

Senator Calls for Condemnation 'in last at McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (UPI)—Sen. John C. Stennis, D., of the senate today said Joseph R. McCarthy's conduct should be condemned "otherwise we adopt it as a standard."

A member of the special committee which recommended McCarthy's censure, Stennis said McCarthy's first words in the censure debate this week "were a condemnation of the whole thing."

Stennis was the first Democrat to deliver a full-dress speech in the censure debate. And it was the most impassioned speech against McCarthy so far.

He said McCarthy's "good" fighting committee "does not intend to destroy other good people or other members of the senate."

The Mississippi Democrat urged the senate to censure McCarthy for his "abuse of witness" and "moral conduct" of the senate.

He commended McCarthy for a "pattern" of behavior which included "abuse and more abuse, threats and more threats, and more threats."

Stennis said McCarthy's "subcommittee, even after a 60 to 10 vote by which Stennis said the senate affirmed its support of the subcommittee and its members."

Earlier, Sen. Herman Welker, R., of Idaho, said McCarthy's "conduct, which is a member of the censure committee described Dr. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker as having been "evasive and resentful."

However, the author of the censure bill said the senate had changed his mind about Zwicker after the censure bill was passed.

Zwicker "Abuse" to Point
The "abuse" of McCarthy at the censure hearing last Friday was one of the points on which the censure committee recommended that the Wisconsin senator be censured.

Welker, a McCarthy supporter, charged McCarthy's remarks in the hearing were "evasive and resentful."

Stennis said Zwicker had been "courteous and respectful." Johnson (Georgia) said Zwicker "was a gentleman."

These startling pictures depict dramatic escape from death in a New York City tenement fire. At left, a man dashes by his hands from third floor ledge as smoke billows from burning building. People in smoke-filled room at right also look for help and were later rescued by firemen. In picture at right the men had reached a lower floor ledge helps raise ladder so that woman above him can reach it. The fire, which spread through two buildings, killed one man and caused injury or smoke effects to at least five others. (AP Wirephoto.)

Rainfall Is General in Valley; Follows Dust

Any question of who was responsible for the rain that followed the duststorm in Magic Valley—nature or the cloud seeding project in the south hills—probably can be answered best by the weatherman who says, "a steady rain was falling throughout Idaho Friday."

Whether responsible for the rain or not, generators of the Consultants, Altadena, Calif., said the precipitation, the heavy rain, was the first for the generators which were ready for operation on Nov. 1.

The California concern has been hired by the Salmon River and Oakley-Central Valley Water Agency to study the water resources of the Magic Valley.

Germany's Cabinet Rejects Paris Pact Over Rearmaments

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 12 (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's rebellious coalition cabinet refused today to approve the German rearmament agreements negotiated recently in Paris.

The deadlocked cabinet referred the measures—including the highly controversial agreement on the coal-rich Saarland border area—to a five-man cabinet committee for further study. The deadlock developed suddenly and unexpectedly.

Adenauer had called his cabinet together to approve bills which were to have been submitted to the West German parliament for ratification of the measures which would restore German sovereignty.

Citizens Committee On Schools Okayed

Groundwork for organizing a citizens committee to work with the school board to meet the need for expanding school district facilities was laid at a directors' meeting of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday noon at the Rogerson Hotel.

Sterling Larson, chamber education committee chairman, was authorized to proceed with organization of the special committee.

The chamber education committee will meet Tuesday noon at the Rogerson hotel with the school board to discuss the organization of the citizens committee.

The action followed a report by the chamber education committee to the board of education for class A school district No. 411, that construction of a new elementary school is unavoidable.

Shirley noted a census by the chamber education committee of 1,600 students in 1959 showed 2,730 pre-school children. Need for 40 to 45 new classrooms by 1960 to meet "increasing school enrollment was forecast by Shirley who noted the figure does not take into consideration any growth in the city's population, only the "old statistics."

Original plans for the high school building which was 1,200 students in 1959, showed 1,600 students in 1960. Shirley noted the figure does not take into consideration any growth in the city's population, only the "old statistics."

Shirley estimated high school enrollment in 1960 would be 1,600 students in 1960. Shirley noted the figure does not take into consideration any growth in the city's population, only the "old statistics."

