"However, the organization added, 'the per capita consumption rate will be slightly less than last year—151 pounds as compared to nearly 154 pounds. The total production increase will not be sufficient to compensate for a population increase of around 2 1/2 million.'"

Under its agreement with the state, the city assumes responsibility for moving domestic water facilities at the estimated cost of about $7,500, and the removal of trees and shrubs in the right-of-way at the estimated cost of $5,000.

In addition, the city is responsible for having sidewalks built on at least one side of the street at the cost of $10,000 to $12,000 or more, depending on whether they are on both sides of the street and the method of financing.

While the agreement obligates the city on its contract with the state as part of local participation, actual cost of sidewalks will be paid by residents under a local improvement district.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, whose home and foreign activities as a Mormon elder did not prevent him from becoming a successful farm and marketing specialist, has turned himself into a world salesman in order to chip away at Uncle Sam's huge agricultural surplus. It is an entirely new approach to this vexing problem.

In recent appearances before congressional committees, Benson revealed his exasperation and desperation over the surplus burden, which grows heavier, more costly and more unwieldy every hour. Together with the administration's legislative proposals and his new overseas sales plan, he believes that he can reduce the accumulation of commodities by 50 or 75 per cent.

The result would be lower consumer prices, reduced taxes and a steady, though slightly smaller, return to the farmer. It would restore our farm plant to a normal peacetime basis in the same way that President Eisenhower seeks to do with other segments of the government and the national economy.

PAINFUL, BUT REALISTIC—The Eisenhower-Benson approach, now completely unveiled, is admittedly painful but realistic. But they feel that they must face realities in an attempt to terminate an artificial system and place American agriculture on a self-sufficient and self-sustaining basis. It cannot live forever on subsidies financed by high taxes and peak retail prices.

The government now owns about 6.5 billion dollars of farm goods through loans or outright purchases. The figure will hit 10 billion dollars in another year at the current rate of acquisitions. In fear of reduction of price supports from 90 to 75 per cent, farmers have doubled and quadrupled their unloadings on Uncle Sam within the past year.

And yet, despite, or because of the surplus-producing party temptations, the American people pay record, peacetime prices for bread and butter, milk and cheese, steaks and hams, fruits and vegetables. Farmers both, "Ike" and Ezra mean to try to clean up this situation, and here are the main provisions of their plan:

THE PLAN—(1) They would immobilize from 2 billion dollars to 3 billion dollars of the most recently stored surpluses as a permanent stockpile, like our war reserves of tin, rubber and manganese. They would be removed from the market, and frozen for use in event of hostilities, national disasters or other emergencies.

(2) Lower price supports, they believe, would reduce retail prices and thus stimulate customer demand. Experts estimate that only a slightly larger consumption of bread, butter, milk, cheese, tobacco, rice, soybeans, etc., would stimulate and prevent huge pile-ups. The same consideration would apply to wool and cotton. This is the key, the controversial, the politically unpopular part of the program.

(3) The newest phase is Benson's world-selling scheme. It is not to be confused with Washington's efforts to dispose of farm stuff to Russia, her satellites or other countries. Although the disposables belong to Uncle Sam, they would be handled on a regular commercial basis.

SELLING FORCE NEEDED—It means starting at scratch. We have not had to push foreign sales for 15 years during the war and reconstruction period. We lack a selling force, modern techniques, a knowledge of foreign needs, tastes and eccentricities in food—in short, a smart, go-getting organization, like any private corporation's. Benson is building such a force slowly, because he insists on recognized experts, not politicians or their pals or internationally minded pinkos.

Although in partial operation only a few months, they have sold millions of pounds of tobacco to France, Spain and Korea; wheat, corn and barley to Spain, Mexico, Brazil and Korea. The National Millers' Federation is sharing the cost of sending grain specialists to Asia and the middle east. Benson expects other national trade organizations to cooperate in the same way.

Cotton has been shipped to such textile-scare countries as France, Italy, India and Japan, displacing the Egyptian product. Fresh and canned fruits are going well in lands which never heard of or tasted the citrus delights of Florida, Texas and California.

Benson anticipates annual foreign sales of at least 1 billion dollars. With the stock-piling plan, and even if congress fails to lower price supports, this experiment could cut the current surplus from 8.5 billion dollars to 3 billion dollars or less.

DEFECTING-RED-AGENTS

Washington authorities are beginning to piece together evidence which suggests strongly that all is not well with the Soviet secret police, the so-called MVD.

The Petrov case in Australia is, of course, the most striking recent example. But it is not the only one.

In Bonn, Germany, just a few days ago three Soviet agents sent into Western Germany on a murder mission gave themselves up to U. S. officials. They disclosed full details of the plot to kill a member of an anti-communist Russian group in Frankfurt. They also spelled out the pattern of MVD operations.

Earlier this year Yuri Rastvorov, a top Soviet spy in Japan, defected. And according to James Reston of the New York Times, there are other still unpublished cases which support the idea that some sort of revolt is in progress within the secret police.

One thing that strikes American officials is the fact that men like Petrov and Rastvorov are quite high in the Soviet scale of authority. They cannot be dismissed as a small catch.

What is it all about?

The defectors naturally have been thoroughly interrogated as to their motives, but the truth does not necessarily emerge easily from such questioning. Even the Russians are individuals, and each may present a whole complex of reasons. So some guessing is required.

Evidently American authorities are convinced that Lavrenti Beria's execution has a lot to do with the current distress. Beria, who was head of MVD and then deputy premier after Stalin's death, had many key supporters placed throughout the police organization. Most of these are thought to live in fear of their lives.

Beria's execution was followed by removal of a top Beria backer in Soviet Georgia. Presumably a similar action has been taken. Premier Malenkov, after the fashion of totalitarian leaders, is moving systematically to eliminate the supporters of an opposing faction. If these expert surmises are correct, then we may well expect the defections to continue as opportunities arise for MVD and other officials to break away.

From all this we cannot take hope that any really disruptive revolt is about to take shape within the Soviet union.

What we can be grateful for is the absolutely priceless information these defecting spies and secret police bring with them about the nature of Soviet espionage operations.

The shouts and screams from Moscow are the proof that the huts deep. The west is learning a great deal these days about the inner workings of the communist conspiracy. You never know where your luck is going to come from.

TRIUMPHAL RETURN

That renowned theatrical company, the Comedie Francaise, has returned to Paris from a visit to Moscow and Leningrad, where it was received with great enthusiasm by Russian audiences. In the Soviet capital its performance of "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" was attended by Premier Malenkov.

This is part of a cultural exchange in which the Soviet ballet now is to appear at the Paris Opera. It is part also of a broader effort of the communist masters of Russia to put their regime in a friendly light before the peoples of other countries.

It is easy enough to persuade visitors of the innate friendliness of the Russian people as distinct from the terrorism of communist police. In fact, according to The Times, of London, Soviet officials seem to have been a little taken aback by the enthusiasm of Moscow audiences for a glimpse of the world outside.

The effect of such reports is to lull French misgivings about Moscow. Having taken his troupe through the Iron curtain the administrator of the Comedie Francaise says the group now plans a trip to the United States next year in another cultural exchange. "I hope we can get visas," he adds. We hope so.—Christian Science Monitor.

