Ike Urges Atomic Defense Program In Canadian Talk

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower called in a speech to Canada's parliament today for urgent building of United States atomic defenses against the threat of atomic attacks by Russian forces.

Laurent, President and Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced in a speech that "complete agreement on the vital importance of effective methods for joint defense, especially in the light of evidence of increasing technical capability of direct attack on both countries by weapons of great destructive power."

In his address, Eisenhower spoke of Russia as arrogant and declared "now is the time for action on our part, without delay, to the United States and Canada to protect the continent. He did not specify the nature of the attack."

A higher figure than expected because of good weather and less frost damage. But the apple and beet crop will be down 10 to 20 per cent.

The prolonged growing season boosted the sugar beet harvest to a record over last year's at the department said. Idaho's crop of 2,180,000 bushels, will be 10 per cent higher than last year's—only one bushel less than a record yield.

Engineers Told Education Is Key in Power Struggle

PHOENIX, Nov. 14 (AP)—Education is the only avenue to solving the influence of socialism and communism, Dr. T. Tucker, Jr., Idaho State college professor, said at a meeting of the Idaho Society of Professors at the Turf club Saturday evening at the Turf club.

Dr. Tucker noted that while we are talking about socialism, we are ignoring our livestock, farms and crops, we fail to take into consideration the economic situation of the farmer. He indicated that a well-rounded education is a far more desirable than a large estate, big house, library or school, black car to leave to society at a remembrance after 10 or 15 years.

Truman Slates Radio Talk To Tell All on White Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Former President Truman said today he will "tell all the facts" about the Harry Dexter White case in an "all out" radio and television address Monday night from Kansas City.

Truman's announcement to newsmen came shortly before he and his wife boarded a train for their home state of Missouri.

It topped off a five-day visit highlighted from beginning to end by a raging political uproar over White's case. Gen. Herbert Brownell's charge that Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in the government though he knew the FBI had labeled White as a Russian spy.

Truman came to New York for a couple of routine speeches and a conference with publishers of his forthcoming memoirs but, because of the controversy, found himself in the center of as much attention as when he was president.

Sometimes as many as 80 reporters and photographers met him for his daily morning news.

Under a steady drizzle of questions, the amiable gave largely non-committal replies.

The radio-TV address will mark his last comprehensive review of the case publicly.

The NBC, CBS and ABC networks said they would carry the Truman speech on their radio and television networks.

ABC and CBS said they would carry the address simultaneously on radio and television at 9 p. m. EST. NBC said it would televise the program "live" at that time and broadcast the speech via radio at 10:30 p. m.

Just before the Trumans departed about the St. Louisian, reporters asked the former President whether he thought there would be any doubts left after the speech.

13 Cows and Youth Are Bitten by Dogs As Rabies Spreads

Thirteen cows are in quarantine, a Rupert boy is under observation and the extension of the quarantine area in Cassia and Blaine counties is under consideration as the rabies crisis mounted Saturday in Magic Valley.

The potential spread of the disease fanned out Saturday when a dog, suspected of being rabid, attacked a herd of cattle 20 miles east of Twin Falls and bit 13 animals.

In Rupert a friend of a Lincoln school fifth grader was bitten by a dog and was placed immediately under medical care.

The dog was not killed but has been confined for observation.

Dr. V. V. Taylor, Twin Falls, director of the southern Idaho health unit, has ordered the dog owner in Twin Falls and Jerome counties to have their pets inoculated to prevent the further spread of the disease.

Note Concern

Rupert area cattle and sheepmen have expressed concern over the spread of the disease, fearing it may damage the livestock business in the area this winter. Heyburn, which covers the dog owner's area, held a special meeting of the village board, reported Saturday eight stray dogs already had been destroyed.

Dr. A. P. Schneider, state veterinarian, Saturday said the state will grant a request by Cassia county officials for an extension of the quarantine area. The present area covers the Rupert reclamation project. Dr. Schneider also said an extension will be granted in Blaine county if requested by officials.

Dog Held

After the Rupert boy was bitten, he was taken to Dr. H. H. Plank, retired Rupert veterinarian who has expressed a desire to help in the control of the dog owner in Twin Falls and Jerome counties to have their pets inoculated to prevent the further spread of the disease.

The dog that attacked the herd of cattle near Idaho Falls Saturday was a cocker spaniel with no collar or license. The cattle bitten belong to Charles Stephenson, Dr. L. D. Thornburg, Burley, deputy state veterinarian, said the animal showed all symptoms of rabies and his head had been sent to Boise for analysis. The cattle attacked had been quarantined elsewhere if they have contracted the disease.

