first hand experience the overall problems of Idaho.

"Industrial development of Idaho must be encouraged. Our farm acreage is limited by natural barriers. This means that to prevent our farmers and ranchers being taxed out of business, new sources of tax revenue must be found. Only through development of new industry can the tax burden be equalized. If Idaho is to progress new money must be available for roads, schools and other necessary government expenses.

"If we are to go forward we must have industry to help finance our progress. There's a growing trend of western development of industry, and we cannot let Idaho be bypassed as it has too often in the past."

While he feels that effort should be made to attract outside industry to our state, Self believes that many opportunities exist for expansion of present plants. "An example of what I mean," he said, "was the establishment during the early part of World War II of the Idaho Manufacturing company, of which I was one of the original organizers. This first war industrial production pool in Idaho combined the machinery, capital and know-how of many small shops in southern Idaho.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars of production that otherwise would have been limited to large manufacturing centers was handled right here in our state. There is no reason why we can't do the same things in peacetime. If we 'pour it on' we can get the job done."

Self is president of the Self Manufacturing company, a firm established by his father, Grafton H. Self, in 1910, and during World war II served with the maritime commission. He is the father of two children, a member of the Elks lodge, Twin Falls Kiwanis club, and First Presbyterian church.

He married Tryntje Runia April 27, 1923, in the Salt Lake LDS temple. He was an active member of the LDS church, having filled two missions, one in The Netherlands and one in Boise.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A move was under way in the house today to get President Eisenhower to call a conference of far eastern leaders to draft a "charter of freedom for the people of Asia."

Rep. John W. McCormack, of Mass., author of the proposal, said the charter would help mobilize free Asia against communism, and the way the famed Atlantic Charter "galvanized" the West against nazism and fascism in World war II.

Rep. Walter H. Judd, R., Minn., a member of the house foreign affairs committee, endorsed the plan as "particularly timely." He said "five white powers are meeting here to discuss the defense of Asia and it looks as if we are organizing a white man's club and we won't let them into it."

McCormack, assistant house Democratic leader, told the house late yesterday that "some such dramatic gesture as the charter is needed" to "win the Asian faith and confidence" in the face of communist propaganda that the United States is backing colonialism and imperialism in Asia.

Rep. R. Gross, R., Ia., suggested sharply that it would "take more than just words" to turn the tide in southeast Asia. But McCormack and Judd agreed that words can have a "tremendous impact."

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States is taking standby preparations for an emergency withdrawal of American men and equipment in case the communists overrun the Red river delta in Indochina, a well-informed senator has disclosed.

The senator, who asked not to be identified, said this was the main reason behind the announcement Tuesday that the air force mission in Indochina will not be called home as administration officials said previously.

The decision that it should stay, the senator said, was made in the last few days in the light of the fast deteriorating military situation. The plan was reported secretly to a few key congressmen.

With communist rebel troops poised for an all-out assault on the delta, the senator said, the defense department wanted the 256-man mission—300 are mechanics and specialists—to be on hand if it became necessary to get American planes and personnel out in a hurry.

The technicians maintain B-26 bombers rushed to the war zone from the United States. In addition, there are many members of a U. S. military aid mission in the Delta area.

A midget atom bomber, the smallest and lightest United States jet combat plane ever built, was unveiled by the navy department at the Douglas plant at El Segundo, Calif. It is a A4-D Skyhawk. Performance and specification were not disclosed, but it is less than half the size and superior in performance to many jet fighters, the navy said. Flying from carrier flight decks, the bantam bomber is designed to carry atom bombs or rockets, machine guns, missiles and other weapons required of attack-type aircraft. (AP wirephoto)

SENATE COMMITTEES

You hear a great deal these days about the power of senate committees, as if they were separate legal entities with authority conferred upon them both by statute and by the U. S. constitution. But the fundamental fact about them tends to be overlooked.

Senate committees have no inherent power of their own. The authority they exercise is the power of the senate itself.

The power to investigate, to subpoena witnesses, is the possession of the 96 senators together—as a legislative assembly. When this authority is used by a committee or a subcommittee, a group of from three to more than 20 individuals, it has merely been delegated. Since that is so, the power can therefore be withdrawn when the full senate so wills.

This matter might have been put to test under circumstances that seemed to be taking shape not long ago in the Army-McCarthy hearings.

For a time it was not clear whether Senator McCarthy would choose to testify when the inquiry resumed after a week's lay-off. It looked doubtful that any effort would be made by the Mundt subcommittee to subpoena him, whatever the legalities of that problem. But indications were that the group would subpoena McCarthy's staff men, Roy Cohn and Francis Gary.

For the test to have been made, McCarthy of course would have required support of a committee majority in such a cancellation. His position as chairman does not give him authority independent of the committee.

But if he had decided on that course and had gained a majority support, it seems perfectly plain that the full senate could have set aside his cancellation of subpoenas and ordered them issued as originally intended by the subcommittee.

This might have been a case, in other words, of the senate temporarily drawing back the power delegated to a committee, in order to exercise it according to its own lights.

In some ways, Americans interested in greater senatorial responsibility were perhaps disappointed that some such test did not come off. Whatever the senate's decision might have been, the mere need to make one would have served as a sharp reminder that the senate is indeed the parent of its committees, and not simply their baby sitter.

FEARS MONKEYSHINES

Not long ago the senate indicated it would be all right if commercial sponsors wanted to take a piece of the "Army-McCarthy Show." But now Senator Bennett, Utah Republican, voices objection. He fears this might bring U. S. senators in competition with a certain television chimpanzee.

Why beat about the bush? He's talking about J. Fred Mugs, NBC's comic relief on the morning news show with Dave Garroway. Bennett recalls that the British were outraged when film clips of Queen Elizabeth's coronation were shown on a program in which the chimp did some of his accustomed cavorting. "We could not expect to escape a similar experience," he said.

This is probably one of the silliest arguments of the silly season. Though we haven't looked lately, the chances are great that film shots of the hearings have already been run off many times while J. Fred was just off camera—soon to be on. How sponsorship would affect this is hard to see.

The senator's best bet, it would seem, would be to help induce his colleagues to assure that hearings are conducted with dignity, dispatch and decorum. If they are, then the senate will not have to fear the competition of J. Fred Mugs or any other star performer of the animal world.

GUARDIAN'S ROLE

A few years back, people in some regions were greatly exercised about water shortages, and with good reason. In most cases the immediate crisis was somehow eased, and the problem tended to recede into the background.

But, though news of other sorts has largely blanketed the fact, the problem is still acute in many places. In some, it may be growing more so.

President Eisenhower wisely has chosen not to wait until water shortages again scream in headlines before tackling the matter. He has set up a committee of three cabinet members to seek and establish a national water policy.

These officials are to look at the problem comprehensively, measuring the sweep of the nation's water from the continental divides to the oceans. They are to coordinate water development with other activities, including soil conservation.

It would be ironic if a nation so blessed in resources could be crippled by a shortage of something so elemental as water. But it is not impossible. The water demands of modern American civilization are colossal.

This quiet act is one of far-seeing national stewardship, evidence that the President understands his role as guardian of the country's resources.

Big men got their faces on American money. We're just little enough to be satisfied to get our hands on it.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The return to Washington of Perle Mesta, Truman's minister to Luxembourg and the dramatized "hostess with the mostest," has been a boon to several hundred feminine society reporters and to social cliques which have been squirming under the Eisenhower system of austerity and abstinence. The wealthy Democrat from Oklahoma apparently means to defy the White House edict with a revival of party-giving on a grand scale.

Due to Ike's dislike of ostentation and Mamie's refusal to emulate the vocal and exuberant Eleanor Roosevelt, social life at Washington had become drab and scanty. In a feeble attempt to resurrect it, the society reporters took to entertaining themselves, an unmixing and profitless procedure. After all, the Washington Post's reporter cannot devote a column to describing the gown worn by her rivals on the Washington Star and the News.

The wives of cabinet members, congressmen and members of the executive branch chafed under these restraints, and frankly expressed a desire for a fuller and richer life during their sojourn at Washington. It amounted to a feminine rebellion against the White House prohibition against display and lavishness.

