New Year's Day Time of Thought Of Better Living

Let's all pause on New Year's day to give thought to better living. Of course everyone needs wholesome food well diversified. But sometimes we forget that wholesome also can be monotonous and dull the appetite. A little thought, a pinch of imagination, and a file of good recipes can banish dullness from family menus and make wholesome new year's resolutions.

From Mavis M. Gibbs of Richmond, Va., comes this recipe to banish monotony.

Brussels Stew (8 big servings)
One plump chicken, 3 to 4 pounds, 1/2 pound salt pork, 1 red pepper, 1/2 clove garlic, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 2 cups diced potatoes, optional, 1 cup chopped onions, 2 cups fresh lima beans, 2 cups tomatoes, fresh or canned, 2 cups fresh corn.

Out chicken as for frying. Dice salt pork and place with seasonings and chicken in a large kettle with enough cold water to cover. Bring slowly to boil, simmer until meat drops off bones.

Remove bones and add potatoes, onions and lima beans. Cook until vegetables are well done. Add tomatoes and simmer about 30 minutes. Add fresh corn and bring to full rolling boil.

Note: If the thick traditional stew is desired, cook to consistency desired, stirring at frequent intervals to prevent scorching.

Parents Advised Not to 'Manage' Children's Fetes

By KAY SHEERWOOD
Part of the art of homemaking is playing the successful hostess, not only to our adult guests but also to our children's party.

At our big-folk parties, we arrange the guest list, food and decorations to suit ourselves. But it calls for special talent to be a successful hostess when the kids have their day.

Especially, it is true in the pre-teen years when youngsters want to emerge from the safe cocoon of mother-managed parties, but haven't acquired the social know-how of the late teens.

A recent chat I had with Lucille Rosenheim, author of juvenile novels and a sensible new booklet for kids called, "Let's Give a Party," pointed up ways parents can contribute to the fun of the event.

Mrs. Rosenheim, who has a brisk, humorous approach, is unofficially party consultant for youngsters and their moms in her town and speaks from experience.

When I checked our conversation with some of my pre-teen pals, these points were considered most important:

1. Give the youngsters a clearcut budget to work with. If you don't, it's not much if it's well planned, but there should be food and prizes no matter how modest.

2. Let her determine the guest list. Remind her only of social debts she should repay. The size of her budget was long since fixed by the list. And don't use your child's party to further your own social ambitions.

3. Stick up the house, (with her help) as you would for your own party. But remove as many breakables or treasured ornaments as possible. It's embarrassing to a little girl and her hostess if a clumsy action knocks over a vase.

4. Put time limits on the party. Two and a half hours is the maximum you can expect frisky kids to party without getting out of hand.

5. Counsel with your hostess on the games to be played. Most games take about 10 or 15 minutes. There should be some active, some quiet ones. Have six or seven games ready. If your game list is rusty, check books in the school or public library, teachers or school counselors in your people's groups.

6. Greet the guests. Then be as unobtrusive as possible. Move in and out of the room. Help get things going, if necessary. But don't be an obvious chaperone.

7. Keep an eye out for the smart-aleck. Handle the wild ones quickly and with a firm hand to avoid a contagious chain reaction. A party can disintegrate rapidly if the rowdy takes over.

8. If you see cliques forming, start a game where it's natural to pull them into the larger group—games that involve choosing teams or finding partners.

9. Don't assume your adult friends will be the guests. Let the children's party unless the young host or hostess needs their help and suggests they come.

10. When you have a hand with the cleaning up, avoid unflattering comments on the mess in the living room, the grubbiness of the guests or their manners. Just assure your child that it was a howling success and that everybody had a marvelous time.

Care of Your Children
By ANGELO PATRI
Another new year is with us. What is it going to bring? We are still beset with troubles and are naturally wondering about the future. Whatever is going to happen children must be trained and guided.

But was there ever a day when we were sure of what was best for our children? We are still beset with troubles and are naturally wondering about the future. Whatever is going to happen children must be trained and guided.

