Resident Drivers Blamed For Bulk of Cars Deaths During 1955; Toll Hits 34

Magic Valley residents—not tourists—were responsible for the bulk of the traffic fatalities in the valley in 1955. Of the 41 drivers involved in the 34 deaths, 37 of them were residents of Magic Valley. And 28 of the 34 dead also were residents of the valley. Half of the deaths were the result of accidents involving only one vehicle. Five of the persons who died were pedestrians and three of the deaths came as the result of car-train mishaps. This leaves only nine deaths as a result of two-car crashes.

Idaho Welcomes 1956 On Safe, Sane Theme

Idaho rang out the old year and rang in the new Saturday night as law enforcement officers patrolled the highways in hopes of clinching the state's claim to a traffic safety record for 1955. With no highway fatalities reported in the waning hours of the old year, Idaho appeared to have beaten the other 47 states by reducing its annual toll from 245 to 185, a drop of 25 per cent.

France Plans Big Turnout For Election

PARIS, Dec. 31 (AP)—As New Year's eve revelers hoisted their glasses to 1956, French voters approached another national election with the hope they could sort out their untidy political lives. ## Auto Death Toll Is Low On Holiday

Stepped-up law enforcement and the sad memory of bloody "black Christmas" appeared to be throwing a halter on traffic deaths as the New Year arrived. Shortly after midnight (EST) the national toll on highways and streets had reached 102, compared to 260 at the corresponding hour of the 1955 Christmas week-end in which traffic accidents took 609 lives, an all-time holiday record. Thirteen deaths in fires and 15 in miscellaneous accidents pushed the overall New Year fatality count to 127.

3 Cities Eye Natural Gas System Plan

Two cities in southwestern Idaho look steps Saturday to see if natural gas can be distributed in their area and the councilmen of a third community heard a favorable report on the prospects of getting the new fuel. Officials of Fruitland and New Plymouth announced the hiring of an engineering firm to conduct a survey to determine the feasibility of setting up a gas distribution system for the two towns.

Meridian is one of 10 southern Idaho communities which have signed agreements with two local nonprofit cooperative distribution systems which would eventually be municipally owned. Most of the agreements depend upon a finding that distribution within the proposed service area would be economically feasible. The gas presumably would come from a main line being laid through the state by Pacific Northwest Pipeline corporation, although a New Mexico oilman, H. K. Riddle, currently is prospecting in southwestern Idaho and claims to have hit large deposits of gas near New Plymouth and Caldwell.

Uneasy World Hopefully Waits For Sign of Peace in New Year

By The Associated Press. An uneasy world hopefully welcomed the New Year Sunday with sincere wishes for peace, prosperity and good health among all peoples. After celebrating the arrival of 1956 with merrymaking, the devout of many faiths turned to church services for mankind's betterment. Family gatherings and feasting were the rule. In many lands New Year's is the Christmas day for rejoicing and exchanging gifts. The Russians, for example, made a big day of it, putting up gaily decorated green trees and welcoming a bearded ancient named Grandfather Frost. President Eisenhower planned a quiet observance at his vacation retreat at the Key West, Fla., naval base. Mrs. Eisenhower, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, flew from Washington to join him.

Reserved T.F. to Give Tax Answers

Great taxpayers' information at the U.S. Internal Revenue office in Twin Falls will be Monday from Jan. 9 to April 15, Idaho district director. But folks are asked to read the instruction first and complete their returns as far as they can. Then they have any questions, telephone and you'll gladly answer and then complete their returns if necessary, Wright said. This sort of "self-help" speeds up service for anyone, added Wright.

Information will not be denied on any day, but on Monday more Internal Revenue agents will be on hand, so there will be less waiting, Wright said. Everyday but Monday most agents will be engaged in field enforcement work, checking up on collecting from those who do not pay their just share of the tax, he noted.

Keeping agents in the offices last year while taxpayers trickled in during the three and a half month period before the deadline cost the government more than six million dollars, plus tax revenues lost by the crippled investigation and collection work, says Wright.

