State Solon's Statement Hit By Cavanaugh

I have had on the position I have taken, I am satisfied that if a plebiscite were held on this so-called by-pass bill, it would be rejected by a large majority.

"While I like to talk about my job, I wish to assure the Jerome legislator that I have been in close touch with the highway situation since since 1911 and have many monuments throughout the state. I retired from the contracting business in 1924 but am very much interested as a private citizen in the development of Idaho's highways."

"It also wish to call attention to the fact that the first state highway was built in 1911 and was named Alexander, was governor and was a success. This was abolished in the present term of 'Cavanaugh' Davis and the so-called cabinet or commissioner form of government was formed and led to the inefficiency in the later years that the legislator complains about. It was too good a plan for any succeeding governor to replace it."

"I have always supported a highway commission and I have come to the defense of the present board because I feel they have done an outstanding job in the short time they have been functioning and I regret very much any measures to hamper or destroy their work. There is nothing political in my motive. Having served three sessions in the Idaho legislature, I got into the situation in the legislative process."

"I wish Governor Smylie every success in his new undertaking as I believe in the good things he is doing and I find fault with both Republicans and Democrats indiscriminately and believe in this instance it appears they are not using the bludgeon for a mass of postage."

State School Operation Is Under Cloud

NAMPA, March 12.—The Idaho legislature created double dilemmas for the Nampa state school. Dr. R. Ramsey, superintendent, pointed out in his February report to the Idaho state hospital board.

Dr. Ramsey said the institution would be badly overburdened by the end of the biennium. He points out the legislature failed to provide for additional accommodations for patients. He said requests for an infirmary and nursery for newborn mentally deficient children were turned down by the legislature.

He said the school faces one alternative, to require families or parents capable of taking care of their defective children at home to do so. Dr. Ramsey also called for the mental deficiency problem of mental deficiency with sober thought for a solution to the situation which the board has handled the problem all the time.

"We should at least become interested in human beings and what is happening to them as we are to it by happening to fish and game, cattle, horses, sheep, chickens, field crops, the stock market and political events," Ramsey declared.

His second dilemma hinges on legislation which would establish a five-day, 40-hour work week for state employees. He said the work week at the Nampa school now is between 50 and 60 hours per week. He points out no provision was made in the new law creating the state board of health in appropriations to take care of additional staff personnel on a 40-hour week in any of the mental hospitals.

"If the eight-hour day is mandated under the new law, I doubt if the funds will be sufficient to activate a program to comply with it unless certain funds or collections would be allowed for this purpose," Dr. Ramsey says.

Another problem outlined by the superintendent is that of Whitehall, a 60-year-old building damaged by fire in January. He said the damage has been repaired except for rewiring the damaged section. Dr. Ramsey says notes that old wiring in the frame structure is exposed. He points out the building will require a fire hazard because the entire interior is of wood. He recommends future replacement of the structure with a more adequate building of fireproof construction.

Privately, diplomats were sure that Foreign Minister Molotov and his colleagues were up to something because on the record it appears that they are considerably softened their requirements for Austria. Experts think the softening may be more apparent than real.

Mr. Jackson said it will be "unfortunate dramatic" the dangers of atomic explosion and subsequent radioactive fallout "without giving the people a clear idea of what is expected of them."

Clear Instruction Is Eyed by Solon

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Sen. Henry M. Jackson urged today that the people get crystal-clear instructions on what to do in the more frequent and more realistic civil defense tests ordered by President Eisenhower.

The Washington Democrat, member of a senate subcommittee looking into civil defense problems, appeared before a subcommittee, disclosed yesterday by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson.

Mr. Jackson said it will be "unfortunate dramatic" the dangers of atomic explosion and subsequent radioactive fallout "without giving the people a clear idea of what is expected of them."

 Questioned by Representative Green of Oregon about the feasibility of Hells canyon, Budge had a devastating question of his own.
 "Since the gentleman has referred to what I assume is, my congressional district and the aid lands therein," said Budge, "may I ask the gentleman to explain to the house just how the water will irrigate the desert upstream from the dam?"
 Adjudgment in both the house and senate finally turned the battle over to the respective Interior and Insular affairs committees whose irrigation subcommittees will receive the bills for consideration.

