Ford Picked As Target in Union Strike

DETROIT, May 19 (AP)—The beating in Detroit is that Ford will be the victim if a strike develops over the CIO United Auto Workers' demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

The union itself has not revealed whether it would hit Ford or General Motors in case contract negotiations reach complete breakdown. But, if a strike does develop, it aligns points to Ford as the company most likely to be struck.

The union's contract to June 7. It had been due to run out May 29. A drive against Ford, for example, would cost the union a lot less than a strike against General Motors. A Ford strike would idle only 140,000 workers while a GM strike would mean 225,000 out.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's "chain-of-command" system of operating the federal government is being attacked by a group of scientists because it contributed to botching the handling of two of the most important problems of the day—manufacture and distribution of the Salk vaccine and the application of atomic energy to peacetime use.

The scientists, headed by Dr. J. Edgar Hoover, the anti-polio vaccine could have been prevented, it now is admitted. The administration has not had control over this medical discovery as soon as Dr. Jonas Salk and his associates concluded on the basis of last year's tests that they had virtually perfected their product. This was the program adopted in Canada, with none of the delays and difficulties experienced in this country.

THEATICAL BUILD-UP—Instead, Washington stood supinely aside and permitted that the original Francis-Salk report did not justify. Because of the spectacular publicity for which both public and private interests were so keenly interested, the "did not read the fine print" of the scientists' conclusions.

RESULT OF POLICY—Washington's deliberate policy of slothfulness had these results:

- (1) There was no assurance that there would be a sufficient supply for the most needy, who had the children at their gates of school.
- (2) There was no guarantee that the vaccine had been so thoroughly tested that it would be foolproof, save for the 20 or 40 nonproductive percentage conceded by the scientists.
- (3) As the delays and checks prove, public and private authorities had not successfully bridged the gap between laboratory experiments and mass production by the drug companies.

EXPLANATION FOR OFFICIAL INDIFFERENCE—The off-the-record explanation for the administration's indifference is Washington's preference for private enterprise versus federal control and the fear of creating a governmental bureaucracy in the medical field.

Canada, however, handled the problem from a federal level without any of these dangers. The non-profit vaccine was bought up by Ottawa, with the provinces sharing half of the cost. Parents obtained a "milk" vaccine from American manufacturing firms costing on 20 million dollars in profits.

Last fall the Canadian government arranged for production of the vaccine by two non-profit universities, each set up with an effective system of distribution and control, in cooperation with provincial authorities or the Canadian Medical Association, although adhering to a "voluntary basis" program.

Canada's Canadian child inoculated with Canadian-made vaccine has contracted polio.

ATOMS-FOR-PEACE AGREEMENTS—Washington has exported the signing of an agreement with Turkey for use of atoms for peace, and is negotiating similar agreements with six other countries. The also has proposed similar agreements with the Russians. Both moves are directed against the Russians.

But these are only gestures. The loan of enriched uranium will simply permit foreign countries to begin to experiment with the use of atomic energy in medicine, agriculture and industry. It will not meet their main requirement, which was described by Eleanor Roosevelt in her peace address before the United Nations as "abundant electrical energy in power-station areas of the world." That is 30 years off at least.

Detailed study reveals that the atomic peace ship cannot be launched until at least 1955 or 1956. It will be far more costly than estimated originally. It may stir envy, not friendship, and it is doubtful if congress will appropriate the millions needed for the venture.

THE LURE OF FREEDOM

Free peoples everywhere can rejoice with Austria that at long last there is a peace treaty which will restore it to the fraternity of free states.

Austria had been absent from this company too long. On March 11, 1938, Hitler's mad jingoists marched into Austria, reducing the little country to a mere eastern province of Germany. Not once in the 17 years that followed was the nation free of foreign soldiers.

When the allies crushed Hitler, their armies moved in and replaced his control. There they remained, in their respective zones of West and East, looking fruitlessly through the years over the ruins of Austria.

Only a sudden change of heart by Russia, evidently dictated by new strategy for coping with increased western strength in Europe, finally made possible a successful settlement.

Under the treaty terms, all Russian and allied occupation troops are slated to leave Austrian soil before 1955 is out.

Russia also agrees to restore to Austria oil and shipping properties they had taken over in war reparations. The Kremlin first made this striking concession in a preliminary agreement signed with Austria in Moscow weeks ago. It balked at including it in the treaty, until the west made clear it would not sign otherwise.

That the reds finally yielded on this point was the measure of their eagerness to conclude this treaty. Naturally enough, they did not give so much without believing they had made important offsetting gains.

As a price they demanded and got assurances of Austria's neutrality. The treaty cannot speak on this matter, but it is expected a separate pact will be prepared for this purpose.

But surely this is not what the Kremlin conceives to be a dictatorial victory at Vienna. Moscow's prime goal in Europe is Germany. Though the reds loudly said they would never discuss German unity if West Germany was taken into NATO, they already have offered new unity proposals. Germany's neutrality is a key aim. Austria is the model, the lure, the proof of good faith.

Russia failed to block West German entry into NATO, "officially" for Western friendship. Now the West is on test to show whether it can work for German unity without giving up what it worked so hard to gain. A neutral Germany would be a Germany ever in peril of Russian domination.

Whatever developments flow from the Kremlin's new strategy, we can accept with deep satisfaction its notable by-product—the long-hoped-for liberation of Austria. The fabled land has found its own break again, and that is no triumph for communism.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Columnist; All on Single

BY HENRY McLEMORE

If I were a skeptic out to tear down the Ark of Noah, I would use my case, one fact, and one alone.

I would simply point out that Mrs. Noah was along with Noah on the trip—and when she had finished packing, she told Noah to take along a trip to last night. There were 40 nights, there still couldn't have been room for all those animals. Even if every star on the Ark had bunked up.

As a husband I can easily picture the loading of the Ark, and Noah started packing the animals. He simply had to have for that long a cruise. And can Noah Noah start packing the animals? He would need all that summery stuff, that there would be very few parties, if any, so the dressy clothes could be left behind, and that the two of them could get along with what they could put in one suitcase.