PERLE MESTA STARTS THINGS—But Perle has danced into town in a big and expensive way. Although the White House family has not given its official blessing to any hostess by attending her shindigs, as Truman did to oil-rich Perle and her rival, Wendell Wilkie, the erstwhile diplomat is determined to regain her former status. Being an enthusiastic Democrat, she will have to do it on her own.

She has lost no time in throwing down a challenge to the White House. She has bought a palatial 20-room residence at a scene for new splendors. She recently took over the reception and ballrooms of a leading hotel, hired a 25-piece orchestra, brought top entertainers from New York and Hollywood, and poured gallons of champagne. All the bigwigs from Chief Justice Earl Warren to Truman exiles showed up in white ties and tails. They loved it!

HAPPY DAYS AGAIN—Mrs. Cafritz, of course, plans to surpass Perle's project, with or without Presidential presence and blessing. And Washington's society reporters are singing the Roosevelt theme song that "Happy Days Are Here Again," mingled with the most tuneful librettos from "Call Me Madam."

The Mesta-Cafritz renaissance constitutes a far more important development than is generally realized, for the so-called social lobby is an extremely influential annex of any administration. Indeed, the introduction of a more genial spirit and atmosphere among Ike's official family might tend to ease the personal and political dissensions that threaten the Republican party.

It might dissipate some of the grimness, the awkwardness and the standoffishness which are partially responsible for the lack of unity, understanding and co-ordinated energy at the White House and on Capitol Hill. The cabinet members might get to calling each other by their first names, and strike up a friendly rather than a hands-off relationship with members of the legislative branch.

IKK NEEDS MORE RELAXATION—Although party-going reached extremes under Roosevelt and Truman, it is probable that a break from his present restricted routine would prove beneficial to Eisenhower. His friends think that he needs more relaxation and companionship than he now permits himself.

He does not enjoy the broad, human contacts so essential to a chief executive. He confines himself to a few bridge-playing members of the cabinet and a fairly limited golfing group at the Burning Tree Country Club. He hates to lose. And when he paints, he must have silence and loneliness.

He tries to keep in touch with business affairs and extra-curricular problems through periodical dinners for representative leaders. But they have proved unsatisfactory, for there is no real opportunity for an exchange of views. He also sees too many military men; preferring their company. What he and Washington may need, albeit not to excess, is a "hostess with the mostest."

Views of Others

Views on Statehood Still Valid

Although the house of representatives had already approved statehood for Hawaii, and the senate approved statehood for both Hawaii and Alaska on April 1 of this year, the whole statehood bill still languishes in the house. An attempt to send it to conference on April 12 was frustrated by Sam Rayburn of Texas because it was "not the bill that passed the house."

But the strongest opposition to statehood for the two territories seems to come from Speaker Joe Martin, who said last month it was "resting comfortably" on his desk, and it was "going to remain there for some time."

The statehood bill has a good chance to become law. The chance would be improved, and Martin himself might give in, if the house were to receive a green light from the White House. But is that really necessary, in view of the fact that the President has already expressed himself on the matter?

Nearly four years ago, some 1,800 Denver people heard Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking at the Freedom Bell ceremony here on the morning of Sept. 16, 1950, urge the quick admission of Alaska and Hawaii to statehood. He declared that the move would serve the world as "a practical symbol that America practices what it preaches." He called admission of both territories "in conformity with the American way of life," and asked what other nations would admit territories to full voice in self-government?

All the arguments and logic valid in 1950 for Alaska and Hawaii to have statehood are equally valid and even more supportable now. If Dwight Eisenhower's sentiments in support of these two territories were so clear and so strongly stated then, why should the house consider them any different in 1954, now that Eisenhower is President? The "message" that Speaker Joe and his house seem to be waiting for was long ago delivered. Maybe they have forgotten it. We haven't.—Denver Post.

KEEPING TAB ON MARS

Mars and the earth will be closer together than usual this month, a fact which interests scientists and science-fiction fans alike. The former hope to learn more about earth's neighbor. The latter can watch for the little men whom so far they have not met.

The scientists, of course, stand far less chance of being disappointed for there is a tremendous amount about Mars that we don't know. The famous canals, of which almost every layman has heard, are subject of controversy among astronomers. Despite improved filters, telescopes and cameras, the canals have never been recorded on a photograph. Some astronomers believe the canals are simply optical illusions.

One difficulty in observing Mars is the presence of dirt and moisture in the earth's atmosphere, but such interference can be overcome by going above it and that is what astronomers hope to do. In this country the navy and air force have been asked to provide aircraft to carry scientists and equipment to the necessary heights.

Mars is closer to the earth when the latter planet is directly between it and the sun. This occurs at irregular intervals. This year the two planets will be 40,300,000 miles apart and in 1956 the distance will be only 35,400,000 miles. Any Republicans who want to read the skies might take heart from the fact that 1956 is a presidential year. In 1924, another presidential year, the two planets were even closer—a mere 34,700,000 miles separated—them—which could be taken as a portent, since the Republicans won that time.

However, this information is not to be taken as a forecast, or even a portent, and anyone who wants to use it as such positively does so at his own risk.—Salt Lake Tribune.

POT SHOTS

INSTRUCTOR

Dear Gent:

These fishing tales are coming too thick and fast for me. I quit trying to compete with these semi-professional liars. From now on I'm just going to concentrate on enjoying myself whenever I go fishing.

You might say I have retired from fishing to become an instructor. I don't even care if I catch any fish from here on out. I'm just concentrating on teaching a worm how to swim. You might say I'm a swimming instructor for a worm and I don't know how much lower you can get.

Unless it's admitting you just can't catch a fish regardless of what you do!

SITUATION REVERSED

During a conversation the other day between two fishermen, the talk turned to fishing. Something novel for this time of year.

Anyway, one fellow was telling how many fish he'd caught and holding his hand about so far apart to illustrate the length of a fish. Then he looked up, asked the other fellow what he'd done so far this season.

The second fellow admitted he hadn't been fishing yet, adding that he didn't particularly need the practice. Then he added:

"I knew how to tell lies even before I started fishing!"

There's always something to ruin things. Take roses. They're pretty. But they have thorns, attract bees and besides all that they'll raise a hob with hay fever.

There is no longer any room for doubt. Pot Shots has gone through the entire winter without so much as a trace of a cold. And even when all the rest of the family went under.

But now here it is the second week in June and Pot Shots turns up with a drizzlin' doozy. If anyone doubted it up until now, you can be certain that summer has arrived.

We'd be glad to share it with anyone. This cold is big enough to take care of the whole town. Just drop in and we'll be glad to sneeze up a few million cold germs. No charge, either.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—I don't suppose it will do a particle of good but I think I should spread the word that these new poured-concrete apartment-buildings which are sprouting up in New York, with steel rods planted in the concrete columns, are a turkey.

This may have been, like prohibition, an experiment noble in purpose. But a little practical experience has shown that the columns are sound conductors, perhaps because of the steel rods although an engineer might want to give me an argument on that. Moreover, this new style of architecture has been developed in a cheese-paring spirit, so economical that the interior walls and even the party walls between apartments are only three or four inches thick and unable to exclude ordinary household sounds from the house next door. They saved "room" at the sacrifice of privacy, peace and sanity.

Thousands and thousands of cells have been slapped together in New York in the last few years and the high-toned lobbies and the post-card balconies cannot balance the fact that life is plain hell indoors, even though the denizens try earnestly to be mutually considerate and quiet.

Work the plumbing and there is a roar like the bellows of a greasy, dark-green Minnesota cyclone as the pressure goes into action, followed by a booming thump as some valve closes down. The bath faucets get a heavy play at certain hours of the morning and night and during those periods there is a more or less constant uproar of another timbre no less appalling.

When the doorman, in his stately uniform, rings the house-phone to say that Mr. and Mrs. Cronin are calling. So thin are the walls that the inmates of half-a-dozen apartments within earshot rush to their house-phones thinking it is theirs that is ringing.

These defects are incurable with the exception of the noise of the pressure in the pipes, which might be moderated by good engineers. The thinness of the walls is permanent and incurable and the comfort of privacy as to sound has been absolutely forfeited to a greedy economy in cubic content.