Budge, Dworshak Speak up for Private Dams in Face of Hells Canyon Attacks

By WILLIAM GRAVES
 (Washington Staff Correspondent)
 WASHINGTON, March 12 (Special)—Congressional proponents of private development of Snake river saw introduction of two proposals by overwhelming numbers of Hells canyon enthusiasts on Capitol hill.
 A joint drive in the senate and house saw introduction of separate bills calling for federal construction of a 72-foot dam in Hells canyon rather than the three smaller reservoirs proposed by the Idaho Power company.
 On the senate side Sen. Henry C. Dworshak found himself ranged against 29 senators led by Democratic Wayne Morse of Oregon and Warren Magnuson of Washington who introduced the Hells canyon bill.
 On the house side meanwhile, Rep. Hamer Budge fought off an extensive barrage laid down by Rep. Grace Frost, and Reps. Edith Green of Oregon and Donald Magnuson of Washington, all favoring the federal dam.
 The Hells canyon supporters argued their opponents' unaware with the two-pronged attack, which hinged on separate bills and a monopoly of speaking time on the senate and house floors.
 Dworshak, however, managed to take up the senate contest, saying that, "I do not rise at this time to engage in debate, though I have entered with a great deal of attention to this observance of Hells canyon day."
 Dworshak based his brief argument on the fact that his federal constituents—as exemplified by a recent meeting of 1,000 water leaders at Idaho Falls—oppose the federal dam.
 Dworshak charged that Hells canyon was a "political dam" designed to permit the maximum resource development to become stymied and bogged down in the political debates which will face in the next 18 months.
 Coaded by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois who said he had flown over Hells canyon and therefore had "a very real interest in that dam."

Dworshak questioned Douglas' qualifications to decide.
 "I know a few years ago," said Dworshak, "that when he (Douglas) was taken on an airplane trip from Lewiston, a snowstorm was encountered and vision was obscured."
 "But he came back," Dworshak said of Douglas, "and made a speech telling about the glowing potentialities of Hells canyon."
 Douglas replied that "there was a snowstorm, but the nose of the plane did get into the mouth of the canyon, and some of the great wonders of America."
 Dworshak finally concluded his defense with the statement that there would be "plenty of time for discussion when the proper committee takes this bill into consideration."
 On the house side Budge found himself with only 10 minutes in which to reply to the hour-long address of Frost, Green and Magnuson—but he gave an excellent account of himself.
 The Idahoan hammered at possible "paramount-rights" of the federal government on Snake river which would jeopardize all water supply above Hells canyon if the dam were built.
 Citing the words of B. E. Torpen, chief army engineer on the Columbia river basin, Budge also pointed out that the closer a dam was built to the headwaters of a river the greater benefit in power and irrigation it would provide.
 "The bureau of reclamation," said Budge, "to the best of my knowledge has never built an irrigation project below the area to be irrigated.

 "I am who dreamed up the idea that you could run the water uphill in this instance," he said, "I don't know."
 Returning to the jeopardy in which the upstream rights would be placed if a federal dam were built at Hells canyon, Budge issued a warning to his fellow representatives.
 "We can protect ourselves in Idaho against the Idaho Power company," said Budge, "but once you bring in the federal government with its paramount rights, then the future development of my state is in serious jeopardy."
 And other states, he added, "had

Canal Company Aide to Retire April 1 After "Punching Time Clock" 55 Years

George R. Ballard, 70, Belleville apartments, retires from the Twin Falls Canal company April 1 after more than seven years as its assistant secretary-treasurer to, as he puts it, "concentrate intensely on doing nothing after having punched a time clock for 55 years."

Alfred Felera, company general manager, says Ballard has served the company faithfully during the past years. "We regret to see him leave and we feel he has done an excellent job," the manager states.

Ballard's successor, named by the company's five-member board, is Lowell H. Wilson, 30, 625 1/2 Heyburn avenue. Born in Osborne, Kans., Wilson served in the navy during the war. His parents came to Idaho from Kansas in 1928 and moved from Filer to Twin Falls in 1944.