ABSENCE OF A QUORUM

The senate found it especially difficult on Wednesday to keep its members on the floor. At the outset Majority Leader Knowland suggested the absence of a quorum, and then, after the clerk began calling the roll, asked unanimous consent that the order be rescinded. A short time later, however, Senator Thyne asked for a roll call. A majority responded but soon melted away. As debate began on the Taft-Hartley act, Senator Gore pointed out that the senate was in no condition to transact business. A roll call did not bring a quorum into the chamber and the sergeant at arms was ordered to round up the absentees. A majority finally responded but did not stay long. The debate went forward with only a scattering of legislators on the floor.

Some were no doubt attending to important legislative business, but it appears that a much larger number were watching the McCarthy army show on television. Here is rather direct evidence of how the protracted hearings are interrupting the work of congress. We do not in any way suggest that the hearings can be abandoned for this reason, but legislators certainly need to be reminded of where their first obligation lies.—Washington Post.

THE COBALT BOMB

The awesome power of the hydrogen bomb alone should be enough to jolt the civilized world into measures of protection. Now come details of the cobalt bomb which might be so dangerous to all life it can't even be tested.

The cobalt bomb—a hydrogen bomb encased in cobalt—produces a radioactive cloud 320 times more powerful than radium and on the prevailing winds would wipe out all life in its path. For instance, as one scientist puts it, a cobalt bomb exploded 1000 miles off the coast of California could wipe out almost all life in a path from California to New York.

The cobalt bomb can be built.

One University of Chicago atomic scientist estimates that 400 one-ton cobalt bombs would release enough radioactivity to extinguish all life on earth. Fantastic? Yes. But unfortunately it's scientifically possible.

There would be no practical defense.

There is no sure solution—except peace.—Portland Journal.

POT SHOTS

OUTE AS A SKUNK

Dear Pots:

I just had to write and tell Mirandy how much I like the idea about the men growing beards. They look just as cute as a skunk with whiskers.

Why I remember back in the good old days, my fifth wife, Annabell, even grew whiskers for a deal like that. Well, anyway, I hope you have the men grow beards.

I'll dress up in my Sunday best, put coon oil on my hair and head for the valley in my 1910 Steamer. Don't forget the kissing booth!

TOURIST

It was the day after the Utah delegation visited Twin Falls. Several agents around town appeared rather, er, haggard. Undoubtedly from the strain of making certain the visitors saw all the sights of importance.

One fellow in particular was seated at his desk when a heckler appeared on the scene. The conversation went something like this:

"Been in town very long?"

"Yeah."

"Intend to stick around a while?"

"What're ya drivin' at?"

"Nothing. Just thought you might unpack those bags under your eyes!"

Since the hydrogen bomb was discovered, folks with bad dispositions don't have a chance. Our Science Expert claims.

UNFAIR

There was a piece of lemon pie in the room. And for some folks, lemon pie in sight is just about as bad as sitting down in front of them and eating a lemon. (Make you drool just a little bit to even think about it?)

So someone put the piece of lemon pie in front of the woman in question, calmly walked away. She got up, moved the pie. It was moved right back in front of her.

"That's worse than putting liquor in front of a drunkard!" she exclaimed. "I won't eat it."

But somehow or other that piece of pie just disappeared!

BERT LIKES IT!

Dear Mirandy Peabody
c/o Pot Shots
Times-News:

Your enthusiasm for the valley celebration is overwhelming. It's spirit of this sort that "puts things over." If everyone got into the act as you have and if everyone got the spirit, this town of ours and the whole countryside would certainly enjoy life much more.

That's what celebrations are for and it's people like you who make the job easy and worthwhile. We are planning many of the events you asked about as you will note soon. Thanks for the plug.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Sen. Barry Goldwater, Ariz., a freshman Republican of conservative and progressive mind, has made a move to take the play away from President Eisenhower's legislative agents in the reform of the national labor laws.

Senator Goldwater's proposal would just about obliterate the fascist union system created under the Wagner act and preserved under Taft-Hartley. Two administration stiffs, Smith, N. J., and Javer, N. Y., introduced the Eisenhower gesture which was promptly nullified and probably was not sincerely meant anyway.

This is the first that has been heard of Ike's idea on unionism since long before his nomination. Eisenhower told me at his headquarters in France in 1952 that he favored the return to the several states of their normal constitutional authority over affairs within their respective boundaries.

I felt some shyness at the time on the question of attribution because Ike was not yet a candidate in the formal sense. This problem of confidences from public men to reporters is more important than some of the fly-swating issues which the editorial societies and letterhead fraternal societies have been discussing at their high consistories in New York and Washington these last few years.

Some of Ike's remarks and answers were restricted but some were off-the-record and when a conscientious journalist, writing only chicken-track shorthand, comes out of one of those sessions, he is likely to fall short rather than overshoot a verboten.

I feel that I can speak more freely today, with Ike established in the White House, than I could when his present status was just a gleam in his eye. What he said then was that the Wagner act had invaded the sovereignty and responsibility of the states. He also favored the imposition of strict responsibility on unions for violent commotions in whatever connection and prosecution of rioters and other criminals.

But the spirit of his remarks was more important than that. The spirit was that the people and the government authorities of all jurisdictions having to do with law enforcement should disabuse themselves of the superstition that a gang of lynchers acting in the name of a union were any better collectively or individually than any other lynch mob.

But, as time wore on toward the convention and then toward election, Ike's statements and the character of the people around him diminished my confidence in his high-sounding affirmations at Rocquencourt. As the cliché of the book-trade has it, he drained me of belief.

Being a new boy on the campus, Senator Goldwater is not as well known to the public as he is to me, personally. I can tell you, though, that, as Republicans go in this administration, especially in the palace guard, this member is a black reactionary, as pro-American as Lindbergh and as candid as Pegler against abuses by unions, although not as drastic, and extremely popular in Arizona especially with labor.

He surely would not come out for repeal of the whole labor relations bureaucracy in the federal government. That would cause not only political tremors but the disengagement of thousands of lawyers, catchpols and other parasites who have burrowed under the hide of the nation in this one monstrosity and all this would set up a reaction against Barry in his own party.

However, the law which he proposes would achieve some startling reforms and, though it be defeated or diluted to the plain fact that political gains, as well as the workers and the whole people have begun to march against the union monopoly. Goldwater would bar the federal bureaucracy out of union fracas within the state.

For the first time in almost 20 years, the brainwashed millions of Americans have begun to remember that there was a time when it would have been a terrible offense against the citizen's rights to say to him, in the words of a national law, "You cannot work for your living unless you join a private society and submit to arbitrary rules of conduct, including abridgement of speech and arbitrary fines, taxes and humiliations."

That is what the Wagner act and the labor relations board did. And that is not an overstatement of what they did.

And you may want to be reminded that in a speech in Portland, Ore., in the 1944 campaign, Tom Dewey said he accepted this horrible thing as the permanent law of the land. This explains Dewey's attitude in the New York waterfront fight where he and his machine are trying to force a large element of hard-working stevedores into another union just as rotten with graft, brutality and extortion as Joe Ryan's old union which has been repudiated by the AFL.

It is not so much the character of the substitute union which should shock the citizen as Dewey's effort in trying to tell these roughnecks to join a union run by a member of his machine.

John Lewis, Dave Beck, Petrillo, Dubinsky and all the rest of them are on the defensive now. They had a wonderful time but the individual states have begun to assert their sovereignty in right-to-work or open-shop laws.

