Idaho Prison Term

Webb, who last week received his fourth drunk-driving conviction, was sentenced to two and one-half years in the state prison Saturday by District Judge Hugh A. ...

He has appealed the conviction to the state supreme court and is free under $1,500 bond pending action.

Public on the charge in Twin Falls last February and served 15 days in the county jail. He paid $103 fine on a like charge in December, 1951.

Two earlier drunk-driving convictions, one involving a hit-and-run offense, were recorded in Oakland, Calif., in 1948 and 1950.

Driver Fined

Delvon C. Rove, Twin Falls, was fined $50 and $40 costs in justice court Saturday after pleading guilty to negligent driving.

Rove allegedly missed the Falls avenue turn from Washington street north May 8 and mired his car in the soft, irrigated yard belonging to Lawrence E. Bird.

Investigating officers said Rove further tore up the yard when he tried to drag his car free first with Bird's pickup truck and then with his tractor.

Sent to Jail

William H. Sanford, Paul, and Byron Wright, Twin Falls, were fined $10 and $3 costs each in Twin Falls justice court Saturday for speeding.

Sanford was committed to the county jail when he was unable to pay his fine for driving his car 55 miles per hour in a 40-mile-per-hour truck zone one mile east of Twin Falls May 17.

Wright was arrested Friday on U. S. 30 one mile east of Twin Falls driving in excess of the 50 mile per hour speed limit.

In a third speeding offense, Ellis D. Welker, Twin Falls, was fined $15 and $3 costs in Twin Falls police court Saturday. Officers arrested him on Main avenue south last Thursday after clocking his car 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile per hour zone.

County Residents Pass Quota In Cancer Drive; Gain $8,801

Twin Falls county citizens donated $8,801.46 for the 1954 cancer fund-raising drive, exceeding the quota for the fifth straight year, it was revealed Saturday.

Mrs. Adolph Machacek, Buhl, county commander of the Idaho division of the national cancer society, said the goal of 15 cents per county citizen was topped by more than $1,000.

Twin Falls led the county's communities in donations with $3,994.43, followed by Buhl with $1,007.34, Piller, $876.06; Twin Falls rural areas, $601.70; Kimberly, $602.15; Murghoff, $404.95; Cassia, $389.06; Hansen, $298.48; Rock Creek, $117, and Amsterdam, $62.12.

Fliers 'Walk Away From Crash'

There's reason for mutual congratulations in this case. John M. Goddard, noted explorer-writer, left, clasps the hand of Pilot Walter Blaylock, Twin Falls, as they ponder the luck that enabled them to escape death when their airplane crashed at Kremmling, Colo., Thursday afternoon. Twin Falls Man, Explorer Have Lucky Escape From Colorado Airplane Crash

In the early days of aviation it was said that any landing from which the pilot could walk away was a good landing.

Using such as a yardstick, John M. Goddard, explorer, lecturer and writer, and Walter Blaylock, Twin Falls, made a good landing at Kremmling, Colo., Thursday afternoon. They took off at 2:10 p.m., landed at 2:13 p.m., and waded away.

Goddard is the lecturer who gave an illustrated talk on "Kayaks Down the Nile" in Twin Falls last December. Currently he is preparing for an exploration trip on the Colorado river from its source to the Gulf of California. Blaylock is going with him.

The two men were making a preliminary aerial reconnaissance over the headwaters of the river when they piled their Cessna 140 into the backwaters of the river they are planning to explore. Blaylock received a deep cut on the left side of his head and Goddard injured both his knees. Other than that they were uninjured.

Crashing in an airplane is nothing new to Goddard. He had done it twice before.

"But," he said, "the trip at Kremmling was the shortest airplane trip I ever took."

Kremmling is located 30 miles from the headwaters of the Colorado in the Rocky Mountain national park. The two men were flying over the source of the river to take motion pictures and to study the nature of the geography when a sudden rain squall forced them to land on the emergency air strip at Kremmling.

Once on the ground they noticed that to the south the clouds were breaking away. The weather in the west was closing in fast with heavy black clouds. Fearing they were to be stranded at Kremmling for some time the two men decided to make

ROKs Offer Plan For Korea Unity; Talks Deadlocked

GENEVA, May 22 (AP)—South Korean Foreign Minister Pyan Yung-tal laid before the Geneva conference today a 14-point proposal for unifying his divided nation. But the four-week deadlock in negotiations remained.

For the first time South Korea agreed to country-wide elections. Previously the South Koreans have insisted elections should be held only in the communist-ruled north. South Korea insisted that the United Nations supervise the elections and that Chinese troops in North Korea be withdrawn into China a month before the voting.

But Chou En-lai, red China's foreign minister, told the conference U. N. supervision was unacceptable. The communists were believed certain to reject also the troop-withdrawal proposal.

Chou asserted the United Nations was "a belligerent in the Korean war and has long lost its qualification for dealing with the Korean question impartially."

New Setup Urged

At the same time, Chou proposed that "a neutral organization be set up to render assistance to the Korean machinery in charge of the holding of the all-Korean elections."

He obviously conceived of this organization as something similar to the neutral nations supervisory commission which has been unable to function properly in Korea since the exchange of war prisoners. The Swiss and Swedish members of the commission have been complaining recently they have been obstructed by the communists in carrying out their tasks.

A French spokesman described the neutral commission proposal as a small step forward. But an American spokesman said it would only be another body with a built-in veto which would rule out the possibility of free elections. A British source said that while Chou's plan might have "superficial attractions it has

Marshal Announces More Parade Detail

Scope of the Golden Jubilee parade here June 1 continues to snowball with additional plans announced by Paul Warberg, parade marshal.

Numerous floats and displays are planned by various communities throughout the valley, according to Warberg. Several floats are planned from towns on the north side of the river. All entries are welcomed, he states.

Organizations and individuals need not register entries with Warberg or the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office, but are encouraged to contact either of the two regarding float standards and requirements.

A number of Magic Valley mayors and civic officials have accepted invitations to view the parade from the reviewing stand. Others have indicated they will attend. Officials who have not yet replied to invitations are asked to do so as soon as possible, says Warberg.

Guests are asked to go directly to the reviewing stand, to be located in front of the Bank and Trust building, the day of the parade where they will be greeted by Bert Sweet, Golden Jubilee chairman. Trophies to be awarded parade participants will be on display at the stand.

Revisions for Senate Rules Sought

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Senator Knowland, R., Calif., called today for a sweeping revision in the ground rules for senate investigations, pledging that the Republican leadership will back changes at the opening of the next congress.

In an obvious reaction to public criticism stirred up by the televised McCarthy-army dispute, Knowland said the Republican policy committee will ask its counterpart Democratic group to cooperate in adopting a uniform code for inquiries.

Although details yet are to be spelled out, Knowland said in an interview he thinks such a code should deal with the rights of witnesses, methods of issuing subpoenas, hearing procedures and television and broadcasting problems.

"This is not a partisan matter," the Republican senate leader said. "Senators of both parties are deeply concerned with laying down ground rules for the fair conduct of hearings."

Iverson Starts Life Sentence

GOODING, May 22—Joe Iverson, 15-year-old Gooding youth convicted of lewd and lascivious acts upon a 13-year-old girl, was taken to Boise Saturday to begin a life sentence at the state penitentiary.

Iverson was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday by District Judge D. H. Sutphen. The boy was arrested last January after the nude girl was found along the Malad river by a train crew. For several days she was reported in serious condition at the Gooding County Memorial hospital.

The boy's attorney, Charles Reddock, Boise, asked for a stay of execution of sentence Friday pending an appeal to the supreme court but Judge Sutphen denied the motion and ordered the youth remanded to the custody of the sheriff for immediate transfer to the penitentiary.

Van Ness Wallentine, Paris, was elected president, succeeding Seth Burstedt, Challis. Millford Vaughn, Bruneau, was named first vice president, and Walter Schodde, Burley, second vice president.

Five directors were elected to three-year terms: Harold Snow, Moscow; Roy Mink Gooding; Edward Doschates, Dubois; Lyman J. Ipson, Malad, and Richard Gabica, Nampa.

Flood Fighter Is Killed in Wreck

BONNERS FERRY, May 22 (AP)—A truck loaded with tired flood fighters turned over, killing one and injuring several others late today, giving the rampaging Kootenai river its first fatality, the sheriff's office reported.

Neither the sheriff's office nor the army engineers could give details immediately. Reports were that the truck got lost in the dust cloud raised over the flooded area by heavy equipment working to build up the dikes against the swollen river.

The truck was returning to town with men who had been working all day on the dikes in district 11, reports said.

The accident happened just as the river, which has kept hundreds of workers occupied around the clock, showed signs of letting up in its efforts to inundate this town and surrounding farm land.

Clergyman Is Given Church Pulpit in T.F.

The Rev. Norman E. Stockwell has arrived in Twin Falls to assume his duties as rector of the Twin Falls Church of the Ascension, Episcopal.

The Rev. Mr. Stockwell arrived here Wednesday and will conduct his first services Sunday. He replaces the Rev. E. Leslie Rolfs who was transferred to Velona, Calif.

The Rev. Mr. Stockwell was chaplain to students on the campus at the University of Idaho and was rector of St. Mark's church in Moscow eight years.

He did his undergraduate work at Syracuse and received his theological training at Cambridge where he was graduated in 1940.

After graduation, he became rector of the Gooding, Shoshone, Hagerman, Wandell and Jerome Episcopal churches.

The Rev. Mr. Stockwell is married, the father of three children and served two years in the navy at Long Beach, Calif.

Van Fleet Arrives For Formosa Talk

TAIPEH, Formosa, May 22 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, checking for President Eisenhower into far east military news, arrived tonight amid reports that nationalistic China seeks U. S. help in protecting islands off 35 miles off red China.

