Saar's German Vote Brings on Possible Crisis

SAARBREUCKEN, Saar, Oct. 24 (AP)—French Premier Edgar Faure and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer moved swiftly today to counter a crisis brewing between their two nations as a result of the Saar's 2-1 rejection of the industrial valley, Faure and Adenauer expressed their conviction that the outcome of the Saar plebiscite yesterday must not be allowed to result in a rift between France and West Germany.

But already the vote had toppled the Saar's pro-French premier and heightened demands from other German leaders for return of the Saar to German control and restoration of the Reich field before World War II.

A whopping 98.72 per cent of all eligible Saarlanders went to the polls yesterday to turn down the European Franco-German (50.6 per cent) to 201,973 (23.2 per cent). There were no incidents during the balloting after a three-month campaign.

Economic Advisers To Confer With Ike

DENVER, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower called his top economic advisers to his hospital bedside today to get a quick briefing on the national economy and perhaps an educational viewpoint on the fluctuating stock market.

Aside from the official work at hand, Mr. Eisenhower was making what his doctors called strides toward recovery from his heart attack. He stood up for the first time yesterday since he was stricken. The standing was on a pair of bathroom scales at the side of his bed.

But the president wasn't able to have his daily outing on the eighth floor sun terrace at Fitzsimons Army Hospital yesterday because the season's first snow fall.

These two men, under normal circumstances, see Mr. Eisenhower in Washington every Monday. They did not talk with him since those times before his illness and naturally because of an accumulation of problems to take up with him today.

It could not be determined exactly when the president was stricken, but Mr. Eisenhower's illness—ever delays in medical bulletins—has been a major factor in recent stock market paper losses of billions of dollars.

The center is developed to provide total care of physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, and recreation and prevention. Services to be offered by the rehabilitation center are not available in the state at present. The funds is almost secured. In the Elks lodge, "Charity is the cornerstone on which the lodge is founded," pointed out E. White, exalted ruler of the lodge. "Charity work of the lodge is one of the most important functions."

Stanley Phillips, chairman of the lodge drive to raise $14,000 for the rehabilitation center, points out that $2 from each member's annual dues of $15 is earmarked for maintaining the center. The local fund for the center got its original boost from donations of $10 each by a number of lodge members. More such donations are expected. In line with charitable work of the lodge, a requisition book is provided for each public school principal in Twin Falls. The principal is authorized to requisition proper clothing and shoes in cases of needy children whose parents cannot provide for them. "That is an example of the program accomplished by the lodge which is founded on principles of patriotism and religion," says White. "Wide benefit will result from the new rehabilitation center," says Phillips.

Phillips, who is a director. When the Elks raise $210,000, matching federal funds under the Hill Burton act will result in a $400,000 rehabilitation center. Phillips points out operating funds will be provided through the March of Dimes and by contributions from the crippled children's services, department of vocational rehabilitation, industrial accident board, United General Relief association and by fees from insurance companies and private payers.

Present plans call for ground-breaking ceremonies next spring. The center will be located either at the present site or in downtown Boise. Although emphasis will be placed on treatment of handicapped children, adults will be admitted. The Turley Elks lodge already has raised $10,000 for the fund and the Gooding lodge has reported $150.

Rumors State Decision Due For Romance

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Expectation grew today that Princess Margaret would make public within a few days her long-expected decision on Peter Townsend and put an end to what a British editor tonight called "one of the longest romances in history."

In 1835, Arapaho Indians cemented their friendship with trappers with a handshake, during which Stoner, a trapper, tried to kiss Waa-nibe, the chief's daughter.

Waa-nibe handled the situation with a little full of buffalo head, much to the consternation of Kit Carson and the other trappers.

Then Waa-nibe asked Kit to be her dinner companion...

For 1935, Waa-nibe was the most beautiful girl in the West. She was the daughter of a chief and was the most beautiful girl in the West.

Next time you see me, be sure your guns are loaded," he said.

People Argue On Food Cost Through U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The housewife pushing the grocery cart is at odds against the statisticians who figure the food price index.

The housewife is told the wholesale index is down but she can't see that the retail food prices are—at least not much.

"It's largely the old story of the spread between the price of the raw materials out of which foods are fashioned and the finished products on the grocer's shelves. That spread, like others, tends to widen with the years."

The grocer insists the housewife is getting more for her money— if she takes into consideration all the fringe benefits of convenience, time saving and improved nutrition in today's prepared foods.

Food prices, at every level, have come down from their peak. They fluctuate now. Some foodstuffs, like coffee or storm-damaged vegetables, go up because of temporary shortages. Some, like pork, tumble so because of overabundance.

