TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will battle for the nomination of the Democratic party at the national convention in Chicago, according to current indications, in a contest that will rock both political parties. The outcome between these figures could determine the fate of both men.

Dewey has only to bow to demands that he resign, and he is expected to do so. Roosevelt has only to win the nomination, and leaders of the New York City and state organizations have started the movement. The Wagner-Lehman-Roosevelt faction scored a clear-cut sweep over the conservative Farley faction in New York's majority election last fall, and in subsequent runoffs of the state committee.

BROTHER WON'T EMBARRASS "JUNIOR"
 Roosevelt and his promoters scoff at the suggestion that James Roosevelt's far-off California marital difficulties will embarrass "Junior." They are now negotiating an alliance with Carmine G. DeSapio, Tammy hall boss. Young Roosevelt will only be a name on the ticket, however, whose wealth and manner of speech will militate against him.

Harmon may be dealt with in a place on the state ticket, or the promise of a senatorial nomination would be a consolation. DeSapio's clubhouse collectors of political dough year to get their hands into the money bags of the new deal-fair deal capitalist.

DEWEY'S INNUENDO—Dewey hinted at his plans in a recent apartment with New York businessmen and industrialists. They visited him in an attempt to persuade him to abandon his demand that congress allocate development of water power on the Rhine River. He would be a great deal of private interest.

A bill for private construction and operation passed the house last year. Dewey blocked senate action with a personal last-minute filibuster. He may be able to do so again at this session, though the bill has public power advocates from TVA states and the far west.

ACRIMONIOUS MEETING—Dewey's conference grew rather bitter, in view of the private-party-beyers' protests against his position. They argued that the 400 million dollars project was ideal for non-governmental private enterprise.

 Just about the time you've convinced everyone is mercenary, self-centered and thoughtless, something crops up to make you change your mind and feel guilty for ever having thought like those in the first place.

One of those little cases just cropped up in the T-N business office. A letter came in from Jerome with a little note folded together in a check. The letter was made out to one of the Jerome boys who deliver the T-N in Jerome.

The note said, "On my way to town I found this check little paper boy must have lost." It was signed merely, "Me." "Me" had not thought of reward. Unselfish and anonymous. Thanks, "Me." Maybe that little act of kindness will help restore the faith of folks for a while.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Charles Porter, one of those journalistic GARGAS of the Denver days, has suggested that someone on the order of Bob Casey should do a book of memoirs on the quasi characters who then and now fill the pages of the States and the Herald.

This refers to the galls days of Damon Runyon and of Damon's cousin, Hamish McLaurin, an all-around person who was brought into this world by the doctor who had killed a member of the Jesse James gang.

Northfield said and had claimed the "cavalier" for a student at Ann Arbor; whose Uncle Dan was murdered by Sittling Bull and who, after leaving Denver, was a great reporter in New York, a woodcutting flintstone, and a savant on esoteric Oriental cults.

Mr. Porter was in and out of Denver then and is one of the few surviving authorities on a ribald crew of gangling scamps whose weekly papers were always at least two days too late. Bob Casey already has done much of a wider canvas called "Such Interesting People" and Gene Fowler's "Remembered" is a creditable treatment of the absolutely incredible Tamen and Bonifis, a henkatonk bartender in a West Point, who ran the Denver Post and Denver Post, according to a free-style set of editors improvised from hour to hour.

As of now, Clark Kinnaird is compiling material for a book restricted to Damon's career, but with embellishing antics of contemporaries who in the Denver police, revolved (a word I use advisedly) around the police station and the Press club. I doubt Kinnaird will do justice to Denver Journalism as a whole for Damon was not the whole of it but only one picturesque figure.

"Thinking further on it, I am struck by the idea that here is a man casting about for an author to do a book who is the very best qualified of all the known survivors to do that very book.

Mr. Porter's role is lurid and lavish, he writes with genial cynicism and now that George Grell is gone, who was always a torch-bearer, anyway, and hadn't the humor to go soaping windows for fun, nobody else has the treasure of incidents that Charles Porter has. Incidentally, he insists that this tale in his life have frustrated his secret ambition of many years to become president of the anti-slavery league, by my feeling reference to the night he found reference in chocolate nut sundae in Salt Lake City and was unable to eat any more because of a denunciation of a mockery between firm Jim Flynn and Tony Capone at the burlesque theater.