Field offices that were formerly located in towns but closed last summer in Butte, Jerome and Gooding will announce special Monday hours. The Twin Falls office is located at 124 Shoshone street east, above the Idaho theater. The telephone number is 2077.

Tiny Baby Is Abandoned in Subway Train

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—The old year was fast fading Saturday when Martin Belanich, 31, a waiter, boarded a subway on his way to work to serve waiters at a restaurant.

As he entered what he thought was the empty last car of a north-bound IRT Lexington-avenue subway, he spotted a bundle on a seat.

Wrapped in a pink and white blanket was a baby boy, his eyes closed tight in slumber. Beside the infant, in a paper bag, were four bottles of a baby's formula, a smattering of baby clothes, a pacifier and a penicillin bottle.

As the train reached the next station Belanich realized the infant was alone. Cradling the baby in his arms he stepped off the train and told a change booth attendant the situation.

Drinks Hungrily
A doctor and nurse came from Beekman Downtown hospital. The baby was 2 weeks old, they said, and healthy. They went to a nearby police station. The infant stirred. One of the bottles of formula was heated and he drank four ounces hungrily.

Whoever had left him was gone, a part of the past. So was 1955. "Bryan," brand new, was left in the care of the Foundling hospital at the birth of 1956.

Hearst Says Ike Has Decided to Seek Reelection

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst newspaper, said Saturday night that President Eisenhower has "definitely decided to run again" with Richard Nixon as his vice president.

Hearst in a front-page "editorial report" in the New York Journal-American's Sunday edition, said this was the President's decision "bearing unexpected medical complications."

"I'm not going to give assistance to foreign countries when our farmer has his back to the wall and needs help—not in the form of charity but in a way he can market his produce at a reasonable profit."

Utah Accidents Took 472 Lives

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Utah Safety council reported Saturday that accidents in Utah in 1955 cost 472 lives and about $38,000,000.

Figures for December are expected to increase these preliminary totals, the council said.

In traffic accidents, 200 were killed; in accidents at home, 102; occupational, 71; public 49; farm, 17; non-traffic, 16; miscellaneous 17.

Masters Is Still On Critical List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Ira H. Masters, Idaho secretary of state, remained in critical condition at the National Institute of Health Saturday night.

A spokesman at the institute said there was no change since Friday. He had been reported periodically unconscious.

Masters entered the national institutes Oct. 28 as a cancer patient and underwent surgery Nov. 21.

Eight Killed

OSLERN—The Netherlands—Dec. 31 (AP)—Eight workers were killed in the collapse of a 60-foot high bunker on the grounds of a state-owned coal mine.

Welker Avers Farm Problem Top Issue Now

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Senator Welker, R., Idaho, considers the farm problem one of the most important issues to be faced by congress in the session beginning next week.

"There's no question about it," he said in an interview. "The distressed farm economy problem must be met firmly and rapidly."

"Every other segment of our domestic economy is prospering more than at any time in history. But the farmer, and through the farmer the small business man, is definitely not close to the prospering groups."

His Support Plan

Welker said the high, rigid price supports for which the Democrats will campaign next year would not solve the problem of declining farm income. Instead, he said, efforts must be made to increase the demand for farm produce and to lower distribution costs.

"Potatoes are selling here at nine cents a pound," he said. "How do you suppose the Idaho grower must feel when he looks at his check and sees he was lucky to get 1 1/2 cents for his potatoes?"

Lower Rates Needed

"It seems to me transportation rates are too high and there are too many middlemen. There's no downward trend in freight rates or anything else except in what goes into the farmer's pocket."

The senator said efforts should be made to sell some of the domestic farm surpluses to "needy people at home and abroad, at a cost that will take it off the market."

He said he and his wife noted while on a brief cruise to South America "that our friends and neighbors are desperately in need of food."

Nations Need Food

"And this is true in other parts of the world," he added. "Certainly a way must be worked out for our friends in the free world to receive food from the United States rather than have it come in cash gifts for which the farmers must pay their share of taxes."

