Texas Labor Obtained for State's Farms

BOISE, April 7 (AP)—For the first time since World War II, Idaho farmers get by this year without bringing in farm laborers from Mexico, the executive director of the employment security agency said yesterday.

H. Fred Garrett said, "there's a possibility we may have to get a few, but we won't unless it's necessary." There were about 50 Mexican nationals working on Gem state fields at the peak of the season last year.

Garrett said "a pretty good supply" of workers appeared to be available from Texas. Many are of Mexican descent, but are U. S. citizens.

He said some were arriving already and recruiting arrangements have been made to assure "a good steady supply when needed."

Garrett attributed the increase in available domestic labor to two factors:

1. "Drought in the Texas area has cut down crops until there is not enough work for them there."
2. "Farmers are paying a little better wages and offering better working conditions."

Garrett said he understood housing for workers on Idaho farms was better than in many other states.

City Fathers Outline Plans

Four city commissioners discussed Twin Falls street and water improvements during the Wednesday noon luncheon of the Rotary club at the American Legion hall.

The officials were Chairman Al Nelson and Commissioners Howard Burkhart, Herb Grant and Ted Davis. During an informal discussion, they outlined the city's program on Addition avenue east and west and the improvements to Filer avenue east. The possibility of making test wells for water also was touched upon.

Bert Sweet, ex. chairman of the Sun Valley committee, urged members to file their applications for the Sun Valley convention. The convention will be held April 11-15.

William Gagnon, Portland, Ore., was a guest of Robert Snyder, J. Stot Wells, Elmira, N. Y., was the only visiting Rotarian.

Agents Think Crop Support Plans Needed

The agents, should keep certain standards in mind in choosing any support program.
They listed them as: The effect on farmers' freedom, the efficient use of the nation's resources, consistency with other types of national policy, political acceptability, cost and administrative feasibility.

Kennedy said most of the agents seemed to favor a rigid support system such as the one now applying to wheat. The discussion leaders listed these other alternatives:

1. Flexible supports now applying to butter and proposed by the Eisenhower administration as a general farm policy.
2. "Compensatory payments," a system proposed by the administration for wool growers, under which wool would be allowed to find its market price with the growers receiving direct cash payments from the government.
3. A two-price program, suggested for wheat, with the domestic price supported at parity and exports sold abroad at the free market price.
4. Self-help program—helping the farmers by increasing consumption, chiefly through advertising.
5. A cost-of-production program—plan proposed by Gov. Dan Thornton, Colorado, under which the level of price support would be set high enough to cover the cost of production of most farms.

Bureaus Move On Recreation Plans for Dam

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Interior Secretary McKay said today the bureau of reclamation and forest services have agreed that the service will develop and administer recreational resources at and near Palisades reservoir.

The 27-square-mile reservoir, to be built by Lakeview water backed up behind Palisades dam, is substantially within the Garibou, Targhee and Bridger national forests. Its upper end is in Wyoming, but most of it is in Idaho.

The dam, now under construction, is 40 miles east of Idaho Falls. The reservoir will be created by the relocated U. S. highway 26 and a road the forest service is building.

The agreement between the reclamation bureau and the forest service provides that the forest service will make plans for recreational developments, but they must be approved by local authorities of both agencies.

The interior department said "The jurisdiction of the forest service extends to control of the surface areas of the reservoir with respect to all recreational activities not conflicting with reclamation responsibilities."

Solon Warns Sales Levies Are Possible

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Sen. Flanders, R. Vt., said today if the Democrats are successful in persuading congress to cut income taxes again this year, the revenue loss will have to be made up by a general sales tax.

He made this comment in advance of the start of public hearings by the senate finance committee on an administration-backed 878-page tax revision bill already passed by the house. Flanders serves on the committee.

First Witness Called
Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was called as the first witness on the measure, which he has termed the most vital legislation before congress this session.

The bill makes assorted tax cuts totaling $1,400,000,000 for individuals and businesses in its first year of operation, but it does not reduce personal income levies, which dropped an average of 10 per cent on Jan. 1.

Income Tax Major Issue
The major fight promises to be on a Democratic move to slash income taxes by increasing exemptions of each taxpayer and dependent.

Flanders said if this reduction is voted, the revenue loss will have to be made up, since the budget for next year already is in the red by about four billion dollars.

"The only practical way this could be done is by a general sales tax," he said.

Levy Passes

RUPERT, April 7—Minidoka county's special five mills school levy passed Tuesday by a vote of 114 to 12. In the special levy election last year the total vote was 182 compared to 128 this year.

The five mills is needed in addition to the regular levy of 25 mills to run the school district, school officials reported.

Committee of House Boosts Dam Program

BOISE, April 7.—A subcommittee of the House of Representatives today passed a bill to permit the state power commission to acquire utility districts to build a $100 million dollar power project.

The bill, which would give the commission authority to acquire utility districts to build a $100 million dollar power project, was passed by a vote of 10-0.

The bill was introduced by Representative Mack, R., Wash., and was amended at the request of Representative Angel, R., Ore., to provide for the dam's construction for two years in the "Grand" county, Wash., and the Washington state power commission for the project.

The bill would have an installed power of approximately a million

Locations for New Airbases Are Revealed

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The air force has pinpointed the location of two more of the 13 major new airbase projects it has planned for the fiscal year starting July 1.

On Feb. 9, the service announced only the general area in which it plans to build, reactivate or expand five of the 13 bases. The sites of the other eight were specified.

A public works bill submitted to Congress revealed that air defense command bases are planned at Glasgow airport, Miles City, Mont., and Klamath Falls, Ore., airport.

The bill did not reveal where the air force planned to have bases in the Traverse City, Mich., San Diego, Calif., and Fargo, N. D., areas.

The Miles City base, for which an authorization of $9,391,000 was asked, will have 155 officers, 870 enlisted men and 80 civilians, an air force spokesman said. At Klamath Falls, for which $4,138,000 was asked, there will be 95 officers, 660 men and 70 civilians.

George M. Likeness conducted the hearing. John M. Barman of the board, discussed income phase of the hearing. Phases were discussed by Pence, Fred Brailsford, and R. S. Skinner.

Estimated valuation of the district was $4,862,312. The money estimated necessary for the schools for the year is $1,750,000. Levies proposed are 25 mills for operation and six bonded indebtedness and judgment obligations. The 25 mill levy will raise $124,057 and the six mill levy will raise $29,773.87. State and county apportionment for the next fiscal year are estimated at $143,800 while miscellaneous receipts are estimated at $19,868.33.

FRANCE MAY BE ALONE

If someone had set out to keep score on the constructive achievements of French statesmanship in the last 12 to 18 months, he would have before him today a blank sheet of paper.

The French themselves originally proposed the six-nation European army as a device for getting German armed units under international control, where they would presumably be unable to make trouble for France, the ancient enemy.

