Speaker Says Traffic Death Rate too High

An estimated 400,000 Americans will be killed in traffic accidents within the next ten years, declared Lewis L. Brown, Boise, safety engineer, and featured speaker at the weekly meeting of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club Thursday noon at the Legion hall.

Idaho's highway death toll for 1937 was 188 dead—25 of which were in Magic Valley, he said. Brown added that 11 traffic deaths have been recorded in Magic Valley in the first three months of 1938, 57 per cent more than for the same period in 1937.

The traffic accident death rate for Idaho is 33.6 deaths per 100,000 population, far above the national average, Brown said. To combat the problem, he recommended a 10-point plan.

First, he advised an analysis of traffic safety problems; second, better and "tougher" driver licensing. Third, improved law enforcement in police and traffic courts; fourth, more rigid control of speed; fifth, development of driver training programs in high schools and clinics to teach old dogs new tricks; sixth, uniform signs and signals on a national scale; seventh, a law requiring mechanical inspection of vehicles to get out-of-date vehicles off the highway.

Eighth, he recommended continued use of the best principles of highway engineering; ninth, stepped up use of mechanical devices and chemical tests with their acceptance in court to combat drunken drivers; and tenth, expanded public support of highway safety.

Brown complimented the Twin Falls police department for taking the lead in traffic law enforcement, particularly its jaywalking problem. He warned the problem is not child's play and "if we don't lick it, it will lick us." He closed by showing a traffic safety film.

Howard Gillette, police chief, and Lieut. Clark Hand, state patrolman, were guests of the club.

Charles Allen, club president, announced several members of the club will attend a Kiwanis workers' conference in Burley this evening.

It was announced the Twin Falls Kiwanis club will sponsor a trip of the high school a capella choir to Rupert Tuesday.

Jury Ponders Its Ruling for Damages Suit

A district court jury retired at 11:20 a.m. Thursday to deliberate on a verdict in a $23,719.44 damage suit resulting from a local automobile accident.

Trial of the action brought by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Perkins against Mr. and Mrs. Price Nash, both Twin Falls, began Wednesday morning. Case for the defense was completed Thursday morning with the testimony of John McLaughlin and Clifton E. Sharp, city patrolman. Mrs. Perkins appeared on the stand briefly as a rebuttal witness.

Immediately after testimony was completed, Defense Attorney Leonard Jacob moved for a directed verdict but Judge Hugh A. Baker denied the motion.

Arguments by the attorneys and instructions by the court ended the case with the exception of the jury's deliberations and verdict.

Sharp, who investigated the accident, was first to take the stand Wednesday. He was followed by Mrs. Constance Leiser, C. A. Perkins, husband of the plaintiff, and Nellie Soper, who lived near the scene of the accident.

Testimony by Beverly J. Timm, driver of the car that collided with Mrs. Nash's car, Margaret Perkins, the plaintiff, and Dr. V. L. Knight, who treated Mrs. Perkins, concluded the Perkins case.

Mrs. Nash, the defendant; Mrs. Ken Chidister, her sister, and Price Nash, her husband, appeared as witnesses for the defense, before Judge Baker adjourned the trial to 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Jurors are D. Jean Day, Earl Potter, Mrs. H. A. Salisbury, Mrs. Robert Haller, E. H. Geyer, Mrs. Grace Wegener, Frank L. Atkins, C. E. Sweet, Lorenzo Selays, Mrs. Elva Bartlett, Leslie W. Hyde and Mrs. L. L. Langdon.

England Rejects Reds' NATO Bid

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden rejected today Russia's bid for membership in the North Atlantic treaty organization. He said the Soviet bid was ineligible because it has failed to make clear it is "now willing to practice" the requirements of membership. Eden said these requirements are "the principles of individual liberty and the rule of law."

He told the cheering house of commons the west will not turn its back on NATO "for the sake of new agreements" under the Soviet's latest diplomatic maneuver.

Idaho Water Projects Get OK on Funds

construction and rehabilitation, approving $114,479,700.
Disallowed were these requests: Pueblo, Colo., $10,000; Carlsbad, N. M., $300,000, and Missouri-Southern diversion, Mont., $605,000.

The economy-minded committee allocated nearly 59 million dollars from this total budget for the interior department, cutting heaviest into requests for reclamation and territory.

Committee Cites Fiscal Needs
Declaring there is an "urgent need for conserving dollars to improve the federal government's fiscal position," the committee recommended appropriations of $363,360,989 to run the interior department during the year beginning July 1.

This amounts to a 14 per cent cut in the $422,136,430 requested for the coming fiscal year and a 17 per cent reduction under the $434,624,000 appropriated for interior for the current year.

Bonneville Funds Cut
The request of Bonneville power administration for $35,800,000, compared with $44,870,000 appropriated for this year, was reduced to $23,115,000.

"While the reduction is substantial," the report said, "the committee has expert engineering assistance in determining that the items deleted and the others which have been substantially reduced will not affect the ability of the administration and the northwest power pool to serve the expected loads during fiscal 1939.

Unit Costs Tamed High
"A principal concern of the committee with respect to the Bonneville construction program is that the unit costs on a number of its facilities appears to be considerably in excess of costs of private utilities for comparable work."

Disallowed were fund requests for the Bellingham substation, The Dalles area service, Oregon City-Orem, Coos Bay area service, and the Bonneville line and McNary-La Grande line.

"Overdesigning" Rapped
The committee was unfavorably impressed with what it termed the "reclamation bureau's general practice to overdesign structures and facilities."

The group said in its report that nearly 20 per cent of the construction-rehabilitation program was "for personal services" which "imposed unnecessary engineering and supervision costs" on water and power users.

Church Wipes Out Mortgage

GOODING, April 1—Gooding Methodist will go to church Sunday in a building that is completely their own. The mortgage on the structure was burned during ceremonies Sunday that ended a week-long celebration. The edifice, valued at $125,000, was consecrated on April 15, 1931, shortly after it was completed.

Bishop A. Raymond Grant, presiding Methodist bishop in the Portland area, dedicated the church last Sunday afternoon. Preceding the mortgage-burning ceremony a dinner was served to nearly 400 members and friends.

The history of the church was given by A. W. Stone. In January, 1850, the Rev. Cecil Hannan was assigned and on April 27, 1850, about 500 members and friends attended a dinner in the rough-finished building. The board of home missions and church extension made a gift and a loan and the building project was carried through with the cooperation of the building committee which included A. C. Thompson, Ralph Faulkner, R. W. Day, Charles Goo, Fred Hendrickson and Harold Bright.

In June, 1932, the Rev. George Allen was appointed pastor and under the direction of Dr. Wesley Miller the final campaign to clear the indebtedness to the board of missions was successful. Dr. Miller has led the fundraising campaigns for each of the later drives.

The Jerome Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution similar to that adopted by the Glenns Ferry group, and Carra said a third has been approved by the Mountain Home chamber.

Taking an opposite stand, residents of Coeur d'Alene at a public hearing Friday voted unanimously in favor of the plan for through highways to bypass communities.

The Glenns Ferry chamber also asked Rich to call a public hearing on the matter.

"We have not been dealt with according to law insofar as a public hearing is concerned," Carra said.

Federalists Deny State DAR Claim

IDAHO FALLS, April 1 (AP)—Persons who think that the goals of the United World Federalists would threaten America's sovereignty are either uninformed or misinformed, leaders of the international region of the United World Federalists said in a statement Wednesday.