Sheepmen of Idaho to Air Policy Views

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Idaho sheepmen, who have had little to say publicly during the current uproar over falling cattle prices, will air their views on price supports and other farm policies this week.

The annual convention of the Idaho Wool Growers association opened Saturday in Boise, and a group of President Eisenhower's agricultural advisory commission, G. Burton Wood, will speak there.

Export to Speak

Wood, head of agricultural economics at Oregon State college, will speak on the outlook for the wool industry for next year. Sheepmen are expected to give him their views on farm policies, he said.

Like the Calfskin

Like the calfskin, wool growers also are caught in a squeeze between rising costs and a drop in prices, according to association officials. Lambs are about 80 per cent below last year and wool is down about 30 per cent.

The association is expected to reaffirm its position on the need for higher prices on imported wools when in Jan. county government officials will discuss the wool market with Congress.

Wool in Focus

Road District Sets Election; Official Files

Only one incumbent is seeking reelection in the Twin Falls county highway district election held today at FBI Executive 2, Edgar Hoover for testimony on any claim by former President Truman that he kept Harry Dexter White in the government as a decoy for surveillance of communist spy.

Truman announced today he will go on the air Monday night to "tell all the facts" of the sensational case, which broke open when Attorney General Brownell accused Truman of promoting White to "high" office.

Such an apparent "cover-up" Brownell said, showed White to be a Soviet spy.

In advance of Truman's speech, various reports have been circulating in the government to see if the FBI could catch him, and possibly others, in any act of espionage. Other sources have accused him of being a spy who had been in the FBI office since the late 1940s.

Rep. Walter, Pa. Democrat on the house un-American activities committee, previously had demanded that the FBI chief be called to tell all he knows about the White case.

Such an appearance, Hoover would be extraordinary since the FBI director rarely has testified in public sessions of congressional committees.

Moral Question From Nature: Does Brain Power Really Pay?

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY presents a moral lesson out of nature by asking two questions: Does it pay to have a brain? Is it a handicap not to have one?

Hydra is the name of an animal which has no brain, not even a trace of one. Few things are any simpler than hydra. It is a hollow tube with only one opening. Around it are several tentacles.

The tube with the one opening is its digestive system and that's about all there is to hydra. It has no eyes and no heart. Its only equipment to fend for itself are a few nerve cells.

But daphnia, the water flea, has a brain. Furthermore, it has a heart and a fancy digestive system. Its eyes are sharp and sure, having about 30 lenses. Its coordination is marvelous. It can swim and at the same time jump up and down.

Both hydra and daphnia live in the same places, ponds and lakes. Both are so tiny you hardly can see them.

Having a brain and heart, daphnia is very active, swimming about happily and jumping up and down. Having no brain, hydra is very lazy. It attaches itself to a water plant, spreads its tentacles and waits to see what turns up.

Strangely daphnia swims by in its carefree way. Despite its sharp eyes its brain under-estimates hydra. The brain permits daphnia to brush against one of hydra's tentacles. That's it.

One of hydra's nerve cells responds to the brush by causing the tentacle to give daphnia, a shot of poison. Daphnia is paralyzed and its brain then "is no help." Hydra plunges daphnia into its digestive system and the animal with a brain becomes a dinner for the animal without one.

Hydra has been well known to naturalists since the days of the great Dutch naturalist, Anton Van Leeuwenhoek (1632-1723) who was the first to observe it under the microscope.

County Finds No Change in Repair Work

The bidding procedure followed on any county construction job applies to repairs to be made on the sheriff's office at courthouse reports L. W. Hawkins, chairman of the county commission.

Extensive damage resulted when fire swept through Sheriff Jesse Carlisle's private office and part of the county office.

An architect has been engaged to draw up specifications for repairs and the commission expects to post a 30-day notice for bids next Tuesday.

Hawkins said insurance companies have completed their inspections and are ready to go ahead with repairs. Legal technicians will not permit immediate action, he added.

He said it will be about five weeks before the repairs can be started.

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

SAVING SALES AUTOMOBILES

When Mr. Wise picked out his car He drove away all smiles

It came by rail without a man No dirt, no wear, no miles

The mileage reading on the speedometer doesn't necessarily show the miles that the car has traveled from manufacturer to dealer. Safely secured in a rail freight car—equipped with the Evans Auto Loader—it may have traveled hundreds or even thousands of miles without turning a wheel, before being placed on the dealer's floor.