But since initially endorsing the EDC pact, the French have done nothing but buck it.

And yet, West Germany has already signed the pact.

At first France's western comrades saw reason and legitimacy in the objections raised. Every effort has been made to meet these objections. The British especially have gone out of their way to devise techniques of cooperation with EDC which stop just short of actual membership.

But the French reach each effort at solution with some new objection. They said the Saar had to be settled. Yet when Chancellor Adenauer offered a plan already approved by the Council of Europe, they balked, offering some dubious pretext for breaking off negotiations.

They insisted on close British support, to make sure Germany would not dominate EDC while the French had large forces fighting in Indo-China. But when the British did their best, the French acted as if they did not hear.

It is difficult to conclude anything but that the French are bent on pure obstructionism, a tactic with which they have had a great deal of practice.

History fades quickly in our minds, and it is now forgotten that it was the French, even before the Russians, who objected to all early proposals to unify Germany and put on the road to recovery as a member of the family of nations.

The time may be fast approaching when Britain and America will have to act on Germany without France. If that time comes, it will be interesting to see what the French do, and whether they seriously think they have any place to go but with their more vigorous allies.

HUMANITY'S SUICIDE

Ever since the recent H-bomb explosions in the Pacific, speculation has been great as to the magnitude of these blasts. Chairman Lewis L. Strauss has done a good deal to eliminate the guesswork.

We now know we are in possession of a bomb so powerful that just one will wipe out any city on earth, even the largest like London and New York.

All around the fringes of New York today are roadway signs saying that in event of enemy attack, "This road will be closed to regular civilian traffic." The signs assume that people would be alive to move in and out of a damaged area, and that military authorities would manage this traffic.

As we see from Strauss' comment, these signs may well be out of date. For a single hydrogen bomb could obliterate the entire New York metropolitan area. There might not be any traffic in or out.

This is just a way of pointing up the ghastliness of the prospect of nuclear warfare. Every human on earth must hope it never comes. If men on both sides of the iron curtain are not reading the news of these explosions with the gravest concern, they are near to being mad. It is inconceivable that they would contemplate for any instant a kind of warfare that could well be humanity's suicide.

EXPERT AT FANTASY

Senator Langer of North Dakota, who managed not to distinguish himself in the hearings on confirmation of Chief Justice Earl Warren, now has come up with a resolution that deserves to paper the shelf in the senate bill room.

He proposes, first, to "affirm" the power of congress to declare war, which nobody questions. In other words, he wants the senate to assert that the constitution means what it says.

That's perhaps harmless enough. But he goes on to propose that U. S. armed forces shall not be ordered into action except to repel armed attack against the U. S., its territories and possessions.

Under this provision, Russia could drop A-bombs on London, Paris, Rome—indeed, sweep western Europe; could implant its forces in Canada and Mexico hard by our borders; could occupy strategic islands in the Pacific and Atlantic, all without fear of our raising a finger of protest.

He might as well ask the American people, collectively, to write a suicide note. He would have us defend ourselves only when all our friends in the world were gone and an enemy swollen by tremendous military and economic gains was at our very gates.

If it were anybody but Langer offering this nonsense, we'd say he can't be serious. But then—we remember the Warren affair.

An astronomer says we'll have 85,000,000 years of sunshine. It's always nice to know about the bright things.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has laid the groundwork for another intense intra-party squabble with his demand for further trade and tariff concessions to foreign nations.

Even loyal Republican leaders begin to wonder whether their party can hold together in the face of the White House in 1951 and 1952, in view of the many major disagreements between the executive and legislative arms. They have clashed on tax cuts and reform, farm support, foreign affairs and on the McCarthy problem. Now they are heading for a fight on such a fundamental issue as the protection of American labor and industry.

OPPOSITION IN SMALLER CITIES—Eisenhower recognizes the latent hostility by asking authority to reduce duties to only 15 per cent over a three-year period, and for softening the buy-American provisions of the Battle Act. He had been expected to suggest discretionary power to make a 50 per cent reduction.

Principal opposition comes from Republican members in smaller cities and towns, where factory closings and layoffs have produced severe setbacks already. "Ike" will probably get major support from Democrats from the South, who seek expanded exports of cotton, tobacco, etc.

The tariff controversy, basically, will be a struggle between eastern internationalists and the economic isolationists of the Middle West and other sections. It will also pit the heads of the two great labor organizations, the AFL and CIO, against their local units.

According to their complaint, eastern banking, shipping and industrial interests want freer trade for selling and buying goods. Manufacturers of autos and trucks, heavy machinery, utility equipment and other durable goods anticipate a rich foreign market, if only we let overseas customers and countries earn dollars by selling more to us.

THOSE WHO WILL PROFIT—The Ford company, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse and General Electric, it is charged, will profit from deep and widespread reductions because foreign competitors cannot match their production excellence. The two big unions, which dominate heavy industry, naturally share management's views on this question. George L. Meany and Walter P. Reuther block their local houses proposals.

But there are scores of relatively small industries and local unions which will be affected adversely. Their areas, in many instances, have been classified as "depressed" already, with large labor surpluses. They extend all across the country, including such products as textiles, carpets, glass, paper, wool, wines, metals, rubber, coal-mining, fishing and shipping.

Lacking the resources of the great corporations, more than 50 organizations have combined into a united front known as the Nationwide Committee of Industry, Agriculture and Labor on Import-Export Policy. They testified on behalf of innumerable small centers of employment in opposition to the manufacturers, bankers, exporters and shippers, who have enjoyed profitable years during and since World War II.

EMOTIONAL FACTORS INVOLVED—As in several other differences between the White House and congress, emotional factors are involved in this "trade versus aid" dispute. These anti-tariff groups begin to suspect that the administration shows excessive partiality to financial and corporate interests along the Atlantic seaboard, or to the "eggheads" of the GOP.

It is this area which clamors for tariff reductions, greater aid to Europe, possible involvement in Indo-China, lower farm supports, private versus public power, condemnation of Senator McCarthy and other White House moves not too popular west of the Hudson river. It is, in a sense, a revival of the Dewey-Taft pre-convention strife.

FDR and Cordell Hull thought that they had buried the tariff issue with their system of negotiated and reciprocal agreements. Instead, they have split the Grand Old Party more violently on this question than in many a year.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

LET'S PLAN HIGHWAYS FOR TOMORROW
 The future in the Jerome area over a proposed highway that would bypass the city of Jerome perhaps 15 or 20 years from now has prompted strong editorial reaction in some Idaho newspapers, including some rather rash generalizations.

Whatever the merits or demerits of the Jerome bypass may be (and that is an issue which we would not presume to judge), it would seem rather silly to "dissolve" the state highway commission primarily because it included a bypass in a long-range highway construction plan. If the commission's thinking requires correction on this particular project—residents of the Jerome area certainly have had the opportunity to marshal corrective pressure.

