TUCKER'S NATIONAL WINTERIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—Although the prospect of premium vacuum-packed coffee at 90 cents a pound may delight American housewives and their families, the accompanying loss of revenue to 10 state and central American coffee departments. A cheaper breakfast drink here may mean communist deal theories.

The price break, which will not be reflected at retail stores for a month or more, results from a combination of factors. The major contribution was the unsuccessful attempt of coffee-growing countries and politicians, especially in Brazil, to violate the supply-and-demand laws through government manipulation, reminiscent of certain new deal theories.

Another factor was American resentment and boycott of excessive prices, which led to greater consumption of tea, milk and low-stimulating beverages.

STATE DEPARTMENT CONCERNED—Built a third case was the condemnation of the so-called coffee squeeze by congressional committees and the federal trade commission. The committee specifically blamed South American exporters and American importers. The PTO cited the New York Coffee Exchange as a violator of the law. Although the delay in holding hearings indicates that the case will be disposed of through compromise.

State's current concern derives from renewed communist charges that American "imperialist" forces are driving the price of coffee down to a level of 20 to 30 percent of those countries' total national revenue. Guatemala, where we had to provide a loan, provides three percent of the world's coffee supply.

Brazil, our friendliest neighbor in this distraught area, may go bankrupt as a result of the fall in price. It is not clear just how serious this may be political poison for us below the Rio Grande.

TAX INCREASE POSSIBLE—Ironically, our savings from cheaper coffee may be taken off from the pockets of higher taxes. If resulting economic distress produces communist advances near the Panama canal and domestic revolts, the United States will be unable to pay for its currently small contributions to these countries.

The cost will not figure in the coffee bill at the grocery, but it will show up in the income tax report. The interplay of economic and political forces these days extends from American kitchens to South and Central American coffee plantations, and from the state department to the Kremlin.

POLITICS ALERT—The experience of Brazil provides certain clinching comments on government interference with private trade and enterprise. The mounting price of coffee advocates 90 or 100 percent support of farm prices.

The great postwar appetite for coffee led Rio de Janeiro politicians to try to cash in on their major source of revenue. The result was a coffee shortage. They raised the export duty to 90 cents a pound, which meant $130 bill of $140 of American retail.

DROP IN EXPORTS—Exports dropped from $1.5 million in 1951 to $1 million in 1952. Brazilian warehouses, like our own, bulged with unsalable coffee. Competing countries lowered their export charges.

Rio cut its export tariff to 87 cents, then to 87 cents, and within the last week has reduced it to 53 cents. It is this abandonment of government manipulation which would undoubtedly bring the price of coffee to 80 or 90 cents for the best grades, and to 75 or 70 cents for lower quality.

Meanwhile, farm surpluses owned by the U. S. amount to almost 7 billion dollars. If surplus was as true of Brazil's coffee, nobody can afford to buy them or, near the price which Uncle Sam has paid for them.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

I hereby predict that if John Harlan Hareyan becomes a justice of the supreme court, his decision on racial segregation will conform to the decision of the majority. I have handed down and to the chief program of the President who nominated him. In turn, got from the subject of the Democratic party in New York. The quality of the Supreme Court's decision is not quite so bad as it could not be worse. It is about the best that any honest person can say for it. Nor is it any compliment to Harlan to say that he would not further degrade it.

Neither, however, would he improve it. For he is, on the strength of the staff-attached to his behalf, an equal replacement of the late Robert Jackson, who eagerly obliged his leader by attacking his vestments and lynching a lot of Germans who were no more guilty of "war crimes" than Eisenhower would have been by the same reasoning had the Nazis been confirmed to win a victory which saved his skin.

It is no hazard at all to predict further that Harlan, if confirmed, will favor the United Nations and reject the principles of the Bricker proposals just as Jackson, sharing a bench with the Russian war criminal, ignored Robert Taft's protests against impoverished and retrograde law conjured out of malice and vanity. Such interference for the present court is not original with me.

