Senators Speak Of Sending U.S. Force Into Asia

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Two senators today spoke of the sending of U. S. naval and air units into the Indo-China fighting as a possibility and one said, "it looks to me as if we are on the edge of war there."

Senator McCarran, D., Nev., who made this estimate in an interview, said, "If we should send in naval and air forces now, it would only bring the Chinese communists in force and then I don't see how we could avoid sending troops."

The sober comment in congress followed renewed expressions by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles of the administration's determination that Indo-China must not fall to the communists, and indications from abroad that U. S. allies are not moving as fast as U. S. officials might wish in forming a coalition on defense of Southeast Asia.

All sides seem to agree that if and when conclusive decisions are reached and some public statement is made, it must be not simply another "hands off" warning to the Chinese but an announcement of determination with real teeth.

What Kind of Teeth? The question at this point is what kind of teeth. Should the policy decisions be backed up by naval forces, air forces, ground forces, or some combination of these?

Eisenhower's refusal at his news conference yesterday to spell out probable free world action if the Chinese communists move in force into Indo-China caused some senators to speculate that a program of limited counter-action is in the making.

U. S. May Help Among these, Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., said he sees no need to use U. S. troops in Indo-China, but he added in an interview:

"In case of a crisis there, we may need to use naval power and undoubtedly airpower. I don't think anything we are doing now contemplates employing American manpower in Asia, but quite conceivably it calls for air and naval power."

Winners in seven classes and the sweepstakes were announced by officials of the American Automobile association, which supervises the annual economy run.

Presented to winning drivers less than 24 hours after the 20 cars competing ended their 1,335-mile run from Los Angeles.

All Cars Final The run, which took an average of 24 hours, 45 minutes, sent the cars over a route which confronted them with all kinds of traffic conditions. The 20 drivers, all of whom finished the run, encountered city traffic, mountain driving and had to use chains to get through Donner pass. The snow at the famed summit delayed the run an hour.

Top awards were made on a ton-mile basis. Ton-miles are how many miles a gallon of gas will move a ton of automobile.

Mileage Reported The Studebaker Land Cruiser which won the sweepstakes scored a top ton-miles-per-gallon figure of 60.843. It was entered by Paramount Motors, Inc., of San Francisco and driven by Dick Griffith. Actual gas consumption was 28.1046 miles per gallon, good enough for the car also to take first in its class—upper-medium price cars equipped with standard transmission and overdrive.

A Dodge Royal V-8 was second in the sweepstakes division with a mark of 58.0456. A Studebaker (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Panel Names New Counsel

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Ray H. Jenkins, a Tennessee lawyer and gentleman farmer, was chosen yesterday as the man to get to the bottom of the bitter row between Senator McCarthy, R., Wis., and high army officials.

His appointment as special counsel for the senate investigations subcommittee was announced by acting Chairman Mundt, R., S. D., who also said hearings in the controversial case will begin April 21.

Jenkins, 57, is one of the leading trial lawyers of Knoxville, Tenn. He is a Republican, an Episcopalian, and farms as a hobby.

Interviewed by reporters on Capitol Hill, Jenkins stated he is "quite positive" that he is not regarding one way or the other regarding McCarthy. Asked if he would care to state his opinion of the Wisconsin senator, the lawyer replied:

"My opinion of Senator McCarthy would not constitute any news. It would be improper for me to express an opinion."

"I have no record publicly or otherwise as to Senator McCarthy or what has come to be known as McCarthyism," he continued.

Hydrogen Bomb Production Is Put on Assembly-Line Basis

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The United States is embarking on assembly-line production of H-bombs. Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the atomic energy commission disclosed this yesterday in an unusually frank public statement.

He told a senate appropriations subcommittee the joint chiefs of staff are counting on the super weapon "to insure that the United States maintains its superiority over potential aggressors."

In addition to this suggesting the United States is ahead of Russia in hydrogen development, Strauss confirmed that the United States already is stockpiling H-bombs. He said President Eisenhower has ordered their production "greatly increased."

He also indicated a number of "thermonuclear (H-bomb) models" of different design and power are in the works. He told the senators the types of H-bomb now being tested in the Pacific have supplied information which "will play an important part in making the thermonuclear weapon a major instrument for the defense of the free world."

The atomic chief's statement came shortly after President Eisenhower said at his weekly news conference that the United States is making the H-bomb as big as it intends to. He said the U. S. is making the H-bomb as big as it intends to. He said the U. S. is making the H-bomb as big as it intends to.

2 Airplanes Collide, Toll Is 35 Killed

MOOSE JAW, Sask., April 8 (AP)—A trans-Canada Air Lines North Star and a Harvard training plane collided in the air and crashed today, killing all 34 occupants of the airliner and the pilot of the trainer.

The passenger plane, a four-engined craft similar to a DC-4, carried 26 passengers, five company officials and a crew of four.

The names of the passengers were not released immediately. The crew members were Capt. I. H. Bell, First Officer D. W. Guthrie, Steward L. Penner, and Stewardess M. L. Quinney, all Vancouver.

It was not known immediately whether the trainer carried one or two persons, but only the body of the pilot was found in the crumpled Harvard.

The North Star crashed into a house at the edge of the Willowdale golf course. It was first believed a mother and her child in the house were killed, but they were later found to have been away from the house and were safe.

Crashes on Golf Course The trainer crashed on the golf course some distance from the airliner.

Witnesses said they believed the pilot of the trainer plane was trying to make an emergency landing after the collision but his plane crashed. He was found dead in the wreckage.

Pieces of the North Star were strewn over a two-block area. An eyewitness said the Harvard trainer struck the North Star in the tail. A wing of the airliner fell off and the big craft spiraled into the house.

Houses Set Afire The crash set fire to the house and gutted it. Houses on either side also were badly damaged by the flames and flying wreckage.

The weather was clear with unlimited visibility. TCA officials and representatives of the government department of transport came here from Regina immediately to launch an investigation.

Military Forms New Program for Loyalty

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Defense Secretary Wilson today announced a revised security program designed "to clean out and keep out" of the armed forces persons deemed to be security or loyalty risks.

Wilson announced the new directive, and the security-loyalty yardsticks it lays down, at a public hearing before the senate armed services committee.

Its objective, he said, is to provide uniform standards for the army, navy and air force and "to speed up our procedures for getting such individuals out of the service and for keeping them out."

Policy Declared The new directive declares a general policy that the defense department will assume that acceptance or retention of any member of the armed services is clearly consistent with the interest of national security. "Unless and until a determination to the contrary is made,"

"However," it continues, "when credible information which raises the question of security is received action will be taken to determine whether acceptance or retention is consistent with the interests of national security."

Reds Not to Be Drafted In the case of draftees the directive declares:

1. "Known communists will not be inducted into the armed services."

2. "Inductees who do not 'satisfactorily' fill out loyalty questionnaires or whose questionnaires disclose 'significant derogatory information' . . . will be accepted into the service and retained on noncommunist assignments in the lowest enlisted pay grade permitted by law, pending completion of a thorough investigation."

House Adopts Bill to Permit Wire Tapping

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The house voted 221-166 today to empower the attorney general, subject to court approval, to tap wires and use the information as evidence in the prosecution of spies and saboteurs.

The roll call vote adopted and sent to the senate a measure by Rep. Willis D. Lee, which would erase the 30-year-old ban against use of such evidence in the federal courts.

Defeat for Brownell Approval of this bill was a defeat for administration supporters and Attorney General Brownell, who had opposed court restraints on the attorney general's authority.