Mr. Porter asked Mr. Porter about the pay that reporters got in Denver, recalling that in Minneapolis there was a time when one of the best hands in the whole country was down to $18 a week with the Cleveland Daily News, and with three children to support. That was Arthur James Pegler.

"That was a lot of money then," Mr. Porter wiles. "I was head of the copy desk and assistant managing editor of the New York Press about 1918 for $30 a week. Money was letting it die. I had been a good sheet owned by a millionaire whose name, I believe, was Einstein. He is the guy who described a his-child who is between an old-timer and a baby brother or sister. You ought to be a baby brother or sister. You ought to be a baby brother or sister. You ought to be a baby brother or sister. You ought to be a baby brother or sister.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

One day the teacher sends a note that says she is worried about Jean's latest attitude. She is not interested in lessons as she used to be. Jean is a high school and has no interest in her. Her baby sister is a baby brother or sister. You ought to be a baby brother or sister.

Jean is not ill in the sense usually implied. She is discouraged and disheartened. She feels that she has no place in the family. Big sister has her friends and interests and baby sister has hers, but she has nobody. All she hears from her mother is, "Go good to your baby sister or else."

Family affection is essential to the health of any family, but there are some things that exist in the name of family affection that are far removed from it in spirit and in deed. When the life of one child is placed at the mercy of another, affection is misnamed. Each child must have its share of all that goes on, but to more than his share if such is to grow in grace and harmony.

In some families the youngest child is petted beyond the limits of good sense and sound management. He learns to lean on others for his enjoyment, for his selfish ends and so is deprived of the inner strength that is born of self-help, of consideration for others. Surely one child should want to help the other, want to share interests, belongings and even friends, but never to the exclusion of the individual's needs. This is peculiarly applicable to the middle child, boy or girl.

The time to train a child in obedience is in infancy. It is a safeguard to his future. It is a safeguard to his future. It is a safeguard to his future. It is a safeguard to his future.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association announced Thursday that Seattle university will play Idaho state March 9 at Corvallis, Ore., to determine which will have berth in the western regional basketball tournament.

14-Bout Card Set Friday at Gooding Gym

GOODING, Feb. 19.—Boxers from Twin Falls, Gooding and Wells, Nev., will participate in a 14-bout card set for 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Gooding junior high school gymnasium.

The bouts are sponsored by the Gooding American Legion and are under the supervision of the Idaho State Boxing commission. They are sanctioned by the International A.A.U.

Seven bouts have been set with seven more to be announced at ringside.

Proceeds from the card will be used to further the development of boxing in Magic Valley.

Heavyweight—Charles Hays, Gooding, vs. Billy Butler, Boys Athletic club, Twin Falls.

Lightweight—John DeNardis vs. Ken Fowler, Gooding.

Lightweight—Thurman Kimber, Wells, Nev., vs. Bud Goddy, Gooding.

Featherweight—Tommy Holstead, Magic Valley Boxing club, vs. Orville Smith, Boys Athletic club, Twin Falls.

Light Middleweight—Harold Lloyd, Boys Athletic club vs. Jim Garcia, Gooding.

Intermountain Races Get OK

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Intermountain junior downhill and slalom ski races got the go-ahead signal Thursday night from the U.S. Ski Association.

Dr. Guy H. Wright, president of the Intermountain Ski association, said Bear Gulch, Ida., officials reported a sufficient blanket of snow covered the slopes for the racing event.

Bear Gulch is about 20 miles east of Ashton on the Yellowstone highway. The races are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Idaho State Pistol Champions to Be Decided Here on Sunday

Shooting for Idaho state pistol championship honors will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday at the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club range.

Registration for the event will open at 8 a.m. Teams from six cities, including Boise, Pocatello, Lewiston, Burley, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls are expected to compete in the meet.