Walls can be just so thin and no thinner if you intend to keep the ordinary sounds of one normal household out of another. Shave them, too thin and you hear the girl next door clicking around on her high heels, as she has a perfect right to click, or, with the headboard of your bed up against the living-room wall of your neighbor, you get the boom of male voices and the treble of the feminine chatter at times when you are praying to God to let you sleep and the neighbor is enjoying an ordinary conversational hour with guests. Not a wild party. Just a polite visit.

The balconies are nice for hot summer evenings, especially if they are so spotted as to give a glimpse of the river or the sunset or the spires of a fascinating city. It is a fact, however, though no fault of the architects or the landlords, that some public utilities and a few other offenders send up clouds of horrible smoke which contain a grit which settles down on the balconies and dirties the furniture which, in turn, soils your summer clothing.

But that is no fault of the balconies as such. It is just a fact of life in New York as of this writing which tends to discount the theoretical delight of such a ledge high above the streets.

In buildings of the "low-income" class where there are likely to be many children and go-as-you-please discipline, there will be additional difficulties inevitably. In New York, someone is always trying to sleep, whatever the hour of the day, because so much of the population works nights. Not only actors and musicians but waiters, all kinds of radio people, telephone people, newspaper people, cops, robbers and night-side elevator men and employees of the transportation system work night shifts.

They have to catch their sleep if any during the day. The late La Guardia was guilty of one act of humane decency when he outlawed the hurdy-gurdies, which though a sentimental item were an instrument of torture to many. But what hope is there for the wretched night-side in these boxes with radios going on all sides and the routine traffic of housekeeping magnified by the very structure itself?

One test this new kind of apartment has not yet met. That is the accidental or suicidal explosion of the gas-filled room. In buildings of the conventional steel skeleton, a number of those frightful blasts have been withstood although, of course, with very bad local effects. Walls have been blown through and some neighbors have been killed or made groggy for a time. But there is no experience thus far to indicate whether a similar let-go wouldn't just cut the legs from under all the structure above the explosion in these new hutches.

When an experiment fails as this one plainly has, the thing to do is to condemn the idea and forbid any further construction of such kind. It should not have taken a practical test to show the error because engineers are supposed to have ways of predetermining results.

However, granted that the experiment did deserve a practical test, the test has now been made and the result is failure. Build a whole city of this clap-net and you will have a city of raving maniacs, driven nuts by noise which even the most polite and well-intending citizens cannot control.

The walls of these new apartments should have been at least three times as thick as they are and made of better construction to provide a reasonable protection against sounds from next door, upstairs and downstairs. And the concrete piers with the steel rods acting as sound conductors are a menace to civilization because if a new tenant builds some bookshelves or nails down a carpet the sound travels all over the building. This is not an original observation on my part. I just happen to be the first one to write about it.

Granges Meet in Murtaugh School

MURTAUGH, June 10—Twenty-two members of the Twin Falls Grange were guests of the Murtaugh Grange at a meeting Monday evening at the high school here.

Mrs. Terry Sullivan, Twin Falls, was in charge of the program presented by the visitors. Earl Carroll paid a tribute to fathers and Mrs. Kenneth Poe gave the opening prayer and the closing thought.

Mrs. Sullivan sang a solo and readings were given by Mrs. Clifford Davis and Mrs. Noah Oliver. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis and Mrs. Reese-Glick presented a skit. A comic song imitation was given by Irvin Bodenshtab, Harvey Quenell, Merle Stansbury and Olin Lindemoor.

Mr. and Mrs. Heber Loughmiller, Hollister Grange, also were visitors. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Art Carrier, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Riggs. A silver donation was made to the muscular dystrophy fund.

New Device
Even Tryout

Jan. 10 (AP)—A new radar device, to help the pilot see the weather up to 150 miles, was demonstrated for the first time yesterday. The device, Bendix Aviation Corp. announced, could even distinguish between rain squalls and clear weather. The new radar's weather forecasts have distinctive symbols, resembling tiny hooks or circles. I. Rice, the company's director of aviation sales, said.

Also Given
The new device, which gives visiting aviation pilots a "flying show" in its "flying show" to demonstrate the new device. The plane is a special aircraft, through a special circuit, outlines a storm in sharp detail.

Can Avoid Storms
The pilot can see his way through his route, the areas of worst turbulence has a field of about 240 degrees. Although the manufacturer does not make a claim for it as a warning device, pilots believe it is an added feature in this regard.

Opinion Divided on Effects of Court's Ruling on Gas Rates

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—A big question mark was raised this week over the 60 million American homes where natural gas, piped from producing fields many miles away, is used for heating or cooking.

Would a supreme court decision giving federal authorities added power to control natural gas prices show up in consumer gas bills? Opinion was divided. State and municipal authorities from the big midwest gas-consuming areas said the ruling would have a tremendous impact on consumer gas rates, and save consumers money.

Some industry sources said the effect would be negligible. Companies which produce the gas and sell it to the interstate pipelines said the court's action would eventually result in higher consumer prices. Target of the high court's ruling in the much-discussed Phillips Petroleum company case was the so-called wellhead price of natural gas. That's the price the cross-country pipeline companies pay for the gas they buy in the major oil-producing states like Louisiana and Texas. The court said the federal power commission not only has the right to set these prices but an obligation to do so.

Like many other oil-producing companies, Phillips sells a huge amount of natural gas, much of it obtained as a by-product of the company's oil-drilling operations. The gas is extracted from the company's wells and delivered to the big interstate carriers over a Phillips-owned "gathering" pipeline system. The interstate pipeline companies transport the gas to consumers as far away as Connecticut, Michigan and California.

The interstate pipeline carriers (they've been subject to federal control of their rates right along) inevitably seek to pass any hike in field prices on to the ultimate consumer as an increased operating cost. In most instances, the wellhead cost is a mere fraction of the price paid by the end consumer.

This is particularly true if the gas must be piped underground hundreds or even thousands of miles across the country. By the time distribution costs are figured in, and the pipeline company and the local utility have extracted their profits, the gas that cost the carrier 8 or 9 cents per thousand cubic feet at the well fields may cost the northern householder $1.50.

The long-standing argument of the oil companies is that field prices of gas, like prices of crude oil, should be exempt from federal regulation because of the high cost and extreme financial risk involved in hunting for gas and oil.

Dispute Between Unions Resolved

IDAHO FALLS, June 10 (AP)—Local labor officials say a jurisdiction dispute involving about 300 employees of Phillips Petroleum company has been settled in favor of the Oil and Chemical Workers International union, CIO.

The chemical workers union and the Eastern Idaho Metal Trades council, AFL, had been fighting for the right to represent the workers. Phillips Petroleum is a prime contractor at the atomic energy commission's national reactor testing station near Arco.

Speaker Says Yanks Create 'Red Weapon'

SEATTLE, June 10 (AP)—A Canadian editor says Americans have created such a bad impression in Europe and Asia that it gives Russia a "great secret weapon" to use against the free world.

Bruce Hutchinson, editor of the Victoria, B. C., Daily Times told delegates to the Rotary International convention yesterday that Canadians think highly of Americans but that this respect isn't shared abroad.

View Is Unique
"The puzzled eyes of Europe do not see the true contents of America," Hutchinson told the Rotary delegates from 52 countries. "They see a ghastly and garish caricature which has created, they see hardly more than the skyscrapers of New York, the imaginary dream world of Hollywood and the televised squabbles of politics."

Hutchinson didn't name the Americans he said gave this impression, but he added Canadians who know and admire the U. S. are "appalled and shocked by the image which the United States has created for itself in the mind of the world."

"And this, I believe, is one of the most dangerous facts of these times. It is the Russians' great secret weapon, handed to them free of charge, used with diabolical cunning and aimed straight at the vitals of the free world."

"In Canada, we know this for what it is, a gross burlesque, a slander and a lie."

The Victoria editor added that "listening to some of the quarrels of politics down here, I'm even inclined to think that we in Canada trust the American people and their government more than they always trust themselves."

One Hurt in Auto Mishap

BURLEY, June 10—A heavy downpour of rain was blamed Wednesday for an automobile accident in which one woman was injured.