Gen. Van Fleet flew in his second round of talks with President Chiang Kai-shek a few hours after U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson departed, following conferences with Chiang.

"Several hundred" bombers will be deployed to and from bases in England, North Africa, and the far east in the next 45 days. Two squadrons of B-36 "superbombers"—at least 20 planes, each capable of delivering the H-bomb—will fly to England for a two-week stay.

This world-wide deployment, LeMay said, is "a routine phase of our year-round training program." Another aspect of SAC training is refueling in air to give the big bombers the necessary range to get to their targets and back. He said operations of this kind last year averaged out at one refueling every 15 minutes.

LeMay indicated that his crews know now what their specific targets would be "if" world war suddenly erupted. He added that SAC planes can fly in all kinds of weather to "any designated point on the globe" and "can hit their target when they get there."

Such a blow, he said in a speech at an Armed Forces Chemical association dinner last night, would smash the enemy's "striking power at its source in the earliest phase of the war."

LeMay said the SAC's rule is: "Be ready to fight now." His remarks appeared to underscore the administration's "massive retaliation" policy designed to prevent global war if possible and win it if not.

Fast Finish Is Predicted for Army Dispute

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Senator Mundt, R., S. D., predicted today that the McCarthy-army hearing, which resumed Monday, will be completed within two weeks.

The chairman of the subcommittee "certainly will go ahead" and write a report on his findings, regardless of the outcome of a current Republican-Democratic row involving monitored telephone calls.

A major question was whether Senator McCarthy, R., Wis., would walk out of the hearing in protest against a presidential order clamping secrecy on a high level meeting at which the army's troubles with him were discussed.

Arriving in Port Atkinson, Wis., for a speech Saturday night, McCarthy said: "Of course I will be available to testify at any time."

He said he would stay with the hearing until it is finished "unless some new road blocks are thrown in the way."

McCarthy said he would advise his staff to testify "if they are called upon" but added: "I will not order them to testify."

Secretary of the Army—Stevens and Army Counselor John C. Adams have accused McCarthy—and two staff aides—of having used improper pressure in quest of favored treatment for Sgt. G. David Schine, a former noncommissioned member of McCarthy's staff.

McCarthy and the aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, have counter-charged that Stevens and Adams sought to use the drafted Schine as a club in a scheme to "blackmail" the subcommittee into abandoning its investigations of alleged communism in the army.

"After Dinner" Burglar Raids Another Home

A "visitor" entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Ihler, 134 Eighth avenue north, between 10 and 10:15 p.m. Friday, but it wasn't until Saturday morning that the couple realized he was the "after-dinner burglar." Each thought the intruder was the other.

They reported to Police Chief Howard Gillette that someone rang the front door and knocked at the back door, but they paid no attention. Then the burglar cut the screen and entered the house. When he entered Mrs. Ihler's room with a red flashlight and realized someone was home, he left, Gillette said.

Mrs. Ihler "thought the burglar was her husband," he reports.

Mrs. Ben Tillery, 210 Eighth avenue north, reported her back screen door was tampered with about 10 p.m. Friday. She said she turned the lights on, but saw no one.

CRASH KILLS 3

AUCKLAND, N. Z., May 22 (AP)—Three children were killed and 26 others persons injured in the crash of a New Zealand National Airways airplane. The big plane, loaded in a few feet over the sea in obvious trouble, the DC-8 sideswiped a house, then swerved into a clump of trees and burst into flames.

AN OUTSIDE VIEWPOINT

Out of the highly sensational vice trial of oleo heir Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke in New York state, has come an interesting sidelight which will have some significance to the daily newspapers of Idaho.

To give our readers some of the background of this particular case, we reprint herewith portions of a recent United Press dispatch from New York:

"District Attorney Frank S. Hogan planned today to move 'immediately' for reinstatement of the vice conviction of oleo heir Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke.

"Hogan said he will seek permission to ask that the court of appeals throw out an appellate division ruling that the 24-year-old Jelke was deprived of a 'fair and impartial trial' when the press and public were excluded."

The following two paragraphs from the United Press dispatch are particularly significant:

"The appellate division said in a three-to-two decision yesterday that Judge Francis L. Valente assumed powers not legally his when he barred newsmen from the lurid trial because 'such extensive coverage of a case of this kind is catering to vulgar sensationalism, if not actual depravity.'"

"A judge may have his personal opinion as to the good taste of what may appear in public print, but when serving as a judicial officer, he has no right in a situation such as this to restrain or dictate what portion of court proceedings shall be made available for reading by the public," the appeals court said.

The point to be gained from this comment has nothing to do with the propriety of newspapers printing the lurid details of such sensational news. Unless held within certain limits, such reporting could reflect against any newspaper.

The point to be established, however, is whether or not any judge, sitting in his official capacity, should serve as a censor of the press.

This one appeals court at least has held that "when serving as a judicial official," a judge "has no right in a situation such as this to restrain or dictate what portion of court proceedings shall be made available for reading by the public."

It may interest the people of Idaho to know that too much of this sort of thing has been going on in this state. Too many judges are inclined to dictate what the newspapers shall print about procedures in their courts. One of the things that prompted the organization of Idaho's new daily press association was this same judicial attitude which is becoming too prevalent in this state.

The Times-News is in position to speak from experience because on several occasions attempts have been made to tell this newspaper what it would be permitted to print about certain court trials in Twin Falls county.

LOGIC OF SPITE

There is not the slightest doubt of what will be Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's fate if the security panel now studying his records concludes that he is a poor security risk.

He will be barred indefinitely from access to such atomic energy secrets as are not already within his head or within his capacity to "think through."

More puzzling at the moment is the question what will happen if he is cleared. Secretary of Defense Wilson has stated that the defense department won't want him no matter how he comes out on security.

The attitude of Chairman Lewis Strauss of the atomic energy commission is unknown, but there are reports that he is not kindly disposed toward Oppenheimer.

Until the decision is announced and Strauss has a basis for action, it is useless to speculate on what the AEC might do. But as for Wilson, he is on the record, and with a statement which must baffle any fair-minded person.

He has said that even if Oppenheimer is clean as a whistle he doesn't want him. In other words, the defense department is prepared to cut off its nose to spite its face. It is ready to dispense for good and all with the services of one of the country's most brilliant scientists, the man who gets chief credit for the A-bomb.

If Wilson can explain the logic in this position, we are listening. It sounds almost as if he thinks the defense department can get along without scientists in a day when war more than ever is a battle of scientific minds.

"OH-YEAH!"

Felix Edgar Wormser, assistant secretary of interior, in charge of mineral resources, reminisced recently about the days when he started his professional career by gold mining and surveying in the Blue mountains and along the Snake river in Idaho and Oregon. Looking back to 1916, three years after adoption of the constitutional amendment which provided for a graduated personal income tax, Mr. Wormser told the Northwest Minerals conference in Portland:

"In those days, while making $75 a month, I had no worries about an income tax, nor did the average person. Because we were told that the income tax would never amount to much—it would be so slight we could forget it. Echo now answers 'Oh Yeah!'"

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' letters of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker, 608 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—What is President Eisenhower's real attitude toward Senator McCarthy? Inquires Mrs. F. L. Auburn, N. Y.

Answer: I don't think I am divulging any off-the-record secrets when I say that the President is disgusted and furious at Senator McCarthy's actions and his persistent public pursuit of alleged Reds in the army.

Eisenhower thinks it silly that anybody, especially a member of the American congress should think that he, Defense Secretary Wilson and Army Secretary Stevens would tolerate the presence of communists in the armed forces.

Ray Tucker MCCARTHY ANGERED WHITE HOUSE—Recognizing Senator McCarthy's emotional and political appeal, the President and National Chairman Leonard W. Hall tried their best to avoid an open break with the man from Wisconsin.

They thought they had succeeded until the Mundt hearings began. McCarthy's tactics in this proceeding, especially his attempted use of the so-called "Hoover letter," as well as his browbeating of the nation's foremost military officers, angered the White House.

The just-to-do over Buck Pitt G. David Schine has given Eisenhower, as a career military man, many anxious moments. Despite Presidential reticence, it was obviously at his direction that Sherman Adams, in the famous high-level January 21 conference, instructed Army Counsel John G. Adams to compile a record of the alleged McCarthy-Cohn-Carr effort to have Schine promoted to a lieutenant and transferred to Washington or New York. It was then that "Ike" began to fight back.

"IKE'S" SMART POLITICS—The President's months of tolerance and forbearance with respect to Senator McCarthy puzzled and irritated many personal and political friends. Now, however, it is the belief in White House and Republican circles that "Ike" has played smart politics in this affair.

McCarthy's exposure to a television audience, "Ike" and his advisers believe, has destroyed McCarthy as a political power, save among a limited fringe which is anti-Eisenhower, anyway.

Numerous GOP state organizations, which had once asked his services in the fall congressional campaign, have decided that he would be a liability rather than an asset.

Indeed, the White House is extremely grateful to the Democratic members of the investigating committee, and especially to Chairman Mundt, who is up for reelection in November, for voting to prolong and publicize the hearings. As the White House views the situation, the more television rope the senator is given, the worse it is for him.

McCarthy apparently shares this viewpoint. He was extremely anxious to wind-up the hearings and to go behind closed doors for the taking of additional testimony. Stevens would not have accepted that move, if he did not know that Eisenhower wanted the "circus" to continue.

"Have the Republicans conducted foreign affairs, especially the Indochina problem," asks F. G. Buffalo, N. Y., "on a bipartisan basis?"

Answer: I believe that they have. Secretary Dulles has kept the Democrats informed of his conversations and proposals in his recent conferences with the Russo-Chinese communists and with our allies. Both he and Eisenhower have promised that they will not commit our troops to war without prior approval by congress.