Judge John C. Rehn, of the southern district of New York, said in 1943: "It is true that some of the Douglas became the honored guest of Douglas, Jack Murphy and Frankfurter give me feelings of both apprehension and concern. Had I been sitting with them in the consideration of many of their cases, my decisions would not have coincided with their reversals. Who can forecast the verdict that posterity will bring?"

This latter dilution of a statement which seemed to stifle Kirk himself by its sound of moral courage, fortifies the criticism of the whole Federal bench-down to the Justice little kangaroo courts of the "Frankfurter did no little to inflict on a public so bewildered that he even the editors knew that we were being cheated of our days in court."

Who came what verdict posterity will bring?

What has posterity got to do with a dirty deal inflicted on a living American today by a bunch of hypocritical bigots whose party holds that the man has a right to deceit and

Octopuses Can Swim Backwards Swiftly

Did you know that... In all the world, every day, about 100 cubic miles of water fall in dew, rain, snow or hail. This averages out about 1 1/2 million tons of rain every second.

Several birds are dependent in their habits and general intelligence on the water. Some female octopuses, for example, are known to be able to swim backwards as fast as they can. This is a very unusual habit for a cephalopod.

A dragonfly found in France, measured more than two feet across its outstretched wings. The common larkspur can poison itself.

Tide, however, small, exist in all lakes. The range between high and low tide in Lake Michigan, at Chicago, is just under two inches.

During violent exercise the heart of the human athlete can pump three times as much blood per minute as it expels during bodily rest. To perform this work, it requires about one-fourth of the blood it expels because the heart's oxygen consumption during such violent exercise is nearly equal to the total oxygen-usage of the whole body at rest.

Bats prevent damage to rafters soon after Knox wrote his qualified disapproval, actually needed Alger Hiss and Les Freeland, among many, into the federal government and planted Henry L. Blumenthal as secretary of war. These are normal activities for a choleraed monk in that temple of justice up the hill. Knox could have gone further out on that limb but he screwed his back from even this timid venture and one scans the book reams for vain for a final chapter with gut in it.

The contrast between gruesome reality and the beautiful ideal is revealed in any lawyer's knowledge of the political and social hatred which animates most of the federal bench today, as compared with this by Knox in 1943:

"The very essence of the American system is liberty guarded by the law. A people have vested their sovereignty in the law with the idea of creating a ruler above the human weakness of partially or passion." The hall will grab the big man who just purges their life and blow those raspberries at U.S. Judge John C. Knox.

HOW ABOUT ECONOMY?

When there is every reason to the state to be economy minded; at least to the extent of concerning itself only with activities, a policy upheld to creditably by former Gov. Len Jordan, it's rather disconcerting to note the ease with which the present legislature is increasing the tax load.

Senate passage of a bill appropriating $200,000 to reactivate Northern Idaho College of Education surely falls into a questionable category, for instance. This action probably came as a result of a prolonged and bitter fight waged in north Idaho rather than in recognition of any actual need for the institution itself.

It has been argued at great length that the state needs the two normal schools which were closed as an economy measure during the Jordan administration, but there never has been any conclusive evidence that the teachers graduated from these institutions remain in Idaho in sufficient numbers to justify the expense of maintaining the schools. Those opposed to reopening the normal schools contended that paying the teachers higher salaries would come closer to solving the teacher shortage problem with less actual expense.

The move to increase the cost of auto license plates from the present $5 fee to $15, a sum running from $50 to $175.50, depending on the age of the car, is probably justified in itself. There is no denying that the present $5 license charge is too low, but when we recall that Governor Smylie extended the deadline for approximately 10 days to relieve the "hardships" imposed on those having to buy their license plates, it is not surprising that the legislature can reconcile this inconsistency.

Coupled with an increased tax on cigarettes and any other levies which can be considered is the 15 percent increase in state income tax which the people of Idaho will have to pay as a result of the legislature knocking out a deduction of that amount which has been in effect for the last five years.

