fiscal 1957 figures. Newsmap shows the per capita state tax burden in the U. S. for fiscal 1958. High state is Washington with $108 a person, low is New Jersey with $37.

Income Gain Seen for U. S. in 1954 on High Profits of 1953

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Uncle Sam should do all right next year because American business is doing so well this year.

Tax payments, starting next March, will be higher than in 1953 because corporate earnings should be considerably higher than the treasury's take in 1953. The steel strike alone is helping higher this year, too, the treasury haul from this source should be higher.

In both cases the present high income tax rates apply. Next year's earnings and incomes will have some cut in rates and returns. The treasury will have to make payments on 1954 incomes.

Earnings statements of corporations for the first nine months of 1954 show that as a whole they are putting aside 40 per cent more than they did this time a year ago.

This is because corporate earnings before taxes, as reported so far, come around 80 per cent more than in the same period last year. After taxes, the net income is running around 15 per cent higher than last year.

It was last year's lower than expected corporate tax payments—due in part to some costly 1952 strikes—which embarrassed the treasury last June. The steel strike alone jugged about one billion dollars off the amount the steel companies had been expected to pay Uncle Sam on 1952 earnings.

When earnings drop, Uncle Sam loses even more than the companies because he takes more than half of their earnings in taxes. Thanks to a 52 per cent corporate income tax plus the added bite of excess profit levies on many companies, the treasury was taking around 58 per cent of corporate earnings in 1952.

With gross earnings higher this year, the excess profit tax is taking an even greater share. The total tax take is estimated to be around 60 per cent of total corporate gross earnings.

This will help the treasury in March. But the trouble here is that almost 80 per cent of the treasury's total revenue is in the form of corporate and individual income taxes.

With rates due to be lowered on next year's income, any falling off in corporate earnings in 1954 because of a possible business dip, and any falling off in take-home pay of individuals would put an embarrassing crimp in treasury revenues when payments are made in 1955.

The drum is perhaps the oldest musical instrument.

'Jehovah's Child' Faces Charge for Kellogg 'Parade'

KELOGG, Nov. 4 (AP)—Harry Brandt, who calls herself a "Jehovah's child," has been charged with disturbing the peace for carrying a large canvas banner through the streets of Kellogg.

Mrs. Brandt, the mother of six children, already faces trial Friday for refusing to send four of her children to school.

Her banner accused "the courts and newspapers are hiding facts and denying me public trial by confounding date of trial so public can't be there. Schools and current reading matter are corrupting our children.—The Bible says—parents should be the teachers of their children."

She is accused of obstructing traffic by carrying the banner down the street.

Mrs. Brandt told questioners she is not affiliated with any established church in Kellogg, and is the only member of her sect.

Also, she said, she gets a "great deal of joy in teaching my own children."

Is your engine sluggish on hills? Re-power with Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

Shell Premium Gasoline with the Shell-discovered additive TCP boosts power up to 15%, spark plug life up to 150%... gives extra mileage, too. That's because it stops the greatest cause of power loss: "wild ping" (pre-ignition knock) and short-circuiting of spark plugs caused by engine deposits.

When your car was new the inside of the engine was clean as a whistle. And that's why it could deliver all the power built into it.

But your engine's power falls off in time, often within only a few thousand miles. That's because certain chemical deposits constantly accumulate in the combustion chambers and on the spark plugs.

In the combustion chambers these deposits become red hot and ignite the fuel-air mixture prematurely. This results in what engineers refer to as "wild ping"—a most severe form of knock.

Similar deposits also build up on spark plugs and cause them to short-circuit.

These engine deposits are the greatest cause of power and fuel waste in the majority of cars on the road today.

To stop this waste, Shell Research discovered a unique gasoline additive, TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, it is the only solution to the problem of "wild ping" (pre-ignition knock) and spark plug misfiring, caused by engine deposits. It fireproofs the deposits to stop pre-ignition. It changes the character of the deposits to eliminate the short-circuiting of spark plugs.