The Boise team is the defending champion. Jack Donner, Twin Falls, is the defending state champ. He fired 825 out of a possible 900 in last year's competition.

Bengals Set For 2 Games With Montana

BOZEMAN, Mont., Feb. 19 (AP)—Idaho State's Rocky Mountain conference basketball champions arrived here Thursday night for Pocatello for a workout before their series Friday and Saturday nights with Montana State college.

The Bengals will go after their 10th straight win of the season Friday in a non-conference encounter. The Saturday night game will be an RMO affair. MGO needs the Saturday win to take undisputed possession of second place in the loop.

If Idaho State is beaten Saturday night, it will be their first conference loss in more than two years. They last lost Jan. 1, 1937 in Bozeman to MGO.

Coach Steve Boiko's Bengals looked in good shape, with center Rick Bauer, who has been sidelined with a twisted ankle, in action. If Bauer doesn't play, Jerry Belk or Bryce Dethlefs may be at the post with Sam Beckham and Lee Rob, forwards, and Gus Connor and Roy Eckhart, guards.

MGO coach Brick Breiden will have his regular starting five of Holmer, Holo, center; Bill Salonen, Fred Ingalsdon, forward; Vito Berra and Tom Paro, guards.

It is the eighth annual state pistol shoot.

Seven matches will be fired. They include the Camp Perry match, slow fire match, time fire match, rapid fire match, national match (state champ is based on an aggregate of these), buddy match and team match.

Nine trophies will be awarded to the various club and individual winners.

Some of the outstanding shooters expected to participate in the shoot include Donner, Tex Hendricks, Boise; Emily Davidson, Boise, defending women's champion; Marcelle Oswald, Idaho Falls, outdoor champion; Ted Ross, Twin Falls; Bert Day, Twin Falls; Steve Davidson, Boise; Kenneth McBeth, Pocatello; Ken Kriger, Idaho Falls; Jim Stierell, Twin Falls; Tom Remington, Twin Falls; Stan Pace, Twin Falls; Jerry Belk, Twin Falls and Jim Bays, Jr., Twin Falls.

Ruth Moore, Twin Falls, will be statistical officer for the meet. Leonard Tilman, Twin Falls, is executive officer. A. O. Becker is chief range officer and Grant Garban will handle registration.

Huskies Loom Definite Threat To Oregon Duck

A team that lost nine games before it solved this puzzle—and then dropped five more—looms like a monster today in Oregon's dream of a Pacific conference northern division basketball pennant.

That's Washington, which was expected to get this year but has been there and is starting to sophomore Huskies carved up Idaho's ambitions by trouncing the Vandals twice, shortened the odds on favored Oregon State by splitting a series with the Beavers and now will be host Friday and Saturday to the Webfoots of Oregon.

At the same time Oregon State will carry its league lead into Pullman for a two-game series with the cellar-dwelling Cougars of Washington State. Favored to win both—the handily, the Beavers would be embarrassed by one defeat, dismantled by two.

Idaho draws a bye and will be rooting for the two underdog clubs. The Vandals must depend upon others to keep alive their title aspirations, as they have completed their 1934 meetings with the Oregon State. Next game for Idaho is Tuesday in Pullman, its last of the season against Washington State.

Oregon, which won twice against Washington earlier in the schedule, desperately needs another double triumph to remain in the running. It will close the scheduled season against Oregon State next week.

Beeson Gives GOP Edge in NLRB Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The national labor relations board today for the first time in its 14-year history after the senate approved a GOP appointment over nearly solid Democratic opposition.

Albert C. Beeson, former west coast business executive, moved into the vacant seat on the five-man board that now includes two other Republican appointees and two holdover Democrats.

The senate by a 45 to 2 vote approved Beeson's nomination last yesterday in the closest shave for the administration in congress this year. It was also the closest majority the senate has given any appointee of President Eisenhower.

Beeson's confirmation, giving Republicans three-to-two control of the NLRB, is expected to signal a go-ahead for what GOP appointee chairman Guy Farmer has called "reexaminations" of past labor decisions rendered by the Democratic-dominated board.