The accident occurred about 8 p. m. three miles south and one mile west of Burley, when a 1940 Hudson four-door sedan driven by Lyle H. Duke, 64, route 2, Burley, collided at an intersection with a 1948 Chevrolet pickup driven by Arroy Willie, 38, Gallup, N. M.

Mrs. Addie Willie was taken to Cottage hospital and diagnosed after treatment of chest injuries. Willie and a 6- or 7-year-old boy were not injured.

Sheriff LaPage Layton, investigating officer, said Duke failed to observe a stop sign at the intersection. No citations were issued.

Damage to the right rear fender on Duke's car was estimated at $200 and damaged to the pickup was estimated at $500.

Bid for Damages Rejected by Jury

A six-member district court jury deliberated only 25 minutes Wednesday afternoon to reject Lynn H. Hempleman's bid for $317.03 damages in a suit against the Twin Falls County Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Hempleman filed suit against the company and its fire truck driver, Clifford Stanley, for repairs to his Cadillac, which was damaged when he ran into the rear of the truck while it was parked on a county road south of Twin Falls Feb. 24, 1953.

He had claimed he was blinded by smoke from a nearby grass fire and did not see the truck. He charged the company and Stanley were guilty of negligence in parking the truck on the road instead of on the shoulder, and in failing to give any warning signal.

Charges Dropped

Criminal charges of lewd conduct with an 11-year-old girl against Olaf Parker, Kimberly, were dismissed Wednesday after two district court juries failed to return a verdict.

Two weeks ago a jury deliberated some six hours before reporting to District Court Judge Hugh A. Baker it was unable to decide Parker's guilt or innocence, and late Tuesday night a second jury was unable to arrive at a verdict after nearly 11 hours of deliberation.

The retrial was heard by District Judge R. W. Beckwith, who signed the dismissal after consultation with Max Lloyd, county prosecutor.

Job for Elks Described as Service Work

IDAHO FALLS, June 10 (AP)—"The role of the Elks lodge is mainly a service one, and the seven million dollars expended over the nation for humanitarian projects this year testifies to the scope of this great charitable arm in America," Earl C. James, Oklahoma City, told the Idaho Elks convention today.

James is the nation's grand exalted Elks ruler.

Has Serious Side
"The Elks order is not just an organization for 'good time Charlie,' he said. "The Elks program has a serious side, and this unusual and varied service to the public is the driving theme of the order."

He said an example of "Elks at work" is reflected "in the fact that the Elks program two years ago contributed 67 per cent of the blood used in Korea, and 22 of the states, like Idaho, have major crippled children or humanitarian institutions which they support."

Waste Decried
The Oklahoma attorney also decried "waste of billions of dollars spent by overseas nations in a losing effort to win their support."

Committee reports were heard later in the morning session, and committee meetings, sightseeing trips, golf, bowling and trapshooting tournaments, and a memorial service by the Blackfoot Elks lodge, marked the afternoon session.

The convention continues through Saturday.

Damage Reported At $325 for Crash

Worell said a 1941 Chevrolet coupe driven north on a county road by B. Brewer, Murray, Utah, was struck in the rear by a 1930 Hudson sedan operated by A3/c Clarence V. Yordy, Jr., McChord air force base, Wash., when the coupe stopped in traffic.

Damage was estimated at $175 to Brewer's car and $150 to the front of Yordy's machine.

Awarded

BOISE, June 10 (AP)—Idaho's school leaders have decided it's time someone said a kind word for "Mrs. Ida Warren," a hard-working cow at the State School for the Deaf and Blind at Gooding.

So State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alton B. Jones got his pen to answer a report from Dr. Burton Briggs, superintendent of the institution.

Ida has turned out 13,481 pounds of butterfat this year and 20 quarts of milk a day—2½ times more than the average cow.

Jones wrote: "I want to award her an 'A' for attitude and effort. . . . When do we hold our commencement exercises?"

Three Men Get Carrier Permits

BOISE, June 10 (AP)—The state public utilities commission has granted common carrier permits to three Idaho businessmen but has denied the application of a fourth.

It okayed the requests of Titus, Inc., Mountain Home, to haul passengers between the town and Mountain Home air force base for the next 60 days; C. A. Hanson, Coeur d'Alene, to operate a tourist bus service in Shoshone and Kootenai counties; and Frank Stroup, Cascade, to haul household goods in Valley and Boise counties and bulkier articles within a 100-mile radius of Cascade.

Chinese records indicate that examinations for the selection of officials for public service were given in that country as early as 1115 B. C.

Rotarians Urged To Counter Reds

SEATTLE, June 10 (AP)—A Salt Lake City church leader has urged Rotarians from 52 nations to work in their homelands to prevent communist subjugation of free people.

Adam S. Bennion, a council member of the LDS church, added in an address yesterday at the service club's international convention:

"Russia and her satellites—800 million people—might achieve the power to conquer and crush the free world. This conquest is only one of five causes of the loss of liberty."

"The other four are usurpation, bankruptcy, complacency and moral disintegration."

The Rev. Mr. Reitz has been district representative of the board of foreign missions for several years and also is a member of the district parish education committee.

He and Mrs. Reitz will leave Sunday morning for American Falls where he will give an address at the ordination and commissioning services of Marcus Reitz, his nephew, who has accepted a call as missionary to New Guinea. His brother, Missionary Gerhard Reitz, and sister, Missionary Nurse Marine Reitz, have been active in the missionary field for some time.

Soon after the American Falls service, the local pastor and his wife will leave for the district convention.

Mrs. Running and daughter, Sandra, will accompany Running to Parkland. The family will visit Seattle and other places in the Northwest before returning.

Timing of State's Laws To Be Asked

June 10 (AP)—A program of tightening existing state laws, legislators and the state department of law are to be asked to meet at the state capitol at Wallace next Monday.

Chairman of the legislative committee, said to-day, the committee will meet on the floor for speeches and probably would meet in a committee room.

The chief plank in the committee's program, it would be to seek a state law making the judges at the county seat to be paid on state highway jobs.

Attempts have been made to give the state judges the power to set up according to areas and to be written into contract.

Idaho's major contractor, the prevailing scale, "McIntosh" law allows contractors to underbid in cheap labor and to purchase outside of the state.

to go to court in some cases, to late then because the state has been awarded."

Proposal Stated

The committee will recommend that the legislature make as a major legislative goal a law of the employment agency's power to collect unemployment compensation taxes.

and the ESA was "trying to collect the tax" to collect the present law, but had no way to restrain employers who pay it.

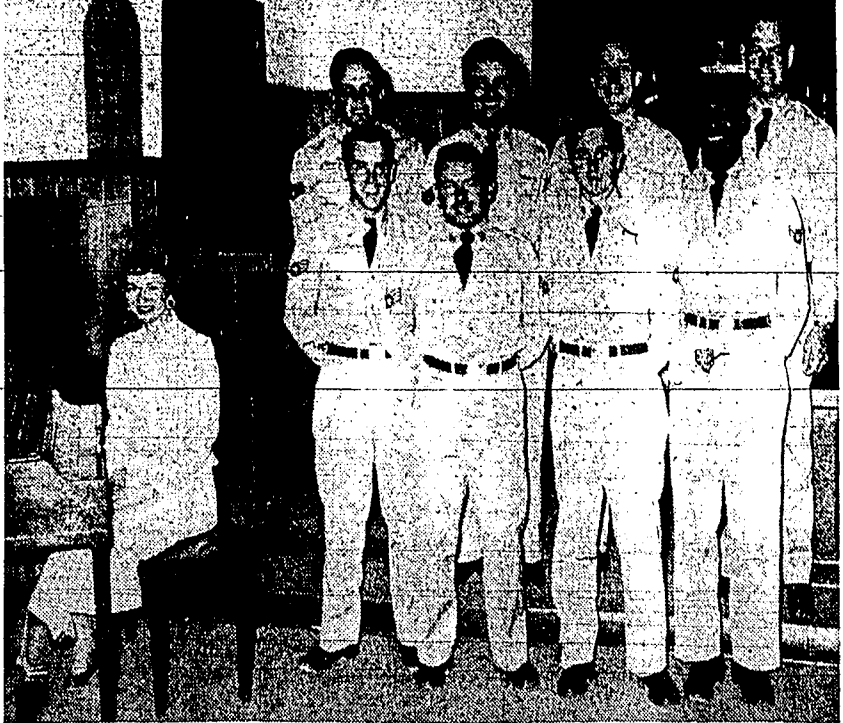

It can be done now is going to be attached," he said.

