Security Inquiry of Atom Expert Gets Quick Start

WASHINGTON, April 14 (U.P.)—A special security board swiftly today to determine, perhaps in two weeks, whether or not the atom bomb builder J. Robert Oppenheimer is a security risk.

After what the board's decision, it appeared likely that the inquiry would not end there and that a congressional hearing also would be made.

The special personnel security board, headed by Gordon Dean, president of the University of North Carolina and former army secretary, began its work Monday.

Dean would not talk. The number of witnesses to be called was not known. Two, however, are Dr. Vannevar Bush, wartime head of the office of scientific research and development, and Gordon Dean, former chairman of the atomic energy commission. Bush will be a character witness for Oppenheimer.

Capital Rocked

The capital still rocked with Oppenheimer's own disclosure that he had been charged with being a security risk. By President Eisenhower's order the atomic energy commission raised a "blank wall" between the scientist and all atomic secrets.

Oppenheimer, as foremost architect in the building of the A-bomb, knows most if not all of them.

Rally to Oppenheimer

Many scientists rallied to his side. The Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., of which Oppenheimer is director, said it never had occasion to doubt his loyalty. He will continue as director.

Oppenheimer was stripped of further A-bomb and H-bomb secrets because, the AEC said, "substantial derogatory information" was supplied about him by the justice department.

Reply in Detail

The scientists replied in detail to the numerous charges made against him. He said that while he might have been politically naive in his choice of some associates, he was not a communist, never had been a communist, and was a loyal American.

The joint congressional atomic energy committee kept clear of the issue for the time being. It said it would wait until the AEC procedures in the case. It left the door open for further inquiry at some later date.

It also made clear that such matters were in its province—a seeming hint to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R. Wis., to stay out of its territory. But it was uncertain whether McCarthy would take the hint after the personnel security board finishes its hearings on Oppenheimer.

Gardner Running for Governor

DALENE, April 14 (AP)—L. L. Gardner of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, formally announced his candidacy for governor of Idaho.

He also disclosed he has his resignation as president of the Idaho Municipal League.

Gardner is a non-partisan and I feel it would be in my part, now as then, to accept the nomination for the office which he has held for so long.

Atom Worker Said 'Ex-Red' By McCarthy

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 14 (U.P.)—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, R. Wis., said today he had affidavits that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, suspended atomic bomb scientist, had been a member of the communist party.

Although he would not elaborate "at this time," the Wisconsin Republican told newsmen.

"I have affidavits that show that he was a member of the communist party," McCarthy made the statement in an interview at a Phoenix winter resort.

The senator said his affidavits show that Oppenheimer had "recruited and hired individuals who were communists or at least had been communists to handle atomic work."

"I don't think there is such a thing as a hydrogen or atomic bomb secret as far as the communists are concerned," McCarthy asserted.

McCarthy said he had been investigating Oppenheimer's purported communist connections since last May.

The senator said that after a conference with high White House aides he decided that public hearings on the question at that time would not be in the interest of the nation's security.

"All indications are," McCarthy said, "that the communists have had access to all the information (hydrogen and atomic bomb) we have."

The Wisconsin Republican said suspension of Oppenheimer was "long overdue—it should have been taken years ago."

Solon Hits Union Shop Ban

LO, April 14 (U.P.)—The Idaho union shop proposal today was hit by a salvo from Sen. Frank Church, D. Idaho, a candidate for the nomination for governor.

Church called the proposal the "most reactionary interference" in the labor market, "backed by 'outlets' and motives."

The union shop proposal was today in the form of an amendment to the bill introduced by Sen. Clark Hamilton, D. Idaho, a candidate for the nomination for governor.

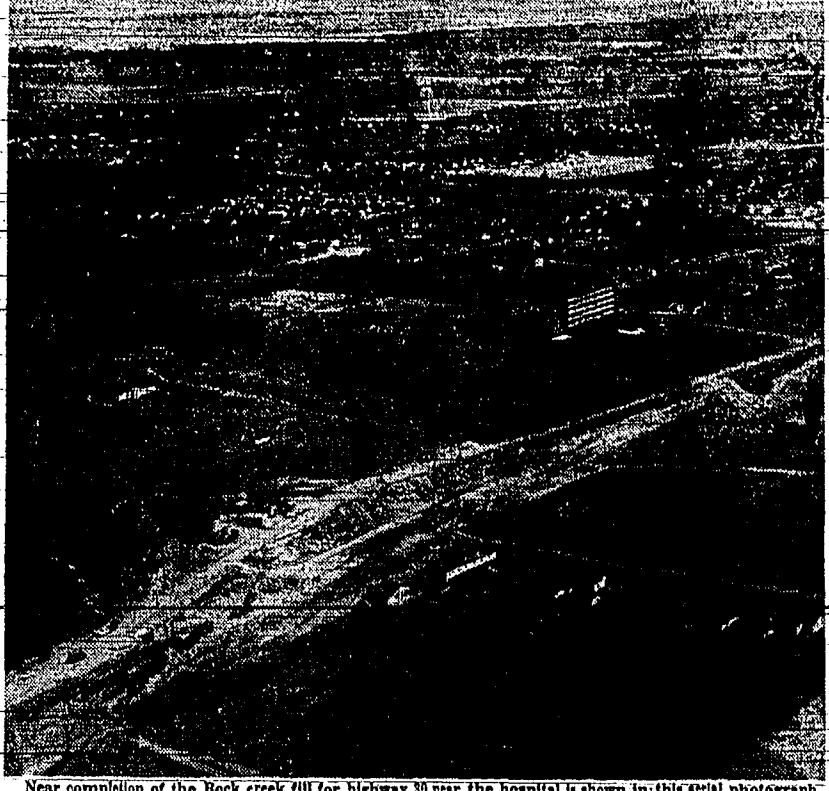

Continues Body of Man

PAUL, Va., April 14 (U.P.)—Search for the body of a man who drowned Sunday near Niagara Falls, continued today.

The body was found by a search party of volunteers and employees of the Power company, which was stopped at dark.

The body was found in the river but have been unable to drag it to the shore. Searchers are hindered by under ice.

Highway Project Completion Slated For Saturday as Closure Is Protested

Construction causing the closure of U. S. highway 30 from Magic Valley Memorial hospital to Five Points West is expected to be completed late Saturday and the highway opened to traffic, reports R. E. Robertson, superintendent of the Carl M. Halverson Construction company, Portland, project contractor.

The stretch of highway was closed last Thursday morning. Its extended closure has brought protests from business firms along Addison avenue west, particularly motel operators.

More Jubilee Parade Plans Are Reported

Additional plans for the "sagebrush parade" opening the Golden Jubilee celebration June 1 are announced by Bert Sweet, Jr., celebration chairman.

All floats must be either horse drawn or completely covered. Floats using a beauty theme such as those participating in the annual Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena are suggested.