If there was any way to prove it, I'd like to bet that the last animal on the Ark would be Mrs. Noah, herself! She was a trunk loaded with hat boxes, shoe boxes, and a couple of cumbersome plastic bags full with dresses. Mrs. Noah didn't want to get wrinkled.

Those who hold this theory are saying that America's long food surplus such as having been accumulating under the price-support system. Then at the critical moment they can be used as part of the effort to get a truly effective guarantee of peace in this nuclear age.

The fact that the channels of east-west trade are narrowed makes it all the more imperative to expand trade in the free world. And this, of course, focuses directly on the efforts of the Eisenhower administration to get a really adequate reciprocal trade bill through congress. It becomes of vital importance to demonstrate that the non-communist nations can promote peace and mutual well-being through the free flow of commerce.

Dear Pot Shots: Some thoughtful individual put a family of six pups out of a car near my home about 10 days ago. The pups were a black and white, black and white, and a black and white. They were very cute and can be, most of all, very smart. I remarked to my husband that I would give them some warm milk and he could shoot them. He reversed the statement to the effect that he would give them the warm milk and I could shoot them. This is why we are trying to find pups for them. Try the J. E. Priestley Place.

Big Cut Made In Commerce Agency Sums

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today slashed a $21,684,000—roughly an 18 per cent cut—from funds requested for the commerce department for the fiscal year starting July 1. One item eliminated completely was $10,000 Secretary Sinclair's "entertainment" for lunches, entertainment and possibly "beverages" to be served up to visiting businessmen and dignitaries. The $1,121,435,000 money bill the committee approved fell $26,077,746 short of matching funds coverses appropriated to run the department in the current fiscal year. President Eisenhower had asked for $22,693,000, a $2,608,000 increase over present spending. The committee's biggest cut—$60 million dollars—was made in federal highway funds of the bureau of public roads. It said the 600 million dollars it approved should meet all obligations and commitments through the next fiscal year. Other big cuts were $66,800,000 chopped off funds "expended" to complete the Inter-American highway, 48 million dollars pared from operating subsidies for the airlines and steamship companies and $30,000,000 in shipbuilding funds. The committee approved "only eight million dollars for the inter-American highway. It said it favors finishing up work "within a reasonable time" but that it is opposed to the administration's "crash" program for completion in three years. The cut in subsidy payments left 40 million dollars for the airlines and 90 million dollars for various steamship companies. The bill also asks for further savings should be possible.

Solves Issue Hansens's '55 Senior Class Service Held

PORT WORTH, Tex., May 19 (AP)—The wife of newly elected Mayor Jesse Roach, solved a problem for the city's legal department when she instructed 1000 members to donate their 1955 monthly paycheck to the police firemen pension fund. City Attorney Rhinhart Bauer ruled it was impossible because the city charter requires that each councilman be paid. Mrs. Roach said "if the city can't keep it, you'd better not come home without it." Ronald Kofoed, director of music in the Hansen senior class, played a clarinet solo accompanied by Mrs. Kofoed. Supr. Bernard Hopwood introduced Mrs. Ida Holden, vice president of the Idaho State Teachers Association, who gave the commencement address. Mrs. Kofoed sang, accompanied by Carol Wilson, Jay LaFayette, grade school principal, presented the eighth grade members, and Von Neese, chairman of the board of trustees, presented the certificates. Hopwood presented athletic awards to the boys and an award to Beth Eddy for receiving a first rating in the state in the musical department. Benediction was given by the Rev. V. LaRue, pastor of the Hansen Community Methodist church. Mrs. Harold Einspahr played the processional and recessional. Probe Started On Bribes for U. S. Supplies

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Senate investigators launched a new "bribe and corruption" hunt yesterday and heard charges of graft pay-offs and gifts of lingerie, a coat and a deep freeze in connection with government contracts.

Top list all, the inquiry turned up a man who answered to one name and then took the oath as a witness under another one. This man—his real name, he said, is Julius Goldman—testified he had done a week for several months from garment industry figure while serving as a $60-a-week navy clothing inspector.

Clothing Purchases

The inquiry was called by the senate investigatory subcommittee and dealt with clothing purchases for the armed forces in the past three years.

The search plunged into intricacies of the New York garment industry and focused on activities of one Marvin Rubin, named by three other witnesses as a man who passed out favors to government buyers with a lavish hand.

Rubin himself acknowledged a few such favors—such as buying a coat (apparently not a mink) for a woman who started government contracts and lending money to an inspector who passed on his firm's materials to the navy.

But he also attempted to "peddle influence," as Senator Bender, R. O., put it. He calmly shook his head when Bender declared: "You're not a 5 per center—you're a 33 1/3 per center."

Star Witness

The day's star witness, however, turned out to be the man with two names.

He got into the picture when a pretty ex-bookkeeper, Mrs. Ruth Pfeiffer, named him as the "Mr. Samuels" who, she said, got mysterious envelopes from Rubin in late 1952.

Chairman McClellan, D. Ark., called for "Mr. Samuels" to bring a man with a wisp mustache stood up in the back of the room. Brown-haired Mr. Pfeiffer glanced at him, said "That's Mr. Samuels."

Loaned Money

Rubin took the stand later and said he never knew any "Mr. Samuels." But he said the man who stood up was Julius Goldman. He said he had loaned Goldman some money when Goldman was an inspector for the navy in Brooklyn and had rejected raincoats turned out for the navy by a Rubin firm, the Anthony Conn. garment company.

Finally, McClellan called out: "Mr. Samuels and Mr. Samuels—come forward, please."

Explains Delicately

To the witness table came the balding man. In his emotion-placed voice he said he really was Goldman, not Samuels.

It happened like this, he said: He turned down some Rubin raincoats. Rubin came to see him, spoke to him about a job at the Connecticut plant. Goldman accepted the job and left off the chance. Rubin drove him out to the plant and when he had slipped him an envelope it turned out there was $50 in the envelope.

Made Several Trips

Goldman said he made a habit to drop in on Rubin every Friday afternoon that he could possibly get there—to talk about the proposed job, he added. Every time Rubin gave him $50.

Why did he take the money?

When asked why he took it, Goldman said, "I regarded it as a sort of advance on the job."

Military Strength Cited by General

NEW ORLEANS, May 19 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today that it is a mistake to believe the communist powers have the free world outnumbered in military strength.

