Shine fills the polio ward at Magic Valley Memorial hospital as children and adults enjoy the collection of clowns and performers from the Shrine circus.

Although impressed by the collection of clowns, there's hardly a smile among the youngsters. (Staff photo-engraving)

Long Talk on Wheat Quotas Shows Sent and Complexities of Vast Problem

The outcome of the referendum could influence the nation's economy and echo through the 1956 presidential election campaign. If quotas are turned down, adjournment of congress may be postponed while legislators wrestle with a substitute farm program.

"I don't want to gamble with what I've got. A man should have some security and we need price protection for that," Baunier says. Baunier has been farming in the northern great plains since 1918. He's seen prices boom and he's seen them sink to levels where it was better to burn grain as fuel than to sell it.

The marketing quotas for which Baunier will vote limit the amount of wheat a farmer can sell that produced on whatever acreage is allotted him by the government. If he grows more acres than his allotment, he must pay a cash penalty to the government when he sells the wheat from the excess acreage.

The purpose of the allotments and the quotas is to reduce production. The country has an enormous surplus of wheat.

For quotas to become effective, two thirds of those voting must approve them. If they do, the government will support 1956 crop wheat at 70 per cent of parity. If farmers don't approve, the support will drop to 50 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard set by law, seeking fairly to measure the price of farm products in relation to prices farmers must pay for other goods.

To support such prices, the government gives farmers loans at the going percentage of parity. Grains covered by such loans are put in storage.

If the market value of the grain goes above the value of the loan, the farmer can redeem his crop from the government and sell it. But if the market falls short of the loan value, the farmer keeps the money and the government takes over the grain.

Baunier thinks wheat should be supported at 100 per cent of parity. But he'll take 70 per cent because "I don't want to take a chance on wrecking the whole support program and going back to the old days." Before the new deal administration, there were no supports.

Wheat is Baunier's livelihood. But he doesn't think farmers to the east are much concerned.

"Farmers in the east don't care about the price of wheat as long as it's low, because they use it for feed," he says. "We raise good bread wheat and depend upon it."

One of those farmers to the east is Roberto. He hasn't had so much personal experience with farming as Baunier, but what he has had has been pretty good. The Roberto family lives well on the rich farmland of central Illinois.

"I have 47 acres of wheat," Roberto says, "and my acreage allotment is 42. I'll have to pay a penalty. Last year I paid $20 an acre for exceeding my allotment."

"I can't store wheat under the government loan because there isn't enough storage room around Pekin, Ill. I don't want to store it on my farm because of risk of damage. I want to sell my wheat and I don't want to pay a penalty."

Higher Prices Are Predicted On New Autos

DETROIT, June 18 (AP)—New automobiles undoubtedly are going to cost more. How much still is a widely discussed question in automotive trade quarters.

The increase, say veteran industry authorities will result only partly from the new wage settlements made by the major car makers with the CIO United Auto Workers.

All May Go up
In somewhat smaller volume consumption by the car makers are such materials as aluminum, copper, rubber, electrical equipment and a long list of other items. All probably will go up in price.

Industry experts say production costs have been spiraling for many months. At the same time, they say a price hike in new car prices probably will not come until 1958, models are brought out.

Wildcat strikes pared factory shipments of new cars this week, but dealer inventories still are higher than they have been at any comparable period in automotive history.

Urged to Buy
Dealers are counting upon present price inducements to assure a quick leveling off of the week's breaking inventories. Many new car buyers do not know whether higher tags will go on the 1955 model cars currently on stock.

And higher prices always increase rate of sale of used cars. In new or used car markets.

Origin of Ball Park Recognized

"Jaycees Park" sign over the main entrance to the baseball park shows recognition for the source of the park. The Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce donated the land on which the park is built, together with the land used for the park east and south of the ball park. (Star photo-engraving)

Past Projects of Jaycees Serving as Lasting Monument to Group's Service

Nineteen years ago Twin Falls, the rest of the nation and burdened down by an economic depression. But a particularly active group in those days was the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

By borrowing equipment from city officials and labor from the works progress administration, the Jaycees drew-up a plan whereby an owner of a 50-foot lot could get curbing and rolling for about $17.50. The same job today would cost about $150.

The Jaycees in 1933 weren't thinking of improving city streets. One pressing need, they believed, was a swimming pool.