On the vote, 188 Democrats were joined by 32 Republicans and one independent in favor of the Willis bill. All 166 opposing votes were Republican.

The primary purpose of the bill itself is to legalize wiretapping information as evidence in criminal prosecution of spies and saboteurs. Under a 30-year-old law, such evidence is not admissible in the federal courts.

Addison T. Smith, Now 91, Still Has No Use for Slippers, Rocking Chairs

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Addison T. Smith is 91 but doesn't go for slippers and rocking chairs. Right now, in addition to a full regular workload, he's polishing up a speech not going to make at the Lincoln museum Sunday.

This alert and spry oldster, who looks and acts like a man of 60 or 70, was named by the national park service to make the main speech at an annual service commemorating Abraham Lincoln's death in the old Ford theater where the Great Emancipator was shot.

Smith, an Idaho congressman from 1913 to 1933, in recent weeks has been sandwiching in research on Lincoln between his various other activities. These include work on the executive boards for the National Association of Retired Federal Employees and the National Institution for the Deaf.

Smith was interested in Lincoln long before he got the speech assignment. Ten years ago, long after he "retired" from public service, Smith decided that Lincoln's Gettysburg address contained a message that should be widely circulated.

Dangerous Cargo

TOKYO, April 8 (AP)—A Japanese fishing boat apparently exposed to radiation from the second U. S. hydrogen explosion at Bikini March 26 returned home today with a contaminated cargo of tuna. Kyodo News agency said.

Gelger counters showed radioactivity aboard the vessel was just below the danger point but its cargo of 33,000 pounds of tuna was reported dangerously radioactive.

French aerial aid was reported to have arrived from the United States, this time in a shipment of U. S. C-47 transports.

Army Reveals Its New Look 'Garb'

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—After years of indecision, the army disclosed today it finally has settled on a "new look" in uniforms.

One will be the traditional olive drab uniform with the Eisenhower jacket.

In the future the color will be "army green" and officers and enlisted men alike will wear the same type uniform. Including a trim, single-breasted coat.

The army presented the new uniforms in a fashion show today. The uniforms were modeled by the active and reserve soldiers.

Milk Drinking Habit Decline Noted in Talk

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Benson said today the average American consumes 47 pounds less fluid milk a year than did his predecessor nine years ago.

The butter, cheese and dried milk surplus now in government hands — totaling 1,300,000,000 pounds — would have disappeared, he said, if Americans were drinking milk and eating butter at the 1945 rate. But consumption, he said, is down 2.2 pounds per person per year — the equivalent of 45 more pounds of milk.

Asks Housewives Aid

Benson, in a prepared speech, asked housewives attending the Republican women's centennial conference to help the government carry out its determination that the surplus be consumed.

He said the agriculture department is cooperating with the dairy industry in a nationwide campaign to increase consumption of dairy products, particularly milk.

Hopes for Better Balance

Nothing that butter has dropped 10 cents or more per pound in the stores in the last two weeks, Benson said. He was hopeful that lower prices, the nationwide promotion campaign and a move to encourage dairy farmers to cull less productive cows, will bring consumption—and production into better balance and permit utilization of accumulated stocks.

'This can be done without interfering with the right of farmers to make their own management decisions and I should be the last to suggest production controls for the dairy industry,' he said.

Revised Draft On Water Use Pact Is Made

BOISE, April 8 — A drafting committee of the Columbia Interstate Compact commission drew up today a revised draft of an agreement for use of Pacific northwest waters.

After completing the job, the group adjourned its three-day meeting.

Howard R. Stinson, regional counsel of the U. S. bureau of reclamation and a member of the committee, and Frank Banks, Boise, federal representative on the commission, will take the draft to Washington, D. C.

They will also take an earlier draft submitted to a meeting in Spokane last week by Frederick Zimmerman of New York, consultant to the commission.

Stinson and Banks will consult with federal officials in Washington about the drafts. Then the revision will be submitted to the executive committee at a meeting in Spokane April 23 and 24.

Oliver Anderson, executive secretary of the commission, said revisions were made in voting strength, flood control and other provisions.

Aid Program May Hinge on Asia Outlook

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today congressional aid to the U. S. allies depends on how the U. S. decides to respond to State Secretary Dulles' call for collective action on south-east Asia.

"If they want to take a new reading based on Geneva," Knowland told newsmen, "the congress of the United States might determine it will take a new reading based on Geneva in response to Secretary Dulles' inquiries."

Knowland referred to reports that Britain and France opposed any collective action until after the April 26 conference at Geneva, Switzerland.

He said congress might want to withhold action on foreign aid, particularly to countries which have been "dragging their feet insofar as EDC is concerned."

This apparently was aimed at France, which has delayed for months taking any action on EDC—the European Defense Community which would include soldiers of France, Germany and four other countries.

"Meanwhile, reports circulated that Secretary Dulles probably will make a flying trip to London and Paris in a few days for urgent consultation on the Indochina crisis."

Motemen Oppose Attempt to Bypass Colorado in Route

They also will propose an alternative trans-continental route via 91 which again would bypass Reno.

State Mine Chief
Seeks Reelection

BOISE, April 8 (U) — George A. McDowell has announced he would seek reelection to his third term as state mine inspector on the Republican ticket. Saying he would stand on his record of the past eight years, McDowell cited a 15 per cent reduction in fatal mine accidents since he took office as his chief accomplishment. Adoption of the mine safety code, he said, has given complete coverage to all safety requirements, and instigation of quarterly accident reports by companies has helped reduce accidents. He also cited his enforcement of the dredge mining act passed by the last legislature, saying it had reduced stream pollution.

THE SENATE "LODGE"

The United States senate styles itself the "greatest deliberative body in the world." It is a proud organization, and rightly so, for it has a long, distinguished record of service in support of democratic freedoms.

But there can be no assembly of men that is perfect, and the senate certainly has never been perfect. Never, in fact, has it tried to conceal its imperfections. And often it has sought to take healthful collective action to eradicate them.

Only the closest reading of American history could establish whether it is true that the senate today is more heavily laden with faults than any of its predecessor assemblies. We suspect that such a search would prove somewhat inconclusive.

We cannot be sure that the present senate does less about its internal problems than some others in history have done. But we can raise reasonable doubt whether this senate does enough about them.

To the outsider, this senate more than most seems to have the air of the self-protective club. A member has to step pretty far out of line, as Senator Langer did in the Warren case, before individual colleagues rise to chide him.

Only the worst excesses seem to command the attention of the leadership itself. "Moral" pressure then is sometimes exerted by leadership statements. Occasionally, as was the case recently, new rules are developed for procedure. But the senate stops short of really treading on any toes.

The virtual anarchy of the committee system is held by some to be the key. Once named, committee chairman function as little czars, holding a whip hand over legislation, initiating or shutting off investigations as they choose. Each senator appears to fear invading the prerogative of his colleague, imagining that any unfriendly gesture will be returned in kind.

The committees, and the committee chairmen, are creatures of the senate. But most often the senate behaves as if it were powerless to control them.

Perhaps some senators—and the leadership particularly—ought to be reminded that it is the American people who pay their membership dues in this fine club. And the people might therefore like to feel that the club members are responsible to them, rather than simply to the other fellows in the lodge.

GOP-CAMPAIGN "AMMO"

In an election year, congress likes to adjourn by July if possible. If you assume that as a fairly firm deadline, the present session is about half over. But congress has not done even a quarter of its prospective work.