But what the consumer mostly asks about is that the price of farm products and of foods at wholesale have fallen more than retail prices—and it's retail prices that interest him primarily.

February Set As Ike's Date To Tell Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Republican leaders tentatively have set the first week in February as the time they believe President Eisenhower will say whether he will resign.

This timetable reportedly has been worked out by GOP National Chairman Leonard B. Steiner and other party strategists on the basis of progress reports on the President's health and because of political necessities.

One of the governing factors is the fact that the candidate before the May 8 Ohio presidential preference primary whether the President's name will go on the ballot in that state.

Ohio law requires the written consent of the candidate before delegates pledged to him can be entered on the ballot. While there are a number of ways Eisenhower could still avoid committing himself for his primary, Eisenhower aides have noted the historical significance of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's action in announcing his 1952 presidential candidacy by writing Ohio election officials.

The tentative February timing also fits with indications that President's physicians will not be ready much before that time to tell whether Eisenhower's recovery from the stroke will be complete.

Dr. Paul Dudley White said after an examination of Eisenhower in a hospital that his patient is progressing "exactly on schedule" toward recovery but "we will not know more in a few months to make sure of the completeness of his recovery."

Wintry Weather Makes Quick Entry for Large U. S. Regions

By United Press

The first wintry weather of the season swept across the nation today, bringing with it a sharp drop in temperatures and four-inch snowfalls.

The huge mass of cold Canadian air drove from the Dakotas deep into the Texas panhandle, Indiana, southern weather gave way to below freezing temperatures almost in twinkling over vast areas.

At Prater, Colo., the first zero reading of the season was recorded early this morning. Leadville, Colo., had four inches of snow. Denver, almost snowed, and International Falls, Minn., one.

"Now snow fell in parts of Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri."

Action Slated on Shooting Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The supreme court was scheduled to act today on the appeal of 12 Puerto Rican nationalists sentenced to prison for plotting against the U. S. government.

They were sentenced in New York federal court to six years imprisonment for plotting to overthrow the U. S. government in Puerto Rico. Four of the defendants also were convicted in a separate trial for shooting up the house of representatives March 1, 1954. Five congressmen were wounded.

Expert States That Ike Had 'Silent' Attack

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower, said last night the President suffered a "silent heart attack" which usually leads to a fatal warning.

In a press conference here, the doctor said that the American Heart association convention, the Boston specialist said an examination of the President seven weeks prior to his heart attack revealed no signs he would be struck down.

White flew to New Orleans from Denver where the President is recuperating.

"I know what caused the attack—a blood clot, but we don't know what caused the clot," White said. "However, the clot is now dormant until he was stricken; that is what we call a silent heart attack."

Asked if the President was yet "out of the woods," White said "nothing is out of the woods. Anybody in this room could have an attack at any time."

President Warren G. Harding declared World War I officially ended on July 2, 1921.

Population for Nation Sees 7 Per Cent Hike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The rapidly-growing population of the United States spurred another 7 percent hike in the 1954 population, an unprecedented 262,498,000.

The census bureau reported yesterday that the increase was shared in the increase. These states were Maine, Vermont, West Virginia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Others by other states ranged from 11.5 per cent for Kentucky to 3.1 per cent for Nevada.

The census bureau said the nation's population rose from 159,697,161 on April 1, 1950, to about 185,929,658 on July 1, 1954.

As in earlier years, the census bureau estimates showed a mounting population shift toward the far west.

Alaska had 103,000 inhabitants in the four-year period. After adjustments for the heavy influx of seasonal labor, it showed an amazing 62 per cent rise for the four years. As of July 1, 1954, the population of Alaska stood at an estimated 208,000.

On the average, the U. S. population increased 1.6 per cent a year during the four-year period.

The seven states showing decreases for the 1950-1954 period lost citizens mostly because of migrations to other areas of the country. The Pacific coast, particularly California, appeared to be the chief destination of the migrants.

During the four-year period, California's population rose 18.1 per cent to 12,500,000, in addition of 1,914,000 persons. Nevada, center of the divorce and gambling business, enjoyed an increase from 100,853 in 1950 to 210,000 last year.

Arizona followed Nevada percentage-wise. Its population jumped 23.3 per cent from 740,851 to 913,000.

Other state increases were 10.8 per cent for Michigan; 10.7 for Delaware; 11 for Maryland; 10.1 for Florida; 10 for Texas; and 10.6 for Utah.

Among the territories, Hawaii gained 4.4 per cent, the Canal zone 1.8, and Puerto Rico 0.8 per cent. But the Virgin Islands saw its population drop 10 per cent from 25,000 to 24,000.