The program will be recommendations for more safety in the state labor commission and improved workmen's compensation benefits.

GI's Finance Young Korea Piano Genius

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 10 (AP)—Tony (Tony) Han and a couple of friends left today on a trip that will end with the young Korean in New York's famed Juilliard School of Music.

Tony at 12, his friends say, is a child piano prodigy, and the 5th air force has put up $4,000 to prove it.

One of Tony's friends is Lieut. Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, and the other—a real Tony fan—is Lieut. Thomas Outshaw, former 5th air force interpreter. They arrived at Carswell air force base here yesterday.

Story Is Told

Cutshaw told Tony's story while Anderson modestly excluded himself from any part in the drama. But Cutshaw said it was really the general who started the ball rolling. It happened this way, Outshaw said:

Tony and his family lived in North Korea before the war. In 1948, the Russians confiscated all the family's furniture, including the piano.

The family moved to Seoul and later, when the fighting started, to Pusan. Tony's father, a musician, taught the boy to play the piano.

Put on Program

Last October, the manager of the 5th air force theater in Seoul heard the boy playing the piano. He put him on the program.

Anderson heard the performance, was so impressed that he sent the lad on a tour of air force installations.

It was then that members of the 5th air force, of which Anderson was commanding officer, began taking up a collection to send Tony to this country.

Enough persons with musical authority heard the boy that Juilliard granted Tony a scholarship without requiring an audition.

Tony will live with a Korean-American family in New York.

Roads to Open

BILLINGS, Mont., June 10 (AP)—The Red Lodge-Cooke City highway and northeast entrance to Yellowstone National park are scheduled to open for the summer season today. H. B. Field, secretary of the Red Lodge Commercial club, says.

The highway, which climbs to 11,000 feet between Red Lodge and Cooke City, can be kept open only during the summer months because of deep snow. It usually is cleared by snowplows before mid-June.

Appropriation to Speed Work On Pump Project; Aides Claim

RUPERT, June 10—An appropriation of $1,925,000 recently approved by the U. S. senate will speed work on the North Side Pumping division's expansion plans for the next fiscal year, bureau of reclamation officials predicted here Thursday.

Sen. Henry Dworshak, R. Ida., in a letter announcing senate action, said since the figure previously was approved by the house only the President's signature is needed. The funds were included in the interior department appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1954-55.

They will be used to complete equipment purchases and installation for group 2 of the project and for drilling operations for an additional 29 wells of group 3. Funds also were included for initiating and completing laterals for group 3, initiating drilling of approximately 29 more wells of group 4, and construction of shops, warehouses and two ditcher houses, according to Senator Dworshak's letter.

Engineer Orville Kime, Rupert reclamation office, said the budget figure also will start construction of the unit "A" pumping plant, and will start construction of the main canal for this gravity flow part of the project.

The pumping plant will be about three miles upstream from Milner dam, and the canal, about three and one-half miles long, will run north and east. The bureau intends to issue specifications on the main canal in August this year, and the contract for the main pumping plant will be open for bidding in January, 1955. Invitations to bid and specifications on pumps and motors for the plant will be issued in August, however.

The 29 wells in group 3, mentioned in Senator Dworshak's letter, will serve 10,648 acres of 94 farms. Public notices will be mailed in January, 1955. The land is north of Rupert.

Group 4, north of Paul, includes 29 wells to come in with Unit A, and will serve about 11,000 acres of pump farms and 13,750 acres of gravity flow farms for a total of 24,614 acres. Public notice will be in January, 1955.

The bureau hopes to hold the homestead drawings in April, so winners may get on their farms about in July and accomplish fall work. The first homestead drawing on Aug. 4 allowed the homesteaders on the land in November, too late for much construction or clearing.

Kime also said the bureau will open bids Tuesday on 16 substations for group 2 wells. Bids can be received at the office here up until 10 a. m. Tuesday, bid-opening time.

Rich Treasure Discovered in Tomb for King

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10 (AP)—A rich treasure of gold jewelry was found yesterday in the tomb of an ancient Egyptian king who ruled 5,000 years ago.

A reliable source said that Dr. Zakaria Ghoneim discovered the treasure in a casket imbedded in the main gallery of the step pyramid at Sakkarah.

The source said the find consists of 22 large gold bracelets and a number of gold ornaments inlaid with precious stones.

Discovery Revealed

Ghoneim announced last week that he had discovered the untouched sarcophagus of a pharaoh who ruled 5,000 years ago.

It has been described as the first intact and unlooted tomb of an old-kingdom ruler ever found.

Ghoneim said at the time he believed it would yield highly important data and possibly great treasure. He said it would throw amazing light on life in Egypt 5,000 years ago.

Sakkarah is on the Nile, about 15 miles south of Cairo. It is near another important recent discovery at the tomb of Cheops at Giza, where two "solar boats" were found. These were designed to carry Cheops' soul on its journey through eternity.

The Egyptian government set up a special five-man committee to supervise delicate excavation work at both sites.

Hal Says Old Courting Sticks Might Have Some Use Today

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—If your teen-age daughter is hogging the telephone in long talks with her boy friends why not solve the problem by buying her a courting stick?

The time seems ripe for a revival of this communication tool of lovers, popular in old New England.

An antiquarian friend of mine, doing research on old marriage customs for the 80th anniversary of Fuller Brush company, which distributes cosmetics and brushes, said:

"Television has made the courting stick eminently practical again in the average American home."

What is a courting stick? Well, in colonial times it was a hollow wooden tube 6 to 8 feet long. Sternly chaperoned lovers could sit on opposite sides of big fireplaces and whisper romantic nonsense back and forth, unheard by other watching members of the family.

Then there is the practice of bundling. This was an old New England boy-meets-girl formula designed to save papa's firewood bill.

The fully clad lovers, covered by quilts and separated by a wooden partition, lay propped up side by side in a bed as they discussed the local corn crop, ethics and other interesting topics, shivering as the fire sank lower.

Some historical scholars claim that this depressing form of cold weather courtship is directly responsible for the settlement of the west, the discovery of gold in California and the invention of air conditioning. Others say it only resulted in the spread of marriage and the common cold.

Whatever its merit, the arrival of the motor car and the movies and the growth of skiing as a sport gradually turned New Englanders away from home bundling.

Courtship and marriage this June month of weddings is far easier in many ways than it was in colonial times.

In Maryland, for example, I understand that bachelors, light wines and billiard tables are no longer bracketed together for tax purposes to pay the cost of the war against the French and Indians, as they were in 1756.

A pioneer matrimonial advertisement by a sensitive journeyman gentleman in the Boston Evening Post of Feb. 23, 1759, listed these demanding demands:

"Any young lady between the age of 18 and 23, middling stature, regular features and a lively brisk eye; of good morals, possessed of 3 or 400 pounds, in those sterner masculine times, a healthy husband might well out-live two or three successive hard-working wives.

Yet there somehow were still so many widows around that a singular law prevailed from New England to South Carolina. It provided that a man taking a widow as his wife was responsible for her former husband's debts unless she married him on the king's highway clad in her chemise.

This was roughly equivalent to saying an eager widow couldn't win a thrifty man unless she was willing to marry him in public view in Times square wearing only a petticoat.

Naturally it is easy to see why this law flopped. Even in those days they already had enough traffic jams.

ed Commander Warns Soviet That All West's Weapons Will Fight Attack

June 10 (U.S. AP)—NATO's supreme commander in Europe, U.S. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has warned that the West will fight an attack with "every weapon in our arsenal," including atomic bombs.

He said he visualized the support of the West's atomic weapons in the event of an attack on the West.

But at present, he said, the Soviets have no answer to the Allies' long-range aircraft. He cited the big American B-47 jet bomber—a plane which can fly so fast and so high that there is no defense against it in 1954.

Gruenther told of one B-47 which recently flew the Atlantic in 4 hours 34 minutes.

