WASHINGTON—A certain prominent Republican in Washington is quoted as saying that he would like to see George M. Humphrey, secretary of the treasury. They consider the "entire steel-and-iron" industry. Roosevelt would be held to the "economic royalty" which he sprays.

Humphrey's "demand" for curtailing or curtailing a "drain" for the "national's" certain corporations furnishes an ironic allusion to the charge that the Eisenhower regime is a "big business administration."

For the former House speaker, Secretary Charles E. Wilson, former General which heads the "big business" in the arch-capitalist at Washington, instead—Humphrey is backing such great corporations as United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft companies.

Bay Reeks
Boston Edison and many other interests seeking tax favors at the expense of the United States treasury.

TAX WRITE-UP PROCEDURE—Secretary Humphrey's current offense is his suggestion for terminating the "entire steel-and-iron" industry. The procedure enacted after the Korean war outbreak as a defense measure. It has cost Uncle Sam at least three billion dollars in the past.

IN A YEAR—The production of steel, aluminum, pig-iron, machine tools and munitions, the 1950 law permits corporations to amortize new plants and facilities in five years. It means huge savings in taxes.

A $100,000 plant, for instance, can deduct from taxes approximately $20,000 a year under the five-year plan. The amount which costs more money will be spread over 20 years, possibly more, with heavier tax payments to the government.

BILLIONS INVOLVED—Since the law enactment in 1950 about 20,000 write-off certificates have been granted, involving about $1 billion in new plants and equipment. Almost 700 requests are now pending on property costing four billion dollars. The more reports are submitted, the more money will be paid out.

INDUSTRIAL DISPENSAL—He had used this "emergency measure" to stimulate industrial dispersal against an atomic attack, offering bonuses to plants which are "dispensed" to the "defense" industry. He also used it to persuade firms to move into areas of chronic or serious unemployment, which necessarily involves a heavy deal to pressure or regional and partisan politics.

Unlike his great predecessors, Secretary Humphrey does not believe that the treasury should perpetuate the "entire steel-and-iron" industry. He believes, to collect taxes, not to remake the national economy or landscape.

PENTAGON INVOLVED—As usual, the military experts have become involved in this controversy. The number of military mobilization which has been debating the question, include Defense Secretary Wilson. The others are top officials of the military establishment.

Pentagon spokesmen contend that the "emergency" has not ended, and will not end until the "cold war" has been completely won. They contend that the "cold war" or the other. Overnight expansion may be required any time, they warn, and the law should be kept in effect until after returns are in from the Geneva conference.

THE RESERVE FIASCO

There are times when congress underrates the American citizen pretty badly. The issue of building an adequate reserve is a perfect example. Polls have shown again and again over the years that Americans believe in such a reserve and are prepared to bear the burdens it would entail. But a good many of the nation's lawmakers consistently act as if they consider the citizen's face the tough reality of the situation. They have proposed, for military training like plots of a foreign government. They convey the notion that they fear even the slightest gesture toward a sound program spells death for them at the polls.

Not until 60 hours before the laws were due to expire—did congress at last pass a few bills to "repeal" the draft and a two-year renewal of the doctor draft. And even at that late date a surprisingly large vote was mustered in the house to send both bills back to committee.

A draft law, of course, is a bare minimum as a defense measure. It simply provides a flow of replacements for existing armed forces stationed in America and around the globe. It does nothing to build a backlog of trained men for military emergency.

For that eventually, this country sorely needs a substantial pool of skilled military manpower. All the experts are agreed that in days-and-weeks would be the first few hours of a major military emergency.

It is not time for the military establishment to prepare a vast citizen army for the urgent military tasks to be performed in that critical period.

The best conceived reserve plans already have gone down the drain as impossible of men who prefer to face reality only when disaster is upon them.

What remains is a plan that would boost today's reserve of 700,000, composed largely of veterans, to 2,000,000. This means a won overwhelming approval from the house armed services committee—and was whipped through the house by voice vote. It does not contain the anti-segregation feature which was tacked up a similar bill more than a week ago.