When you examine its three months' performance, you realize most of the time has been consumed in a struggle for power and prestige with the executive establishment. First, the long debate and action on the Bricker amendment and related proposals. Second, and continuing, the various controversies between the army and Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Depending on your viewpoint, these may or may not be regarded as necessary contests serving the interests of the American people. But there can be no question they take time from what used to be regarded as the legislature's main business: making laws.

With each passing week, it will be increasingly difficult for the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill to drive to passage a significant proportion of the items in President Eisenhower's full program.

And this points up a curious irony. A lot of Republican lawmakers behave as if they cannot win reelection this fall unless they trumpet the theme of communism in government. This is based on the assumption that the President's policies are "unpopular."

Nobody denies that a good many farmers are displeased with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and unhappy over the President's farm proposals. No one denies, either, that Big Labor thinks the administration derelict in meeting what it sees as a definite business recession.

But reports are that congressional mail is running heavily in favor of Mr. Eisenhower's new programs, and those lawmakers who have checked their constituents generally have found a similar response. Thus the adoption of a big share of the President's measures would presumably give them a lot of campaign ammunition.

The less congress does in the next three months, the less of this ammunition GOP politicians will have. But how much of it they get is a matter under their control.

If it is little, that will be because that is the way they want it.

DISPLACED GRAIN

In recent years congress has had to enact bills dealing with displaced persons. Evidently it will have to figure out in 1954 what to do about displaced grain. There is a prospect that no storage space will be available for some 280 million bushels of wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley and such which will be harvested this summer.

One reason so many marriages are failures is because so many failures got married.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON — Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield is backing predominant sentiment on Capitol Hill with his proposal that the postoffice be placed on a "pay as you go basis" and his opposition to more generous pay increases to 500,000 postal employees. Congressional approval of his ideas is impossible in a reelection year, if ever.

Regardless of the immediate disposition of these questions, however, Summerfield's move may and should result in congressional clarification of the status of the postoffice and its workers. He insists that congress determine whether the postoffice should be regarded as a business corporation with rates raised enough so that it can operate without annual losses, or whether it should be subsidized through general taxation.

BUSINESS PAYS MOST OF REVENUE—According to the postmaster-general, increased rates would not weigh too heavily on individual users of the mails. A recent study by the National Industrial Conference board showed that 75 to 80 per cent of postage revenues are paid by business rather than casual letter writers. And businessmen are the chief advocates of elimination of government deficits.

Opponents of a rate increase, on and off Capitol Hill, consist of owners of small firms, mailing houses, newspapers and magazines. Many insist that even a small boost in their mailing costs would drive them into bankruptcy. And there are several million small businesses in the United States.

PROTESTS PROVOKED—In connection with proposed pay increases for postal employees, a recent discussion here has provoked numerous protests from individuals and organizations. Most recognize that I was simply expounding the official viewpoint. But they disagree violently with Summerfield's arguments against an $800-a-year raise.

Citing labor department statistics, they challenge the economic survey made for him by a Chicago management firm, and on which he relies for his position. They deny its conclusion that their increases have kept pace with the cost of living, or with raises granted to factory and white-collar workers.

CONTENTION DISPUTED—Summerfield's proposed boosts, which would cost 80 million dollars a year, would mean only an annual $10 or $25 gain for postal workers at the bottom of the pay scale, according to their contention, while it would give the biggest benefits to those at the top.

They dispute the postmaster-general's belief that increasing their pay would precipitate demands for another round of raises by the unions, such as the AFL, CIO and UMW. They say that their need for more money has been sharpened and inspired by the inflation resulting from organized workers' steadily raising pay schedules.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES' CASE—In his statement to congressional committees, E. C. Hallbeck, legislative representative of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, gave a succinct statement of their case.

He said that postal clerks and carriers spendable income is $781 less than they had in 1939, and that increases in the interim had not compensated for higher living costs. More than half of the 115,000 clerks, according to his survey, cannot live on their present salaries.

As a result, he continued, 42.7 per cent have had to take extra jobs. Almost 40 per cent of their wives had to go to work, with adverse effects on the children and home life. About 72 per cent have suffered from an increase in current and installment debts. Meanwhile, they contend that their productivity has increased 15 per cent since their last raise in 1931. The natural trend, they add, has been to reduce morale to an "all-time low."

Congress will probably side with the employees, giving them more than they would receive under the Summerfield program, although not the maximum of $800. It will have to get around to upward revision of the rate structure some day, but it will duck that question in a reelection year.

And the least surprised man at this outcome will be former Republican National Chairman Summerfield, who knows the realities of politics.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

NEW SECURITY PROGRAM
It is now clear that the designation "security risk" as used by some members of the administration has covered a multitude of sins. In the case of the treasury department, which is probably typical enough, it was revealed that of the 131 employees who were dismissed or who resigned under the terms of the new security program, only four were of doubtful loyalty. And the department's general counsel acknowledged to a house appropriations subcommittee that 144 of the separations were brought about through normal civil service procedures and had nothing to do with President Eisenhower's order creating the security program. In short, those who have been representing the record of 2,200 "security" separations as proof that the government was full of communists and other subversives have been guilty of a barefaced fraud.

Some members of congress have been asking what difference it makes whether the employees were separated because they were subversives, drunk, homosexuals, gossips or merely somewhat unstable. Obviously, it makes a good deal of difference to the endurance of the fiction that the government is communist-ridden. Obviously, too, it makes a difference in the individuals involved. Rep. J. Vaughan Gary, who forced the partial breakdown of "security" separations, declared: "There is a difference between a man being an alcoholic, which is a disease, and being a communist, which is a traitor."

The difference was dramatized, luridly but effectively, by another member of the subcommittee, Rep. Alfred D. Sienkiewicz. When he heard that one reason for separating a man from the government service as a "security risk" might be the fact that he had relatives abroad behind the iron curtain, the congressman revealed that for seven years, until the past Christmas, he had had a stepdaughter in Poland; and he added that he would kill anyone who charged him with disloyalty on this account. We imagine a great many Americans would feel the same way. It is tragic as well as ironic that the Eisenhower security program, devised to avoid the stigma of disloyalty, should have been misused to brand the innocent with the guilty.—Washington Post.

IMMUNITY PITFALLS

An unusually unanimous U. S. supreme court has handed down a just decision involving immunity for a congressional committee witness. The case is that of one William Adams, a policy operator in Baltimore who was convicted in Maryland courts for violating the state's lottery laws. He was sentenced to a seven-year prison term.

The main evidence against Adams in the Maryland state courts was his own testimony before the Old Kefauver crime investigating committee of the U. S. senate. In appealing his conviction, Adams maintained that the federal immunity statute barred the use of his Kefauver committee testimony to prosecute him in state as well as federal courts.

Maryland officials contended, however, that congress had no authority to define the rules of evidence in state courts.

The supreme court rejected this contention and reversed Adams' conviction. Justice Black, writing the high tribunal's opinion, pointed out that if the immunity statute did not apply to state as well as federal courts it would be "a trap for the unwary."

Nevertheless, the questions raised in the Adams case illustrate the difficulty of enacting an immunity law that would set at rest the fears of many congressional committee witnesses and still serve the best public interest.

If the present immunity law is changed it should be in accordance with Atty.-Gen. Brownell's recommendation that this office have veto power over grants of immunity not in the best public interest—a power it does not now possess. It would serve as a desirable check on legislators who might otherwise be tempted, in their appetite for headlines, to let the most vicious criminals escape just punishment by the mere act of rectifying their misdeeds before an investigative body of congress.—Chicago Sun-Times.