Wilson is married and is the father of three children. He worked for three years for Ray J. Holmes, local distributor for Shell Oil company, before coming to the canal company.

In addition to "doing nothing," Ballard says he plans to take a few trips here and there, but other than visiting his one daughter, Maurine Ballard, who teaches school at Camplup, Calif. for Easter, he has no definite itinerary set up.

Ballard was born Jan. 19, 1885, in Bethany, Mo. Among the professions he entered during his early life was that of teaching school. He was principal of Leoti, Kans., high school from 1912 to 1915 after which he owned and operated a general merchandise store.

He also served as county clerk for Wichita county, Kans. From 1919 to 1920 he was superintendent of schools and principal of the high school at Saratoga, Wyo.

Ballard also tried his hand at farming from 1920 to 1924. "It wasn't very successful," he says. He was a foreman at Swift and company until 1928 when he bought and began operating the Clover Mercantile company here.

After a stint with the K&M Wate Electrical shop, where he owned a half interest, Ballard owned and operated the Recap Tire company from 1941 to 1945 after which he worked as a free-lance bookkeeper. He was appointed by the Twin Falls Canal company's five-member board to the position of assistant secretary on Jan. 29, 1948.

Ballard admits this was not his first contact with the company. "During the summers of 1931, 1932 and 1933 I worked for the company in connection with the distribution of water," he explains.

Explaining the job he now is about to leave, Ballard says the assistant secretary-treasurer's office is in charge of the books of the company. "It's also quite a public relations job," he says. "We meet the customers when they transfer stock or pay their bills."

Ballard also says the office has charge of the health fund which the company furnishes for its employees. "The office each year handles nearly half a million dollars," Ballard concludes.

"The Grace of God"

By CLAY H. STEPHENS
(Pastor, Assembly of God Church)

I would like for us today to dwell upon the thought of the unmerited favor of God, turning our attention first to the book of Romans, chapter 8 verse 32. How freely does God love the world? While we were yet sinners Christ died for the ungodly; while we were dead in sin, He spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all.

God's grace is free in all and for all in all as they will allow it. Our works are the effects of grace.

Romans 10 verses 12 and 13: "For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek; for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Mark 4 chapter 23, verse 37: Jesus speaks of the men gathering the tares "But ye would not." The gracious words of Jesus were always an invitation to sinners and needy to accept the favor the grace of the loving compassionate God.

Looking now to the book of Deuteronomy, chapter 30 verses 19-21, "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, both thou and thy seed may live." So the choice of availing ourselves of the grace of God lies with the individual. I want to ask a question, have you availed yourself of the grace of God?

The book of Ezekiel, chapter 18 verse 30, says, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The soul shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him."

Then in the next verse we see the grace of God, for this is what it says, "But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die."

Then let us come according to the book of Hebrews through out

Recent Legislation Is Scored By Local VFW Post Members

Editor, Times-News: We, the undersigned wish to express our views on the Legislature of Magic Valley on their recent legislation. They have raised our taxes to unprecedented heights in addition to raising the car license fees by age of car instead of by type or weight, as well as taxing everything that came to their minds. All of this just to please the people of Legislature for their college. They merely opened the college and everyone knows that there will have to be huge sums appropriated now to run it now they have opened it. They have done this without regard to the public taxpayer.

has hypnotized you, the legislators, whom we voted in the last election, and upon whom we trusted to our well-being. Cutting the income tax surely didn't take all of that surplus. They failed to find out what happened that surplus and raised taxes blindly. It seems as though you legislators have failed the people of Idaho and especially of Magic Valley. We are hoping that the next legislature will correct some of these mistakes.

Twin Falls Man Hits Locations Of Proposed School Buildings

Editor, Times-News: Do not be misled by those posters! We do need two schools, but we need one in the South Park area and we need one in the northwest part of town. Furthermore, I do not believe we need such high priced ground to put them on. Surely we do not need acres of land when two or three acres would be sufficient. Nor do I think we need to pay $2,000 per acre for a school site, especially when it is in the wrong location.

got their schooling over a lunch counter? So, people, do not vote for that bond issue until the school board does a lot of changing on the present building program. Of course, this is just my personal opinion but I hope a lot more of you people can see it and will write to your school board that you will not vote for such a bond until they change their building program to where it will help a lot more than just spending our money.