Rep. Adnan Powell of New York pleaded for his amendment amendment which was defeated 101 to 52. If he had succeeded the plan clearly would die a second death.

It needs a 200,000 "disaster" out against inserting this feature in a reserve bill. The place to settle the segregation issue is in the larger arena of life, not in the armed reserves. The need for trained reserves is too great for a program to be hampered by social issues which reach far beyond its bounds.

It would be foolish to pretend, however, that a minimum reserve plan like the one presently under consideration is not also in danger from chronic opponents of all adequate training programs.

Men who would delay this or some respectable alternative plan much longer are, in the view of some, throwing the whole defense burden on veterans of the first world war. It already has made a major contribution to the country's safety.

Certainly it is clear that they are toyng with the security of the United States.

LIFE IS PRECARIOUS

If you don't think this mechanized civilization of ours functions on a slender margin of safety, listen to this:

An elderly woman's baby sister parked her car on a slope in a suburb of New York City. Either she didn't put the brake on firmly, or some youngsters—playing—around her car released it.

Sometime later, driverless, it rolled down hill, crashed through a barrier and dropped several feet to the tracks of an electrically powered railroad line. The impact bent the tracks.

Rush hour trains pouring out of the city were backed up for miles. Harrassed commuters on trains anywhere near stations piled up in a telephone booth and headed for convenient pickup points along the rail line.

Soon traffic around these suburban cities was clogged for blocks with honking, steaming vehicles. Wives, so near and yet so far, treated and drove their husbands, who were stomped up and down station platforms.

It's just that extra notch on the emergency brake that holds this thing together, folks. So if you want to keep the country orderly, fasten that level well.

HIRE A SHIP!

Some of the business of the Republican convention in San Francisco next summer may be transacted in smoke-filled state rooms.

Len Hall, chairman of the Republican national committee, is beginning to doubt whether the city's hotels can furnish enough rooms for the expected crowd of 40,000 persons. So he is negotiating to rent a luxury liner for the overflow.

At the place the Hawaiian run, the figures, could house 500 persons and tie up at the dock not too far from downtown hotels.

A doctor says that the sense of hearing is temporarily dulled by eating. Especially when the waiter says, "Who gets the check?"

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

They have proposed, for military training like plots of a foreign government. They convey the notion that they fear even the slightest gesture toward a sound program spells death for them at the polls.

Not until 60 hours before the laws were due to expire—did congress at last pass a few bills to "repeal" the draft and a two-year renewal of the doctor draft. And even at that late date a surprisingly large vote was mustered in the house to send both bills back to committee.

A draft law, of course, is a bare minimum as a defense measure. It simply provides a flow of replacements for existing armed forces stationed in America and around the globe. It does nothing to build a backlog of trained men for military emergency.

For that eventually, this country sorely needs a substantial pool of skilled military manpower. All the experts are agreed that in days-and-weeks would be the first few hours of a major military emergency.

It is not time for the military establishment to prepare a vast citizen army for the urgent military tasks to be performed in that critical period.

The best conceived reserve plans already have gone down the drain as impossible of men who prefer to face reality only when disaster is upon them.

What remains is a plan that would boost today's reserve of 700,000, composed largely of veterans, to 2,000,000. This means a won overwhelming approval from the house armed services committee—and was whipped through the house by voice vote. It does not contain the anti-segregation feature which was tacked up a similar bill more than a week ago.

Rep. Adnan Powell of New York pleaded for his amendment amendment which was defeated 101 to 52. If he had succeeded the plan clearly would die a second death.

It needs a 200,000 "disaster" out against inserting this feature in a reserve bill. The place to settle the segregation issue is in the larger arena of life, not in the armed reserves. The need for trained reserves is too great for a program to be hampered by social issues which reach far beyond its bounds.

It would be foolish to pretend, however, that a minimum reserve plan like the one presently under consideration is not also in danger from chronic opponents of all adequate training programs.