Dr. Drachy Migel, Idaho Falls, regional chairman of the federalists, said: "The United World Federalists, vice chairman and a physicist for the atomic energy commission, and the Rev. Ray E. Short, Salt Lake City, regional field director of the group, made the statement in regard to the criticism given the federalists by an executive of the Daughters of the American Revolution Saturday.

They continued by saying that the federalists want a strengthened United Nations which could keep Russia and all nations from possessing or using weapons of aggression and destruction. Only in a world free from war and the threat of war, they said, can America preserve and promote the principles of the constitution and the bill of rights.

Demo Solons Fail in Effort To Block Cut

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Two Democratic senators tried vainly Wednesday to get senate action on moves to prevent the schedule drop in government price supports for dairy products Thursday.

Senator Humphrey, D. Minn., told the senate that speculators stand to make great profits when the support price for butter, cheese and dried milk is cut from 99 per cent of parity to 75.

See Scandal

Declaring "a scandal is brewing," Humphrey asked Senator Knowland, California, the Republican leader, to allow immediate senate consideration of steps to void "this foolish act."

Senator Kefauver, D. Tenn., also protested what he described as the refusal of the GOP leadership to permit a vote Wednesday on various resolutions to suspend the order, issued by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, while congress works out permanent dairy legislation.

Hearings Started

Knowland retorted that it was well known that legislation is already before the committees dealing with the farm program and that hearings on it are under way.

Support for the Benson order came meanwhile from the American Farm Bureau Federation, a major farm organization. "It is a wise move," President Eisenhower and congress leaders, it said the order was "justified" and in the long run would prove less costly to dairy farmers than the present program.

Policeman in Kidnap Case Found Guilty

KANSAS CITY, April 1 (AP)—Elmer Dolan, one-time policeman hero of the Greenleaf kidnaping case, was found guilty Wednesday of lying about how he handled the ransom money.

A federal district court jury returned the verdict against the former St. Louis policeman after deliberating three and a half hours.

Appeal Planned

Dolan's attorney said he would file a motion for a new trial. Judge Albert A. Rea deferred sentencing and set April 13 as the deadline for filing the motion. Dolan is free on $2,500 bond.

Dolan helped arrest Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnap-slayers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenleaf. He was convicted of giving false testimony to a federal grand jury when he said he carried into a St. Louis police station one of the suitcases containing ransom money shortly after Hall was arrested and booked.

Gave Statement

Dolan had told the grand jury that it was only a matter of minutes before he took the suitcase into the police station after Hall and Elmer Louis Shoups went into the station.

The grand jury indictment of Dolan and Shoups stemmed from the disappearance of $303,720 of the record $600,000 ransom paid to Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady. Shoups goes on trial on a similar charge April 12.

Hall and Mrs. Heady were executed for the kidnaping and slaying of the Greenleaf boy.

Games were conducted by Vern R. Thomas, Richfield, and square dancing by Francis Stohl, Shoshone. Mrs. Lester Shoups and Lareda Coates, Richfield, were hostess.

Sheep Killed Forest Board Studies Fund

RUPERT, April 1—The county's third sheep killing by dogs this spring was reported this week by Frank Jugard, one mile south and two miles west of Rupert.

Within the last six weeks dogs also have attacked sheep owned by W. C. Paul and Angus MacRae.

Eight ewes and lambs were killed at Jugard's place Tuesday night. The dogs killed 12 lambs at MacRae's place. The rabies quarantine still is in force here.

Forest Board Studies Fund

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—Idaho's state forestry board sat down today to a study of the effect on Idaho's forests of drastic cuts proposed in the administration's spending budget.

State Forester Roger L. Guernsey said he would outline the cuts at the semi-annual meeting of the board, which consists of most of the state's administrative leaders as well as representatives from industry and education.

If the budget slashes go through Guernsey said, Idaho will lose $900,000 in federal aid for tree planting, $100,000 in funds for blaster rust control, and an additional amount in government aid for fighting fires.

Guernsey has asked Idaho's congressional delegation to try to restore the cuts, but he said the board might not be asked to take the same stand.

Other matters on the agenda include an outline of the soil conservation service reorganization by Neil Irving, state soil conservation director, and a talk on spruce budworm control in the Boise national forest by K. D. Flok, forest superintendent.

Third Atom Sub, Huge Carrier Set

WASHINGTON, April 1—A third atomic submarine and a third 65,000-ton aircraft carrier of the Forrestal class are included among 30 ships the navy will start building during the year starting July 1.

Rear Adm. B. E. Manseau, acting chief of the bureau of ships, outlined the construction plans to the house armed services committee. He said the new construction will be done by private shipyards because the navy wants to keep "a nucleus of private yards skilled in the construction of large combatant types."

The nation's first atomic submarine, the "Nautilus" which was launched early this year, should be completed soon, Manseau said. A second, the "Sea Wolf," is under construction.

POCATELLO, April 1—Almost half the students attending Idaho State College work at part time jobs, says Mrs. Anna Nunn, registrar.

She said a survey of 1,339 students showed 48 per cent work—49 per cent of the men and 39 per cent of the women.

The median income from the part time jobs is $70 per month for men, and $60 for the women.

Threat Seen for Public Power in U. S., Meet Told

TACOMA, Wash., April 1 (AP)—Alex Radin, general manager of the American Public Power association, told the organization's northwest group Wednesday that public power is threatened in many areas.

The Washington, D. C., executive declared that private utilities are waging a campaign of unprecedented magnitude against public power at national and local levels.

He addressed the opening session of the Northwest Public Power association's three-day convention.

About 350 delegates are attending from Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Alaska.

The executive board recommended to the convention a $1,000 contribution to the Hells Canyon association which favors one big dam in the Snake River canyon.

Bath Complicated For Youngster, 4

ST. LOUIS, April 1 (AP)—A bath was no simple affair for 4-year-old Sherrylyn Townsend of suburban Berkeley last night.

She put a finger in a steel cap covering the bathtub overflow drain and couldn't get it out.

Her parents called police. As Sherrylyn wept, they tried for half an hour to loosen the finger with grease. Next came a plumber. He got the cap off the tub after 15 minutes, but it still was on the girl's finger.

Doctors finally removed the cap at a hospital.

Divorces Granted

RUPERT, April 1—Two divorces were granted here Saturday by District Judge R. W. Beckwith.

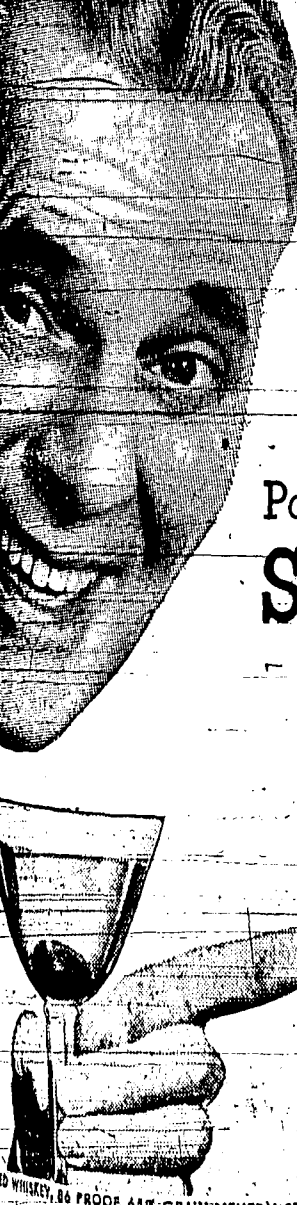

Ardis Bonwell, Patit, was granted a divorce from Lewis Bonwell. He did not appear. The decree stated that the plaintiff was to receive $50 a month alimony and custody of five minor children.