The manufacturer, distributor, dealer, and the individual who eventually purchases a car realize the fact that an auto shipped by rail has complete weather protection. It is a clean car, inside and out, when it arrives at its destination.

Dispute Aired At Meeting of Valley Legion

JEROME, Nov. 14.—The dispute between the American Legion and the American Red Cross was aired at a meeting of the Valley Legion at Jerome today.

Chandler explained that the veterans administration has 14,000 beds in hospitals throughout the nation. He said this is only seven per cent of all the hospital beds in the United States. A survey made by the veterans administration showed that 47 per cent of veterans receiving hospitalization had service-connected illnesses.

It has been proved that the majority of veterans receiving hospital service connected care are men with tuberculosis, heart disease and cancer or other ailments.

The fight with the medical association covers a period of this group, he added.

Chandler said only three per cent of veterans receiving care are "old men."

Chandler said the Legion feels the position taken by the American Medical Association against the VA is economic.

Chandler was introduced by John W. Banberg, Jr., district commander, Ralph Dunn was toastmaster. L. W. Banberg led group singing with Mrs. M. J. Thompson at the piano. Mrs. William Diehl, president of the Jerome auxiliary unit, presided over the meeting.

Also speaking briefly were Mrs. Del Nicholson, Halley, fourth district auxiliary president and Mrs. Alvin Hof, national chairman of the education of war orphans committee.

Mrs. L. W. Banberg, Jr., district commander, presided over the meeting.

Following the dinner the Legion donated to the national commander's project—wooden churches to be built next to the district controlled section of Germany.

Ralph Peters reported on the all-city Halloween party and the district improvements for next year were offered. A report on the fourth district convention at Fairleigh given by Mrs. B. J. Thompson was named to investigate the replacement cost of the Legion hall for insurance purposes.

White Not Only Man Boosted Despite Reports, Jenner Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Sen. William E. Jenner, R., Ind., has charged that eight high government officials besides the late Harry Dexter White were promoted during the Truman administration despite "impressive" evidence they were communist spies.

Although White is the center of the current controversy, he was "not necessarily" the most important figure in the espionage ring, Jenner said. The eight other members he listed are:

Alger Hiss, Harold Classer, v. Frank Cox, Victor Paris, Maurice Halperin, Edward J. Fitzgerald, Harry Magdoff and Irving Kaplan. Jenner, chairman of the senate internal security subcommittee investigating the White case, said all eight "received" promotions in "the government in spite of derogatory" FBI reports.

None was fired from the government. None ever was convicted or brought to trial for espionage.

Here is a rundown on the eight cases: Hiss—The former high state department official is now serving a five-year term in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison for lying about communist connections.

Classer—Described by subcommittee Counsel Robert Morris as probably "the most important" of the spy group. "Colonel Bykov, the Soviet spy superior, got Classer to be the strong man and watch White" in the treasury department, Morris said. Hiss is alleged to have placed Classer in direct control of Soviet agents during World War II.

Fitzgerald—A member of the war production board in 1945. Former communist courier Elizabeth Bentley said he was head of an important group of red spies.

Halperin—A civilian chief in the office of strategic services during World War II, in charge of research and analysis at the state department. He is alleged to have been a communist spy contact.

Fitzgerald—Named by Miss Bentley as a member of a communist ring. He resigned from a $8,000-a-year commerce department position as a social science analyst in 1947.

Magdoff—Rose from $4,000-a-year job with the council of national defense to $10,000-a-year post with the commerce department's office of small business. Alleged member of red ring.

Cox—Reassigned as director of monetary research in the treasury department to become secretary of the international monetary fund. Miss Bentley named him one of the spy group.

Kaplan—Left a $8,000-a-year job with the office of war mobilization in 1945 in addition to other posts in his 10-year government career.

Paris—Nearly one-third of island's land lies north of the Arctic circle.

White—Resigned as director of monetary research in the treasury department to become secretary of the international monetary fund. Miss Bentley named him one of the spy group.

INEPT VANDALS DROPPED 33-0 BY PACIFIC IN SEASON'S FINALE

Tiger's Aerial Game Runs Weak Idaho Eleven Dizzy; Even Curfman Dons Suit

MOSCOW, Nov. 14 (AP)—The College of Pacific Tigers weren't so whurr Saturday but still won an easy 33-0 victory over the inept Idaho Vandals who threatened only once and were so short of manpower an end started at fullback.

Bill Jacob, who isn't supposed to be the top Tiger thrower, passed the Vandals dizzy for three touchdowns in the second half of a dull game that drew approximately 3,000 people.