Men who would delay this or some respectable alternative plan much longer are, in the view of some, throwing the whole defense burden on veterans of the first world war. It already has made a major contribution to the country's safety.

Certainly it is clear that they are toyng with the security of the United States.

LIFE IS PRECARIOUS

If you don't think this mechanized civilization of ours functions on a slender margin of safety, listen to this:

An elderly woman's baby sister parked her car on a slope in a suburb of New York City. Either she didn't put the brake on firmly, or some youngsters—playing—around her car released it.

Sometime later, driverless, it rolled down hill, crashed through a barrier and dropped several feet to the tracks of an electrically powered railroad line. The impact bent the tracks.

Rush hour trains pouring out of the city were backed up for miles. Harrassed commuters on trains anywhere near stations piled up in a telephone booth and headed for convenient pickup points along the rail line.

Soon traffic around these suburban cities was clogged for blocks with honking, steaming vehicles. Wives, so near and yet so far, treated and drove their husbands, who were stomped up and down station platforms.

It's just that extra notch on the emergency brake that holds this thing together, folks. So if you want to keep the country orderly, fasten that level well.

HIRE A SHIP!

Some of the business of the Republican convention in San Francisco next summer may be transacted in smoke-filled state rooms.

Len Hall, chairman of the Republican national committee, is beginning to doubt whether the city's hotels can furnish enough rooms for the expected crowd of 40,000 persons. So he is negotiating to rent a luxury liner for the overflow.

At the place the Hawaiian run, the figures, could house 500 persons and tie up at the dock not too far from downtown hotels.

A doctor says that the sense of hearing is temporarily dulled by eating. Especially when the waiter says, "Who gets the check?"

POT SHOTS

IT COSTS MORE

Dear Shooter:

There has been lots said and written concerning the "American revolution" of shorter and shorter hours and more and more pay. I have watched the "American revolution" in the making. "Where will it end?"

Right now, the answer to that particular question is: Right beyond the door, but I know the explanation for the shorter hours and higher pay follows just as naturally as night follows day and vice versa.

As a worker's hours are reduced, he naturally has more leisure time. Right? And so with more leisure time, he finds more things to do and more places to go. Right? So his costs more money and he has to get more money each week.

So every time you cut the worker's hours, he finds more to do with his leisure time which costs more money and with the hourly rate of pay he builds up, the employer has to keep cutting his hour!

TECHNICAL DATA

Maybe I'm getting a little bit too technical, but this is one of those small things that I pick up a paper, turn on a radio or just get involved in some small talk. It seems this little technicality keeps cropping up. So let's get it aired for once and all and it'll be done with.

There is no such thing as a "cent" in the technical world. It is a unit of the ingredients used in the main CONCRETE. That's the same stuff that's used for foundations under houses, etc.

So, please, if you're talking about the dry, powdery stuff, that's all right. But if you mean the hard, rock-like stuff, that's concrete. It just like dough and bread. Baked dough becomes bread. Baked concrete becomes concrete.

KILL JOY

We've been told there is nothing to gain by looking into the past. That we must always "look to the future." This may explain why there are so many clock-watchers. And calendar-watchers.

It is a pity that having Magic Valley mothers hunt me down for a rag and feather party. I feel it is my duty to warn them to enjoy our nice summer weather. And particularly, Magic Valley children should be warned to swim while they can.

Already the shadows are lengthening as the sun slips toward the south. But each morning day brings clearer the inevitable. Labor day is only seven weeks hence. And SCHOOL follows Labor day.

I dread it.

Health Board Picks Lawyer For Chairman

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The Idaho board of health elected Boise attorney Paul H. Boyd chairman yesterday and named L. J. Peterson to continue as state health director.

Peterson has been acting as health director since the death of Gov. Robert E. Smylie in 1953. When the board came into being, Peterson was administrative officer of the state health department.

Dr. Alfred M. Popma, Boise, president of the Idaho State Medical Association and the American Cancer Society, was elected vice chairman of the board. Peterson will be secretary.