When we're faced with such real needs as an enlarged state police force to cope with the most disgraceful increase in traffic fatalities in the United States; for instance, it would seem that the legislature would attach more importance to saving human lives than to reopening a state normal school for a questionable purpose.

We can't afford the luxury of a sprawling out-of-control budget. The legislature during the Jordan administration. It's going to be a heavy enough burden to take care of the actual needs in our educational system without bowing to regional demands for selfish purposes.

TIME TO DRAW A LINE

The strangeness placed on the Republican administration by civil service coverage of political appointments came to light in Boise recently. Harold Ellsworth, appointed savings bond director under the Democrats, was notified that he had been replaced. Mr. Ellsworth, who had been in the position since he was covered under civil service. His contention was correct.

Washington had the last word in the Boise appointment but only by ordering Mr. Ellsworth to resign. Ellsworth was an assistant in Philadelphia, an assignment that he never even civil service will make too attractive next August when the legislature has authorized Mr. Ellsworth to be replaced. He would not be fired since he was covered under civil service. His contention was correct.

It would seem reasonable to suggest that the President, in his capacity as chief executive officer in government, to a degree that policy-making is affected, would be able to work out civil service disaffection with the congress, and the courts. If this is done we will live to see an enormous group of federal civil service pensioners who will either require the continuation of unneeded agencies in order that their jobs be continued or else be paid for idleness. A government appointment, if it is of the nature of a job, is not an appointment at all. It is a duty of the civil service.

There is no justification for allowing civil service coverage in instances like the selling of war bonds. Continued, everyone in the country will be working for the government, and no one will be left to pay the bill—Boles Blumenthal.

THREE ARE TOO MANY TAXES

A bill proposing a state withholding tax on income has been introduced in the Idaho legislature and may soon become a law.

We, as a small business firm, oppose it. It's proponents claim it will capture some money that is now slipping away from persons who just don't report income to the state.

Maybe it will do that—but it will also put one more bundle of straw on the backs of businessmen who are already overloaded with bookkeeping chores for the government. Many of them are already being asked to afford an accountant or an accounting department, but for the small business it is but one more maze of a tangle of red tape.

There is another weakness in the "withholding" principle in addition to the extra bookkeeping load. It is taking virtually painless for the payer. Concerned only with the take-home pay, he doesn't know what he's doing. He's just getting a check. Once a year he receives a slip showing the withholding, but after a moment, even that is forgotten. It causes pain in the time it was withheld, there is little protest.

We have far too many "painless" taxes anyway. The tax on gasoline, cigarettes, entertainment, etc. etc., is included in the price so it isn't noticed. Many people don't even know, for example, just how much tax there is on every single gallon of gasoline they purchase. If they were to get a bill for the amount of each year for the amount of tax on gasoline, the cry of anguish would shake the pillars in the statehouse.

Property taxpayers do get such a statement and it uses a lot of ink on governing units by extracting them from getting below the bounds of reason. In most cases, hidden taxes claim an average larger tax bite but it's with no notice.

Patience and wait! Or is it—Minkola County News.

Harold Ellsworth, appointed savings bond director under the Democrats, was notified that he had been replaced. Mr. Ellsworth, who had been in the position since he was covered under civil service. His contention was correct.

Washington had the last word in the Boise appointment but only by ordering Mr. Ellsworth to resign. Ellsworth was an assistant in Philadelphia, an assignment that he never even civil service will make too attractive next August when the legislature has authorized Mr. Ellsworth to be replaced. He would not be fired since he was covered under civil service. His contention was correct.

It would seem reasonable to suggest that the President, in his capacity as chief executive officer in government, to a degree that policy-making is affected, would be able to work out civil service disaffection with the congress, and the courts. If this is done we will live to see an enormous group of federal civil service pensioners who will either require the continuation of unneeded agencies in order that their jobs be continued or else be paid for idleness. A government appointment, if it is of the nature of a job, is not an appointment at all. It is a duty of the civil service.

There is no justification for allowing civil service coverage in instances like the selling of war bonds. Continued, everyone in the country will be working for the government, and no one will be left to pay the bill—Boles Blumenthal.