William Irwin was granted a divorce from Cheddie Irwin. Both are from Burley. A prior agreement had been made on a property settlement. No minor children were involved.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
WASHINGTON - President Eisenhower's mumbler and nonvocal tolerance of Sen. "Joe" McCarthy will not suffer from comparison with FDR's appeasement of the late Huey Long, in the opinion of Senate veterans familiar with the relations between Roosevelt and the "Kingfish." Yet "Kingfish" current critics, ranging from Adlai E. Stevenson to new dealish commentators, never indicted FDR for avoiding an open break with his tormentor.
Long denounced Roosevelt privately and publicly, including his policies and his cabinet members, far more viciously and regularly than McCarthy has assailed Eisenhower. He demanded a formal investigation of James A. Farley, then postmaster-general, and of Harry Hopkins, then WPA administrator. He charged them with wastefulness, political favoritism and graft.
He toyed with plans for a third, anti-Roosevelt party, scaring the daylight out of the regular Democrats. At one time it was estimated that Long would poll about 8,000,000 votes as a presidential candidate, possibly enough to defeat FDR. Long consorted with every Roosevelt enemy in the abortive effort—Father Coughlin, Gerald L. K. Smith and other Roosevelt haters.
ACCUSED HUEY LONG—FDR clamped down on patronage and public funds for Louisiana, which Huey said he would not accept anyway. Treasury agents hunted at income tax irregularities and mismanagement of federal money by Long and his associates. But the White House avoided an open rupture with Long, and deliberately, FDR feared to antagonize Huey's "poor man" following, which apparently numbered millions suffering from the depression.
After Long's assassination, a few of his aides, although not the important figures, were indicted. Upon Long's disappearance, however, FDR quickly made peace with the remnants of the Long machine, pouring out jobs and money so lavishly and unquestioningly that it was characterized as the "second Louisiana purchase."

KINGFISH STRUCK AT FREEDOMS—Long was regarded as a far more dictatorial and potentially dangerous person than McCarthy. He controlled the votes of several senators from adjacent states who feared that he might campaign against them. Inside and outside the senate, he struck at freedoms as basic as those McCarthy is accused of attacking. He raised cruelly false hopes among millions.
Making this comparison does not necessarily constitute a defense of Long or McCarthy, or a criticism of the Roosevelt and Eisenhower reaction to these "hairbrains." It simply records the historical fact that Presidents, like so many littler men, sometimes feel compelled to obey the Biblical injunction of turning the other cheek.
It also casts some doubt on the sincerity of the new deal politicians and commentators, and on the pinkish fringe, who never condemned FDR for setting this precedent for dealing with a disturber of the political peace.
Their main objective, in the opinion of the White House and Republicans on Capitol Hill, seems to be the destruction of the GOP over a personality and issues which, like Long and his tame "Every man a king" will eventually pass from the stage. It may also be added that these voluntary advisers never criticized when Truman was denouncing the communist pursuit as a "red herring."

CLINGS TO IDEA ON TAX REDUCTIONS—Harlow H. Cuttice, General Motors president, has not changed his mind on tax reductions in precisely the way it was recently reported here.
When Rep. Daniel R. Reed of New York proposed a 10 per cent cut on individual incomes last year, Cuttice favored it, provided the excess-profits tax was permitted to expire as originally scheduled for June 30, 1948. He thought that corporations and individuals should be treated alike. He also believed that the joint reductions would stimulate business activity.
Now that the excess-profits tax has ended, he feels that the 10 per cent reduction is fully justified. Incidentally, he is optimistic for 1948, as announcement of his firm's billion-dollar expansion program demonstrates.

SHOULDN'T BE GIVEN AWAY
The essence of diplomacy is skillful bargaining. There is nothing shameful about this—unless a shameful bargain is struck. A compromise, partially unsatisfactory to all concerned but achieving a solution tolerable to each, may in some cases be the only rational alternative to a war that promises either stalemate or unlimited holocaust.
But bargaining requires bargaining power. The negotiator must have something to trade, something at least to hold out as a lure to draw forth his opponent's maximum concessions. It appears that some American senators do not recognize this truth; they are pressing for an assurance that under no circumstances will the United States ever recognize communist China.
Now, this newspaper agrees that such recognition should not be the price of a Korean peace. That would give the appearance of permitting Peking to shoot its way into the United Nations. Even the trading of recognition for Peking's promise to stop supplying the Indo-Chinese rebels with arms would be open to this same objection—though such a bargain would probably be as unattractive to the communists as to the United States.
But to take a rigid public position, even before Secretary Dulles goes to Geneva, that any suggestion for a Far Eastern settlement that includes recognition of communist China would be totally unacceptable to the United States is to deprive Mr. Dulles of virtually all bargaining power—and to hand the communists a huge propaganda victory.
For as any American politician should know, if the reds are certain the United States will not yield on this point they can offer endlessly attractive concessions in return for recognition, secure in the assurance that their bluff will not be called. Then before the whole world they can gain credit for having offered peace and a sweetly reasonable settlement; only to be turned down by Mr. Dulles on the single issue of recognition—on which most of the world already disagreed with the United States.
If, on the other hand, they are not sure whether their best offers may not be taken up by the American negotiator, they will be forced to offer no more than they are willing to see accepted. This may mean that the terms they propose will be no more acceptable to the transparent "concessions" offered by Mr. Molotov at Berlin—but at least the propaganda victory will then be America's rather than Moscow's or Peking's—Christian Science Monitor.

AND NOW FOR THE FACTS
The senate subcommittee out of which the McCarthy-army row arose has made an excellent start toward getting to the heart of the matter.
The subcommittee, of which Senator Joseph R. McCarthy is chairman, will make its own investigation, but McCarthy will not be in charge and Roy Cohn, subcommittee counsel, will be sidelined. This latter is a very necessary step, since McCarthy and Cohn figure prominently in the charges and countercharges which have been flying. Investigators cannot very well investigate themselves.
McCarthy and Cohn have accused the army of "blackmail." The army, in a long report, has alleged that McCarthy and Cohn brought pressure on the army to get favors for Private G. David Schine, formerly a member of the subcommittee's staff. Both sides have been very positive in their statements, which leads to the basic question: "Who's lying?" And to that we hope the hearings, scheduled to begin in a week, will provide an answer.
The senate subcommittee is in a good position to get results. It has the backing of the public and the responsible leaders of both political parties. If the subcommittee is unable to produce clear-cut conclusions, it will have failed miserably.
The McCarthy-army row has been allowed to drag on far too long. It will be a relief to the public to get the unvarnished facts—Salt Lake Tribune.

DREAM COME TRUE
Fordham university recently bestowed an honorary Doctor of Laws degree on Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. It was his first college diploma. In accepting it, he declared that "This ceremony, coming after much of the labor of a lifetime, fulfills a long-cherished and secret ambition of boyhood."
Discussing the American labor situation in accepting his degree, Secretary Mitchell said: "When men are free, there will always be some differences and disputes growing out of their varying group interests and their individual ambitions. This is as it should be. I hope the time never comes when labor-management disputes vanish from the scene, for only in totalitarian states are grievances, strikes and lockouts eliminated."

POT SHOTS
RESULTS
The woman phoned back to report a copy of the music had been located for that song, "Chocolate Ice Cream Cone." So it won't be necessary for any of you plantlets to be on hand to accompany the program.
Results were obtained in a rather roundabout fashion, though. A long distance phone call was thought it was from Heyburn gave the information that a resident of Twin Falls had a copy of the music. He was contacted and agreed to loan it.
Pot-Shots will have to turn this one over to the Testimonial Dept.