POT SHOTS

HOW ABOUT THIS?

Dear Sir:

Twin Falls is planning to go all-out on a 50-year celebration, the Golden Jubilee. For what it's worth, has anyone considered erecting now—billboards at the city limits on all major approaches to the city? The billboards would say something to the effect that Twin Falls was established in 1904 and list a few of the most important achievements in 50 years. Such as 17,500 population—and still growing! Or point out that Twin Falls has developed—and prospered because of a solid agricultural economy. NEVER A CROP FAILURE! Anyone is welcome to the idea for what it's worth.

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.

The family of George Denton, Jr., is looking for good homes for two puppies. One is a female shepherd, a good cattle dog, and the other is her daughter. Although still a puppy, the latter has the markings of a good cattle dog, too. The Denton home is located two miles south of Jordan's service station, Piler, on the east corner of the intersection.

IT WORKS THAT WAY

Dear Pots:

How do you go about telling some people that what they think is a well-kept secret isn't so secret after all?

Just for purposes of illustration, take a situation in which several people are planning to pull a surprise party. Planning (in this case, plotting) would be a better word, has been done rather thoroughly and on the hush-hush side. Yet the principal in the case has gotten wind of the essential details of the plan.

Should you let the people go ahead with their surprise, and act like it is a surprise, or should you drop a few gentle hints? Surprising how someone can bluff out a little clue that'll give the whole plan away, isn't it?

HIGH TIME, TOO

Dear Mr. Pot Shots:

Like lots of other folks, I count roses as my favorite flowers. I think there's nothing quite like them. The blossoms are fragrant, delicate and entirely pleasing to the eye.

But why does a rose bush have to have thorns? And do all of them have thorns? I would like to find a rose bush that produces good-sized blossoms and doesn't have any thorns. Has anyone ever heard of such a plant?

You'd think that modern science could do something about rose bush thorns.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—There is a nasty mystery in the Eisenhower administration's connivance with a cabal of old-time Trotskyite communists led by Jay Lovestone and an upstart maddler in our international affairs named Irving Brown. Our people never authorized this gang to represent us in anything or to meddle in the affairs of other nations under official or semi-official auspices.

We don't need such people or Weekend Pegler such sneaky, sly methods to keep us out of war. We don't even know they want to. But we aren't allowed to know anything about them beyond wisps of information which only intensify the mystery.

This is not the American way. This is the old European way of meddling in other nation's politics and elections and the reason why Eisenhower won't tell us about the Lovestone-Brown thing is that he knows the popular reaction would be angry resentment not only against the character of these agents but against the abandonment of the decent way of doing business with other nations.

Lovestone and Brown are in clandestine schools with David Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers, who has 160 million dollars wrong from the tollers and from the garment industry, itself, which he now controls through the union.

His way of dealing with the business firms, most of them small and only one jump ahead of bankruptcy, is to threaten and bully. This is no proper function of a so-called labor union. Dubinsky never was a Republican nor, for that matter, a recognizable American Democrat.

He is steeped in European political habits of thought and his political aim is Marx, which ranges all the way from "kremlin communism" to social-democracy and other phases of democracy, all disruptive. He has a private left-wing political party in New York operated as a phase of the union which polls only a small vote but might, conceivably, one day decide the election of a President by wielding the balance of power.

Eisenhower was nominated by the Republican convention, ran on the Republican ticket, and appealed for, and got the votes of the true Republicans as well as the mixed-up motley of states-rights Democrats, of the southern tier and a lot of interlopers in the north.

His northern support included the New York Times and Herald Tribune and the Henry Luce forces. The Luce outfit is a sort of political Christine-Jorgensen, which doesn't know its own sex. It damns all real Republicans to hell all the time and plays along with those who fancy their cult as a renaissance Republican party. That is what they think.

But, to the true Republican, they are one of nature's grotesque errors and ought to be in Harvard in a bottle. Luce's wife got the Rome embassy in return for his bailiwick in the campaigns to get Ike nominated and elected, but little Henry has become a political force in the last 75 years, political dissolution and disaster have followed. These "movements" are all Marxian variations and their inevitable course is to destroy capital force; grab power, ball things up beyond hope of recovery and then slide into revolution, dissolution and war.

Irving Brown has been meddling in France and Italy with Ike's blessing since long before the boyish grin became a badge of political inanity. So the other day, as though in celebration of his efforts, the French prime minister gets kicked in the pants and the minister of defense slapped in the face by a mob of bums about equally composed of communists and De Gaulle fascists.

They all have hysteria in common and the whole nation is so far gone that it would rather eat flies in its soup than pick them out. We have nothing to boast of in this field, ourselves. Many Americans simply will not question Ike's wisdom nor even let others express well-reasoned doubts.

On Alert
Smuggling
A-Weapons

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The state department today issued a detailed directive to all U.S. consular and embassy personnel to be alert for the smuggling of atomic weapons to the United States.

The instructions, which are being sent to all consular and embassy personnel, are described as "all information regarding the physical properties of such weapons."

The directive, issued from the State Department, is more detailed than the information on the same subject distributed to civilian agencies.

The directive may be small, but it is a big one, for it is the first time that the state department has issued such a detailed directive to all U.S. consular and embassy personnel.

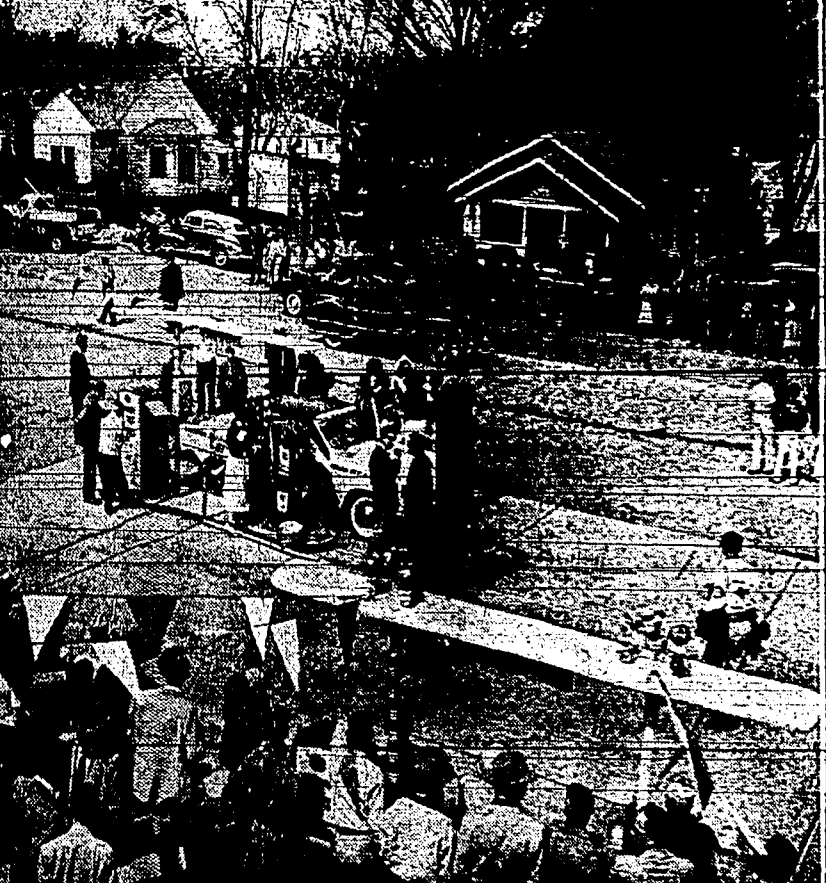

The directive is a result of the discovery of a small atomic bomb in the trunk of a car in New York City last month. The bomb was found by a customs officer at the New York harbor.