Floats may be entered by individuals, organization, business firms, clubs or any interested party. Efforts are being made to have all Magic Valley communities represented in the parade, Sweet reports.

Eight marching bands and automobiles of the 1928 vintage or older are being sought for the parade.

A reviewing stand will be erected at the intersection of Main avenue and Shoshone street. Len Jordan, Idaho governor, and other dignitaries will be invited, says Sweet.

Paul Warberg is the parade marshal.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Warberg or Sweet.

Boise Youths Die In Oregon Wreck

ROME, Ore., April 14 (U.P.)—Three young people from Boise were killed and another was critically injured when the car in which they were riding plunged off highway 95 near here, state police reported today.

The victims, all between 18 and 21 years of age, were identified as Charles Green, Erik Ingebrigtsen and Laree J. Hammond. Judith Jensen, also Boise, was taken to a Nampa hospital in serious condition.

State Patrolman David Brisendine of the Ontario, Ore., office said the car was traveling south and apparently rolled over three times after leaving the highway. The accident was discovered about 7 a.m. today by Dean Prescott, a freight truck driver. A watch at the scene had stopped at 9:30 p.m.

British Leftist Quits

LONDON, April 14 (U.P.)—Left wing labor party leader Aneurin Bevan resigned tonight from the labor party's "shadow cabinet." The resignation split Britain's opposition party wide open.

Senate Committee Begins Probe Into Housing Scandals

WASHINGTON, April 14 (U.P.)—The senate banking committee today began an investigation into federal housing scandals which may involve $500,000,000 in "windfall" profits for some builders.

Chairman Homer Capehart, R., Ind., began what he called "a full and complete, 100 per cent investigation." The committee heard an hour-long report in closed session from Housing and Home Finance Administrator Albert M. Cole.

Capehart told reporters that "it looks as if" the inquiry bill will turn up that builders of post war multiple-family housing projects may have obtained government-insured loans $500,000,000 in excess of their building costs.

The banking committee began the inquiry. Although Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., already had one going. The administration announced Monday that fraud or negligence was responsible for irregular practices found in the housing administration.

Scandals Bared

Cole announced then that it had been learned that some builders of apartment projects had received loans in excess of their costs under a housing law provision which expired in 1950. He also reported more current scandals involving the alleged fleecing of homeowners acquiring loans for home improvement.

Capehart said both of these problems would be investigated by the banking committee, but most of his discussion involved the loans for apartment projects.

Panel Favors Hospital Unit For Shoshone

SHOSHONE, April 14 (U.P.)—The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce unanimously in favor of a convalescent hospital for Lincoln county at a meeting Monday noon.

Appointed to a special committee to investigate the operations of other such hospitals in the area were Frank Goltzner, chairman, Mrs. Myrtle C. Burdett, Howard E. Adkins, Herb Love and Mrs. Helen Dickinson.

C. S. Horton, Seattle, of the Horton convalescent hospital chain, and Wayne Beebe, Twin Falls, met with members of the chamber earlier in the day to explain the Horton method of operations.

Action on the matter followed investigations by the Lincoln county improvement association a few months ago.

The association pointed out at one of its meetings several weeks ago that a county hospital fund in the amount of $50,000 could be transferred to a convalescent hospital fund.

The chamber secretary, Fred Schwartz, was instructed to write to the county commissioners and the Richfield Lions club informing them of the chamber's decision to back such a building and to ask for their support.

Burton Thorne announced a meeting of the safety council for noon Saturday at the Manhattan cafe. All interested in the subject of safety are invited to attend.

7,000 Projects Built

Capehart said there were 7,000 projects built under law which permitted the government to insure loans up to 90 per cent of the cost—which in some cases meant the government's appraisal of the replacement costs.

Two other investigations of the FHA already were underway. The administration ordered a full-scale inquiry into the agency Monday after the scandals were disclosed, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., chairman of the joint committee on reorganization of federal spending, said his group has been looking into FHA's operations for more than a year.

Stores Closing

Twin Falls Merchants bureau members have voted to close their stores for Good Friday services. Friday afternoon, reports C. R. Hepler, bureau activities board chairman.

Stores will be closed from 1 p. m. until termination of the services to be held at the junior high school auditorium.

Minidoka to Make Fourth Try At Passing School Bond Issue

RUPERT, April 14—For the fourth time Minidoka county will try to pass a school bond election for a new high school on May 20. Date of the election was set Tuesday night by the board of trustees. Amount of the election will be $920,000, which is nearly $100,000 more than the amount sought when the last bond election was defeated.

Decision to hold another bond election was reached on the recommendation of the citizens school advisory committee which has been making a study of the school situation in Minidoka county. The trustees also accepted another recommendation of the committee and selected the Kitterling place two miles west of Rupert on the road to Paul as the site of the new school.

The board decided to erect a sign on the site so all residents of the county will know where the new school will be built if the bond election passes. The trustees also have asked Hummel, Hummel and Jones, Boise architects, to survey the needs for existing school buildings in the county so they can be brought up to standard.

This also was a recommendation of the citizens committee which decided that as much of the bond issue as possible be spent on the new high school. Members of the citizens committee are to meet with the school board on April 26 to further discuss plans for the new school.

Following the defeat of the last bond election, which was for $850,000, there was some consideration in the county to split the class A district into two districts—Rupert and Heyburn in one and Paul in the other. The citizens committee determined by survey, however, that the majority of taxpayers favored holding another bond election.

The survey also indicated that if the election failed to pass for a fourth time then the matter of splitting the district should be considered.

House Panel Okays Idaho Land Project

By The Associated Press

The House reclamation subcommittee approved a bill yesterday to authorize irrigation of 29,000 acres on and near the Fort Hall-Indian reservation with water from American Falls and Pallasades reservoirs.

Storage is not expected at the American Falls and Pallasades dams until 1956.

In Boise, Regional Director Harold T. Nelson of the U. S. bureau of reclamation said the 11-million-dollar Minidoka flats project was designed to include full repayment to the federal government.

He said the project would irrigate 13,000 acres of Indian-owned land and 5,000 acres of privately-owned land, mostly underdeveloped on the reservation.

This would be irrigated by a pumping plant located in the Fort Hall bottoms, above American Falls reservoir near the mouth of the Portneuf river where it flows into Snake river.

A telegram from Idaho Rep. Hamer Budget to Power County State Senator Vard Meadows in American Falls late yesterday confirmed the bill's approval. Meadows said the wire reported "both units of the Minidoka flats project" had been approved, adding the cost of the project would be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

The 11,000 acres off the reservation would be served by a large pumping plant built on the left abutment of American Falls dam, Nelson said.

Water would be lifted some 170 feet and flow through two laterals running east and southwest. Power for both pumping plants would come from Pallasades dam.

Nelson said the Falls irrigation district would contract to repay the cost.

Wages for Farm Labor Take Drop

BOISE, April 14 (U.P.)—Wages for farm labor in Idaho have dropped 3 per cent during the last year, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

Average rate per month with room and board, as of April 1, was $108. A year ago, it was $111.