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.
This pooch, a female about a year old, is a cross between a bristly and a cocker spaniel. She's good with youngsters. If you hot-foot it right down to the Groves-Vet Hospital, you can pick her up for free.
This 6-year-old pup is not recommended for small children but is a good dog for older youngsters and adults. She's a cross between a wire-haired terrier and a cocker spaniel, says the owner. You can claim her at No. 15, Washington Courts. The name of the owner is Stephens.

STRANGE ANIMAL
After that last snowstorm, the one that left two inches of the whitest snow on the ground, there was a minor uproar in a certain neighborhood in Twin Falls.
A woman who hasn't lived here too long went outside to admire the clean, unbroken reaches of snow. That's when she noticed a set of strange-looking tracks. They led from the corner of her house up to the other house on the property. Further investigation showed the tracks leading down to an old chicken house too.
The woman called her husband. He, too, was at a loss to explain the tracks. By this time, the couple was getting quite excited about the whole thing. The nearest neighbor was called in on the case.
He was the one who pointed out that the "tracks" were all found directly under power lines running between the buildings. Yep, ice falling off the wires.

YOU TAKE THIS ONE
When awakened the other morning, Kay Lake yawned, said, "Guess I'll bed."
Her startled mother had to ask for that one all over again.
Then Kay reported that her older sister, Rae, had explained the meaning of the word "derive." It means "get out of." Rae informed Kay.
"Think that one over for a minute and try to explain it."

HAPPENS EVERY TIME
This happened in the Times-News newsroom. One night a reporter sitting in the far corner of the room made several trips across the room to consult the dictionary on spellings of various words.
"Then a few nights later, a gal sitting in the opposite side of the newsroom asked several questions about the spelling of words.
Offhand, there doesn't seem to be anything wrong there. Except that a large unabridged dictionary reposes on a stand right beside the gal so she can look up words with a minimum of effort!
Someone can now say something about human nature and/or people."

FAMOUS LAST LINE
"There should be about six more hours in a day."
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE
NEW YORK—There is a fascinating quality in the audacity of a New York woman of middle-age who publishes the New York Post in rolling on her tongue as it was salacious scandals which have a effect but to no millate. Innocent persons are. This woman's name is Dorothy Schiff. Although she has had four husbands to date and is known fitfully by their names.
Her paper and Westbrook Pegler her editor are currently in court proceedings against Walter Winchell, alleging that he said the paper and the editor was communist to a great or less extent. The editor is James Wechsler, who admits that he was a member of the Young Communist league, but insists that he apostatized. His wife makes the same admission and contention as to herself.
Mrs. Schiff is a member of the rich family of New York bankers of the house of Kuhn-Loeb which, in the first World War, was to the German empire as J. P. Morgan was to the British empire and France. In that figurative sense, Kuhn-Loeb lost the war and the House of Morgan won it. Both houses were, and remain, "internationalist." As to the communism of this post under the Schiff woman the court will decide.

As to the sentiments of the House of Morgan, I will say that I met the late Tom Lamont socially in the company of two leading communists, not knowing myself, that they were to be present or in deed, as firmly as I know that they were communists. But later I called on Lamont's son, Tom, at J. P. Morgan and company, and charged that his father was "working both sides of the street."
Old Tom had subsidized his other son, Corliss, for an income of $50,000 a year, after taxes. The record of Corliss Lamont, as to communism, need not be examined in detail here. Young Tom excused his father's indulgence on the ground that the old man had no right to dictate his son's political activities and beliefs.
Actually, the red political influence in the Lamont family was exercised by the mother, a quarrelsome, extravagant, arbitrary old woman who was described by a leading member of the American mission at the Versailles conference and also by an ex-President of the United States as "reddest" American in Paris at that time.
In 1907 Pauline E. Brandt, a young Swede employed by Mortimer L. Schiff, of the Kuhn-Loeb firm, was fired from his job as butler. The cause alleged, but only at a later date, was that he had written an "impudent" letter to Mrs. Schiff, the banker's wife and mother of the present publisher, who was then a little girl.
Brandt was railroaded "to prison" for 30 years and was sent to Dannemora, the "Siberia" of the New York prison system.

Ferdinand Pecora, a retired judge of the supreme court of New York county, recently told me that the sentence was in his professional opinion "absolutely atrocious." The prisoner, a boy of 21 and a "greenhorn" in a strange land, had made a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary where no burglary had been committed.
And he had received the absolute maximum although he made a plea of guilty and the theft alleged.

"Just Like Flying Furnace" Says Airman of Jet Airplane
By PAUL E. EVANS
BOISE, April 1—Capt. Chauncey Reese, training officer for the Idaho air national guard, 190th fighter-interceptor squadron, compares jet flying to piloting a forced-air oil furnace.
Both the jet and the furnace, he said, operate on a principle of sucking air with fuel and tossing a match in the firebox.
"Piloting the air force's latest hot rod stovepipes is, however, slightly more involved than putting wings on the family heating unit and taking off. Ask any 100th pilot undergoing the current jet-transition program."
It makes no difference whether the pilot is a newcomer or an old hand. He has plenty to do to "keep current," as they say in the trade.
Reese said it isn't that jet flying is tougher than piloting conventional planes—it's just that things happen so much faster the plane must become part of the flier's second nature. He doesn't have time to think about what to do in an emergency.
So the 100th pilot goes back to school for 60 hours of jet theory instruction and he studies for hundreds of hours learning the new ship from the ground up.
When the pilot is considered ready for jets he starts in a two-place T-38 capable of 500 miles per hour. Here a hard-mosed instructor teaches him flying all over again until he graduates to the faster P-51 and more instruction in formation flying and gunnery.
He's considered "arrived" when he's turned loose on a solo cross-country flight from Boise to Elko, Nev., Salt Lake City and back to Boise—500 air miles in slightly more than an hour.
The average private pilot—used to 100 mile per hour prop-driven puddlejugglers—would find jet flying a trifle uncomfortable but lots of fun providing he did it in the T-38 and had a good, competent pilot sitting in the driver's seat.
He'd want to pay close attention to emergency bailout procedure as the ground crew straps him in the ship—he's only going to have one chance to leave if there's trouble and he isn't going to have time to think about getting out.
He'd find the jet instrument panel confusing for the most part. Out of dozens of gauges and lights—dealing with navigation, oxygen supply, fuel supply, air speed, control tabs and others the jet pilot must use—the non-pilot probably could recognize the altimeter.
The first real difference between jet and conventional flying would be noted when power is applied for either taxi or takeoff. In jets the throttle is compared to the thermostat on a furnace, and it takes some time for sufficient heat to build up to move a six-ton plane.
Reese said a 100 per cent power setting at a dead stop delivers all of 25 horsepower, while the same setting at 500 miles per hour at 35,000 feet gives 35,000 horsepower.
Speed, of course, is the essential difference between the two types of flying. The private pilot, for example, would have some trouble in learning to land a jet at the speed at which a light aircraft starts its takeoff.
Rate of climb is figured in thousands of feet per minute. A jet can climb at 500 feet per second, which is 3,000 feet per minute. It takes a private pilot—just as he takes a jet—to get up to 10,000 feet in the T-38.
The major skill in the jet is to dump his passenger and another load of fuel in a matter of hours of training.

Welker Says Farm Aid by Loans Asked

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Sen. Welker, R., Idaho, said today officials of the federal home administration were drafting legislation to permit loans to farmers from disaster relief funds.