Idaho coach Babe Curfman came out in sports clothes for the warm-up but, after checking the gloomy skies and perhaps his team depth, switched to a warmer practice football suit. His Vandals could have used him.

Frank Overbaugh, normally an end, opened at fullback for the Vandals in place of the injured Trip Kiffin. Fumbles hurt Idaho chances most of the day and stopped its only serious scoring chance.

The Varsity grabbed a COP fumble on the Tigers 23 in the fourth quarter but lost the ball on a game-ending Patrick fumble on the Pacific 5.

Roy Olson, one of the nation's leading passers, had a dud and the sophomore Jacobs was red hot. In the second half, he threw two touchdowns for the Vandals. Score, 26 yards to Al Daniels for another, and 21 yards to Bill Hoppe for the third.

The Tigers went ahead in the first period when Jim Tamms received a Patrick fumble on the 33. On third down from the line, Tom Fallon fumbled behind the line, one where Daniels grabbed it and carried over.

Heard didn't make a first down for 20 minutes after the start. Then, after the second COP touchdown, he threw a 30-yard pass to George Edlund to Paul Giles pass and a roughing penalty brought the ball to the COP at Edlund ran it to the 37 and then Bruce West dropped a fourth down pass to the 47.

A controversial penalty helped COP get its fourth touchdown. Daniels' runner signalled for a fair catch of a punt on the Idaho 41 but his signal was poor at best. A Vandy and kicked him down to the 15 yards were marched off against Idaho amid loud boistering.

The Vandals scored their fourth touchdown on a 10-yard pass followed. Daniels took a place kick and passed to Buck for the 10.

Bob Haines and Wayne Patrick shared the Idaho passing with Edlund. Haines threw a 30-yard pass to the first quarter but showed no sign of accuracy. Edlund's pass followed. Daniels took a place kick and passed to Buck for the 10.

Officers for the newly-organized Mountain States Ski Club were elected at a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the city hall.

A group of winter sports fans, meeting at the Idaho Power company auditorium Friday, voted to reorganize the club which had been inactive for several years.

Ben Hughes was named chairman of a nominating committee to select candidates for Thursday's election.

Members will elect a president, two trustees, a secretary and three directors. By-laws which were in effect when the club was active will be continued.

Plans for ski races, hikes and other events were discussed at the Friday meeting. Claude Jones, operator of the ski area, announced that a group of junior skiers have been working to improve the ski jump in the area and that it is now in good shape.

Plans for a certified ski school to be operated in the area were also discussed at the meeting. James Brown, ski instructor and ski area planning to operate the school.

Pumpkin-Headed Referee

Halfback has come and gone but from the looks here at least one pumpkin-headed referee will show, however, it is just a basketball bounding in front of this referee during a recent game at Madison Square garden between the New York Knicks and Minneapolis Lakers. (NEA telephoto)

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 14 (AP)—Wisconsin spotted Illinois a first-period touchdown then turned loose a terrific ground attack to upset the nation's third-ranked football team 34-7 Saturday and throw the Big Ten conference race into a three-way scramble.

Cowboys' Charlie Cole Sets New Loop Record

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 14 (AP)—Magic Valley's Charlie Cole played through 81 games without an error to set one of five new records in Pioneer baseball league fielding during the 1953 season. Sophomore quarterback Jimmy Miller, senior halfback Steve Hane, junior Carl Jerry Witt and Bob Lamphere racked up the Badger touchdowns. Young star catcher Steve Hane, however, hit Alan (The Horse) Arneche was the ground game, gaining 100 yards. The fullback, Billy Miller, plucked four conversions but went unscathed in the game. California and Oregon Battle to 0-0 Tie; Bears Lose All Bowl Hopes

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP)—Oregon's Ducks and the California Bears battled to a scoreless tie here Saturday in their Pacific Coast conference football game before 24,000. Cowboys' Charlie Cole Sets New Loop Record

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 14 (AP)—Magic Valley's Charlie Cole played through 81 games without an error to set one of five new records in Pioneer baseball league fielding during the 1953 season. The official record, compiled by league statistician William J. Weils, San Mateo, Calif., showed the Cowboy outfielder got 123 putouts, was credited with seven assists and took part in two double plays.

His perfect record wiped out the old mark of 89 set in 1947 by Tom Fielder. Other new records were set by a new catcher's record. Three of the other new records involved double plays. John Neakus, big Salt Lake City first baseman, set a new league record of 136, collecting by one his old mark of 133 set by Bill Baker, Great Falls, also a first baseman, in 1950.