Legislature Not Economical, She Says in Rapping Record

Editor, Times-News: First of all, I'd like to commend the Times-News for its very timely editorial pertaining to the recent political mess up at Boise. A "Comedy of Errors" was quite an accurate description of it. Now just who, by any stretch of the imagination, could truthfully say that it was an economical legislature? Of course, Governor Smylie got the bulk of what he asked for, but what about the little wage earner who was left holding the bag? Just what will his standard of living be after both federal and state taxes are withheld?

Music Program's Coverage Lauded By Club Chairman

Editor, Times-News: In behalf of the Idaho State Federation of Music Clubs I should like to take this opportunity to express our grateful appreciation to your staff, reporters and photographers, for their cooperation in giving us the wonderful publicity we had for our student auditions last Saturday. We feel that our contests were most successful in that a winner in each division was declared. One scholarship to Pennsylvania Women's college was awarded and the opportunity to participate in the National District auditions was extended to all four of the winners, one of whom will make a tape recording to be judged for the Peabody conservatory scholarship in strings. Thank you again for helping to publicize the opportunities extended to our serious young musicians in this state.

Farm Bureau Critic Receives Answer in Note From Jerome

Editor, Times-News: I see where Mr. C. N. Shriver has again tried to cast the Farm Bureau into disrepute by supposedly "quoting" Farm Bureau policy regarding labor. He used the word "quotation" but never got around to quoting it. He undoubtedly read the paragraph in the 1955 policy of the American Farm Bureau about which he has made his statements. Some of our members, such as encourage the right to work legislation. However, most of his statements are made in such a way as to twist the meaning in an attempt to place the Farm Bureau in disrepute.

edly a slip of the pencil. From the above examples, I believe it is obvious that Mr. Shriver is attempting to cast the Farm Bureau into disrepute before the public eye without regard to the true intent of the policies of the Farm Bureau. It is evident from his statement that he does have available a copy of the Farm Bureau policy for 1955. It seems rather unique and obvious how he chooses to use it when he has available a copy of that policy, which is quite self-explanatory. Therefore, I would like to state that there are copies of the 1955 Farm Bureau policy in possession of the county and community officers as well as several other members of the Farm Bureau. If I am sure they would be happy to inform any person who is earnestly interested in Farm Bureau policy, on an unbiased basis. Incidentally, the information would be in its entirety, and not as excerpts twisted in a way to suit an individual fancy.

Writer Urges New School for South Park Area of Twin Falls

(See Map and Story on Page 12) Editor, Times-News: It seems to me the present school problem is foremost the minds of all residents of Twin Falls and the surrounding area, especially for the parents of school and pre-school children. So, I feel I am speaking for each and every one of them. It is discussed every day by the residents of South Park addition. We, the residents of South Park, are not at all conducive to the normal atmosphere necessary for a child's education. The strain on an overworked, harassed teacher and child, bewildered by these conditions, can neither result in a well-rounded education for our children, nor for the satisfied feeling for the teacher of a "good job well done."

performed by the Judiciary rather than by an administrative agency. Another example of Mr. Shriver's attempt to "quoting" the policy statement, supposedly a quote: "Do not raise the minimum wage above the present 7 cents an hour, except President Eisenhower's proposal that it be raised to 90 cents." Farm Bureau policy as referring to this reading the purpose of the fair labor standards act is to provide reasonably minimum wages, leaving most wage rates free to be negotiated in accordance with supply and demand factors. To increase minimum wage rates to a level which requires wage-fixing by government action is a harmful extension of government authority. We are opposed to any increase in the minimum wage at this time and any effort to establish a statutory minimum annual wage.