Farmer says the board has been delaying decisions on cases striking at the heart of labor-management disputes until the vacancy was filled.

Pro-management

The two previous Eisenhower appointees, Farmer and Philip R. Rodgers, are regarded by some labor spokesmen as pro-management.

Ben James E. Murray, D. Mont., charged that with Beeson on the board it "is under control of elements that are not in sympathy with labor."

Union leaders had opposed the nomination.

And Sen. Lester Wall, D. Ala., who led the fight against the nomination, told a reporter Beeson's position on the board would be "a clear cut issue" in the fall elections.

Cancer Conquest Many Years Off

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 18.—Although cancer research is making great strides, control of the disease is not "just around the corner," the president of the American Cancer society told a meeting of Utah society workers today.

Dr. Alfred M. Poppa, Boise, Idaho, said research eventually will bring the answer to the cancer problem, but added it may not come for another 10 years.

He said the cancer-fighting group needs $4 million dollars a year in research grants to scientific groups, and that additional amounts are allocated to the cancer fight by other agencies.

Speaking as chairman of the Idaho commission on interstate cooperation for higher education, a position he also holds, Poppa said he hopes an agreement can soon be reached with Utah for educating Idaho medical students at the University of Utah college of medicine.

The Idaho legislature has passed an enabling act, and the 1938 session will be asked to make funds available for the exchange, he said.

Probe of Miner's Death Is Planned

BOISE, Feb. 18.—State Mine Inspector George McDowell said today that Montana mine officials are expected to investigate the death of Albert Smith, who plunged from a mine structure of the Jack Wells mine near Wallace last week.

The death occurred on the Montana side of the border.

He said he conducted an investigation of his own during a recent north Idaho trip and took a statement from the mine owners.

The Associated Press wired in quoting McDowell as saying no investigation would be made.

General Believes Red Offensive in Far East Stopped

HANOI, Indo-China, Feb. 18.—France's supreme commander in Indo-China said today he believed the communist offensive in North Laos had been "stopped."

Gen. Henri E. Navarre said the communist-led Viet Minh is close to having attained maximum force. Few clashes broke the unusual calm along Indo-China's war front.

French pilots hammered at red positions northeast of Dien Bien Phu, French stronghold 180 miles west of Hanoi.

Brief skirmishes between red guerrillas and Franco-Lao troops beyond the defense line of Luang Prabang, royal capital of Laos, resulted in a retreat into the jungle by the rebels.

Suit in Court Seeking $445

Joel May Jones seeks a $445 judgment in an answer and cross complaint against Mr. and Mrs. Houston H. Covington in an action filed in district court here Thursday.

Her suit is an answer and cross complaint to an action filed against her by the First Federal Savings and Loan association.

Also named defendants in the suit were the Covingtons and C. A. Parrott and Anne E. Parrott.

The firm brought the action over alleged default on a note by the Covingtons, asking for a judgment, foreclosure of mortgage and sale of property.

The cross complaint claims she holds a note and mortgage on the disputed property and the Covingtons have failed to pay the $445 balance due on the note.

She asks the court to award her judgment after the judgment sought by the loan firm has been satisfied. She also asks the court to bar the Covingtons from any further claim on the property.

Beck and Benoit are her attorneys.

AMA Leader Believes Private Insurance Can Meet Problem

By PAUL SOUTHWICK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Now far should the government go to bolster private health insurance as protection against doctor and hospital bills for U. S. families?

President Eisenhower has proposed a $25-million-dollar federal re-insurance plan to help private insurance companies expand coverage to chronically ill and others not now adequately covered.

The American Medical association has not taken a stand on the President's proposal. But Dr. Edward J. McCormick, AMA president, said he thinks private insurance companies can handle the problem "if they are let alone."

McCormick said the President's program might cost "a couple of billions" in a decade "and some private insurance companies might go out of business."

Chairman Charles A. Wolverton, R. N. J., of the house commerce committee has introduced a federal re-insurance bill.

Under Wolverton's bill, the government would guarantee benefits of acceptable health insurance groups. It also would pay all hospital and medical bills above $1,000 a year for any single subscriber.