Peaceful Use of Atomic Energy Looms as Knot for Scientists

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Scientists are working to solve the problem of how to use atomic energy peacefully.

The experts don't know when it will arrive. They do a lot of guessing. Five years, 10, 25. But they don't know.

They don't know which country will get economic atomic power first—the United States, Russia, possibly France. The stakes are tremendous.

One pound of uranium, costing $100,000, yields the energy of 1,500 tons of coal costing about $100,000.

Palmer Putnam, consultant to the atomic energy commission, estimates "usable" coal and oil reserves will be gone in 70 years by "usable" means such that will produce power at no more than twice present prices.

But radioactive fuel—uranium and thorium—are abundant enough to last at least 10,000 years, according to Putnam's calculations.

So, on the theory that man will do whatever necessary to get energy for his gadgets and industries, experts believe atomic power certainly is on the way.

But the atom is omnipresent. It does not give up its energy easily. The engineering difficulties in harnessing its forces both safely and economically are enormous.

The atom has been put to work in submarine engines. But they are coal-oil-oil-object military projects and shed little light on the economics of peacetime power.

There will be no useful cost data in this country until five experimental atom bomb plants now being built have been in operation for some time. The plants are being built under a two hundred million dollar, three-year program launched recently by the AEC.

The first designed to produce about 5,000 kilowatts of electricity is expected to be in operation in 1956. A much larger one, expected to generate more than 60,000 kilowatts, will be completed in 1957.

Meanwhile, private industry, spurred by large to be in a wait-and-see mood, is waiting to let the government pick up the tab for the first experiments in atomic power.

It is no secret that some atomic experts are disappointed by industry's failure to get into the act. Dr. Lawrence B. Hulsizer, chief of the AEC's reactor division, recently told a group of industrialists at a meeting in New York.

"If industry was as aggressive as it should be," he asked, "why hasn't it come up with a plan to take advantage of the new law permitting private atomic development? We need action now."

If there's anything at all to atomic energy, let's not fiddle. Let's learn fast what the future holds."

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss believes "our children will enjoy in their homes electrical energy, too cheap to meter."

Atomic energy, already, has produced what Strauss and others call "incalculable" peacetime benefits for man. For example, radioactive research materials, a byproduct of the U. S. atomic project, are helping scientists close to solving the mystery of how plants transform sunlight into food. If that secret ever is finally broken, the atom will have redeemed itself.

But the big payoff will be atomic power. Because this country is rich in coal and oil, it lacks the economic incentive of some other countries for pushing nuclear energy development.

That is why some authorities believe Europe may win the atomic power race.

ROAD TO BE OPENED
IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The atomic energy commission reported it would open this Nov. 17 for construction of 21 miles of roadway at the National Reactor Testing station, at an estimated cost of $18,000,000.

Hepatitis Cases Bring Campaign

BOISE, Nov. 12 (AP)—An outbreak of life-threatening hepatitis cases since Nov. 1 to Emmett prompted local and state health authorities to launch a preventive program in the city's primary grades.

Dr. Stanley J. Leland, director of preventive medicine with the state public health department, said the control program was limited to the primary grades because the disease seemed most prevalent in the city to persons between the ages of 5 and 9.

Gamma globulin shots also were being given to family contacts, the doctor said.

Group Told Fund For Fish Needed

PORTLAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—Not enough money is going into planning to preserve Pacific northwest fisheries, the Pacific Northwest Governors' Power Policy committee has been told.

A subcommittee, appointed to study fishery problems, recommended that state legislatures, commercial fishing interests and sponsors of dam projects should supply funds for planning on fish and wildlife problems at proposed new dams.

Gov. Len Jordan, Idaho, who was the only governor in attendance, referred the matter to the separate states.

Head of European Group Will Resign

LUXEMBOURG, Nov. 12 (AP)—Jean Monnet announced yesterday he is resigning as top executive of the European coal and steel community.

—The Schumann plan, he said, he wanted "entire freedom of action and speech for the realization of European unity."

Monnet, 66, a leading French expert on international business and finance for more than a generation, fathered the community which Europeanized the coal and steel industries of six nations. His resignation as president of its high authority was a surprise. It takes effect next Feb. 10, when a new president and vice president will be elected.

Monnet has been president since the community went into business last year and undoubtedly could have been elected for another two years.