"Great as the power of the Kremlin dictatorship may be," Ridgway said in a prepared Armed Forces day speech, "it is not so great that we could not meet it successfully if we should be so-called."

But the army chief of staff who retired June 30 called for "almost infinite patience" in building alliances.

"Code of Conduct" Studied for POWs

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson yesterday named a civilian-military committee to work out a "code of conduct" to govern American prisoners who may become prisoners of communist "brain-washers" in any future war.

The committee was an outgrowth of the problem this nation faced in handling soldiers and airmen who accepted to communist forces in Korea. There, Wilson stressed such ethics as return to patriots, when they were in a position to make propaganda statements against the United States.

Senate Group Blocks Action For Supports

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The senate agriculture committee yesterday defeated by one vote an effort to force congressional action this year on a move to restore farm price supports to a fixed, high level.

By an 8-7 vote the committee decided to hold hearings for a study of the situation before any action is taken in general, as well as a house bill to boost crops back to 90 per cent of parity.

It was uncertain even when the hearings would start. Under the current past adjournment of the current session.

Committee Chairman Ellender, D. La., who has opposed bringing the issue before congress, said that today's action could be reversed. But he expressed hope a majority of the committee would take a thorough study of the problem.

The house last week passed by a thin margin a bill to scrap the flexible support system, a move that is being held up by the administration in 1954. This calls for guarantee of 62 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity on such basic crops as corn and wheat.

Bomb Fall-Out Makes Errors In Dating Try

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif.—Radioactive "fall-out" from a bomb test resulted in scientists in New York state making a 1,000-year mistake in dating the earliest inhabitants of the San Francisco bay area, according to local scientists.

The three-carbon dating began in 1952 when the U.S. Navy's Stanford University anthropologist, Wendell M. Stanley, found in the year 1953 that the date of the division's charcoal samples to 100,000 years before present, as determined by radiocarbon dating, is no longer accurate, according to local scientists.

While the samples were in the laboratory, other tests were being made on the Nevada desert—A-bomb tests. Microscopic specks of radioactive debris were blown sky-high and then floated clear across the North American continent, some settling on the professor's charcoal samples in New York.

These samples were duly processed and in March, 1953, the laboratory reported to Grew that his find was approximately 3,000 years old.

He was puzzled. The artifacts, he believed, belonged to an earlier era. He sent the observatory nurse sample.

Meanwhile, laboratory officials discovered the contamination. Grew's later analysis confirmed his doubts of the find. The earliest known inhabitants now appear to have lived on the bay shore near Palo Alto around 900 to 1200 B. C.

Sales Tycoon Says He Just Cannot Rest

CHICAGO, May 19 (AP)—Lloyd Sayre just can't seem to relax. Sayre is president of a leading home appliance producer. He's one of those human dynamos. Some people might say he's a trapped man, because he can't seem to get out of his business. Sometimes he works until midnight.

Sayre was president of a rival home appliance company until a couple years ago when he went to Florida in semi-retirement. "But you can't play only by 'munch' on your business," he said, "and then you get bored all."

Long-Time Businessman

Sayre had been in the appliance business for 30 years. He was recognized as one of the nation's automatic washing machine. Then he decided to take it easy. "I had enough money so my wife didn't have to take my washing," he said. "But the only thing a man does in retirement is listen to his arteries."

Even in retirement Sayre worked part-time as a high-priced business consultant, but when his clients sometimes water off the street, he commends for shedding inefficiency he "just couldn't take it."

"I guess I was used to being the boss," he said.

Humphrey said the committee would report over all points of "audience" and "help develop sound, coordinated national conservation policies."

He also said it would "serve as the public's watchdog in safeguarding the execution of those policies, in the public interest."

Health Tests for Migrant Workers Planned by Panel

BOISE, May 19 (AP)—Federal and state health officials announced today a four-day conference designed to set up a health care program this summer for some 11,000 migrant farm workers in Idaho and eastern Oregon.

Dr. Stanley J. Leland, state director of preventive medicine, said the program would furnish the most complete set of facts ever compiled on health conditions among seasonal farm workers in Idaho.

The program also would check the spread of disease carriers into Idaho, Leland said.

Leland began a conference Monday with 10 doctors and nurses from the U.S. public health service, federal children's bureau and the state health department. It will end Thursday.

The conference is expected to produce final plans for a mobile health clinic which will tour farm areas of southern Idaho, providing physical examinations to all workers and their families.

Plans Made on Education for England Heir

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Prince Charles, the future king of England, is going to become "one of the boys" of the former British school. He is also going to have a special education plan for a king.

The plans for education of Prince Charles announced by the queen and the Duke of Edinburgh last week represent a compromise.

They had wanted their son to have experience outside the palace gates as well as any other boy. This would mean going to classes with boys his own age.

But as a future monarch he is not just like any other boy. He requires schooling in subjects not generally taught—such as constitutional history, royal etiquette and responsibility.

The compromise means Charles will attend certain classes at a famous boys school, joining in sports and games and studying with other students and other standard courses.

Then at home he will have some private tutoring. A master from Eton college will give him intensive instruction in history and French. A professional musician will give him musical lessons. He has shown a flair for mathematics.

By combining classroom work and special tutoring, Queen Elizabeth hopes her son can get his royal education and still experience life in the world outside.

Race Begins: Man vs. Bird In Fast Tour

CHICAGO, May 19 (AP)—A newspaper reporter in a sports car raced a pigeon 284 miles across Illinois to a Chicago suburb today. The odds favored the pigeon.

Reporter John Justin Smith of the Chicago Daily News and a Krieger newspaper, roared out of Rockport, Ill., in a sleek, 188-horsepower Ford Thunderbird.

At the same moment, a homing pigeon named Doris took to the skies.

Doris had only her wings and a pigeon's homing instinct to rely on. But pigeon experts said that, given fair weather and a clear track, Doris should make it home to her loft in Berwyn faster than the six and a half hours allowed in Smith's timetable. It is 284 miles by road; 210 by air.

But Smith's fellow staffers insisted loyally that he is faster than the pigeon. Odds around the copy desk were 50-50, they said.

"After all, the pigeon might beat a wing," a news reporter said hopefully.