The average rate with house was $210, a decline of 5 dollars.

The daily rate was $8.60, compared to $8.80 last April. The hourly rate was $1.02, a drop of 4 cents.

Picket Lines Halt A-Plant Projects

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., April 14 (U.P.)—Picket lines posted by striking AFL plumbers and steamfitters today halted work on two atomic plant construction projects here.

An atomic energy commission spokesman said approximately 7,300 workers ignored the picket lines, shutting down work on the plants.

A total of 100 steamfitters, members of local 102, walked out last Saturday in what was described officially as a jurisdictional dispute with AFL carpenters over a job assignment on one project.

The steamfitters put pickets at six gates to the plant area today and thousands of work-bound AFL craftsmen refused to cross the lines.

Rates Slashed

WASHINGTON, April 14 (U.P.)—The federal reserve board made its anti-inflationary money policy a little easier today by approving a drop in the discount rate in the five-state Chicago federal reserve district.

The new rates, 1 1/2 per cent instead of the 1 3/4 per cent in effect since February, became effective at the opening of business Wednesday. It was expected that most, perhaps all, of the other 11 federal reserve districts will also ask a lower rate.

Range Better

BOISE, April 14 (U.P.)—Range conditions in Idaho are slightly better than they were a year ago, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

Cool, wet weather was beneficial to lower ranges and pastures, although the cool nights retarded growth slightly.

Runs for Senate

LES LAMBSON

... Blackfoot high school teacher who has launched his campaign for the seat held by Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida. Lambson, 33-year-old navy veteran of World War II, has been a member of the Blackfoot faculty four years.

U. S. Senate Bid Planned By Educator

BLACKFOOT, April 14 (U.P.)—Les Lambson, Blackfoot high school teacher, announced yesterday he would seek the Republican nomination for the United States senate.

Sen. Henry Dworshak's term expires this year and he is expected to seek reelection. Lambson is the first to announce for the GOP nomination.

Lambson, 33, said he favored a government-built high dam at Hole canyon, and the scrapping of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

He said foreign aid must be continued, but with agricultural surpluses used for foreign aid and the dollars used for domestic aid in the form of old age benefits, social security and education.

He said the farm program is one of distribution, not production, and it could be solved by giving grain instead of guns for foreign aid, adjusting freight rates and improving distribution methods.

Increase Quiz Is Set by PUC

BOISE, April 14 (U.P.)—The Idaho public utilities commission today gave both sides in the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company case, an additional three days in which to file briefs for and against the proposed $1,097,000 increase.

Briefs originally were to have been filed today, but the PUC ordered an extension until Saturday.

The move also extended to May 17 the deadline in which the commission was to make a decision on the application it denied last May.

A rehearing on the application started in September and was completed last month.

The state, meanwhile, has been given 20 days from last Monday to file briefs in. Ada county district court opposing a temporary injunction allowing the increase issued by Judge C. E. Winstead.

The judge, who issued the injunction in May, was ordered by the supreme court to rehear the case and allow the state to file additional testimony.

Testimony at the district court hearing Monday showed that the company has collected $826,100 since the injunction was issued.

Navy 'Concerned' About Mine Plans

WASHINGTON, April 14 (U.P.)—The navy has expressed "acute concern" that enemy submarines could lay highly destructive explosive mines in American coastal waters and perhaps block shipping lanes.

Rear Adm. Wilson D. Leggett, chief of the bureau of ships, discussed the prospect last month in secret hearings before a house appropriations subcommittee. Parts of his testimony were made public today.

Leggett said a defense against mines is "one of the most important problems we have had to deal with." He referred to experiments with bottom mines in the Korean war.

Doctor Gives Warning for Globulin Use

Immune globulin for preventing measles, polio and infectious hepatitis (jaundice) is not available in unlimited supply and must be used judiciously by area physicians, reminds Dr. V. V. Telford, Twin Falls, medical director of the southeastern district health department.

Considerable misunderstanding regarding its use is reported by Dr. Telford. He reveals physicians are bound by regulations of the state department of public health in using the immune globulin.

The globulin may be used only to modify disease in infants and children up to 3 years of age and on older children who are frail and sickly, explains Dr. Telford.

If given at the time of exposure, the immune globulin provides passive immunity lasting only about three weeks.

Immune globulin is a by-product of whole blood. The Red Cross is the only collector of whole blood for such use, Dr. Telford points out. Measles are never long absent from any community, Dr. Telford notes. Maturing infants continually provide a susceptible population. Children have less bad effects from measles than adults, he says. Second attacks of measles may occur, but are very rare.

A total of $16 in bonds for parking violations was collected by city police Tuesday.

Court Opens Appeal Trial

An eight-member jury selected and one witness testified in district court Wednesday morning in an appeal of a civil action by Mrs. Mae Munson against Raymond Hise over a transaction involving the Pastime club, Pler.

Mrs. Munson asks $500 for a check which Hise gave her for the business, then allegedly stopped payment on the check. Hise owned the building and denies the liability. He claims she owes rental and costs for repair of furniture and fixtures.

Mrs. Munson was being cross-examined when court recessed at noon. Members of the jury are Oscar Peterson, John F. Kral, O. E. Sweet, E. E. Woodruff, Mrs. H. A. Salisbury, Mrs. Mae T. Gibb, Mrs. Richard Wilson and E. W. Walker. There were no challenges by John Turnbull, representing Mrs. Munson, or Defense Attorney L. B. Quinn. Turnbull made an opening statement.

Damage Action at Rupert Is Settled

RUPERT, April 14—The $50,000 damage action against the Amalgamated Sugar company ended abruptly Wednesday morning. District Judge R. W. Beckwith announced in court that the action had been settled.

The amount of the settlement was not made public but Sherman Bellwood, attorney for Glen O. Bates, who was bringing the action, said it was "very satisfactory." Bates was seeking damages for injuries received in an accident at the defendant's plant near Paul last year.

Nearly 90 ventrims were questioned before a jury was selected late Tuesday. Bates was the only witness to testify before the settlement was announced.

Construction End on Road Is Scheduled

The road move from five days if an acceptable detour is provided, according to the state highway department in Boise.

The department reports it has received one complaint from a local motel operator.

Although tourist traffic has been detoured, it is possible to reach business houses along Addison avenue throughout the repair area.

Robertson points out various phases of the highway project are being pushed simultaneously while the road is closed to keep future road closings to a minimum. Every effort is being made to expedite the work so traffic can get through by the end of the week, he said.

During the road's closure, some 1,700 feet of sewer line is being laid additional rock and dirt is being hauled to complete the fill across Dead Man's gulch and the city is extending its water service.

The stretch of highway between Five Points West has been opened to accommodate sewer lines, making traffic over the road virtually impossible. The state requires several days expire to allow the pipe to settle before it can be covered, Robertson explains.