Nor should Idahoans accept at face value the claim that "restoring" highways is a down-to-earth practical "bread and butter" job while planning highways for the traffic of the future is a "French pastry" innovation.

The state of Idaho has wasted literally millions of dollars in highway construction in the past because it failed to look into the future to visualize what tremendous strides would be made in automotive travel. Most of the few modern highways in Idaho are bordered by obsolete roads that had to be abandoned because they were unsafe, uneconomical, and unsuited to the demands of modern traffic.

Certainly many of the highways of yesterday could have been constructed better if modern highway building equipment had been available then. But perhaps the main factor in their inadequacy is that the designers of those roads were incapable of visualizing what kind of roads would be needed in the future.

It would be a shocking waste of money, in view of modern knowledge about highways, for the Idaho highway commission to limit itself to "restoring" the already obsolete Idaho highways. Given even a moderate industrialization of Idaho, which is sure to come some day despite the obstructionism of many who look forever into the past, the present highway traffic in Idaho will be multiplied many fold. Given even a minimum inclusion of Idaho into the main stream of cross-country travel, many highways throughout the state will become certainly and predictably obsolete.

It should be a major duty of Idaho highway planners to try to look beyond today and into tomorrow. Most of the state's funds may have to be spent in maintenance and stopgap improvement of existing roads. But whenever a new highway is planned it should be planned for the needs of the future. Community or sectional pressure which forces compromises in those plans may have to be accepted as the will of the public. But the plans themselves should be as broad in scope and vision as the planners can make them. Otherwise, Idaho must resign itself to forever pouring money down the rat-hole by building highways that are obsolete before they reach the drawing boards.

In the long-range development of Idaho highways it is almost certain, for example, that a bypass some day will become necessary to divert north-south traffic around Lewiston to eliminate the Lewiston Spiral Hill highway as the major route to the north. Lewiston would be very foolish to attempt to block such a bypass in the mistaken theory that the spiral highway brings trade to Lewiston.

The Jerome bypass probably is in a considerably different category and should be judged on its merits. But it would be a mistake to generalize from one dispute over one highway proposal and adopt the conclusion that Idaho's highway planners should disregard modern highway design and routing patterns and resign themselves to forever patching up obsolete roads.—Lewiston-Tribune.

PHONY "SOVEREIGNTY"
 We wonder who will be fooled by Russia's announcement she is granting "full sovereignty" to East Germany.

The true measure of this "freedom" can be seen in the companion red announcement that 300,000 Soviet troops will remain in East Germany "temporarily."—Los Angeles Mirror.

SOMEONE CAN BOW

Dear Gent:
 Someone should be commended. I don't know who to commend, but I feel strongly about this particular fellow.

Usually when someone starts hollering about celebration to mark "the old days" the first brilliant idea is that all the menfolk should allow their beards to grow and all the gals should go around in gingham dresses and sun bonnets.

The net result is that the populace looks anything but human. I detest whiskers, either on a man or woman, but especially on a man. Most of the gals don't have 'em.

And all this talk going on about the Golden Jubilee with no one even suggesting the men should toss their razors away. It's commendable, Pots, highly commendable.

SUBSTITUTE FOR LEGS

Dear Sir:
 Maybe this should be addressed to the editor of the Public Forum, but I've studied the problem, decided I don't have enough courage to sign my name. Could you please handle it?

This is a matter of basic observations. In the beginning, man has two legs designed to enable him to move from one place to another. If he's from no particular rush to get some place, he wades, eventually reaching his destination if in a terrible rush, he can increase the tempo to a run, thereby covering more ground in a shorter time—with endurance limitations.

Now, when he starts to run, he increases many times the possibility of falling and injuring himself. Basically, an auto is a substitute for legs. And think how much faster you can move by driving 40 miles an hour! Why "run" in your car, thus endangering yourself?

DON'T KNOW IT!

Dear Sir:
 What's all this talk about "readjustment" and "recession" and "business slump"?

Naturally I can't identify the fellow, but two merchants were talking the other day and I don't think either one was bragging. One said his business was "just a little better than last March" and the other one leaned over and said in a confidential tone, "We've just about double what we did last March."

Sure, there may be a "readjustment" but maybe some of our businessmen haven't heard about it!

SALESMANSHIP

We had to dress this one up just a bit, but it was too good a definition to pass up. This certain fellow was making a pitch about his ability and he was being right modest about it, too.

"I'm a good salesman," he declared. "Why I can put a hunk of ribbon on a clump of sagebrush and sell it as an orchid!"

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Maj. Gen. Clayton B. Bissell, now retired, the wartime chief of the American army intelligence, had the responsibility for the preservation of the report of an American officer, on the Katyn massacre of 14,500 Polish army officers and "intellectuals" in Russia, probably in May, 1940. The report is gone.

Someone, either in the Pentagon, where Bissell had his office, or in the state department, disposed of it. It accused the Russians of wiping out the flower of Polish manhood. Whatever happened, it vanished and has never been found. A careful inquiry was made by a select committee of the house of representatives in the summer and fall of 1942.

Bissell, the man with direct, absolute responsibility, said only one copy was made. The officer reporting was Lieut. Col. John H. Van Vleet, Jr. Captured by the Germans in Africa, he was liberated by the Russians as they advanced westward, made his way into the American lines and reached Washington on May 22, 1945.

Bissell testified, "He told me the story of the visit to Katyn forest in such a calm, direct and conservative manner that there was no doubt in my mind that he was telling the truth, about those events exactly as he remembered what had occurred two years earlier."

Van Vleet's report was prepared under elaborate conditions as to secrecy. Thereafter all trace of it was lost.

And yet, although the destruction of that proof of Russian perfidy had a fateful effect on western civilization, the whole affair has been treated as a trifle by those same giants of the American press which have made a monumental issue of the charge that David Bohline, Joe McCarthy's investigator of traitorous activity, was allowed to wear non-regulation shoes for a few days after his induction. The reason why he wore non-regulation shoes was that the quartermaster had no regulation issue big enough.

Bissell said he directed that Van Vleet's report be classified "top secret." An attempt was made to pass the buck to the state department, which at the time was infested with the Alger Hiss-Acheson cult. But Bissell never proved that the document left his official custody.

The select committee, with Ray J. Madden, Indiana, as chairman, unanimously reported "beyond any question of reasonable doubt that the Soviet people's commissariat of internal affairs committed the mass murders of the Polish officers and intellectual leaders in the Katyn forest near Smolensk, Russia. Approximately 15,000 Polish prisoners were interned in three Soviet camps, Kozelsk, Starobelsk and Ostashkov, in the winter of 1939-40. Only 400 of them ever were heard of again.

The committee report continued: "Evidence repeatedly points to the certainty that only those 1,743 prisoners interned at Kozelsk were actually exhumed from the seven mass graves. We are equally certain that the rest of the 15,000 officers were executed. Testimony was presented by several witnesses that the Ostashkov prisoners were placed on barges and drowned in the White Sea. No one could entertain any doubt of Russian guilt for the Katyn massacre."