"As a result of the proposed project, it was inconceivable that Twin Falls—a city of 11,000 inhabitants, located in the heart of one of the richest irrigated districts in the United States, where shortages of water for that purpose, was well known, should be without adequate facilities for swimming and water sports."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Twin Falls—the report continued, "decided something had to be done about it, so being that Jaycees, things started to happen."

"Engineers and contractors were consulted and it was found that the pool, if built by contract, would cost between $20,000 and $25,000. The city officials were then contacted and it was found that they had ground they would donate in the recreational park known as 'Harmon park' which they appropriated for the pool."

"They further agreed to make application to federal relief authorities for the project, with the understanding that all local funds needed would be raised by the Junior Chamber. According to it was determined that the project could be financed, providing the Jaycees could raise about $5,000 for the purchase of material and rental of equipment. So the Junior Chamber started out what might seem an impossible task of raising the funds."

"In quick succession the Jaycees sponsored a cement mixer sale, a home song show, auto radio dance, street carnival, a floor dance and a dance review. Along with $888 in unsolicited donations and $500 borrowed from the bank, the Jaycees had soon raised $3,888.88."

"One of the outstanding facts regarding the whole enterprise," the Jaycees report noted, "was that the necessary money was raised without direct solicitation of any individual or firm for contributions to the project."

"But the Jaycees did not stop when they'd raised the necessary money. The report continues: 'Material men in demand was a large amount of lava rock. This material was plentiful, but the problem was to get the rock concentrated at the pool, without the outfit of too much money.' 'Accordingly, firms using trucks in their business donated about 20

Board to Fight Red Influence Eyed by Solon

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Senator Kenneth R. Keating, proposed yesterday creation of a "national board" of cabinet members and civilians to combat international communism in the minds of men everywhere.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Keating, the senate Republican leader, said such a board should be headed by the vice president and charged with exposing "the safety of propaganda used by communist governments."

He said its aim also would be to try to convince non-citizen people "the genuine desire of the American people for world peace and the absence of any desire by them for territorial expansion or colonization."

Keating, who has been critical of some aspects of President Eisenhower's foreign policies, said it is tragic that "the story of the progress and growth of free men in a free society... has never been adequately portrayed."

"We must reach the minds of those presently enslaved with the message that we will increasingly strive to secure their freedom," he said in a long remembrance of the administration's pledges in 1952 to seek freedom for peoples in the Soviet satellites.

The California senator's suggestions were in line with his proposal in an interview earlier that President Eisenhower lay down a "pattern for peace" as the Big Four conference to serve as an acid test of Russia's world intentions.

BALANCE AND PROPORTION

In rearranging your furniture—have you ever had the feeling that something was wrong, although the colors blended and the furniture was in good style and taste? The solution could be in the combination of sizes of furniture and pictures used. In grouping pieces of furniture together they should be in scale with one another to have proper proportion. If we hang a small picture over a broad cabinet or chest the effect would be bad. Two small pictures, similar in size, however, if hung side by side as in the above illustration, would restore proper proportion. The proportions of your furniture should be in keeping with the size of your room. For small rooms use small pieces. As a rule, a small room should have light,

Burley to Decide On Pool Lessons

BURLEY, June 18—Management of the Burley swimming pool reports that no decision has been made as to whether or not Red Cross swimming lessons will be given this year.

In the event they are given they would probably be limited to one-half hour rather than one hour as has been done in the past.

Kenneth Turner, manager, left Saturday to attend a two-week aquatic school in Washington. Art Hurst is serving as assistant manager this year and a new date of lifeguards has been hired. They are Lanis Blauer, Ray Jones, Blaine Quansom, Guy Banner and Lamar Treblecock.

The Burley pool opened for the season Tuesday.

Doctor Says Polio Will Be Mostly Forgotten Disease Within Generation

COLLOR. Vaccines of the next generation will have a terrible effect on the disease. The disease will almost completely disappear from the earth in a few years, diptheria has almost disappeared.

Smallpox was almost completely eradicated. The disease has been changed into a mild disease. But there was no religious prejudice against it.

There are no good methods for the growth and purity of the virus. But over the years, the virus has become less and less virulent. The good which has been done in the past is to have each country have its own stock of virus against the disease.

It is almost certain that the polio virus is a germ. It is a germ which reproduces itself only in the cells of the human body. It is a germ which is spread by contact with the secretions of the infected person. It is a germ which is spread by contact with the secretions of the infected person.