Boyd, who helped draw up the legislation creating the board, said it would accept a $100,000 budget. He said he could not predict whether the director of mental health or a director of public health, also called for in the law, would be appointed at this time.

Awful Outbreak

He said the board was awaiting the outcome of pending federal legislation before deciding what to do about the outbreak of typhoid fever in the new juvenile delinquency code. The legislature gave it a role in handling the delinquent and the so-called youth reformation act.

Boyd said the board contemplated the changes in the juvenile delinquency code in the state health department in regard to Salk polio vaccinations. Peterson has questioned the safety and effectiveness of the vaccine and said there would be no further mass inoculations in Idaho.

Tells Makeup

"The board is primarily a policy body," Boyd declared. "We do not feel we want to get very far into the details of the law."

Boyd said all of the board's meetings would be open, except for preliminary hearings on sterilization of mentally defective persons. He said the board probably meet every three to five weeks or so. He said the board would be held throughout the state, not just in Boise or at the state mental institutions which come under the board's purview.

Child Is Caught On Wheel's Top

WOODEN, Utah, July 19 (AP)—As Lawrence N. Yankley backed his car from his driveway here Sunday night, he felt a bump and stopped.

Checking, he found an infant atop a wheel of his car, pinned between the fender and the wheel, where it had apparently been rolled up by the wheel's motion.

The child, most likely Mary D. Unshiner, son of Yearwood's neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Unshiner, was in critical condition at a local hospital.

RKO Studio Sold

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 19 (AP)—Perhaps the largest cash deal in movie history yesterday was the sale of RKO Studio to General Tire and Rubber company.

The deal, which has been reported as a new high in the entertainment industry, is valued at $25 million.

Under the agreement the new RKO owners acquire control of 400 to 500 of its old films, which presumably will be shown on its television network. There have been reports that it plans to turn the studio into a center for making new movies for TV.

GOODING, July 19—Nineteen-year-old Catherine Gilmore, Hagerman, was listed as out of danger and "showing improvement" by her physician Monday night. She is hospitalized at Gooding Memorial hospital because of a brain contusion which was thrown from a highway horse.

Cool Canadian Air Beats Hot U.S. Covering

By United Press
Cool Canadian air spread over New York and New England today, bringing relief from a heat wave which has kept temperatures near 100 degrees.

The weatherman said the cool front was poised along a line extending across the upper great lakes and might also cool off the muggy east.

Meanwhile, heavy rains hit the southwest and frank conditions attributable to the weather cleared seven times in Kentucky and Louisiana.

Creeks and rivers rose fast today in western Texas, where almost five inches of rain fell in the past 48 hours. The dry Big Bend country of southwest Texas took the brunt of the downpour, and the rains were expected to continue today and tomorrow.

Two tornado clouds were reported in Texas last night, and four persons were electrocuted last night trying to help each other after an electric line fell on a parked car following a rainstorm.

At Owenboro, Ky., three teenagers were killed when a lightning struck a large tree in their yard which had sought shelter from a sudden thunderstorm.

Meanwhile, temperatures continued cool in the northwest but ailed

Handicap

BURLEY, July 19—Thru from his horse Sunday afternoon, Orville Udy, Malin, drove his auto 15 miles to his home before he was able to get it started.

Udy said he was thrown from the animal in a pasture and decided to crawl to his car when he noticed a bull eyeing him. Reaching the car, he said he realized he would be unable to open the gate so he forced the machine against a fence post until he drowned the fence and could drive over it.

He was driven by members of his family to Cottage hospital, Burley, where he was reported in an antisympy condition.

as usual in the far southwest. Readings were expected to reach 100 or so in Nevada and California desert areas.

Morocco Puts Sore Points in Big 4 Meeting

By United Press
The ugly situation which has developed in French Morocco may prove embarrassing to the allied negotiators in Geneva.

Premier Edgar Faure, who represents France at the "big four" conference, is being closely advised of the situation.