But we have to face the challenge with faith, hope and courage and see it bring the best for our children. So, security for youth is seldom possible and trying to lead fast to temporary comfort often leads to bewilderment. Today's good, however, may be used to open the door to the morrow's opportunity.

The young people who have a sound education in the fundamentals, and who know enough to persevere, that spiritual growth is essential to successful living, should be on the road to success.

This new year finds western nations still striving for world peace, while athletic dictators are constantly preventing any agreement on it. These despotic rulers subjugate their people by terror.

In our nation, as well as in those of our allies, people's rights are upheld.

Bank Goes All Out in Praise Of Ike's Action as President

By HENRY McLEMORE
Right in between Christmas and New Year's day I'd like to sing a song of praise to a country banker. A sweet and sour song, like the ones you get in a Chinese restaurant. Burns you, but makes you feel good. But the all-over basis of the country is good. We blew it all away. We blew it good, too. I say we blew it because we lost our heads. The Chinese and Russians beat us. We sold for a price, and it went against all of us. But by the grace, by the losing of face in the Orient, we saved lives. We can always make a big cross mark on our credit side of the ledger for that. History will, for sure, and I am sure God will. As our President starts the new year, I have a feeling that the biggest thing he did was put up with the reds of Russia. Mr. Eisenhower is a soldier, first and last. How he must have ached, with the power he holds, to have turned the country he leads loose on the enemy. Not many men, even in a friendly game of poker, could have held as many aces as Mr. Eisenhower, and let this pot go to someone else. So let us thank Mr. Eisenhower for salvaging his instinct as a soldier, which teaches to strike when you have it. By doing this he saved the lives of boys and men who would not be living today had he not put those he led above himself. Why not make this a column about Mr. Eisenhower? Forget the lead write about "Ike." There are thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—who don't like him. That's all right, but I wonder if they ever have asked themselves if they have tried as hard for their country as he has. Would they say that a country full of Eisenhower would be a bad country? Have they proved themselves as willing to go all-out for America as "Ike" has? I had the same feeling when Mr. Truman recalled General MacArthur. As President, Mr. Truman had the right to do what he did, but when the full lives of the men are sometimes completely laid bare, who is going to prove to have been the staunchest backer of this country. The man from Missouri? Or the man he said was a menace to this country and the world? When I hear people knocking Mr. Eisenhower I either ask them, or am tempted, to ask them, several questions, and these are among the questions: 1. Could you have carried the burden he did for me, for you, for your sons, your daughters, in World War II? 2. Have you got enough sense, character and dignity, to have done what he did when all the world was looking at you? 3. What sort of a man would you have been if the load he carried had been settled on your shoulders? 4. Do you think that a man who has the respect of the world is just a lucky fellow? A fellow who owes it all to one big break? 5. Is there anything in his life, dig as deep as you wish, that would prove him unworthy of trust in the toughest spot? 6. As an individual citizen, do you think he would ever use his authority to hurt you deliberately, and with scheming forethought? 7. Wouldn't he try to help you if you were down? I happen to think we have a Man at the head of our country and that's enough for me. I might add that it is time we did. (Submitted by McNaught syndicate, Inc.)

Here's Proof, Men! Some Gals Really Do Drive Men to Drink

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 1 (AP)—Thelma Whalen, a social worker from Texas, says she has found that some women drive their husbands to drink.

Miss Whalen, executive secretary of the Family Service agency, Dallas, writing in the current issue of "Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol," lists these four types of women who help drive their husbands to drink:

1. "Suffering Susan"—This type must punish herself so she picks for a husband a man "who was obviously so troublesome that her need to be miserable would always be gratified." Suffering Susan is drab and colorless but a wonderful housekeeper.
2. "Controlling Catherine"—This gal really hates men. She dominates each and every aspect of her husband's life. "She could not possibly have married a more adequate man" than her alcoholic husband, and his ineptitude is not only acceptable but even gratifying up to a point. She takes a job to support the family and controls the purse strings with an iron hand "as a further means of monitoring her husband."
3. "Wavering Winifred"—She is the most common type of alcoholic's wife. "She appears quite capable when conditions are favorable. She is a good housekeeper, an affectionate mother and keeps her family well organized. She is likeable, good natured and pleasant. But she seeks out the weak and helpless to form relationships with. She always chooses a husband who, to her, is weak, who she thinks needs her and would therefore be unlikely to leave her."
4. "Punitive Polly"—She's the most venomous. Her relationship to her husband resembles that of a boss constrictor to a rabbit. "She is a career woman or a club woman. She either earns more money than her husband, or it is her influence and maneuvering which gets and holds his job for him or is responsible for the orders or accounts or contracts given him." She has "rivalrous, aggressive and envious attitudes" and she despises housework and the care of the children and usually succeeds in avoiding them.

Boyle Checks Smoggy Crystal Ball, Forecasts Events of 1954

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—What the store in 1954 for us survivors of the debris of 1953?

Well, your cloudy crystal ball seems to have more smog in it than mist, but here are a few fuzzy forecasts of what you can look for in the coming year:

The sale of wheelchairs will rise and the sale of diapers decline
as the population gets a bit older.

Five new sure cures for falling hair will hit the market, and 10 million American men will go on getting bald and batter. More women will begin going bald, too, as their campaign for equal rights with men moves on to a new frontier.

A restaurant chain will feature a five-cent hamburger, served with a 3-D polaroid lens to give it an air of realism.

A new breed of hunting dog trained to find a car parking space will be developed. The loyal animal after locating a place to park, will bark the news to its master and fight off other motorists with its teeth until its owner can drive up.

The 42 haircut will make its appearance, and then thousands of editorial writers will lament "what ever became of the good old two-bit haircut?" Wives will begin cutting their husbands' hair.

On Jan. 23 a man in Zanesville, O., will claim he saw the first robin of spring. The next day Pravda will denounce him as a capitalist tool, and point that the first robin of spring actually was glimpsed by a Russian on Jan. 4 last.

In the year 1952, Pravda also will recall it was the Russians who first invented popcorn, the five-cent cigar, Christmas tree lights and the safety razor.

The army will come up with a new dehydrated combat ration the food, put it in your side and fire it at the enemy—then wash the container, which contains a drug to reduce overweight, cure cupids and give a soldier a feeling of general well-being.

As to the problems of communist, international crisis, peace, weather, and the common cold (They'll be as before though) and probably just as alive in 54.

Mr. Eisenhower's major political act at the beginning of the new year will be to the public a statement developed to the greatest satisfaction by Franklin D. Roosevelt, the identical has scheduled a final public appearance before the House on Jan. 13, 1954, at 10:30 a.m. (EST) Monday after he will appear from day and will leave the next week as the spokesman of all people.

First appearance in that role on Monday evening in a TV report such as FDR gave the fireside chat. The following will be meeting with the Republican and Democratic legislative leaders and what could be less than that or more appropriate a President?

Congress will have the budget Wednesday when it meets for and let the President know reason to leave any committee he may care to make.

Mr. Eisenhower will suggest that invitation the following with his message to the this union. That message is to reach as far beyond the darling of organized Republicans as it is possible to go without ing trouble among home town bers.

The budget message and the President's economic report probably will come in the following both keyed to the idea that the administration program is in the interest of everyone.

Mr. Eisenhower is learning enactment of a legislative program depends very largely on party loyalty and party machinery.
Before he learned that he was well aware that the "hot" and strongest support available to any public man was popular support extending beyond the halls of congress.

PAUL, Jan. 1 — Fr. and Mrs.
Claire Leavitt, Fr. Ord. Calif., have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Thomson.

Spartans Favored By One Touchdown In Rose Bowl Tilt

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP)—Michigan State, led by a powerful pocket-size back named Le Roy Bolden, goes into the Rose bowl Friday favored by one touchdown to defeat the Bruins of UCLA and their all-America triple-threat star, Paul Cameron. Good weather, a fast field and a capacity turnout of around 100,000 are expected for the kickoff, 8:30 p.m. MST.