In order to insure maximum safety, long after the tests indicate the virus to be dead, the killing process is continued. And to be doubly sure, samples of the dead virus are injected into the brains of monkeys and other animals. On top of these extreme precautionary measures, the government has imposed even more stringent methods of control. All that the brilliant minds of hundreds of scientists can muster has gone into the manufacture of this vaccine to make it safe and effective.

The last step, of course, is to use the vaccine in making people immune to the disease itself. When you stop to think about it, our bodies are wonderful machines. Disease germs invading the body will stimulate the body to create its own army to fight the invaders. These interesting little soldiers are called antibodies.

Usually an invasion consists of live germs of some kind. But an injection of dead germs also will cause production of antibodies, and in either case, the antibodies go right to work on the invader. When the doctor injects a measured quantity of fluid containing the dead virus into the arm, the body responds by producing antibodies that are fully equipped to kill off any of the live virus that may come along at a later date.

Some-day polio will be a forgotten disease. The fight is being won even now.

Reasoning

CARLSBAD, N. M., June 18.—Lester Plummer, 47, Artesia, N. M., sued C. Buck Caviness, a federal internal revenue agent, for $4,500,000,000.70 and court costs yesterday because the government setled $38.70 in claimed back taxes from Plummer's bank account.

Federal employes are beginning to think only in terms of billions of dollars. So the general citizen may as well, too," Plummer said.

Bids Pending

BOHLE, June 18.—With highway mail office service to begin July 1, temporary bids asked for star route service to and from Twin Falls are still pending, according to Assistant Postmaster Shelby Constant.

Constant, in charge of the postoffice during the vacation of Postmaster J. Walter Hann, said the temporary bids in asking for bids for the star route may be a drawback to more interest in the contract.

Real Meaning of Father's Day Lies in Respect of One's Sons

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, June 18 (U. S. A.)—Is a man a hero to his son on Father's day? If he isn't, no family gift of necktie, belt or robe, will have meaning to him. He has to be like the hill to his boy or the dog to his boy.

Dad is to be looked up to. His nature and the structure of the family require it. To then the family in a bad way.

But being a father is a puzzling job. You do so much for the kids . . . and the kids take it for granted . . . but what do they really know about you . . . and what do you really know about them?

One way to stay a hero to your son is to consider a hero wouldn't do. To deny the frailty of flesh and fathers that's just impossible. The human way (and this is possible) is for a dad to live so that his boy is proud of him—and never do anything deliberately to hurt the boy's pride in being his son.

"The moment of questioning does have to come, of course, by the natural laws of living. Sooner or later a boy whose mistakes have been pointed out to him by his father makes a landmark discovery—his father can be wrong, too. Authority can err. This is a big thing in a boy's life."

time—the first time he catches a parent violating a code the boy believes in—and he remembers it forever. How it affects him depends on what came before, the tolerance his parents showed him. Or the lack of tolerance.

I remember a time when my Dad—who now gets a wreath of flowers for Father's day, used to like to go hunting on the only afternoon of the week he didn't work.

He had four sons and two dogs, and since he was a family man and loved us all he took us all along. He carried the only gun. Boys and dogs had the fun of seeing who could flush up the first rabbit or quail, and it was fun. The boys got a big kick out of showing, now and again, they could start up more game than those big-mouthed beagles.

But one winter day nothing moved but us, hour after hour. Dad who was a splendid shot, became restless for lack of targets.

We started back to the car. We met a farm boy carrying a small coop of pigeons. Dad asked what he wanted for them and the boy said 15 cents apiece and Dad said so ahead and let them loose, one at a time.

I stood there in silence as he shot and he didn't miss many. Neither the farm boy nor Dad, who had run a trapline at the age of 10, thought there was anything wrong. But I had never seen my father fire at a sitting rabbit or a standing quail. And for the first time in my life I was against my father and in favor of something else—the pigeons he was firing at. When it was over, we started on again towards the car. Always before we had brought back and eaten the game from our hunt—rabbit, quail or squirrel. The beagles ran up and sniffed at the fallen pigeons, but we didn't take them home.

I walked with my face turned away from my father.

"What's the matter, son?" he asked, puzzled.

"Nothing, Dad."

"How could I put into words what I felt? He had shown a fault in

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"Needs and the Soul"

By GEORGE L. DAVIS, Pastor, Pilgrim Holiness Church

In the beginning of time there was one of the most blessed circumstances existing that many would imagine. The absence of need! God supplied all needs and was all in all to Adam and Eve. What more would one want than to live in the garden of Eden? That is the dream of most of the masses today. Just live, no worry about parasites. How wonderful! Most of us would say.