Idahoan's Note Gives Support To Editorial on "Horse Trade"

Editor, Times-News: I have been a citizen of Idaho the past 45 years. I am here for treatment of a serious ailment, but am still a citizen of Idaho and interested in its progress. Reading a reprint of your editorial in the Idaho Falls Post-Register, I heartily agree with your statement of horse trading of the present legislature. With Idaho's scant population, it is simply absurd to maintain four institutions to train teachers to go elsewhere to teach. I am also opposed to the proposed "swap" for a reasonable price, the owner of an Austin car, 1950 model, would pay the same fee as the owner of a 1950 Cadillac. Can anyone call that fair? A car is a piece of property and should be taxed according to its value the same as a home or farm. I wrote an article on the license fee to the editor of the Post-Register

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus... for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield... a dramatic, stylized note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set tailights... they add to the impressive length of line... but they are up where they can be seen for safety's sake.

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration... they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its business, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity, the added stability.

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Buick by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Driving Skill Can Save Money on Gas, Tires, Reminds State Policeman Here

The skilled driver knows how to beat the high cost of living, says State Police Lieut. Clark Hand.

The skillful driver knows that a simple, sure formula for saving money on gas, tires, gasoline and engine wear is to drive smoothly.

Hand says the good driver knows that, all things being equal, the smooth driver gets 19 miles per gallon, while the hard, rough driver, under the same conditions, gets only 13 miles per gallon, or less.

He knows that the smooth, easy driver, under average conditions, has tires that retain high serviceability for approximately 30,000 miles, as compared to the rough, hard driver, who, under the same conditions, finds that his tires last him about 15,000 miles.

The good driver knows he will need new brake linings approximately every 35,000 miles, as compared to the erratic driver, under the same conditions, who needs linings every 10,000 miles.

The thrifty, smart, smooth driver knows that it means money in his pocket to accelerate and decelerate gradually. He knows that "let take-offs" and throttle pumping increase gas consumption and expenses as much as 60 per cent.

He knows, also, that throttle squeeze, instead of throttle push, adds up to a happier nervous system, safer, ticket-free driving and less frayed nerves. He knows that on the average it takes two and one-half times as much gasoline to go 65 miles per hour as it does 25 miles per hour.

In city traffic, the smart driver practices driving ahead of his car, anticipating signals, stop signs and intersections, and by doing this, by lifting his foot he is saving money and slowing down gradually, he lets the momentum of the car carry him to a stop.

Lieutenant Hand says the good driver knows that smooth stopping is just as important as smooth starting and smooth running. He knows that making the tires squeal on turns, jamming on the brakes whenever a stop is made is wasteful and unwise because such driving merely succeeds in scuffing and burning the tread off the tires, puts an undue strain on the fabric and wears down the brake linings needlessly.

The thrifty, smart, smooth driver knows that a slight ease-up on the accelerator saves gasoline, at no loss of speed or power, and he knows that gasoline motors are so constructed that they "take" only so much fuel, regardless of the foot pressure on the accelerator, and that

Report Given On Guernsey Sale for April

JEROME, March 12.—Reports of forthcoming Guernsey sale were given at the Thursday night meeting of the North Side Guernsey breeders. Jerome members of the group were hosts and the meeting was held in the soil conservation office in the courthouse.

C. Top Herald, president, reported that 4-H and FFA Guernsey heifer sale will be held April 23 at Idaho Falls. Herald stated that 26 extra-line heifers have been selected for the sale. Anyone interested in securing a catalog should contact Ernest Zacott, route 2, Shelley.

The state Guernsey sale was announced for April 30 at the fairgrounds in Boise, and 31 outstanding individuals have been selected for this sale.

Representatives from the Guernsey Breeders association, Peterborough, N. H., will be in the community the latter part of April and early May to classify herds. Anyone interested in this classification should contact David L. Thacker, Gooding, assistant county agent.

A film, "Miracles of Milk" was shown and booklet and milk products were distributed.

The group will meet again May 6 in Boise, and it is expected that the place of the meeting will be announced later.

LICENSE ISSUED GOODING, March 12 — Orle J. Tadlock, Gooding, and Nellie Irene Gardner, Bliss, have been issued a marriage license here.

For the probability that some individuals suddenly open their car doors on the side available to moving traffic.