The committee was carrying out a request from congress to "determine why certain reports and files concerning the Katyn massacre disappeared or were suppressed by departments of our government." American authorities knew of the growing tension between the Soviets and the Poles during 1942-43. They knew of the hopeless search for the Polish officers. But all the time all these factors were brushed aside on the theory that pressing the search would irritate Soviet Russia and thus hinder the prosecution of the war.

The committee further said: "An independent investigation by the army's inspector general in 1950 concluded that the report had been 'compromised' and that there is nothing to indicate that it ever left army intelligence. Bissell steadfastly maintained that he forwarded the document to the department of state on May 22, 1945.

"It becomes apparent that the President and the state department ignored numerous documents from Ambassador Stankiewicz (in Moscow) and Ambassador Winant (in London) which reported information which strongly pointed to Soviet perfidy. It becomes obvious that Mr. Roosevelt's dealings with the Soviets throughout the war were based on a strong desire for mutual cooperation with Russia. This desire completely overshadowed the dictates of justice to our loyal but weaker ally, Poland."

Eleanor Roosevelt, one of the most caustic opponents of all congressional efforts to root out traitors of the administration of which she was an influential member, has never devoted a single syllable of her voluminous writings to reprobation of this colossal horror.

Bissell flew in the American army on the British front for 5 1/2 months in World War I and left the army as a captain in 1920. He had absolutely no experience in intelligence work until 1943—except for the practical user's end. "This was like saying he knew nothing about cooking except that he had had some experience in eating."

The callous, flippant attitude of the new deal toward the massacre was well expressed by a leading political propagandist, the Roosevelt cult in an article written from Russia in 1944.

Quentin Reynolds wrote that when the Polish government in exile in London denounced the atrocity "we of the American get in Russia, thought of 'an old Russian saying: "What's the use of being a Pole if you can't be stupid?""

He insisted that the revelation of the massacre was a "trap" set by Doktor Goebbels. His political conclusion was this:

"Now she (Poland) is in an unhappy condition. The world bleeds for the cruelties practiced upon her people. But the fact remains that diplomatically Poland is—and has been out of step with her allies and especially her biggest ally—Russia. Leaving the equities of the case severely alone, the conclusion is inescapable that Poland isn't big enough or strong enough to get out of step. When you get out of step you march alone. No one is big enough to march alone in this year of our Lord, 1943."

Curious Features About Teeth

With most mammals, when teeth reach a given size, the roots close and growth halts. Not so with the squirrel, rat, beaver, rabbit, porcupine, horse, sheep, elephant, wild boar, narwhal and walrus. Their teeth needs are different—so different adaptations have been made. For them, teeth remain open at right angles, new material is constantly added, and growth never ceases.

But this amazing growth of teeth can produce some thumpers! Perhaps the record tooth came from an extinct mammoth. It was a curved 16-inch, 1-inch tusk (tusk—found, as you might suspect, in a slightly known state called Texas. Currently, the record taken from an elephant is 11 feet, one-half inch. Its mate was 11 feet, for a combined weight of 283 pounds. (Another pair of elephant teeth, shorter, weighed in at 446 pounds—over one-fifth of a ton!)

As for the elephant's back teeth, the molars, there is no room for more than two on each side of each jaw. So, as the front teeth grinders wear down, they are replaced from the rear with forming new ones, much like packages in a vending machine.

The male narwhal, a small northern whale, has a more unusual tooth—I say "tooth," because he has only one tooth (the female has none)—and it is a left incisor which grows straight out, perhaps nine feet long, spiraled clockwise. So sex rears its toothy head. (In humans and monkeys' too, the male's canines are usually longer than the female's.)

Proportionately speaking, the smaller animals have faster-growing teeth, and if we discount the wear, teeth which are much longer than the elephant's or the narwhal's. A rabbit's front teeth grow 20 inches a year, making a 10-foot growth during a lifetime. Gopher teeth grow even faster—up to 40 inches a year! A great, great, granddaddy of 6 would grow 240-inch incisors!

Such rapidly growing teeth, of course, are advantageous to these almost ceaselessly gnawing rodents since it prevents their teeth from being worn down to a nub.

To keep their outting teeth in trim, the problem has been solved by the covering of the front side of the teeth with a hard band of enamel and the backside with much softer material. Thus, the softer material wears away quickly, leaving the outside material harden

none—and it is a left incisor which grows straight out, perhaps nine feet long, spiraled clockwise. So sex rears its toothy head. (In humans and monkeys' too, the male's canines are usually longer than the female's.)

A great, great, granddaddy of 6 would grow 240-inch incisors!

Such rapidly growing teeth, of course, are advantageous to these almost ceaselessly gnawing rodents since it prevents their teeth from being worn down to a nub.

To keep their outting teeth in trim, the problem has been solved by the covering of the front side of the teeth with a hard band of enamel and the backside with much softer material. Thus, the softer material wears away quickly, leaving the outside material harden

none—and it is a left incisor which grows straight out, perhaps nine feet long, spiraled clockwise. So sex rears its toothy head. (In humans and monkeys' too, the male's canines are usually longer than the female's.)

Proportionately speaking, the smaller animals have faster-growing teeth, and if we discount the wear, teeth which are much longer than the elephant's or the narwhal's. A rabbit's front teeth grow 20 inches a year, making a 10-foot growth during a lifetime. Gopher teeth grow even faster—up to 40 inches a year! A great, great, granddaddy of 6 would grow 240-inch incisors!

which results in a many cutting edge.

So you see, the beaver gnawed down a cotton tree, seven inches in diameter, that he cut, happily, in behind the tree trunk, submerged, cut and chewed his heart's content, leaving water.

This chisel-like cutting has been assumed to be attained as the beaver's tooth surface sharpens teeth. But not only the cupines and squirrels are "chiselers," but so are time out to sit down and the rodents are very busy with the time of day, their lower jaws forward, and when they are vigorous and down-and-out, honing away the surface of the teeth from the back of the lower teeth and the tip of the operation, and the lower teeth with the upper teeth, a marvelous knife-edged result.

But these fast-growing teeth can be the animal's trophic, or food-eating, teeth breaks or in a fight jaw becomes slightly Then the curved teeth without being "honed" growing and the mammals grow on through the jaw around and lock the jaw the inevitable result—(Copyright, 1954, by Burns)

British Made Air Survey of U. S. H-Tests

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill added to Britain's H-bomb terror yesterday by telling the house of commons that British planes—with American approval—made observation flights at U. S. hydrogen bomb tests last month.

In another of the continuing series of atomic statements, the foreign office disclosed that the United States asked for and got British permission before dropping atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945.