And the great principle of state sovereignty was upheld in a Sante Fe railroad case tried before Judge E. C. Nelson in a state court in Amarillo, Tex. That case broke the back of the federal government's labor monopoly. Although the authority involved was the railroad labor bureaucracy rather than the labor relations board, the principle that went crashing down was the same one.

This case, decided by a jury after a long trial, upheld the right of a state to maintain the open shop even though the federal congress had had the gall to say that no state's own law should prevail against the closed shop decreed by the will of congress.

FOOD PROBLEMS OF HOUSEHOLDS ARE SIMPLE TO THIS EXTENT

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, May 13 (A)—How can you get bananas to stay ripe longer by making them breathe less? What is the correct wall thickness of a piece of macaroni? How can you tell whether canned peas are young, middle-aged or elderly? These problems would baffle the best of housewives, but a man—one man anyway—finds them quite simple. He is George Garnatz, a pioneer in the rapidly expanding field of food engineering.

"I've been stuck with food problems for 32 years," said Garnatz, "ever since I wrote a graduate thesis on the soda cracker when I was studying to be a chemical engineer. Nobody had ever written a thesis about soda crackers. Chemical engineers then didn't pay much attention to the study of food processes."

Today, as director of the Kroger Food Foundation, Cincinnati, Garnatz and a staff of 25 work in a laboratory full of weird machines developed to see that mama gets what she pays for at the grocery store.

"Our devices test food products mechanically and objectively," said Garnatz. "They take the element of human opinion out of it, so we can get down to the real facts about food."

With a simple micrometer Garnatz can measure a piece of macaroni to be sure that it has the proper wall thickness.

"A quick-cooking macaroni should be about 28/1000th of an inch thick," he said. "Slow-cooking macaroni can be up to 4/100th of an inch. We can allow up to 5/1,000th of an inch variation and still guarantee uniform cooking quality."

How do you tell young peas from old peas? Simple. By the difference between sinkers and floaters.

"As years get older they get more dense, because they are converting their sugar to starch," explained Garnatz. "In a can of top-grade fancy peas not more than 2 per cent of them should sink more than 3 inches in a 13 per cent salt solution in 10 seconds."

Gadgets in his laboratory look as if they had been invented by Rube Goldberg.

The crumb-pressure tester squeezes bread and checks its freshness and resistance to becoming stale.

There is also a "cookie torturer" called a shortometer. The cookie or soda cracker is placed across two parallel bars. A third metal arm then swings down and measures how much force is required to crumble it.

"A nice, flaky soda cracker ought to break under 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 pounds of pressure," said Garnatz, learnedly. "If it has too much moisture content or it is made with too little shortening, it may take more than three pounds to snap it. Shows it's too tough."

With a sharp-edged shear-tester he can also cut through and test beef or jelly beans. A jelly bean that can't stand up to seven pounds pressure is too soft in shape; one that can take 11 pounds is too tough in the trade.

Once while experimenting bananas a laboratory worker tested a banana which they coated a banana with a thin layer of wax. "Let's try it and see if it stayed ripe twice as long as treated bananas."

Naturally he couldn't with floor wax on it, but with a bit of paraffin wax it stayed twice as long as untreated bananas.

"But we have now got harmless odorless wax on it before the end of the food expert, however, times a bit uneasy when it comes to dinner. But he insists on doing the test."

"She's a good cook," Garnatz smiled.

"Best Seller" for 3 good reasons

CAN YOU SEE • STEER • STOP SAFELY? CHECK YOUR CAR—CHECK ACCIDENTS

Buick now outsells all other cars in its price class and above

You've probably noticed it right in your own neighborhood. Bright new Buicks appearing here, there, everywhere. And more and more of them in recent weeks. Know what's happening? Folks in growing numbers—and maybe you'll be joining them soon!—are finding Buick styling, performance and value far too wonderful to pass up.

So Buick is selling at a record pace—outselling all other cars in its price class and above.

Matter of fact, latest figures for the first quarter of 1954 show that, in total national volume, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success.

There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years—the very look of tomorrow—and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look.

There's performance in Buick as never before—with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow, with the buoyant ride of all-coil-springing, with a new precision of control and handling.

And there's value in Buick that's hard to match—with prices starting near the "low-price three"—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

How about you? Are you ready, willing and waiting to be shown that this best-selling called Buick is the buy of the year for you, too? Drop in this week, or give us a call, and we'll arrange a demonstration.

Summer Icicles

Seven feet long are among the attractions to be featured in Shoshone ice caves which are to be opened to the public later this month. Edwin Russell Robinson, Gooding, is opening the area for many years. But Edwin Russell Robinson, Gooding, is actually "opening" the attraction in that he is making the Shoshone ice caves accessible to the public.

Robinson, who recently was discharged from the armed services, has been given a lease by the state on lands around the ice caves. He has constructed trails in the area and strung electric lights in some of the caves. He plans to conduct tours in the area and to lecture about the formations and some of the history of the area.

A curio shop also will be opened at the site. Featured will be Idaho mementoes of sagebrush and "floating rock."

Robinson claims at least a third of the area is unexplored. Until the area has been completely gone over, the tours will be conducted only through the explored portions of the area. Among the curiosities to be shown will be rock so light it floats on water, crystals with eerie gleam under the lights, cold blasts of air gushing upward from subterranean chambers, natural bridges, domed caverns and cave floors covered with ice. In some of the caves icicles seven feet long hang from the ceilings.

One of the most unique spots is an old crater named "Black Butte," Robinson claims. The crater spewed molten lava as recently as 250 years ago, he said. Other flows from the same volcano are believed to be centuries old.

The old ice caves with which most residents of Magic Valley are acquainted was nearly ruined several years ago when the entrance was enlarged to make the cave more accessible. Heat from the lava beds in summer has all but destroyed the once-beautiful ice chambers.

Robinson is using other caves in the area rather than the one almost destroyed by heat. He said it will take special lighting to bring out the beauty in some of the caves but gasoline lanterns will be used for the time being.

Signs and markers are being prepared for the opening and the office and curio shop will be located at the ice caves service station.

As a part of the history of the area, Robinson will tell spectators about the $65,000 in gold reportedly buried in the area after a stage holdup near the ice caves and never recovered. He said many stages were "hit" by bandits near the ice caves and during one of them six bandits made off with gold bars valued at $65,000.

In the area is a "ditch" which runs for more than a half mile down the north side of the Black butte cone. It is through this "ditch" that Black butte apparently was drained, Robinson said. The roof of this channel has caved in for the most part, but natural bridges stand where the roof has remained intact.

Studies Urged On Use of TV In Education

BOISE, May 13 (AP)—A conference of Idaho educators recommended yesterday that Gov. Len Jordan appoint a committee of interested groups to continue exploration of the possibilities of educational television.

The resolution followed a discussion marked by conflicting estimates of how much an educational television setup for Idaho would cost.

Need Five Stations

Henry Fletcher, general manager of radio station KSEL, Pocatello, said if the state was going to build stations of its own, it would need five to cover the state.

They would have to be built on mountain tops for maximum coverage, Fletcher said, and would cost a total of 5 1/2 million dollars. He added they would cost about a million dollars per year in operation.

But C. N. Braum, engineering consultant with the joint committee on educational television, said construction cost of most educational stations elsewhere has been about $350,000. He said they cost about $150,000 per year to run.

Braum pointed out that the federal communications commission has allocated channels at Boise and Moscow to educational television.

Because of the mountains, he said, the Moscow channel does not offer very wide coverage.