He anticipates that some motorists stop their cars abruptly when they see an available parking space and that drivers of parked cars often dart out from the curb without looking or signaling. He is always prepared for the possibility that the motorist in front may decide, suddenly, to stop or turn off into a driveway.

The skillful driver knows that the ever-increasing traffic on the roads today make it absolutely necessary for him to look out for the other fellow, as well as for himself, and regardless of the actions of others, he remains poised and stable.

He knows that he is best able to do this and protect himself and his passengers from the unreasonable acts of others by driving smoothly.

Official Welcomed at Dairy Meet

Lyman D. McKee, vice president of the American Dairy association and featured speaker at the meeting of the Twin Falls County Cooperative Dairyman's association and the Jerome Cooperative creamery, is general manager of the Jerome Cooperative creamery. (Staff photo- engraving)

Speaker Says U.S. Farmers Are Most Efficient Producers in World Today

"American farmers are the most efficient producers in the world today," Lyman D. McKee, vice president of the American Dairy association, told more than 500 persons attending the meeting of the Twin Falls County Cooperative Dairyman's association and the Jerome Cooperative creamery at the Turf club Saturday afternoon.

"One farmer," McKee continued, "produces the food and fibre requirements for 17 persons. As producers we must understand that a selling program for dairy foods involves a study of potential markets and consumer buying habits by experienced professional food merchandising experts."

McKee, a dairy farmer from Madison, Wis., went on to point out that the national production of 14 billion pounds of dairy products must be marketed in six forms, butter, cream, fluid milk, ice cream and evaporated and non-fat powders.

"The quality of dairy products is not used," McKee said, "has a great effect on the prices, and dairymen must strive to create demand somewhere equal to the supply."

"To bring about that demand sales messages creating interest at low cost is one of the most important must be given the consumer. The national ADA program meets that requirement in every respect," he said.

McKee concluded by emphasizing that the dairy farmer through the new 1955 expanded ADA program has for the first time in history a selling program equal to the selling effort used by his competitors in the food industry.

Directors for the Jerome Cooperative central board elected at the meeting are S. S. Reinke, Twin Falls, to represent the east section of the county, and Albert Jagels, Buhl, to represent the western half.

Directors for the Twin Falls County Dairyman's association also elected were Reinke and Cletus Klutza, Hansen.

Pope Cheered By Big Crowd

VATICAN CITY, March 12 (AP)—Pope Pius XII received an ovation today—the 10th anniversary of his coronation.

It was the first time in three years that the head of the Roman Catholic church, now 79, had been well enough to participate in a commemorative ceremony. In March 1954 and again in 1955, he was ill and celebrations were canceled.

Today, three months after the pontiff suffered his gravest illness, more than 5,000 pilgrims, Romans and others, packed in two ante-chambers of the Sixtine chapel, hailed him with cheers of "long live the Pope." From his portable throne, the Pope raised his hand repeatedly in blessing.

Congratulatory messages came from many parts of the globe.

Bless that blustery March wind!

WIFE SAVER

So I did some whipping of my own... right down to see our electrical dealer. First, he showed me the wonderful way new electric clothes dryers dry clothes; gently, quickly, fluffly-fresh... so wrinkle-free half of them can be put away without ironing. Then he explained to me how little they cost to operate here where our rates are so low. Then he explained why an electric clothes dryer is called "the world's greatest wife-saver"... no walking, no lifting, no carrying, no stretching.

So here I am, enjoying my new electric clothes dryer... and proving the old saying about "... an ill wind... Bless it, let it blow!

It whipped my best sheet to shreds last week... and that did it! I've put up with laundry getting dusty drying outdoors in summer; getting sooty half-drying outdoors in winter (while I half-froze hanging it up and taking it down). But last week was the last straw! It dawned on me that I've been torturing the laundry... as well as myself!

Department of Commerce Certificate Is Presented to T.F. Chamber of Commerce

James E. Maxwell, business analyst of the U. S. department of commerce, Portland, came here to present a certificate of commendation to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Richard M. Serpa, first vice president, accepted the award in the chamber's behalf.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, as a result of today's action, is now a cooperative office of the department of commerce. Maxwell explained that such publications included census reports on population, housing, business, agriculture and income.