Other new records were set by a new double play record for shortstop with 103, beating the old mark of 97 set in 1947 by Tom Fielder, in 1950. Ellsworth

New Hope for Polio Invalid

Bill Hopple, Buhl, is entering a new chapter of his four-year battle against the crippling effects of polio with treatment at a California institution. He was stricken in 1949 and was brought home after more than 20 months treatment in Boise in July, 1953, when this picture was taken. He and his family leave for California Monday morning. (Staff photo-engraving)

New Hopeful Phase Opening for Buhl Resident in Long Combat Against Polio

BUHL, Nov. 14—A new, hopeful phase in the four-year battle against the crippling effects of polio opens for Bill Hopple, Buhl.

He and his family are preparing to leave Monday morning for Vallejo, Calif., and treatment at the Kaiser-Kaiser Institution for Rehabilitation. Arrangements were completed by the Twin Falls county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, for Hopple to receive the expert attention given at the Vallejo institution. Financed by grants from H. J. Kaiser, noted oil and industrialist; the CIO and AFL labor unions and others, it specializes in giving physical and occupational therapy to handicapped persons.

Hopple will undergo the arduous task of learning again to care for himself and if that treatment shows promise, he also will be given instruction in an occupation suitable for him.

This new development in the life of Hopple comes after more than two years at his home here, much of that time spent in an "iron lung." He was stricken with polio four years ago this month and was paralyzed completely for more than a year.

He received treatment at Boise for about 20 months before returning here. At first he could be out of the "iron lung" no longer than 10 hours at a time.

Since then he has regained strength and uses the device only while sleeping. He still is partially paralyzed, requiring use of a wheel chair.

Despite his long ordeal he was looking forward cheerfully Saturday to the California treatment. He, his wife and their son, 8, and daughters, 3 and 17 months, will travel to Vallejo by auto, taking two days for the trip.

Earlier this year they made a trip of several days, so they have no fear of the jaunt to California.

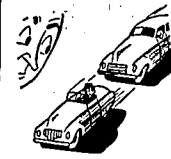

Hopple will be an "out-patient" at the Vallejo institution. Arrangements include the rental of a house for him and his family there, only two blocks from where he will undergo treatment.

Original enrollment at the institution is for three months. During that period the account is on a self-care basis. If sufficient progress is shown in that phase, additional therapy is given until a patient is able to overcome as much of his physical handicap as possible.

Hopple emphasized that all treatment expense is being covered by the polio foundation with "March of Dimes" funds. His personal expense, however, is his own.

He is extremely thankful for the help given by the Twin Falls county chapter of the foundation. He said more than $10,000 has been allotted for his care during the four years he has had the disease.

The "iron lung" he is using at his home here will be returned to the foundation's pool for use where needed. Another lung will be available to him in Vallejo, he said.

Last of Three Farm Parleys Attract Many

SHOEHORN, Nov. 14—Attendance at the third and final Lincoln county farm meeting was higher Thursday night at the Dietrich Orange hall than at the two previous sessions.

About 40 attended, compared with 20 at the Richfield session and less than 20 at the north Shoehorn meeting.

The meetings were conducted by the Lincoln county agent, the soil conservation service and the production and marketing administration.

Same Program

All three meetings featured the same general program outline. Officers of the three agencies spoke on their work with area farmers. Major stress was placed on the wheat allotment program and ways to increase acreage yield. Rules and operation methods for other FMA projects for the year were explained.

Farmers may sign up for the projects between Nov. 23 and Dec. 10, James Pace of the FMA announced.

Approval Needed

Inspection and approval by the SCS must follow the choice of a project. Farmers were warned they should notify the SCS at least two weeks in advance for the inspection service as the department is unable to make immediate inspections.

The Dietrich meeting also featured Oakley Barnard, farmers home administration official. He spoke on his department's work. Informal question and answer periods closed all three meetings.

Heroism of Buhl Airman in Japan Accident Related

BUHL, Nov. 14 — Magic Valley Halloween activities seem tame compared to the experience of Alvin George J. Page, last Halloween.

Page was with the 91st strategic reconnaissance wing in Japan assigned to night duty when a crew member of a B-29 accidentally crashed. He phoned back home, waiting for a bomb disposal team Page advised a fellow airman in detaching the bombs to make them safe.

Selecting 10 of the dropped bombs still serviceable, the men fixed and reloaded them into the aircraft, working at a fast pace so the plane could take off as scheduled.