Five Unused

"So it would seem the way to start would be to activate the Boise and then other unused channels in other parts of the state," Idaho now has five commercial channels for which there are no applications.

Fletcher proposed the preparation of educational programs to be broadcast by commercial stations.

"The stations are willing to allocate time to educational groups if they get properly produced educational programs," Fletcher said.

Herbert E. Natrup of the department of electrical engineering at the University of Idaho said this is what the university has in mind.

Region Firms Planning Big Power Outlay

BOISE, May 13 (AP)—Kinsey M. Robinson, president of Washington Water Power company, Spokane, said yesterday that five Pacific northwest power companies expect to spend two billion dollars in the next 20 years to meet the area's power needs.

He told the closing session of the Northwest Electric Light and Power association that they were "really going to study" the possibilities of atomic power plants to see if they could be made competitive in costs with existing generating methods.

"If power could be obtained economically from nuclear reactors, he said, it would eliminate fights for dam sites against the opposition of wildlife interests such as the one now under way over two proposed dams on the Clearwater river in north Idaho.

The companies—Washington Water Power, Montana Power, Pacific Power and Light, Portland General Electric and Mountain States Power—announced Tuesday they were pooling their technical resources to investigate the feasibility of atomic power plants.

Robinson said the eastern part of the northwest power pool had been "fortunate" in having no power shortages in recent years, while the western portion, "where we are dependent on government power" has had continual shortages since 1942.

He said the public utility districts in Washington are getting weaker, and that a recent survey of WWP's service area showed 72 per cent of the people wanted it to stay in business, 9 per cent favored its being replaced by public power, and the rest had no opinion.

The company offered the minimum allowable bid of $1,346.02 for lease of phosphate production of 1,346.02 acres of land located about 15 miles northeast of Kilgore, Ida.

Committee reports and presentation of the charter were made at the meeting of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees, Southern Idaho, chapter 406, Wednesday night in the Idaho Power company auditorium.

The charter was presented by Ralph Gamble, secretary-treasurer, who had received it from association headquarters in Washington, D. C.

A member-ship committee report was presented by Herman F. Rexroat. Retired civil service employees were asked to contact Gamble, telephone 1811-R, for membership information. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be an outdoor session June 14 at the home of Rexroat, 227 Sixth avenue east.

500 People Hunt 'Dangerous' Lion

BIGFORK, Mont., May 13 (AP)—Orders to shoot on sight were given as the nearly 500 residents of this northwest Montana town hunted an escaped pet mountain lioness today.

H. G. Anderson, owner of the 8-year-old half-tamed animal, described her as "dangerous."

The 135-pound lioness, a tourist attraction the past four years, apparently was released yesterday by pranksters from her cage on Bigfork's main street.

Strike Holding up Shipment of Lead

WALLACE, May 13 (AP)—Shipment of lead concentrates from Coeur d'Alene district mines was at a standstill today because of a wildcat strike in the East Helena, Mont., smelter of the American Smelting and Refining company.

Railroads put an embargo on the shipments when the smelter stopped operations. Affected were the Pacific, Morning, Frisco, Jack Waite and Great Northern, Amare, and the Day Mines, Inc.

The strike by some 320 members of the Mine, Mill and Smeltermen's union began last Thursday. Union officials said they had urged the men to return to work but they refused.

Bank of England Slashes Interest

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—The Bank of England reduced its interest rates today on loans from 3 1/2 per cent to 3 per cent. This will make borrowing easier and probably will act as a spur to business expansion.

It was the second slash in the bank rate in just under eight months, the rate having been cut from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent last Sept. 17.

The new move showed the conservative government's continued high confidence in Britain's present financial state.

Group Warns Of Monopoly Over A- Power

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The American Power association protested yesterday that the administration's atomic energy proposals would invite private monopoly "on a scale never before known in America."

The association's president and general counsel, Samuel B. Morris and Gilmore T. Tilman, respectively, gave the warning to the senate's atomic energy committee studying the administration bills to open the atomic field to private industry.

Morris testified the measure would permit any private company, which might achieve a patentable development in converting atomic energy to electric power, to curb dissemination of the knowledge and "exact" tribute from the 160 million people whose taxes have paid for atomic development thus far.

Morris noted that the declaration of purpose in the new bill eliminates the phrase "strengthening free enterprise" which appears in the 1946 atomic energy act, and substitutes the wording "foster our system of free enterprise."

Under questioning by Representative Holtfield, D. Calif., Morris said

Group Warns Of Monopoly Over A- Power

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The American Power association protested yesterday that the administration's atomic energy proposals would invite private monopoly "on a scale never before known in America."

The association's president and general counsel, Samuel B. Morris and Gilmore T. Tilman, respectively, gave the warning to the senate's atomic energy committee studying the administration bills to open the atomic field to private industry.

Morris testified the measure would permit any private company, which might achieve a patentable development in converting atomic energy to electric power, to curb dissemination of the knowledge and "exact" tribute from the 160 million people whose taxes have paid for atomic development thus far.

Morris noted that the declaration of purpose in the new bill eliminates the phrase "strengthening free enterprise" which appears in the 1946 atomic energy act, and substitutes the wording "foster our system of free enterprise."

Crashes 'Curtain'

NUERNBERG, Germany, May 13 (AP)—A 22-year-old, anti-communist Czech, clad only in underwear, crashed landed a two-engine civilian Czechoslovak plane in the U. S. troop training area at Grafenwoehr near here yesterday. He asked for political asylum in the west.

The four-seated plane broke a wing when it crashed after crossing the nearby iron curtain border but the pilot escaped injuries. There were no others aboard.

This alteration might permit the exclusion of publicly owned utilities from the generation of electric power by atomic reactors.

As the bill stands, he said, it would thwart the purpose expressed by President Eisenhower in his message to congress. He quoted the President as saying the law needs a mechanism assuring that "a limited number of companies... cannot build a patent monopoly."

Expert Seeks Payments for Indian Tribe

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Omer C. Stewart, University of Colorado anthropologist, sought today to establish the right of 6,000 Paiute Indians to compensation for 50,000,000 acres of land in four states which they claim the government illegally took from them.

Stewart's testimony before the Indian claims commission was based on conversations he had with the Paiutes in 1936 when he was working on a book entitled "Northern Paiute Bands."

The conversations dealt with Indian conditions prior to 1850. He testified he talked with many aged Indians and took notes on what they said.

Land in 4 States

The land the Paiutes claim is in California, Nevada, Idaho and Oregon. Because horses were unknown to the Paiutes in the early days, it was impossible for this vast area to be occupied by a single group under one chief, Stewart identified the various small Paiute bands and their leaders as segments of the present northern Paiute nation, which is now making its claim.

No Value Fixed

If the commission finds that the government is liable for damages, a second proceeding will be required to determine the amount. Much of the acreage involved is desert land. The Paiutes have not fixed a value on the areas.

Government experts scheduled to offer contrary testimony are J. H. Stewart, Urbana, Ill., professor in the State university and Ermanie Voegelin, a researchist at Indiana University, Bloomington.

China's Reds May Talk Tough But They Have their Trouble

Editor's note: Though they talk tough, and though they confront the western world with the constant threat of aggression, the Chinese communists are having their troubles. Material for the following dispatch by the AP manager for Hong Kong was gathered from Chinese red newspapers, diplomatic and military intelligence sources and refugees.