British Researcher Has Bad News for Man in Probes on Equality of Sexes

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Sir Adolphe Abraham, who set out to discover scientifically if women are really equal, came up today with the answer.

He is—and then some.

Sixty-one-year-old Sir Adolphe, president of the British Association of Medicine and Sport and honorary adviser to the British Olympic team since 1912, has this bad news for the male sex.

"The most unfortunate women are more overworked and the most underpaid—more frigid than the average men in merit."

"The most chaste of wives may also be the most sensual, but Adolphe continued, with the clear implication that when a man is sensual he is not likely to be chaste. But, he added, sensuality that nature didn't really intend man to be faithful to one woman, anyway."

Women rarely get delirium tremens, and males? Adolphe Adolphe, president of the British Association of Medicine and Sport, said that while men are less sensitive to cold, they are more susceptible to heat. Adolphe suggested that when it comes to mass murder, the male sex cannot hold a pinch of arsenic to such poisoners as the Marquis de Brinvilliers who slew hundreds of

The first few people that saw these towers apparently started a whispering campaign that spread as fast as a scandal story . . . anyway, we sold the entire lot in short order.

So good was this TOWER that we purchased all the remaining lot . . . three truck loads; 65,000 pounds—more towers than any other single dealer in the entire west.

If you are contemplating a TV installation and want the best possible reception, without the antenna on the roof, then this tower is the answer. The complete tower weighs 540 pounds, comes knocked down, with everything included . . . even wrenches to assemble—touch-up paint—a 10' high pole—and an instruction manual that's equal to a college education on towers. We have made installations up to 160 feet high.

Envoy of U. S. Gives Papers In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Israel, Nov. 12 (AP)—The U. S. ambassador to Israel presented his credentials in Jerusalem today, despite Arab claims that the act would violate the United Nations resolution making Jerusalem an international city.

The Arab nations have charged that Israel is bent on making the holy city capital of Israel instead of Tel Aviv and that the American ambassador's presentation of credentials in Jerusalem constitutes a violation of the plan. The Arab holy city is the Israeli plan.

New Ambassador Edward D. Lawson called on President Shimon Peres and presented his credentials with the declaration that Israeli-American friendship is important to the free world.

Lawson expressed pride at the United States' decision to pull out of Israel and said it not only was the land of the Bible but a nation occupying a key position in the modern world.

Britain has joined the American decision to have its ambassador present his credentials in Jerusalem, where the Israeli government maintains its foreign office.

Lord Reading told the "anxious" archbishop of York in the house of lords in London today that Britain regarded this as an act of "convenience and courtesy," not a sign of abandonment of the holy city decision to internationalize the holy city.

Margaret's Journey to Cinema Causes British People to Talk

By ALVIN STEINKOFF

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Just imagine you are a lively 24-year-old girl living in London.

You're a dandy and dandy Sunday. You have to turn on the light in the middle of the afternoon.

If you were just any 24-year-old girl, earning your living typing in an office, you could give that pony tail haircut a swipe with a comb, slip on a macintosh and go to the movies.

But Margaret, a young girl just that, and manage to survive a gloomy afternoon. There are thick, wet, cold, and miserable weather in Oxford street.

You had better do nothing of the kind if you are Princess Margaret. She ventured last Sunday to join that damp crush in Oxford street, and now there is a public dinner about her.

Princess Margaret, it seems, broke a royal tradition. Conspiring with her in this act of rashness were her lady-in-waiting, Miss Irish Burke, and two young women.

Members of the royal family may engage in a lot of spirited activities, such as shooting quail, drinking champagne for lunch, playing polo any day, and betting on the races. But members of the royal family do not go to the movies on Sunday.

The princess went to see something rather new in London—a method of projection known as cinema.

Principals Meet

About 15 principals from Magic Valley attended the first annual state conference of the Idaho Association of Secondary School Principals Monday in Boise.

John Platt, Twin Falls, association president, reports 90 per cent of school children of Idaho were represented by some 70 principals who attended the day-long meeting.

Two newspapers not excited for a couple of columns apiece, and Margaret quivered with gossip. Margaret had been to church, and because it was HONORANCE Sunday, she had been down in Whitehall to stand by reverently while her sister, Queen Elizabeth, honored the men and women who had lost their lives in war. Then in the afternoon she went to the movies.