As a result, you may, by simply changing to Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, increase your engine's power up to 15%, increase your spark plug life up to 150%, and get extra mileage, too.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is the most significant fuel development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

Shell Premium with TCP Quick to Act

With your first tankful, Shell Premium with TCP additive begins to overcome chemical deposits. So quickly does it act that you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up by the time you've finished the second tankful! Of course, since the deposits are constantly accumulating, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP is the only way to maintain these benefits.

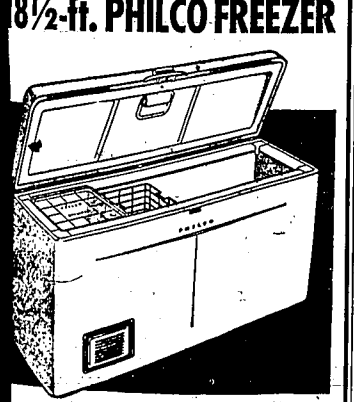

Available at all Shell Dealers

TCP was originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels. Now in Shell Premium Gasoline at all Shell Dealer Stations.

Civilian Boss Is Urged for Defense Cash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has added with the navy against the army and air force in proposing civilian financial managers for all three services.

Wilson's senate armed services subcommittee investigating military finance problems Tuesday he believes a civilian competitor with the rank of assistant secretary is "the right approach and solution" to efficient operations.

With each military branch employing one million persons and spending more than 10 million dollars a year, he said, the problem "deserves the attention of all assistant secretaries on the money side." Army Secretary Robert H. Stevens and assistant Air Force Secretary H. Lee White told the subcommittee that men could do better as comptrollers than civilians. Both departments now have lieutenant-generals as top financial officers. Earlier, Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson told the subcommittee he is looking for a civilian to become the navy's fiscal expert at a $14,800 annual salary.

Weds Former Slave Girl

Thema-Flynn, 22-year-old ship's steward, stands with his bride, a raven-haired former Iraqi slave girl, after their marriage at Middleburgh, England. Both are on ball, Flynn for smuggling the girl out of Iraq, and the bride for illegal entry into Britain. Flynn disguised the girl as a boy and she spent 44 days in a small cabin aboard Flynn's ship, on the trip from Basra, Iraq. Legal authorities said the wedding paved the way for Jean to become a British subject. (AP wirephoto)

Franco Says New Pact to Give U.S. Efficient Help in Defense

By EDWARD G. DEPUY and HALPE E. POBIE (Copyright 1935 by United Press) MADRID, Nov. 4 (U)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco pledged today that Spain would give the west "efficient help" against Soviet aggression through her new pact with the U. S., but ruled out direct military cooperation now with Britain and France.

He told the United Press in an exclusive interview that Spain's accord with the United States were of "utmost importance" for the maintenance of western peace and security.

He predicted they should lessen American sacrifices for defense in the future.

Franco, braided and conservatively dressed in a grey striped double-breasted suit, met these correspondents in the large rectangular salon "de los paises perditos" (of the lost lands) of his private residence on the outskirts of Madrid.

It was the first interview with Franco since Spain and the United States signed on Sept. 28 the historic pact providing for American bases on the strategic Iberian peninsula in exchange for economic aid for his country. It made Spain and the U. S. allies for the first time in history.

Franco made it clear that while Spanish membership in the North Atlantic treaty organization or separate military pacts with Britain and France were out of the question for the time being, western defense still was "completely assured" Spanish help through the United States.

He carefully outlined Spain's position on this point when we asked him about Spain's conditions for entering NATO and if his country would consider military and economic collaboration with France and Britain.

The Spanish chief of state did not altogether rule out military cooperation beyond the Pyrenees which guard Spain's northern frontier in case of aggression. But he said that for the time being the defense of western Europe beyond the Pyrenees lay with the nations there.

When asked for his views on the political significance of Spain's accession to the pact, he said that the pact would be a "great step" towards the maintenance of peace and security in Europe.

Discovery

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (U)—Eight-year-old Leroy Coombes found a live 20-pound aerial bomb "rolling down the alley" on his way home to dinner last night.