But did you know that celestial aspect of life, and today we find ourselves confronted with needs in every direction. Regardless of race, color or creed we hear the cry, "Need-need-need!"

And thus we are lost in the mad scramble of life to the extent our needs become blurred with wants.

"Buggy Whip" Argument Used Against Rezoning, He Claims

Editor, Times-News: Permit me to express my views on the much argued issue, rezoning of the city center. I am a resident of the city for more than 30 years. Arguments used against its development are the same type that buggy whip manufacturers made against the automobile 30 years ago. True, some of the entrances in the city have become eyesores. Why? Various reasons. First, the railroad facilities, motor truck routes, cheap real estate, low taxes, outside city limits, uncontrolled building restrictions—to name a few—outside of which hold true to Blue Lakes boulevard north. I own a business in downtown Twin Falls as well as operating a Main street business. Perhaps my business will be adversely affected. I feel sure it will not benefit my business by having another unattractive shopping area—but that is beside the point. I own my own home on Blue Lakes boulevard north. I fall to see why a fine residential shopping area would lower its value in anyway. To me it would be a convenience toward living. I cannot understand where it is a matter for a few with axes to grind. I am sure it is a good or bad for long range planning but should be up to all the residents in north-central Twin Falls to make the decision. To me it's progress—the one most important element that's made America great. BILL RETHER (Twin Falls)

Gratitude Noted For Legislature OK of New Bill

Editor, Times-News: I wish to express my gratitude and approval to the members of the legislature of this state last session for passing Senate bill 82 and House bill 87 and I wish especially to thank each of the members of the legislature who voted for these bills and advocated them by saying that we live at last found enough men in the legislature to protect health interests. The bill is a strong bill for the abatement of all kinds of nuisances—cesspools, teeyards and any other way of contaminating the water or making it unpleasant to live from the filthy conditions existing. It will stop the pollution of canals. It will stop the maintaining of anything that is dangerous to health. It will stop teeyards in a community, also ferdsards over canals polluting the water, or any other way of means that may contaminate the water making it unsanitary for the people down below who use the water. The law before was sufficient, I think, but there was no penalty on the officers for not enforcing the law, and when you put that clause in, it was a nice one to see that the people get the protection by the attorney general taking charge of the suits. The bills, both of them, are long and cover in detail anything that pollutes the neighborhood with danger of infections, unsanitary conditions. The people of this state should at least congratulate the members of the legislature for protecting them with a law that has a "kick" in it as to the officials functioning, as well as a court action. I have talked with many, and they also expressed the same "thanks" that I herein extend, and I congratulate the people for having men in the legislature who would vote for the abatement of filthy conditions. Ground Observer Unit Work, Need for Volunteers Stressed

Editor, Times-News: This letter is for the citizens of Magic Valley in general and those of Jerome and vicinity in particular. Do you like living in America? Do you enjoy the freedom we have here more than you would enjoy living in any other country? Does this way of life mean anything to you? Think of the friends and relatives who have fought to save this way of life for you and I. Many have given their lives to protect it. When so many of you are given so much, is it asking too much to ask you to give a little of your time to help protect what we have? The ground observer corps must go on 24-hour duty on July 14. That is only one short month away. If we have 180 volunteers in the corps it will mean two hours a week for each one to give. If we have 750 volunteers it will require two hours a month. The GOC was a very important work, but it is something that any of us can do. For instance when we were called on a yellow alert (suspect danger) on July 14, there were unidentified aircraft coming in across Canada (the route on which we are most likely to be attacked). It was through the GOC that these planes were located and reported so that the air force could intercept them and find out what they were. This time it did not happen to be the enemy. The next time it may be. The GOC reports the location and type of plane. Any of us not knowing the type can report it as unknown. The very fact that they know a plane is there is useful. By type I do not mean the make of the plane but the function, whether it is cargo, bomber, fighter, etc. and whether it is single, bi-motor, multi-motor. This is something that any of us can do. All planes that are legitimately supposed to be in the air are known. If a plane is reported that should not be there at the time, then through our reports the air force knows where it is and can intercept it and destroy it. Some of you are probably saying, "What is the need of GOC now? Russia, warring peace. This situation may be a GOC doubt necessary. The Russians are no dumbbells. They know how easy it is to fool the majority of the people. When they get us convinced that they want peace and get us really convinced with the situation and full us to sleep, then is the real opportunity they are seeking and the time that they will strike. If we let this happen all of the lives that have been lost in the previous war will have been in vain. However, if we have an alert GOC throughout the nation we can go far in preventing an invasion from Russia. This would help to make it so that the lives that have been sacrificed so far have not been lost entirely in vain. According to records, the city of Jerome (with the new annex) has a population of 5,300. Eden has 456 and Hazelton has 429 with an acreage population of 12,000. Surely there are enough people who love their country and their way of life out of several thousand that we could get enough to man the observation tower and protect our territory. As the situation stands now we have less than half enough to go on duty and serve the two hours a week. The east end of the county with its small population is as near ready to go on duty as we are. Surely all of the people who appreciate what we have and want to protect it do not live in the east end of the county, do they? Are you willing to protect what we have and appreciate their heritage, their freedom and their country can find out from their postmaster to see who to contact. He Commends Editorial, Gives Stand on Government Wastes