BIPARTISANSHIP UNDER TRUMAN—Dulles was a member of the Truman foreign-policy family. He says that there was not as much bipartisanship in this field under Truman and Acheson as the public thinks. Republicans, he says, were called in only after such decision as resistance in Korea had been made by Truman and Acheson. He ought to know.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

EVEN TIME MYTH BOWS AGAIN

Around the turn of the century a then-popular author wrote a short story about a heroic young athlete who for alma mater, fair lady, and other noble considerations essayed to break "even time." Even time in those days meant running the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds. And up to the date of that story no known person had beaten that time. Our hero did. But he never ran again. Which confirmed the contemporary myth that beating 10 seconds was beyond human bone and sinew.

And it seemed to be until 1930, when Wykoff, an American, made the 100 in 9.4. It took 18 years more to cut that down to 9.3, as Patton, another American, did in 1948.

Before 1870 it was doubted that any man could jump over six feet—(although one tribe in darkest Africa had been leaping much higher for centuries in religious rites). Then the six-foot ceiling was broken and pushed up until Les Steers in 1941 pegged it at an inch under seven.

Up to Jan. 6, 1944, four minutes flat had been the unattainable goal for the mile runners had been coming within 15 seconds of that mark for 68 years. But four minutes flat had begun to take on the same connotations as had "even time."

To Roger Gilbert Bannister of Oxford University, England, now goes the distinction of being the first known human to cover 6,200 feet in 8 minutes and 59.4 seconds, and thus further to confound the oracles of yesterday.—Christian Science Monitor.

BUT THE MEMORY LINGERS

The 1954 Idaho Good Will tour is ended, but a warm memory of the grand guys who made it, and the wonderful welcome they received, lingers on.

After the banquet in Twin Falls Tuesday evening, Aaron Adamson drove me around the residential section, and then to the train. Twin Falls has some of the largest and most beautiful homes of the ranch type I have seen. It was dark but over the roofs of many of what I thought were the steel towers of the electric power lines. I told Aaron that I thought it was an unusual place to put them. He said they weren't power towers, they were TV antennas, and that many of them were over 100 feet high and cost about $7.50 per foot. When folks can afford to pay $750 for an antenna—well, I don't wonder that they call the region "Magic Valley."

When I boarded our train and entered the lounge car, I found several of the Twin Falls group there. Among them were two friends of mine, Howard Moffat, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Guy Simons, a former Salt Lake. Howard invited me to be his guest at some celebration to be held up here next month. I said I'd come if I could, provided, however, that I wouldn't be expected to do any marching.—Ham Park in Salt Lake Tribune

ELECTRIC POWER FROM VOLCANIC STEAM
For many years electric energy has been produced in this country and elsewhere by the use of natural resources in the form of waterpower. Where a steady source of such power is available, hydro-electric plants have proved their value.

More recently there has been suggestion that heat from the sun's rays, in areas where sunshine is hot and steady, might be economically utilized for producing steam for electric generation.

Now it is proposed that volcanic steam, when it can be tapped at consistently high pressure, be utilized as the cheapest of all sources of electric power. A plant is already in operation in Italy. It is thought that much larger plants could be maintained in the volcanic areas of El Salvador, where serious studies are now being made. Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica and Nicaragua are also interested.

All these countries now lack adequate amounts of electricity. If a cheap source of such power can be developed, it will mean much to their economies and eventually to the standard of living of their people. Using volcanic steam, which they have plenty of, is therefore understandably getting much attention.—Milwaukee Journal.

SOMEWHAT LIKE NEVADA
A friend who spent some time in Arkansas told us not to feel too bad about not getting an answer on the little item about sending a vacation in Arkansas. "Only Arkies live in Arkansas in the summer and they just don't know any better," he explained.

We pursued the subject a bit farther, asked what there was about Arkansas summers that was so terrible.

The friend pondered this one for a minute, then advised us to go home, shut all the doors and windows, fire up the furnace and turn the thermostat all the way up.

"That'll approach conditions of an Arkansas summer," he allowed. "But you should be boiling all sorts of water, too, so the humidity will sort of build up!"

Then he added: "It's somewhat like Nevada's desert sort of a cross between Nevada deserts and a Turkish bath!"

10-POWER GARDENING

Dear Shooter:

After observing various portions of the neighborhood, I've about decided to take up gardening as a vocation, vacation, hobby and chief pursuit. Naturally, I expect to read upon the subject as much as possible.

But I'm sure some of my gardening neighbors won't mind giving a bit of advice now and then. I just wanted to check this point first to make sure. A friend tells me a gardener likes nothing better than to give advice to others.

Now, wouldn't it seem perfectly normal if I were to hear across the way to Mrs. Jones she's doing her gardening, usually, while wearing shorts and a halter to ask if radishes should be planted 12 or 18 inches deep? Or Mrs. Smith who seems to prefer a pre-soak-bath in radishes wouldn't mind at all if I were to ask what sweetpotatoes to purchase, would she?

And Mrs. Brown (who seems inclined to be gardener early in the morning while wearing a nightgown and dressing robe) probably wouldn't mind if I asked for advice from her tulips.

I just know I'm going to enjoy this gardening immeasurably! And don't most gardeners use 10-power binoculars to watch the flowers bloom?

ANYONE KNOW?

Dear Sir:

I've been watching your column every day since someone from Jerome wrote in about that business of hauling all the dirt from Jerome county down into Twin Falls. Have not seen any explanation yet.

Did I miss it or hasn't anyone bothered to tell why all that dirt was being hauled?

Wania Know

(Jerome)

P.S. Note: You didn't miss it. There hasn't been any explanation yet. Is the dirt hauling still going on?

BATTLE OF THE BULGE

Pots:

At the first sign of warm weather, our little girl insisted on wearing lighter clothes. Her mother was trying her for size on some of the little sun suits she wore last summer.

One of the scanty suits was tried on her. She felt how tight it was, glanced into a mirror and exclaimed: "Mommy, my tummy almost tears out of this one!"

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The next step in the case of Frank Costello, who has an artificial reputation as an underworld hoodlum, unsupported by proof, would be deportation. There appears to be some legal excuse to send him out of the country.

However, the enforcement of the deportation law is so dishonest that we may reasonably conclude that both the prosecution of Costello for tax evasion and the deportation case Westbrook Fyke are mere tributes to a trashy political exploit by Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee.

I call to mind the contrasting case of George Rubinstein, a disreputable character and artificial danger of the draft. This more or less tasteless Rumanian adventurer has influential friends in the old Roosevelt-new deal club, but we now have a more or less Republican attorney-general who certainly should be unresponsible by any such influence. But we still have Serge Rubinstein, too.

The Rubinstein case is no worse than that of Irene Browder. This woman was born in Russia. Her husband was the communist leader down to the end of the war and the official interpreter of the Russian pretense of an intention to "co-exist" with our country on friendly terms.

Once we had destroyed Soviet Russia's two deadly enemies, Germany and Japan, that pretense was repudiated. Accordingly, Browder was deported in favor of William Z. Foster. He was not purged, however. On the contrary, Stalin invited him to Russia and Browder went and returned, still devoted to Russia and communism.

Irene Browder went to Canada. Then a quick coup occurred. Carol Weiss King, a communist lawyer and former associate of Max Lowenthal, Harry Truman's king-maker and intimate friend to this day, went to Canada with Irene and got permission for her to return in good standing. A consular official of the state department who took part in this proceeding gave sworn testimony that he received state department orders to violate the law and that he did violate the law but only under protest. In further protest, he resigned.

Nobody in the state department was dismissed or even criticized for this. One of the most bumbling, garrulous and sinister females of our time, a woman who was often in and out of the White House in Roosevelt's reign but more often away than present, was sympathetic toward Irene Browder.

Now we have new and more effective laws which would permit us to get rid of Mrs. Browder, but she probably will stay here unmolested to the natural end of her days.

Harry Bridges has been under an order of deportation for years and is still among us and still running a union which has power to blockade our western ports by refusing to handle cargo in any situation adversely affecting Russia. The one man who kept Bridges out of the Atlantic and gulf ports is Joe Ryan, president emeritus of the old International Longshoremen's association, who recently got a hung jury in a criminal case involving graft from his union's treasury.

This probably is tantamount to dismissal because public opinion is beginning to realize that worse crooks, turned up in the expose, have not even been indicted, still less tried.

The corruption in the state department and the justice department whereby Bridges was given a fantastic series of delays through appeals and complex hearings was lost to history because it is too tangled for comprehension. The late Phil Murray wrote a hysterical and thoroughly dishonest brochure in defense of Bridges during the time that Lee Pressman, a communist, was his counsel. Later Murray turned against Bridges and fired him from his job as director of the OIO from the west coast merely because Bridges had exercised his right to support the candidate of his choice in the 1948 election.

That candidate was Bubblehead Wallace, the candidate of the communists in the absence of an official communist ticket. In Bridges' place, Murray appointed Tim Flynn, a Massachusetts jailbird with a criminal record, including several prison terms.

If it takes a hundred printed books of testimony, millions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of man-hours to prove that one alien communist is a communist and we still can't deport him, how can Joe McCarthy be asked to hold off until he has absolute "proof" that a flagrant, impudent red in an army radar center is a communist?

Allan Smiley, a cheap Hollywood crook, hillbilly and associate of the Hank Greenspun underworld mob in Las Vegas, has been under an order of deportation to Canada for four years. He is still here.

But we are proceeding with hot-eyed zeal to throw out of the country a seemingly harmless fellow named Haymes who married one of our prominent Hollywood cheese-cake jobs. And an elderly, broken-down, quiescent brother-of-Owney Madden, the old-time bootlegger and prize-fight racketeer, is hiding his time until we dump him, friendless, forlorn, broke and a stranger, in his native Liverpool. It seems he once told a lie in an affidavit.