A bomb disposal expert said it "definitely contains explosive" and suggested it was either a British or Japanese mine.

Learned that the boy was live, Leroy said somewhat happily: "One of 'em dropped it, I wouldn't be here."

Good News For Septic Tank Owners

The trend to suburbia, ranch homes, and your "round beach or mountain living has only one drawback—sanitation facilities. Septic tanks are lifesavers for those who live away from city sewer systems. But septic tanks can, and do, stop-up and overflow! First, because the tank is not cleaned at proper intervals; secondly, because the tank does not readily disintegrate may clog the drains and force them to back up!

This may be avoided by using MD Toilet Tissue—because MD is scientifically processed to absorb water quickly. Drains don't clog or back up so readily!

Good practice: Consult your County Health Department, your plumber, or a septic tank service company, for advice on cleaning your tank. Use MD Toilet Tissue! Advertisement

Trade Group Asks Water Pact Okay

SPOKANE, Nov. 4 (U)—The Pacific Northwest water trade group has called for early approval of an interstate compact for developing water resources, then listened to a speaker warning not to view such a compact as a quick-cure-all.

Charles A. Sprague, Salem, a former governor of Oregon, said he is "quite skeptical that an interstate compact will offer any early solution to our problems."

A commission has been working for some years on this matter, he said, "but progress has been at a snail's pace. States are naturally reluctant to agree to terms which bind them permanently as to the disposition of their vital water resources."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Jerry is a bright boy, friendly and according to the teacher, "cooperative." In school he is in the middle group—never getting an A, but also never dropping to a D.

At the end of a set period of instruction, the teacher gives a class test. The children are always given notice ahead of time, so they may prepare to do their best.

In a recent test, Jerry came out with his usual B—the middle of the class content and went off in high spirits to play on the baseball team, in which he was top player.

But if Jerry was contented, his mother wasn't. She has learned that the teacher, to whom all said, "Jerry is a bright boy," is not the best man in the contest.

"There is some truth in that," the teacher agreed, "but wherever these children go, whatever they do, they are bound to meet with competition. They will never get an A, but they will never drop to a D. The best man wins. If Jerry really wanted to head the class, he would work hard to make it. Perhaps he wouldn't be able to do so, no matter how much he tried. Just if he better know that in life there will always be winners and losers and, therefore, be prepared to meet competition—win or lose."

Competition may not be welcomed by all, but nobody can avoid it. It has no mercy. It is a part of life. It is in all walks of life. Games are played for the sake of winning. They will learn the meaning of ability, and so is a place in school, or on the honor roll.

We all enter contests for life's prizes, as children and as adults. Human nature demands an incentive before we put our greatest efforts into a task. Work for work's sake satisfies the few. For the many, work for promotion reward is what brightens interest in the job.

Let us be sensible about it and try to be the best man in the contest.

CLEAN OR ABOLISH COLLEGE FOOTBALL, NCAA HEAD DEMANDS

Game's Unethical Practices Must Stop, Says Moore

FALLADEGA, Ala., Nov. 4 (AP)—College football should be abolished "root and branch" unless it is cleansed of hypocrisy, skulduggery and cheating," the head of the National Collegiate Athletic Association hallooed today.

Dr. A. B. Moore, president of the NCAA and also faculty chairman of athletics for many years at the University of Alabama, said his organization "has only scratched the surface" in uncovering unethical practices in college football.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Reese admitted Tuesday he had been "let out" on the job by the Brooklyn Dodgers, suggesting the Brooklyn Dodgers might make a move that might disrupt his making a final decision.

"I don't want to do anything that would prejudice my standing with the Dodgers," he told Times-Picayune of the Courier-Journal, "but the other thing is, I don't want to make a move that might disrupt my happiness of my life."

Reese, prominently mentioned for the managerial job of the Chicago Cubs, was reported to have been offered the job by the Dodgers to join Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, and to take over the job of manager of the Brooklyn Braves, who lives in Louisville, in debating whether to take the job or continue as a player. He says he has a "strong desire" for being a manager.