"But I shall vote as I have in the past. I'm not going to give assistance to foreign countries when our farmer has his back to the wall and needs help—not in the form of charity but in a way he can market his produce at a reasonable profit."

Expected Frigid Weather Fails to Show for Region

Stormy weather from the southwest moved into the intermountain area during the night and expected zero temperatures failed to develop.

Forecasters said the mild weather would continue in the area over New Year's day with scattered rain or snow possible.

Boise, in southwestern Idaho, listed a Saturday morning low of 24 degrees and Lewiston, in northern Idaho, reported a low of 16.

Utah Teen-Agers Are Sent to Jail For Intoxication

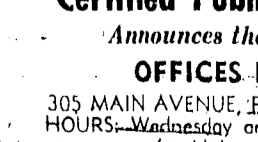

SOUTH SALT LAKE, Utah, Dec. 31 (AP)—Justice of the Peace George H. Scarle ordered two teen-agers, jailed on intoxication charges, but released six others to the custody of their parents in a crackdown on juvenile delinquency.

Scarle said the eight ranged in age from 15 to 18 and included two girls.

Marshall Edward B. Jackson said there had been a "tremendous" increase in drinking among juveniles. He said investigation indicates most of the beer obtained by the teen-agers is purchased in grocery stores.

A similar report was made by Sheriff LeRoy Day of Davis county. He said in Farmington that licenses will be taken from taverns which persist in selling beer to minors.

5 Red Gunboats Are Hit During Commando Raid

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist warship Yunglung damaged five communist gunboats Wednesday night during a Nationalist commando raid in the Matsui Islands area, the newspaper Hsin Sheng Pao said Saturday.

The newspaper, mouthpiece of the Formosa provincial government, said the action came as three Nationalist gunboats carrying commandos approached the tiny Red-held island of Hsiungyu, 11 miles west of the Matsui Islands.

Five Red Chinese gunboats tried to surround the commando craft. The Yunglung, possibly a destroyer escort, sped to the scene, damaged and routed the communist craft and silenced Red shore guns.

Scattered Snows Add to Hoards of Holiday Trips

Scattered snow added to the dangers of driving on Idaho's highways Saturday as the three-day New Year's holiday began.

Storms were reported in southeastern Idaho and the northern panhandle. The weather bureau said there might also be some freezing rain Sunday or Monday.

A snowy floor covered the corner of the state north and east of Idaho Falls and most of the district also was icy.

Ice spots were reported throughout northern Idaho above the Salmon river, with snow between Lewiston and Grandville. The highway department alerted motorists to use chains over Lookout pass.

Driving conditions generally were good in southwestern Idaho and Magic Valley, with slick spots between Pocatello and American Falls, Ketchum and Pahrsmeter and Boise and Idaho City.

Water Is Scarce But Whisky's OK

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Dec. 31 (AP)—New Year's revelers in this old mining camp will find martinis and moonshatters aplenty, but the standard "ditch high" water and whisky is in short supply.

Not because of a lack of whisky, though. The town's water system was knocked out by last week's flood, and the 400 residents are permitted to draw water only four hours a day.

"It's all right, though," said Delta saloonkeeper Eddie Collett. "We don't put much water in ditch highs anyway and if somebody's got to have a chaser we can grab a bottle."

'Ike' Mum on His Plans for Ballot in '56

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower, seeking full recovery of his health in the Florida sun, faced up to the New Year Saturday still keeping publicly mum on a momentous matter—whether to seek reelection.

Maybe he would talk about it in the quiet and privacy of a small family group who gathered here with the President's personal physician for a subdued observance of the midnight arrival of 1956.

But the indications still are that any public will be deferred until another full-scale physical examination by his doctors in mid-February.

Mumie With President

Mrs. Eisenhower flew from Washington Saturday morning to be with her husband for New Year's eve and the holiday week-end.

The first lady was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, Denver, and Mrs. Howard M. Snyder, wife of the White House physician who arrived with the President Wednesday.