The United States acted in accord with a secret pact, disclosed Monday between Churchill and the late President Roosevelt pledging the nations not to use the A-bomb without the other's consent.

Churchill told the house that two of the planes assigned to the H-bomb survey were lost, but the prime minister insisted this had nothing to do with the bomb blast.

The 79-year-old statesman, engaged in one of the most violent political fights of his career, said the planes surveyed the blast sites March 1 and March 27, a few hours after H-bomb explosions on those dates.

This was the first public acknowledgment that the British government was well enough informed about the tests and their timing to send planes in at the proper time.

It also was the first disclosure that the United States had permitted Britain to send such planes to gather information at the tightly-guarded, highly-secret test sites.

Churchill's statement made it obvious that the United States was keeping Britain considerably more informed on its H-bomb tests than has previously been known.

The prime minister has been humiliated in parliament and attacked in the left-wing press for earlier admissions that he had no knowledge of the tests.

Navy Will Inspect Plant in Pocatello

POCATELLO, April 7 (AP)—Admiral A. J. Welling is being sent to inspect the Pocatello naval ordnance plant, local officials have been advised.

Admiral Welling, who has been connected with ordnance work for more than 25 years, was in charge of the navy bureau of manufacturing during World War II.

His Pocatello trip is part of an inspection of several naval plants, in an attempt to find if some work can be shifted to the Pocatello plant to keep it operating.

The information from the navy bureau of ordnance on Admiral Welling's visit did not say when he would reach Pocatello.

Man Kills Himself
In Cabin of Motel

BLACKFOOT, April 7 (AP)—Officials say a Pendleton, Ore., man found in a motel cabin here last night was a victim of self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

They identified him as 33-year-old O. A. French. His wife told officers they had registered at the motel with their baby a short time earlier.

She said she had returned from a walk to find him lying on the bed with a .32 caliber revolver on the floor.

She said her husband had been dependent for some time after a series of stomach operations.

Arraignment Set

POCATELLO, April 7 (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Tripp Gray, 33-year-old McCammon mother, will be arraigned Friday afternoon on a charge of second degree murder in the court of District Judge W. C. Lofbrow.

Mrs. Gray was arrested in the Feb. 7 shooting of her husband, Cecil Gray, 37, a McCammon truck service manager.

Construction up

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—The commerce department says spending for new construction rose to a record 74 billion dollars during the first three months of this year.

Attorneys for 9 States Elect New Leaders

HOLLYWOOD, April 7 (UP)—Washington State Attorney General Don Eastvold yesterday was elected president of the Western Association of Attorneys General, succeeding Edmund (Pat) Brown of California. The election brought to a close the two-day annual meeting of association delegates representing nine western states and Alaska.

Speaks at Closing
Richard McGee, director of the California department of corrections, spoke before the closing session on the subject of nation-wide prison riots, which he said occurred because of "confused objectives in administration."

McGee said prisons and correctional institutions should be under a single department and headed by a single administrator.

"Board administration," he said, "simply diffuses responsibility and creates more confusion in already confused prison administrations."

Wants Politics Out
In addition, he said, "patronage politics" should be kept out of the prison systems.

Edward G. Benard, California assistant attorney general and W. Sumner Holbrook, Jr., attorney and tax expert, discussed the legal aspects of taxation on federal reservations, including housing and similar projects.

Photography Meeting Held

Colored photographic slides from Melrose, Mass., were shown by H. A. Childers, salon chairman of the Twin Falls Camera club, Tuesday night at the monthly meeting and contest of the group in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moslee, Filer. Other slides shown included those taken on a trip to California by Mr. and Mrs. Al Hankins, and in Cuba by George Jakway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jakway who exhibited the pictures.

Hankins won first and second prizes in the flower division of a colored slide contest, with Paul Bandy receiving third. In the human interest division, Childers won first and Hankins took second and third. For scenery, Hankins won first and second and Bandy third. Next meeting will be held May 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Twin Falls.

Moose Organize Governor's Club

BUHL, April 7—A past governor's club of the Loyal Order of Moose, No. 305, was formed at a meeting Monday night at the lodge hall. Leonard Howard was elected president, Lyle Dales, vice president, and Ed Hall, secretary-treasurer. The group will meet the first Monday of each month.

Purpose of the organization is to assist and sponsor activities for the benefit of lodge members and to carry on social functions. Other past governors active in the club are Lynn Langdon, Joe Peterson, Cecil Harris, R. C. Robinson, Henry Warr, Vern Kreigh, Tom Smith, Walter Els, Homer Bean and Tom Tverdy. Guests at the meeting included George Ayres, present governor, and Alvin Heide and Loyd Ayres, candidates for governor in the annual election Thursday night.

Zoning Board Will Add Six Members

Plans to expand the Twin Falls zoning and planning board from 8 to 12 members for more effective action were adopted at the board's meeting at the city hall Tuesday afternoon. The board also decided to defer action on individual zoning problems pending a further study of the city's zoning limits.

Hydrogen Bomb Tough, but Nature Still Makes Forces of Man Look Quite Sickly

WASHINGTON, April 7 (UP)—The H-bomb is tough and can punch, but nature is still the champ, some experts said today. Capt. Elliott B. Roberts said there are "forces at play in the earth all the time" that make the H-bomb seem sickly by comparison.

Suppose they do make an H-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the nominal A-bomb.

"Even a moderate earthquake," Roberts said, "yields 1,000,000 times more energy than an A-bomb."

So Roberts doubts H-bombs will set off disastrous earthquakes or tidal waves or volcanic eruptions. Not energetic enough.

Dr. Harry Wexler, weather bureau scientist, has similar doubts, about an H-bomb's ability to start or stop hurricanes.

A 20-megaton H-bomb, one comparable in explosive force to 20,000,000 tons of TNT, releases enough energy to keep an ordinary hurricane going just 25 seconds, Wexler estimated.

But hurricanes last several days to a week or longer.

And as Dr. Otto R. Frisch said in London recently, "there is one thing no bomb can do—it cannot produce more energy than it contained."

Frisch is one of the heroes of the atomic age. Another is Dr. Hans Bethe of the United States.

Bethe figured out the nuclear reaction by which the sun manufactures energy by fusing hydrogen atoms. Like Frisch, he has dismissed, on scientific grounds, any notion that nuclear explosions might ignite the earth, sea and air.

One scientist recently said that in theory an H-bomb could be made big enough to destroy the United States.

He is Dr. Franco D. Resetti, Johns Hopkins university.

He ignored "blowout," Gordon Dean, former chairman of the atomic energy commission, is authority for the statement that there is a limit to the H-bomb's power of destruction.

As you make it bigger and bigger a time comes when the tamper effect of the atmosphere on all sides is greater than that of the thinner blanket of air overhead.

So when that time comes, the souped-up H-bomb vents its excess energy straight-up, and is lost in space. A nuclear physicist here estimated the blowout point at somewhere between 50 and 100 megatons.