The bomb was a "gun-type" bomb, and it was made of uranium. It was about the size of a football, and it weighed about 10 pounds.

The bomb was found in the trunk of a car that was driven by a man named John Doe. The car was found in New York City, and it was found by a customs officer at the New York harbor.

Good Crowd on Hand to Watch Refueling

20 Drivers Welcomed to Twin Falls on Last Leg of Sun Valley 'Economy Run'

West Five points was a beehive of activity Wednesday afternoon as 20 automobiles refueled on the last leg of the 1,235-mile economy run from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. More than 1,000 spectators gathered.

First arrival at the local refueling station was Archie Brown, Pasadena, Calif., driving a Nash Ambassador Super. Brown checked in at 12:30 p.m., some 20 minutes ahead of schedule. The last contestant departed for Sun Valley at 1:32 p.m.

The Twin Falls reception was termed by William Blake, Twin Falls Mobilgas distributor, and company officials as the best turnout accorded the caravan since it left Los Angeles.

Refueling operations here went smoothly. Two three-man crews dispensed gasoline as crews swarmed over cars as each machine swarmed into the station. Fueling pulled from two to three minutes per auto and no gasoline spillage was noted.

Participants and passengers gulped down juices, coffee and munches on French fries and sandwiches before climbing back into the dusty automobiles and leaving for Sun Valley.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce made the most of the opportunity to plug the Golden Jubilee. Shirley Pullmer, Miss Twin Falls, and six hostesses greeted each participant.

Lengthy Wait
On Statehood
Bill Probable

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Republican backers of a senate-approved statehood bill for Alaska and Hawaii said today house action on the measure may be delayed for several weeks.

Rep. John P. Saylor, R., Pa., chairman of a house territories subcommittee, pointed out an informal house recess starts next Thursday and many members already are leaving town.

Saylor and other supporters of the bill plan to seek signatures on a petition to force action on it. The combined measure is expected to be sent to the house rules committee which has bottled up a separate house bill for Alaskan statehood.

A proposal by Alaskan Gov. W. Frank Heinzelman that only the more populous sections of Alaska be included in a new state may be the basis of a compromise on the statehood issue, Saylor said.

President Eisenhower expressed interest in the proposal yesterday, saying it may meet some of his objections to Alaskan statehood. The administration had requested statehood for Hawaii only.

Chairman Hugh Butler, R., Neb., of the senate interior committee said he was "pleased" by the President's statement. He called it "very fair" and said it "should warm up a few members of the house to the statehood project."

People Cured of Tuberculosis
May Live Longer, Doctor Says

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Having tuberculosis and being cured of it may actually mean a longer life for a person than he would have had without tuberculosis, an insurance doctor reports.

Dr. Harry E. Ungerleider of New York said this is indicated by one of the most detailed insurance studies ever made of life expectancy.

The physician told the American College of Physicians the recent analysis involved studies of the records of 124,000 insured individuals.

Concerning tuberculosis the doctor said it is a person survives five years after his tuberculosis has been "rested," the possibility of death is no greater than it would be for the average of people of the same age.

"And 10 years after arrest, mortality becomes appreciably less than average," he said.

Regarding diseases of the heart, he said, the study gave additional grounds for "a much more optimistic outlook" on life expectancy among people with disease of the coronary arteries, one of the major forms of heart ailment.

But he declared the findings regarding mortality rates among people who have serious heart "murmurs" justify the present "conservative attitude towards insurability" of such people.

Among other findings:

Acute rheumatic fever: Life expectancy "far better" than had been supposed a few years ago.

Migraine headache: Normal life expectancy and, in some categories, even better than normal.

Chronic bronchitis: Attended by death rates 50 to 80 per cent above normal.

Stomach ulcers: In the absence of any hemorrhage, mortality rates just about the same as normal.

Sun stroke: Normal life expectancy.

Evacuation Cited
As Best Defense

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (AP)—Federal Civil Defense Administration official Peterson says that evacuation of cities is the only feasible answer to atomic attack.

"People have three choices in an atomic attack," he said. "They can stay home and die; they can go underground. They can leave the target areas—the cities—on the surface. I am forced to the conclusion that evacuation is the only feasible plan."

En route to Washington from the mid-Pacific H-bomb testing ground, Peterson told civil groups that the five million people in the Los Angeles metropolitan area can be evacuated into the desert. He said peacetime practice evacuations would be necessary to insure the effectiveness of an emergency evacuation.

Senators Rap Agency Stand On High Dam

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senate opponents of a federal Hells canyon dam yesterday renewed their attack on what they described as the "Eisenhower administration's private utility philosophy" for the development of the nation's water resources.

Thirteen senators, sponsors of legislation to authorize federal construction of the Hells river project, centered their fire on a report of the budget bureau recommending against enactment of the legislation.

The report cited hearings now under way before the federal power commission on applications of the Idaho Power company to build three low dams in the same river area proposed for the high federal dam, and recommended against congressional action before the commission's decision.

The senatorial opponents charged the bureau with "attempting to make congressional inaction a certainty, thereby strengthening the private utility's position before the federal power commission."

They said the bureau report "speaking for the administration, has removed the last shred of its neutrality dispute."

As a result, the senators said "the administration's opposition to full development of the greatest remaining dam site in America is now in the open."

Policy Blasted
The senators asserted the report "is additional proof of the Eisenhower administration's private utility philosophy. It urges congress to take no action on authorization for a high dam at Hells canyon until the federal power commission decides whether it will give away the site to the Idaho Power company."

"One of the arguments that the secretary of interior and other administration and utility spokesmen have made for serious consideration of the low dam plan is that congressional authorization is not probable. The bureau is attempting to make congressional inaction a certainty, thereby strengthening the private utility's position before the federal power commission."

Jordan Planning To Attend Meets Of Three Groups
BOISE, April 8 (AP)—An itinerary that will keep him out of his office for most of the next three weeks, beginning with a meeting of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association at Portland Monday—has been announced by Gov. Len Jordan.

The governor is to deliver the featured speech at the association's semi-annual banquet Monday night. He said he would give a progress report on the northwest governors' power policy committee, which he helped form after the administration announced its "partnership plan" of federal-local power development.

The governor is to travel to Victoria, B. C., April 21 for a meeting of the power committee, which will consider a report prepared by the engineering committee.

Jordan said that as soon as that meeting is over he will leave for Washington, D. C., and the April 23 governors' conference with President Eisenhower.

Flood Plan Gets Test in Lewiston

LEWISTON, April 8 (AP)—Army engineers and city and county officials today reviewed what would have happened if the worst possible Clearwater river flood had struck Lewiston.

High waters are predicted for the Clearwater this spring, but no disastrous flood is forecast.

The imaginary catastrophe which was dealt with on paper Wednesday included inundation of the entire town, forced evacuation of several hundred north Lewiston residents, and sand bagging of the north Lewiston levee and the Prairie railroad embankment. The flood theoretically washed loose a million feet of logs at the Potlatch Forests plant.