Theater managers were interviewed, and they said, "tradition shattering." "What a surprise," it must have been uncivilized, and "Tut-tut and to-hi-hi."

The objection to royalty's going to movies on Sunday is inspired largely by the conservative elements among English churchmen, whose influence is great. The population is reminded constantly that the sovereign is the defender of the faith, and that the Lord's day must be respected.

But curiously, while Margaret is being talked about for breaking tradition, the Church of England is

Woman Gives Whole Estate For Stranger

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP)—An Oshkosh dressmaker who has left her relatives neglected here has left an estate of nearly $100,000 to a man she knew for only four hours.

A settlement reached yesterday gave Joseph Kogut, Currier, N. Y., the bulk of Margaret Jorgensen's estate—$97,000.

Kogut and Miss Jorgensen met in Chicago hotel elevator four years ago. They started talking, had lunch together, and parted.

Miss Jorgensen, once a prominent dressmaker here, died July 11, 1951, at the age of 68 without ever seeing Kogut again. But they had corresponded and he had made Kogut the sole beneficiary.

The dressmaker's relatives contested the will, charging Kogut exercised undue influence. The settlement reached here allocated $81,000 of the estate to awards and claims, but still gave Kogut the lion's share.

Attorney Walter A. Fairs, Twin Falls, said Kogut would net $40,000 after taxes.

Foreclosure Suit Started in Court

GOODING, Nov. 12—M. Tremble, Deliah K. Tremble, Geo. McCas, Jane Doe McCas, Boise Payette Lumber company, and United States were named defendants in a suit filed Tuesday by First Federal Savings and Loan association, Twin Falls, in district court here.

The plaintiff seeks judgment for $25,120.95, plus interest since Aug. 1 at six and one-half per cent, $300 attorney fees, the amount of taxes on the mortgaged property with eight per cent interest per year since commencement of the action and costs of the suit.

"The plaintiff claims" the sums are a lien on mortgaged property in Wendell and says that the mortgage be foreclosed and a decree of sale be issued by the sheriff of Gooding county.

Parry, Keenan, Robertson, and Daly, Twin Falls, are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Booked

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP)—He's anything but a bookworm when it rains. Even when it doesn't rain.

Police officers Edward Holden and M. D. Polk reported they picked up a two-foot alligator yesterday on Wilshire Boulevard at Bedford drive during a storm.

Holden said the beast bit him, so he booked "Joe Alligator" for assault and battery.

The officers said they had no idea where the baby alligator came from, but they expected it will be incinerated soon. They sent Joe to the SPCA.

U. S. Denies Polar Region Test Site

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The United States yesterday flatly denied a report that it plans to test its bombs in the Antarctic.

The atomic energy commission said then it built in the report. Later, the state department also issued a denial and commended it to the U. S. embassy in New Zealand for delivery to the New Zealand government.

Continuance For Business Spurt Is Seen

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A growing number of industrial leaders are saying that the current pickup in business should carry over into the new year.

Predictions of sustained output and better sales are coming from many sides—steel, auto, oil, chemicals, railroads, electrical appliances—tires and tools.

These forecasts of better times include no claims for seasonal gains next year, but most of them insist that the present slow betterment should not be allowed to slip away.

The industrial leaders, for the most part, are talking about their own individual fields. But there are some general forecasts to back up.

Evidence of a change for the better continues to pour in. Inventory "drawings" to a close, and in September there was a slight increase in total inventories to be reported this year. Freight loadings are picking up, reflecting more activity at the mills and factories, and promising that the railroad and earnings picture this year may be recovered in the final months.

Need of Dams By Northwest Cited by Aide

SPOKANE, Nov. 12 (UP)—Interior Secretary Douglas McKay said last night the Eisenhower administration would make local interests—both private and public—to get busy building dams to avert a northwest power shortage.

"It is necessary that someone start thinking about getting these dams started," he said.

McKay, here to address a convention of the National Orange Association, said he is particularly eager to see construction started on private rapid dam on the Columbia river. He added he believes the Grant county public utility district can handle the job.

The state power commission has protested the PUD's ability to do the job although the federal power commission has granted it a preliminary permit.