Mighty Terps Are Eager to Justify Rating

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1 (AP)—Mighty Maryland eager to justify its choice as college football's mythical champion will win its first national title in the Rose Bowl Friday in Pasadena. The Terps, who have won 10 of the last 11 national titles, are expected to play a close game with the Bruins of UCLA.

Despite the hobbling knee injury of Bernie Faloney, the brilliant quarterback who guided the Terps to straight victories and the national crown, the odds favoring the Terps over the light-but-swift Bruins held steady at 10-1.

A capacity crowd of 90,000 will be expected for the kickoff at 8:30 p.m. (MST) and millions more will radio home the game.

Furman Ace Recaptures Scoring Lead

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—Frank Selvy, Furman, the nation's major-college basketball scoring champion last year, took over the scoring lead from the first time this season by ramming home 43 points against Mississippi Wednesday night, NCAA service bureau figures showed.

Until Selvy exploded, the leader all season had been Louisiana State's Bob Pettit, who had scored 40 points in a 90-point performance. While Selvy was getting his big total in a home game at the Alabama Coliseum in Birmingham, Pettit was scoring 27 in a losing cause against Holy Cross in the title game of the Sugar bowl tournament.

It will be the 10th post-season contest for Pettit in the past 25 years.

West Virginia will unleash one of the biggest tests in present-day college football, the 100-point game, when it meets the Bruins of UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

Bowl Games Will Net Largest Pot Of Gold In History of Football

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP)—Playing for probably the largest financial rewards ever for post-season football, seven of the top 10 teams in the final 1968 college ranking three which just missed that select listing, will compete in five major bowl games.

Four lesser games, involving teams that weren't ranked nationally, are expected to total the New Year's day attendance to more than 400,000 and the total take to $2,500,000.

The total attendances and gate receipts may have been greater in the days when a bowl game was in nearly every town which had a stadium and a reasonably warm winter climate, but never before have so few played for so much. The reason—television.

Friday, for the first time, all four of the top bowl games will be carried on national TV hookups. As a result, more than $500,000 will be added to the total take.

The line and favorite in the four bowl games is the Orange bowl at Miami—Maryland, ranked first nationally, over Oklahoma State (No. 2).

On Saturday the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco, once again the Bruins of UCLA will add its contribution to the total.

U.S. Must Inaugurate New Tennis Program

MELBOURNE, Jan. 1 (AP)—American Davis cup captain Bill Tilt Friday called upon the United States to inaugurate a tennis development program comparable to Australia's Davis cup before the Davis cup becomes Sir Norman Brooke's private punch bowl.

He is the sedate, gray-haired boss of Australian tennis, who has seen his country successfully defend the Davis cup for the third straight year.

He is instrumental in the development of the pair of 19-year-olds, Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad, who put the skills under the most potent cup team the United States has produced since 1961.

Group Takes Poll on Spud Grade Shifts

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 1 (U. S. District Chairman) Fred Moore, Robert of the Idaho Potato Producers association, district 2, said Thursday the group is holding a statewide opinion poll in an effort to learn the feelings of producers on proposed changes in potato grading standards.

Moore said his district is mailing postpaid return postcards to Idaho potato growers over the state, in which farmers are asked to express their opinions on the following four questions:

"A. Are you in favor of shipping U. S. No. 1 also a potatoes?"

"B. Are you in favor of shipping 2 on minimum No. 2 potatoes?"

"C. Are you in favor of shipping 3 on minimum standard potatoes?"

"D. Are you in favor of U. S. standard potatoes?"

Growers are also asked what potato acreage they planted in 1953 and what acreage they plan to plant in 1954.

"The cards will be mailed from Boise by the Idaho advertising commission, and results of the poll will be forwarded to the Idaho and Malheur counties, Ore. potato control board, which originated the potato proposals."