Polio Vaccine Is Called Safe

ALBUQUERQUE, April 8 (AP)—A Pittsburgh polio specialist says effectiveness of the fall polio vaccine "depends on several unknowns." He warned the public against placing false hopes in it as a cure-all.

Dr. W. Hammon, head of the University of Pittsburgh school of public health, at the same time emphasized there would appear to be no danger in the use of the vaccine.

"I would give it to my own children," he said.

More than 600,000 children will be vaccinated this winter. The vaccine, discovered by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh medical school, consists of dead polio virus grown in monkeys' kidneys.

The vaccine itself appears to be safe, Hammon told the United States-Mexico Border Public Health association.

The only danger is the reaction of the public in the event of setbacks. People may lose faith and that could retard the entire polio research program.

Demo Plans for Head Tax Flayed

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, R. Vt., today described as a "poor bargain" a proposal to levy a head tax on persons relieved of federal income taxes by increased exemptions.

This proposal was tossed before the senate finance committee yesterday by Sen. J. Allen Freer, Jr., D. Del.

Freer is one of the sponsors of the Democratic plan to increase personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800 this year and to $1,000 next year.

He told reporters the head tax idea had been discussed among some Democrats as a possible amendment to the administration tax reform bill if the increased exemption proposal is adopted first.

Study of Project Plan Is Endorsed

CALDWELL, April 8 (AP)—Three Canyon county chambers of commerce today gave their approval to a thorough study of the so-called Jensen proposal to provide irrigation water in the Dry lake and Murphy-Manning areas.

Directors of the Caldwell, Nampa and Maring chambers approved the request for study, which came from their reclamation committees.

George L. Crookham, Jr., chairman of the Caldwell chamber's reclamation committee, called for a final investigation by the bureau of reclamation "to determine the correctness of our planning to date and to determine if the project is feasible."

Driver's Revenge Scheme Backfires

RICHMOND, Calif., April 8 (AP)—Jack D. Hayes was annoyed at getting a tag while he said, he was getting change to put in a parking meter.

So he mailed in his $3 bill enclosed in two copper tubes, one inside the other and each soldered shut. Municipal court attaches promptly mistook it for a bomb.

"It's not a bomb," Hayes said. "We don't recognize it as such," said Court Clerk James Landon. "We are returning it to Mr. Hayes with his second notice—ball now $10."

Court Bid Slated By Caldwell Man

CALDWELL, April 8 (AP)—District Judge Donald Anderson, Caldwell, announced today he would be a candidate on the non-partisan ballot for one of the two seats on the Idaho supreme court in the Aug. 10 primary election.

He will seek the seat being vacated by Justice Raymond L. Givens, who reaches the retirement age at the end of the current term.

Chief Justice James W. Porter, Twin Falls, has announced for reelection.

The Seventh Judicial District Bar association endorsed Anderson for the high court Feb. 1, and other bar associations have endorsed him since that time.

Anderson noted that the seventh district has not been represented on the court except for an interim appointment, since 1932. Comprised of Adams, Canyon, Gem, Payette, Valley and Washington counties, Anderson said it includes a large part of Idaho's population and has a large percentage of the business before the court.

Grazing Fight Is Ended by Welker

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senator Welker, R. Ida., yesterday gave up his fight to amend at this session of congress a national forest grazing bill to provide the greater legal protection he said permit holders need in disputes with the forest service.

He withdrew his motion to reconsider the bill already passed by the senate.

Welker said he would bring the matter before the next session of congress, "and this time I hope for a better chance of constructive action."

He had based his objective on what he termed the bill's failure to provide adequate legal protection for permit holders in disputes with the forest service.

Quake Hits Reno

RENO, Nev., April 8 (AP)—A fairly sharp earthquake shook Reno a few minutes after 11 p.m. Tuesday, the University of Nevada reported.

Prof. D. B. Slamonson, the university's earthquake expert, said the quake was about 12 miles away and lasted up to three minutes. It was generally felt in Reno for only a few seconds, and there were no reports of damage.

Caution Urged With Vaccine

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (AP)—The head of the American Academy of Pediatrics says he would not allow use of the new polio vaccine on his own children.

Dr. Roger L. J. Kennedy of the Mayo clinic told reporters at the pediatric academy meeting that he personally felt—although he used in view of statements made by "people who have voiced objections" to the virus preparations produced by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh.

"I have no special personal knowledge of the vaccine's merits," Dr. Kennedy said—but some of the people who have voiced objections are people who are entitled to have assurances about it."

Dr. Kennedy did not name the critics he referred to but said one of the main considerations was that not sufficient experimental work had been done to determine what undesirable side effects the vaccinations may produce.

Report Asked By Stevenson In Party Spat

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, asked for full reports today on a political controversy centering about National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert L. Condon, D., Calif.

Stevenson directed his request for information to Mrs. Clara Shipper, Democratic national committeewoman, who telephoned him yesterday at the request of Democratic clubs in Condon's district to find out how he stands in the matter.

Withdrawals Asked

The controversy arose when Mitchell urged Condon and Roosevelt to withdraw their congressional candidacies.

Condon is seeking reelection in the 6th district in northern California. He was barred last year from atomic tests in Nevada as a security risk, but he has denied he is a communist.

Accused of Adultery

Roosevelt, is a candidate from the 26th district of Los Angeles. His estranged wife, Romelle, has accused him of intimacies with other women.

Mrs. Shipper said Stevenson asked her to send him a full report of statements and opinions of California party leaders, saying he knew nothing of the facts in the case. She said Stevenson also told her he will consult with Mitchell before deciding whether to take sides.

GOP Maps Plans In State Election

CALDWELL, April 8 (AP)—Canyon county Republicans set about laying plans today to capture the first district congressional seat for the GOP, spurred on by the words of State Republican Chairman William S. Campbell.

Campbell told a Canyon County Central committee meeting last night that the Eisenhower administration and Congress "have done a colossal job with the mess they fell heir to under the most trying and aggravating circumstances."

He predicted the voters would reward the party at the polls in 1954 and 1956 for deterring a runaway inflation and restoring morale and integrity in the government.

Health Aide Urges Owners to Keep Herds Free of Diseases

Charles Cotten, state sanitarian of the Idaho public health department, told Magic Valley dairymen Wednesday afternoon they will have to work for brucellosis-free herds to keep neighboring states from blocking the export of their dairy products.

Speaking at an educational meeting of dairy and processor field and production men, Cotten made the statement during a discussion of Idaho's new brucellosis-testing program to make all herds supplying grade A milk free of the disease.

The program will start Jan. 1, 1955. Citing Wyoming as an example, Cotten said surrounding states are building barriers for protection against states which don't have brucellosis-free herds. This is a trend of serious importance for Idaho dairymen who export 90 per cent of their manufactured dairy products, he pointed out.

Marion Parrott, Caldwell, president of the Idaho Milk Processors association, summarized the day-long district meeting by encouraging processors and dairymen to strive for higher quality to increase consumption.

Parrott also suggested the dairy-

Fire Calls

JEROME, April 8—Jerome rural fire department was called out twice Tuesday. The first call was at 3:15 a.m. to H. L. Freshour's ranch, four miles north and two west of Jerome. Twelve tons of hay and an old barn was burned. No estimate of the damage was given.

At 6:15 p.m. firemen were called to Dick Roberts' ranch five miles north and three west of Jerome where a furnace motor caught on fire. Only $20 damage was reported by Fire Chief Gibb Bird.