Timber Study Gives Need of Top Planning

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Richard E. McArdle, chief of the forest service, says a recently completed survey points out the "tremendous challenge" of growing enough timber to supply future generations of Americans.

The exhaustive study, which cost a million dollars and required three years of work, was made by federal and state foresters, forest industries and public and private organizations.

"I predict that the nation's timber requirements will be so high by the end of the century that growth will not be able to keep up with demand," McArdle said.

Whether there is time enough to gear up to levels of future demand is, he said, still meeting increasing needs in the meantime.

"If we accept the assumption that the population of the United States is going to keep on increasing at a rapid rate, and if we accept the estimates of potential timber demand at all seriously, it is going to require an intensification of forestry effort above and beyond what most of us have imagined. We face a tremendous challenge if we are to grow enough timber so that our children may enjoy the timber abundance that we ourselves have known."

Earlier surveys concluded there would be ample forest land to grow needed timber crops in the United States if the land were used effectively. The latest study indicated this may no longer be true.

Among the territories, Hawaii gained 4.4 per cent, the Canal zone 1.8, and Puerto Rico 0.8 per cent. But the Virgin Islands saw its population drop 10 per cent from 25,000 to 24,000.

Timber Study Gives Need of Top Planning

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Richard E. McArdle, chief of the forest service, says a recently completed survey points out the "tremendous challenge" of growing enough timber to supply future generations of Americans.

The exhaustive study, which cost a million dollars and required three years of work, was made by federal and state foresters, forest industries and public and private organizations.

"I predict that the nation's timber requirements will be so high by the end of the century that growth will not be able to keep up with demand," McArdle said.

Whether there is time enough to gear up to levels of future demand is, he said, still meeting increasing needs in the meantime.

"If we accept the assumption that the population of the United States is going to keep on increasing at a rapid rate, and if we accept the estimates of potential timber demand at all seriously, it is going to require an intensification of forestry effort above and beyond what most of us have imagined. We face a tremendous challenge if we are to grow enough timber so that our children may enjoy the timber abundance that we ourselves have known."

Earlier surveys concluded there would be ample forest land to grow needed timber crops in the United States if the land were used effectively. The latest study indicated this may no longer be true.

Parley Starts on Upkeep for Land

BOISE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Officials of the bureau of land management gathered here today for the first of three meetings designed to study the problem in the upkeep of the land resources of the federal government.

Edward Wootley, bureau director, said the conference was expected to lead to an interchange of ideas about land management and an improvement in supervisory skills of bureau personnel.

The current meeting ends Friday. Mr. Andrews lived at the Frontier apartments for the last two years and had no known survivors.

Rites Conducted

SHOENONE, Oct. 24—Gravestone services were held Friday at the Shoshone cemetery for Ben Andrews, 48, who died Wednesday night. The Rev. Joseph McLeod, First Baptist church minister, officiated.

Mr. Andrews lived at the Frontier apartments for the last two years and had no known survivors.

Action Slated on Shooting Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The supreme court was scheduled to act today on the appeal of 12 Puerto Rican nationalists sentenced to prison for plotting against the U. S. government.

They were sentenced in New York federal court to six years imprisonment for plotting to overthrow the U. S. government in Puerto Rico. Four of the defendants also were convicted in a separate trial for shooting up the house of representatives March 1, 1954. Five congressmen were wounded.

Population for Nation Sees 7 Per Cent Hike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The rapidly-growing population of the United States spurred another 7 percent hike in the 1954 population, an unprecedented 262,498,000.

The census bureau reported yesterday that the increase was shared in the increase. These states were Maine, Vermont, West Virginia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Others by other states ranged from 11.5 per cent for Kentucky to 3.1 per cent for Nevada.

The census bureau said the nation's population rose from 159,697,161 on April 1, 1950, to about 185,929,658 on July 1, 1954.

As in earlier years, the census bureau estimates showed a mounting population shift toward the far west.

Alaska had 103,000 inhabitants in the four-year period. After adjustments for the heavy influx of seasonal labor, it showed an amazing 62 per cent rise for the four years. As of July 1, 1954, the population of Alaska stood at an estimated 208,000.

On the average, the U. S. population increased 1.6 per cent a year during the four-year period.

The seven states showing decreases for the 1950-1954 period lost citizens mostly because of migrations to other areas of the country. The Pacific coast, particularly California, appeared to be the chief destination of the migrants.

During the four-year period, California's population rose 18.1 per cent to 12,500,000, in addition of 1,914,000 persons. Nevada, center of the divorce and gambling business, enjoyed an increase from 100,853 in 1950 to 210,000 last year.