Moore said that district 2 directors feel Idaho and Malheur county boards took their action without adequate knowledge of Idaho potato producers over the state.

The steps were taken earlier in December in an effort to maintain potato prices in the face of a growing potato surplus.

Tax Office Is Prepared for Return Rush

BOISE, Jan. 1 (U. S. Internal revenue service in Idaho is ready and hopeful for an early rush of income tax returns after the New Year's vacation. District Director Calvin E. Wright said Thursday.

The Boise office of the bureau will close Saturday to shift its attention to the influx of taxpayers. The bureau is expecting a large number of returns to be filed during the first week of January.

Business and professional men, he said, must file and pay their final quarterly estimate or file their final returns by Jan. 15.

Wright also announced that he has mailed Idaho employers tables for withholding income and doing so. The tables are being mailed to employers to help them comply with the new regulations.

Ex-Officials Gets Prison Sentence

WEISER, Jan. 1 (U. S. Ray Huff, 47-year-old former Weiser city clerk, was given an indeterminate sentence in the Idaho state penitentiary Thursday on charges of embezzling $685 in city funds.

District Judge Gilbert O. Morris ordered Huff to serve consecutive terms of up to 10 years each of three charges.

Huff pleaded guilty Dec. 14 to embezzling city license fees, police court fines and slot machine revenue after taking office in May, 1950. Huff resigned in September.

A city audit disclosed a total shortage of $640,730 after Huff's resignation. He was brought to Weiser from Shoshone, where he fled this month after losing an extradition battle.

Huff, dressed in a neat business suit, declined to make a statement when sentence was pronounced. He had waived a pre-sentence report by probation officers because of a crowded court calendar.

State Leader Sees Ruin in Plans for Flexible Supports

PRESTON, Jan. 1 (U. S. American farmers would be ruined by a flexible support program with free trade policies, the chairman of the Agricultural Producers association thinks.

Ben Johnson said the association advocates a national food surplus program to provide food surpluses in case of war, drought or other catastrophe.

"It would only cost the people of the nation a small insurance premium for such a program. We will recommend this in Washington," Johnson said.

Johnson said the group would meet Saturday in Pocatello to discuss the need for a practical farm program. He added delegates would be sent to Washington, D. C., to confer with Agriculture Secretary Benson and congressmen from the Intermountain area.

All of Idaho's PCAs Paid up As 54 Dawns

SPOKANE, Jan. 1.—Idaho's five production credit associations began 1957 completely member-owned. E. E. Henry, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Spokane, announced today that the first of the four northwest states to attain this goal.

Henry said the western Idaho PCA at Caldwell and the Lewis-Clark PCA at Lewiston paid off the last block of government stock in their capital structure at the end of 1956. Idaho livestock PCA, Boise; southern Idaho PCA, Twin Falls; and eastern Idaho PCA, Pocatello, started their government stock between 1954 and 1956.

Federal Aid

When these five associations began for business in 1954 their initial capital was provided by the government through the Spokane corporation, Henry said. More than two million dollars was subscribed to start these credit institutions.

At the end of 1956 every dime of that money had been repaid and the five associations had approximately two million dollars of government capital, bought and paid for by their members, and an additional two million dollars in reserves. Since 1954 these associations have advanced 546 million dollars in short-term credit to Idaho farmers and stockmen.

Observance Planned

This month the Idaho PCAs are holding the other 26 associations in Montana, Oregon, Washington and observing the 26th anniversary of the production credit system.

Special Programs

Special programs have been arranged for annual meetings at which tribute will be paid to those who helped organize the associations and who have contributed to their success. The Idaho PCA will have 75 member-stockholders with the institutions for the full 26-year period. They also will elect officers who have served since 1934.