Welker said he told the FHA officials that "unless our farmers who require FHA credit can get it there will be a serious condition in Idaho within a matter of days."

"The two states worst affected by this situation are Idaho and Colorado," Welker said. "No technician of the law should be allowed to work to the detriment of farmers affected."

There will be a disaster relief fund for hundreds of our Idaho farmers and their families if they can't get a spring crop planted because of credit restrictions."

Welker conferred with Kenneth L. Scott, director of agriculture credit services, and Henry C. Smith, deputy FHA administrator.

He said they told him $3,250,000 in loans had been granted Idaho farmers and two million dollars must be made available immediately.

They said farm loan funds were virtually exhausted, Welker reported, but ample money was available under disaster relief provisions. Legislative restrictions prevent use of this money.

Welker said he would enlist the aid of other farm state congressmen to get quick action in lifting the restrictions. He said Representative Budge, R., Idaho, had assured him he would press for such legislation in the house.

Aid in Idaho Is Ruled Out

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner D. A. Stubblefield says he has received a number of requests that Idaho be declared a disaster area as a relief measure for farmers, but that nothing could be done along that line.

He made the remark as a comment on an announcement in Washington by Senator Welker, R., Idaho, that federal home administration officials are drafting legislation to permit loans to farmers from disaster relief funds.

Stubblefield said he knew no details of the proposed legislation. But he added it would be impossible to ask for a declaration of emergency in Idaho because "there is no physical disaster here."

Under present law, the privileges extended to farmers in disaster areas include low cost livestock feed and special federal loan provisions.

Stubblefield said most of the requests for the disaster declaration had come from farmers in the Blackfoot area of southeastern Idaho.

Radioactive Snow Shown by Geiger Counters in West

BILLINGS, Mont., April 1 (AP)—Radioactive snow has fallen in an area between here and Sheridan, Wyo., to the south, a local consulting geologist reported yesterday.

Chuck Hauptman, using a Geiger counter, said radiation was measured at about three milliroentgens per hour — about 200 times the amount of ordinary "background" radiation picked up by instruments. He said the element of danger in the radioactive snow was "practically nil," however.

Hauptman and another geologist, Donald Todd, said the snow resulted from a March 1 hydrogen bomb test in the south Pacific. But weather forecasters said last Friday's bomb blast more likely was responsible.

Alaska Highway Funds Decreased

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today voted $7,000,000 for work on Alaska highways in fiscal 1955, a reduction of $2,940,000 below the amount asked by the administration.

The committee earmarked $700,000 of this specifically for work on the Copper River highway.

For work on the government-owned Alaska highway, the committee allowed $7,400,000, a reduction of $4,800,000. It said the amount includes $2,900,000 for work on a dock at Seward and the remainder can be used for permanent improvements on the Seward-Portage section of the road.

Fire Deaths Are Blamed on Panic

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 1 (AP)—Survivors of the Cheakowassa school fire said today the suddenness of the blaze and panic apparently accounted for the grim toll of 10 dead and 25 injured.

The bodies of the dead students, burned beyond recognition, were all found near windows and doors. One surviving teacher said the children who ran toward the door got the worst of the flames. Many escaped through windows.

All of the victims were 10 and 11 year old students of the sixth grade. Ten of the injured were listed today as "critical."

Organizational Structure for Golden Jubilee to Assure Smooth Operations

Adoption of an organizational "chain of command" by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce to coordinate Golden Jubilee efforts is announced by Howard Moffat, chamber manager.

The new organizational structure is designed to avoid duplication of effort and set up a functional procedure to be used in organizing the many and varied phases of the celebration.

Bert Sweet, Jr., is jubilee general chairman.

Six district sub-committees have been created under the general committee to deal with problems of finance, research, production, function, music and advertising.

In addition, committees have been established to give Murtagh, Hansen, Kimberly, Flier, Buhl and Gastefer as well as Twin Falls service and fraternal groups a hand in planning the Golden Jubilee celebration.

An increasing tempo in functional organization of the Golden Jubilee can be expected, Moffat said. As in all major events, it is easy to lose control of the situation, resulting in duplication of efforts and spending, he said.

To avoid this, a materials purchasing control committee, under the direction of Clyde Green, has been created to keep in touch with the status of various Golden Jubilee events.

Four sub-committees have been set up under the production and functional committees. These committees will concern themselves with special projects, including the sagebrush parade, western melodrama, water parade and the pageant itself, Moffat stated.

The celebration general chairman will make duty assignment-responsibilities for each event.

Leo Anderson, Donald Bailey and Robert Youres have been assigned to the finance and audit committees. Plans for an advance ticket sale for jubilee events will be worked out by this committee. It also will investigate other sources of income.

Moffat said many firms have already invested in reprints from scenic Idaho magazine's forthcoming article on the Twin Falls tract and additional firms will be asked to support the celebration by purchasing special jubilee bonds.

It will be the purpose of the advertising committee to focus as much national attention as possible on the Golden Jubilee. Much already has been done, including use of gold-painted potatoes and beans to promote the event.

Golden Jubilee themes have been worked into the Mobilgas economy run and United Air lines introduction of Conair Mainliner service to Twin Falls.

Scenic Idaho magazine article reprints will come off the press April 10, Moffat said. The advertising committee expects to use about 20,000 of the reprints at the Los Angeles travel show April 15 to 25.

If possible, additional reprints will be mailed to Chamber of Commerce members and general committee members of the various Twin Falls communities as well as local service and fraternal organizations.

Moffat reported the local chamber board of directors, meeting Tuesday in special session, complimented Sweet for his outstanding work in solving production problems to date and assured Magic Valley residents and visitors they can expect an outstanding Golden Jubilee celebration.

Plan to Boost Height of Dam Endorsed by Carey's Chamber

CAREY, April 1 (AP)—A resolution was passed by the Carey Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night endorsing the proposal to raise the Little Wood river dam to increase the capacity of the reservoir by 18,000 acre feet.

The chamber endorsed the plan in the event the investigating committee studying the proposal announces it is in favor of the additional construction. The action was taken following a report by R. E. Adamson.

Pete Cennarus reported that since the army engineers have declared Carey, a flood disaster area, there still may be a possibility the army engineers will raise the height of the dam.

The chamber also went on record as being opposed to the power and communications initiative. "This action was taken following a report by Leon Jewett, Halley, Idaho Power company representative.

Cennarus reported on wool legislation pending in congress. He was named chairman of a committee to investigate the wool program further. In addition, he and Adamson and D. E. Adamson were named chamber delegates to the fourth district fish and game department meeting in Shoshone Saturday. They were instructed to support the action of the department opening to fishing that portion of Little Wood river dam from the dam to the road below the dam. Property damage was given as the reason for the chamber's stand.

Allergic

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (AP)—She was so allergic to her husband, Mrs. Rose S. Savenick, 24, testified Wednesday in winning a divorce, that she would break into a rash at the mere sight of him.

"My face became so swollen once that I could hardly see for about three months," she said.

She charged Jerome D. Savenick, 30-year-old attorney, with "abusive, belligerent and offensive treatment."

Award Given For Workers

RUPERT, April 1—Five-year certificates for outstanding cancer program work were presented to six Minidoka county workers at the annual cancer training school here Tuesday at the Episcopal guild hall.

Mrs. Claude Chugg, Mrs. Marvin Reynolds, Mrs. Earl Eppers, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Elmore and Dr. A. F. Dalley received the five-year certificates.

Mrs. Elmore, chairman of the schools division, said Minidoka county has been somewhat of a "guinea pig" among the counties in this division. Minidoka and Ada counties have been used as test counties in high schools, resulting in the cancer follow now distributed to schools throughout the state.