Mrs. Eisenhower had remained in the capital until Saturday to be with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, who gave birth to a fourth child, Mary Jean. The mother and baby now have left Walter Reed army hospital in Washington and are at their home in Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Brother Present

Here also with the President for Saturday night's welcome to 1956 was his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, head of Pennsylvania State university. Milton, whose counsel the President often seeks, has been assisting with chief executives Jan. 5 state of the union message to congress.

It is likely that if the President is talking privately to anyone about his political plans, he is doing so to Milton.

Columnist Claims Ike Will Become TV Commentator

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower will resign and become a television network commentator from his Gettysburg home, a columnist for the Indianapolis Times said today.

Mrs. Dorothy Stephens, radio and television columnist for the Scripps-owned newspaper, wrote in a forecast of 1956 that the report about Mr. Eisenhower "comes from a responsible source in New York."

Mrs. Stephens is the wife of the Times managing editor J. Boyd Stephens.

Parley Recessed On Mine Strikes

WALLACE, Dec. 31 (AP)—Hopes for ending the four-month north Idaho mine strike dimmed Saturday as negotiations were recessed after only two days of talks.

Spokesmen for the so-called 18 operators and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.) said no progress was being made in the talks.

But Federal Conciliator Daniel Edwards of Pocatello said he believed "some good" had come out of the talks and that progress was made toward settling the union shop controversy.

Six Jet Fighters Given to Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan, Dec. 31 (AP)—King Hussein Saturday received six Vampire jets, a gift from Britain for the Jordan royal air force.

"In strengthening Jordan's air force, we seek nothing other than to ward off aggression, retrieve usurped rights and establish peace in a land of peace," he declared.

Britain Bans War Surplus Arms Export

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The cabinet banned the export of war surplus materials Saturday. British newspapers charged that exports of reconditioned British arms have gotten to Egypt.

The emergency decision was an amid-mounting political and paper demands for a public inquiry into the traffic in secondhand armaments. Newspapers which support the Conservative government had called for the embargo.

A foreign office statement said licenses are now being granted the export of surplus war materiel. Licenses have not been issued for export of surplus war materiel for several months. During this period licenses have been issued for 1951.

The British ministry of supply months has been selling tanks, jeeps, cars, half-tracks, armoured trucks, jeeps and a variety of surplus army materiel outside the country.

Private firms in Belgium have been reconditioning the materiel, concentrating especially on the tanks.

The foreign office has admitted knowing that at least 100 reconditioned tanks have filtered to Egypt in recent months—besides armoured half-tracks, jeeps and other goods.

Oregon Woman Is Dead at Age 10

$32,722 Fed Into Parking Meters Here

If all the money collected from parking meters in Twin Falls during 1955 had been in pennies the number would have been 3,272,206. And if all these pennies were stacked one on top of the other, the pile would extend more than three miles into the sky.

However, the $32,722.06 collected from city operated parking meters during the past year was in nickels and pennies. The revenue from the meters was $247.12 less this year than during 1954 when $32,969.18 was collected.

More money is collected from the meters in December than in any other month in the year. In December 1954, a total of $2,996.33 was collected from the meters while in December this year the amount was $3,866.

The lowest month for collections in 1955 was in July when $1,935.12 was deposited. January of the past year was second lowest with $2,276.50. During 1954, January was the lowest month with $2,287.51.

Police court fines and costs drop in December and go up in July. During December, 1954, the amount collected by Twin Falls police court and turned over to the city in fines and costs was $1,068.50. During 1955, $918 was turned over to the city.

The total amount of money collected in fines and costs in 1955 was $1,068.50. In 1954 it totaled $1,176.50.

In both years the greatest amount of fines and costs was levied in July. During July, 1955, the amount was $1,299. In 1954 it totaled $1,948.

City Manager Joseph Latimore said he did not anticipate any great increase in revenue for the city from parking meters in 1956. Recently the city leased the six completed parking lots from Off-Street Parking, Inc.

