Cowboy Evangelist

KEN BOEN

A cowboy, rodeo clown and bull fighter, is an evangelist during the winter months. Boen, who is appearing at the Jerome County fair and rodeo this week, has been serving in the dual capacity since 1951. (Staff engraving)

Rodeo Clown at Jerome Fair Is Evangelist During Winter

JEROME, Aug. 11.—To be a real cowboy and perform in the rodeo is the aspiration of many children, but the advice of Ken Boen, rodeo clown and bullfighter, is to "get into a church to learn more about life and to make life fuller, richer and have more meaning."

Boen, with a new act "The Arkansas Traveler," will appear Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Jerome fair and rodeo. A tall, 225-pounder, he is so softy and is in the arena as a bullfighter to stop the bull if it becomes necessary. All the time he is clowning he has a constant smile on his face, and the audience loves him as he pulls one antic after another.

He loves it, too, but he has taken many a spill, broken quite a few bones and has had plenty of bruises. But when Boen isn't clowning, he is preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ.

In the south he is known as the Cowboy Evangelist, and he and his wife, Lorna, spend the winter months going from town to town and church to church "spreading the gospel."

He accepted Christ on May 5, 1951, at 9:30 a.m. under an oak tree in his backyard in Fort Smith, Ark. Up to that time his life was nothing, he smiled but he was sad inside. But since then I have had a real purpose

'Deadline' for '56 Plans Set By Stevenson

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Adlai E. Stevenson said last night he will announce by the end of November whether he will try for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

The 1953 candidate of the party told an informal gathering of reporters:

"It will do what is best for my party and not what I think is necessarily best for myself."

Stevenson said he does not regard President Eisenhower's administration particularly in view of Democratic capture of senate and House in 1954.

The former Illinois governor declined to say whether he already has made up his mind to try once more for the Democratic nomination. But some of the newsmen in his audience said they got the impression Stevenson wasn't exactly reluctant.

Stevenson laughed off a question whether he would be making statements of a kind he did yesterday unless he were going to try for re-nomination.

Among those statements were a number of slaps at the Eisenhower administration on foreign domestic policy, although Stevenson did credit Eisenhower with "sharply reversing the trend of the last three years" in international affairs at the Geneva Big Four conference.

Clubs Meet

HAERMAN, Aug. 11.—Six 4-H members met at the Grange hall Monday evening for practice judging under the direction of William Talley, Gooding county home demonstration agent. Three cooking classes, two sewing and one health class were represented.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the leaders of the groups. The general meeting of 4-H clubs will be held at 8 p.m. Aug. 18 in the Grange hall.

will wear show, later clowning and he presented his famous act, the Ole Gray Mare, which is greatly copied today. He has appeared with this act in Madison Square garden for the last six years. His new act, the Arkansas Traveler, has been patented.

Boen will preach at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Bible Baptist church.

Benefits Credited To Ike's Regime

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell today claimed for the Eisenhower administration the credit for "the peace and prosperity we are enjoying today for the first time in 30 years."

In a speech prepared for the Massachusetts federation of labor, Mitchell said the current economic and foreign affairs situation "did not just come along like rain in April."

"The fact is that economic well-being, high employment, high production, steady prices and peace are the result of a carefully devised structure," he said.

Extensive Pacific Area Study Starts; Possible Benefit Told

LA JOLLA, Calif., Aug. 11.—While some scientists are turning their eyes upward for man's first attempt to reach into space, another international group is looking the other way—probing the mysterious depths and currents of the Pacific ocean.

A fleet of nearly 100 vessels is roving the northern Pacific in the first attempt in history to chart in a single month the sea's currents, tides, winds, depths and death temperatures, and other phenomena.

The vast exploring is called "Operation Pacom" and involves vessels, scientists and crewmen from the United States, Canada and Japan. The benefits that will result are varied.