McKay was optimistic on the outlook of the nation, and declared the outcome of the election does not mean a setback for the administration.

He pointed to the closeness of the election, and commented that more votes in each party in Oregon would have reflected Sen. Guy Cordon.

Cordon lost out to his Democratic rival, Richard Neuberger.

No Armed Conflict Seen by Historian

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12 (UP)—Arnold Shurtleff, one of the world's foremost historians, thinks there will be no war between the United States and Russia, although he expects the "cold war" to continue for some time.

Shurtleff, here to address the American Philosophical society, said in an interview that he is "optimistic" about current international affairs and likened them to the medieval "cold war" but that he does not see the present situation winding up with "no action" ending.

Shurtleff said competition would increase between the west and communism to win the peoples of Asia and Africa to "their way of life." He warned that Russia holds a slight edge in the "cold war" but that he ought not to be frightened with the competition.

Convicted Soldier Begins Jail Term

SP. CROWDER, Mo., Nov. 12 (UP)—Capt. Claude J. Batchelor, Kermitt, Mo., was sentenced to 20 years in the Missouri state penitentiary for having been in the disciplinary barracks at Ft. Crowder yesterday for having been in the barracks for a year and a half in North Korea.

The 27-year-old Batchelor was sentenced to life in prison for a court martial which found him guilty of desertion from the army.

Batchelor was arrested by J. D. White, fourth army commander, who was flown to Ft. Crowder yesterday.

Batchelor's trial must be reviewed by the army judge advocate general's office in Washington, D.C., and the military appeals court, composed of civilians, to look at it too.

Florists Choose Officers by Vote

McCALL, Nov. 12 (UP)—George O'Leary, Jr., Water, was elected president of the Idaho State Florists' association yesterday, succeeding Mel White, Lewiston.

Other officers elected, as the group ended a three-day convention, were: Elmer Miller, Buhl, first vice president; George M. Taylor, Idaho Falls, second vice president; Chet Nissen, Coeur d'Alene, third vice president; Cecil Ward, Pocatello, treasurer, and R. D. Nadeau, Boise, secretary.

Shoshone, Idaho, Shoshone, state 4-H home beautification winner, gave a demonstration before approximately 100 florists.

Resort Facilities Opened in State

LAVA HOT SPRINGS, Nov. 12 (UP)—New facilities built this summer at the Lava Hot Springs resort are finished and in operation, Max Cook, director of the Lava Hot Springs foundation, declared yesterday.

Cook said the facilities have not been formally opened, however, He said dedication probably will be delayed until next spring.

The new facilities include a building 40 by 60 feet, which encloses and has facilities for individual bathing in the resort's hot mineral waters. In connection with the building is a new pool, which has an open bottom, through which the hot spring water rises.

The improvements were built with $100,000 appropriation granted by the state legislature. The resort is owned by the state of Idaho.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

A walk on any street of any town, in this country affords a saddening picture to one concerned about the character training of children. For the children one sees are untrained. Many of them are wearing a gun on each side with a scowl in their faces. It is disgusting to see this attempt at a mischievous smile on an innocent child's face.

Worse still is the influence this age of reflection and judgment. Through it he learns to live with others as they live. When small boys learn that all small boys carry guns, they learn to carry guns. When small girls learn that all small girls wear makeup, they learn to wear makeup. When small boys learn that all small boys play gang wars, they learn to play gang wars. When small girls learn that all small girls wear makeup, they learn to wear makeup. When small boys learn that all small boys play gang wars, they learn to play gang wars. When small girls learn that all small girls wear makeup, they learn to wear makeup.

Only once have I seen anyone turn on the playful gun and it was the day a soldier on furiously was walking along the street in deep thought. A small boy dashed out from a driveway, poked a toy machine gun into the soldier's ribs. The soldier was so unprepared that he was startled that the young soldier jumped back. Then with equal audacity he poked the machine gun into the soldier's ribs. The soldier was so unprepared that he was startled that the young soldier jumped back. Then with equal audacity he poked the machine gun into the soldier's ribs. The soldier was so unprepared that he was startled that the young soldier jumped back.

French Chief Moves to Cut Liquor Uses

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Premier Mendes-France, a milk drinker, fired off a barrage of measures Wednesday designed to ease France's record as the hardest drinking country in the world.