THANKS ...

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all of you who helped to make our Magic Valley and Idaho Food Festival such a tremendous success. Your wonderful response proved that Magic Valley people do appreciate the importance of supporting local industries. Due to the huge crowds that packed our store last week-end, we were not always able to give you our usual personal service, and were not always able to keep our shelves filled. We are sorry, but we believe you understood we just couldn't keep up with all those thrifty shoppers. Special thanks go to the hundreds who joined our Limerick Contest. They were all excellent, and our judges have had a hard time selecting the best ones for winners.

Developing of Water Project Usages Asked

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 19—Clarence A. Davis, undersecretary of interior yesterday urged more cooperation on water resources development from states and local communities.

Not many years ago, he said, the water problem was considered a western problem. Now there are serious water problems in New England, areas of Maryland and Virginia, and in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

Wide Problem

"The whole country is becoming conscious of the fact that water is the one basic resource without which neither agriculture, industry nor people, for that matter, can continue to exist," Davis said. His remarks were made in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the central western shippers advisory board.

Davis cited the constantly increasing uses of water and said the federal government cannot supply all of the money needed for these projects. The help of every unit of government is necessary, he said.

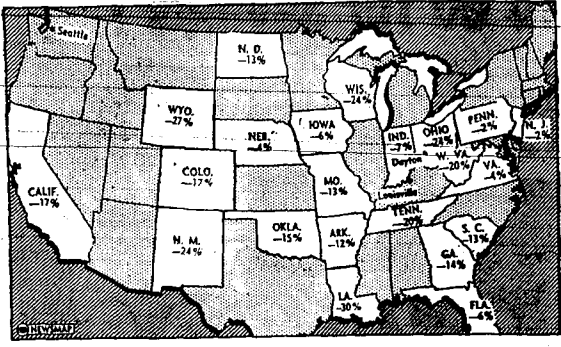

"This does not mean the federal government has withdrawn in any manner from this field," Davis said, but there is no reason why projects cannot be developed at state level.

Money Is Available

If projects are sound, he said, state regulations can borrow money at substantially the same rate as the federal government.

When there is an alternative method of developing water resources he said, there is no reason for putting additional burdens on taxpayers generally.

City Drivers Improving

Twenty-two states reported fewer traffic deaths in January than in the same period a year ago. But the increase in rural traffic deaths canceled a seven per cent urban improvement. The nation's traffic toll for the month was 2,900, which was no better and no worse than a year ago. Newsmap, which indicates those states reporting decreases, also spots the three largest of 35 cities reporting perfect records—Seattle, Wash., Louisville, Ky., and Dayton, O. (NRA)

Secretary of Agriculture Believes in Homey Touch and Faith in Almighty

WASHINGTON, May 19—The big man in therm-rimmed glasses all the while, greeting each person.

In these busy days, most cabinet officers don't bother with such homey touches as shaking hands with each reporter who attends their news conferences. But the secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, does. "I like to shake hands," he says.

Furthermore, Benson, a devout official of the LDS church, undoubtedly is the only cabinet member who would discuss at length with reporters the value of prayer in helping solve his department's problems.

During a recent trip west to observe drought conditions, Benson, a member of the Mormon church's annual conference, gave a sermon suggesting that several governors make it a habit to set aside a special day of prayer for rain.

It since has rained in some of the area. Had a special day of prayer been held?

Benson said he hadn't heard of any. "But of course it would be a good thing—always," he said. "After all the plans for national dairy month, Benson fell back on his favorite when he wanted to say no final decision has been made.

"We haven't firm up our policy for the next year... I would hope the matter would be firm up by next week."

Chief Defends Mrs. Hobby in Vaccine Work

WASHINGTON, May 19—President Eisenhower said yesterday that Secretary of Welfare Hobby has handled the Bolk polio vaccine program and her job generally in a highly efficient manner.

The President's statement was made at a news conference after he was told Senator Mccarthy had described Mrs. Hobby as guilty of "gross incompetency" in the vaccine program. Mccarthy said she ought to be removed from office.

Eisenhower said it would be a waste of time for him to take note of Mccarthy's accusations.

The President went on to say that Mrs. Hobby's record in the cabinet has proved out what Eisenhower learned the good opinion in which she was held during the war as commander of the Women's Army Corps.

Those good opinions are fully justified, Eisenhower said, adding that she has handled her job, including the vaccine program, in a highly efficient manner.

Asked about reports that Mrs. Hobby may resign soon, the President said she placed him on notice some months ago that for personal reasons it might become necessary for her to leave government service.

Minimum Wages Squabble Erupts

WASHINGTON, May 19—A reported squabble within the Eisenhower administration over minimum wage proposals broke into the open yesterday when the labor department refused to recommend that specific new groups of workers be included within the minimum wage law.

Senator Douglas, D. Ill., chairman of a senate labor subcommittee, charged the administration with "an attempt to weasel out" of what he called its previous recommendation that protection of the wage floor be extended to more than two million retail and wholesale workers.

Stuart Rothman, acting wage-hour administrator, told the subcommittee that the labor department was not specifically recommending expanded coverage to the two million workers. He said it simply was asking that congress "seriously consider" whether the minimum wage should not be extended to them in addition to the 24 million already covered, and was proposing a boost in the minimum, now 75 cents an hour, to 90 cents.

Honor

CHICAGO, May 19—The nation's pickle plants will halt pickle production for 50 seconds today in honor of former pickle peddler America's Pickle Week, for whom America is named, and to mark the opening of national pickle week.

Personnel Hired

GOODING, May 19—Gooding city council members have voted to hire Eugene Gibbons and Dee Keller to manage the swimming-pool again this year. Pool hours will be from 7 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Garbage cans will not be emptied in the future unless the cans have a lid and no can of over 30-gallon capacity will be emptied, the council has decided.

Most American cigarettes contain about 2 per cent nicotine.

Campaign

LONDON, May 19—The day of the post-war election campaign for the Conservative Party was marked by a speech by Winston Churchill in which he said there were no more "empty promises" to be made.

Churchill said the Conservative Party had a plan for the future and that it was not a party of "empty promises" but a party of "deeds".

He said the party was not a party of "empty promises" but a party of "deeds".