Scientists hope to develop new navigational aids and weather forecasting techniques. They hope to discover new fishing grounds and learn more about the migrating habits of fish. They may discover new oil reserves.

And they may figure out exactly why an empty whisky bottle dropped in the California tide three years ago washed up on the shores of Saipan last February.

Commander of the American fleet involved is Joseph L. Reid, Jr., 32, of the University of California's Scripps institution of oceanography. A native of Baytown, Tex., he volunteered for navy duty in World War II and was commissioned an ensign in 1943.

For F. Baird which is ranging at 10 knots off the California coast as far south as Acapulco, Mexico, and northward to Seattle. This is the southeast sector of Norpac.

Another American contingent, based at Honolulu, is covering the central section.

The Canadians, and a crew from the University of Washington, are tracking the winds and currents west of Canada and Alaska. The Japanese have nine ships following the Japanese current north from Hong Kong to above the Aleutian Islands.

The ships are measuring anything that might be pertinent to a better understanding of the mysterious sea. The scientists also are collecting floating plants and unusual fish.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

The biggest of the big is one of America's recurrent worries. In politics the words "big business" and "big thing" have the potency of blinding light.

Considerable light is thrown on the nature of America's big corporations in an article in Fortune Magazine. The new facts should have a calming effect on those who see business bogged down by its size.

Not only the situation stultifying, as those who wag their fingers in warning would have us believe.

"Since 1939," comments Fortune, "the number of mining and manufacturing companies has increased from about 240,000 to 360,000."

The conclusion is that the size of the Big 500 is no threat to competitiveness if the business birth rate and population statistics mean anything.

There were 21 and to be 21 firms in the 500 which each made more than a billion dollars in sales last year.

There is no reason for making suspicion in some circles that when big business gets bigger it cannot escape a destiny of service rather than profits.

Considered this way, General Motors was in 1954 not only the largest but was similarly outranked by smaller firms.

On and on goes the game of trying to infuse with political meaning every word President Eisenhower utters about the future.

Such an occasion came the other day when he told some Ohio Republicans that no American president ever had reached the age of 70 while in the White House.

Quite possibly his remarks about age and the presidency reveal what is running through his mind as he turns over and over the question whether or not to run.

If the age factor is in his consciousness, this is understandable. Most men moving into the middle 60's like to give some thought to the prospect of lessening burdens and greater leisure in the years ahead.

But many citizens — people to whom Mr. Eisenhower felt in 1952 he owed a duty and to whom he might conceivably owe a further duty — are not so anxious to retire.

We already have a legal two-term limit on presidential service. Were we to add to that an unofficial age limit of 70, that would be too much.

In Eisenhower's case the question is not merely academic, since he would not be 70 until a few months before a second term would expire in 1961.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL HIRLIGIG POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON — More than five billion dollars worth of water power is being developed for national defense and industrial expansion has gone to waste because of congressional dillydallying over the problem.

The major responsibility falls upon both sides of the 20-year-old controversy over public or private development.

The quarrel over the Dismal River TVA-AEC contract has given the clearest illustration of this economic absurdity.

STAGGERING LOSSES — The treaty with Canada for joint development of hydroelectricity at Niagara Falls, for instance, was signed in 1926.

PURP FOR KIDS DEPT. Dear Sir: We have two black and intelligent acting girl puppets to be given away.

With women: If the shoe fits, they buy one two sizes smaller. Our Gage says.

THE INCONSISTENT — President Eisenhower tried to break the deadlock with his "partnership" idea.

Despite political pressure from both sides, or perhaps because of it, the other side has not yet formulated a definite program for cutting this Gordian knot.

PRACTICAL PROPOSAL — General disgust with these costly and unnecessary delays may induce congress to adopt the practical solution proposed by Rep. Edward J. Rowley.

By the way, to confirm this, Big sales were no guarantee on profits. One firm, fifth in totals sales, was 98th in net profits.