Williams, Musial Hold Top Averages

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—If any one has any doubts whether Ted Williams and Stan Musial are major league baseball's most consistent hitters, a glance at the lifetime batting record might be the convincer.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press showed Tuesday that including their 1953 performances, Williams leads both leagues with a .348 mark with Musial close behind at .345.

Williams, who hit .407 in 37 last season after being discharged from the Marines, has a lifetime total of 1,804 hits in 6,187 times at bat. Musial, the six time National league batting king, shows 2,223 hits in 6,437 trips.

Illinois, Stanford Head For First Bowl 'Replay'

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Using opposite means of transportation but getting maximum mileage out of them, Illinois and Stanford are ground-bugging Illinois apparently are on their way to the first "replay" in Rose bowl history.

National Collegiate Athletic Association service bureau figures showed Tuesday that Illinois is leading the nation's major college football teams in rushing with an average of 294.3 yards a game. Stanford, although second to College of the Pacific in yards gained a game by passing, has the best all-around aerial record.

Each faces a major obstacle Saturday, but if Illinois can get by Michigan and if Stanford can overcome Southern California, they stand good chances of going on to their conference championships and to the Rose bowl on New Year's day.

If they do, they'll be the first teams ever to face each other in the Rose bowl after having met during the regular season. They played at Illinois, Oct. 3, and the Big Ten leaders won 35-21.

That defeat apparently convinced Stanford coach Chuck Taylor that he should let Bob Garrett throw the ball opener. In their last three games the Indians have completed 46 of 70 passes for 659 yards, an average of 233 yards a game and a completion percentage of 65.7 per cent. Stanford's 341 air yards against Washington State was the season's biggest one-game total.

For the full season, Stanford leads in touchdown passes 11 in total yardage 1,174 and is tied with Georgia in completions, 193 completion percentage of 65.2 is third behind Utah's 60 per cent.

College of the Pacific has an average passing gain of 163.7 yards a game to Stanford's 160.6, but trails in the other statistics.

Sacrifice Fly Is Restored To Rule Book

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—The sacrifice fly, restored once for a one-year period in 1939 and then dropped again, was the principal action taken at a two-day meeting of the playing rules committee, representing the major and minor leagues.

Other actions authorized the use of laminated wood bats for the 1954 season, required players to take their gloves and other equipment off the playing field between innings, rejected a suggestion to bring back the spitball and made various other changes to clarify the rules and to take care of special situations.

It was the first meeting of the committee in more than two years and most of the discussion was concerned with correcting previous errors and oversights and to covering new situations that had arisen since 1951.

Among the latter were the practice of taking a flying start to "tag" after a fly ball is caught and the "unsportsmanlike" custom of standing in a batter's line of vision in order to distract his attention.

Williams, Musial Hold Top Averages

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—If any one has any doubts whether Ted Williams and Stan Musial are major league baseball's most consistent hitters, a glance at the lifetime batting record might be the convincer.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press showed Tuesday that including their 1953 performances, Williams leads both leagues with a .348 mark with Musial close behind at .345.

Williams, who hit .407 in 37 last season after being discharged from the Marines, has a lifetime total of 1,804 hits in 6,187 times at bat. Musial, the six time National league batting king, shows 2,223 hits in 6,437 trips.

Guant Sande Gives Up Attempt at Comeback

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Earl Sande, still worn out and weary although it has been three weeks since he rode in a race, said today he temporarily has called off his attempt to make a comeback as a jockey.

"I am not going to ride any more in New York," the one-time riding champion revealed. "My plans are not definite but I hope to get to Florida this winter. All the pressure of my comeback had me sort of nervous and upset, although the fans were grand to me. I'm feeling much better after my rest."

The 54-year-old "handy guy" has not ridden in a race since Oct. 14 when he won the seventh race at Jamaica with a 12-1 shot named Miss Wessie. It was his first and only winner since the comeback trail.