So it looks as though the H-bomb would reach its limit of destruction long before it ever got big enough to blow up a continent, or even match a big earthquake in power.

ATTEND CONFERENCE
DEULO, April 7—Deulo residents who attended the LDS conference at Salt Lake City were J. Harry Darrington, Carl Osterhout, Alton Griffin, Oleen Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. William Darrington, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Hurst, Joseph Gillette and Clayna Zollinger.

Geraldine Lawton will play a trumpet solo and Joyce Stephenson will play a piano solo. If the weather permits the band will go to the football field after the concert and practice, marching.

Concert Planned

Pupil Studies Discussed for PTA Meeting

BUHL, April 7—Gertrude Eastman, Boise, state superintendent of elementary education, spoke at the PTA meeting Monday night at the Lincoln school on the importance of the school reading program.

Miss Eastman stressed the importance of study towards grouping children in their various stages of development, providing teachers with added materials of instruction, an improvement of methods of reporting to parents as well as a better promotion policy.

Mrs. Milton Rutledge said the PTA sponsored children's theater production of Pinnocchio will be presented at two performances April 23. The afternoon performance will be limited to pupils from the F. H. Buhl and Lincoln schools. The evening performance, to begin at 8 p. m., will be open to the public.

Assisting Mrs. Rutledge with arrangements are Mrs. Rollo Parsons and Mrs. Vern Anderson.

Vern Craner thanked committee members, room mothers and others responsible for the successful completion of PTA fun night which netted the organization $229.93. Mrs. Leonard Howard and Mrs. Albert Kast were appointed as the auditing committee.

The Vandaleers, University of Idaho choral group, will be at the high school at 8 p. m. Friday. Wayne James, band director, and Karl Hutchinson, high school music director, were complimented on the showing made by students at the recent music festival at Shoshone.

Refreshments were served by the sixth grade room mothers under the direction of Mrs. Leonard Leth and Mrs. Bernardine Jones.

Former Resident
Of Declo Passes
DEULO, April 7—Mrs. Magdalene Berg, early pioneer in Declo, died last week at her home in Boise after a lingering illness.

She was born Nov. 22, 1887, in Sweden and came to America when she was 19 years old. She was married to Charles John Berg in Park City, Utah. They moved to Declo in 1911. In 1919 they moved to Nampa. Mr. Berg died in 1921 and she moved to Boise in 1936.

Surviving are seven sons, Ted Berg, Harry Berg and Gus Berg, Declo; Oscar Berg, Anthony Berg and Emil Berg, all Nampa, and Elmer Berg, Boise, and one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Dunning, Boise.

Funeral services were conducted at Boise.

Trips Listed
PAUL, April 7—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Merrill and baby attended the LDS conference in Salt Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper Hunsaker also attending the LDS conference in Salt Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schneider have accompanied their daughter, Mrs. Don McGregor, to Salt Lake City.

Floyd Merrill, Melba, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Merrill, and family, Saturday.

Parley Attended

KEYBURN, April 7—Keith Merrill, instructor, and six high school agriculture students, Elmer Uacola, David Jensen, Marvin Blacker, Lawrence LaRoe, Richard Kerbs and Max Baird, attended the PTA convention at Idaho Falls Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Keyburn chapter was awarded third place for its scrap book. Kerbs and Baird were presented with state farmers degree.

Carnival Planned

MURTAUGH, April 7—The annual carnival of Murtaugh Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the high school.

This event is held to raise funds for activities of the groups. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Harold Mense, Blue Birds; Mrs. Joe Stasiny, Jr., Camp Fire Girls; Morris Lattimer, Cub Scouts, and Leo Turner, Boy Scouts.

More Groups Signed up in Musical Fete

Four groups of Harmony and community singing... The Salt Lake City chorus of fifty members will sing following intermission. The highlight of the evening for the Jerome chapter will be the presentation of its charter.

A Jerome quartet will sing following the presentation and next will be the presentation of the charter by the entire cast.

Shepherd said the quartet from Spokane will be worked into the performance of three choruses and nine quartets. Following the program the entire cast will take part in an "afterglow" at the high school cafeteria and a harmony breakfast is slated for 10 a.m. Sunday at Wood's cafe.

Shepherd said the performance is one of the most unique in Magic Valley. Tickets are on sale at Warner's music store in Twin Falls, at the L. Herndon furniture in Jerome and from any member of the Jerome chapter. Some of the quartets will be heard on a program over radio station KLIH Friday night.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

PAUL, April 7—The Westend fire department extinguished a fire at Jack Bohan's farm one and one-half miles west and one and one-half miles south of Paul Saturday. The fire was confined to a small pile of straw.

Job Openings on Decline in Valley

Magic Valley job openings declined last week, according to R. S. Cutler, Twin Falls employment security office manager.

Openings totaled 193, a decline of 35 from the previous week. Inclement weather was blamed for the drop. All areas reported a sufficient supply of labor available for anticipated job openings.

State offices of the employment security agency reported 710 job openings were received last week compared to 734 openings listed the week before.

Doctors Vote for New Polio Shots

SEATTLE, April 7 (UP)—A committee of physicians voted yesterday to proceed with a mass inoculation of school children in Yakima, Kitsap and Whatcom counties after agreeing unanimously that the polio vaccine should be used in safe.

Dr. John Kahl, acting head of the Washington state health department said the committee could not "go along with Winchell's statements that there is a killer here."

He was referring to a statement made by Walter Winchell in his national radio broadcast and in his newspaper column that the vaccine "may be a killer."

The physicians represented the three counties, the health department and Washington State Medical association. They said they based their decision chiefly on their knowledge of the competence of physicians and scientists supervising preparation of the vaccine. They also said a triple check had been made on all the vaccine to be used.

Louisiana Stops Polio Serum Use

BATON ROUGE, La., April 7 (UP)—Polio vaccine tests for 4200 East Baton Rouge parish school children were canceled yesterday pending "clarification of the status of the serum."

Health officials expressed fear that the vaccination program here may have been impaired.

Dr. David Brown, parish health officer, announced the postponement after conferring with officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and doctors on radio commentator Walter Winchell's remarks Sunday that the vaccine may be "a killer instead of a cure."

"I definitely think it has endangered our chances of getting good response from the parents," said Dr. Brown.

Films of H-Blast Make Impression

BOISE, April 7 (UP)—Color films depicting hydrogen device experiments in the Pacific two years ago seem to have left viewers "properly impressed," according to Lieut. Col. John Mamerow, state civil defense director.

Mamerow said he showed the film four times at the statehouse yesterday and drew overflow crowds at all showings.

Scattered comments ranged from awe at the device's destructive powers to the hope that "it never happens here," Mamerow said.

He added that his office has received enough requests for the film available—one in black and white and one in color—to keep them circulating throughout the state well into May.