Is That So!

Animals Can Be Amazing Marksmen

Amazing Marksmanship

Amazing marksmanship with the tongue, nose, tail, head, legs, by hurling the body or even by spitting is attained by many animals.

The ravenous kingfisher sits motionless high on a dead limb scanning his 4-mile beat of tumbling water. Suddenly, he flies off then crash-dives headlong from his 75 foot perch, raising a shower of spray.

And appears in a moment with a minnow locked in his beak; Bull's eye. (To help him, he has bifocal vision, enabling him to see both in and out of the water.)

The marksmanship of the peregrine (falcon) is even more dramatic because it strikes its victim in midair, climbing to a good height, it "waits" until it finds a bird beneath it. Then flying hand in its direction, it builds up a great speed culminated by a lightning-like swoop, striking the shifting target with the steel-like spike of its hind toe and usually knocking it senseless. As the victim falls in a cloud of feathers, the marksmanship turns about and almost the very instant the body hits the ground it shoots down and seizes it in its claws.

To come down to earth, comparatively slow-moving animals have also developed marvelous marksmanship. The lowly garden frog stalks his prey carefully, snuggling up as near to it as he can, and then he aims and lets go with his tongue.

The "shooting" is so fast that one can scarce follow it: just a split-second ago the fly was on the leaf—now he is munching it in his capacious mouth. To assist in the transfer the tip of the frog's tongue is sticky.

The lightning-fast shot of the chameleon's tongue is even more astonishing. The tongue is long—it is the chameleon's right-inheriting long tongue will be six inches! It is long because, unlike the stalking frog, the chameleon sits and waits for its prey to come to it. Sometimes the seemingly lifeless fellow will sit for hours with its tail coiled securely around a branch for comfort. Then an insect jiggles within range, the chameleon will roll one of its eyes they work independently—until it has fixed its head upon the "prospective meal." Aim taken, the tongue is slightly protruded and suddenly, with a movement much too fast for the human eye to follow, the flexible organ flies out and the impaled insect is hauled back on the spike of its hind toe and usually knocking it senseless. As the victim falls in a cloud of feathers, the marksmanship turns about and almost the very instant the body hits the ground it shoots down and seizes it in its claws.

Alfred Wilson, 79, Claimed by Death

OAKLEY, May 22—Alfred Wilson, 79, died Friday at the Cottage hospital in Burley.

Mr. Wilson was born Sept. 12, 1874, at Harrisville, Utah. He came to Oakley in 1892 and married Nora McMurray Oct. 28, 1895, at the Salt Lake City LDS temple. She died July 1, 1942. On Oct. 27, 1948, he married Mrs. Elsie Wilson.

He was a member of the LDS church, the high priest quorum of the Cassia stake, the third ward bishopric in Oakley and was superintendent of the Sunday school in the third ward.

Surviving are his widow, three sons, Clifton Wilson, Halford, Calif.; Kimbal Wilson, Long Beach, Calif.; and Bill Wilson, Boise. Four daughters, Mrs. Zenna Call, Idaho Falls; Mrs. Alberta Alford, Halford; Mrs. Olive Monson, Brigham; and Mrs. Nelda Monson, Farmington, Utah; 31 grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren; two brothers, Loren Wilson, Oakley, and Parley Wilson, Ogden, and two sisters, Mrs. Olive Harper, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Lucille McMurray, Oakley.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Oakley tabernacle with Bishop Forest Severe officiating. Concluding services will be held at the Oakley cemetery under the direction of the Payne mortuary.

Jinxed

RENO, Nev., May 22 (AP)—No one could blame the Reno fire department for being late to a blaze in an unoccupied house Friday night.

Here's what happened: Firemen were first given the wrong address. An engine ran down a dog on route to the fire. The one road leading to the house was blocked by cars. And when they finally got to the scene... no water supply. The house? It burned to the ground.

Club Here Seats Leaders at Fete

Mrs. Lavern Strong was installed as president of the Twin Falls Toastmistress club Friday night at a barbecue dinner at the home of Mrs. Harry Cohen.

Mrs. Max Lloyd was named vice president; Mrs. Otto Fowler, secretary; and Mrs. Christina Petersen, treasurer. Mrs. Lloyd was toastmistress for the evening and Mrs. Fowler in charge of table topics.

Talks were given by Mrs. Cohen, Mrs. Gordon Tobin and Mrs. J. Woodson Creed, who won the blue pencil for the best speech.

Mrs. Kenneth Whitesides was chief evaluator and guests were Mrs. J. L. Driscoll, Burley, and Mrs. Lora MacDonald, Twin Falls.

DUP Contest Has Deadline May 27

Prospective candidates for the Daughters of Utah Pioneers contest to select "the oldest and first pioneer woman" of the Twin Falls tract is 7 p.m. May 27, reminds Mrs. C. L. Luke, president of the county company, DUP, sponsoring the competition.

"The response for nominations has been very gratifying," Mrs. Luke commented. "We've been able to catalog so many pioneers with their interesting stories, such as the first school teacher, Mrs. Florence Heap, who came here to teach the daughter of Mrs. I. B. Perrine, and Mrs. Ollie Johnson, who owned and operated the first traveling library."

Mrs. Luke stressed the contest is to determine "the oldest and first pioneer woman to come to Twin Falls county and stay here." The winner will be queen of a DUP float planned for the Golden Jubilee parade June 1.

Colorado produced 34 million tons of coal in 1953.

2 Are Given Jail Terms in Court's Cases

Two prisoners were given probation and two others were returned to the county jail cells Friday following sentencing by District Court Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Ronald Bye, San Gabriel, Calif., was placed on two-year probation for embezzlement during the period of a withheld 14-year penitentiary sentence. His probationary custody was transferred from Idaho to California authorities.

Execution of a five-year prison sentence given Melvin Eller for issuing a check without bank funds was withheld under one year probation to Montana authorities.

Ervin Gill received 90 days in the county jail when he withdrew his original plea of guilty of grand larceny and pleaded guilty to the included offense of driving a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Bob Cantrell pleaded guilty of attempting to pass a forged check and was sentenced to not more than 14 years in the state penitentiary. The term was committed to 60 days in the county jail, dating from apprehension.

Lee Henderson and James Wilson, convicted in December, 1953, of furnishing intoxicating liquor to a minor, were released from probation by Judge Baker on satisfactory fulfillment of their probationary periods.

Pulp Workers Get Increase in Wage

PORTLAND, May 22 (AP)—Contract agreement giving a 2 per cent wage increase and greater employer payments to the health fund was reached here today by representatives of two AFL unions and the Pacific Coast association of Pulp and Paper Manufacturers.

Affected are 18,000 workers in 37 pulp and paper plants of Washington, Oregon and California.

In a joint statement the representatives said this is the proposal to be submitted to the unions' members with results to be announced June 7: a general 2 per cent pay boost putting men's base rate at $1.80 an hour and women's at $1.50; employers to pay 20 per cent and workers 30 per cent of the 2-year-old health and welfare plan. The old ratio has been 60-40.

PLANS MADE

SHOSHONE, May 22—Additional plans for the Vacation Bible school at the First Baptist church were made at a meeting of teachers Thursday night at the church. There will be classes five days each week from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m. June 1-11.

Colorado Depots Used by U. S. to Hold A-Weapons

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The army apparently is using a depot in Colorado to store its atomic cannon ammunition and other equipment.

A hint of this is contained in a recently issued order directing that "returned atomic weapons material (special design) under army control will be consigned to the army special weapons depot, Pueblo, Colo."

Army port commanders are advised to "reSHIP items received direct to Pueblo with the least practicable delay."

This appears to be a reference to the handling of surplus material received from or new items destined for overseas areas, such as Germany where several battalions of 280 millimeter atomic cannon have been assigned.

This was the first official indication of the location of any of the nation's atomic depots.

Army officials declined to discuss any details of the terse reference contained in the order, which was issued without secrecy classification.

Appeal of Liquor Decision Planned

BLACKFOOT, May 22 (AP)—Bligham County Prosecutor Jay Stout says he will appeal to the Idaho supreme court a decision that a law against sale of intoxicating liquor to Indians is unconstitutional.

Dist. Judge Preston Thatcher signed an order Friday dismissing the case against George Rorvick, who had been charged under the law.

Thatcher said the statute was racial discrimination and not authorized by the state's police powers, which permit it to ban sale of liquor to minors, drunks and the insane.

Thatcher also said beer is an intoxicating liquor and added "we need a definite statute" on the matter. He said present state law defines alcoholic, but not intoxicating, beverages.

Thatcher said thirdly that correction of the discrepancy is up to Idaho. Any violation of the 14th amendment of the U.S. Constitution has no bearing on the case, he said.

British Leaders Confer on Meet

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden flew into London tonight for hurried talks with Prime Minister Churchill during a brief recess in the Geneva conference.

Eden told reporters at London airport the conference has proved "very difficult indeed." But he refused to comment on reports of a widening British-U. S. rift on ways to bring about lasting peace in the far east.

"We are still hard at work at Geneva on attempts to bring about an agreed settlement which could be the prelude to peace in the far east," he said.

at Jerome Cites Tragedy McCarthy-Army Hearings

It is fatal to any administration to have someone uncover the fact that there were a lot of communists on the government payrolls. The people could stand the shock because they stand a greater shock than that every year from the tax collector, but I don't think the administration could.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy might have been hiding in the woodshed when good manners were passed around, but it wouldn't surprise me but what he had both hands out when the brains were dished out.

I say let us forget the man McCarthy and think about the senate investigation committee on subversives, and the work they are doing, and see they get the full support and cooperation of any branch or department they are investigating, regardless of politics.

Work of Hospital Gets Praise From Resident of T. F.