Committee Views Lashed by Solon

WASHINGTON, May 19—Senator Magnuson, D., Wash., said yesterday a Hoover commission task force has recommended that the nation's water resource development be turned over to a five-member board. He said this would "undo 30 years of orderly progress in every river basin and coastal area."

Magnuson, chairman of the senate commerce committee, said the task force's recommendation to the Hoover commission for the reorganization of the executive branch of the federal government will be made public about June 1.

The recommendation, he said, "literally scraps present civil works agencies for a tight-fisted system which would lend itself to socialism and continuation of a trend to place control of navigation, flood control, power and irrigation projects in the hands of the few."

Body Arrives

DAYTON, O., May 19—The body of Gene Symonds, United Press manager for southeast Ohio who was killed in Singapore by rioting Chinese students, arrives here today by plane.

Symonds' body will be taken to the Home Funeral home for services. Final arrangements have not been disclosed by his nearest relatives here, an uncle, Harold M. Moore, and his stepmother, Mrs. Della M. Symonds.

Fines Imposed

SHOSHONE, May 19—John F. Miller, Halley, has been fined $100 and $6 costs by Justice of the Peace George E. Byard, Jr., on two over-load counts. Miller was arrested by State Patrolman Eugene Hagler and State Patrolman R. B. Poole.

Fred Neides, Marring, paid a $10 fine and costs on another over-load count.

Atomic Research Program Started

PARIS, May 19—Premier Edgar Faure said his cabinet today approved a $285,715,000 research program to make France one of the world's leading nuclear powers. It includes plans for atomic-powered ships.

The decision to embark on the ambitious project was made at a five-hour-plus meeting of Faure and his cabinet that lasted until 1:30 a.m. Also discussed were measures for reducing alcoholism, agricultural and construction programs and other important issues.

WHY SAFEWAY DOES NOT OFFER TRADING STAMPS

RETAIL FOOD STORE taking on a trading stamp plan takes on a big extra expense. Stores offering stamps have admitted they cost from 25c to 50c on $10 of sales. This is really big money when you consider that normal food store profit is about 15c to 25c on $10 of sales. WE KNOW SAFEWAY could not offer stamps without raising prices or lowering quality standards. (Our net profit has not been as much as 20c on $10 of sales since 1931.) We don't believe we would be serving our customers' best interests by adding the cost of stamps to the cost of food.

Polio Vaccine Could Be Hot Political Issue

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The possibility that the administration's handling of Salk polio vaccine could become a real and blazing political issue in next year's presidential campaign is something politicians are just beginning to sense.

There have been some rumblings in congress topped off by the angry demand of Sen. Wayne Morse, D. Ore., that Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby be removed from the cabinet. President Eisenhower was angry when he rejected Morse's idea in yesterday's news conference. He told the reporters that Mrs. Hobby was an uncommonly capable woman with an outstanding record of business, government and military administration.

Will Go On
But the discussion will not end there. There was a hint of more to come in the carefully chosen and brief comment by Adlai E. Stevenson when he returned yesterday to Chicago from his Atlantic tour. He was asked for comment on the administration's handling of the vaccine program.

It was understood to hear that they (the administration) knew all about it and had no preparations for it. Stevenson replied that he refused further comment. The implication of Stevenson's remark is a serious charge that the administration fumbled badly. But the criticism was indirect, implied only.

The brevity of Stevenson's statement is sufficient evidence that the Democratic man of the year in 1952 and, perhaps 1956, is not yet sure in his own mind. He is not sure he could avoid a backfire if he made a political issue of the handling of the Salk vaccine. The health of children is an anxious thing. Stevenson is a more cautious man than Morse, by large measure.

Attitude Watched

What politicians of both parties want to see is the attitude of parents toward a monumental effort, which so far has had his ups and downs, to curb the disease which prevails so particularly on little children. The election and the presidential campaign are a long way off, mostly beyond the 1956 election season. The administration's handling of the program will be in good perspective by then, the effectiveness of the over-all program will have been put to severe although not complete test. The minds of mothers and dads will have arrived at whatever their conclusions are to be.

It would not be fair to say that anyone, Democrat or not, would welcome the vaccine program as a political issue because it would not become such unless it developed serious faults. But if the faults do develop and the parents so find the political issue of the Salk polio vaccine program could be deadly to Mr. Eisenhower and his party.

Matthews Shifted In Game Bureau

SHOShONE, May 19—Claude Matthews has been transferred to the Glenn Perry district by the Idaho fish and game department.

He and his wife and children will move the latter part of this month. Matthews' new territory will include the lower fork of Boise river and part of the Snake river drainage. He has been here seven years. Replacing Matthews here will be William Fordward, recently employed by the Oregon game commission. He is a graduate of Oregon State college in 1934 with a degree in game management. He is unmarried and his parents live in Rochester, N. Y.

Fear of Red Trap in Asia Is Told by Committee Member

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Senator Humphrey, D. Minn., said today the Russians may be setting a trap in southeast Asia by spectacular moves to ease tensions in Europe.

Humphrey, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, said in an interview that he fears the Eisenhower administration may have a "tendency to let-down" in Asia because of its present concentration on European affairs.

"I think the Russians may be moving to ease tensions in Europe and at the same time restraining the Chinese Communists from violence in the Formosa area in order to infiltrate the governments in southeast Asia and cut them off from the free world country by country," he said.

Humphrey called for a reexamination of American policies in Asia, and suggested a number of recent developments there may be significant.

"I think a reported forthcoming visit of Prime Minister Nehru of India to Moscow could be very important to the west in its implications," he said.

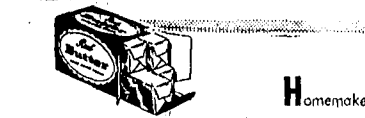

He said Indonesia, "which didn't have a communist problem not long ago," and "Borneo" in its government, "and Borneo" there can be done in winter months.

Contract Planned In Pipeline Work

PORTLAND, May 19 (AP)—Pacific Northwest Pipeline will let within 30 days a contract to install 300 miles of natural gas pipeline on Idaho across the northeastern Oregon mountains to the Columbia river.