Considered this way, General Motors was in 1954 not only the largest but was similarly outranked by smaller firms.

But in his or any other case, the matter of candidacy ought to be decided on a basis of fitness — not age.

American Medical Society Probing Old

TOKYO, Aug. 11 (AP) — An American medical scientist is attempting to probe the mystery of a deadly Asiatic disease which is spreading rapidly in the Far East.

These diseases are a serious problem both in peace and war, said Dr. Blumenthal, Atlanta, Ga., who is directing 102 medical research projects.

They have caused widespread suffering and economic losses in Asia for centuries, Japanese doctors have learned a great deal about them, and in this command we are to solve common problems.

Fry Chickens Post Specials In Food Mart

By the Associated Press
Best and frying chickens will offer good value for shoppers in the nation's food stores this week-end. Once again, the year will be prominently featured. It's a cut that most meat specialists consider particularly attractive for home cooks with an eye on economy.

Prime ribs will be another popular special for Sunday dinner. Here and there, stores will offer lower prices on round roast, cross-rib roasts and ground beef.

Back In Spotlight
Frying chickens, not widely featured in recent weeks, will be back in the spotlight again. Quite a few markets will have turkeys at reasonable prices, too.

Legs of lamb, lamb shoulder roasts and pork chops are among other meats mentioned as specials by a number of meat markets. While the prices are around week-end levels.

The U. S. department of agriculture takes an optimistic view of meat prices in the months ahead. It looks for seasonal increases in production and says supplies will be larger than last year.

The gain will be largely in pork and prices will decline seasonally in late summer and this fall, especially on fresh pork. The department says, "Pork" prices will stay below last year. Beef will be as plentiful as it was last year, with a large proportion of better grade beef on the market.

Chickens Plentiful
Consumers will find plenty of chickens available in the next few months, and USDA adds, "Retail prices of chickens which have declined since April and May may continue downward in the near future."

One important item of your diet is almost sure to cost you more this week—eggs. Lending markets are boosting prices of large grade "A" whites by two to 10 cents a dozen. These increases come on top of higher prices posted a week ago.

Potatoes went up a bit this week but still rate among the outstanding buys, along with onions, tomatoes, eggplants and bunches and topped beef. The list of good vegetable buys include cabbage, peppers, beans, western and nearby celery, cauliflower, cucumbers, iceberg lettuce and bunches and topped carrots.

Corn Irregular
Corn prices are irregular, a reflection of the wide range in quality. Most of it is only ordinary to fair. Spinach, agri and sweet potatoes are moderately priced.

The price of peaches is somewhat lower and fruit specialists say it should come down further. Canned peaches and honeydew melons are at steadily priced.

There are ample supplies of watermelons and fruit men recommend buying them. Lemons, oranges and grapefruit are reasonable.

Richfield to Pick School Trustees

RICHFIELD, Aug. 11—Two school trustees for three-year terms will be elected Sept. 8 at Richfield. Candidate petitions can be filed from zone 1 and zone 5 for persons living within each zone. Residents are eligible to vote for candidates only within their own zone.

Trustees whose terms are expiring are Mrs. Lydia Vaden, zone 5, who had been elected for one year to fill the unexpired term of Manuel King, and Donald Walker, zone 1, who has served three years and does not seek re-election.

Petitions must be filed at least six days before the election date. Eugene Freeman is school district clerk.

Drive Planned

SHOONE, Aug. 11—A scrap drive will be held during the coming year by members of the high school FFA, members decided at a meeting Monday night at the high school.

An executive meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Aug. 22 at the high school and an officer's dinner meeting will be held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hewit, adviser.

At the dinner meeting plans will be made for activities at the county fair and future work of the group. Appointed to the fair committee were Leo Braun, chairman; Darwin Mills, Leigh Kelley, Howard Horn and Roy Braun.

There are about 877 million head of cattle in the world, about 18 percent more than before World War II.