2 INCHES LOWER but just as much headroom!

As cars are built lower, what happens to headroom? For the most satisfactory answer this year, slide into a '55 Mercury—one of the lowest cars on the road. You won't even brush your hat! Mercury has a newly designed low-slung chassis—longer in wheelbase and wider in track—to accommodate one of the lowest interiors in the industry!

While you're inside America's Most Advanced New Car, notice the new Full-Scope windshield with 17% more glass area. Then turn the key. A new "Super-Torque" V-8 engine gets you into action instantly. New Fast-Action Merc-O-Matic—one of your power options—provides a split-second link between wishes and wheels. Drive the new 198 h.p. Mercury Monclair. You'll never be content with your present car again!

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

"Our little son, aged 3 1/2, is worrying us because he does not want to play with other children his age. When we send him out to play he hands over his toys to the others and just sits and watches. When we play with him he hands us the ball or the truck and watches us use them. But he will only join in for a minute or so and then sits back to watch."

This child is intelligent and in sound health. Examination by the family physician discloses no relationship. Then why not let him watch? Some children seem to need to look on at a safe distance while others play until they gain assurance enough to join in the fun.

Young ones of this age are likely to get excited and become rough when playing some of the active games like tag, hide and seek, squirrels in a tree. They run blindly into each other, shove each other and don't stop to see what happened to the one they bumped. That frightens the more timid and they stay on the sidelines to watch for a while. In time, when they are more experienced they join up with them.

Still we must remember that a few children never do want to play with their group but prefer to watch for a while and then go off by themselves to "read or work" with their blocks,inker toys and the like. There is nothing to fear about this attitude in a child so long as he is interested in other people, in some form of

Leona B. Meyer Richardson Wed

Leona Betty Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Val Meyer, and Charles Alton Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Richardson, were united in marriage Saturday evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. J. P. Smith, fourth ward LDS church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony before lighted chandeliers and baskets of anapans.

The bride wore a pink Galleteria length gown with her pink fingertip veil held in place by a matching seed pearl headpiece. She carried a white lace-covered Bible and an orchid. She was given in marriage by her father.

Joan Meyer was maid of honor for her sister, attired in a navy blue ballroom length gown.

Beverly Richardson, sister of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. Donna McDeWall played the wedding music.

Mrs. Robert Nelson presided at the guest book. Miss Richardson duplicated the gifts.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Wedding cake was served from a silk-covered table flanked by pink and white tapers in crystal candle holders. Mrs. Nelson served the punch. Miss Richardson was the cake.

The new Mrs. Richardson attended school in California and is employed at Kett's drive-in in the Twin Falls area.

Richardson was graduated from Twin Falls high school in 1945 and served with the navy during World War II. He attended Idaho State college, Pocatello, and the University of Washington, Seattle, and later served four more years in the navy.

Following a wedding trip to Salt Lake City the couple will reside in Twin Falls.

Trney Roundup

By The Associated Press
The National Invitation League basketball tournament was held Monday with the NIT expected to announce its winners for its Madison Square Garden event.
The NCA, appeared to get the better of the crowd because the 15 conference winners across the nation are required to play in its tournament. The NIT has had to take the left-over representatives of whom had poor records.

This season a crazy, mixed-up crowd for the colleges—the NIT could come up with the better tourney. The Garden already has lured Dayton, Duquesne and Cincinnati into the fray, and is on the level for as many more of the top independents as it can grab off before the NCAA gets down to serious business.

Marquette which boasts a winning streak of 16 games against all other teams in the country is the only school in the NCAA field of 24 so far and it appeared that the NCAA might be making a somewhat weaker offer to the NIT. It rarely selects any of its nine all-large teams so early.

All other teams are expected to be in the NIT. It is an advantage where the independents are concerned. Rather than wait for an all-league bid to the NCA which may be a long haul, the at-large teams in the NCAA tournament must play first round games while most of the first-round games will be played in the home arena.