Other speakers were the Rev. William C. Johnson, information director, and Dr. C. M. Enriore, who discussed present methods of treatment.

Mrs. Chugg explained uses made of research funds. Mrs. Marvin Reynolds, service department chairman, explained the society's help program and Mrs. Melvin Parr said April 24 will be a tag day in the county, with the Camp Fire Girls assisting.

Visitors were Mrs. Harry Elcock and Mrs. Darlene Degenhardt, both Twin Falls.

FRESH ISLE, Maine, April 1 (AP)—Bulk potato sales at this major Maine shipping point today were reported mostly at $1.25 a barrel, almost three times that growers were getting two weeks ago.

In the interim, the government has launched a two-day program aimed at bolstering the depressed export market. It announced limited purchases of the 1953 crop would be made.

Bills for Free Mailings Paid By Taxpayers

ent, nothing but the legislator's conscience (or the newspapers of his state) limits the quantities of printed matter he can send.

Almost anything qualifies for the frank and by law anything which has been printed in the Congressional Record is fair game.

Airmail and special delivery costs the same to politicians as to anyone else, but each congressman pays $125 a year in stamps to help meet such emergencies.

A few congressmen, including Rep. Hanger Budge, R., Idaho, and joint atomic energy committee Chairman Sterling Cole, R., N. Y., have introduced bills to eliminate franking. They will probably remain on the shelf.

"The way I look at it," Budge explains, "is that the free mail is only part of the cost. The government also is paying most of the bill for preparing and printing all the reports, surveys and guestimates that are dumped in the chute."

"The rule should be that if it isn't worth putting a stamp on, it isn't worth sending free," he concludes.

The British don't give members of Parliament free mailing privileges. The MPs get even, however, because the government doesn't give them a free office either and constituents have a tough time finding their man to complain to.

In France, where the word comes from, the frank is given to all members of the national assembly. But in Canada, it is given only while parliament is in session, except that documents printed by the senate or house of commons may be sent all year.

Another peculiarity of the Canadian system is that it works both ways. Citizens can send a free letter to their representative if he's to his official address during a session.

The system recently was subjected to press criticism when John Blackmore, MP from Alberta, was charged for excessive use of his privilege. There must be something about the Rocky mountains.

Estate of Woman Goes to Daughter

Elizabeth Ann Tieg was awarded the estate of her mother, Marie Halliburton, who died in Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 18, 1938, in a probate court decree of distribution filed Wednesday.

Mrs. Tieg, the adopted daughter of Mrs. Halliburton, was awarded a plot of land two miles southwest of Twin Falls, another piece a half mile east of Filer, including all water rights and improvements, and 75 shares of Twin Falls National Farm Loan stock.

Petition for the decree was filed by Mrs. Halliburton's brother, John G. Sommer.

Huge Fund Given Atomic Program

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The house approved yesterday a record $1,001,000,000 to build and test a wide variety of bigger atomic and hydrogen bombs at a much faster pace.

The authorization was part of a $5,588,118,576 money bill continuing funds to run the atomic energy commission and some 19 other independent federal agencies during the new fiscal year starting July 1. The measure now goes to the senate.

The lion's share of the funds provided by the bill—$3,779,432,000—was for the veterans administration. This was a cut of $113,040,200 from the administration's budget request.

Leodore Student Gets Scholarship

MOSCOW, April 1 (AP)—A Carl Raymond Gray scholarship, sponsored by the Union Pacific railroad, has been awarded to Ray L. Young, Leodore, the first Lemhi county resident to receive one of the benefits.

A Union Pacific spokesman said yesterday that the county, though it is not served by the railroad, is being included in the scholarship program because a large number of Lemhi freight shipments eventually wind up in Union Pacific cars.

Moulton Praises Panel's Decision On Landing Strip

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—A federal decision to reduce the boundaries of a proposed air force gunnery range and thus spare an emergency landing strip on the lava beds near Arco drew the praise today of State Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton.

"The hollow top airstrip, a few miles from U. S. highway 93, was specifically excluded from the proposed range by a recommendation of the air space subcommittee of the civil aeronautics administration in Seattle Tuesday. Moulton had requested the move.

"It's the only field for about 40 miles in that area," Moulton said. "We could have gotten along without it, but it's an asset to the aviation industry."

The field is one of several hacked out of the lava country four years ago for the benefit of light planes flying between Carey and Idaho Falls.

Cave-ins Trim Water Supply At Hagerman

HAGERMAN, April 1—Fire of undetermined origin has destroyed the timber in the tunnel over the spring supplying water to Hagerman Water Users association.

The supply of water has been reduced substantially because of cave-ins in the tunnel. Workmen have been working on the tunnel for nearly a week to repair the wreckage and to restore the normal flow of water.

Three members of the association, Charles Skinner, Henry Owsley and Frank Dickerman discovered the fire nearly 10 days ago. At that time many of the timbers had been destroyed and a part of the roof of the tunnel had caved in.

Most of the treated timbers were placed in the tunnel three years ago. The tunnel is approximately three feet wide, six or seven feet high and 106 feet long. The timbers are placed every two feet. No one has ventured very far into the tunnel yet but as far as the men could see from the entrance, a distance of approximately 30 feet, the timber had been destroyed.

Officials of the association fear the timbers may be burned for the entire 106 feet and will have to be replaced.

Water from the spring is used for irrigation and stock watering only. The town's water supply comes from another spring.

Meats, Dairy Products Are On Shop List

By The Associated Press
Veal, beef, chickens and dairy products will offer the best value in the nation's food stores this week, food men report.

Wholesale veal prices have been working lower for some weeks. In selected stores, veal shoulder roasts will be down 6 cents a pound from a week ago. Another feature will be legs and rumps of veal.

Slight Change in Beef
Beef prices will be unchanged to slightly lower this week-end. Various stores announced plans to feature prime ribs, pot-roast, round steak and sirloin steak. In some cases, round steak will come down 2 cents a pound and prime ribs 2 to 6 cents a pound.

Beef may be more expensive next week; wholesale prices have been firm. Leg of lamb probably will cost more in your store. Increases of 2 to 6 cents a pound over week-ago prices will be the general rule. And pork chops will be higher by 1 cent to as much as a dime a pound in the majority of markets.

Chickens Still Low
Wholesale chicken prices have edged up in recent weeks, but food men say present prices are still low. Fryers will be featured in a number of stores for the week-end with reductions of 1 to 6 cents a pound. Egg prices will be unchanged to off 2 to 4 cents a dozen. Poultry men say eggs probably will stay around present levels for some time.

Supports Cut
Thursday is the day the government reduces its support prices on dairy products to 75 per cent from 90 per cent of parity. Butter prices already have tumbled as much as 8 cents a pound in some markets. Evaporated milk is expected to drop about a penny a can. Processed cheese is coming down.

Celery, peppers and spinach will join the list of good buys in vegetables this week-end, and a number of stores will feature broccolis. Other worthwhile vegetable buys are potatoes, onions, cabbage, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, endives, escarole and various greens.

Grapfruit remains the best buy in citrus fruits. In the wholesale market, oranges and tangerines moved higher while apples were unchanged. Some stores will feature wineapples for the week-end.

Gas Company Official Sees Slump End

J. M. Bellamy, Boise, Idaho manager of the Sinclair Oil company, welcomes V. L. Brophy, left, the company's manager of market development, while D. R. McCallum, district manager from Denver, looks on. Brophy, New York, said an early end appears likely for the East's recession. He also reported sources of capital in the East have faith in the West's future and are willing to finance development. (Staff photo-entourage)

Oil Firm Executive Forecasts Early End to Business Slump

An about face in the "so-called business slump" in the East is reported by V. L. Brophy, New York, Sinclair Oil company market development department manager, in Twin Falls Thursday.