HAGERMAN, April 7—Vern Lott was in charge of Sunday-evening services at the LDS church. Speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hall and Audrey Whipple. Verna Lee Lott played a piano solo.

Details on Bribe Accusation Asked

BOISE, April 7 (UP)—A request was on file in federal court here today for a more detailed statement of accusations against James L. Houser, a top public health official in Idaho charged with accepting bribes.

The attorney for Houser asked U. S. Attorney Sherman Furey for a bill of particulars and said he would make the same motion in open court April 13.

A federal grand jury three weeks ago accused Houser of accepting more than $900 last year from Hazel Holt Craig of Boise and offering to suppress venereal disease reports from her hotel.

Furey was asked to state specifically what was suppressed, what law was broken and how Houser intended to have his actions influenced.

Miner Killed

SALMON, April 7 (UP)—Barney Gamble, 34, a Caterpillar mine company employee, was killed Monday when he was buried in one of the company's Blackbird operation near here. It was reported by Lemhi county sheriff's office.

Investigators surmised that pressure from seepage caused the ore to cascade out of a chute when Gamble opened it to fill an ore car.

FILM PLANNED
SHOSHONE, April 7—A religious film will be shown at the First Baptist church youth fellowship meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

More Groups Signed up in Musical Fete

Four groups of Harmony and community singing... The Salt Lake City chorus of fifty members will sing following intermission. The highlight of the evening for the Jerome chapter will be the presentation of its charter.

A Jerome quartet will sing following the presentation and next will be the presentation of the charter by the entire cast.

Shepherd said the quartet from Spokane will be worked into the performance of three choruses and nine quartets. Following the program the entire cast will take part in an "afterglow" at the high school cafeteria and a harmony breakfast is slated for 10 a.m. Sunday at Wood's cafe.

Shepherd said the performance is one of the most unique in Magic Valley. Tickets are on sale at Warner's music store in Twin Falls, at the L. Herndon furniture in Jerome and from any member of the Jerome chapter. Some of the quartets will be heard on a program over radio station KLIH Friday night.

Doctors Vote for New Polio Shots

SEATTLE, April 7 (UP)—A committee of physicians voted yesterday to proceed with a mass inoculation of school children in Yakima, Kitsap and Whatcom counties after agreeing unanimously that the polio vaccine should be used in safe.

Dr. John Kahl, acting head of the Washington state health department said the committee could not "go along with Winchell's statements that there is a killer here."

He was referring to a statement made by Walter Winchell in his national radio broadcast and in his newspaper column that the vaccine "may be a killer."

The physicians represented the three counties, the health department and Washington State Medical association. They said they based their decision chiefly on their knowledge of the competence of physicians and scientists supervising preparation of the vaccine. They also said a triple check had been made on all the vaccine to be used.

Louisiana Stops Polio Serum Use

BATON ROUGE, La., April 7 (UP)—Polio vaccine tests for 4200 East Baton Rouge parish school children were canceled yesterday pending "clarification of the status of the serum."

Health officials expressed fear that the vaccination program here may have been impaired.

Dr. David Brown, parish health officer, announced the postponement after conferring with officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and doctors on radio commentator Walter Winchell's remarks Sunday that the vaccine may be "a killer instead of a cure."

"I definitely think it has endangered our chances of getting good response from the parents," said Dr. Brown.

College Dean Featured for Meet of Men

L. A. Williams, College of Idaho dean of admissions, Caldwell, suggested to the Twin Falls Methodist Men's club Tuesday night, "stop expecting your pastor to be a better Christian than you are."

Featured speaker of the dinner meeting, Williams based his speech, "The Christian churchman and his pastor," on the Parable of the Talents from the book of Luke. Drawing from the scriptures, he said Christianity could best be furthered if every churchman served "each to his ability." The congregation expects the pastor to build up his church, but the layman must do his part, he added.

With this in mind he suggested church men's clubs could help by fighting juvenile delinquency, sponsoring a Boy Scout troop, welcoming new families to the community and to the church, assisting smaller, outlying churches, and backing the work of young people's summer camps.

Williams advised the individual churchman to stop expecting your pastor to be a better Christian than you are, be willing to serve on church committees, make social services really work, and help with the church's financial matters.

Some 25 members of the Methodist Men's club attended the meeting. It was preceded by a steak and baked potato dinner served by the Women's Society of Christian Service. L. J. Schroyer offered grace. Following the dinner William Baker led the group in devotions. Schroyer, in group singing, and George Crowder in prayer.

Entertainment was provided by three piano solos by William Ruth, Dick Wise, president, conducted a short business meeting during which Baker, chairman of the nominating committee, presented a report.

Animal Blood Chemical May Save Humans

WENDELL, April 7—An animal blood chemical, which might become of enormous value in saving lives after an attack has been described by a biochemist.

The substance so far has come from the blood of anemic rabbits in tiny quantities. It is a blood-forming mechanism into speedy production of red blood cells.

Dr. Geo. Borsook and Dr. Geo. Borsook, California Institute of Technology, discovered the substance.

Borsook said the research was part of the atomic bomb project because of the effect which the substance might have on radiation-damaged blood systems.

Dr. Borsook said the substance caused a 100 per cent increase in hemoglobin and red cells in two to three days.

Dr. Borsook said the substance could stimulate what is known as the bone marrow, one might say, to produce more red blood cells.

TCP Re-powers Your Engine

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, sets free the captive power formerly locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Acts so fast it re-powers your engine before you've finished your second tankful.

Did you know that up to 15% of your engine's power is actually trapped... that you are paying for power you aren't getting?

The reason is this: Every gasoline sold today contains deposit-forming compounds. And, as gasoline is burned, lead and carbon deposits form on the walls of the combustion chamber and on the tips of the spark plugs. In the combustion chamber these deposits become "red hot," especially when you are accelerating, and "set off" the gasoline-air mixture before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition and it not only wastes power and fuel—it is also responsible for a most severe kind of knock—engineers call it "wild ping."

These deposits also cause power loss by short-circuiting spark plugs, causing them to misfire when you need power most.

Now, however, there is a way to release the imprisoned power in your engine—and quickly!

It's Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest gasoline development since tetraethyl lead. TCP additive actually re-powers your engine by changing the character of the lead and carbon deposits. In the combustion chamber it "fireproofs" them so they cannot glow and cause pre-ignition. And, because it makes the deposits non-conductors of electricity, spark plugs no longer short-circuit—they fire on time. Power works for you—not against you.

By the time you have finished your second tankful, you'll be getting up to 15% more power. But remember—because these deposits are constantly building up, continued use of Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits.