Fish, chairman of the firm's board, said the line probably will be completed before next winter. But it will not be linked with the gas fields of the southwest until early summer of 1956. He said the final connection will be laid in Idaho because "work there can be done in winter months."

REAL BUTTER belongs on your family table.

Real Butter is churned from 100% real cream . . .

In fact, it takes 4 pints of cream to make one pound of butter. That's why it tastes so extra good on all hot foods.

Homemakers know that BUTTER is a symbol of good cooking, good eating and good living. They know that whether it's in cooking or at the table, nothing has the appetite-jumping taste of butter. That matchless flavor can't be copied, for only BUTTER comes from the golden cream of milk . . . nature's most perfect food. And, you taste the big difference even more on hot foods.

Your FAMILY deserves Real Butter as much as your guests.

Famed Vessel Could Be Part Of Noted Barn

By ROBERT MUSSEL
JORDANS, England, May 19 (AP)—There is a shabby, old barn in this little settlement of the Society of Friends, the Quakers, that is either one of the most important relics of America's history—or just a shabby, old barn.

Practically everybody agrees that the framework of the barn was made from the timbers of a ship named "Mayflower" sold for salvage to farmer William Russell in 1628. But was it THE Mayflower, the one that took the pilgrims to Massachusetts in 1620? I wish I knew. All I can say after checking around is that some people think it is, but more think it isn't.

Buy's Hulk
The story begins when farmer Russell bought the ship hull for about $500. He upended it on his property in this backwater of London and it made a very serviceable barn indeed.

Some 30 years later he sold his property to the Friends. It was in their ownership that the pillars of William Penn and other Quakers were erected in 1670 and sent to prison even though they argue that they were only worshipping as conscience dictated.

As time went by the barn became a community center for the Friends of the government. It was one of those whom began to wonder whether the similarity of name might be more than coincidental. One of these was Dr. James Rendel Harris, curator of manuscripts of the John Rylands library in Manchester and a well known scholar and author.

Writes Book
He wrote a book in the 1920's which argued that a crack in one of the beams arched across the barn checked with an similar crack in one of the Mayflower beams as reported in the journal of William Bradford, governor of the Plymouth colony.

Dr. Harris convinced a lot of people, but some of his old associates in the Quakers wonder whether he was writing with tongue in cheek. And the ancient buildings preservationists, under whose jurisdiction the barn would come if it were the Mayflower, reports that although the main timbers appear to be ship's timbers, there is no evidence they came from the colonists' boat.

U. S. Dist. Judge Jean E. Breitenstein took "under advisement" the motion after day-long arguments yesterday.

Lawyers for the seven accused of conspiring to teach violent overthrow of the government asked the mistrial on grounds prosecution failed to prove the defendants helped "organize" the alleged conspiracy.

Clean Houseflies Getting Tougher and Harder to Slay

REAL BOYLE
 "We found, for example," he remarked, "that it is easier to trap male flies than female flies, and that flies are somewhat color conscious. They are attracted to a black landing surface but repelled by a yellow colored one."
 Ten years ago the world was hopeful that DDT promised to spell the doom of the household fly. Unfortunately, DDT resistant strains of flies now have developed.
 "It is doubtful if any one chemical agent will ever prove the final answer," Tomasek said.
 Twenty years from now we'll still be looking for new ones. They'll never be a surer way to kill a fly than to hit him with a swatter, but that does take a lot of time and messes up the house.
 Over the years inventors have probably come up with many different kinds of fly traps as they have can openers.
 Tomasek, general manager of the Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical company's agricultural chemical division, still another fly trap using as the lethal ingredient a new insecticide called 1-13-56 or dipterox. It is an organic phosphatene developed by Dr. Gerhard Schrader, a German chemist. Operating on the same principle as nerve gas, it destroys the fly by attacking its central nervous system.

 "But it is only mildly toxic to human beings," Tomasek said. "A 200-pound man would have to drink 600 bottles of insecticide to get a fatal dose."
 Early in the 20th century, glass fly traps baited with beer and sugar were common. Tomasek's experiments with the same principle, but sought to employ psychology to create a trap that would be even more attractive to flies.
 He feels his fly trap is the first that has landing fields especially geared to the fly's own preferences. In essence it is a bottle with a pyramid in the center around which are four flat black landing surfaces in tiers. The tiers are baited with insecticide mixed with a perfumed sugar base to attract the insects.

 "We discovered the flies preferred horizontal landing surfaces—rather than vertical or sloping surfaces," he said.
 "Flies land, ingest the bait and die within 40 seconds. Flies, ordinarily live about 30 days. We found it hard to kill a 6-day-old fly than an 8-day fly was harder to trap than either."
 His explanation for this anomaly is that the older flies aren't necessarily "wiser" or "settler." They simply are probably less adventurous or are less moved by hunger pangs. The average fly seeks a new meal about every three hours.
 "Why is it easier to trap male than female flies?"
 "The male flies roam more," said Tomasek. They are looking for a mate as well as food. The female flies seem to move about only when in search of food. They don't search for boys, he thinks. They lay the eggs of the species doing the courting."
 Tomasek doesn't see his "fly-charmer" or any other manmade flytrap will rid the earth of musca domestica, the common housefly.

 "All you can do is keep them in check in a given area," he said. "It is unlikely that man will ever find a way to get rid of all insect pests. This is as much the age of insects, historically speaking, as it is the age of man."
 "Someone has figured that if all the insects in the world were put out one end of a 200-foot-long line, and all other forms of animal life, including man, were put on the other end, the insects would outweigh them."
 No self-hating wipe out the housefly in our lifetime. For several years the number of flies has been steadily increasing.

American Will Keep Plugging In 'Brave Art'

MADRID, May 19 (AP)—All Harry Whitney needs is to kill 20 or 30 more bulls. Then maybe the hard-to-please Spanish bullfight fans would look him out of the bullring.

That's how Whitney, a little, baby-faced Californian, looks at his troubled career as a bullfighter. He has no intention of giving up his dream of being one of those rarities in the Spanish bullring—an American matador.

Whitney, a Korean war veteran who saw his first bullfight in Spain in 1951, made his first appearance in Madrid's Plaza Alcala bullring last week. It was just a short of a disaster.