Movie by GOP, Becomes New Vote Weapon

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—A Republican movie of "the case of Harry Dexter White" turned up today as a special GOP weapon for the 1954 election campaign.

The motion picture, selling at a local movie laboratory for $28 a copy, was unveiled by the Republican national committee at the two-day centennial conference of GOP women leaders.

Republican National Campaign Director Robert Humphreys, conducting a conference workshop on campaign aids, drew a sell-out crowd of delegates when the White film preview was announced.

Humphreys said the film was prepared by Rep. Charles Brownson, R., Ind., from motion pictures of events during the controversy touched off last fall when Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., labeled White a "spy" and said former President Truman knowingly promoted him in government.

Mr. Truman denied the charge and President Eisenhower said he could not conceive of his predecessor having done anything disloyal.

Postmaster Notes New Chain Letter Stunts Not Legal

SPOKANE, April 8 (AP)—A new outbreak of the old chain letter "get rich quick" scheme in Spokane prompted a warning note from Postmaster Joseph L. Maloney today.

Two types are being circulated, he said. One calls for payment of $3 by each person added to the chain. The other carries a prize of 38 fishing plugs.

Maloney said both claim, incorrectly, that they are not violating postal regulations.

The fishing-plug letter asks the recipient to send a plug to the name at the top of the letter, then mail out six copies of the letter.

It assures the recipient it is legal "since no money is involved," Maloney said. He added a note to send chain letters to mail it.

"I am told that the letter is being sent through the mail," he said, "it's illegal just the same."

People on the $3 chain mail it.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

John Henry goes to school where there are two classes in a room. He does well in school but for one thing. He does not work when the teacher is teaching the other class but sits and listens. His written work is not done of course and the teacher is greatly distressed. "I can't work when I hear the teacher telling a story, or the kids reciting. How can I?"

Of course he should. He must. He cannot be allowed to neglect his work for the fun of watching and listening to others. But the teacher must find a way of getting him to attend to business. That is the problem.

First, he must want to do so. Next we must discover how to get him to want to. Until we do he will continue to look and listen happily. It would be a good idea to talk to John Henry about his reason for being in school. What his learning, his growth of ability and power of understanding will mean to him, does mean to him now, and how his idleness, his inattention in it will handicap him later and put the things he wants beyond his reach. What his appetite for ability, power and praise and honor. That can be done because he is a bright boy.

Discuss with him how he can be helped to shut out the doings of the other group and attend to his own business. "Wouldn't it help if I were to set a chair and table over on that side of the room, with your back to the class so that you could not see what is going on and so be able to get down to business?" He is likely to agree.

But he will still need a push and a shove, a hint and an order, to keep on going. A friend at hand is very useful. There is a bigger, older boy, or one greatly admired in his group, who might take over the task of seeing that John Henry got his work done on time. Often such children—John Henry is 12 years old—will go along with a classmate, whom they admire, with better grace than with the teacher.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle, Alencon-lace and pleated nylon net fashioned with a boat neckline, fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and long train. Her fingertip veil was held by Juliet cap of nylon net and tiny velvet flowers and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and bouvardia.

For the wedding and reception, Mrs. Nielson wore a gown of rose lace and pleated net with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose blue lace with matching accessories. Their corsages were white orchids and bouvardia.

Farley Predicts Yanks To Have Rough Going

LONDON, April 8 (AP)—James A. Farley, who has made some famous long-range political predictions, said Wednesday he thought the New York Yankees may have real trouble in trying to win their sixth straight American league pennant.

"In the National League, Brooklyn is going to take it again," Farley said. "No chance for the Giants." "No, I'm afraid not."

"And in the American League," Farley said, "I believe the Yankees are in trouble this year. I'm not at all sure they're going to repeat." He wouldn't say who would win if the Yankees don't.

Farley, now a business executive, made his prognostications in an unorthodox manner. He telephoned from Paris and paid for the call. After announcing he was sailing for the United States Thursday, inquiring about politics in Britain, Russia and Alabama, Farley got around to another of his great loves—baseball.

"No spring training for me," he said. "I've been in Germany for the past two weeks." "Then how are you qualified to predict on the pennant?" "I can read, can't I? I can listen, can't I?"

Farley is an old first baseman and a great Yankee fan. "The Yanks," said Farley, who watches their games from a private box at Yankee stadium, "are not a young team. They've got too many veterans. Can they come through once more? I doubt it."

When he played first base for Havana, N. Y., before he entered politics—Farley was known as "Stretch." People who saw him play said he would have had a great future in baseball if he hadn't turned to politics.

He will make a political prediction as quickly as he will kiss a baby in campaign time, but up to now he's been reluctant to divulge what he sees in baseball's crystal ball.

"This is the farly special," he said. "This is the Farley special—a hard year for the Yanks."

Biggest Field in Master's History Tees Off Today Against Ben Hogan

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8 (AP)—The biggest field in the history of the Masters golf tournament will start the 20th anniversary tournament Thursday, facing one of the toughest tasks ever to confront a picked group of star golfers. That task is to stop Ben Hogan, the tense Texan scrapper who won everything in sight last year, including his second Masters.

When this tournament was inaugurated in 1934 over the new Augusta National course, Ben Hogan was the dominant figure in golf. His rivals figured the way to win was to beat Bobby—and they occasionally did. Jones never won the Masters tournament, which has become recognized as a sort of memorial to his feats.

Now Hogan is the boss man and the others think of him the way they thought of Jones—beat Ben and you win.

Even before it starts, the 1954 Masters has simmered down to a contest between Hogan and the other 78 entrants. So far no one has suggested that anything but superlative golf can beat the little man who won the Masters, the U. S. Open and the British Open last year and who is trying to become the first player to win this tournament twice in succession.

Hogan, who called his scores of 70-69-68-69 last year the best four rounds he ever played, has predicted that someone will beat that record total of 274. Most of the others disagree and the consensus is that the winning score will be around 280.

A sour note was injected when the PGA tournament committee fined Marty Furgol $250 and Doug Ford and Bill Rury $50 each for their blup in the Greensboro, N. C., last week-end. In addition, Furgol was placed on probation for six months.

The unusual public disciplinary action grew out of a dispute between Furgol and Ford. Furgol claimed Ford had violated the rules by stepping on a bush to hold it out of the way while making a shot. Ford denied any violation and was backed by a tournament marshal and bystanders. The Greensboro championship to Ford in a playoff, entered the argument, which almost led to blows.

Suspense

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 8 (AP)—Coach Leon Alpaugh is beginning to wish his Bellingham high school baseball team's opposition would hurry up and get a base hit. The suspense is wearing him down.

His Red Raider nine registered its third straight no-hit, no-run triumph Tuesday. It was a 13-0 victory over Lynden in a non-league game.

Bees' Head Man Arrives in Camp

LAUREL, N. C., April 8 (AP)—Eddie Leishman, head man of the Salt Lake Bees, arrived at this baseball spring training camp Wednesday to help select his 1954 roster for the class C Pioneer league club.

Leishman will assist manager Charles Gassaway in picking the Bee players who return to Salt Lake City the week-end of April 17 for their season opener April 22.

New Officers

Gilma Marlison was elected president of the Twin Falls Women's Bowling association at a meeting held last night.

Other officers elected are Iola Anderson, vice president; Berline Langdon, secretary; Marg Darat, treasurer; Sylvia Cunningham, sergeant-at-arms and Katie Bixler, public relations.

The group announced plans for a banquet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, April 22, at the Legion hall.