Red Newsmen Desire to See Areas of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The state department is giving active consideration to a Soviet request that six Russian newsmen be permitted to tour the United States, officials said today.

A final decision has been delayed, partly because the department has been busy with the current visit of Russian agricultural specialists to Iowa and other states. The U. S. law requiring the fingerprinting of non-official visitors also has delayed the decision.

In addition, the case may be complicated by a "bar harassment" recently of American officials traveling in Russia. Officials said that trips had been planned to so-called "free areas" where no travel restrictions are in effect. The Soviet foreign military said it had no objections to the trips. But when the officials arrived they could not enter the areas and had been hoping for the relaxation of Russia's tight travel restrictions.

An American-Soviet clash over the fingerprinting issue earlier this year prompted the cancellation of a proposed U. S. tour by Soviet student editors. The Russians refused to be fingerprinted. The Soviet farm delegation is composed of officials who do not have to undergo the same identification process.

It was understood that Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov, in private talks at the Geneva summit meeting, complained directly to President Eisenhower about the fingerprinting requirement in the 1952 immigration and nationality act.

Club Members Learn to Care For Children Through Work

JEROME, Aug. 11—Baby sitting has become one of the top jobs for teenagers in the United States and to acquaint girls with the many duties of the job a baby sitting 4-H club was organized in Jerome county by this year. Mrs. Byron Ward is leader and the club was named the Happy Homemakers.

Girls in the club are required to keep records of how many hours they spend baby sitting. Another phase of the training deals with safety and each has been trained to watch for hazards to children in the various homes. Such things as open basements, stairs, loose rugs, loose electric cords, broken yard gate, holes in fences, jagged wires, nails and tacks within reach and iron left on ironing boards are watched. The class was required to talk with parents about these unsafe conditions and recommended changes.

Club members also are required to have signed statements from parents selling of their dependability and their ability to get along with children.

When a baby sitting job is obtained a club member is required to know the parents' names, names of the children, where parents can be reached, name of the family doctor,

Crash Kills 2

SPOKANE, Aug. 11—A man and woman were killed early this morning when their light plane crashed into a rocky peak near the suburban community of Irwin, east of here.

The dead man was identified by sheriff's officers as D. F. (Bill) Gage, 33, owner of a private flying service at Spokane, and the passenger tentatively identified as his wife.

The average number of cars per freight train on U. S. railroads was reached, none of the family doctor,

U. N. Charter Changes Are Now Advised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—A special senate subcommittee said yesterday that revision of the United Nations charter might help "to meet the threat of destruction which nuclear weapons pose for mankind."

The subcommittee, headed by Chairman George D. C. of the foreign relations committee, recommended that President Eisenhower consider asking for a U. N. conference to study changes in the charter, it added.

"If the executive branch believes significant results can be achieved, there would seem to be no reason why it should not be held."

"Opposition from the Soviet bloc alone is not sufficient reason for avoiding a review of the United Nations system."

The question of whether to hold a charter revision conference will come up before the U. N. general assembly in New York in September. A majority of the members, including seven of the nine nations on the security council, could order a conference.

The subcommittee's membership includes mostly members of George's foreign relations committee. It conducted numerous public hearings in various parts of the nation. Its report did not specify what changes should be supported by the United States.

 AUG. 11 (M)—The navy is planning a small, atom-powered submarine with more maneuverability than the Nautilus and the Wolf, the first two nuclear-powered submarines.
 Contract for development of the submarine was awarded to Combustion Engineering, Inc., New York City.
 The navy has said that it is announcing the contract yesterday, as it was based on a department of defense requirement for the development of a nuclear-powered atom submarine.
 In addition to the Nautilus and the Sea Wolf, the keel of a third atom-powered sub has been laid.
 The navy has said that by next July the United States will have nine, with many others to follow.