For a long time the NIT will go to San Francisco, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll. The third team would come from the NCAA as an all-large representative if they win their lossy organized California conference title.

The three teams the NIT will announce Monday probably will come from among the Eastern powers. Manhattanite, the runner-up, is about the best of the New York schools, probably will get a call to inject some local interest in the event.

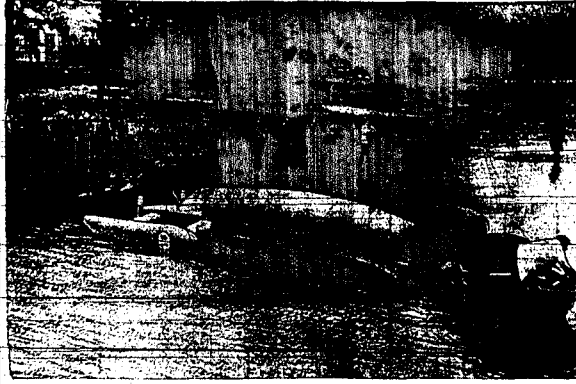

The other two likely to be Holy Cross (15-4), winner of the tournament, and the machine of coach Jim McLaughlin. The other two likely to be Holy Cross (15-4), winner of the tournament, and the machine of coach Jim McLaughlin.

Army's Blanchard-Davis Combination Draws Praise to Convince Skeptics

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The only team to lose Army's football team into a New Year's day bowl game now and then is that it wasn't done about a decade ago so that a few fans outside this part of the country could have seen the great Doc Blanchard-Olen Davis backfield combination in action.

Because it wasn't done at that time, those who did marvel at the flash and precision of those two machines of coach Stan Stutz are stuck forever with the job of trying to convince millions of skeptics that they were denied the opportunity of seeing the best college team ever.

They look skeptical and want to know who those so-called "war-time" Army teams of 1944-46 were best and who it was that Blanchard and Davis ran over and around except a lot of service rejects and down-chinned juveniles. You can't convince them that "Mr. Inside" and "Mr. Outside" and their almost teammates would have been marvellous to behold in any season the game began.

We happen to know, of course, that they would have, but things would be a lot easier when we start describing Blanchard as a greater all-around fullback than Brantko Nagurski a few more of our sports writing friends of the south and west had watched the 200-pounder burst a line apart or throw a block. They do not even know that Doc, by repeated test, was a faster man for the first 30 yards than Davis, who was a 60-yard sprint champion.

We always think that, in lowering the opposition which was moved down by Blaik's mokin' masterpiece, the unbelievers overlook an important point. But for the unusual circumstances which drew the cream of the football crop to West Point, the athletes who made up the great team might have been scattered over a dozen or more schools.

McCall Skiers Edged Out On Team Title at Jackson

JACKSON, Wyo., Feb. 14 (AP)—Frank Brown led a group of skiers from McCall to top spots in all events of the Jackson-Wilson Invitational high school ski meet over the week-end, but disqualification kept the Idahoans from winning the team title.

It went instead to Jackson—with 1,066 points. McCall was second and East High of Salt Lake City was third. The disqualification was on a Saturday event. Brown, the 1954 national junior downhill champion, placed first in every one of the boys' events. He won the downhill Saturday, and on Sunday racked up 238 form points with leaps of 104, 105 and 108 feet to win the jump. He also took the boys slalom Sunday with a combined two-run time of 52.23 seconds.

McCall skiers took third, fourth and fifth behind him in the slalom, and second, third and fourth in the jump. All four of the McCall jumping leaders—coached by Corey Engen—beat the 95-foot record for the King Mountain club. They were David Betts, second; Bill Brandenburg, third; Stan Harwood, fourth; and Harwood was disqualified for third place in Saturday's downhill run when he missed a gate the other skiers made successfully. During a meeting Saturday night, officials ruled against a charge the gate was not the 95-foot record for the King Mountain club. Harwood's placement was removed from the team score.