Brophy states indications are there might be a lull for inventory absorption, but believes it won't be too serious. He observed the East has a lot of faith in the western region of the nation and seems willing to spend its money in developing the area.

Similar confidence in the world and national political picture is noted by Brophy who stated big business is willing to spend more money on tools and equipment in order to improve employment.

Brophy sees a generally optimistic outlook for the petroleum industry, stating prospects look good for at least the next four years. He based his beliefs upon research being done by the petroleum industry and said "there is every indication that good prices for our products will be maintained." Brophy listed the trend toward higher octane fuels, increasing farm consumption of petroleum products, efficiency in production and emphasis on economy as well as power.

Oil Firm Executive Forecasts Early End to Business Slump

As examples, he said, "the Southwest, soybean production, making considerable gains in the Midwest and huge amounts of corn are being produced." He also noted the trend toward farm mechanization, farm consumption of petroleum products is becoming a lucrative field for the petroleum industry, Brophy said.

Brophy was equally enthused over the outlook for improvements in oil production and exploration methods. He noted good production departments of every oil company employ large staffs of scientists and technicians and that the use of radar revolutionized the exploration of the end result is more efficient operation, he said.

No particular oil production is planned for Idaho, according to Brophy. However, he pointed out the geological strata in the northwest is pretty much the same and that oil has been discovered in almost all of the states surrounding Idaho. "You can't even say what might pop up," he observed.

Brophy and a group of Sinclair Oil company and western division representatives met with some 150 of the company's Magic Valley dealers and distributors Wednesday evening at the Twin Falls club to explain the company's extensive expansion program planned for Idaho. Brophy said the expansion program would branch from the company's plant in Sinclair, Wyo., and would extend through Idaho, Wyoming and Utah. The program, initiated in Sinclair's acquisition of the Veltex Oil and Gasoline company of Idaho Jan. 4, will incorporate a 4,000-mile nationwide pipeline which Brophy describes as "probably the largest finished product line in the world." Brophy said Sinclair plans to boost the program with an extensive advertising campaign of gasoline products by using a slogan with a real western slant, "try a ha' full, 10 gallons, that is."

J. M. Bellamy, Boise, Idaho, company manager, introduced Brophy to the dealers. Also on hand to meet with the local Sinclair representatives and employees and explain company product exhibits were D. R. McCallum, Denver, district manager; J. R. O'Neill, Denver, lubrication sales department manager, and J. E. Bardone, Sinclair's western sales manager.

At the meeting Tuesday State Representative Eugene Hagler, Jerome, spoke on traffic violations and causes of accidents. Robert Hankey, Boise, manager of the Idaho chapter of the National Safety council, spoke on safe driving. Four traffic safety films were shown by A. J. Ritter.

A letter from Gov. Len J. Spill was read, congratulating Mrs. O'Neil, secretary of the Gooding county Safety council, for her work in the organization.

Fence Erected
GOODING, April 1.—As a safety measure, a safety fence along the Little Lost river in the western part of the county, installation work was done by the direction of Connors Corp., street superintendent.

In the last three years three children have been saved from drowning in the stream. The area is a favorite playground for children but it also is considered dangerous. The fence was erected to prevent possible loss of life.

Water Dog of Funds to Quit

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The Atomic Energy Commission has accepted the resignation of General Leslie R. Groves, director of the Manhattan project, effective April 30.

Warren had disclosed earlier that he wanted to retire because of a personal warping over federal corruption during the Roosevelt campaign. Eisenhower administration.

Eisenhower said that he made public say the White House it was "unfortunate from a viewpoint of the government's interest in the war, which may be months to go." Warren will serve his full 15-year term, which may be months to go.

The 64-year-old federal official, a Democrat, was in a farewell letter to Congress that under his direction the general accounting office has received $915 million dollars illegally and improperly paid out by the government.

"I don't know when I will arrive at this system of life, but I can say we feel encouraged about the possibility of developing a primary nuclear power reactor." "I don't think that power alone will make a power reactor commercial. Sales of plutonium products and byproducts of reactor operation are what make it successful."

Martha Meade's FROZEN ORANGE JUICE PIE

All measurements are level. Sift flour before measuring. Measure out and save 2 tablespoons juice from—1 can (8 oz.) frozen orange juice, undiluted Place remaining juice in a saucepan and add—1 can water (1/2 cup) 3 tablespoons butter

Bring to a boil. Meanwhile, blend with a rotary beater until smooth—1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup cornstarch 2 egg yolks, unbeaten 1 can water (1/2 cup)

Then slowly stir into boiling liquid. Bring again to a boil and cook 2 or 3 minutes, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and thickened. Pour into—a baked 9-inch pie shell Let stand until filling is cool. Just before serving spoon Orange Blossom Meringue in mounds around edge of pie. Place under broiler until meringue is a deep golden brown, about 1 minute. Watch carefully as this topping burns very quickly. It is best to serve this pie within an hour or two as this type meringue may "water" slightly upon long standing. 6 servings.

ORANGE BLOSSOM MERINGUE Measure into the top part of a double boiler—2 egg whites, unbeaten 2 tablespoons undiluted frozen orange juice 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup sugar Beat with rotary beater at high speed over boiling water for 2 minutes. Then remove from heat and continue beating 2 or 3 minutes longer until mixture forms soft peaks.

PASTRY

Measure into a mixing bowl—1/2 cup shortening 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons cold water

Blend ingredients together with a fork until shortening is creamy and absorbs part of water. Then add all at once—

1 cup sifted Sperry Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Enriched Flour

Stir with circular motion until pastry holds its shape. Turn out on lightly floured board, pressing quickly into a smooth ball. Roll pastry until it will extend about 1/2 inch beyond outer rim of 9-inch pie pan. Fold pastry in half, lift quickly and place in pan. Unfold, and gently press in place so there are no air pockets beneath pastry. Build up fluted edge. Prick bottom and sides of shell liberally with fork. This allows the steam-forming cherries to escape during baking. Bake for 10-12 minutes in preheated very hot oven, 450°, or until crust is nicely browned. Cool before filling.

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—Property taxes in Idaho increased less than 5 per cent in 1963 for the second straight year, the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho reported today.
The group termed the $41,902,350 total a "firm indication" that property taxes may be leveling off. More than half the total—$22,150,550—went for education.
School-Cost High
Total property tax in 1963 was $40,215,578, with education taking $22,150,550.
Counties charged $272,534 of the 1963 total, exclusive of education. Cities and villages levied $5,982,619, and the state collected $2,295,178. Highway districts collected $1,358,702. Other taxing units levied $1,235,551.

Deep Snow Measured in High Mountains of Sawtooth Forest

HAILEY, April 1—Spring may be here and snow depths in the lower parts of Magic Valley may be less than average but there apparently has been no shortage of snow in the higher regions of the Sawtooth national forest.
Lawrence Johnson, Hailey, who takes snow measurements in the faraway places, reaching them by airplane, reports an abundance of snow on the ground in the high mountains.
Hunter Nelson and Ralph Burr of the forest service made their monthly snow survey Wednesday and found 75.53 inches of snow on Gila summit. The water content was measured at 26.8 inches. A year ago there were 61.9 inches of snow with 24 inches of water on the summit.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

"We are worried about our boy's interfering in what really does not concern him. He is a pleasant boy, does good work in school, gets into no trouble, until somebody does something he does not like, and then he is something. He speaks right out no matter who or what."