The Magic Valley Memorial hospital is one of the best in the northwest. Every citizen of this community should be proud of its accomplishments and possibilities.

We deeply appreciate the favorable publicity the Times-News is giving the institution. I have a sister, Mrs. Maggie Ward, Kimberly, who spent four months in the Magic Valley Memorial hospital last year. This necessitated my visiting the hospital almost every day during that time and I was highly pleased with the most excellent care my sister and all the patients received in every detail. We also were elated and surprised to observe that our doctors who attended their suffering and needy patients are specialists, unexcelled anywhere.

"And what shall I more say?" for the time and space would fail me, to evaluate the great work being done by our hospital board and guild, the county commissioners and just but certainly not least, Mrs. Irene Oliver, the supervisor, the nurses and all their co-workers. May God bless them all.

'Queen for Day' Thanks All Who Aided in Honor

Editor, Times-News:

Since it will be impossible to meet all—personally—who made the recent contest—a pleasure—I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the merchants who made it possible by their generous and lovely gifts.

To the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Running, the radio stations, The Times-News, "the little lady down the street for pictures," for their courteous and kind consideration, to J. Hill a good scout, always ready to help, and to the weary voters who trod up and down hot streets to the point of exhaustion, again my sincere thanks.

To all... may success be yours!

Plans Made for Rupert's July Fourth Fete and Second Homestead Drawing

RUPERT, May 22—Definite plans for Rupert's fourth of July celebration and second homestead drawing were made at a dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here Thursday night.

Paul Bateman, chairman, and Clark Cameron, secretary of the Minidoka County Posse, led the discussion. They noted that the Rowell and Spur Rodeo company, Twin Falls, has been contracted for the stock, a change from recent years when Earl Hutchison, Gannett, provided the animals.

Annual chuckwagon "jamboree" will be Saturday, June 19, at the civic building, featuring food served outdoor style.

The Boise Riding club has been contracted to furnish a special mounted square dance display for the rodeo, and Tim's United shows will handle the carnival.

The chamber voted to handle advertising for the rodeo and arrangement for the July 5 parade. This date will feature the second homestead drawing for about 60 north side pumping project farms. Larry Robinson heads a committee on the drawing, and J. J. Van Every is chairman of the project's 50th anniversary celebration.

President James Felton appointed Donald Dickerson a director for Felton's term. Dickson will serve one year.

Felton announced a complete list of committees for the year. They are Don Hawk, chamber officer in charge of the merchant's committee, with A. H. Stevenson chairman and Hall Meacham, Karl Ward, Harry Grimes, Clarence Birrer, Nephie Douglas, Lloyd Knight, Elmer Rosser, Leon Brown, M. A. Reeves and Merle Masoner.

A sub-committee in charge of the July 3-4-5 celebration is composed of H. H. Judd, chairman, I. B. Pattee and Gerald Masterson. In charge of 50th anniversary activities are J. J. Van Every, chairman, with Henry Breazal and L. L. Culbertson.

In charge of the second homestead drawing July 5 are Robinson, chairman, with Robert Read, Darwin Greene, Glavin Acock, Clark Cameron and Bob Connor.

Miss Yadon Wed to Rutzen At Candlelight Ceremonies

Ruby Darlene Yadon, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Yadon, Twin Falls, was married to Norman Lewis Rutzen, son of Mrs. Selma Rutzen, Walla Walla, in candlelight ceremonies Friday evening at the First Pentecostal church.

The Rev. Yadon performed the ceremony for his daughter before an altar of orchid and yellow iris and an arch decorated with copper king roses and snowballs.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with a train. The fitted bodice had long pointed sleeves and high round neckline. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls. The fingertip veil of net was held by a band of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley with a pearl covered Bible.

Jewel Yadon, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor, and Mrs. Elwin (Bud) Yadon, sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor. Velta Fuller served as the bridesmaid. Mona Huffman was flower girl and Dale Huffman, ring-bearer. Candle lighters were Wanda Sauer, Walla Walla, and Sharon Yadon, sister of the bride.

Best man was Wayne Nigh, Portland, Ore. Elwin (Bud) Yadon, brother of the bride, and Gene Dillon, Yakima, Wash., also were attendants. Ushers were Haskell Yadon and Sammy Yadon, the bride's brothers; Ordell Yadon, a cousin of the bride, and Don Fisher, Pocatello.

Morton Thompson and Donna Kantola, Donnelly, sang solos accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Hill. The bridegroom sang "Because" to the bride.

The bride's mother wore a light blue suit with tan accessories and Mrs. Rutzen was attired in an eggshell beige dress with red accessories. Both wore pink and white carnation corsages.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church basement. Mrs. Ina Knox and Mrs. Russell Huffman presided at the serving table and Eleanor Wagner was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Morton Thompson took care of the gift table.

The bride chose a white linen suit with navy blue accessories for her going-away ensemble.

She is a graduate of Twin Falls high school and attended Conquerors Bible college in Portland, Ore. The bridegroom was graduated from Walla Walla high school and also attended Conquerors Bible college. He is engaged in evangelistic work.

Mrs. Rutzen was honored at a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Elwin Yadon Monday night.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Martha Sauer, Walla Walla; Mrs. Charles Yadon, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. David Weins, Donnelly; Esther Wagner, Caldwell; Mary Spencer, Oakland, Calif., and visitors from churches in Magic Valley.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Boys and Girls—When you fall back from a struggle with yourself and say, "I can't," better think again and say, "I'll try." You never know what you can do until you have tried, and tried hard, to do the thing you longed to do. The man who said, "I don't know, I never tried," when asked if he could play the violin, had some right on his side. Maybe if he had tried when he was young enough, he might have been a player. Maybe if you try now to do what you secretly wish to do you can do it.

Shyness is a kind of fear and one you can easily get rid of, greatly to your good. Next time you feel it approaching you, smile. Smile although you do not feel like it. It will help. Then get hold of something in your hand. There is something about the feeling of power in your hand that strengthens your spirit and stimulates your mind. Then bravely get to your feet, speak your piece, or sing your song. Once you start, you will find courage to go on. Holding back gets you nowhere you want to be.

When you dream about being an artist in one field or another, or becoming a scientist, an entertainer, a physician, whatever your dream leads to, begin trying to make it come true. You have in you all the power you will need to become the person you truly are if you will use it.

You are made so that every thought that crosses your mind tends to discharge itself through your muscles. That means, if you think about playing that violin the nerves and the muscles that are waiting for your orders actually begin work on their own; but they cannot really perform until you order them to by trying out the work. They must be disciplined, educated and trained to perfection.

There are few great artists, few great scientists in the world. We all know that the masters are top-most men and women, but good artists, good craftsmen, good writers, good workers abound in every field and if you will try yourself out in whatever field you are interested, you will, in time, find the one in which you excel, maybe the one you can master.

What we teachers are trying to tell you is that if you try earnestly to be what you long to be, your chances of being so are good. Don't let shyness, fear of failure, fear of ridicule hold you back. Get up on your feet, summon your latent power to action, and try. That is the only way to knowledge of yourself and mastery of your talent.

Continuing to say "don't" does not teach a child obedience, but the proper training will. Dr. Patri tells how to train a child in obedience in his booklet No. 302, To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Outdoor Living Featured

Designed for years of outdoor-indoor use, this wrought-iron dining set is an example of the casual furniture that can add so much to your enjoyment of summer. Even the "bird cage" flowerpot hanger and mirror frame are of this material.

Casual Furniture Designed For Life in Summer, Fall

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

New casual furniture graciously supports the outdoor-indoor life which most of us are inclined to take more seriously. As the screens go up on the breezeway, the tiny porch or the spacious terrace, furniture moves outdoors along with the family.

Although described as "summer" furniture, many of the wrought-iron, aluminum, steel and wood pieces I've seen belie the title.

They'll look as handsome inside in November as they do on the porch in July.

Bright colored plastic fabrics used for coverings complete with sturdy cottons in high-style colors and patterns.

Accessories, too, accent the indoor-outdoor trend as, for example, a polished plate-glass mirror framed in curving scrolls of wrought iron. The widespread popularity of wrought iron doesn't seem to be waning, judging from the variety of styles to be seen everywhere.

Not the least inducement that wrought iron offers to young couples is that it is practically indestructible. My modest dining set, bought a few years ago, preserves its aplomb in the face of bumps, careening tricycles, sticky little fingers and an occasional catastrophe with a cup of hot coffee.

Cast aluminum shows up in a dining group which uses as its motif a graceful leaf and flower design. Seat pads in many colors blend with frames finished in soft or brilliant colors.

Oriental in feeling and really elegant is another group in highly polished dark rattan, trimmed in brass and covered with unusual textured fabrics.

To return to the casual life, copper and blonde redwood give new life to this familiar material.

Marriage Told

Miss Kidd is a junior at the Declo high school and Searle is a senior at Burley high school.

No wedding date has been set.

WCS Organizes Groups, Reports Officers Elected

JEROME, May 22—New circles were organized, officers elected and a potluck luncheon served at the meeting Thursday afternoon of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the Methodist church.

Elected as officers of circle No. 1 were Mrs. John Overfield, president; Mrs. Louis Nelson, vice president; Mrs. Gus Callen, secretary, and Mrs. Carter Luther, treasurer. Officers for circle No. 2 are Mrs. Paul Eastman, president; Mrs. Dwight Osborne, vice president; Mrs. Henry J. Goemmer, secretary; and Mrs. Guy Kennedy, treasurer.

New officers for circle No. 3 are Mrs. Leo Falconburg, president; Mrs. Robert Golay, vice president; Esther Beer, secretary-treasurer. Elected for circle No. 4 are Mrs. Carl Hughes, president; Mrs. Fred Carlton, vice president; Mrs. Emanuel Nelson, secretary, and Mrs. Ira Foster, treasurer.