By WENDELL MERICK

HONG KONG, May 13 (AP)—Two hundred million people in communist China are hungry.

Discouraged farmers are flocking to the big cities by tens of thousands.

There is lethargy and inefficiency in the factories.

There are not enough trained communists to run the country.

It is reported that there is dissension between Mao Tse-Tung, the communist leader, and Liu Shao-Chi, his No. 2 man, on economic policy.

There is no sign that the Red regime is weakening. There always has been hunger in China, there always has been inefficiency and governments always have had trouble in controlling the country. But the communists have serious problems to plague them, and the problems are not being solved.

The Reds themselves admit that 200,000,000 out of China's 500,000,000 people are short of food.

Floods, drought and insects ruined much of last year's crops. Food that the people needed was sent to iron curtain countries to pay for machinery for heavy industry.

The farmers have lost their incentive to grow food because taxes are high and because the Reds take all the food a man grows except what he needs for his own family.

The people's Daily and other newspapers have complained of "lethargy" among factory workers and have demanded harder work.

There seems to be loose talk even among high communist officials. No. 2 man Liu Shao-Chi warned in March that men like Russia's executed secret police officer Lavrenti P. Beria are endangering the plans of the communist party and must be ferreted out.

Industrially, the Reds are in the second year of a five-year plan of development.

Diplomats believe that the communists may have increased production a little bit over that attained under the Nationalist government before World War II.

Official figures claim an overall increase of 35.8 per cent for steel

Record Released On Senate Parley About Army Row

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The senate investigations subcommittee yesterday made public the stenographic record of its March 18, closed-door meeting which led to the decision to launch its public McCarthy-army hearings.

The transcript quoted some of the members as cautioning against "huah-up" or "whitewash" tactics, and a suggestion by Senator Dirksen, R., Ill., that a public airing could lead "only" to the firing of two of the principal characters in the dispute, Roy M. Cohn and John G. Adams.

Dirksen told a newsmen yesterday that he since has changed his mind and no longer believes that the dismissals are the "only" results likely. "I'll have more to say about that later," the senator added.

The transcript quoted Senator McClellan, D., Ark., the subcommittee's senior Democratic member, as warning his colleagues on March 18:

"It is a national issue today, and

Rails Official Sees Chances Of Expansion

WILMINGTON, Del., May 13 (AP)—D. J. Russell, president of Southern Pacific company, says prospects are "bright" for long-term traffic growth in the western and south-western states served by the railroad.

Russell told the company's annual meeting here yesterday that although Southern Pacific's freight volume in the first quarter of this year dipped about nine per cent from the near-record figures of the same 1953 period, the prospects still remain good for traffic growth.

"Population growth in the eight western states served by Southern Pacific... gives every indication of continuing at a high rate, further increasing opportunities for business expansion," Russell said.

The railroad executive said industrial growth prospects in the west and southwest continue to be "highly encouraging."

Southern Pacific's net earnings for the first three months of 1954 were $10,073,574, equal to $1.11 a share, he said, adding that decline in revenue is being offset partially by reduction in expenses and increased efficiency.

He disclosed that during 1954 the road will receive delivery of 2,400 new freight cars, 70 diesel locomotives and 27 new passenger trains.

Yugoslav Boy, 9, Wounded by Reds

BELEGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 13 (AP)—The Yugoslav government made public yesterday a report that Bulgarian border guards wounded a 9-year-old Yugoslav boy in the leg last Sunday, then threw a grenade at Yugoslav guards who came to the boy's assistance.

The grenade caused no injuries, the government statement said.

Accounts of the incident said the wounded boy had been chasing a runaway horse.

High Court Rules For Canal Rights

BOISE, May 13 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court yesterday upheld the right of Robert M. Quinn to put an irrigation canal through the property of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stone and James Mason in Jefferson county.

The Stones and Mason had held that Quinn's rights under an easement had been exhausted by construction of a previous canal. This view was upheld in district court.

But the high court unanimously sent the case back to the lower court with directions to reverse the judgment.

Wyoming's Oldest Native Son Killed

CASPER, Wyo., May 13 (AP)—Peter Fisher, 88, believed to be Wyoming's oldest native son, was found dead of a gunshot wound at the Jim Grieve ranch 80 miles southwest of Casper.

Coroner Carl Horstman ruled the death a suicide.

Fisher was born at Ft. Laramie, on March 14, 1866, when the frontier camp was an army post and a rendezvous for trappers and Indians.

Film Produced

BOISE, May 13 (AP)—Farmers in the Portneuf Soil Conservation district will be able to see themselves in the movies before long.

Special Fleet for Arctic Operation Planned for U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Defense chiefs plan to build a special fleet of vessels able to operate in the frozen Arctic, it was disclosed yesterday. This was new evidence that the Arctic may be a vital strategic area if World War III should break out.

Vice-Adm. Frances E. Denebrink, commander of the military sea transportation center, service urged senators to approve a special $60-million-dollar fund to build a number of vessels. Six of them would be capable of breaking ice or withstanding great ice pressure.

"These ships will be available immediately in the event of a sudden outbreak of hostilities," the admiral said in a statement for the senate appropriations subcommittee considering the $9-million-dollar annual defense bill.

"Initial wartime expansion of Arctic operations cannot be deferred until ice breaks up to the extent that conventional shipping could be used," he continued.

Change

BALTIMORE, May 13 (AP)—Herman Bolling, 26, had trouble with his wife Tuesday night, wound-up in jail, and called his brother, Ralph, to bail him out.

Ralph arrived juggling a bag in which he had $1 bills and 1,700 nickels he scooped up in a hurry at his luncheon.

Desk Sgt. Samuel Lindung counted and counted but Ralph still was 20 cents short of the $101.70 he needed to get Herman out of the clink.

Ralph dug up four more nickels out of his pocket.

Herman was fined $26.70 in magistrate's court yesterday on an assault charge.

So the police took the 13 $1 bills and 274 nickels and gave the other 1,500 back to Ralph.

Dispute on Street Name Flares Hot

WHITTIER, Calif., May 13 (AP)—Citizens here erupted in a heated controversy today over whether a main street should be named in honor of Whittier's No. 1 son—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Some factions in Nixon's hometown have proposed that a thoroughfare running from the city center east to the Los Angeles-Orange county line bear his name.

However, the East Whittier Women's Improvement association and the Whittier Democratic club voiced strong objections to the move yesterday.

The women's group would rather have the thoroughfare called Sixth street.

The Democratic club objected in "principle" to naming a street for a living person, especially one they believe to be "controversial."

Titian, the Venetian painter, was 99 years old when he died.

Favorite as New Premier for France Is Danger for Dulles

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
A man who believes the French position in Indochina is hopeless could be France's next premier.
He is Pierre Mendes-France, an independent-minded member of the Radical Socialist party.
Mendes-France also opposes the European Defense Community pact which provides for inclusion of German troops in the western defense set-up.
If he is called upon to head France's 20th government since World War II, the work of Secretary of States John Foster Dulles in seeking collective security in Europe and the far east will be even more difficult, if not impossible.
Premier Joseph Laniel is staking his job in the Paris national assembly today on a vote of confidence.
The issue is whether there shall be an immediate full-dress debate on the entire Indochina situation.