Russell C. Robertson, 27, his active bars of first lieutenant planned on his shoulders after receiving direct promotion in the chaplain corps last week at Ft. Ord, Calif. The Jerome man was serving in company L, 1st Infantry, regiment, when the appointment. Planning on the 7th day of the year, Robertson is a graduate of UCLA, Canada, left, and Second Lieut. John F. Henderson, right. Robertson is a graduate of UCLA where he studied political science. He served a mission to England for the LDS church. He will attend chaplain school at Ft. Slocum, N. Y. Mrs. Robertson resides at 290 East Second avenue in Jerome. (Signal corps photo-staff engraving)

State Reports Truck Agreements With Neighbor States Are Complex, Varied

BY DALE NELSON

BOISE, Jan. 1.—If you have a truck and drive into the state around Idaho, there's how the new truck affects you.

State Budget Director Eugene Meyers, who represented Gov. Len Jordan in negotiating reciprocity agreements between Idaho and the neighboring states, outlined provisions of the agreements Thursday.

Generally they provide that trucks from each of the other states may operate in Idaho and Idaho trucks may operate in the other states after Jan. 1 without payment of registration fees.

But trucks from the other states will still pay Idaho's use plate fee or trip permit fee on trucks weighing more than 24,000 pounds.

And Idaho trucks will be subject to various other taxes in the five states. Here is the picture, in rough outline, as described by Meyers:

Washington—All Idaho trucks whose vehicles weigh more than 24,000 pounds will pay one-twelfth of Washington's capacity fee for each 30 days of operation until they have paid as much as a Washington truck with the same kind of vehicle would pay to operate in Idaho under the use plate setup. The Washington capacity fee ranges from $150 to $370, so the monthly percentage payments would run from $13 to $31.

Oregon—Idaho trucks will pay a complex transportation tax varying according to mileage, weight, kind of fuel and where the fuel is purchased. Farmers hauling their own produce are an exception to this tax.

Montana—Commercial trucks will pay the Montana railroad commission tax, one-half of one percent of their gross operating revenue, with an annual minimum of $3 per vehicle.

Private vehicles will buy 45 or $10 trip permits. Montana waived its gross vehicle weight tax.

Wyoming—The compensatory tax will apply to commercial vehicles. This amounts to $5 annually or 50 cents monthly on vehicles with an unladen weight of less than 4,000 pounds. Over 4,000 pounds it is one mill per ton-mile on trucks, two mills on trailers and one and one-quarter mills on semitrailers.

Utah—Idaho trucks with vehicles over 18,000 pounds must either pay the registration fee, ranging from $25 to $40; buy a 90-trip permit costing three per cent of this fee; or pay a mileage tax of one-half cent to one and one-half cents per mile.

Nevada—No reciprocity agreement to date. Private vehicles not engaged or used in gainful employment from other states may, under Nevada law, operate without payment of fees. Commercial trucks must buy trip permits for five per cent of the annual license fee, ranging from $3 to $30, or pay the full registration fee. There is an exception: For fleets of more than five trucks.

The Nevada public service commission determines how many of them must be licensed in Nevada to operate there.

California—No reciprocity agreement to date, but a meeting is planned for mid-January. Idaho has proposed that registration and collection of fees be suspended in the meantime.

Trucks of some states will be permitted to substitute Idaho trip permits for the use-plate fee if they choose. The trip permits cost one cent per mile for trucks under 24,000 pounds and two cents per mile for heavier trucks.

Idaho's reciprocity is extended to Washington, but not to Oregon. It will apply to Utah trucks over 18,000 pounds and to private vehicles from Montana. It is not included in the agreement with Wyoming.

Music will be presented by the Gooding and Wendell high school music departments. The program in the morning at Gooding will be held in the afternoon at Wendell.

Probably

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—The U. S. weather bureau forecasts unusually cold weather for most of the nation in January. It does not know for some eastern states.

The northwest and New England, however, will have "above normal" temperatures during the month, according to the bureau's 30-day outlook.

"The most unreasonable coldness is indicated in the west and central Mississippi valley," the weather bureau said.

It also forecast above-normal precipitation in the Gulf states and east of the Appalachian mountains. North of Virginia this will be mostly snow, it said.

Below normal precipitation was forecast for states west of the continental divide and in the central plains.