Hurley Still Wants Cockell For Seattle

SEATTLE, April 8 (AP)—Manager Jack Hurley said Wednesday his offer of $28,000 (10,000 British pounds) for a return fight between Don Cockell, London, and his own heavy-weight, Harry (Kid) Matthews, still stands.

Promoter Jack Solomons said earlier in London the British tax on light admissions had killed hopes of a scrap there this summer between world champion Rocky Marciano and Cockell, the British empire titlist. Presumably, this also would block any effort to stage a Cockell-Matthews fight in London.

"I have agreed to the terms asked by John Simpson, Cockell's manager, for a return fight here," Hurley said. "Simpson says now he's worried about the type of officiating he might get in such a fight."

Last summer Cockell won a 10-round split decision from Matthews in Seattle with local officials scoring the bout.

Vandals Defeat Bannocks 3 to 2

LEWISTON, April 8 (AP)—Pocatello played sparkling defensive ball but was lacking in base hits, and fell 3-2 to the University of Idaho in an exhibition game Wednesday.

Idaho led 1-0 from the third, when Bob Falash homered off starter Jack Mossell. Al Torres, who relieved for Pocatello at the start of the fifth, gave up a walk, a triple by Reggie Fraser, and a single by Jerry Quane to account for Idaho's two final runs in the top of the seventh.

Pocatello matched those two runs in the bottom of the seventh on a walk, Joe Conte's double, and a grounder and a wild pitch.

Boise River's Flood Danger Being Probed

BOISE, April 7 (AP)—State reclamation engineer Mark R. Kulp was advised today that presently planned reservoirs on the Boise river are not sufficient to prevent serious erosion and flood danger.

Col. F. S. Tandy, Walla Walla, district engineer of the corps of army engineers, wrote concerning observations of the 55 miles from Boise to the mouth of the river.

"Bank erosion that increases the threat of diversion of the Boise river into new channels will continue until channel stabilization measures are accomplished," he wrote.

"It seems desirable that the attention of interests of Boise valley be called to the fact that only limited protection against flood damage will be provided by operation of the three reservoirs now completed or nearing completion on the Boise river."

"Even with supplementary protection by a continuous system of levees and revetments of the proportions of the river, complete protection would not be provided against the greatest floods that can be expected."

Tandy cited disastrous floods late in the 19th century. He said in event of their repetition, "the existing piecemeal and partial levee protection supplementing existing reservoir control would not prevent major damage."

"The coordinated protective system, including both adequate reservoir control and adequate channel improvement and stabilization measures must be provided."

Tandy pointed out that the present reservoir system is expected to reduce a flood peak of 22,000 cubic feet per second to 6,500. Such a peak ordinarily occurs every six years.

Tandy said indications were that the reservoirs provided adequate protection from such a peak, but beyond that, "the overflow of certain areas will begin as flow develops."

He said the reservoir system reduces a 28,000 cubic-foot peak only to 10,000. Such a peak is expected every 11 years.

A peak of 35,000 feet, to be expected every 20 years, would be cut to 15,000 feet, Tandy wrote.

His letter was in reply to one in which Kulp relayed reports of bank erosion from Otto Mueller, M. R. Peterson and F. J. Tackett, who live on the banks of the river near Boise.

The homes of two former presidents are preserved in Massachusetts—John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

Hot Shot

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 8 (AP)—Several 22-caliber bullets in the pockets of a pair of trousers shattered the peace at a washateria in nearby Orange.

The bullets had gone through the wash undetected, but exploded during the drying process.

Firemen put out the resulting blaze among other clothes in the dryer.

The pants? They're shot.

Legion Asks Pay On Meal Service

Eddie Franklin was named defendant in a district court suit filed Wednesday by American Legion post No. 7 for not fulfilling contract conditions under which he operated the kitchen and catering facilities in the Legion hall.

The post claims Franklin has refused to pay his share of the power and phone bills and the Legion's share of profits from meals served to clubs holding dinner meetings in the hall as stipulated by contract.

The Legion, represented by William Langley, seeks payment of $318.38 plus interest.

Payment of Auto Account Sought

Joe Johnson was named defendant in a suit filed in probate court by the Reliance Credit corporation for non-payment of a sale price balance for a 1950 Studebaker purchased from South Central Motor company, Gooding.

The credit company claims Johnson received an $800-trade-in value on a 1948 Frazier and paid $50 down, but refused payment on the original $1,030.40 balance on the Studebaker. The car was then repossessed and sold for $600 after repairs costing $88.68.

The firm, represented by H. N. Jewell, remitted $18.06 of the balance but seeks payment on the $499 balance plus interest and $175 for attorney fees.

RICHFIELD, April 8—JoAnn Hankins, 11, received face injuries Sunday afternoon while helping change the television antenna at her home west of Richfield. The prank on the antenna struck her in the face, breaking her nose and cutting her face and bruising her.

Lions' Board Sets Plan for Parley, Show

Plans for a Golden Jubilee minstrel show and the district convention at Sun Valley were discussed at a meeting of Twin Falls Lions club directors Wednesday night at the Park hotel.

The minstrel show will be presented by the Lions, helped by some outside talent, in the junior high school auditorium May 2, 4 and 5.

The Lions' district convention will start June 4 at Sun Valley under the chairmanship of Jay Merrill, Twin Falls, district governor.

The board, presided over by DeWain Silvester, president, also approved two membership applications and three applications to the eye-sight conservation committee.

"You're Driving 90 Miles" was the title of a safety film shown at the Lions' luncheon at the hotel earlier in the day.

The film, produced by Bell Telephone company, was presented by Robert Tucker, program chairman. Joel A. Tate, Twin Falls, was a guest.

Ernest Taylor directed a practice session for the minstrel show following the evening meeting.

The club also announced it will vote on a new constitution in two weeks.

No Shortage of Water Is Seen In Snake River, Report Shows

Late snow reports indicate there will be ample water for the coming season for farmers depending on supplies from the Snake river. At nearly all points in the river's watershed the water content in the snow is greater than it was a year ago. Typical of the above-normal snow measuring stations are Jackson Lake with 118 per cent, Island Park with 105 per cent and the Fall and Teton rivers with 100 per cent at higher elevations. Of the 33 measuring stations, the water content at 30 stations is greater than normal. This content ranges from a mere 102 per cent of normal at Camp creek to 138 per cent at Deadman ranch on the Grays river drainage. The Valley View station on Henry's fork is 99 per cent of normal, Teton pass on the Teton river is 98 per cent of normal and Salt river summit on the Salt river is 96 per cent of normal. In addition, the water content in the snow at 28 of the 33 measuring stations is greater than it was a year ago. In all but one of the five instances where the water is less than last year it still is higher than average.

Frank Costello Tells Gambling "Success Story"

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — Gamblers, big and little, take heed of this. Don't worry if you're losing money on the horses, cards, or the fights. Get into a sure thing—slot machines. Listen to the words of an old master, Frank Costello. He says that in 1938 he kept up his poor old mother (89 at the time) and his wife and himself in fair style just by investing $9,800 with "Dandy Phil" Kastel in the slot machine business in New Orleans. At the end of the year Kastel gave him back $19,855.88 in cold cash as Costello's take from the business. This was brought out at the federal court income tax evasion trial of Costello, 63 now, dignified and sedate as always. The government charges Costello evaded at least $73,437 of federal income taxes from 1945 to 1949. It is going clear back to the mid-30's in an effort to prove "by simple arithmetic" that he spent far more than his declared income.