Arizona followed Nevada percentage-wise. Its population jumped 23.3 per cent from 740,851 to 913,000.

Other state increases were 10.8 per cent for Michigan; 10.7 for Delaware; 11 for Maryland; 10.1 for Florida; 10 for Texas; and 10.6 for Utah.

Among the territories, Hawaii gained 4.4 per cent, the Canal zone 1.8, and Puerto Rico 0.8 per cent. But the Virgin Islands saw its population drop 10 per cent from 25,000 to 24,000.

Panel members were Mrs. Charles Hansen, who spoke on Africa; Mrs. Margaret Haddock, Germany; Mrs. Ella Vreeland, Middle East; Mrs. Leon Paocosa, Korea and Japan; and Mrs. Clorinda Shook, France and the Mediterranean.

Named to the club's project committee were Mrs. Nether, chairman and Mrs. Jessie Turner, Mrs. A. S. Silva. They will investigate the needs of the country and the expenditure of the county hospital fund before it must revert back to the general fund in June.

The hospital fund may be used for a chronic disease hospital for the country, members reported from the district funds available from the Hill-Burton fund. The hospital bond fund amounts to a little more than $400,000.

Previously the club members recommended use of the money for some worthy cause, not necessarily for the hospital. Among the suggestions were a county library, road maintenance, river systems and road to Klamath.

New members are Mrs. J. Howard Manning, Mrs. M. Johnson, Mrs. Douglas Hansen and Mrs. Rupert Manning.

Delegates were Mrs. J. O. Freeman, Mrs. Howard Adkins, Mrs. Corwin Silva and Mrs. Charles Underwood.

Help Offered To Indians in Desolate Area

MONUMENT VALLEY, Utah, Oct. 24 (AP)—The aid was spreading Saturday among the scattered herds of the Monument valley Navahos—that food and clothing is available for the most needy.

And in the next week or so they'll drift into Harry Gooding's trading post and Gooding, who knows their best, will distribute the supplies where they'll do the most good.

That means some of these Indians who bring an abundance from the red sand of this picturesque but barren land bequeathed them by the United States will have a square meal or two and some new clothes.

Meat, Potatoes, Citrus fruits.

Anything Helps

The supplies won't go far, but anything helps when you live on potatoes, coffee and mutton—and the mutton sometimes means but one sheep per year.

The supplies were sent to the Monument valley people as the result of a quiet campaign promoted by Utah Gov. J. Bracken Lee and State Road Commissioner H. J. Corleson. They were purchased with funds contributed by businessmen, state employees and others, and were hauled 300 miles from Salt Lake City in state road commission trucks.

Lee and Corleson flew down from Salt Lake City to check in the goods, confer with Gooding and officials at a nearby seventh-day Adventist mission as to what other supplies are needed, and officially start the distribution.

News Items

Lee plans to order a pipe to the federal interior department to drill wells in the valley. He made such a request last year, but said, but nothing came of it.

"We know there is water there, because oil drillers have struck it," the governor said.

Then he added: "The trouble with the Indian bureau is that 90 per cent of its money goes to salaries and overhead."

Lee said he also plans an appeal to doctors and dentists through their state associations to contribute some of their time to treating the Navahos.

Critic of Foreign Aid

Lee, who is a critic of the United Nations and the sending of American money to foreign nations, described the spending of millions abroad when there are people near starvation in the United States.

The three trucks of supplies brought here included three tons of potatoes, 1 1/2 tons of onions, 140 cases of canned goods including roast-beef, citrus-fruit and coffee, and 70 pair of overalls, 55 shirts, 44 pairs of socks and 200 pairs of socks. All the clothing was new.

"The people here are limited as to what they can take because of the lack of water," Lee said.

NOISE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Idaho State Patrolman Dean Bennett read 40 miles in 43 minutes last night to deliver blood to a woman in critical condition in Ontario, Oct. 23.

Yesterday's second emergency run into eastern Oregon for the state police.

A spokesman at Holy Rosary hospital in Ontario said that the blood had arrived just in time and the woman probably would live.

It was the fastest time the trip had ever been clocked, state police reported. Local police and sheriffs along the way blocked intersections and provided escorts.

An Oregon state police car met Bennett at the Idaho side of the Snake river.

Earlier in the day, State Police Superintendent A. E. Perkins sped toward Nampa, Ore., with 18 pints of blood for Jerry Paine, a 20-year-old Nysaa hunter. When Perkins' car broke down in Star, Patrolman Jess McKean relayed the blood in his patrol car. The trip took 45 minutes.