Among the publications now available at the chamber office is a census of agriculture, broken down by counties, which lists the number of farms, approximate land areas, type of farm operation, production of crops and livestock and 22 other subject classifications.

Also available is a county and city data book which contains 128 subject classifications, including population, total employed, number of houses and their condition, amount of wholesale and retail sales and the number of tractors and trucks in farm use.

In addition, the chamber has at its disposal a distribution data guide, which indexes all publications issued by the commerce department.

Maxwell said that with this guide the Twin Falls chamber may now order any commerce publication of special value to the Twin Falls area.

One important publication, Maxwell said, is the business service publication which gives detailed technical data on every phase of business endeavor.

Final Formal Action Taken For Pipeline

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Pacific Northwest pipeline corporation has filed a $123,000,000 financial plan with the securities and exchange commission to complete its last formal action prior to actual construction of a pipeline to the Northwest from the San Juan basin. The plan is before the SEC for consideration for a minimum of 30 days. As filed with the SEC it is only slightly changed from the plan given federal power commission approval Feb. 11.

The SEC registration includes $23,200,000 in 20-year first mortgage bonds at 4 1/4 per cent; $26,800,000 in unsecured notes to be due serially from 1958 to 1962; $17,200,000 in 6 per cent interim notes due approximately June 1, 1957, and payable at maturity at Pacific's option in preferred stock; and the remainder in common stock.

Common stock equity includes $5,654,000 to be issued at the company's option in payment of 33 1/2 per cent unsecured notes to Phillips Petroleum; $2,070,000 to be sold with the 6 per cent interim notes; $15,491,000 to be issued pursuant to subscription offer to present holders of common stock; and $111,000 from shares sold prior to financing.

The company also requested authority for the issuance of 250,000 shares of common stock to be sold if and when the federal power commission authorizes expansion of the project to accommodate volumes of gas Pacific has contracted to buy from Westcoast Transmission, Ltd., at the Canadian boundary north of Bellingham.

The filing also indicated that the company is ready to begin construction immediately and the initial pipeline system would be completed by the summer of 1956.

Pacific has contracted for 80 per cent of its pipe requirements for the initial pipeline system, the statement said. Additional equipment has not been contracted for but the company expects no difficulty or delay.

The aerial survey and mapping of the proposed route of the pipeline has been substantially completed," the statement said. "The company intends to commence the drilling of wells, acquisition of station and plant sites immediately following the sale of the securities offered."

"Contracts for necessary equipment . . . and the laying of pipe entered into as soon as practicable."

Russ Reject Tito Blast at Molotov

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—The communist party newspaper Pravda in Moscow has rejected criticism of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov by Yugoslav President Marshal Tito.

The paper, quoted on a Moscow radio broadcast heard here, said Tito's criticism did not correspond with reality.

Full Airing Eyed For Peress Case

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Senate investigators will seek to lay "the whole story" of the Peress case before the public at a series of hearings starting Tuesday.

That was announced today by Senator McClellan, D. Ark., who succeeded Senator McCarthy as the chairman of the senate investigations subcommittee when the Democrats took control in January.

WEEK PROCLAIMED

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—Robert E. Smylie has proclaimed the week of March 20-27 Idaho Mothers week.

The chairman of the senate investigations subcommittee when the Democrats took control in January, today announced that he would pay homage to all mothers of Idaho who have given so generously of their services to their churches, communities and families.

Money Tight, Farm Agency Report States

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The squeeze on the farmer's pocketbook "tightened appreciably" in the past year, the agriculture department said today.

In a farm cost report, the department noted a four per cent decline in the farm parity ratio for the last quarter of 1954 to the last quarter of 1954. It said "almost all" of the decline was due to lower prices farmers received for their crops.

The cost of living and of production items the farmer had to buy, meanwhile, rose about one per cent during the period, the department said.

The parity ratio is a calculation which balances farm prices against farm costs and shows how close prices received by farmers come to a so-called "fair" price.