Kills Two Bulls
He killed two bulls, but neither with a clean thrust of the sword. In one case, he had to be warned twice by officials to hurry up and dispatch the bull. In three other cases, a bull is taken out and shot and the matador is disgraced.

The critics took a dim view of the performance. "He entered the ring looking as though he had just come out of a Broadway revue," one wrote. "His lack of confidence is given, he still doesn't know how to kill a brave bull with art."

Another critic noted that the 29-year-old American, who has fought in Korea, and said "most certainly he will now think it is easier to fight the Chinese Communists than to pit himself against a bull without making himself look ridiculous."

Trainer in Spain
A tall, well-proportioned fellow who played football and basketball back home at Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., Whitney did not serve the usual apprenticeship in the Mexican bullrings before coming to this country where the bullfight was born. He got his training in small towns around Spain.

When he is not of practicing, Whitney works as manager of an American-owned restaurant that specializes in steaks and barbecued spare ribs.

Despite suggestions by Madrid bullfight experts that he retire gracefully from the ring, Whitney intends to keep plugging. There is no reason, he said, why Spaniards and Latin Americans should have such monopoly on the "national fiesta" in Spain.

Three Explosions Damage Vehicles

SALT LAKE CITY, May 19 (AP)—Three explosions shook parts of Salt Lake City last night, badly damaging a car and a pickup truck.

The blasts were a recurrence in a series of blasts which have kept police hopping for more than a week. Police say the first explosion, at 10:30 p. m., caused no damage. But second later the rear end of a car was demolished. And a third, two minutes after that, the truck was damaged.

Neutral European Belt Seen As Red Wish by Westerners

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—This is one of the latest wanderings in the realm of "yet but she has just joined NATO."

The importance of this country places on a rearmament Germany can be understood from the statement of Gen. Alfred Gruenther, NATO's supreme commander. Without the help of Germany's armed forces, he said, the possibility of a Russian attack could be stopped.

But the Russians know the longing of the West Germans for unification with East Germany. On May 11 Bulgarian held out bait to the West Germans. He said "unification" was possible if there was "good will."

Were the Russians going to offer reunification with this price tag: and out of NATO. Germany isn't rearmament yet but she has just joined NATO.

Both are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), which, nearly every ally of the United States, also in NATO. Yugoslavia is not a NATO member. And Tito insists he is neutral.

Friday the Russian announced Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev would go to Yugoslavia to talk with Tito. Why they say just to establish normal relations.

But Washington wondered: Would they try to win back Tito so that he was no longer neutral but a Russian ally? And, if they couldn't do that, would they try to get a guarantee of neutrality from him?

The Russians, holding that Germany means the war, have tried by threats, propaganda and maneuvering to keep West Germany disarmed.

T. F. Teacher Is Chosen for Roll of Honor

Elise M. Lindgren, a member of the faculty at Twin Falls high school, is included among the nine teachers named the national "Teacher of the Year" honor roll for significant contributions to the improvement of national teaching standards in the June issue of McCall's magazine.

Miss Lindgren's subject is English, but she believes that the modern teacher, in order to make her work enriching for all concerned, must know about music, TV and jet planes, as well as national affairs. She shares her enthusiasms with her students, and in counseling hundreds of girls on vocations.

In selecting the teachers' honor roll, McCall's worked in cooperation with professional educators. The nine winning teachers—and the "Teacher of the Year" Margaret Perry, Monmouth, Ore.—were chosen from a field of outstanding teachers nominated by state departments of education, at the invitation of Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, U.S. commissioner of education, and Dr. Edgar Fuller, executive secretary of the National Council of Chief State School Officers.

Representatives of Dr. Brownell's office and of McCall's observed the nominees at work for several months. Miss Perry, a fourth grade teacher at Monmouth elementary school, was their combined choice for "Teacher of the Year."

Destruction Hits Saigon

This is a general view of Saigon as dense smoke rises from the burning native quarter which was crowded with refugees from the war with the reds last year. No one knows how many died in the fire. Civil war caught an innocent civilian population in the middle of a crossfire that turned the city of two million into a place of fire, death and destruction. (NEA telephoto)

Group Seeks Top-OKs for Federal Dam

BOISE, May 19 (AP)—The Washington County Farm Bureau asked Gov. Robert E. Smylie personally and President Eisenhower by letter yesterday for a high federal dam at Hells canyon.

Everett T. Gunn and Willis Peterson, directors of the farm bureau from Weiser, said the governor gave them a "cordial reception," but indicated he disagreed with them.

Smylie has named a senate committee to reject the current proposal for a federal dam, and indicated he favors the Idaho Power company proposal as a means of getting more kilowatts faster.

Fellition Presented

Gunn said they presented Smylie a petition signed by county farm bureau directors, members of both political parties.

It said Idaho was divided because "the private utility monopoly in order to 'choke hog' or 'hog' has attempted to break down the spirit of cooperation in every possible segment of our organization and state apparently on the basis of 'divide and conquer'."

Have No Quarrel

Irrigation ranchers in western Idaho, it said, "have no quarrel with other ranchers of the state," and "wish for west-wide north Idaho and what is now being done for east Idaho."

Letter to the President

Gunn requested him to "take the same personal interest in the comprehensive development of the Snake river as you are taking in development of the Columbia river basin."

The petition was signed by Gunn, Peterson, Evan Moser, C. H. Potter, A. Dawson Gaster, Dean Hale, W. Clay Bolton, Vernon Chandler and Wilfred E. Gunn.

U. S. Industry Eyes Growing Material Lack

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Shortages again are plaguing prospering industry, "so soon after the big Korean buildup—government officials are pondering whether to push for a new expansion program."

Scarcities of aluminum, copper and nickel haven't vanished despite substantial extensions of the metals industry instead of the national defense stockpile. Some steel products and iron cement have joined the deficit list.

Earlier this year officials asserted the heavy demand to such temporary factors as the spring spurt of auto production, fear of mid-year strikes and price booms, inventory rebuilding, and perhaps a little scare brought caused by international stresses.

But by now the order books at the mills are filling up with orders for the July-September quarter.

Officials are wondering whether the nation's industrial capacity is as well sustained for war or peace, as they had supposed.