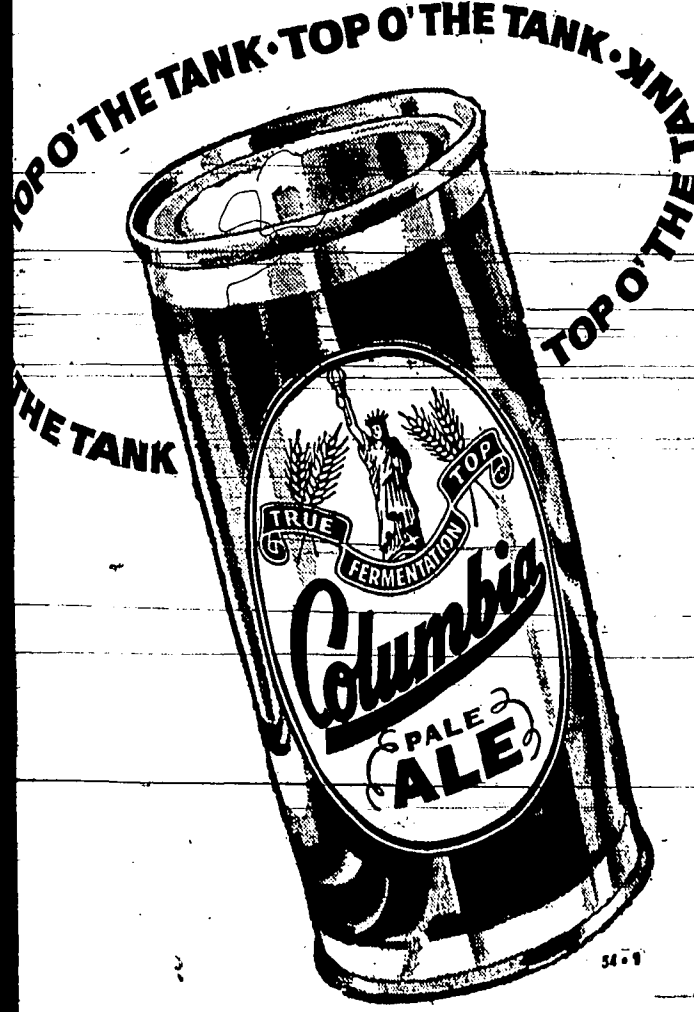

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is available only at Shell dealers.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Daring Hunters to Match Wits With Deadly Rattlers Sunday

OKENE, Okla., April 7 (AP)—Thrill-bent hunters will match wits Sunday with deadly rattlesnakes in the annual Okene-rattler round-up all for a piddling 60 cents a pound.

That's the current rate for rattlesnake meat on the hoof—alive and wriggling.

For thrills, many claim it's hard to beat stalking sometimes vicious rattlers using nothing more than a forked stick or a pair of tongs.

Cut in Support Level Opposed

CALDWELL, April 7 (AP)—Three of Idaho's four congressmen have told the Caldwell chamber of commerce they are opposed to the recent cuts in support levels for dairy products under present conditions.

Eddie Cole, secretary, said the chamber had received replies to its resolution protesting the recent 15 percent cut from Reps. Grace Pfoest and Hamer Budge and Sen. Henry C. Dworshak.

Dworshak said that "if the basic crops are set at higher than 75 percent of parity then the dairy industry is entitled to the same treatment."

Both Budge and Mrs. Pfoest noted that they had introduced legislation limiting support reductions to 5 percent a year. Mrs. Pfoest called the effective date of the 15 percent reduction "black Thursday for the dairymen," and Budge said the reduction was "too severe."

Winners Listed

KING HILL, April 7—Winners in the Bible reading contest at the Community Presbyterian church Sunday were Gene Youree, first, and Anita Barnes, second, group 1; Nancy Bolze, first, and Richard Youree, second, group 2; Ruth Craig, first, and Annis Barnes, second, group 3; and Darlene McKee, first, and Marjorie Carnahan, second, group 4.

Judges were Mrs. Nathan Miller and Mrs. Donald Panceost, Indian Cove, and Karl Anderson, King Hill.

Sponsors of the hunt claim, "anyone can do it." They bill it as "a new sport for the average man."

Thrill seekers from all over the nation will get up bright and early Sunday to stalk the rattlers. They probably will be more careful than usual this year, remembering the recent death of Ed Johnson, Jr., in Waco, Tex., veteran snake handler who taught originators of the event how to hunt rattlers—bare-handed. Johnson died of snake bite.

Despite his death, sponsors of the hunt still claim maximum safety for hunters. They point out no one has been bitten during the hunt. It's afterwards, when hunters get overly confident and begin showing off their catches, that the bites come.

In 1948, the association's worst year, five were bitten. They forgot rattlers get angry when cooped up in a sack for a time. When they were released to be shown off, they struck.

Those bitten are inducted into the exclusive "Order of the White Fang." Snake-hunters stalk the hills in groups, routing rattlers from their winter sleeping grounds. Some still are sleepy, others surprisingly active and vicious.

Advance publicity to the contrary, chief rattler Joe Durham insists rattlesnake hunting is as safe as sitting in your living room watching television, as long as you retain a healthy respect for the snakes.

"We have many women and children hunting now," he added. Rattlesnake steak will be on the menu at the big banquet Saturday night, preceding the hunt.

Decision Reached On Work in Ditch

HAGERMAN, April 7—The Hagerman village board Monday night decided against installing 300 feet of 10-inch pipe in order to close a ditch in the village. Instead, the board decided to repair the ditch to keep the water from washing out the banks.

The board decided the cost of piping the ditch was too high. Officials said that in addition to the regular assessment, piping the ditch would cost each person along the ditch an additional $12.50.

Liability insurance for the village with the Aetna Insurance company was renewed by the board for three years. The board decided to build a concrete abutment on the bridge near Mark Steele's home.

Blood Low

Blood is needed at Magic Valley Memorial hospital's blood bank, reports Mrs. Theodora Rigdon.

Donations of "O" negative type blood are badly needed. "A" negative and "A" positive blood reserves are nearly depleted. All donations will be welcome, says Mrs. Rigdon.

Nineteen transfusions were given last week compared to 21 donations. All donations were by friends of patients.

THE STORY OF PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FROM THE SKYWAYS TO THE HIGHWAYS

FOR MILITARY USE—Phillips Petroleum Company scientists originated and first manufactured new super-power aviation fuel components—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull) and HF Alkylate. These high test ingredients made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft.

RESTRICTED for use in high performance aviation gasoline, these powerful components have for years been on United States Government priority. But now military authorities have released restrictions on their use and Phillips Petroleum Company is able to use them in automotive gasoline.

TODAY, Di-isopropyl is available to motorists exclusively in a new gasoline called Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel! Flite-Fuel gives you increased power, greater fuel economy, higher anti-knock quality, freedom from stalling... plus Phillips 66 controlled volatility and the clean-burning features for which Phillips 66 Gasoline is famous.

GET PHILLIPS 66 FLITE-FUEL at any station where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield. Let your car's performance tell the story. Fill up with Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel for a new driving experience.