A representative of the Moroccan independence party has called President Eisenhower asking him to demand that France stop the "massacres" in Casablanca, the Moroccan capital.

Magazine Facing Huge Claims Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 19 (AP)—Tobacco heiress Doris Duke, one of the world's richest women, accused Confidential magazine of depicting her in a recent illustrated article of "sipping gin" with a "brown-skinned individual" in a manner that would imply an intimacy between the parties.

Clepper said Miss Duke was not interested in the "muddy" personality and would give whatever damages she might wish to charity. He said she filed suit to defend her good name and to discourage this magazine and other of its kind from making similar unfounded attacks on innocent people.

U. S., Britain, France Show Different Bids for Security

GENEVA, July 19 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France went to Geneva to speak "with one voice" at the Big Four summit conference, but they showed marked differences of opinion on the first day.

President Eisenhower said in his opening statement that the talks were designed to find a basis for "accommodation" that will make future concrete solutions possible.

British Prime Minister Anthony Eden offered Russia a five-power non-aggression pact with a demilitarized buffer zone between east and west.

French Premier Edgar Faure suggested a security organization to include all European countries as well as a new disarmament deal.

A first agreement of the western peace plans led observers to conclude that these views reflected western agreement on the broad principles of a possible settlement.

Western observers were struck by President Eisenhower's policy statement, which was "sober and conciliatory" in outline of allied strategy for future diplomatic moves.

But they also noted its cautious and noncommittal air, which contrasted with the more firm British and French approach to the methods for a European settlement.

Interest focused particularly on the vital question of European security which all three western government chiefs mentioned, but with a marked difference of emphasis.

The portrait was of himself, a young man with a serious expression, looking directly at the viewer.

Eden envisions an arrangement whereby the total of men and arms on each side in Germany and its neighbors could be agreed upon between east and west, and be accompanied by reciprocal controls.

France has its own ideas, Faure suggested that the western powers sign mutual security guarantees with the Soviet, under which any nation attacking Russia would face the aid of other western European union or NATO countries.

Moreover, France envisions a security organization to include all European nations willing to join it, with additional defensive guarantees.

This would approach the Soviet concept of an all-European security pact, but the essential French provision is that the western regional defense organization—the WEU and NATO—would remain intact along with the Soviet bloc's "eastern NATO" formed under the Warsaw pact.

The United States disclosed its readiness to modify its demands in control by agreeing, as a first step, to dependable ways to supervise and inspect military establishments so that there can be no fruitful surprise. This was held to indicate an abandonment of the pre-

Account Is Noted Of Near-Tragedy

SPOKANE, Wash., July 19 (AP)—The story of a near-tragedy during the dedication of the new academy at Denver last week was revealed by the air force yesterday.

A B-12 bomber with 20 men aboard lost a big section of its tail as it headed for Denver to fly over the ceremony. The plane was about 20 miles from Denver at the time, and loss of the 7-foot high rudder section left the craft without effective controls, the air force said.

It made an emergency landing with the help of the airman controls on its wings and a sister bomber that flew up alongside to accompany it to Ellsworth air force base, S. D., for a safe landing. The lost rudder was found on "the ground" near Laramie, Colo.

Plant Acquired

BOISE, July 19 (AP)—Balfour Stores formally acquired ownership of the King-Packing company plant in Nampa yesterday, Boise district manager L. J. Dobson announced.

Dobson said Edwin Hetschko, formerly in charge of the Zenith Metal company plant in Los Angeles had been named manager.

Ruling Given

EL PASO, Tex., July 19 (AP)—Federal Judge R. E. Thomson held yesterday that any segregation in the University of Texas system is unconstitutional in ruling that a Negro girl must be admitted to Texas Western college this fall.

Judge Thomson, upon request of Negro attorney U. S. Thayer, Dallas, rendered a declaratory judgment about the Texas system and refused to dismiss a non-aggression suit brought by Thelma White, El Paso, against Texas Western college.