Sunday's slalom Brown was followed by Jackson's Dick Dougherty and Stan Harwood, Brandenburg and Harwood. Jackson's Jennine Driskell won the girls slalom Sunday with a combined time of 107.4. Betty Lou Sims of Salt Lake's East was second in the slalom.

Jim Douglas, Twin Falls, placed second with 1:12 in the Boyd downhill event Saturday. Brown topped the running with 1:12. Dwyer won all the major eastern indoor miles in 1954. A Williams senior but was unable to beat Santee of Kansas or Denmark's Gunnar Nielsen this year until Saturday night's Baxter mile. Before that Madison Square Garden race, Dwyer said, "I can beat them both."

He did. And it was one of the most humiliating details ever suffered by the red-haired Dane, holder of the world indoor mile mark of 4:03.8, and the cocky Santee, fastest mile in U.S. track history. Dwyer, who used his head as well as his legs, coasted home almost half a lap ahead of Nielsen. The 4:03.2 clocking was a new meet mark for the feature of the New York Athletic club, and Santee was third, with Lowell Zellers of Indiana fourth and Dick Olsen of Northwestern university fifth.

"It was a foolish pace. As soon as I heard the quarter time announced, I knew we were going too fast and dropped back," Dwyer said. "I think Santee is finished for the season. I think he has burnt himself out trying for records."

BOMBERS WIN 9-7
SEATTLE, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Seattle Bombers gained 9-7 win over the New Westminster Cubs in a first round Northwest Amateur Hockey league playoff game here last night after Nick Nanchuch tied the score at 7-7 with three seconds of the regulation period.

One more win will give them the title. Their last game of the season is Friday, when they entertain Twin Falls. But the Braves won't need it. Twin Falls Friday at Nampa loses to Pocatello on Thursday. Such a loss would hand Boise the crown. Nampa ends its season at Idaho Falls Friday.

The Bulldogs have a 5-3 season record, and they kept their slim hopes alive with a 35-30 win over Twin Falls last week. No other team has a chance for the crown. Last-place Caldwell ends its season at Pocatello Friday and Idaho Falls Saturday. The Cougars lost to Twin Falls 44-38 and to Boise 61-37 last week.

Twin Falls plays at Jerome Saturday in a nonconference game.

Famed Director's Design for Uniforms Intrigues Columnist

By HENRY McLEMORE
 Twin Falls is well known for its famous director, the design of uniforms for the United States Army. The uniforms designed by Cecil B. DeMille would be worn at the new force academy, it has been reported, and the uniforms are being made in the city.

DeMille has designed uniforms for the United States Army, and the uniforms are being made in the city. The uniforms are being made in the city, and the uniforms are being made in the city.

GOPs and Ike Discuss Plans For Meetings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—President Eisenhower meets today with Republican party strategists to discuss the time and place of the 1956 party convention. It is likely he will be nominated for a second term.

Mr. Eisenhower returned yesterday from a weekend at the Thomasville, Ga., estate of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey. He bagged two quail and a common cold.

Resigns Huddie
Republican National Committee Chairman Leonard W. Hall requested today's huddle on Huddie procedure. The committee will meet here Thursday to discuss convention plans. The Democratic national convention has been fixed tentatively to begin Aug. 13 in Chicago. Philadelphia still is bidding for the Democratic meeting but Chicago probably has the edge, despite the President's Pennsylvania connections in Gettysburg.

Today's huddle is a natural follow-up to the Lincoln day kickoff of the anti-Eisenhower movement in New York. The executive committee of New York's National Republican club called on the party Saturday to rally around the draft.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., was principal speaker before the city's 1,000 Lincoln day dinner guests and fell easily into the pattern of recent eulogies of the President which point toward a draft movement.

Dissent From Chicago
There was dissent from Chicago where right wing Republicans made Lincoln day the occasion for a stop-Eisenhower movement. Illinois Republican governor, J. Bracken Lee, spoke at a lunch related to a series of discussion meetings sponsored by Chicago Republicans.

The governor challenged Mr. Eisenhower's party loyalty and suggested that right wing Republicans and Democrats might need to get together to form their own party if neither of the older groups can find room for their point of view.