The new rules—some go into effect immediately—might not improve a bone-dry prohibitionist, but they threaten to raise a storm in France.

The regulations announced after a cabinet meeting where President Rene Coty presided.

Spirits can not be sold between 8 and 10 a. m.

Liquor taxes are raised 30 percent.

The number of bars and home distillers will be limited.

Cafes must close at least one day a week.

Habitual drunkards face jail sentences up to three months.

Most of the new regulations require parliamentary approval. Deputies could make any one of them a law.

Wine Still Okay

Assurance went out, however, to the predominantly wine-drinking population of France. Earlier in the day Agriculture Minister Roger Houet said the government planned no campaign against wine.

He explained wine makes the French mind "clear and sharp."

Houet told an audience of wholesale wine merchants the government is only after drinks and bootleggers.

Mendes-France doesn't spurn an occasional glass of wine himself.

But he considers "drinking one of the country's worst scourges."

He has publicly urged less drinking during working hours to increase France's production.

Pony Calls Aid To Injured Pal Netted in Wire

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 12.—A Missoula man, his son and a companion insist this story is true.

S. F. Howard, his son, William, and another hunter were looking for pheasants in the Lower Flathead river.

Young Howard entered a field and a large pinto horse ran up to him.

Howard tried to get the field a second time. The pinto came back this time running in a partial circle past the hunter and over to another horse.

The three followed the pinto to the bay horse and found it entangled in a live wire and barbed wire fence.

While they freed the wounded animal, the pinto stood by.

And do you know," said Howard, "the only way we got the bay horse free, the pinto paid no more attention to us."

Peron Lashes at Church Actions

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 12.—(UPI)—Juan D. Peron, president of Argentina, lashed Catholic bishops Wednesday of waging a campaign against his regime.

Declaring he did not blame the church, the president said the three bishops were "enemies of the government."

In a speech also accusing two Italian priests of working against the state and the "Catholic action" movement of trying to undermine his Peronist movement, Peron said his government will take measures against priests and all organizations which indulge in "illicit activities."

Envious Columnist Says Life Of Sea-Going Publisher Fine

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—When I get rich, I want to operate like "Waddy" Wood. He does his thinking and writing aboard a yacht.

W. Wade Wood is publisher of two magazines. One of them is the "Small Home Guide." The other is called "Home Modernizing."

Take a cruise with Waddy. As it did and you'll find him at work in his 50-foot vessel with two diesel engines and a down the river, or on the sea.

Aboard there are three heads for as we say on land, "ladies."

There is a shower.

And there is the lovely Mrs. Wood.

Down below, there are filling sails and enough fresh water to take care of the cooking and bathing.

"It's down below that 'Waddy' does most of his work."

His "library" is his thinking room. And it is nothing for him to wake up in the dark of night and jar an editor or a correspondent out of a sound sleep to give him an idea for a story.

Tough man, that "Waddy." He doesn't stand for much backtalk.

"Waddy," who never built a house in his life, is a student of architecture and knows what he wants in his magazines.

Cross-Nation Trek Started by Woman

BANFORD, Mont., Nov. 12.—A tired of living alone, a 63-year-old Maine woman has started across country to California on horseback.

Mrs. Anna Wilkins left her hill-top farm in West-Minor, without fanfare or farewell last Saturday on her 9-year-old horse, Taran, accompanied by a dog. She passed through Stanford yesterday having covered about 50 miles.

Annie, who said she lived alone 25 years, became ill recently and was forced to sell much of her property.

Life in West-Minor didn't hold much for her any more, so she decided to visit California.

RETURNS HOME

WENDELL, Nov. 12.—Mrs. R. O. Ward returned Wednesday from Payette where she visited Mr. and Mrs. James Christian and family.

What every good cook knows:

Just a little difference in ingredients makes a big difference in cooking results

Snowdrift is just a little lighter than any other shortening—and that can make the big difference in giving your family lighter, more digestible foods.

Snowdrift is pre-whipped just a little longer than ordinary shortenings. That can make the big difference in quicker and better blending for perfect texture every time.

Snowdrift's ingredients are just a little cooler than any other solid shortening's (yet you pay no more). That can make the big difference in better tasting foods, whether baked or fried.

No other shortening at any price is so creamy, so digestible—and so light!