State Patrolman To Testify Again

POCATELLO, May 13 (AP)—Lieut. Alfred Nogo of the Idaho state patrol was called to resume his testimony for the prosecution today in the fourth day of the trial of Mrs. Agnes Gray, McCammon, on a charge of second-degree murder.
McCammon town Marshal Sewell Henson testified yesterday he received an early morning telephone call from the woman last February, and she said, "Sewell, come quick, I shot Cecil."
The body of her husband, Cecil Gray, a McCammon trucking company executive, was found with a bullet hole in it outside their home Feb. 7.

12 Railroad Cars Derailed in Utah

ROY, Utah, May 13 (AP)—Twelve cars of a Denver and Rio Grande Western freight train were derailed early today, blocking both the railroad tracks and a main street in Roy.
No one was injured.
Wrecking crews clearing the tracks estimated their job would not be completed until late afternoon. They said D and RGW trains were using the neighboring tracks of the Union Pacific railroad in the meantime.
Cause of the derailment was not known.

Detroit Eyes Spring Sales With Interest

DETROIT, May 13 (AP)—With 9 per cent of its labor force officially listed as out of work, Detroit has a special interest this year in the health and sticking powers of the spring business upturn.

And so do numerous other cities in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio where cars, their parts or their raw materials are made.

For traditionally, as spring and early summer sales go, so goes the year in the auto industry.

Merchants, bankers and auto men here agree the spring business upturn is coming on time schedule. But some say it hasn't been as vigorous as hoped. And some labor leaders call it disappointingly small.

Retail trade lags behind last year—but is better than might be expected in a city with 135,000 officially listed as unemployed. Apparel shops and appliance dealers complain in the most.

People are slow to take on new installment debts, but while collections are a little slower, repossession haven't risen much, bankers say. They add that total savings are holding high in spite of a drop in payrolls.

And the number of families on relief is a little lower now than a year ago, although officials can't give a reason for it.

In many quarters hope now centers on a leveling off of business activity for the next few months, or at worst only a moderate further drop. Fears of a sharp decline are now pretty well lulled—perhaps because the economy didn't drop as sharply or as far as first feared, and because things look better now than a couple of months ago.

This cheerier feeling on the part of businessmen isn't shared, of course, by many labor leaders. They stress the number of those out of work and express fear the total will grow—especially if the auto industry's gamble on a good spring-summer sales season proves a bad one.

Contrast Noted in Northwest Solon "Jurors" for Big Fight

By PAT MUNROE
(Washington Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, May 13 (Special)—The Pacific Northwest has two of the seven members of the senate "jury" that is hearing the McCarthy-army ruckus.

They are Democrat Henry M. Jackson, Washington, and Republican Henry Dworshak, Idaho. They sit at opposite ends of the line of solons. And more of a contrast would be difficult to find.

Jackson is perhaps the most vocal pro-army senator. Newsmen have dubbed him "prosecuting attorney" against the McCarthy clique.

Now perhaps the most quiet member of the seven is Dworshak. He's faithful about attending the hearings and all that. But he sits with a rather pained expression on his face and this is what he's thinking as the hearings grind on into the third week:

"When I consented to fill the vacancy (created when McCarthy stepped off the committee) on the committee, I was reluctant to accept because I thought the controversy between Senator McCarthy and Army Secretary Stevens could be resolved without public hearings.

"Unfortunately this was not done and we are in the process of devoting valuable time to widely-publicized hearings which can serve no good purpose."

Dworshak has supported just about any means of getting the hearings stopped. If not stopped, then he'd like a more dignified air about them—no blinding TV lights and whirling movie cameras. He's more placid than Jackson by nature and thus would prefer quieter surroundings.

Republicans on the group also feel the public spectacle is not good politics, whereas the Democrats are delighted to have the squabble widely viewed.

There's only one point on which Jackson and Dworshak appear matched. McCarthy now seems to have little use for either.

He's made his feelings clear and the result for each has been a daily flood of hundreds of fan letters, both pro and con.

That the liberal Jackson and McCarthy are on the outs is hardly news. Dworshak's voting record so nearly duplicates McCarthy's that any split is news.

The bad feeling between McCarthy and Dworshak came about as the result of the former's reference to the latter as the man he'd named to take his place on the group.

The first time McCarthy did this, Dworshak sat mum.

The second, Dworshak sent a note during the hearing to Sen. Karl Mundt, R. S. D. asking that McCarthy be corrected. Nothing happened.

The third time, Dworshak cut loose. He said he had been named to serve by a vote of the committee and had himself voted against doing so.

McCarthy then acknowledged this was the case. He said the choice was between Dworshak and Sen. John Marshall Butler, R. Md., who was then sick. McCarthy said he only wished that Butler had been well at the time.

Big Smile Brings Waitress Award

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP)—A slim, attractive mother of two children, selected from among 30,000 waitresses as "Miss Good Morning of 1954," serves a smile to grouchy customers.

Mrs. Fay Badal, employed in a Loop restaurant, was awarded the title yesterday at the 35th annual National Restaurant association convention. She won a contest based on salesmanship, efficiency, courtesy and appearance.

Commenting on grouchy customers, Mrs. Badal said: "It's best to know how to them because you have to get used to them anyway, especially if they are frequent customers. I just have a lot of fun with people and forget it."

Belly Dance Aids Victim of Asthma

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Exercise, sometimes including a "belly dance," apparently helps prevent bronchial asthma, Dr. Karl Schatz, Mount-McGregor, N. Y., said today.

The exercising includes special breathing exercises to straighten the diaphragm for deep breathing. Callisthenics, hiking or other exercises later are added to make a person physically better fit, he told the New York State Medical society.

Some people need to start with simple exercises to strengthen abdominal muscles, or help overcome nasal obstructions, he said. One of these is the belly dance—drawing in and pushing out the abdominal wall every second for 50 to 60 times.

Army Develops Clinical Device

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Development of a new clinical thermometer described as more accurate and much faster than the present mercury type was announced today by the army.

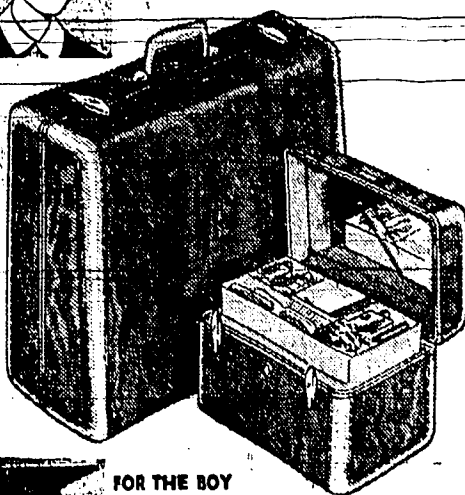

The surgeon general's office said the new electronic device, called "switem," represents "the first change in clinical thermometers since the mercury column type was introduced... in 1867."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Rosemarie was visiting her beloved aunt and together they were weeding a flower border. Auntie had an old worn tool in her hand and Rosemarie had a shiny new one. Auntie was working with speed and sureness, born of long practice, but Rosemarie, not doing so well, thought this was owing to the tool, forgetting that auntie was behind that tool.

Without preliminary, Rosemarie snatched up the tool when auntie laid it down for an instant. "Gimme that thing," said she. Auntie reached for her hook and said, "That is not the way to ask for things. You should have said, 'Please may I have your hook for a minute?'"

Rosemarie sat back on her heels and looked serenely at her aunt. "Why should I do that? When I'm helping mother carpet-sweep with my own carpet sweeper she doesn't say 'please,' or anything. She just takes it and says, 'Here. Gimme that thing.'"