It was intended that automobile traffic would use the old road while the fill was being completed, he said. However, a shortage of fill material has forced the contractor to close the old road and use materials from the roadbed to complete the fill.

The project is on schedule according to the time allotted by the state. Robertson reports. He estimates the road will be completed and ready for surfacing in a month or so, depending upon weather.

The new stretch of highway will connect the present four-lane road and run straight across Dead Man's gulch and Rock creek, eliminating the previous curve between the two bridges.

THE COMMON ENEMY

It is a safe guess there is no one reading these words who has not lost a friend or relative through cancer.

You are not therefore being asked to fight a remote evil. You are not being asked to help people whom you will never meet, people who are beset with a misfortune that cannot touch you. If ever there was an enemy common to all the people on earth, it is this worst-of-all-premature killers.

The American Cancer society carries on a year-round and unceasing campaign of education, research and service. Through efforts like these cancer will one day be conquered. A sudden light of discovery will bless some research laboratory. Meanwhile, the society is saving lives that can be saved and alleviating the suffering of victims who are beyond saving.

Whatever money you may give to this cause will be used not merely to help those already afflicted. The more important objective is eventually to wipe out cancer as other diseases have been wiped out, to save many lives in the future—perhaps your own.

It stands to reason, you should give every dollar you can afford.

LOWER PRICE SUPPORTS

The new lowered support price for dairy products marks the first concrete step made in some years toward leading this country out of a seemingly hopeless dilemma in farm policy.

The immediate beneficiaries, of course, will be the housewives of America. They are finding butter prices down 10 to 20 cents in grocery stores, with smaller drops on cheese and dried milk.

But the action has deeper meaning than that. To carry it out, Secretary of Agriculture Benson had to resist mighty pressures from some lawmakers and dairy groups insisting upon retaining the old, higher support prices. Benson displayed notable courage in exercising the discretion on prices granted to him under the law.

He was intent upon this purpose because maintenance of rigidly high supports had produced bewildering chaos in the dairy field. Butter, cheese and other items were to some degree priced out of the market. Cheaper oleomargarine captured a substantial chunk of the butter market.

Meantime, since there were no takers for much of the abnormally high dairy output produced at unrealistic prices, the government was compelled to store it. Storage charges, losses through spoilage, and shortages of space, all added to the burdensome dilemma.

Today the government owns one billion pounds of dairy products. It has been unable to dispose usefully of this huge hoard.

It was to meet this problem and to try to put butter back into real competition with its substitutes that Benson used his power to cut supports. There can be no positive assurance this will prevent the further accumulation of surpluses. But something had to be tried, and this was a logical move.

Those who opposed the action offered no constructive alternative. They simply wished to continue the old support levels, on the argument that a downward change would ruin the industry. A pretty good case could be made out that the levels they desire have taken the industry several stages down that road.

Perhaps they have forgotten what happened when potato prices were kept artificially high a few years ago. The resulting confusion and scandalous waste produced a popular uproar that led to removal of all price protection for potatoes. The same thing could happen to dairy products if consumers' ire were sufficiently aroused.

It is no mean feat to protect both the dairy farmer and the consumer. But Benson has taken a course which has more hope of being consistent with that double objective than did the old plan. In doing so, he may have pointed the way to new sanity in the whole farm program.

PROBLEM FOR WITNESSES

In making a plea for the Eisenhower administration's proposal to grant full immunity to all those who testify for the government, Attorney General Herbert Brownell points out that today's witnesses before the courts, grand juries and congressional committees are "truly in a box."

"If a witness testifies truthfully and fully he may be subject to criminal prosecution. If he refuses to testify at all or stands on the Fifth amendment improperly, contempt proceedings may follow. If he testifies partially and then asserts this privilege, he may discover that he has waived it. None of these choices gives a witness much solace," Mr. Brownell told the sixth annual Conference on Civil Liberties.

The attorney general says he does not quarrel with people using the Fifth amendment to protect themselves from self-incrimination. But he holds this constitutional right was never meant "to cover a case where a person refuses to testify in order to shield someone else from prosecution for a crime."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The Democratic high command's political disciplining of its two California "bad boys" James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert L. Conrad—regarded as top-level strategy by the Stevenson-Mitchell faction of the divided party.

No other theory explains or justifies this official rebuke to the eldest son of F. D. R., whose mother is still so prominent and such a highly honored personality.

The attempted elimination of James Roosevelt from the congressional race, according to this widely held viewpoint, is designed to strengthen the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for governor of New York next fall. As evidence of Democratic resurgence and—condemnation of the Eisenhower administration, the Democrats are extremely anxious to return the Empire state to their file.

DEWEY EXPECTED TO SEEK RE-ELECTION—Although Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has not announced his plans, he is counted on to seek re-election. He yearns to defeat the son of the man who kept him from the presidency. He will become a political nobody if he steps aside, and he loves politics, power, prestige. He has always been a man on parade, and everybody craves a parade.

Dewey also may be influenced by personal considerations. He finds that he can live on the scale which the state provides only if he earns $400,000 a year in private law practice. Finally, he will be entitled to a $25,000 pension after another term at Albany.

"HAD ENOUGH OF ROOSEVELT BOYS"—From the Democratic standpoint, it was sufficiently embarrassing for two Roosevelt brothers to be seeking high office in the same election. There is a suspicion that "the people have had enough of the Roosevelt boys." It is recalled that even T. R.'s offspring never achieved political honors from the electorate.

But James' marital troubles are regarded as a handicap to Franklin, Jr., who has never discussed them publicly. Indeed, certain New York leaders have been toying with the thought of other gubernatorial entries, such as Mayor Robert E. Wagner, Jr., New York, or Justice Charles W. Froessel of Queens.

Local bosses fear that the impact of the pillaging charges against James might alienate devout and conservative New Yorkers, upstate and downstate.

TO OFFSET MCCARTHY'S EXPOSURES

The condemnation of Representative O'Conor is interpreted as an effort to offset Sen. "Joe" McCarthy's exposure of communists in government during the Roosevelt-Truman era. O'Conor was barred from observing a Nevada explosion by the atomic energy commission, a nonpolitical and nonjudicial agency, on the ground that he was a "security risk."

In support of this analysis of National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell's disciplinary action, which has angered many California Democratic officials, it is pointed out that James' case has yet to be settled in what Mitchell calls "the proper place"—namely, the courts. O'Conor has denied AEC's charges, and the house has taken no action to investigate or impeach him.

Both men are innocent until proved guilty, which has been the basis of Stevenson's accusations against McCarthy's tactics.

Ironically, Republican strategists at Washington hope that the Democrats will nominate F. D. R., Jr., as Dewey's opponent. Even though they have no affection for Dewey, they figure that he can "murder" Junior Roosevelt. They consider Mayor Wagner and Justice Froessel as far more formidable.