It showed farm prices at 87 per cent of the fair price level at the end of 1954 compared with 91 per cent a year earlier.

The report said the most important change in farm costs during the year was for rising grass and legume seed prices. They shot up an average of 12 per cent during the year with declines showing up only in the last two months.

Because of the already higher prices and the fact that seed supplies are several percent smaller than last year, the department advised farmers not to waste any time in buying seeds for spring planting.

The report noted that exports of grass and legume seeds from July 1 through Nov. 30 last year were more than five times as large as the previous year because of short seed crops in Europe.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Irrigation water gurgles in mockery today across a field near ALMO where, nearly 100 years ago, 300 persons, tongues swollen and lips cracked and bleeding, scratched the dry earth for water—and died.

It wasn't that that killed them, although that was a contributing factor. They died because they were outstayed by an unnamed Indian and the massacre of Almo creek in 1861 goes down in history as one of the greatest emigration disasters in the entire northwest.

Only six persons, one of them a baby, survived the slaughter. Under cover of darkness they slipped through the Indian lines, the mother of the baby gripping the child's clothing in her teeth as she crawled through the sagebrush.

Alfalfa grows on the battlefield today. Henry R. Cahoon owns part of the land and Mrs. Otella Tracy the rest. In recent years Cahoon while plowing the field, uncovered two guns, one a revolver still loaded.

In past years the battleground has been a "gold mine" for souvenir hunters. Indian relics and the tinsam and tinsam of a wagon train have been found at the scene but much of the salvagable material was removed by both Indians and white men within a matter of years after the annihilation.

In at least one respect, the wagon train set the scene for its own disaster. The train, composed of 60 wagons, set out from Independence, Mo., early in 1861 and encountered little Indian trouble until it reached the plains. There the Indians became a menace and the train was surrounded. The train was surrounded and the Indians became a menace and the train was surrounded.

The train crossed Raft river and then headed south over the Bubbit cutoff to the California road. For several days no Indians were sighted and then, one night, camp was made on Almo creek. The usual precautions were taken against an Indian attack. The wagons were circled and guards were placed over the livestock. Unknown to the train, the hills, woods and desert teemed with Indians.

Bawn came. The herdsmen drove the stock into camp. The teams were harnessed and, breakfast finished, the caravan unyoked, each wagon falling into its position.

Blowing the train moved southward, widening the distance between it and Almo creek, which meant water. It was for this moment the Indians had waited. The train was well armed but the Indians were to enlist water's aid in their plan.

Welker Gives Reason Back Of His Ballot

WASHINGTON, March 12 (Special)—Gen. Herman Welker explained today why he joined with three other senators on the Judiciary committee in opposition to John M. Harlan's proposed amendment to the supreme court.

Harlan's appointment was nevertheless approved by the committee in a 10 to 4 vote.

"I am satisfied with Judge Harlan's legal qualifications," said Welker.

"I am not satisfied that since he was or had been on the advisory committee of the Alien and Sedition laws of 1798, he is a member of the Citizens Association of the United States, he adheres to the doctrine that American sovereignty cannot be and must not be diluted."

Welker also pointed out that "the court is divided on the question of whether our Constitution guarantees have been undermined by treaty-made law."

"New cases, important as the steel seizure case, may be brought before a supreme court on which the latest appointee has the deciding vote," Welker said.

"Every vacancy on the highest court is important, but this particular appointment in my opinion coincides with a political crisis over the Constitution as great as any this country has ever faced," Welker concluded.

On the fourth night the guide employed by the train, accompanied by a young woman, crawled through the sagebrush, and somehow eluded the savages. Later another man and two women, one of them carrying a nursing baby, followed the first two into the night.

The sun rose red and hot on the fifth day. Down from the heights poured the half-naked Indians straight into the feeble ranks of the wagon train, taking water released from a dam, they hit the train's barricades, swirled in little eddies to the right and left, and then broke through and across, engulfing the handful of defenders.

The fight was over.

The guide and his companion made it to Brigham City where Johnston lived at the time. He could remember the rescue party that was formed and how the rescuers came upon the man, the two