We want children to have good manners. We want them to know the difference between what belongs to them and what belongs to somebody else, including members of the family. Manners are the beginning of morals and are therefore important enough for the consideration of grown-up people in relation to children. We must respect their ownership, their pride of possession, just as we expect them to respect that in relation to others. The golden rule should be accented daily—hourly.

To know the difference between right and wrong, teachers and parents have to be strict in regard to every phase of possession and usage. One child should not appropriate another's property without asking politely for permission to take it. This must be observed between brothers and sisters from the very beginning. To each his own and no infringement on personal rights. Sharing is voluntary, and grabbing is frowned upon always.

Borrowing should be restricted, lest it become a habit and breed carelessness about the property of others. The constant borrower is likely to forget who owns what and that leads to worse attitudes. The line of ownership must always be kept clearly in mind. If that idea is clouded there will be trouble. We must watch to make sure that each child respects another's belongings, insisting on getting permission before using a playmate's things, insisting on no borrowing save in extreme emergency, insisting upon knowing about all articles that have been "found," traded, or presented. A careful training at the start will save many a heartache later.

Youth for Christ Rally Sunday to Feature Speaker

Wendy Collins, Great Falls, Mont., will be the speaker at the special Youth for Christ rally to be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Baptist church.
Collins, a graduate of Moody Bible Institute, was director of the Milwaukee, Wis., Youth for Christ rally. Before becoming active in the Montana-Wyoming region for Youth for Christ, he spent several months traveling as speaker with a Youth for Christ international evangelistic team in Europe.
"Sunday on the Range," the first Christian film processed by Technicolor, also will be shown at the rally. The 30-minute picture features Redd Harper and Tim Spencer. The latter appeared at Magic Valley Youth for Christ rallies in October, 1953.
There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend the rally.

Ditch Riders Stay Exempt

WASHINGTON, May 13 (Special)—Look for irrigation ditch riders to be exempt for another year from terms of the fair labor standards act.
Last year Rep. Hamer Budge, R., Ida., was able to attach such a ride on the appropriations bill for the department of labor when it was passed by the house. Its language is included in the new request for money from the department and very likely to remain so. Budge is a member of the appropriations subcommittee handling the bill, which has not yet been reported to congress.
Meantime, both Budge and Sen. Henry Dworshak have introduced legislation to make the exemption permanent law. The labor committees of both houses, however, seem reluctant to take any action.
So the same route as last year appears the way to do it. All persons dealing with ditches, canals, reservoirs and waterways simply would be classified as "agricultural" workers and thus exempt from the red tape of the fair labor act.

Smoking Is OK'd For U. N. Council

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 13 (U)—Smoking was allowed in the security council yesterday for the first time in the U. N.'s eight-year history.
Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld had rescinded the rule of no smoking in the council chamber at the request of smokers among the 11 members.
The 80-nation general assembly now remains the only U. N. body whose members may not smoke during meetings.

A truly FINE PALE BEER

It takes time... plenty of time... to make a truly fine pale beer. Only Nature can make beer light and golden-clear, and Nature can't be hurried.

That is the reason why Burgermeister Beer is always made the same way... the long... slow... natural way.

The result is that more and more people are saying "I'll take Burgie." They enjoy a truly fine pale beer—and you will, too.

So next time you buy beer, ask for Burgie!

Solon Advises Study of Jobs For Gas Issue

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Rep. Douglas R. Stringfellow, R., Utah, urged today enactment of legislation which would require the power commission to study the effect on employment in this country before authorizing import of natural gas from Canada.

A statement by the Utah congressman was released by his office. It was intended for a subcommittee of the senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce which is considering such legislation.

Bills Introduced
The senate bill was introduced by Sen. Lester C. Hunt, R., Wyo. Stringfellow has introduced a similar measure in the house.

The power commission has under consideration requests from two companies to pipe gas into the Pacific northwest from Canada. An attorney for the commission recommended that they be denied but the commission has not acted.

Dangers Cited
"Placing unnecessary dependence upon a foreign commodity," Stringfellow said, "is, at best, an illogical and dangerous practice. To permit our domestic fuel industry to be destroyed by imports would be to put ourselves at the mercy of foreign producers."

"In the years to come Canada might well decide that her natural gas reserves are needed for her own industries. Or she might find it necessary to impose an exorbitant tax on gas exports. In either case, the United States would be the loser, for by then our mines would have been closed and our workers and their families would have moved into other areas in search of employment."

Cleveland Region Agrees That Slump Has Hit Hard Goods Industry Worst

CLEVELAND, May 13 (AP)—It has been called a hard goods recession. And this area of high focus on the making of long-lasting products and basic materials is disinclined to quarrel with the term.

Many communities in the highly industrialized region have felt the slump. But the tumble wasn't as bad as some feared when the durable goods industries started sliding fast late last year.

The economy by now has all but stopped skidding. Some report signs of recovery. And even the cautious predict that for some months to come there should be only a gentle settling back, with a fair chance of a pickup next year.

Cleveland industrialists are clear-eyed about the dip in production. But you'd have to dig deep to find one who'd admit he's gloomy about the future.

The iron and steel makers, the supplier to the auto industry, the fashioners of home appliances have seen the biggest production dip, the most layoffs.

But even among the hard goods the recession has been selective—one of the most unorthodox on record.

Steel companies, for example, that make structural shapes—used by the still prospering building industry—show up much better on the production charts than do some of the companies around Cleveland turning out the same kind of steel that winds up in an auto or a gadget for the home.

Or take the way the consumer is behaving. Cleveland's jobless roll call is much longer than this time a year ago, and the total—was creeping higher in April—Most of those at work have lost any overtime they might have had. Some are working short weeks and taking home slim pay envelopes.

And yet the sale of used cars in Cleveland this year is about the same as a year ago, Cleveland's Federal Reserve bank reports. And the sale of new cars (while trailing in the early months of the year) in recent weeks has climbed a trifle ahead of the figures for the same time last year.

Car dealers, moreover, report that their customers choose the higher priced models in the line.

Retail sales for the year to date are off about 6 per cent in the fourth district which the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland serves. The district covers Ohio, western Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky and part of West Virginia. For the nation as a whole the drop is 3 per cent.

Larger declines appear in the industrial centers like Cleveland, Toledo and Akron than in the fourth district as a whole.

But the soft goods, with the exception of some apparel lines, are selling well. And spending on most of the services stays high.

Even in the areas where the slowdown is felt the most, this recession is accepted as "an adjustment."

Chairman Chosen For Shipper Panel

SALT LAKE CITY, May 13 (AP)—Lowe P. Siddons, Colorado Springs, Colo., general traffic manager of Holly Sugar company, was elected chairman yesterday of the Central Western Shippers advisory board. He succeeded L. J. Bequet, Lincoln, Neb.

The board represents shippers in Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho.

Changes Asked in Mine Lease Laws

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Orin Lewis, assistant secretary of the Interior, testified yesterday before a senate interior subcommittee in support of legislation to amend the mineral leasing act.

The proposed changes are designed to encourage drilling for oil and gas on public domain lands by liberalizing the provisions of the mineral leasing act as to extensions of oil and gas leases.

Chairman Barrett, R., Wyo., said he knew of no opposition to the legislation from his section of the country.