Questioned about his prolonged absence from the track, Sande said two weeks ago he was "tired," but hoped to be back riding "within a couple of days." He showed up at Jamaica last Saturday to pick up his mail and indicated then that he would be ready to ride.

Sande said he was finding it a little hard keeping his weight down. He said a New York trainer, who asked to remain nameless.

"Personally, I hope we can find a couple of horses to train now," the trainer added, "because I don't think he should be riding at his age any more."

Weight always posed a problem for Sande, even in his younger days. Uncommonly tall for a jockey, he ballooned to about 140 pounds in recent years, but got down to 115 for his most recent comeback. However, it left him drawn, almost gaunt-looking, and undoubtedly drained him of much needed strength.

Mantle's Knee to Be All Right

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—How strong will Mickey Mantle's right knee be after the operation for removal of a cyst?

The New York Yankee outfielder's physician, Dr. Dan Yancy, said Tuesday there should be no more weakness in it than there was before the operation he performed Monday.

Mantle injured the knee in the 1951 World Series and again last July.

Yancy said the young switch-hitter had the usual post-operation pain, but was able to sit up in bed.

Bengals Seeking Second Loop Title

POCAHONTO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Idaho State college will play the second annual Dad's day football game Saturday, meeting Western State in a game to decide the Rocky Mountain conference outcome.

Western's Mountaineers have lost only to Montana State 14-13 and tied with Colorado college 7-7. The Bengals defeated both teams 13-0 and 27-0.

If Idaho State wins, it will hold the conference alone. If Western wins, BSU and Montana State will end in a tie.

Valley's High School Grid Season Draws to Close; Eight Games Set for Friday

A double order will be dished up on the football menu within the next week for Magic Valley football fans as local high schools end the 1953 season either with games Friday or against traditional Armistice day foes next Wednesday. The Armistice day battles hold the major share of the spotlight even this far away, but Friday's action promises to be on the thrill-packed side also with a total of eight games.

Only one of the two Big Seven conference tilt, Rupert plays at Buhi. The hot-hand-cold Butte eleven should have little trouble with the Buhi Indians.

Hapius Oakley invades rugged Jerome, which undoubtedly will be a walkover eleven after its upset loss to Burley last week in a contest which probably was the Big Seven title for Burley. The game will be played at 7:45 p. m. Thursday instead of 2 p. m. as originally scheduled.

The Gooding Senators, present holders of third place in the loop will have to outdist the conference to wind up their season.

They meet Meridian at Gooding. Gooding originally was scheduled to visit its season Armistice day foe at Piler but the game has been canceled at the request of Piler. A practice game will be played but will have no effect on the standings.

In class B, Heyburn, riding the crest of a six-game unbeaten wave, will have no effect on the standings. Other class B games find Declo at Shoshone, although at Challis, Boise Junior varsity and Dietrich at Richfield.

In a Saturday game, Partridge, winner of the eight-man conference title, takes on Donnelly-McCall at Gooding in a 7:30 p. m. game.

Webfoots' Shaw Does All But Sell Tickets

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP)—In Los Angeles it's Paul Cameron; in San Francisco it's Bobby Garrett; but in the Pacific northwest the general belief that the best football player in America is George Shaw.

The Northwest fans may have an idea that they have a monopoly on thinking Shaw is a great football player, but other fans and coaches are coming around to the belief that the Oregon star probably is the finest one-platoon football man to appear on the horizon in 1953—for the whole United States.

Shaw is the junior quarterback at University of Oregon and does just about everything for the Webfoots except sell tickets.

He is a great passer; he kicks extra points and his kickoff is near the end zone; he's the best pass-catcher on the team; he does all the punting; he is a fine defensive back; he can run; he is the Oregon field general; he can play halfback or end if called upon.

Shaw is playing with a club that has taken its bumps this year—through no fault of this all-around athlete. However, the Webfoots come up with two fine upsets: 20-12 over Nebraska in the TV contest last Saturday and 20-13 over the previous unbeaten Southern California.