Considering the sensitive natures the two men exposed themselves to dangerous risks. Their quick action probably prevented injury to crew members who, oblivious to the danger, remained aboard the plane.

Page, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Page, Buhl, recently has been reassigned to Forbes air force base, Topeka, Kans. He has served with the air force since May, 1951, and has had 10 months overseas duty.

Pioneer Recalls Trip Through Area

Considerable Change Noted for South Idaho by Wagon Train Pioneer of 1879

Things certainly have changed here. The first time I saw my country it was nothing but brush with a few trading posts. The memories are those of Mrs. Powell, 81-year-old pioneer who was a member of a 34-man train which passed through southern Idaho in 1879. She is living her nephew, George Scott, Blue Lakes boulevard.

Mrs. Powell is extremely alert and gives an amazing memory of her west even though she was 16 years old at the time.

She recalls there was little of this in the area back in 1879—a lot of sagebrush. Not the stuff we see today, but tall, heavy sagebrush, she says.

Her cousin, Albert Jones, now 97, living near Kimberley, sits on the train to settle on land near a creek in the Hansen area. The settlers spent several hours loading over their wagon train.

Mrs. Powell's father had five horses, a number of blooded mares, a handsome stallion and several cows. The cows had to be roped off—they were unable to go with the wagon train, she says.

Members of the wagon train "travel in constant fear of an Indian attack. Each night the wagons were camped in a tight circle to discourage attacks.

A large copper kettle and Dutch ovens were used for cooking. Mrs. Powell also made the trek westward.

Two wagon trains preceding their outfit had been ambushed and the occupants slaughtered by Indians.

The attractive pioneer woman shoulders vividly as she recalls the scene and mutilated bodies discovered at the scene of the massacre. All bodies had been scalped and bleached and those of the children had been hung by their feet from trees.

Progress of the wagon train was slow and tedious. "It seemed like we crossed a river every day," she recalls. It took considerable time to locate, fording places in the river and several days and two nights to get the wagons safely across. Once across, wagons and supplies had to be dried out before the train could continue.

Sheer canyon walls often slowed progress and wagons had to be lowered down ropes by chains.

Wagon train members, since they would never reach their destinations, she remembers.

Only a few Indians were encountered. However, a brother of Mrs. Powell caused considerable anxiety when he announced one morning at breakfast that he had traded his sister, Jennie, for 50 Indian ponies.

To his startled father, the youth explained the Indians had admired Jennie's long, braided hair and had offered 50 ponies for her which he accepted.

A band of Indians wearing long war bonnets and paint and looking "terrible" approached the train later in the morning with 30 horses to close the deal.

The father argued, pleaded and bargained for several hours before the Indians relinquished their claim to the girl in return for eight of the family's 10 brood mares.

The bargain forced the family to abandon four of its five wagons for lack of horses to pull them. The sister, Jennie, is living in Welby now.

The pioneers looked forward to the day they crossed Snake river near Payette. "It was like crossing the Jordan; we thought we were in heaven," Mrs. Powell states. It was there the settlers got their first fresh fruit and vegetables in months.

They also had four armed soldiers assigned to their train to accompany them to their Washington destination.

The family settled in Washington near the Blue mountains where they lived for one year before moving to Astor, Wash.; so the children could attend school.

The family's new home was the first cabin to be built in the area by a white man and Mrs. Powell was the first white child to attend school in Astor. All other school children were Indian boys.

Among Mrs. Powell's most cherished possessions is a photograph given her father by Abraham Lincoln when the two were neighbors in Illinois.

According to Mrs. Powell, the two men split rails together and traded photographs just like any "farmer boys" her father was a great admirer of Lincoln, she points out.

—Mrs. Powell will love to travel just two years ago she flew to Mexico for a vacation. However, she doesn't enjoy her old age—"It gets so lonely," she points out.

But she takes her old age in stride, declaring that living to be 81 years old isn't anything—a number of her relatives have lived to be 97 to 99.

Mrs. Powell disagrees with those who enjoy living in the past—"I am interested in the present and the future," she says, "maybe that is how I have kept my age so well."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Perhaps it's the air of mystery that arouses the interest and creates the appetite but there's the possibility, too, it's really good to eat. At any rate, it's popular in the vicinity of SHOONEHE at this time of the year.

"Duck soup" is its name but it doesn't look like duck, doesn't taste much like duck and doesn't look or taste like soup. Persons having eaten it say "it's delicious" and "I never did anything so good."

Japanese cooks from the Manhattan and Boston cafes at Shoonehe say it's an oriental recipe, one they prepared only for their own families up until about five years ago.