It is obvious that, in trying to strengthen Franklin by eliminating any brotherly embarrassment, Stevenson and Mitchell did not consult the Democratic leaders of the Bronx, Manhattan, Brooklyn or Queens. That was nominee Stevenson's cardinal sin in the 1932 campaign.

Although Dewey is counted on to run again, Sen. Irving McNeill lives will be drafted by the White House, if the governor decides to retire. In fact, some national GOP leaders believe that Ives would make a better run than the man on parade.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

DREDGING INITIATIVE PETITION

The Rupert Rod and Gun club, along with sportsmen's groups throughout the state, is circulating an initiative petition which, in our opinion, deserves the support of every thinking Idahoan.

It is designed to place strict control on dredging of Idaho's streams and rivers for minerals. If sufficient signers are obtained the question will be placed on the ballot this fall where, if approved, it will write into the state's constitution a statute governing the issuance of dredging permits.

The proposal doesn't ban dredging but it makes the requirements for dredging so stiff that only the most responsible "outfits" could attempt it. Among other things, it requires that the dredging firm post bonds to insure that they will level and re-seed after dredging operations and that during same, the stream or river water will be run through settling ponds before being turned loose. It also requires that the channel of the stream or river be replaced as it was before dredging.

In our opinion, such a statute should have been adopted at least 50 years ago. If it had been, we wouldn't have had some of the unsightly and costly examples of greed that now show up in some of our scenic areas. One case in point is Yankee Fork in the Stanley area. A beautiful stream is now nothing but a gravel pit with little or no vegetation to hold back erosion. Another is the once-beautiful Idaho City area where the ugly evidence of man's quest for gold will always remain to mar the landscape. North Idaho in the Kellogg-Wallace area has even more striking examples.

In recent years, the state has been flooded with applications for dredging permits. One of them, we understand, has been granted in scenic Bear Valley. In this particular case, it would appear from what we've read about the permit, that the dredging area will be re-leveled and re-seeded but we see no reason why a statute wouldn't offer further safeguards against future despoiling of Idaho's resources.

We have no quarrel with the mining industry. Minerals are necessary to our economy but if a dredging operation isn't profitable enough to justify replacing of the resources it tears up, then it shouldn't be permitted.—Minidoka County News.

RIGHT, BUT

Senator Saltonstall, R. Mass., is no doubt correct in saying there are very few communists in the armed forces. He is on questionable ground, however, when he implies that entirely too much fuss is being paid to their presence.

After all there was only one Julius Rosenberg and only one Ethel Rosenberg, only one David Greenglass. But they were enough to put vital secrets into the hands of the Russians. There was only one Alger Hiss; what he did for the Russians at Yalta and San Francisco is still a largely unclouded story.

There are probably more handful of traitors mixed among the millions of men and women who serve the armed forces loyally and ably, but such handful, given the right conditions, could be very damaging. The suggestions of Senator Symington and Senator Byrd, D. Va., that legislation should be passed denying veteran benefits to servicemen who refused to take loyalty oaths, are good ones.—Los Angeles Times.

ONE INDEPENDENT

Senator Morse spoke at the Roosevelt dinner in Medford Saturday night. The Medford Mail-Tribune reports that the lone member of the Independent party in the senate was met at the airport by "Joseph Carson, Portland, Democratic candidate for governor who will introduce the senator at tonight's event; Howard Morgan, Monmouth, state Democratic chairman; Mrs. Albert Strauss, Jackson county Democratic Central committee vice-chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly, prominent Jackson county Democrats."

INTEROFFICE MEMO
FROM: Mr. TO: Pot Shots
RE: Office, or Library Bureau. We do it. At any rate, it appears we did. That little note concerning the lighting arrangements in the, or, library must have attracted some attention.

At any rate, the dim view in the, or, library has been improved considerably. Understand, it's not as bright as the former system, but a person can at least see now to read.

Of course, we can't have everything. Undoubtedly this change in lighting will result in a much slower turnover in the, or, library. Anyway, users of the, or, library no longer have to light a match to see if the light is burning.

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.

These six pups are about 6 weeks old. There are four males, two females. And someone can have the mother, too. She looks something like a German shepherd. You can pick them up at 353 Gardner street.

ONLY ONCE?

Dear Sir:

Back several years ago, during the Late Hate to be exact, I was gathering dust (most of it coral dust) while sojourning with Uncle's army. But now some other old vets tell me I'm silly not to be claiming some medals and stuff they have and I don't.

Well, that may be. Understand most any of those decorations is good for a cup of coffee if you have a dime to go with it.

But I've been pondering the situation. I think I was robbed. I think I should have the purple heart. Seems to me I recall that my worst enemy wasn't the enemy but the top kick. Therefore, I should rate the purple heart.

He hurt my feelings.

MIRAGE?

Dear Pot Shots:

Is a big truck and trailer load of Christmas trees usual for April? Where (and why) was the load going which was seen on April 8?

CATCHING UP

Potso:

How many times these days do you see someone step off the curb on Main avenue, maybe take a couple of steps out into the street, then think better of the whole thing? Seems the cops are our conscience these days.

That's good. We've grown in size as a city, but at heart we're still the little country town. Same thing as the chicken crossing the road.

Actually, we act just like a bunch of chickens except that the size of our city is catching up with us. Let's face it, folks; we just have to start acting our age. As a city we're 50 years old.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD

U. R. Jealous, Twin Falls—Oh, come now, let's not be so nasty! Surely you can start grinning and then start writing. What would you gain by being so nasty to our cousins on the north side?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—I find it impossible to outline a criticism of the American press and to propose remedies without violating the spirit of freedom of the press. However, the press certainly has faults which are dangerous to the people and these should be discussed for the benefit of the public. In a spirit of fellowship our papers and magazines refuse to speak ill of one another but general recriminations should cease, but this is not good for either the public or the press.

Roy Howard used to say, "It is an evil bird that fouls its own nest," but I say the press has fallen into bad habits and that no other force in our country is as well qualified to expose and discuss its intentional evils and unintentional errors.

We who are actually the press, the men and women who write for and produce publications, know how human we are. We know very well that there are certain taboos and that the prejudice and personal animosity of one man, or that man's wife, may cause information to be held back from the public or published in distorted form.

A few days ago a dispatch from London said Winston Churchill was getting a robust ribbing from the press of London over the H-bomb deal. It was the worst blow to his power that had befallen since he ran the Marxists out of office.

I examined this dispatch and discovered that this disapproval was expressed by the Times of London and some other London and provincial papers.

And what are these papers? They are words in ink on white newsprint. That is all they are. Whose words are these words? Well, they are the words of anonymous individuals who may have dishonest or selfish motives for saying this or that or suppressing information. The individuals may be high-minded and mistaken or sinister schemers taking a delight in the manipulation of public opinion.

At any rate, when the anonymous individual who is actually the spirit and voice of the Times of London, speaks his piece, he speaks with a power which is vast by comparison with that of another individual Englishman who may be just as wise and honest or much more so. The editor may have the power to overlook a government which the people would rather retain in office.