That would help those hit by chronic illness.

Wolverton also would increase premiums paid by the subscribers. His bill would levy a tax of two percent on gross receipts of an insurance plan to finance the federal re-insurance.

If that wasn't enough, congress would appropriate the difference. At that point, presumably, this plan would become a "subsidy." The AMA objects to any subsidy proposals.

A. Van Sternwyk, chairman of the government relations committee of the Blue Cross commission, said he doesn't know how federal re-insurance would work.

He warned, however, that private insurance groups, induced by federal re-insurance to extend coverage to persons now ineligible, might have to boost their premium rate. That, he said, would put them at a price disadvantage with non-reinsured competitors.

Henry J. Kaiser, west coast industrialist, and other advocates of group practice health service plans have requested long-term, interest-bearing, repayable government loans to help get self-supporting group practice plans going throughout the country.

Report Notes Cut in Idaho Stock Values

BOISE, Feb. 18.—Idaho's livestock population increased 2 percent during 1937, but the total value of the state's farm animals and poultry dropped 17 percent, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

Cattle accounted for the population gain, with all other classes of stock taking a loss.

Record for Cattle

Ranches and farms held a record estimated 1,233,000 head of cattle this Jan. 1, the department said. This exceeded by 48,000 the previous record set Jan. 1, 1933.

Sleep numbers decreased 39,000 during the year for the third lowest total in 24 years of record-keeping—1,074,000. The number of horses, continuing a steady decline, hit the lowest point since 1897.

Chickens Increase

Chickens increased 2 percent but were 20 percent below average. Turkeys totaled 11,000, the smallest figure since records began in 1929. Most are marketed shortly before year's end, however.

The cattle count increased in every class except beef heifers and steers. Milk cows gained 10 percent, the largest increase in any state. Beef cattle increased sharply for the sixth consecutive year.

Sheep Decrease

Both stock sheep and sheep on feed decreased in numbers. Ewe lambs declined sharply for the second straight year. But ewes were at the same level as last year—837,000 head.

All hogs except sows and gilts dropped considerably.

The Jan. 1 total value of livestock, including poultry, was estimated at $10,814,000, slightly greater than the 1937 average of $10,823,000.

Rupert to Extend City's Fire District

RUPERT, Feb. 18.—Expansion of the city fire district area was planned by Rupert city council Tuesday night. The present district included only the blocks in the business square.

Councilmen authorized City Chief Roy Cowell and City Attorney Sherman Bellwood to present an ordinance at the next council meeting to extend the boundaries approximately one block in each direction.

After reading an application from Wendell Johnson asking that his five-acre tract be annexed by the city, the council tabled the matter until a definite policy of annexation is established.

Parking Fines

A total of $27 in bonds for parking violations was collected by city police Thursday.

Posting $2 each for improper parking were Al Hieb, Ernst Egan, John Qualls (two), L. S. Shurtleff and W. L. McCormick.

Posting $1 each for overtime parking were Orville McGowan, Mrs. George Emmens, Joe Prater, Mrs. Velma Brandt, Mrs. Ann Beard, Walter Gladi, O. J. Bohne, Arthur Ballinger, Al Sharp (two), Mrs. M. W. Hendricka, C. D. Hewlett, Bob Daley, Cecil E. Jones and Earl Paulkner.

Ike Aide Appeals For GOP Support At Next Election

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—President Eisenhower's aide, Sherman Adams, said last night that unless a Republican congress is elected this fall the nation could be "turned back" once more to the spending spree and political chaos of Democratic control.

Adams made an appeal for Republican votes in an address before the American Paper and Pulp Association.

The No. 1 assistant to President Eisenhower did not use the word "democrats" or "democratic party" in his 4,500-word speech. However, he referred to the Truman and Roosevelt administrations as "two abnormal decades."

During those decades, he said, the government suffered a decline in standards of honesty.

"You and the rest of the people of this country now have a choice," Adams said. "If the program of Eisenhower is adopted with enthusiasm by the congress, with the popular support it deserves, the next congress will be composed of a majority of the President's party and in support of his principles."