Rules for Survival Are Stressed for Anyone Caught in A-Bomb's Blast
 NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (M)—A brilliant silent eerie light, like nothing you've ever seen before, marks the beginning of an atomic blast.
 If it ever comes, don't look at it, or you might be blinded for life.
 If you sense such a flash, duck, fall flat or jump behind some protruding object.
 You could be injured by or being knocked down by the blast, or by flying debris.
 Out in the open you have a better chance if you fall flat. And a still better one if you could duck behind a ravine, behind any little hill, into a hole, in town, fling yourself behind the protection of some building, if there is time.
 In Nevada, hundreds of persons have crunched quite safely in trenches within two miles or less of atomic blasts as big or bigger than those exploded over Japan but occupants. Those were dished or caved in. But with windows slightly open, this damage often did not happen.
 Underground shelters obviously are the best protection. But even shelters that stand above ground could save many lives in areas outside the immediate center of destruction. Concrete shelters—table top sheds or spare storage rooms near homes that lacked strong basement shelters—stood up well despite being within a half mile or so of the atomic blast in Nevada last May.
 One atomic specialist gives this advice:
 "If you see or sense that intense light, duck, and count to 10. If you are caught in an automobile, open the windows a bit and fall flat on the floor.
 Autos have been exposed to test bombs. With windows closed, windows and windshields often were broken in, and broken glass could be blown in. But with windows slightly open, this damage often did not happen.

Tax Cuts Given Retired Military
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (M)—Retired military personnel under the age of 55 will save up to $340 a year in income taxes under a new law signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.
 The measure will cost the treasury an estimated six million dollars a year. Effective on this year's income, it extends to retired military personnel the same tax benefits now granted to civilians drawing government retirement annuities.
 The provision grants a 20 percent tax credit, or tax cut, on retirement income of up to $1,206 a year.
 "If you have survived. Then you can check to see whether you have suffered any injuries." And there still could be hazard from radioactive fallout.

Nurses Sought
 BOSTON, Aug. 11 (M)—Massachusetts appealed for 43 nurses today to care for the mounting number of victims of a polio epidemic that has killed 1,000 persons.
 The number of victims jumped over the epidemic mark of 1,000 yesterday as 143 cases were reported. At this time last year there were only 98 cases.
Program Slated
 OAKLEY, Aug. 11 (M)—Wendell C. Checketta, school music instructor, announces that a free pre-school band program will be offered to all band pupils here this week.
 The program includes private lessons once a week for three weeks and small group and marching band rehearsals.

Commissions Set For Male Nurses
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (M)—The army, navy and air force have authorized for the first time to commission male nurses as reserve officers.
 President Eisenhower late yesterday signed the new legislation, which has been sponsored for several years by a woman—Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R., O.
 The defense department recommended enactment on grounds that it would help alleviate the shortage of nurses by attracting more men into the profession.
 The new law also allows the armed forces to grant reserve commissions to male medical specialists, such as dietitians, physical therapists, and occupational therapists.

Embattled Twins Refusing Paroles
 LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11 (M)—The flying twin boys refused to accept their parole from federal prison because they claimed conditions of their parole during the trial were "criminals" and they maintained "we have done no wrong."
 The twins, Joseph and Charles, 41, were scheduled to be released on parole today after serving a little more than 100 months in a year's prison term for interfering with a federal officer in the performance of his duties during a dispute with the government over ownership of a war surplus plane.
 Their attorney, Joseph Scott, walked out of the federal correctional institution on Terminal Island and informed newsmen and photographers of the twins' decision.
Club Meets
 OAKLEY, Aug. 11—Achievement day was the topic of discussion at the Boys State 4-11 meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Bill Mix. A demonstration was given by Greta Henry, Lucy Heiner and Helen Pasket.

No Change in House Buying Seen for Vets

Despite the federal tightening of credit requirements last month, little or no change in the volume of home purchases by eligible veterans under the GI bill of rights home loan program is foreseen by veterans administration officials here.