I got back to 1910 in our press, but I will not pretend that my ideas during my formative years were very intelligent. The socialists then howled that the press of our cities was controlled by the department stores. I didn't believe it, but I didn't have much sound information one way or another. However, I do know that nowadays editors have become handshakers and speech-makers.

They go to banquets of all sorts of business associations and political religious groups organized to exert "pressure." They accept and sometimes award medals, scrolls, plaques and the like which are just trash of no moral value whatever. One does it because he knows that if he doesn't do it his opposite number on the opposition paper will leap at the chance.

Slack Line Lands More Big Fish

"Can a hooked fish throw a barbed hook?" asks T.E.M., a fisherman reader of the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Press. "Does a constriktor crush the bones of its victims?" inquires EDG of the Omaha (Nebr.) World Herald. "And tell us what the biggest snake going?" P.D.M. via the San Jose (Calif.) Mercury, writes "Hi, Ranger, give us the lowdown on the largest and meanest snake."

The Atlas moth of India with a wingspread of 12 inches is the giant of the insect world. (A slender East Indian walkingstick is 15 inches long, but lighter.) The large wingspread enables this moth to carry its load of 200 or more eggs high above the jungle floor in its search for the right tree on whose green leaves its large caterpillars will later feed, reaching a juicy thickness of one inch and a length of seven inches.

The pigmies are beetles, some of which are so tiny that they can stroll through the eye of a needle. The fairy flies, a bit larger, come on such a small chassis that by marching single-file, head to tail, it takes 100 to measure one inch!

Insects don't come large, Mr. P.D.M.—even in prehistoric times the largest we know of was a dragonfly with a two-foot wingspread. What's held them in check? Perhaps it's a question of ventilation.

Insects don't have lungs. Look at one closely and you will see a series of tiny openings along the sides. Connected to these are tiny, twisted tubes through which the air passes in and out of the insect's body and as the blood comes into contact with these tubes, it becomes purified and takes on oxygen. With such a poor breathing system, the insect is doomed to smallness—any part of the insect's body which is much more than a quarter of an inch from the nearest intake wouldn't get enough oxygen to keep it going.

Seeing as the fishing season is upon us, that "throwing the hook" question is mighty timely. Frankly I know I am about to take on one of the most solidly entrenched myths among fishermen. Always I was told: "Keep a tight line!" and when I asked why, the invariable reply was: "So the fish can't throw the hook."

Since experimenting with a slack line vs. a tight line, once the hook is "set" beyond the barb, I've found that the slack line will land more of the big ones.

Frankly, I don't think a fish can throw a small hook and the fish biologist is yet to be born who can tell you what muscles a fish could bring to bear to throw one. (In fact, an angler with a face full of muscles military menace of the Oriental millions.

To be sure, Mr. Hearst did his patriotic best to reverse his own mistake with Landon in 1934, but that is beside the point. Actually one man, aging and aloof on a mountain overlooking the Pacific made a decision by telephone which was responsible for all these consequences to the whole world. That is the power of the press.

Slack Line Lands More Big Fish

Support Predicted for Crops in 1955

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Senator E. V. Riegle, D-Mich., predicted yesterday that the President's flexible farm program would produce crops at 90 per cent of parity next year.

Who heads the senate agricultural committee and is author of a bill out of the President's program, Riegle said, "The support program is going to get the support on major field crops. It has taken a hand in helping dry up the political support for the farm program."

High Pros Seen

Conditions continue as they have been going to be anything but "over," the Vermont senator said. "The support program is going to get the support on major field crops. It has taken a hand in helping dry up the political support for the farm program."

Wheat Crop Cut

The drought has cut the wheat estimate 75 million bushels, he said. A further drop in the President's program would cut about 500 million bushels in reserve and to add 50 million to the normal carryover.

No Shur Meant, but Best Spuds Grow In Ayrshire, Says Scot Visiting Here

The world's best potatoes are grown in Ayrshire in the lowlands of Scotland, according to a patriotic Scotsman visiting in Twin Falls Tuesday.

William Welsh meant anything but a slam against Idaho's famous product. He was merely offering one basis of comparison between America and his homeland.

In fact, Welsh, on the last leg of a round-the-world trip, claims he has been "dumped in amongst the gent" of humanity in the United States and is quick with glowing adjectives to describe the helpfulness, kindness and generosity he has received here.

The Scotsman arrived in Twin Falls Tuesday for a short visit with his niece, Mrs. Frank Heltz, and her family on his way back to his native town of Dumfries in the lowlands south of Glasgow. And in the year since setting out from Dumfries, Welsh has visited parts of the world most people only dream of seeing.

His passport has been stamped by France, Italy, Egypt, several middle east countries, India, Singapore, Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, and the Fiji Islands.

Welsh said perhaps the highlight of the trip was to be met in San Francisco by his brother, Robert Welsh, Berkeley, Calif., whom he hadn't seen in 40 years, and then to go on to Reno to see his older brother, Jack Welsh, who left home 64 years ago.

Robert Welsh said William innocently asked him in Berkeley if he "could spare a few days to show him America." So the brothers are traveling around the west together so William "won't get lost." After clocking some 47,000 miles by airplane, seeing much of the rest of the world, Welsh now figures it will take another 15,000 by bus to see America.

Even falling back on his Scotch burr, Welsh had a hard time describing his amazement and surprise at the west's wide open spaces, highways stretching from horizon to horizon, and towering mountains. "You have to see it to believe it," he said, "the country can only be described as colossal."

Quite a contrast from Scotland, he said, where farms are kept small by crowding hills and highlands and roads wind through green fields, heather and forests.

Welsh said he's known as an "agricultural iron monger and tool specialist" back in Dumfries where he operates a company wholesaling and retailing milking machines, separators, poultry and pig-raising equipment and other farm machinery. He said Dumfries is surrounded by the lowlands-farm-country and is the site of the world's largest poultry hatchery.

He said Twin Falls is about the same size as the town of Ayr in the lowlands. But there the similarity stops. The wide streets, flooded by neon signs, and the supermarkets have no counterpart there, he said.

Picking one of Twin Falls "one-stop" groceries for a comparative example, Welsh explained that a Scot housewife must still make the rounds between the "green grocer, the vegetable shop and the meat market to stock the family larder. America is far out in the lead in the conveniences of frozen and packaged foods, he pointed out.

Nor are the streets crowded with cars as in America. "Thousands ride to work on bicycles and motorcycles in Scotland," he said, and the parking meter bane of many a Twin Falls motorist, is foreign to Scotland. Scottish houses are apt to be built of brick, stone or clinkerblock instead of the widespread use of frame construction as in Twin Falls, he added.

One of his biggest thrills in Twin Falls was to attend his first drive-in movie. One of his biggest surprises of the American way of life was the habit of eating ice cream at the drop of a hat.