It was announced that all elective officers, secretaries and presidents of the four circles will meet for an executive board meeting at 3 p. m. June 1 at the church.

Mrs. Gerald Nicholson presided and the invocation was given by Mrs. Dwight E. Wilcher. Following the luncheon devotions were led by Mrs. Frank Beer, spiritual life chairman. Assisting were Mrs. Guy Kennedy, Mrs. Dan Stowell, Mrs. H. M. Stroud and Mrs. Louis Nelson. A past president's pin and a corsage was presented Mrs. Nicholson, retiring president, by Mrs. Wilcher. The significance of the emblem of the pin was explained by Mrs. Dan Stowell.

The general meeting of the society will be held at 2 p. m. June 3 at the church.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT

A woman is really bragging about her husband when she complains that:

"Harry won't let me wear my hair short."

"That means that Harry not only pays attention to how she looks, but also likes her hair."

"Jim is such a baby when he's sick that he doesn't want me to leave the house." That means Jim needs her.

"Henry is such a worrier that if I'm an hour late getting home when I'm out in the car he is sure I've had an accident." That means Henry loves her a great deal.

"I never would have bought it for myself, but Jim surprised me with it. I would have bought something more practical." That means Jim wants her to have the best.

"Bill is such a stay-at-home-I can hardly drag him out of the house in the evening." That means she doesn't have to worry about where her husband is at night.

"I wish George had a job with less responsibility." That's an acceptable way of saying that George is a man of importance.

"I tell Dick he is spoiling the children." That means that Dick is crazy about his kids.

"I had to come back from Mother's three days early because Bob got so homesick. Honestly, wouldn't you think a grown man could batch it for two weeks without moping around?" That means Bob is a devoted husband.

"I hate to break up the game, but if I'm not home when Joe gets there, he's fit to be tied." That means that Joe is not an indifferent husband.

"I'd love to get a job, but Jack won't hear of it." That means that Jack is the big, strong, protective type—and his wife loves being protected.

Mrs. Ray Tenor joined the club and Mrs. Pearl Olore and Mrs. J. O. Kendrick were guests.

Mrs. Wyatt Hamilton, president, presided, and Mrs. Larson, club purchasing committee chairman, reported on dishes secured for the lodge hall.

HOSTESS TO CLUB
FILER, May 22—Mrs. Jack Ramsey was hostess to the Star Social club Thursday at a luncheon at her home.

Bases, in creams or liquid form, are the choice of women whose skins are dry and sensitive or who prefer a very natural look.

Should one desire a little color, however, liquid bases are available that protect the skin as effectively as creams while imparting a faint rosy glow.

FHA Holds Tea, Installation Rite

RICHFIELD, May 22—The Richfield FHA chapter held a Mother's tea and installation of officers at the home economic room Thursday afternoon. Janet Sorensen, retiring president, was installing officer.

New leaders are Annette Brush, president; Mary Farnsworth, vice president; Donna Hankins, secretary; Norine Johnson, treasurer; Annette Harkins and Pauline Stubbs, historians; Annette Giller, parliamentarian; Patricia Bass, degree chairman; Doris Coates, song leader; Roberta Myers, program chairman; Janet Bell, publicity; Wendella Rupp, advisor; Mrs. Mont Johnson, chapter mother; F. R. Briggs, chapter father.

Retiring officers are Miss Sorensen, Katherine Gill, Sheila Briggs, Rita Bass, Carol Freeman, and Mrs. Eva Sorensen, chapter mother.

Mrs. Sorensen presided at the punch bowl during the tea hour. Norine Johnson played several numbers on the piano.

GIVES PARTY

HANSEN, May 22—Mrs. Vernon Strolberg entertained children of Friendly club members Thursday afternoon with a birthday party honoring her son, Keith.

TWIN FALLS BRUINS WIN REGIONAL BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Knute Westergren Limits Boies to Four Hits to Win; Shoshone Edges Parma

Twin Falls Bruins, behind the four-hit pitching of Knute Westergren, won the regional tournament here Saturday by defeating the Boies Braves 4-1.

Shoshone Indians edged Parma 3-2 in the loser's bracket. The win was the 13th of the Bruins of coach Dan Folkens. It was their fifth win of the season over the Braves. Westergren, in going the route for the Bruins, closed his high school pitching career with a perfect record. He has never lost a game in his entire career in high school baseball.

The Bruins cracked through with two runs in the top of the fourth when Bob Latham singled and Westergren was safe on an error. Both runners stole and Bobby Lydum's single brought them both home.

In the fifth, the Bruins scored another pair when Warner Tyler singled and Byrne was safe on an error. After both runners advanced on an infield out, Gary Cappell singled them home.

Boies' only run off Westergren came in the bottom of the fourth when Bob House singled, went to second on a fielder's choice, to third on another infield out and scored on Taylor's single.

The Shoshone Indians came up with single runs in the first, fifth and seventh innings to edge Parma in the loser's bracket.

Fred Tanaka opened the first with a single followed by another single by Platz. Tanaka came in from third on an infield grounder by Williams.

In the fifth, Brownlee singled, advanced to second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Ted Burgess.

The Indians scored their winning run on the seventh when Tanaka walked and scored all the way from first on a single by Webb and an error by the Parma left fielder.

ALL-STAR HOST SAN FRANCISCO May 22 (AP)—The Pacific Coast league team that is leading the circuit on the morning of June 13 will host the revival of the PCL all star baseball game, president Clarence Rowland announced Saturday.

After Cal Niday, Paoloma, Calif., after a second lap at 140.165, beat all but McGrath's 10-mile average with 139.828.

Bill Vukovich, Fresno, Calif., the 1953 winner, who had driven a practice lap Friday at an unofficial 140.6, didn't try to challenge McGrath's week-old record. Vuky's 138.478 average was faster than the 138.392 at which he qualified last year, fastest of that field.

McDade, Gene Hooks and Cowboys at Plate

Imports from the Los Angeles continue to pace the Valley Cowboys at the office of league statistician J. Weiss.

Hooks is hitting the ball at .315 while McDade has a .285 average. The figures from Tuesday, May 18, Ball Lake at Great Falls, and Boies at Idaho Falls.

Boies has 16 hits in 43 trips to the plate, including three doubles, and 17 hits in 53 appearances, including two doubles.

Boies is the only other player to hit the 300 mark except for Paul who has a .389 average.

Manning, the Cowboy-hitter, is below 300 with most of the rest of the team clustered around the 250 mark.

Tom Sarna, Idaho Falls, leads the team with a .418 average while Salt Lake's Red Jensen has scored 28 runs to lead in that department.

Art Cybulski led the league in doubles with nine before he was released Friday by the Cowboys.

The Bees John Maglio holds the homer lead with eight while Bob Bonaparte has 28 RBIs for the lead.

None of the Cowboy hurlers are near the top in the pitching records except Jim Speer, who is tied with Bert Haysom, Billings, for the most losses with four.

The Wranglers held down seventh place in team hitting with an average of .242. Only Boies, with an average of .341 was lower in team fielding. The Cowboys are in fifth place ahead of Ogden, Idaho Falls and Great Falls.

2 Men Escape Serious Hurts In Air Smash

A dash south to get away from the storm.

There was a wind blowing across the ridge and after surveying the situation Blaylock decided to make for a mountain ridge and to catch an updraft to hurl them to safety. The ship was heavily loaded and the landing strip is 8,000 feet above sea level. In taking off the ship barely cleared some high tension wires and Blaylock was forced to swing back across the field.

Instead of catching an updraft, downdrafts forced the ship to the ground and it plowed, nose first, into the marshy back waters of the Colorado river.

Blaylock, after returning to Twin Falls, borrowed a truck and has left for Krummholting to recover the wreckage of his airplane.

Goddard and Blaylock still plan to explore the river from its source to its mouth this summer. Part of the trip, a 280-mile stretch from Lee's ferry to Lake Meade, will be made in a rubber boat. This portion of the river contains some of the most beautiful and most spectacular rapids in the world, Goddard said. Only 100 people previously made this hazardous trip, he added.

The Colorado river, he explained, is a river of contrasts. It rises in wooded mountains and passes through meadows, canyons and deserts, finally emptying in the Gulf of California. He said it passes through one of the largest uranium belts in the world.

"As a matter of fact," the bearded explorer grinned, "I discovered a large uranium deposit along the river and thought for sure I'd made my fortune. But then I discovered the deposit was on someone else's claim."

The two men hope to have the exploration finished by Sept. 1. Goddard, who authenticates his explorations with motion pictures, recently sold an article to the National Geographic magazine on his Nile river trip and has been asked by the publication to submit proofs on his finished exploration of the Colorado river.

While Blaylock is salvaging and repairing his airplane Goddard plans to continue work on a book he is writing and to finish preparations for the boat trip the two men will undertake in July.

GOP Closings of 2 Schools Flayed

LEWISTON, May 22 (U-P)—It was a "crime" for the 1951 legislature to deny appropriations to Idaho's two teachers colleges, according to former Gov. Charles Gossett, Nampa, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1954.

Gossett told the Idaho Cattlemen's association convention that "the sacred and irrevocable endowment fund to the benefit of Idaho's two normal schools totals $2,882,000."

"Money from this sacred fund now is being used to maintain these two schools as vacant institutions," he said, "money that was pledged by the federal government and the state for use only in the training of teachers."

Gossett said that the endowment fund and proceeds from the sale of 100,000 acres originally granted to Idaho by the federal government for normal schools can legally be used for no other purpose than the training of teachers.

Writing and to finish preparations for the boat trip the two men will undertake in July.

Cattle Raiser Given Award During Meet

LEWISTON, May 22—Roland J. Hawes, Twin Falls cattleman, was given the industry's highest state honor here Friday night when his portrait was presented to the University of Idaho to be hung in the Hickman hall of fame.