Cancer Quackery Lashed by Doctor
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A Duke University doctor said here the danger of cancer quackery is on the increase and he called on fellow physicians to "do everything possible" to halt fake healers. "It is estimated that thousands of patients are currently being treated by cancer healers," said Dr. Charles E. Horton in a paper prepared for a regional meeting of the International College of Surgeons. "As physicians, it is our duty and obligation to do everything possible to stop this charlatanism which results in unnecessary death, unwarranted mutilation, economic loss and mental anxiety."

It Was No Gag

That call for a doctor at the Twin Falls high school gymnasium last Thursday night was no gag. Martin Reisman, world's professional table tennis champion, holds up cast-iron casted left arm as he opens mouth for thermometer held by baseball nurse, who declined to be in photo. Reisman has been a patient at Maple Valley Memorial hospital since his arm was broken in the table tennis exhibition last Thursday night. The exhibition was being played during intermission of a basketball exhibition. (Staff photo-enlarging)

Young Pianist Plays for T. F.

Pianistic technique of Leonard Pennario thrilled the capacity crowd Friday night when the young pianist gave a program devoted primarily to fiery modern works. The artist, in an appearance of the Community concert series, featured works by De Falla, Mussorgsky, Chopin and Rachmaninoff among others. He was loudly applauded by the audience, especially for the encore numbers at the end of his program.

Cars Collide
Verna Laning, Kimperly, and Elsie Linder, 20, of Twin Falls, were drivers of a 1954 Nash and a 1950 Ford which collided on Fourth avenue east at Third street Sunday morning.

Police said the Linder car was pulling from the curb when it hit the Nash. The latter was damaged slightly. Neither driver was injured. Satisfy Volunteer Alicker.

Reisman spoke highly of the treatment he has received at the hospital, praising the medical staff who received, the nurses and the food. Saturday evening Reisman spent a good part of the evening propped up in bed talking on the telephone. Reisman's caller was a feminine admirer who had seen him play and telephoned him at the hospital. The caller was also a practical nurse. Naturally, young Reisman did not miss the opportunity to talk about his symptoms at length and, presumably, got a lot of free advice. Although the champion has played table tennis throughout the world, this is his first injury. He has been in Europe eight times, the far east twice and around the world twice.

Demo Promises Battle for Route

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Sen. Warren C. Magnuson, D. Wash., promised a congressional fight today to keep the proposed airway authorized to fly the "great circle" route between Seattle and Tokyo. "If the President puts Pan American in line to take over the route, I will step into a real hornet's nest on Capitol Hill," Magnuson said.

Northwest airlines has been the only American carrier serving the Orient via Alaska, and the President recently ordered the civil aviation board to continue its authorization for seven years.

But Magnuson said he was concerned by trade reports that Pan American is planning to make a strong bid to sway the President's mind when it receives its first fleet of DC-7 aircraft this spring.

Burial Honor Set For U. S. General

OGALA, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Plans for burial in Arlington National cemetery were being made today for Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, industrialist and former army service and supply chief who died here yesterday.

Somervell, 62, died apparently of a heart attack at his home here during a leave of absence as board chairman and president of the Koppers company, Inc., of Pittsburgh. He moved here six months ago. He became a four-star general during a 32-year military career climaxed by his becoming chief of the army service of supply and the army service forces during World War II. He retired from the army in 1945. Somervell was born in Little Rock, Ark.

In and Out

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Albert B. Staebler, 46, and his family returned home from visiting friends to find all the doors locked. Then Staebler saw a light in an upstairs bedroom and went to call police.

Police said Staebler was locked out of his own home by the burglar. The intruder was captured as he dashed out the back door.

Poland Protests Vessels Incident

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Poland has made a note of protest to the United States over the seizure of two Polish freighters and their crews by the Chinese Nationalists in the South China sea, Warsaw radio said today.

The broadcast said the note blamed the U. S. for the action. Europeans package many food products in collapsible metal tubes such as those used for toothpaste in the United States.