Under the new requirements, reported by Army Helwege, Twin Falls veterans administrator, "no-down-payment" loans are discontinued and mortgage rates reduced.

Instead, according to Helwege, veterans purchasing homes under the GI bill loan guaranty must make at least a two per cent down-payment, with maximum term of the mortgage not to exceed 25 years. Federal housing administration terms differ from those set by the VA.

Since April 23, 1953, the VA has had no mandatory down payment requirements on the mortgage payment period could run as high as 30 years. The new action eliminating the no-down-payment requirement, Helwege said, was taken after a thorough study of national economic conditions and the effect of the prevailing in the residential construction and mortgage financing fields.

The new requirements are expected to help protect prospective GI loan applicants against increased prices of homes, and over-extension of credit and financial risks. Helwege said, further, he intended they should tend to stabilize the mortgage market by limiting the amount of money actually loaned, which is currently being traded at widening discount margins.

Helwege explained that the new requirements are not retroactive, and are not applicable to purchase of homes for which VA insured prior certificates of reasonable value issued by July 30, or in cases where requirements for approval actually had been received in VA offices prior to July 30.

According to Helwege, requirements will not apply to GI loans made solely for the replacement or reconstruction of residential property that has been destroyed or substantially damaged by flood, fire or other similar catastrophe, nor to repair, alteration or improvement loans.

Funeral Held In Rupert for Fred Dickson

RUPERT, Aug. 11—Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the LDS tabernacle for Fred A. Dickson by the Rev. Cecil McKay, Rupert and Bishop Treutlein, Idaho Falls. Floyd Larson,ampa, gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. Irene Humphreys and LaMar McCloy sang accompanied by Mrs. Zola Humphreys. Pallbearers were H. V. Cronson, Joan Burnside, Ward Woodfield, Henry Brenzler, Harry Caldwell and Morris Willis.

Mrs. May Hunt, Mrs. Morris Willis, Mrs. Lila Hendrick, Mrs. Hatie Rascarsen, Mrs. Mary Bell and Mrs. Ward Wolford were in charge of flowers.

Mr. Dickson was born March 4, 1892, at Ravelling, Wyo., and died in Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 3, following an illness of one year.

He married Fanny Mitchell in Butte, Mont., Jan. 20, 1923. She preceded him in death in 1924. In 1929 he came to Rupert where he made his home until 1942. Between 1920 and 1942 he owned and operated a soda cafe.

He married Avaritia Larson, Burley, on June 23, 1937, and moved to Bremerton in 1942.

Dickson was a member of the Masonic lodge No. 73 in Three Forks, Idaho, and had the Scottish rite conferred on him in Boise. He also was a member of the Episcopal church.

His body was brought from Washington to the Goodman mortuary by the Lewis Chapel, Bremerton. Concluding rites were held at the Rupert cemetery with Goodman mortuary in charge. Graveside services were conducted by the Masonic lodge of Rupert.

Man Arraigned

GOODING—Aug. 11—E. Smith, Nampa, was arraigned in probate court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of issuing a $1,000 check to Fred Leach, Gooding, on April 5, without funds in the bank.

Probate Judge James Gossett set a preliminary hearing, bond set at $1,000, was not posted and Smith is in custody of the sheriff.

Sheriff Keith Anderson returned Smith from Caldwell Tuesday where he had been arrested by the Gooding county sheriff officials for Copping.

Mood Shifting Smoothly Done At Russ Calling

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 11—Europe's communist parties have shifted into the Kremlin's new "sweetness and light" mood—with a barely-audible strident of protest. A marvel of the 20th century still remains the ability of communist parties to reverse their policies simultaneously and "spontaneously."

The shift made necessary by the events of the last few weeks has been completed.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have become reasonable men, whose sincerity must be taken into consideration, as the result of the Big Four conference.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer "is no longer a 'war maker'" has been invited to visit Moscow.