District Court's Ruling Reversed

BOISE, May 13 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court yesterday reversed a decision by Ringham county District Judge Preston Thatcher who had ruled in favor of Hyrum Lewis in a land dispute.

The court directed Thatcher to set the boundary between Lewis' property and that of Esam Wakamatsu along the lines of a fence which had been erected early in the century. Lewis had disputed the validity of the boundary line.

Thrifty "Fruit-of-the-Day" Shortcake!

What makes this old-fashioned shortcake so different? 1. The fluffy, light-biscuit that you get with lighter Snowdrift. 2. The luscious, thrifty topping you make with double-rich Carnation Milk. 3. You can serve it any time. Make any season shortcake season with fresh, canned or frozen fruit.

What Every Good Cook Knows:

Just a little difference in ingredients makes a big difference in cooking results. Snowdrift is pre-whipped just a little longer than ordinary shortenings, for easier blending. It's just a little lighter than any other shortening, for more digestible foods. And Snowdrift's ingredient's are just a little cooler than any other solid shortening. That means better-tasting shortcake... every time!

SNOWDRIFT'S OLD-FASHIONED SHORTCAKE
(makes 6 three-inch shortcakes)

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar	1/2 cup SNOWDRIFT
3 teaspoons baking powder	1/2 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
	1/4 cup water

Sift dry ingredients together in bowl. Cut in Snowdrift until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Mix Carnation and water and add all at once. Mix with fork until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn out on lightly floured surface; knead 10 to 15 times. Roll or pat 1/4-inch thick; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in very hot oven (450° F.) 10-12 minutes.

*If you use self-rising flour, omit baking powder and salt, and decrease liquid if necessary.

CARNATION WHIPPED TOPPING
(makes about 3 1/2 cups topping)

1 1/2 cups undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK	1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice	1 teaspoon vanilla

Chill Carnation in refrigerator tray until soft crystals form through the milk (about 15-20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice and whip until very stiff (1-2 minutes longer). Fold or beat in sugar and vanilla. Split shortcakes in half. Cover bottom half with your favorite fruit-of-the-day—such as peaches, strawberries or raspberries, (fresh, frozen or canned). Spoon Carnation Whipped Topping over shortcake and fruit. Repeat with top half of shortcake, fruit and whipped Carnation. Serve at once.

The remaining Carnation from 1 large can for whipping, after preparing shortcake dough with 1/2 cup undiluted Carnation.

Best Bargains May Be Fowl, Beef and Veal

By The Associated Press

The nation's food stores had to contend with rising wholesale prices in picking their meat specials for this week-end.

The general opinion: Beef, veal and fowl will be the best buys, in part because they didn't go up as much as some other meats.

Among beef cuts, you'll find specials in some stores on rib roast, boneless chuck pot roast and ground beef, with prices ranging from 4 to 6 cents a pound below week-ago levels. Leg or rump of veal will be 4 cents lower in some areas and fowl for stewing will be down about the same amount.

Leg of lamb will be 4 cents higher in Los Angeles.

Pork chops will cost the same as a week ago or a little more.

New Product Slated

The packers are coming out with something new in the meat line: It's called beef bacon or breakfast beef and is expected to sell a bit lower than high-priced pork bacon.

Eggs will be cheaper this week.

The U. S. department of agriculture is urging housewives to buy dairy products, potatoes and raisins this month. It says there are plentiful supplies of fluid milk, butter, cheese, cottage cheese and other dairy products. New potatoes from the early producing areas of California and the southeast are rolling to market in increasing volume and there are plenty of spuds from last season's bumper harvest in Maine and other late crop areas to augment the supply. As for raisins, producers are trying to stimulate consumer interest in that food.

Onions Are Buy

Aside from potatoes, you'll find good vegetable buys in onions, celery, spinach, cucumbers and greens from nearby areas. Some stores will feature such items as green beans and fresh corn.

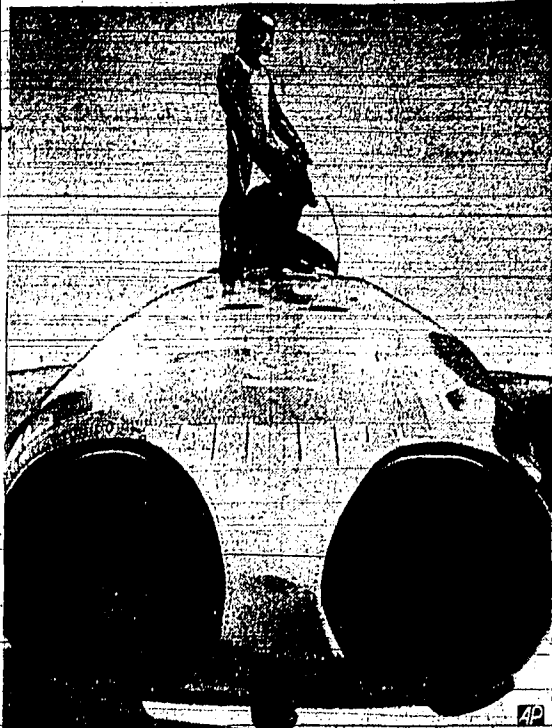

Vegetables going higher at wholesale this week included lettuce, carrots, broccoli and cabbage.

Strawberries continue to be ranked as the best fruit buy. Meanwhile the first new-crop plums from Texas and the first cantaloupes from Arizona are headed for markets all over the country.

Plans Completed For Reserve Hike

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Senator Ferguson, R., Mich., said yesterday that the Pentagon plans to announce by this week-end a "broad new plan for strengthening the reserve military forces of the nation."

Ferguson said in an interview that the reserve program would offset some of the reduction in ground forces called for under the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

Ferguson, chairman of a senate appropriations subcommittee now considering the 20-billion dollar defense budget for the year starting July 1, said Assistant Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah mentioned the new reserve program during closed-door testimony Tuesday.

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP)—Sam Lemler is dead at 114.

His grandchildren say, he took a drink when he wanted to, chain-smoked his pipe or cigars and had 10 to 15 cups of coffee a day.

"Only 10 days ago he told me quite solemnly that he was thinking of getting married again because he was tired of being lonely."

Lemler's wife died 32 years ago.

THE RIGHT TOOL FOR A PERFECT
JOB OF STUBBLE MULCHING

KLAUS STUBBLE MULCHER

Manufactured by Lockwood Graders, Inc.

THE NEW MACHINE

to Mulch Wheat Stubble Ahead of Chisel Plows

Many farmers have had difficulty with straw and weeds clogging up the various implements used to cultivate wheat stubble. Here is the machine which eliminates this trouble. The KLAUS SOIL MULCHER is an attachment for a standard chisel plow, or operates as a separate machine. It chops straw, stubble and weed growth ahead of the plow. The operation of 80 sickle blades, spaced two inches apart, shreds stubble and other top growth into a mulch which is deposited on top of the ground—where it can do the most good in conserving moisture, resisting wind erosion and preventing run-off.

With the KLAUS SOIL MULCHER, your operation is simple. First, the stubble is worked with a chisel plow, with the KLAUS SOIL MULCHER attached. Next, when needed to control weed growth, the soil is worked with a chisel plow with a rod-weeder attached. This second operation can be repeated as needed to control weed growth until drilling time arrives.

Where moldboard plow, or one-way is used, the KLAUS SOIL MULCHER makes plowing easier and eliminates air pockets.

REQUIRES ONLY 9 TO 12 HORSEPOWER