Mineralium Director Arthur W. Fleming told an interviewer today it now seems doubtful whether autumn will bring a substantial easing of demand.

"We cannot go on diverting materials from the stockpile indefinitely," he said. "Unless there is improvement in the fall, we will have to consider further expansion of capacity."

Briefing Is Held On AEC's Plans

IDAHO FALLS, May 19 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today opened a two-day briefing for representatives from 15 firms throughout the nation on a proposal to build and operate an engineering test reactor.

About 200 representatives attended.

The AEC has asked private industry to undertake the 10 million dollar to 15 million dollar project and has offered to lease ground at the national reactor testing station, Y-12, near Oak Ridge, Tenn., by October and to take no longer than 18 months.

10 T. F. Boys' State Delegates Receive Briefing Before Trip

Twin Falls 10 representatives to Boys state in Boise June 5, received a preliminary briefing and heard an indoctrination talk Wednesday by Arnold Helwege, member of the American Legion Boys state board of directors.

Those selected to attend the encampment at Boise Junior college and their sponsors are Norman Tolk, Kiwanis; Bob Walton, Knights of Columbus; William Whitwell, Rotary; Garth Brown, BPOE; Joseph Marshall, Kiwanis; Arthur Lindemer, Royal Arch Masons lodge No. 15; Brent Warberg, Rotary; William Alworth, high school student body; Larry Holloway, Lions and William Roth, Kiwanis.

The boys are students of Twin Falls high school. Each was selected by sponsoring groups. A list of 18 candidates, who had expressed a desire to attend the meeting, were offered the various groups by the faculty of the high school.

Helwege explained that only 10 boys from each city or town may attend Boys states because no more than 200 can be accommodated at the encampment.

He encouraged the boys to take an active part in all activities and said one of them may be chosen to attend the national meeting in Washington, D. C.

The boy selected to attend the national meeting receives an expense-paid trip. He pointed out that several years ago John Merrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Merrill, was chosen to attend.

Highway Safety Period Outlined

BOISE, May 19 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie today joined with his counterparts in all of the other states to proclaim a "slow down and live" highway safety campaign from Memorial day to Labor day.

The 1954 traffic fatality record for the same period showed 95 deaths.

Wayne Summers, law enforcement commissioner and coordinator of the Idaho program, said the Gem state is determined to improve on that record this year.

Parking Fines

A total of $5 in bonds was posted with Twin Falls police Wednesday for over time parking violations.

Posting bonds were W. E. Thomas, Berline Hay, Gerald Simons, Howard Allen, Jans Nelson and O. Chaney.

Cherry county, Neb., is as large as the states of Connecticut and Rhode Island combined.

Four Naturalized

SHOSHONE, May 19 (Citywide)— was granted by District Judge D. H. Sutphen Monday to four persons.

They are: Juan Francisco Legarza, Argentinian, formerly of Spain; Jose Manuel Osa, Gooding, formerly of Spain; Ella Gertrude Vanshike, Fairfield, formerly of Germany, and Maude Smith Hobbey, Bliss, formerly of France.

Flight Shows U. S. Strength In Vast Area

The flight of four American fighter-bomber planes from Japan to Australia points up the amazing progress of allied defense organization in that part of the world.

It was a dramatic illustration of American striking power — and its ability to strike both the Chinese Communists and the Russian Communists do some thinking. Dispatches emphasized that the planes could have carried atom bombs.

The Thunderbolt flew 4,830 miles from Tokyo to a point near Sydney, Australia.

Though they were refueled three times in the air by tanker planes, it is still interesting to note that the distance from New York to Moscow is 4,665 miles.

Once Was Weak

Pearl Harbor day found the defenses of the western world in the vast Pacific ocean area woefully weak and completely unorganized.

Australians and New Zealanders, then — and also, Americans and Canadians on the Pacific coast — had long been alert to what was then called the yellow peril. Now we have the more dangerous red peril of communism.

But the defenses of the free world are no longer either weak or disorganized.

Area Is Huge

The Pacific area is so great that a compact organization like that of the North Atlantic treaty is not practicable.

The European defense problem is one of land warfare. That of the Pacific is one of covering enormous expanses of water.

In the Pacific, there are the "Atoms" pact and the "Bretton" pact, binding together eight free countries against aggression.

Dinner Slated

SHOSHONE, May 19 (Payoff)—In the maple grove sponsored by the Shoshone and Richfield-Boys and Gun clubs will be held for youthful competitors at the Lincoln school cafeteria. The losing side will serve dinner to the winners.

Richfield FFA boys destroyed 400 magpies and Shoshone's FFA team about 300 during the contest period from March 15 to April 15. A sports film will be shown and refreshments will be prepared under supervision of the Shoshone Food and Gun club refreshment committee, Chairman Martin and Harry Shoner.

Cowboy Player Was Classed Pro at 16

At 16 years old, Bill Cox has played plenty of baseball, but his high school eligibility was nipped when he was a sophomore. It seems Bill went to Chicago when he was 16 and had played in two games for the Kansas City Monarchs.

BILL COX

Bill Cox has no particular hobbies, although he likes to listen to records. His family lives in San Mateo high school. He played baseball with 13 Bill Dinks on 16 immediately after the first semi-pro ball and feels the 16th day of experience he couldn't have had otherwise. He got two hits in five trips to the plate for the Monarchs. Al and besides that, he is a basketball player.

Billings Bows 8-3 to Ogden In Mound Duel

BILLINGS, May 19 (AP)—The fifth pitching of Tim Dinkelacker and battling of Dick Hicks carried Ogden to an 8-3 Pioneer League victory over last-place Billings Wednesday night.

Hicks collected three singles and drove in four runs in a contest that was a pitchers' duel until the final inning.

Dinkelacker struck out seven and wasn't in serious trouble until the sixth inning when he was out of control twice. Ogden had scored four times in its half of the inning so the "lump" wasn't serious. The victory gave Dinkelacker a 3-1 record for the sixth-place Reds.

Wally Sumner, the Billings starter, was tagged for the loss, his fourth straight. He pitched five innings, gave up five runs and four hits.

Ogden's 8-3 victory over Billings was the largest margin of victory in the Pioneer League since 1935. It was the largest margin of victory in the Pioneer League since 1935.