"Hangers-on" and his Yugoslav communist "gangsters" emerge as wronged comrades since the pilgrimage of Russian Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai A. Bulganin to Belgrade.

In the communist press of Germany, France, Italy, Austria and other countries of Europe the reds have accepted the gray-line.

Women Give Cookie Making Demonstration

Mrs. Ruby Garrett, left, the Nancy Haven of the Western Best Sugar companies, made and decorated cookies for holidays and special occasions for 4-H leaders and home demonstration club representatives on Monday at the Idaho Power company auditorium. Florence Schultz, right, Twin Falls county home demonstration agent, was in charge of arrangements. (Staff photo—engraving)

Holiday Cookies Featured At Workshop for Leaders

Christmas in August was featured at the cookie workshop, "cookies around the clock," Monday afternoon at the Idaho Power auditorium for 4-H leaders and home demonstration club representatives.

Mrs. Ruby Garrett, the Nancy Haven of Western Best Sugar companies, stressed the various types of cookies that can be made in the home with the least expenditure of time, effort and money.

Her demonstration, "sugar tricks," emphasized the uses of granulated, powdered and brown sugars in recipes and in decorations. Illustrating a cookie press, cutters and paper patterns she made cookies for every water and blend well. For every listing job Mrs. Garrett stressed pasted colors.

In order to get the icing just the right shade she advised dropping one or two drops on the side of the bowl above the icing and blending only what is needed leaving the remainder on the bowl.

A basic cookie dough can be divided and colored to give many variations in quick easy preparation. An old fashioned sugar water dough is perfect.

Cream ½ cup shortening, 1 cup butter or margarine and 1 cup sugar in a mixing bowl. Beat in 2 eggs thoroughly and flavor with 2 teaspoons of vanilla or an extract of your choice. Gradually fold in 2 cups of all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Knead in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for about seven minutes. This makes about sixteen and one-half dozen cookies.

Childhood rolls and cutouts and cookie sheets or inverted baking pans should be bright and shiny to prevent excess browning of cookies bottoms. They need to be greased if the cookies are low in short-

Joint Luncheon Plans Made by Rupert Women

A luncheon has been scheduled for Aug. 21 at Thompson's flat by the Jaycees and the Jay-G-Bettes. Members will meet at 12:30 p.m. in the city park to form a caravan. Those attending are asked to bring table service and card tables. Mrs. L. O. E. is in charge of children's tables.

Mrs. Joann Colter who has been appointed parliamentarian for the group will assume her duties at the next meeting, Sept. 12.

Sun Valley Rite Weds Twin Falls Man and Woman

FILED, Aug. 11—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Walters have announced the marriage of their daughter, the late to Richard W. Bolmer, Twin Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bolmer.

The Rev. Clyde Wilson, Halley, performed the double ring ceremony at the home of the bride at Sun Valley lodge, flanked with baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums. John Lister played the wedding music.

The bride chose a blue tulle suit with navy blue accessories.

Ann Walters was bridesmaid for her sister, and she wore a pink tulle suit with pink accessories. Grant Osterhout was best man.

Mrs. Walters chose a navy blue lace gown with white accessories and Mrs. Bolmer wore a gold suit with green accessories.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served for the wedding party at the home.

Children of the couple who plan to be there include Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pharris and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker and family, James H. (Bill) Rudd and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rudd and family.

Dance Slated

Twin Falls LDS stake will sponsor a public dance at 9 p.m. Friday at the stake tabernacle. Arlon Bauman's orchestra will play and refreshments will be sold. The floor show will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Nelson, stake dance director.

The event is under the direction of Mrs. Harold Giles and Larry Sorenson, stake activity directors.

Leaves

HAGERMAN, Aug. 11—A. J. John D. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leif Green, who has just completed 18 weeks radio operator schooling left Monday for Parks airforce base, Calif., for overseas assignment. He was accompanied by his sister, Rev. Green and Mrs. Marie Green.