Churchill told the west that "peace through strength must be our guiding star."

He warned that if the free nations relax their defense efforts, it would imperil European peace, and if differences split the allies, it would lead to "general ruin and enslavement."

Okay on Tax Bill Smashes Hopes of Cut

WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.S. AP)—Senate Finance Committee action giving President Eisenhower just about what he asked for in tax changes dims the prospects of victory for a Democratic-planned floor fight to tack on an income tax cut.

Finishing its work on the 878-page tax revision bill yesterday after six weeks of secret deliberations, the group accepted nearly all of the benefits for corporations and individuals sought by the administration. These would amount to about $1,400,000,000 in tax cuts in the first year of the measure's operation.

Democrats on the committee did not even offer their proposal for a big reduction in personal income taxes by a boost in exemptions. It had become obvious the committee would reject such a move.

Hopes Dashed

Their failure to win committee support threw cold water on any hopes for a general income tax reduction in the revision bill, for the senate rarely upsets the finance committee on tax legislation.

Even if the Democrats could win on the senate floor, the Republicans still could seek to knock out an income tax cut in conference with the house, because the house-passed measure carries no such provision.

A Democrat-led move for an individual income tax slash there lost out, 210-204.

Fight Planned

Nonetheless, the senior senate committee Democrat, Senator George, Georgia, and Democratic committee member Frank Delaware, told newsmen they planned to fight the issue out on the senate floor.

The group is expected to report the measure in time for debate the week of June 21.

While they declined to disclose their strategy in advance, other informants said the Democrats might center their floor battle on a reduction plan which would hit the treasury far more lightly than the original exemption proposal, which the administration said cost too much.

This new plan would involve a $20 tax cut for each taxpayer on his return, taken as a final step after he had figured his tax.

Plan Offered

George actually offered this in committee last week as a substitute for a provision giving substantial relief to stockholders on their dividend income, but lost 10-4.

The revenue loss from the $20 plan would be about $50 million annually, under George's estimate, committee staff officials said it might reach $1,400,000,000 a year.

May Democrats contend the bill does nothing for most individuals but is loaded with benefits for corporations and wealthy persons.

Republicans reply that the benefits are evenly balanced between individuals and corporations, and would give a big boost to business by stimulating more investment.

Two-Car Wreck Fatal for Three

MANDAN, N. D., June 10 (U.S. AP)—A Billings, Mont., mother and son and a Spokane, man were killed last night in a 2-car collision 13 miles west of here.

The victims were J. L. Sonduck, 64, Spokane; Mrs. Alberta Rutter, 55, Billings; and her son, Bob.

Authorities said the Rutters apparently were driving here to visit Mrs. Rutter's husband, Thomas. Sonduck has been employed in this area and was believed driving to Spokane.

PTA Opening Campaign for 'Friendliness'

CAREY, June 10—Making the "friendly" community of Carey even more friendly is the aim of a current campaign by the PTA.

A meeting Monday afternoon conducted by Mrs. John Briggs, president, organized workers and equipped them with material for the campaign.

The project is centered around a calendar showing the birthdays of all local residents, and the wedding anniversary dates of the married couples. Included will be civic club and church dates, special events, and a schedule of games and activities of the school.

The PTA is sponsoring the calendar as a service project.

Proceeds, said Mrs. Briggs, will be used to further the PTA community project which it will sponsor next fall. She also said organization leaders felt the plan "would be a means of stimulating interest of the people in all community activities and events."

Named campaign chairman was Mrs. Ross Stanford. The drive will end June 21 when another meeting will be held. Prizes will be given to the two persons getting the most subscriptions and listings.

Captains who will supervise the activity include Mrs. Leonard Carlson, Mrs. Pete Oenarrusa, Mrs. Dee Albrethsen, Mrs. Joe Dieterle, Mrs. Lowell Mechem, Mrs. Orvis Dilworth, Mrs. DeWayne Farnsworth and Mrs. Ray Wennefer. A partial list of workers named includes Mrs. Ronda Hunt, Mrs. Dee Coates, Mrs. Bill Laddlaw, Mrs. Les Williams, Mrs. Stewart Sparks, Mrs. Garth Cook, Mrs. Wallace Stocking, Mrs. Florence Peterson and Mrs. Blaine Phillips.

Illegal Ballot for Election Passes

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10 (AP)—An illegal vote was cast in precinct 131 in Tuesday's primary—but it had to be counted, legally.

Shortly after the polls opened a woman identifying herself as Sarah Ann Glynn, 1178 Eddy street, signed the register and voted.

Two hours later another woman gave this name:

"Sarah Ann Glynn, 1178 Eddy street."

"But you've already voted," said Mrs. Lesale McGowan, an official.

"I have not," retorted the woman, whose handwriting showed she is Mrs. Glynn.

Registrar Thomas A. Toomey said she said she had the right to vote.

"Nothing we can do about it," said Toomey. "Just have to leave it in. This is the first time it's happened to my knowledge."

Guardsmen Wind Up Target Firing

BOISE, June 10 (AP)—Idaho's national guardsmen brought out the oil and bore cleaner today after winding up three days of target practice in the hills near Gowen field.

Ahead lie a cleanup session and a trip to the paymaster before the troops break camp Saturday, ending their two-week summer encampment.

Bannock county Commissioner Cantrell Nielsen, a Democratic candidate for governor, arrived from Pocatello with his son, Cantrell, Jr., yesterday to watch the guardsmen in action.

U. S. Still Growing

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The census bureau says the nation's population, including armed forces overseas, was about 161,969,000 May 1.

This was an increase of 3,767,000, or 1.7 per cent over the estimate at the beginning of May a year earlier.

Bankers Elect New Officers at Resort Meeting

All-Out Battle Thought Just If War Comes

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10 (AP)—National Commander Arthur J. Connell of the American Legion says the Legion believes an all-out war "with no Yalu barriers" is necessary to preserve democracy if the United States decides to intervene in Indochina.

He admitted that a full-fledged conflict in southeast Asia now would probably lead to a third world war.

Battle Foreseen

But Connell said the Legion believed a third-almost-battle may be necessary to preserve democratic freedom. The Legion is flatly against further limited police actions such as the Korean conflict, he said.

"We want to do everything possible which will result in victory," Connell said. "We want no Yalu barriers such as in Korea and we advocate the use of all weapons at our disposal, including the A-bomb and H-bomb."

Discounts Threats

Connell, on a tour of northern California Legion posts, discounted threats that McCarthyism and communism abroad have created a "rise of hysteria and fear here at home."

"The nation I have seen (during a 40-state tour) is not a nation afraid," he said. "It is a nation that has learned to recognize its

Jumbo

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10 (AP)—Marion county jail today housed what is probably the "biggest" law violator in its history.

The prisoner, Roland Dulin, 25, Indianapolis, weighed in at 625 pounds as he began a seven-month sentence for an uncensored liquor sale. Jail officials figured they might trim his figure a bit before he was released.

Rupert Cows Top Testing of DHIA

RUPERT, June 10—A herd of registered Holsteins owned by Leo Van Every, Rupert, led Dairy Herd Improvement Association testings in the Mini-Cassia unit for May, reports Fred Tolman, supervisor. The Van Every herd had an average of 51.7 pounds of butterfat, six cows producing.

The high individual cow was Casey, a registered Holstein owned by Joe Giesler, Rupert. She gave 89 pounds of butterfat.

High Jersey was Reddie, owned by Earl Blacker, 78 pounds, and high Guernsey was Rosaline, owned by Rulon Stoker, 87 pounds.

There were 401 cows and 30 herds in the association. They made an average of 38.7 pounds of butterfat and 892 pounds of milk, with 353 cows in production and 48 dry.

enemies, that realizes calamity could come and is looking for the strength to avert it."

Dulles Cites Need Of Principle Code

OMAHA, June 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said last night that "whatever we do in Indochina should be done in pursuance of moral principles which are clear and justified . . . and which the American people understand."

Dulles avoided discussion of specific issues at stake in the Indochina peace negotiations, saying he did not want to run the risk of "repercussions" in the extremely delicate situation arising from any "awkward word of mine," since he was speaking without a text.