Hawes received the award at the banquet of the 40th annual convention of the Idaho Cattlemen's association. The honor is presented yearly to an Idaho cattleman, sheepman and farmer for outstanding work done for the state's livestock and agricultural industry.

The hall of fame is named after Professor C. W. Hickman, Moscow, former head of the department of animal husbandry at the university. Clyde Bacon, Twin Falls, is among those honored in the past.

Hawes was born in Glenns Ferry, was raised on a ranch at Brunau, and has lived in Twin Falls since 1948.

During his lifetime in the cattle business he has served as president of the Idaho Cattlemen's association, vice-president of the American National Cattlemen's association, and as a member of the National Livestock Tax committee. He is also a former owner of the Twin Falls Commission company, and past president of the Glenns Ferry bank.

Falls From Car

BURLEY, May 22—W. F. Burton, manager of the Burley flour mill, received head injuries when thrown from a moving automobile south of Burley Thursday night. He and James Wolf, Burley, were returning from Sublett when the door of the car flew open and Burton fell to the pavement.

Burton was driving the car when the door flew open. Wolf said he managed to bring the car under control and returned to pick up Burton who was unconscious. Wolf took the injured man to the Cottage hospital.

GROUP TO MEET
SHOSHONE, May 22—The May session of North Side Community association meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Jerome.

Dredging Petition Signed by Grange

HANSEN, May 22—A petition circulated by the fish and game department was signed by Grange members Thursday evening at their regular meeting. The petition concerned dredging work on mountain streams, requesting that such dredge work replace the stream bed so that streams can run a natural course and retain some of the original scenic beauty.

Two films and a cartoon were shown. Mrs. H. A. Fornwalt gave a reading and Ruth Sanderson played two piano solos.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Naylor were hosts.

More Seating for Rodeo Is Planned

SHOSHONE, May 22—More bleacher seats will be ready for use at this year's rodeo in Shoshone, according to Jack M. Murphy, chairman of the Shoshone Vigilante days celebration June 11 and 12.

With the new bleachers and by using the portable bleachers in the high school gymnasium, between 1,500 and 2,000 persons can be seated.

Murphy said a section of wire cable was purchased this week and will be used along the top of the fence in front of the main grandstand. At present, poles connect the posts and obstruct the view somewhat.

Show of Dairy Cows Is Slated In Fairground

Over 200 animals will participate in the fourth annual All-Breed Spring Dairy show June 5 at the fairgrounds in Piler, reports T. W. Richmond, Buhl, show general chairman.

Breeds represented will include Ayrshires, Shortฮอร์ns, Guernseys, Jersey and Holsteins. Activities are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. with a junior show. The senior show will get under way at 1 p.m.

About 300 contestants are expected to participate in the annual 4-H and FFA judging contest. Medals will be awarded high individuals. Trophies will be given the three top FFA judging teams. The three high 4-H teams will receive medals.

Judging will begin at 11 a.m. C. C. Anderson, Boise, state extension dairyman, will discuss showing of dairy cattle during the special events portion of the program at 2:30 p.m.

Harold Peterson, Buhl FFA chapter member, will demonstrate milking and showing techniques.

Harry McCauley, Buhl, is special events chairman.

The show will bring together some of the finest foundation stock from dairy herds throughout south-central Idaho, reports Richmond.

Events Related

RICHFIELD, May 22—Edward Schlieder and daughter, Agnes, left Friday for Mammoth Springs, Ariz. to visit his mother, who is ill.

Vern Thomas attended the cattlemen's convention at Lewiston this week.

British Train Looms In War Plans
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Any plan to deal with the situation in Indo-China will be without the British, and there is no fear the will impose its will on American-British talks, an American-British source says this government would not under any circumstances take to hope and for an active British role in Indo-China, which President Truman has said is not the business of the United States.

British policy bars any attempt to create a coalition of the Geneva conference of the Indo-China armistice is that may be many weeks away.

British officials are apparently not willing to wait that long, and other problems can be solved in three or four weeks.

Welcome Visiting Elks

Mayor E. W. Fanning, Idaho Falls, left, and W. J. Campbell, secretary of the Idaho State Elks Association, are pictured here. They are in Idaho Falls for the annual convention of the Idaho State Elks Association, which is being held here June 10-12.

Idaho Falls Will Be Scene for Annual State Elks' Convention

IDAHO FALLS, May 22 (AP)—Some 1,000 Elks lodge members will gather in Idaho Falls June 10-12 for the annual convention of the Idaho State Elks Association.

Robert J. Bybee, exalted ruler of the host lodge, announces Earl James, Oklahoma City, Okla., attorney and grand exalted ruler, will address the first session June 10. James will be honored at a banquet for all exalted rulers and secretaries of the state, state officers and grand lodge officials the previous night.

A feature of the June 11 morning session will be an address by Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., who will speak on "Americanism-Patriotism." A luncheon in his honor will be presided over by Bybee at noon.

Business sessions, Bybee said, will be held each morning beginning at 9 a.m. The agenda will include the proposed remodeling of the Elks Convalescent home, Boise. L. J. Peterson, Boise, chairman of the Elks home board of directors, will outline needs and scope of the project.

"Idaho has the most Elks lodge members per capita of any state in the nation—33 members for every 1,000 population—and we hope most of them can make this convention trip. We think it will be worth their while," declared Bybee.

Business sessions will be conducted by Hayden Mann, Lewiston, president of the state association. The "Hayden Mann breakfast" for exalted rulers and secretaries of the state's 21 lodges is scheduled for June 11.

A style show for wives of delegates is scheduled at 1 p.m. June 11 at New Vettiers cafe, when local women's shops will array the latest fashions. An Elks chorus and band concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. June 11 at the Idaho Falls junior high school auditorium.

A four-day golf tournament will be at the Idaho Falls municipal links. The trapshooting contest is scheduled daily at a backfoot range 25 miles away.

A picnic at the Snake River park will be held at 1 p.m. June 12.

The convention will close June 12 with the traditional convention ball at the Elks lodge hall. Floor shows and cabaret dancing in the elaborate lounge of the local lodge will be available nightly.

Also scheduled to attend are William S. Hawkins, Coeur d'Alene, attorney and member of the judiciary committee for the grand lodge, and Edwin Alexander, Olympia, Wash., grand lodge executive. Lieut. Gov. Emmett T. Anderson, Washington, and a grand lodge executive, has been invited.

Nine More Trees Are Planted In Hospital Landscape Project

Nine additional trees have been planted or donated by local organizations in landscaping projects at Magic Valley Memorial hospital, reports Vernon Harris, assistant administrator.

Donations have filled the need for trees except a few blue spruce and about 25 pines. The spruces will be planted next spring.

Several groups of ornamental shrubs and rose gardens still are needed for borders around hospital grounds. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Florence Schultz, county home demonstration agent, phone 345, or the hospital.

The hospital board appreciates the efforts of various county organizations to beautify hospital grounds, reports Mrs. Adolph Machacek, Buhl, hospital board landscaping chairman. The hospital board regards the donations as an indication of the interest in the hospital and its projects, she said.

Among the latest donations are a blue ash, flowering hawthorne and two Russian olive trees presented by the Twin Falls post No. 7, American Legion, and its auxiliary. Leonard Jacob is post commander and Mrs. Christina Petersen is auxiliary president.

A blue ash has been planted by Stradley chapter No. 6, DAV, in memory of Jake J. Glantz, William (Bill) Wolters and Perry Spangler.

Present at the planting were George Burdick, chapter commander; Dr. Charles P. Bath; W. C. Stone and Della May Blades, auxiliary commander.

Another blue ash was donated by the Immanuel Lutheran Women's Missionary league. Mrs. Edwin Holgren is president. Mrs. Pete Matthiesen was project chairman.

Two Russian olive trees were donated by the Supreme Forest Woodmen circle. Mrs. Emily Irwin is president and Mrs. Lola Reynolds, tree committee chairman.

The Twin Falls Women of the Moose planted an American elm. Mrs. W. A. Farris is senior regent. Mrs. Paul McCollum and Mrs. Marie Roberts were project committeemen.

Writer Gives Origin of Old Zodiac Signs

By J. HUGH FRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division,
Oregon Higher Education System

Many of us who are removed by a considerable number of years from childhood, doubtless will remember the pictures that appeared on the first pages of the old medical almanacs.

There usually was a partially dissected man standing in the center. From various parts of his body, lines ran to 12 smaller pictures, pictures indicated what creatures they represented and also what part of the man's body they controlled.

From the Lion. Dr. Fruett the directing arrow toward the man's heart. It was mysteriously explained that from July 21 to Aug. 21 the zodiacal constellation of Leo the Lion, was ruling, and the "sign is in the heart."

With the sign so placed, certain undertakings were thought to be successful; others, disastrous.

There is, of course, a general mixture of astronomy and astrology in all this. It should be distinctly understood that for centuries professional astronomers have not believed in astrology and have had nothing to do with it.

Motion Detected

The motion of the earth in its journey around the sun is detected in several indirect ways. One is the apparent annual journey of the sun eastward entirely around the sky among the various star groups (constellations). We cannot see the groups in which the sun is located at any certain time, but it is easily calculated where old Sol is.

At present the constellation Gemini, the Twins, is low in the western sky at nightfall. In a month from now it will be impossible to see this stellar group anywhere all night since the sun, apparently will be right in it. The sun's motion eastward among the stars each month is 30 degrees; so that it encloses the entire starry dome of 360 degrees in a year.

The ancient star gazers well knew this annual solar motion and divided the stars along this path into 12 constellations, all of them supposed to represent the creatures for which they were named. The sun thus is to each about a month.