Latimore explained that while the amount of money turned over to the city from fines and costs levied for parking violations on the lots would now more increase the revenue from the meters was returned to the corporation as the city's payment for use of the lots.

In some fringe areas of the city, meters which previously gave two hours of parking for five cents have been changed to one hour for five cents.

Latimore said this would result in a slight increase in the meter revenue.

The fiscal year for the city ends June 30. A comparison of cost saving for the police department during the 1954-55 year shows an increase over 1953-54 fiscal year. During the fiscal year ending June 1955, it cost the city $105,564 in wages, maintenance, supplies, equipment and improvements to operate the city police department. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, it cost the city $91,000 to operate Twin Falls police court. City pays the judge and his secretary a salary; provides a court and takes care of the maintenance.

During the past year the combined total in parking meter collections, police court fines and costs amounted to $48,604.56. For 1954 and the total is $99,449.24.

T. F. Business Firms Increase By 7 Per Cent in 3-Year Span

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 31—A seven per cent increase in the number of Twin Falls business establishments since 1953 is reported by Dun and Bradstreet.

D. E. Smith, district manager of the firm's Salt Lake City office, said Saturday there are 39 more business concerns in Twin Falls than three years ago. Basing his facts on the figures in the current January, 1956, reference book, Smith points out that in 1953 526 businesses were listed by Dun and Bradstreet today, he noted, there are 565, a seven per cent increase.

Each January, Smith said, business concerns throughout the United States receive from Dun and Bradstreet reports for their annual financial statements. Of the three million total this year, 807 are going to Twin Falls business men, he said.

Dun and Bradstreet's reference book lists only manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and some service companies such as laundries and gasoline service stations.

In commenting on the figures, Smith pointed out that more than 95 per cent of all commercial transactions in the nation are made on credit terms. The purpose of credit reports and the reference book is to assist businessmen in arriving at credit decisions on customers' orders.

A supplier anywhere in the U. S. can look up the rating of Twin Falls county businessmen in the reference book, Smith explained. "In this way, the local concern is known and orders can be approved and shipped promptly."

The credit rating, Smith noted, is orders to ship or sell. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet, indicates financial strength or tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol, a numeral, reflects a composite appraisal of the background, operations, financial stability and payment record.

Each reference book listing, which includes the rating, is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun and Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business; a description of its activities; a financial section and a record of how the concern pays its bills.

Credit reports also are used by insurance underwriters to review risks, rates and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"Best Wishes for a Happy New Year"

By NORMAN F. STOCKWELL (Rector, Church of the Ascension)

We are on the threshold of a new year. It is customary for us at this time of Jan. 1 to wish one another a Happy New Year.

On what basis do we offer such a wish? Is it a mere assumption that what is new must be better? It is on the assumption that any change cannot be worse than what we have? Or do we hope that everybody will be happy with it? It is not any real reason why we may expect that they will be.

Christians may wish each other a Happy New Year in the Lord. We can knock a nation down with our elbows. We build it up with our knees.

We may wish one another a Happy New Year all right. It is a meaningful wish; a relevant wish for people who use the freedom God gave them to serve themselves by the power of a God centered in faith. Such people have a reasonable chance for a Happy New Year.

Death Ruling Is Sought for Air Sabotage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, shocked by what he called the "mass murder" of 44 persons in an airliner explosion, today proposed a federal death penalty for aircraft saboteurs.

Hennings said he will introduce a bill in the senate next week to provide an adequate penalty in such cases even if the crime is committed outside the United States.

Charge Shocking
The Missouri Democrat said it is "shocking" that the only federal charge that could be brought against John Gilbert Graham, who confessed placing a bomb aboard an airliner in Denver Nov. 1, dealt with transportation of explosives and carried a maximum 10-year sentence.

Because this was the only federal charge possible, Graham was turned over to Colorado authorities for trial on murder charges, Hennings said.

Horrible Crime
"This murder was undoubtedly one of the most horrible and almost incredible crimes in American history," he declared in a statement. "And in recent years, similar cases were reported from Canada, the Philippines, Mexico and Hong Kong."