The secretary of state addressed an Omaha Chamber of Commerce public affairs dinner.

Thirty years ago, three pounds of coal were used in the United States to produce a kilowatt of electricity; today it takes a little more than a pound.

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The cat that came to dinner and stayed to upset burglar alarms at the Lewis Machinery company got the gate.

Animal Protective league workers hauled off the orange colored tomcat after tabby on three occasions—summoned state police by wandering past electric "eyes" during the night.

The cat first turned up two weeks ago, begging food from workers at luncheon. After that he became a regular pest who didn't know when to go home.

For Council Fire
Of Kongani Girls

The Kongani Camp Fire Girls entertained their parents with a "Feast of Five Continents" at the council fire Monday evening at the St. Edward's school.

Special guests were Mrs. N. O. Johnson, local Camp Fire executive leader; Mr. and Mrs. William Foster and Mrs. Frank Hicks.

The tables were decorated by the girls with spring flowers in blue baskets. Planking the baskets were dolls from the five continents. A globe of the world centered the speaker's table which also was decorated with dolls from many lands. In front of the globe stood four tall blue candles representing man, food, clothing and shelter—the theme of the birthday project this year—and miniature flags from the United Nations.

Following the dinner the girls held their council fire. Margaret Lang, Catherine Gorman, Judy Walstra and Carole Eschliman lighted birthday candles. Birthday awards were presented by Mrs. Owen Eschliman, leader, to Elaine Anderson, Karen Eschliman, Carole Eschliman, Suzanne Engle, Catherine Gorman, Ann Kreilkamp, Margaret Lang, Joanne Madland, Mary Jane McWilliams, Elsie Scherer, Judy Walstra, Patty Walther, Vida and Veda Brubaker.

"Keep Idaho Green" awards went to Miss Anderson, Miss Brubaker, Miss Eschliman, Miss Gorman, Miss Engle, Miss Lang, Miss Madland, Miss McWilliams, Miss Scherer, Miss Walstra and Miss Walther.

The candy sale award was presented by Mrs. Wilson Anderson, assistant leader, to Mary Jane McWilliams, who was the only Camp Fire Girl in her group to earn the award.

Beads for honors earned during the year were awarded Miss Anderson, Vida and Veda Brubaker, Miss Engle, Karen and Carole Eschliman, Miss Gorman, Miss Lang, Miss Madland, Miss McWilliams, Miss Scherer, Miss Walstra, Miss Kreilkamp and Miss Walther.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

There are times when the promotion of a child to the next grade poses a question. Is he above age for the present grade, or below it? Has he been ill? What subjects is he failing in and what are his strongest ones? Most important, what is his attitude toward school and regarding this question of going to the next class, or staying where he is?

If the school is the oldstyle conventional one that holds to a set course of study, tests at the end of the term, promotions based on passing marks every six months, holding the pupil back means six months time. Is he going to get enough out of staying back to pay for those six months? If his work is so poor that sending him ahead means a weakness in his learning that will make learning in the advanced grade impossible difficult there can be no question about keeping him back to repeat the work he did not master. But suppose it is one important subject he is failing in? Reading. Why not let him go ahead and arrange his program so that he can read with both classes? In that way he will not lose so much time and still have the needed lessons in reading.

It is time that all schools were set to a more flexible pattern so that grading of children could be done on a more practical and helpful basis, the needs of the pupil in question. There is a no-worse-practice in a school than that of advancing a pupil before he is prepared for the next step in learning. A child who has not mastered thoroughly his number tables cannot learn to do long division, and a child who has not learned to sound syllables, cannot read the advanced books that require that learning.

But there is the child, his preparation for learning, and his learning years, all to be considered. No child's learning is an even product.

There are always heights and depths in it and best we can do is to try to make his achievement as complete and as rounded as possible. If we provide time and teachers and a program flexible enough to allow children to be promoted by subjects, not by grades, we will do better by them. To be sure this requires planning, thinking and adjustments in the administration and the staffing of the school, but we are equal to that. We are equal to anything that helps children learn effectively.

Annoying habits will soon vanish if they are replaced by some good ones. How to do this is explained by Dr. Patri in his booklet No. 302, "Annoying Habits." To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Boys Set Meet With High Chicago Officials Tonight

Valley-Cowboy directors learned officially that the meeting in the red for this year's operation at a Wednesday night. The directors heard a financial report by John Peterson, club financial adviser, which confirmed officially what each already knew. Peterson said it was still too early to show by any financial report just how much the club was in the red and said next month's report would give a fairer picture. A meeting was set up with the Chicago Cubs' chief trouble-shooter Ray Heyworth, Cubs representative and the directors. The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Park hotel. Heyworth flew in from Chicago and joined the Cowboys while they were on the road to Great Falls. He is scheduled to arrive in Twin Falls early Thursday with the club and will remain through the Cowboys' next home stand before returning to Chicago to make his formal report to higher Cub officials. Manager Everett Robinson also will attend the Thursday meeting as the directors try to iron out what one called "a bad situation." Heyworth is the man sent by Cub officials to straighten out "bad situations" with Cub farm teams. After discussing the financial statement in great detail, the directors recessed their meeting until Thursday night when they can present their problem to Heyworth.

Postponed

The finale of a three-game series between the Magic Valley Cowboys and the Great Falls Elites was rained out in Great Falls Wednesday night. The Cowboys left immediately and are expected back in Twin Falls early Thursday morning. There is no game scheduled Thursday but the Cowboys open a three-day, four-game series with the Salt Lake City Bees Friday night at Jaycee park.

In the meantime, business manager Ed Schaech announced the signing of two more players to the Cowboys. The players were signed by the Chicago Cubs in Chicago and are due in Twin Falls Thursday. Both are stars of the Oklahoma university baseball team. William "Buster" Cloud is a catcher, stands six feet tall, weighs 165 pounds, bats and throws right and is from Norman, Okla.

Shortstop Orville Riskey stands five feet, eight inches, weighs 180 pounds, bats and throws right and hails from Oklahoma City. Riskey will be used as a utility infielder.

Dark Horse Seen Winner In National

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Tony Manero is a true sportsman and a strong believer in sports. So the mustached Connecticut restaurateur figures the 4th National Open golf championship next week at Baltusrol will be strictly a "dark horse" tournament and the winner likely will be a skinny guy from Springfield, N. J., named Bob Toski.

"Just like when I won the tournament back in 1936," Manero said Wednesday. "Everything is fitting into place." "It was at Baltusrol—the upper instead of the lower course—as this time. I had been winning tournaments but I was an underdog. Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Ray Manerum and Gene Sarazen were the big boys. "I remember I got in on a rain check, just like Toski. I qualified at Charlotte, N. C. There was a four-way playoff for two of the last places. One fellow—I forget who—got a birdie on the first hole. He was in. Then we went to the 39th where I won a tough par three hole with a par." Toski, leading money winner and sensation of the winter tour, had to win a playoff to qualify Monday at Cincinnati. It looks like a dark horse year to me. Personally, I like this fellow Toski. But there are some other youngsters who will be tough—young Al Mengert from Winged Foot and Gene Littler, who won the amateur last year."

STREAMS FALLING BOISE, June 10 (AP)—The state fish and game department reported rivers falling or holding steady Wednesday, but said small streams in southern and central Idaho may rise slightly for the second week-end of the fishing season as a result of showers.

Reports Indicate Fishing Tops For Opening Week of '54 Season

BOISE, June 10 (AP)—Despite disappointing weather, reports to the fish and game department Thursday indicated fishing was "terrific" the first week of the season. With more cool, rainy weather in sight for this week-end, the department said small streams in southern and central Idaho may rise and muddy up. Generally, however, it said rivers have been falling or holding steady. Most of the heavy snow pack is gone, but plenty of the white stuff remains on the headwaters of the Pend Oreille, Clearwater, Salmon and Boise rivers. However, the generally cool weather is causing the runoff to come down slowly.

Conditions by sections include: Snake river, good for sturgeon fishing between Bruneau bridge and Slick bridge, with night crawlers recommended bait. Owyhee county streams generally good with water low.