Welsh and his brother left by bus for Montana Wednesday to visit a niece. From there Welsh will continue his swing through the West, and thence home to Scotland. He says he'll find one of the things he's often missed the most in America—that every handy cup of tea.

Simple New Test Can Find Out Polio Vaccine's Effectiveness

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 14 (AP)—A simple new test can answer whether the Salk polio vaccine actually creates protection against polio.

It can show whether the vaccine shots create antibodies in the blood against one or all three types of polio virus, a team of University of Minnesota scientists says.

It can also be used to diagnose polio in susceptible children before there are any clear symptoms of the disease.

This test amazingly enough depends upon an unusual strain of cancer cells growing in test-tubes. Polio virus added to the tubes will grow upon and kill the cancer cells.

A sample of blood serum can be added to the tubes first. If the blood contains antibodies, the polio virus placed in the tube will not grow. The test can measure how strong the antibody protection is.

New developments in this test were described by Dr. William F. Scherer, Richard Crowell and Jerome T. Syverton, Minnesota, to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Dr. Jonas Salk's polio vaccine will be given this spring to up to one million children. Many will be given blood tests before and after taking the shots to see if the vaccine gives them protective amounts of antibodies. Dr. Salk can make such a test by using monkey kidney tissue to grow virus on.

The cancer-cell test also will be widely used, by present plans, to measure antibodies, Dr. Syverton said. This test costs less: Thousands of tubes can be prepared.

The test is made possible by discovery of the fast-growing strain of cancer cells in a woman cancer patient in 1951 by Dr. George Gay of John Hopkins. The cells can be kept growing seemingly indefinitely in laboratory cultures.

The Minnesota scientists found that polio virus would feed upon these cells, hence the new test.

Good News For Septic Tank Owners

The trend to suburbs, ranch homes, and year-round beach or mountain living has only one drawback—sanitation facilities! Septic tanks are lifesavers for those who live away from city sewer systems. But septic tanks can, and do, stop-up and overflow! First, because the tank is not cleaned at proper intervals; secondly, toilet tissue that does not readily disintegrate may clog the drains and force them to back up!

This may be avoided by using MD Toilet Tissue—because MD is scientifically processed to absorb water quickly. Drains don't clog or back up so readily!

Good practice: Consult your County Health Department, your plumber, or a septic tank service company, for advice on cleaning your tank. Use MD Toilet Tissue!

JAILED

SHOSHONE, April 14.—Urban Carbajal, Worland, Wyo., was sentenced to 15 days in jail by Justice of the Peace Frank Dice Monday on a charge of vagrancy. He was picked up by Sheriff Thomas Conner Monday morning.

Russians Use 21 Yanks for War of Ideas

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The Soviet propaganda machine is using the 21 former American soldiers in Korea who chose communism over their homeland. Their job is to tell the world that the U.S. is anti-American propaganda.

The Moscow paper Pravda published in its issue of April 1 which reached here yesterday an interview with the soldiers who remained with the Chinese and North Korean reds.

It was headlined: "We don't want to return to America."

The Pravda article detailed Pyongyang indicated the 21 are still in North Korea and purported to quote statements from them.

Previous reports said some of the group were in communist China. All have been dishonorably discharged from the American army.

It seems likely from a statement made by the group, Pravda indicated, that some if not all of them will make propaganda appearances criticizing the U.S. government.

2 Japanese Ships 'Dusted' by Bomb

TOKYO, April 14 (AP)—Three Japanese whaling trawlers home bound from the Antarctic were reported dusted from 880 miles away by the big hydrogen blast in the Marshall Islands March 26.

The newspaper Asahi said that none of the crews was reported affected but radioactive dust was collected from the trawlers' funnels and lookout towers after they docked at Osaka Monday.

This was the latest of a series of such incidents reported from the U. S. hydrogen bomb tests this spring. The incidents have caused indignation in Japan.

Minimum Wages Law to Be Urged

CHEYENNE, April 14 (AP)—Enactment of a minimum wage law in Wyoming will be urged again in the 1955 legislature, Labor Commissioner John Georges says.

The labor department has proposed a minimum wage law before several legislative sessions, but no action has been taken.

Georges explained the federal minimum wage law of 75 cents an hour covering interstate commerce is broad enough to only affect a few Wyoming industries.

AIRMAIL: Laundries are so slow in some European places that a few impatient people have their shirts flown to New York City, washed, and flown back. Takes three days, so I'm told.

PATIO PLATE Connie Haines writes: "Read your column about the average woman spending two years of her life doing dishes. Here's a recipe that will save her a few minutes. It's called Patio Plate, serves eight, uses only one plate per person and one skillet."

"Fry 2 sliced onions and 2 chopped green peppers slowly in 3 tbsp. lard in skillet till onions turn yellow."

"Add 1 pound hamburger. Fry until mixture falls apart."

"Add 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1/2 cup uncooked rice, 1 tsp. chili powder, 2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, and mix. Cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour or until done."

(Here are two more ways to make dishwashing faster and easier to do: 1) Use Surf, 2) Let things soak for a while first.)

The rain clouds stay far, far away. And give no slightest sign. Yet only lurk To spring to work When wash is on the line.

Surf

all-purpose detergent

wash your clothes with Surf and they'll smell like sunshine!

Your nose tells you what your eyes can't see

Next time you take your wash out of the machine, we'd like you to do us (and yourself) a favor. It will only take a second. First, look at it; then smell it. You can tell how clean your laundry looks by using your eyes. But your nose tells you how clean it really is.

Your nose "sees" below the surface, deep down inside the cloth fibers themselves. And that's where SURF comes into its own. SURF doffs its cap to no product when it comes to getting white things white and hard-to-wash play or work clothes clean-looking. But it doesn't stop at the surface; SURF gets things clean, clear through, so clean that they smell like sunshine.

We'll match SURF against any product in the world and let you be the judge. If you don't think SURF does a better job, we at Lever Brothers want to be the first to know about it. We'll refund every cent you paid (postage, too) in return for the information.

When you wash them with SURF they smell like...

[...you know that they're clean, clear through!]

He said prospects for discovery of uranium, particularly in the Rocky mountain states, were good.

Scientist Offering Himself as Guinea Pig in Cancer Tests

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 14 (U.S.)—A human "volunteer"—a gray-haired, deep-voiced scientist—is having tars from cigarette smoke painted on his skin to see if they can cause skin cancer.

Other dangerous chemicals known to cause cancer are being painted on his skin, for comparison. The man, a New Yorker not otherwise identified, is relatively safe in this bold experiment. Any skin cancers which were started easily could be removed in time.

It is a new step toward solving the question whether some chemical in cigarette smoke is causing human lung cancer.

The human test plus other smoking experiments were described Monday to the American association for Cancer Research by Dr. William E. Smith of New York university post-graduate medical school.

Concentrated tars from cigarette smoke have produced skin cancers in mice, when painted on their skins from months to a year.