Editor, Times-News: I note your editorial comment in your June 15 issue regarding the waste in government's sloppy housekeeping. I wonder why the Associated Press doesn't do more advertising of our government's shortcomings. Keep the public informed upon our congress and President and his cabinet. The common people are your friends. They are the ones that keep up your paper. I realize the ads are more advertising of our government's shortcomings than continue their advertising should the public discontinue your paper? Sometime previously, Westbrook Pegler gave a very able article on congress' inroads upon the taxpayer's contribution to the government, with the President's approval. If congress and the President are not the ones you allude to, who are? Or are you the "happy housekeepers"? In my opinion, to see that congressmen should be handling picks and shovels. I note also under Tucker's column he says that the Republicans are going to supply the funds to beat Wayne Morse, senator from Oregon, in the 1938 election. It has been demonstrated time and again that money will buy anything—but Heaven. Should our politicians think that they can buy heaven, they should read the St. Matthew book of the New Testament, chapter 21. I am afraid when St. Peter at the pearly gates he will ask them what they did on earth when they were here. They served the people in congress, he will hand them $2,500 and tell them to go to hell. When the President tells St. Peter what salary he received, St. Peter will tell him—what's said while on earth, that it would be as easy for a camel to walk through the eye of a needle as for the rich man to go to heaven. As I understand, the President draws $100,000 a year, plus $75,000 that is taxable. In my mind, no man on earth is worth $100,000, and the as a retired five-star general draws also about $100,000 a year. Should Ike or any other drawing that amount did, the world would go on the same without a rattle on the sea. Most all public officials—in my opinion, never think of efficiency, and only think, "How can I handle this or that to gain votes?" This

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Father is entitled to his day, a good day, one of those bright, sunshiny days with sky high and blue as a Madonna's mantle and her white wings wafting away.

Against this lovely background father would like best the smiling, cheerful, loving, family group to whom he has devoted his life, for whom he has given up many a wish, many a bit of pleasure, many a cherished hope.

When the boy has so often shaken his head over, who so often has given him a kick, comes coyly to his side and slips a beribboned package into his hand, says, "For you, Dad. And I earned the money for that book myself. It's the one you said you'd like to read." The plate is washed clean. The boy is worth a million rubies.

And when sister comes along with a smile that threatens her ears and says, "Come along, Dad. We're ready. You should see what's coming. Your daughter's dad rates high. I can tell you." and there is the table in full dress with his family standing behind their chairs, all a glow of affection — well, it's just wonderful what a jump means to a father.

Dad rarely knows how high he rates with his children. He does not hear his boy say with such a thrill

UNKNOWN IOWAN TIES HOGAN ON FINAL GREEN OF NATIONAL

Jack Fleck Shoots Three Under Par to Tie Master; 18-Hole Playoff Set Today

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18 (AP)—Jack Fleck, a hollow-cheeked unknown from Davenport, Ia., nailed a spectacular birdie on the final green today to tie four-time winner Ben Hogan for the National Open golf championship. They had 72-hole scores of 287. The tournament, flashed in on a wave of birdies wit, a three-under-par 67 an hour after Hogan apparently had won the title. The two leaders clash in an 18-hole playoff Sunday.