Green was honored with a family picnic Sunday at the home of his parents. Among the guests were Mrs. W. H. C. Gentry and Mrs. L. A. Antala.

Discuss Flowers

Floral arrangements were discussed at the Community Y meeting Tuesday in the YWCA building.

Guests of the group were Mrs. Grace Bohrer, Mrs. Ralph Rauchi and Mrs. A. S. Henson. Hostesses were Mrs. H. C. Gentry and Mrs. L. A. Antala.

Miss Young and D. W. Allen Wed In Gooding Rite

GOODING, Aug. 11—Carma Dore Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Young, and Doyle W. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allen, all Bliss, were married Friday evening at the First Christian church. The Rev. Russell Roberts performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white net and lace gown. Her veil of illusion lace was held by pearls and she carried red roses with red satin streamers on a white Bible and a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother. Mrs. Verne Johnson, Boise, and Joan a blue garter.

John Muffley, Donna Vajis and Pat Raimine were bridesmaids. Romy Stroy was best man. Larry Goringhouse and Richard Bray were ushers. Carol and Coral Bliss lighted the candles.

At the reception Wilma Geseford served cake and Mrs. Joe Woodard and Vera Young, sisters of the bride, served punch. Mary Lou Graves had charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Lois Muffley, Mary Asplaire, Colen St. Clair, Ellen Dalton and Elaine Brown.

The former Miss Young attended Bliss schools and Allen attended University of Idaho, Moscow, last year. The couple will live in Moscow where he will attend school.

Showers were given by Mrs. Sterling Bray, her 4-H club, and Miss Muffley.

Man Honored

R. E. Commons, who recently retired, was honored guest of the Union Pacific Oldtimers at the annual picnic Sunday at Missoula, Mont.

He was presented a gift from the club and other company employees. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fehrenbacher and Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Chaussee, both Postville, were special guests.

The auxiliary will meet Sept. 10 at the home of Mrs. W. W. Brown.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

One of the most difficult situations mothers meet is the conflicting opinions that arise between themselves and their grown-up children. To a mother, a child is her child even down to old age. To his child, she is a "mother" who is not to be feared. To the man who is her father, she is a woman who is not to be feared. To her mother, she is a daughter who is not to be feared.

Mother, being experienced in life with people, aware of the dangers she sees in the path of her experiences, long to spare their children as much of all that is possible. To that end they warn, command, in an effort to save their loved ones from making what they believe to be grievous mistakes.

Rarely do they succeed. Hard as it is they must accept the fact that the child they once knew is no longer with them. In its stead is this stranger who must be studied, lived with, loved, that he once more may become the child of his mother—though a different one—in the form of a man or a woman.

A mother writes something like this: "My daughter, now 22, is situated with a man much older than she, divorced, a nonbeliever, and of rather poor standing in the community. He drinks and we hear, gambles. We are church-going people. We reared our children in our faith, yet—yet—this child—behave—though she had never heard of religion and cares nothing about us who have loved and cherished her all these years. What can we do?"

Not much. After talking to this grown-up daughter, or son, about his behavior, explaining how his situation, looks to others, offering advice, there is little else to be done. One can only keep silent, hope for the best, and always let the young person know that whatever he decides to do, he can still count on the affection of his family.

Threatening such a young person only adds fuel to fire. Any attack on the one he loves, or believes he loves, makes his loyalty fierce and strengthens any doubt he might have had into hard decision. The best thing to do is to listen patiently, hope in silence, and wait for time and its experiences to change the mistaken attitude. If it is a mistaken one, it will not stand the test of time. True, they are costly, but if they are intelligently handled, they are less likely to be tragic.

A grown-up child is a person in his own right and must be accepted as such, though the heart often still loves the child. Time is always on the side of rightness. Wait.

Slamming the door is a common habit, but it is not a good one. It is a habit that will keep you cool and comfortable.