So far the man's skin, on back or arm, painted with cigarette tars has not shown the changes caused in mice skin by those tars, or by other chemicals which are known to cause skin cancers, Dr. Smith said.

In mice, known cancer chemicals cause loss of hair, destruction of sweat glands within four days, and enlargement of tiny structures within the nuclei of skin cells.

The man did not lose any hair or sweat glands.

The man's skin cells showed a little bit of the enlargement from cigarette tars, but only about as much as was produced in skin painted with turpentine.

Areas of his skin painted with known cancer chemicals showed more of the enlargement within the cells.

The test is whether within four days the chemical destroys mouse sweat glands. Known cancer chemicals do this, that fast.

He said 94 per cent of the chemicals in cigarette tars are apparently harmless by this test. Work is going on to isolate the remaining chemicals which do cause skin cancer in the mice.

This might open the way to removing any dangerous chemicals from tobacco, or filtering them out of the smoke.

Big Changes Pending for Shoppers in Supermarkets as New Ideas Get Study

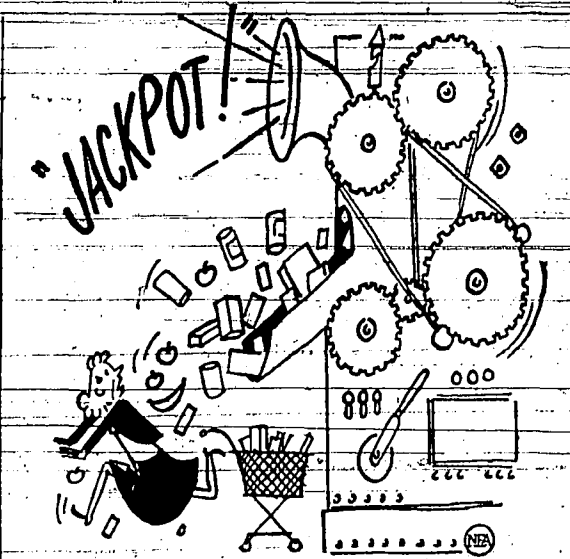

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't be surprised to find a carousel and a machine spouting ready-to-eat hot dogs in 20 seconds the next time you go shopping in your favorite supermarket.

For supermarket people are poised to set off a "second retail revolution" with vending machines, electronic devices and revolving counters in an effort to boost sales. These people sparked the first revolution with decentralization and self-service of food.

They already have some revolutionary new techniques in action. In Pittsburgh, for instance, one food super has installed an automatic vendor in the store window that dispenses doughnuts. It accounts for 25 per cent of the store's total doughnut sales, and 30 per cent of these sales come after the store is closed.

Chances are you've had the grocery store door slammed in your face at closing time on more than one occasion. Well, the supermarkets of the future plan to solve this problem by installing batteries of machines in the windows that will sell when the store is closed, as well as when it is open. Many stores are already selling cigarettes through window-type automatic vendors.

Some progressive grocers are even trying with the idea of a store through an electric calculator and automatically checked.

Then, the merchandise purchased as indicated on the punched card will be ready at the check-out point, or at a station in the parking lot.

Electronic engineers have recently informed the gadget-happy supermarket people that they can see no serious technical problem in an "electric eye" installation that would flash a signal to the retail stockroom immediately when the stock of any item on a vertically-pierced shelf had dropped below a certain point. This device should solve the out-of-stock problem and keep the customer's blood pressure at a normal level.

Unique, but listen. One supermarket in Maryland features seven electric turntables for food displays. Each table holds 1,000 pounds of food items. They revolve at the rate of one revolution per minute and permit shoppers to help themselves to whatever foods are displayed.

Another cute trick that promises to make shopping a pleasure in the future is a "conveyor" store, and equipment manufacturers are already giving it a whirl.

The shopper sits on a sort of "carousel" before a revolving conveyor which brings her every item in the store. She simply turns a key to make her selection. And presto! Her selected purchases are ready and totaled for her when she leaves her seat.

With such a store as this she shouldn't have any trouble getting Johnny to "run down to the corner."

in which the merchandise will simply be available for inspection. Here's the way this futuristic food dream unravels:

All items will be numbered and the shopper will be given a numbered card instead of a shopping basket. When the customer selects an item, the card will be punched. The punched card will be delivered at the check-out point and run

Project Nears Its Goal in Murtaugh

MURTAUGH, April 14—The Murtaugh high school band fund raising project is $32 from its goal—new uniforms.

The first project tackled by the students was a community birthday calendar. Then a popcorn machine was purchased and popcorn was sold at the basketball games. Then parents stepped in to lend a hand and other events were held. The school board aided the project and the seniors bought the majorette uniform.

The annual spring concert will be held at 8 p. m. Friday at the high school. The band, girls chorus, boys chorus, mixed chorus, and small groups will participate. Music festival numbers will be previewed and band members are slated to appear for the first time in their new uniforms.

Baptism Slated

JEROME, April 14—Following a potluck dinner at the fairgrounds at 1 p. m. Sunday, members of the Free Will Baptist church in Jerome will hold services at a baptizing area one-half mile from Filer on the road to Clover.

The Free Will church is to be organized here Wednesday. Revival services being conducted by the Rev. Ernest Hayhurst and the Rev. Earl Bandy will be continued all this week.

Pearl Harbor Report Called Short on Facts

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Retired Adm. William H. Standley says the report of the first official investigation into the Pearl Harbor disaster "did not present the whole, true picture."

Standley, who was a member of the board and signed its report, said his subsequent study of the case would lead him now to arrive at about the same conclusions as were about the same minority report of the senate-house committee which investigated later. This report put principal blame on the late President Roosevelt and the secretaries and top-uniformed officers of the army and navy.

Standley has set forth his views in one chapter of a book to be published next fall. It was published in this week's issue of the magazine U. S. News and World Report, out Monday.

Standley, now 81, was chief of

Grangers Hear of School Bond Vote

SHOSHONE, April 14—The school bond election on April 27 was explained to members of Wood River Center Grange Saturday night by Camden B. Meyer, superintendent of schools.

Earl Vansant and Donald Sandy reported on the March 19 and April 2 dances. There will be another dance at the Grange hall at 9 p. m. Friday. Vansant also reported on the purchase of material for repairs to the juvenile hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Simonton were admitted as new members. For the program, Mrs. Donald Sandy told of the origin of Easter and a skit was presented by Gayland Guthrie, Ernie Vansant and Adele Sandy.

Too-Buxom Lass Really Smuggler

MILAN, Italy, April 14 (AP)—An attractive woman in a flashy car drove up to the Ponte Chiasso frontier post on the Italian-Swiss frontier. Police thought she looked excessively buxom.

Closer inspection, they said, showed that instead of underwear, "she was literally clothed in Swiss francs"—$80,000 worth of them. The police did not reveal her identity, or what action they took against her.