Byron Nelson, veteran pro from Roanoke, Tex., uses a wood to get out of the rough on the second hole of the second round of the U. S. Open at the Olympic club in San Francisco. On his next shot Nelson chipped to within 18 inches of the cup and made a par 4 on the 390-yard hole. (AP Wirephoto)

Grid Deal for Shaw Allows Baseball Play

PORTLAND, Ore., June 18 (AP)—Quarterback George Shaw, the No. 1 choice in the pro football draft, has agreed to play for the Baltimore Colts under an agreement by which he also can play professional baseball.

Shaw, the nation's total offense leader at the University of Oregon last year, has two seasons before he is due for military service.

Shaw was a star centerfielder for the University of Oregon baseball team this spring. The 180-pound quarterback played four years of varsity football at Oregon.

Announcement of his signing was made in Baltimore by Colt president, general manager, Don Kellest. He said Shaw agreed to a one-year contract. Salary terms were not disclosed, but local speculation said he may receive $17,000.

Joe Ziegler, general manager of the Portland baseball team, said he had talked to Shaw about playing baseball. "I'm interested in George," he said, adding he planned to talk to him again soon.

Shaw, who also will play in the annual all-star football game in Chicago, must report to Baltimore in the middle of July.

Ike Notes Pair of Birdies in Score

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower mixed work with golf Saturday and happily reported a couple of birdies after an 18-hole round.

The Presidents spending the weekend at his farm home here, played the Gettysburg Country club this morning with an old army friend, retired Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins.

After the match, Eisenhower told a group at the club house he had carded two birdies. He related that with a smile but showed no enthusiasm whatever in announcing that he also had a pair of sevens. There was no word on his score for the 18 holes.

He said that final putt "looked mighty tough." Hogan's golf rounds were almost forgotten in the late afternoon in the excitement over the achievement of "dark horse" since Sam Parks came out of nowhere to win the open at Oklamont, Pa., in 1935.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

History is speckled with the names of women who homesteaded their own farms in the west. But in modern times the role of homesteader has been left pretty much to men.

Mrs. Eves Adams, Merrill, Ore., is an exception to the trend. She drew No. 32 in the bureau of reclamation drawing at RUPERT on May 27 and is planning to clear the land and work the farm.

Currently Mrs. Adams is farming a veteran lease of 76 acres on Tule lake. She has a son, a daughter, seven grandchildren and a sick husband. "All are farmers and all we need is land," she says.

Mrs. Adams was in the air force during World War II, serving in a weather squadron at Ft. Des Moines and Mitchell Field in England. She also worked as a weather observer for a year at Langley field, Va.

"I have worked all my life," she said. "I waited tables and did housework to get through school. I have farmed and taken care of livestock on irrigated land for many years. I understand a good deal of it as it is done here and I believe I can learn the methods in a new country."

Tim Daley, Jerome, is having a bit of a time getting accustomed to his new name of "governor." When greeted on the street with "Hi Gov.," it takes him a moment to realize he is the object of the hail.

A modest lad of 17, he is more than thrilled to have been elected governor of the Magic Valley. He is the son of a prominent family in the Magic Valley.

Tim's favorite pastime and hobby is radio. He spends hours taking them apart and studying their mechanical functions. He builds amplifiers and other equipment.

In school Tim was voted student body president for the coming year. In his sophomore year he was president of his class. In his junior year he was vice president.

Tim also is interested in square dancing, especially in calling and on many occasions has called for the Magic Valley Squares with his father. He was to have been folk dance instructor at the Girl Scout day camp this spring.

This summer he is being employed by the state highway department in the office. On Saturday, Arda Swan, who was named queen of the Outlaw day at Richfield last week, rode a Brahma bull in the Richfield rodeo. She is no novice in the rodeo arena but has competed in calf and Brahma bull riding contests since she was 10 years old.

Also a fancy rope twirler, she broke her arm riding her first horse when only 3 years old. At the age of 4 she was cutting cattle and recently she has been roping Brahma calves in workouts for the rodeo on Sunday.

Cows on lush pasture tend to give large amounts of milk, but to lose weight unless they are fed grain and hay supplements.

State championship teams in livestock judging, meals, and poultry will represent Idaho at the national contests in Kansas City next October. Dairy cattle and dairy products judging teams will compete in national contests at Waterloo, Ia., the same month.

Results of the contests will be announced at the awards assembly Thursday morning.

Conferences will be held in the evening. In charge of the state contests are Emory Howard of Boise, state supervisor of vocational agriculture; H. A. Winner and Dwight Kindig of the department of agricultural education of the University of Idaho.