Coches Red Sanders of UCLA, after watching his team UP Oregon 12-0 said: "He's one of the best passers I've seen."

Coches Jess Hill of Southern Cal, went even further: "He's the best all-around football player."

Coches Len Casanova, Oregon, noted that his pass receivers were dropping Shaw's passes; they couldn't hang onto anything that came their way. He couldn't find a reliable pass-catcher, end so he shifted Shaw to end in the last two games and the move was responsible for the Webfoots whipping San Jose State and then the Trojans.

Casanova couldn't find a fast halfback to pick the mail, so he tried Shaw there and he was a standout against Washington State. Shaw is a natural athlete. He plays shortstop and outfield in baseball and is reported to have already turned down professional offers to remain in school. Although not big as football players go (he weighs 178 pounds), he seems to get the job done no matter what situation he undertakes.

Big One

SANDPOINT, Nov. 4 (AP)—A Kamloops trout that weighed 214 pounds was pulled from Lake Pend Oreille recently by Al Coleman, Jr., a Sandpoint postoffice worker. It was one of the biggest of the year.

Robert Maxwell, a University of Idaho sophomore, caught a 163-pound Kamloops.

Vokes Says Coyotes Want Bowl Offer

CALDWELL, Nov. 4 (AP)—Coach Sam Vokes said Tuesday his undefeated College of Idaho Coyotes would be receptive to a bowl bid if they get by their final opponent Whitman college, Saturday.

"I think they deserve a bowl game and the idea wants to go," Vokes said. He said he had received no "feelers" from post-season game sponsors as yet.

The Coyotes have geared up the Pacific Northwest conference title and lead the one-undefeated team in the Rocky Mountain conference. Idaho State and Montana State in winning seven straight. They will be heavily favored over Whitman in the homecoming game.

"A bowl game might interest us with basketball, a little—I coach that, too, and some of the football players are on the team—but I think we could manage," Vokes said.

Rise Noted in Market Value Of Lean Pigs

IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 4 (U)—Wade Wells, University of Idaho swine specialist from Moscow, told officers and consignors of the Idaho Duroc association the consumer trend is veering more toward leaner and neater pigs.

Wells spoke at a dinner preceding the annual Duroc sale Tuesday afternoon.

"The trend," said Wells, "was first for a fat type. In recent years it has leaned toward medium type and now the leaner and neater animal is desired."

All of the officers of the association were re-elected, including Owen Sessions, Idaho Falls; president; and John Barton, Rupert; Troy Shulwell, Boise; Reed Griffith, Gooding; Lavar Boyle, Victor; and Rich Hauger, Penn, all directors.

Thirty six animals brought a total of $2,745 at the afternoon sale. Robert E. Higgins, association secretary, termed the prices paid a

Conference Finds Country Schools Can Give Driver Training by Sharing Costs

Plans to expand the driver education movement intensify in the nation's rural areas, where it is weakest because many small school districts feel they cannot afford courses in safe driving. Their high schools are under way following the 11th annual driver education breakfast conference during the recent national safety congress at Chicago.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies and New York University's center for safety education, which was founded and is largely supported by the association, was the second annual conference of the driver education movement. It was highlighted by reports of two states which have begun to solve the problem in rural sections by introducing a cooperative "circulating course."

Several adjoining counties or school districts would participate in such a plan.

Driver education administrators of 31 states who attended the breakfast were offered this cost-sharing plan as one means of providing training in safe driving to thousands of small high schools comprising most of the 57 per cent of the nation's schools which still do not offer such courses.

Future progress of the driver education movement depends largely upon consolidation of such training in rural areas, the conference was told. Several speakers emphasized that the important factor of cost has held back the establishment of safe driving courses in the curriculum of most rural high schools. But when two or three schools, or as many as five, share the expense of starting a course that rotates among the cooperating schools, they said, training in safe driving can be afforded by any rural community, no matter how small.