Zodiac Named

The strip of sky 18 degrees wide with the sun's annual path in its center was named the zodiac (the circle of animals), and equal sections of this entirely around the sky, the 12 "signs" of the zodiac the creatures of the old almanacs.

When the plan was put into effect about 160 B. C. by the Greek astronomer Hipparchus, the first month of spring found the sun in the constellation of Aries, the ram.

During the 21 centuries since then precession has moved the vernal equinox approximately 30 degrees westward among the stars so that the early spring sun now swims among the Fishes. Although this group is the constellation of the Fishes, it is still called—evidently for old times' sake—the "sign of the Ram."

In a single season one aphid multiplying with no deaths could produce progeny equal to the number 166 with 22 generations after it.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Gold still acts a magnet to lots of people. The Snake river canyon, panned and re-panned many times in the last century, resounds occasionally to the scrape of a shovel as a modern prospector looks for color. Below Milner dam today are recent spots of raw earth where prospectors have hoped to find gold overlooked by someone else. Claims have been staked and are clearly marked. Below Twin Falls recently a large claim was staked near Idaho Power company's cable crossing on the river to Devil's corral.

Centuries—perhaps eons—ago, the Snake river didn't leave what is now Milner dam in the sweeping curve it describes today. The river went in

On the lip of one of the blinks in a straight line for considerable distance, finally tumbling over what must have been a tremendous falls as it rushed into the canyon. Below the falls there stands an old cedar stump. Judging from the stump's weathered condition, the tree must have been cut more than a half-century ago.

By using a little diligent care, the rings of the stump can be counted, placing the age of the tree before it was cut at between 500 and 600 years.

That tree didn't start to grow in the bed of the abandoned falls until after the river had changed its course.

The bed of the old falls is filled with potholes and the potholes are filled with ancient river silt. An unconfirmed rumor about these potholes is that somebody back during the depression of the 30's, took $8,000 in gold from one of them. True or false, traces of color still can be found in the silt of almost any of the holes if a person wishes to pan for it.

In the rocky ledges far below Twin Falls there are many man-made "caves" where miners in years past scratched the dirt from around boulders and then carted it to the river to slowly pan away sand for the occasional spots of color. The miners who worked those caves must have done so lying on their bellies.

The canyon also shows signs of large scale operations. One miner rigged up a conveyor belt, run by a model T Ford engine, to haul dirt to a sluice box. The success of the operation is questionable since he apparently left, leaving conveyor belt, motor and cabin to the elements.

The most recent plan to relieve the river of its treasures is the one advanced by three men seeking permission to remove the black silt from below Shoshone falls. Their efforts are being objected to by various groups on the theme the operation will silt the river and leave raw scars of "dredged" earth on the banks of the river.

And so the search continues and probably will continue for so long as gold is looked upon by man as one of nature's most priceless possessions.

Dennis Hall, blind student at the GOODING state school for the deaf and blind, had a large part in the program at the 18th annual banquet sponsored last Saturday by the English club of the department for the blind at the school.

Hall, who is graduating from the high school at the state school this year, gave the class history, the class will and the class prophecy and was the object of special recognition by Dr. Burton Briggs, superintendent at the school.

The youth, 19, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darjus Hall, Idaho Falls. He was born in Sugar City, Idaho, in 1935 and started at the state school in Gooding when he was 6 years old. His parents have moved around a bit, however, and in addition to the Gooding school, he has attended in Alabama and Utah.

Upon graduation from Gooding he will attend Ricks college at Rexburg for one year and then will enter the school of electronics at Omaha, Neb. Director of the Omaha school is LaVon Peterson, also a Gooding graduate.

Life in Magic Valley—some of it—took a beating during the school year just ending. Freshmen and sophomore members of the SHOSHONE FFA defeated Junior and senior members in a pest and predator control contest.

The contest was responsible for 811 magpies, 1,838 magpie eggs, 118 rockhucks, eight badgers, two bobcats, one lynx, 40 rabbits, 15 crows, eight crow eggs and 100 sparrows.

High man in the contest was Louis Malles. For his efforts he received a prize of $5. Second high was Harvey McCannan who received a prize of $3 and third was Melvin Betty who received $2.

Solons OK Hike Of Allowance on Mine Depletion

WASHINGTON, May 22 (U)—The senate finance committee disclosed yesterday it tentatively had decided to increase the tax percentage depletion allowance on uranium from 15 to 23 per cent to try to boost production of that vital defense metal.

The committee has heard testimony from western mining engineers that the United States might be able to become self-sufficient in uranium if new tax benefits were applied to its production.

Uranium is the key metal in the atomic weapons program. The United States now gets some of its source from Colorado, Utah and other states, but much of it is imported.

The tentative decision to boost the depletion allowance was made in a closed committee hearing on the administration's 875-page tax revision bill.

Under the new provision, developers of uranium property would be able to deduct 23 per cent of their gross income from the metal in figuring their income tax, so long as this did not exceed 50 per cent of their taxable income.

Copper of Chile Is Being Bought

WASHINGTON, May 22 (U)—The government has announced it is buying 64,000 tons of Chilean copper from Anaconda Sales company, New York.

The general services administration also said a contract for 35,000 additional tons of Chilean copper is being negotiated with the Kennecott Sales corporation, New York, as agent for the Central Bank of Chile. The copper being bought from Anaconda is to be delivered to the national stockpile. The price, including delivery to storage points, is to be 30 cents a pound. The same terms would apply to the Kennecott agreement.

Senior Pupils Get Diplomas In Ceremonies

GOODING, May 22—Thirty-two girls and 35 boys were graduated from Gooding high school at commencement exercises Thursday evening at the junior high school auditorium.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening with the procession by James Vandergraft. The invocation was given by the Rev. Merrill Roberts. Joyce Fisher sang and the Rev. George W. Goddard preached the sermon. Mrs. Jay Felt played a violin solo and the benediction was made by the Rev. Father Thomas A. Heeran.

Program for commencement began with the procession by Vandergraft. The invocation was given by the Rev. O. H. Ballard. Jan Williams, valedictorian, and John Eslinger, salutatorian, spoke and Charles Goe, chairman of the board of trustees, presented diplomas. Benediction was made by the Rev. B. B. Roberson.

Members of the graduating class are:

Merger of Power Firms Completed

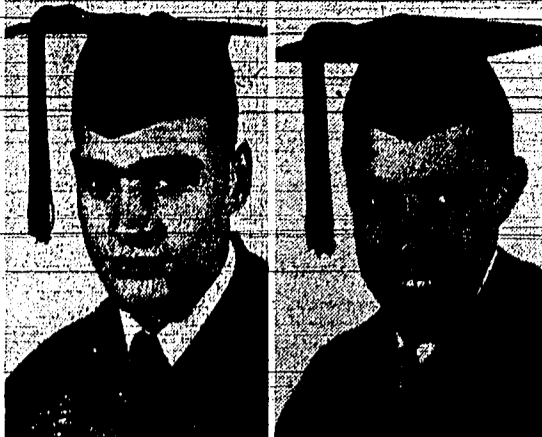

PORTLAND, May 22 (AP)—Officials of Pacific Power and Light reported yesterday the merger of Mountain States Power company into their firm had been accomplished with the official filing of merger agreements in Maine and Delaware, home states of the concerns.

Earlier the merger was approved by stockholders of both firms, by the federal power commission and by state regulatory authorities of Oregon, Idaho and Wyoming.

The combined systems serve 283,800 power customers, 12,400 water users, 8,500 telephone customers and 1,000 steam heat customers.

On the basis of 1953 figures, the merged companies will have an estimated annual revenue of $37,250,000 and total investment of $181,458,000. Generating capacity of the combined companies is 347,000 kilowatts.

Leaders for Declo

GARY VOYCE and GARY BLAKE are valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the Declo high school graduating class. Commencement is slated for 8 p.m. Monday. There are 12 members of the class. Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday. (Staff engravings)

Tests Slated

SHOSHONE, May 22—Tuberculosis testing of dairy herds in Lincoln county is planned during the next two weeks by Dr. E. H. Ikard, Gooding, and Dr. W. K. Walker, Jerome. Dairywomen who want herds tested should contact County Agent Fred Kohl.

SHARE IN AWARD

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, May 22—Alice Billman, Twin Falls, will share in the $1,855 elementary education scholarships going to 14 students at the University of Idaho. Robert Hickner, Buhl, and Mary Gill, Kimberly, also are sharing in the scholarships.

U. S. Accused of Spying on Soviet

MOSCOW, May 22 (AP)—Soviet publications accused the United States yesterday of promoting spying and subversion within communist nations producing forged documents linking Russia with southeast Asian wars.

Red Star warned its readers, especially in the armed forces, to be vigilant against a campaign of espionage and subversion which it said "the imperialist aggressors and their agents" were waging against the USSR.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda teed off against two U. S. government releases alleging Russian and Chinese intervention in Indochina.

In a bitter article titled "American Provocational Forged Documents," Pravda accused the U. S. government of lying.

"With these forged documents they want not only to cover the rude and illegal intervention of the United States in Indochina but also to pressure their west European allies who are afraid of an adventurous American course in Asia," it said.

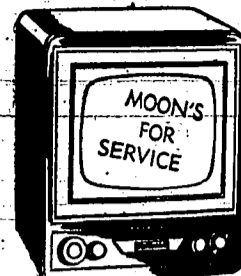

DECISION DELAYED

COEUR D'ALENE, May 22 (AP)—Probate Judge Maxine Whitney took under advisement the case of Edward E. Schlegel, 40, tried on a charge of selling beer to two Shoshone county minors March 16.

INJECTIONS URGED

BOSTON, May 22 (AP)—Sun blisters and fever blisters, caused by a virus, can usually be prevented by giving susceptible persons several small-pox injections. Drs. Bancel L. Schiff and Arthur B. Kahn write in Postgraduate Medicine.