The recipe came from Japan with some of the early Shoonehe Japanese residents and was favored as a special family dish although it was so much work to prepare it wasn't served too frequently. After World War II requests for the dish began to be made at the cafes. From there on the popularity of the dish grew until today it is about the most sought after item on the menu.

The Masons probably have done more in Shoonehe to publicize duck soup than any other group or organization in the city. Their duck soup dinner, served to 100 men last week, was the fourth such annual event and men attended from all over Magic Valley.

The Masons give their meal preparation business alternately to the two cafes, planning weeks ahead to allow for the tedious preparation. Members like the ducks and take them as shot to the cafe. On the night of the dinner the Masons pick up the food at the cafe and do their own serving and cleaning up.

Duck soup is served over rice. The duck is cleaned, cooked and ground with a variety of spices and seasoning, the exact amount of rice and variety of spices being determined by the number of ducks.

But beyond that the recipe remains as mysterious as duck that doesn't look and taste like duck and soup that doesn't look and taste like soup.

Twin Falls county increased its representation at the University of Idaho this year by 15 students in the university year. Enrollment from the county increased from 109 last year to 144 this year.

Other counties that also have shown significant increases include Lincoln and Gooding in the university year. All 44 counties in the state have students enrolled at the university but only 41 states are included on the roster. Last year all 48 states were represented. Foreign countries this year jumped about 182.

Pruett Points Out Mistakes In Sky Tales

By J. HUGH PRUETT

Oregon Higher Education System

Writers and painters generally are accorded the privilege of "free-lance" writing when dealing with matters scientific. A few of the great poets, however, always made sure of their scientific references.

A friend recently called my attention to the cover of a widely-circulated magazine in which the full moon was rising at 2:30 a.m. The full moon set and sets about sunset.

In a story in a magazine in 1940 we read that "a slight moon" was hanging low in the sky in the early evening. This was perfectly all right for the crescent moon, usually called "new moon," is low in the west.

But the story states that, later at night, "the moon—high overhead now but still a little slip of a moon goes down—not up—quite early and sets below the western horizon. The poet Coleridge in his ancient Mariner has a star between the

Guarantee of Storage Goes To Elevators

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (Sp.)—Five Idaho grain storage companies received guarantees of storage for new storage facilities in a list announced by the department.

The Charles W. Barlow warehouse at Hazelton and Mountain View are guaranteed for 40,000 bushels at each location; the Lewis Seed company, 50,000 bushels at the Barlow and Lee companies, 20,000 bushels, and the Selby and Selby siding 60,000 bushels.

Warehousemen will receive payments from the government if occupancy of new structures is not guaranteed for a period of five to six years. The occupancy guarantee program is designed to stimulate building of additional commercial storage facilities, now over one-half million bushels in capacity of 18 1/2 million bushels.

First acceptances by warehousemen were announced last month. The department emphasized that the same conditions apply to the new list—that agreements are tentative until receipt from warehousemen of acceptable final plans.

Events Stated

WENDELL, Nov. 14.—The Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, Methodist minister to the Belgian Congo, will speak at a public meeting at 7 p.m. following a dinner at the Methodist church Tuesday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robinson will speak at the Rev. and Mrs. J. Craig. They will be guests at a Tuesday afternoon at the church. The event is being sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Slight Dip Seen In Construction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—The government estimated construction next year will fall only two per cent below the record level anticipated for 1953.

The census and labor departments said a joint survey shows a "mild" three per cent decline in activity in private construction but only a one per cent drop in publicly financed building.

They estimated about one million new hours will be built next year, roughly average for the past five years. A seven per cent drop in private spending on new housing is expected to be offset somewhat by a 20 per cent jump in spending for repairs and remodeling.

Safety Council Holds Meeting

GOODING, Nov. 14.—Representatives from Wendell, Hagerman and Gooding attended a meeting of the Gooding County Safety Council at the Gooding courthouse Tuesday morning.

Richard Maestas, Gooding, reported he had checked with the city officials on the subject of the shooting of air rifles in the city limits. A heavy fine is possible, he said, if anyone is caught. Complaint on the use of air rifles have been made to the safety council by various citizens.

Maestas also reported on the city dump to be improved conditions there. He said residents have been getting careless in dumping trash.

He further stated that if rules are not obeyed, Gooding may anticipate a rat infestation.

Ray Gobie reported on a safety meeting in Buhl. He said many important safety points were brought out and that Buhl now plans to organize its own safety council.