The new trend of sharing costs of driver education courses in country districts was reported by Pennsylvania and Iowa. Ivan Eichman, Pennsylvania's state supervisor of driver education, told more than 100 state representatives and police officials participating in the forum on the problem that several counties in that state had begun to share costs of providing teachers, materials, training vehicles and other items in order to place the program within the reach of students and community pocketbooks.

Dr. Herbert J. Black, director of NCW's center for safety education, said the present chances of high schools in some states adding driver education courses are about one in ten, unless drastic methods are used to expand the movement to reach the remaining 48 per cent of the eligible students who do not get training in safe driving.

Dr. Black, who has been identified with driver education since its earliest beginnings in the thirties, said "Skills of the Road" courses in 19 high schools in Bergen county, N. J., were among the very first in the nation to teach safe driving to students. After a slow early growth through the late thirties and the World War II period, he said, the movement experienced rapid expansion under the national driver education award program sponsored by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies. By 1935, local regulations in driver education courses had grown to 782,081 students in 8,553 U. S. public high schools, Dr. Black pointed out.

Hank Has to Cough up Reward Offered for Fool-Proof Camera

By HENRY McLEMORE
 In 1943 I offered a reward of one million dollars to the first person to come up with a foolproof camera. My foolproof, I meant a camera that (1) would give at least three pictures of an event in which the user took a picture. (2) didn't require an extra camera. (3) cost no more than a dollar. (4) was a value of extra equipment. (5) was in-law proof. (6) was not to be used without using a wash-your-mouth-out word.

I was quite a bit short of having one million dollars in my savings account when my Christmas card was thrown in when I made the offer, but I had no dreaming that it ever would be earned.

I announced the award in Agria, Idaho, just after I saw the developed results of some snaps I had taken of the 7th March. They were sharp prints all right, but the film was nowhere to be seen. I figured then and there that my foolproof camera, like a perpetual-motion machine, was just a dream and that I would have to make do with a million, or 60 million dollars reward.

Now, so help me, it looks as though I am going to have to pay my reward. I named Edwin Elston. If my early tests of his camera are all they seem to be, Elston's head is beating all over my house, not to mention mattresses being ripped open, buried fruit jars dug up, sofa cushions broken, drawers and coat closets turned inside out, and vases smashed.

This camera not only is so simple that a monkey wearing boxing gloves can work it, but it also makes the other messy things of making pictures for you.

There's no loading to it to start with, it comes as loaded as a pair of loaded dice. And there's no unloading.

When you have snapped 12 pictures you simply write your name and address on the camera, yes, the camera, stick a six-cent stamp on it, and mail it to Mr. Elston's camp.

In a few days you get back not only 12 prints all ready for hanging in your album, but a new camera all loaded and ready to go. This sort of thing can go on as long as you find things to aim at.

Not for free, of course. But evening for the camera and the prints is made as painless as possible. There is a little slot on the side of the camera and before you get it back you slip a buck and a quarter in it. That's the cost for making the new film and for the camera.

If you miss this camera on a shipping bus where it is loaned to persons to snap pictures of the see they wish. You get it along with a pillow and a spool by the side. If you want to buy a camera which launches your getting another one every time you mail it back to have the pictures developed, it cost is two bucks.

The chief term of Mr. Elston's camera insofar as I'm concerned is the loading feature. I often get confused winding my watch and the business of getting film into a camera is beyond me. I always put the spool in the wrong end and the film in wrong side up so it is as expedient as a calendar girl.

I also don't have to go and pick up the developed prints—I can

City firemen answered three calls Monday, but only one was a fire. The fire was reported at 7:25 p. m. at the John Hanley residence, 419 Fifth avenue east. Two mattresses stored overhead in the garage caught fire and burned through the shingles in several places. The cause was not known.

Gas leaking from a refrigerator at the Ralph Martin home, 442 Heyburn avenue west, brought firemen to the scene at 8:55 p. m. Firemen venting gas masks carried the refrigerator outside.

A smoke investigation brought officers to the George Hall home, 371 Heyburn avenue, Monday afternoon.