"Somebody abuses an animal and he is at them hammer and tongs, be it a grown man or a boy like himself. Somebody in the classroom or the playground is treated unjustly. In his opinion, and he expresses it then and there. He will even fight with his fists if he gets into an argument with someone abusing a child or an animal. We never know what he will do next. If only he would learn to mind his own business."

I would not worry too much about that boy. I'm glad to meet an American who has not lost his capacity for indignation at another's wrongs. I think he is likely to hold his coat. We haven't thought of his kind today. Too many of us are inclined to pass by on the other side. Keeping the peace is a noble thing. Blessed are the peacemakers . . . but peace can be bought at a price too high for human decency to pay. Once peace has been breached by an evil force, is there no place for the soldier, the crusader for righteousness, for the forthright one who sees the right and battles for it? I believe there is.

We would not rear a boy to be a bully. That is one thing. The child, boy or girl, who goes peacefully on his way until a crisis challenges his soul, is another. A temper under control is one of mankind's weapons against evil and we would do well to remember that, when dealing with boys and girls who strike out against what they believe to be wrong.

A burning sense of indignation has, before now, righted wrongs. It freed slaves; it fought wars; it protected children against abuse; it created the societies for the prevention of cruelties, and all for the good of people everywhere. Every good cause has been led by a man or a woman whose temper rose to boiling point at the sight of a grievous wrong and forced them into leadership and action for the right.

Of course we want peace-abiding children. And, of course, we want to rear young men and women capable of indignation at the sight of wrong done to helpless ones on the earth—men and animals too.

There is a reason when parents have trouble getting their children to bed at night—Dr. Patri tells how to quiet a child at this time in his book "NIGHT," P-28, "Bedtime Troubles." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Stakes Large In Alaska Ice Breakup Pot

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 1 (AP)—Alaska's greatest guessing game—and its richest—was going great guns today.

Nearly every soundough and cheese-choke from Ketchikan to Kotzebue is predicting when the ice will go out on the Tanana river near Nahanni, 70 miles west of here, and herald the coming of spring to the north country.

Break May Come In April

The breakup will come either late this month or during the first half of May—at least it always has in the past. The earliest the ice has gone out was April 28, 1926, and the latest was May 16, 1945. Last year the breakup came on April 29.

More than 200,000 persons are expected to participate in this 37th annual edition of the lottery. Chances sell for $1 each.

The object of the game is to guess the exact time, to the minute, when the ice goes out.

The time is decided by an intricate gadget. A tail wire connects a tripod on the ice with a sealed time-clock on the shore. When the ice moves, the clock is stopped. The time by the clock no matter how far off from official naval-observatory time, is the winning time.

Corporation Formed

If more than one person guesses correctly, or nearest the exact time, they divide the pot, less expenses. As many as 30 persons have picked the same winning time.

Corporations and companies also are formed by ticket holders on a one-win-all-win basis. The method also reduces Uncle Sam's share of the winnings.

Many persons have made their fortunes by the right guess. In 1926 a young Anchorage high school student, Solomon Simonson, dreamed the Tanana would break up at 4:05 a.m. April 26. He paid $1 for a ticket and shared in a $20,000 pot.

Fairbanks Man Wins $4,000

Marvin Anderson of Fairbanks won $40,000 in 1937, the day after he pocketed $4,000 for guessing correctly on the smaller Chena river breakup.

In 1935, a young Fairbanks drug store clerk, William H. Berrigan, guessed right and collected $61,000 which got him up in the trucking business in Bremerton, Wash.

And then there was old Edward Kehoe, Fairbanks garbage collector. He won the pot and took a trip around the world before returning to spend the rest of his life in a dingy cabin where he died without a dime.

Honor Plan Gets 'Principle' Okay, Proposal Beaten

FULLMAN, Wash., April 1 (AP)—Washington State college students apparently approve the honor system in principle, but they turned down the honor code proposed for their school in an election Wednesday.

Fifty-nine per cent of those voting said they were in favor of an honor code, in response to a general question on the ballot.

However only 32 per cent favored the code proposed by the student standards commission. There were 1,603 votes against the proposal, to 968 in favor of it.

The code proposed to keep teachers out of classrooms during examinations, leaving students on their honor to take the tests fairly. It also provided for a system for reporting violations of the code and for an honor commission to assess penalties in such cases.

France Ousts Head Marshal In NATO Tilt

PARIS, April 1 (AP)—France's government fired Marshal Alphonse Juin from the nation's top military strategy post today. It appeared likely he also would lose his NATO job as commander of land, sea and air forces in central Europe.

The cabinet ordered the outspoken, 65-year-old marshal removed from his French military posts (advisor to the government on defense strategy and vice president of the national superior council for armed forces) after he refused Premier Joseph Laniel's summons to explain his public criticism last week-end of the proposed European defense community.

The firing touched off a furor in France comparable to that in America following then President Truman's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Opponents in parliament of EDC led the critics of the French government action.

Since the presidency of the national superior council is held by President of the Republic Rene Coty, Juin actually was the ranking French military man in question of strategy.

Paris newspapers agreed the French government, which nominated Juin for his NATO post, now had no choice except to ask the NATO council and the supreme allied commander in Europe, U. S. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, to dismiss him.

The NATO council, composed of permanent representations of the 14 allied countries, called a special closed meeting to discuss what action should be taken.

Both Belgium and The Netherlands, it was learned, have protested to the French foreign office that Juin's criticism of EDC was out of step with the responsibility of his NATO post.

Diehard Hank Angry Because Of Protests Over Atomic Dust

By HENRY McLEMORE
I am mad, for this reason: Our atomic dust injured the Japanese merchant-sailors, and Japan has made an issue of our atomic dust settling on their seamen.

The world has picked up Japan's complaint. Naturally, the world doesn't like the United States. I read every day about how England despises us because we have given to England—

McLemore

Japan would be as nice to us as we have been to them? No. Japan would have overrun this country, it would have run up its flag, told you what to do and if you refused you would be shot.

I want to wind up this column by saying what I think a lot of Americans think: I think a lot of Americans think this:

It's shameful for the nicest country on earth to take hard tail from countries that hold out their palms and thank us with their wrists.

2. That it makes no sense to spend billions of dollars on H-bombs and have a national policy that requires that we never use ours until we've been hit by one.

3. Politicians always will be politicians. When they vote they vote for votes and not for us. That's not right. When a man's country is in peril there is no such thing as Democrats and Republicans. That's why I like Mr. Eisenhower. I think he places his country first—above the power and the glory that the presidency gives him, above the pomp and ceremony in a police-escorted car, and above all the pictures in the paper.

I think for the first time in many years we have a President who places his country above himself. That isn't easy to do. Most of us seek adulation. It's a real top guy who doesn't.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

This country needs pride. This country needs men to direct its policy as strongly as the men who carry out that policy. Congress makes war but the citizens have to fight it. How many senators and how many congressmen can you name who died in World War II or Korea? Not many, and the ones who got back made their service the big torch song in their campaign for election.

Back to Japan—the dust of our H-bomb weapon settled on its sailors; Japan complained. What gall! What effrontery! I would like the Japanese people who are excited about the United States accidentally hurting a few of their fellows to recall a day in December, A Sunday. The year 1941. I would like to remind the Japanese that on that day they killed a lot more sailors than the ones who were injured by the atomic dust. The Americans who died on that day were killed deliberately.

If Japan had won the war and knocked us off, do you think that