Southeastern Idaho Many streams in Mackay, Challis and Salmon areas very lightly fished on opening week-end, and still nearly undisturbed. Big Lost river and Mackay and Magic reservoirs have been good between storms. Canals in Pahsimero river valley and river itself are yielding good catches. Lemhi river and Williams lake have been best waters in their areas. No salmon spotted in Salmon area yet.

Anglers had good to poor luck on Oamas prairie. Malad tributaries produced well, and excellent catches reported from the Little Smoky. Fishing erratic in Carey area because of weather. Bass fishing has been good in Carey lake. Fish creek was good. Rook and Goose creeks best in Kimberly area.

Annual Baseball Clinic Planned Here Saturday

Youngsters hopeful of a career in organized baseball can get some first hand instruction from the men who know when the city recreation department conducts its annual baseball clinic Saturday. The Magic Valley Cowboys will be the instructors at the annual clinic which is slated to get under way at 10 a. m. Saturday at Jaycee park, Ernie Craner, city recreation director, said Wednesday.

Baseball fans of all ages, from pee-wees on up through middle-aged adults are invited to attend and participate in the clinic. Manager Everett Robinson and the Cowboys will demonstrate the proper way of playing each position and show how to hit, field and run bases.

The group will be divided into the separate positions with catchers being taught by the Cowboy catchers, pitchers by the Cowboy chuckers and on through the various positions.

The clinic is an annual affair sponsored each year by the city recreation department as part of its summer program. There is no admission fee or charge to participate in the clinic. The St. Louis Cardinals this season are operating 23 minor league clubs. They claim more such farm teams than any other major league organization.

Paul Giel Signs With Giant Club

MILWAUKEE, June 10 (AP)—Paul Giel, two-time University of Minnesota all-America more known for his broken field touchdown runs than for his strikeouts, Wednesday signed a bonus contract with the New York baseball Giants for an estimated $50,000. The fleet-footed, 5-11, 185-pound athlete has been the target of big league baseball and football scouts as well as Canadian football bird-dogs ever since his sensational sophomore year. His baseball record with Minnesota is 19-8. In his sophomore year he won five conference games and posted a remarkable earned run average of .42. Tommy Holmes, manager of Elmira, N. Y., in the Eastern league, is well-remembered by fans in that loop. He was the batting champ with Binghamton in 1938. His average was .368.

White's Ninth-Inning Triple Gives Bosox 7-6 Win Over Orioles

By The Associated Press. Sammy White's triple with none out in the ninth inning scoring Jackie Jensen drove Boston to a 7-6 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday. White's triple, his third hit of the afternoon, broke up a deadlock which had been created when Boston tied the score in the seventh. Jensen had led off the ninth with a single to left and White followed with his drive to centerfield off loser Mike Blyzka, third Baltimore hurler.

Mustangs Edge Boise Pilots In 2-1 Tilt

BILLINGS, June 10 (AP)—The ram-paging Billings Mustangs took a three-game lead in the Pioneer league Wednesday night as they stopped Boise 2-1 for their eighth straight win. The Mustangs rode John Burckle's nine-hit pitching effort to a sweep of their six-game home stand. Burckle held the Pilots scoreless until the ninth in picking up his third win in four decisions.

Rain halted all other action in the league Wednesday night. Victims were the Pocatello-Balt Lake, Magic Valley-Great Falls and Idaho Falls-Ogden contests. Boise pitcher Gene Armstrong hurled commendable ball, giving up only eight Billings hits, but the Mustangs made him count for single runs in the first and fifth innings.

In the Billings first, Pablo Bernard singled, stole second and came across on Bob Bonaparte's one-bagger. The fifth inning marker was also scored on two singles. Don Hedrick cracked the first, was sacrificed to second by Burckle, and raced home on Ben Siquefield's line-smash to centerfield.

Boise threatened to knot the count in the ninth. Ray Herrera singled and after Dick Klingman bled out, Herb Markley's one-base blow sent Herrera to second. Gordie Beecroft stroked the third hit of the inning to drive in Herrera, but Bill Bell batted for Armstrong and lined to left for the third out.

Johnny Groth and Chico Carrasquel battled in three runs apiece as the Chicago White Sox held on to first place and extended their win streak to seven with a 9-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The high flying Sox were in little trouble in grabbing their second win of the current series with the A's. Bob Keegan posted his ninth win, first hurler in the major leagues to post that mark this season. He's lost one.

Vic Wertz broke up Bob Porterfield's bid for a no-hitter with a single with one out in the seventh inning and came around on Dave Philley's single and an error by third baseman Eddie Yost as Cleveland edged Washington 1-0.

Mike Garcia, who held the Senators to five hits, posted his seventh win. The Cincinnati Redlegs scored all of their runs on bases-empty homers Wednesday night as they whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3. Gus Bell got two of the homers but

Violations

SPOKANE, Wash., June 10 (AP)—Thirty-five violations of the athletic code were run through the hopper Wednesday by the Pacific Coast conference bosses and 13 of these were tossed back to the presidents of the nine member schools for further action.

It was Jim Greengrass' circuit blow in the ninth that broke a 3-3 tie.

Rebel Victory

Yankees and rebels do it all over again in hand to hand combat at Brice's Cross roads near Baldwyn, Miss., in re-enactment of the famous Civil war battle won by confederate forces under Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest 90 years ago. Union forces were commanded by Gen. Samuel Sturgis. (NEA telephoto)

Officer Riding on Rocket Sled Hits 421-Mile-An-Hour Mark

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., June 10 (A)—A 43-year-old air force colonel reached a speed of 421 miles an hour on the ground—a record for a human—during recent tests at Holloman air force base here.

Lieut. Col. John P. Stapp, a veteran of aviation medical research, became the second human to go faster than 400 miles per hour on the ground, while riding a rocket-propelled sled. He did it in tests to determine the effect on fliers of falling out at very high altitudes and supersonic speeds.

"Things happen too fast to think about them at the time," Stapp said after the run.

For the surging start to sudden stop, the run over a 3,500-foot track takes just seven seconds.

The critical factor in the test is the effect of the braking on the passenger. Officials estimate that on the record run, Stapp's body underwent a pressure of 22 times the force of gravity and his body assumed the weight of 3,960 pounds.

"It was a fine ride," he said. "I feel a great sense of achievement. Completing this run got a load off my chest."

The only other human to top 400 miles per hour on the ground was John Cobb, who drove a race car at 403.135 miles per hour at Bonneville Salt flats, Utah, on Sept. 16, 1947.

Stapp, chief of the aero-medical field laboratory at Holloman air development center made the record run March 19 on his 27th sled ride.

The test sled, designed by Northrop Aircraft, Inc., Hawthorne, Calif., consists of two vehicles—the propulsion sled and the test vehicle. The propulsion sled carries 12 rockets, each with a thrust of 4,500 pounds. Six were used in the March test.

The two vehicles are mounted on special railroad tracks between which is a water trough five feet wide and 18 inches deep. Braking is achieved by controllable metal scoops under each vehicle which scoop up water from the trough.

In future tests, it is hoped to carry volunteers at speeds up to 800 miles per hour at this 4,092-foot altitude. Due to variations in air density at different altitudes, this would be the equivalent of 1,800 miles per hour at 40,000 feet.

Lawmen Slate Pony Express Races in Utah

OGDEN, June 10 (A)—The Pony Express race to Colorado Springs will get under way here at noon Monday when the first of the Weber County Sheriff's Mounted posse leaves, Willard Pingree, chairman, says.

The race between the Sheriff's posse from Weber county and the Wyandotte County Sheriff's posse from Kansas City, Kans., will follow the old Pony Express route from Ogden and Kansas City to Colorado Springs.

Begins in Afternoon.

The first of the Kansas City riders will leave at 2 p. m. Monday from the Railway Express office. The riders will meet in Colorado Springs where the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will be holding its convention.

The Railway Express agency announced Tuesday it would sponsor and take part in the race. The agency is today's counterpart and a direct descendant of the Pony Express, Wells Fargo and company.

Stations to Help

Seventy-two of the Railway Express offices along the 600-mile route will be available as relay stations.

A large outdoor map at the Antlers hotel in Colorado Springs will be provided to show the route covered by the two posses. It will also show the exact positions and elapsed time of each rider.