The fact so many children in the United States have lost their lives in unneeded lockovers, brought an appeal to the safety council to ask persons having discarded lockovers to remove the doors or take off the locks.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Omar Friske. The next meeting will be held Dec. 8 at the courthouse.

Visits Reported

DEELO, Nov. 14.—Yocco Parke, who spent the summer in Chicago, is visiting his wife and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Hurst have left for Salt Lake City to visit their son, Vernard Hurst and Floyd Hurst, and families.

Miss Edna Ridding have returned from Tooele, Utah, where they visited her parents.

Rows Between Committees and President Not New to History

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Presidents and congresses have been quarreling over their constitutional prerogatives since the beginning of American history.

Former President Truman's refusal to obey a summons to appear before the house un-American activities committee and answer questions about Harry Dexter White is another chapter in this long story.

Truman contends the constitution makes a President independent of congress and that neither the house nor senate can force him to appear as a witness before any of their committees unless he wants to.

And if this doctrine of separation of powers is to have any validity at all, Truman claims, "it must be equally applicable to a president after his term of office has expired when he is sought to be examined with respect to any acts committed while he is President."

On the other hand, Representatives Velde, R. H. chairman of the un-American activities committee, said he feels he was within his rights in issuing a subpoena for Truman.

The supreme court is the final authority when it comes to interpreting the constitution. Truman did not cite any supreme court decision supporting his position, and it is believed the court has never passed on exactly the same kind of question raised Thursday.

But constitutional authorities say there are customs and conventions which influence or control the relations between the different departments of government "and are therefore part of the fundamental law of the land."

Truman may have had these in mind when he turned down Velde. He said he was not only carrying out provisions of the constitution but was "following a long line of presidents, commencing with George Washington himself in 1776."

Missionaries Tell Of Life in Africa

JEROME, Nov. 14.—Life and problems while living in the Belgian Congo were depicted by the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Robinson at a public meeting attended by more than 100 persons at the Methodist church Wednesday night. The Rev. and Mrs. Robinson recently returned from Africa.

They also showed colored slides and displayed many items used by Africans in their every day living. Mrs. Robinson modeled a typical dress worn by African women. They were introduced by the Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher, pastor of the church. Fred Beer led the singing. Mrs. M. Fisher was pianist.

Prior to the lecture a potluck dinner honoring the Robinson family was served in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Kent Glat, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. Thomas P. Mahan and Mrs. Frank Beer were in charge of the dinner.

Class Meets

HAGERMAN, Nov. 14.—The Young Adult class of the Reorganized LDS church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Montgomery Tuesday evening. Invocation was given by Dale Glinner, the Scripture was by Lyle Glinner, and Ivan Montgomery, accompanied by Mrs. Lorraine Thompson, sang. The benediction was given by Montgomery. Slides were shown on the Book of Mormon. A social meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Winger.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"Workers Together With God"

By L. R. BOHLING
Pastor, First Church of God

Every Christian should assist in the work of the local church. This is not a slogan, but a reality. There should be a soul-saving atmosphere where a united effort is put to win souls to God. In establishing this task each one has a part to play. All are needed. None are dispensable.

Old Testament, Well let us turn to the New Testament and see if this is not sanctioned there. We read in Matthew 23:23: "Woe unto you scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites for ye pay tithes of mint and anise and cummin, and omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone."

Here Jesus sanctions the giving of the tenth but rebukes the Pharisees and scribes for lacking the proper spirit, although holding fast to the letter of the law. If we are not careful, we will go to the other extreme and try to retain the spirit while failing to obey the teachings of the word of God.

Let us, like Jesus, be about our Father's business. Let us work for the salvation of souls, the upbuilding of God's work in this world, that it can be truthfully said of us, "We are workers together with God."

Special Highway Road Bond Plan Is Hit by Jordan

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gov. Len Jordan doesn't favor bond issues for specific road projects in Idaho.

"If the legislature decided on a bond issue for all highways, that would be another matter," he told reporters. "However, if a bond issue was set up for one project, every section of the state would be wanting some."

In answer to a question, he said he didn't mean to imply that he favored a statewide highway bond issue.

His comments were on a proposal at a Crainston meeting at which representatives of 13 north-central Idaho communities proposed, among other things, a 10-million dollar issue for building new roads between Riggs and Moscow.

A suggestion that the issue could be backed by a $5 increase in auto license plates, brought the comment from Jordan that such an increase would bring in only one million dollars, a rise he called "minimal" compensation.

paired with gasoline tax collections, which bring in about 13 million dollars a year.