Hennings said his bill would provide stiff penalties for any willful wrecking of an aircraft in interstate or foreign commerce with intent to injure or endanger the plane, its cargo or persons aboard.

If death resulted from the crime, conviction would carry a mandatory death sentence unless the jury recommended life imprisonment or the court directed a lighter penalty because of a "willy plea."

Farm Prices Parity Ratio Drops in '55

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The nation's farmers reached the end of an economically booming 1955 today with their prices falling and parity ratio at its lowest in 15 years.

The agriculture department yesterday reported farm prices at mid-December had declined one per cent a month. They were seven per cent below one year ago.

The department said the farm parity ratio skidded to 80 per cent—the lowest level since September, 1940.

Parity is a legal formula for determining a farmer's income in relation to expenses. When he gets one per cent of parity, he is said to be receiving a "fair" price in comparison with other sectors of the economy.

The parity ratio in mid-December compared with 81 per cent in mid-November and 86 per cent a year ago.

The report was certain to draw fire from Democrats who say farm price declines are due to agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's flexible price support program. They want to return to rigid 90 per cent supports.

Republicans have related that farm price decline is the result of farm surpluses built up under acreage reduction during their 20 years of national control. Both sides are preparing for a showdown in the new session of congress beginning today.

Meanwhile, the agriculture department announced that it has cut the acreage allotments and price supports for the 1956 rice crop the maximum amount permitted under the law.

Safety Belt Acts As "Wife Saver"
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 31 (AP)—A Louisville man who installed a safety belt in his wife's car came up with his slogan after his wife escaped a fatal attack.

"The wife you save may be your own," he said. His wife had stopped for red light when a young man bumped from the curb, yanked the door open and tried to drag her out, saying, "Come on, baby."

But, he said, the safety belt kept her securely strapped in the car and the young man was left in a cloud of exhaust fumes when the light changed.

Leisure Time Pleasure Handgun Potential Expanded as Hobby Of T. F. Man Who Builds Own Firearms

"People who have lived with guns all their lives have no idea of a handgun's potential," this statement is proved by Hugh Farmer, Twin Falls.

Since his youth, Farmer has devoted most of his spare time to increasing the velocity of handguns and getting away from cumbersome weight of firearms.

He starts with a commercial frame, building his own barrel, trigger mechanism and hammer on it. After completing the gun he makes shells to fit it.

In order to do all this, Farmer makes his own dies, scales and reloading equipment.

Much of his early life was spent in the mountains hunting grouse and pheasants with an older companion. At that time he had a rifle which he placed considerable confidence in, although it was heavy and cumbersome.

One day, after tracking down a big cat, Farmer, only 25 years old, took careful aim at the animal's head and fired and hit the lion in the stomach.

As he put it: "After packing a heavy rifle dozens of miles and not being able to do any better than that I decided to get a handgun I could depend on."

For upland game birds Farmer has perfected a shot pistol which, he says, is far superior to any factory-made handgun.

After reaming out a .45 caliber pistol cylinder, all he had to do was make the barrel, firing mechanism and elevated sight, and cut it off to fit the chamber and "her fire it, using several different amounts of powder and shot. After this he reworked the gun until he had it built to his own high standards.

Using the full length of the cylinder, he can add 100 grains more of shot than the gun's closest rival.

He calls his shot pistol a "toy" but it will take care of any upland bird within 25 yards.

It took him 18 months before he called the project satisfactory.

For large animals Farmer has perfected a pistol with only a three-grain drop at 100 yards. This gun has a muzzle velocity of 2,400 feet per second and shoots a 78- to 85-grain bullet. It was good enough to make one shot kill a deer this past season.

Farmer sells his guns only to pay for the hobby, but at the price, considering the time spent not only on the gun but making the dies and all tools he uses, is like giving the guns away.

He has no idea of going into the business. "If I sold them it would take the fun out of it," he said.

To go with his pistols Farmer has perfected a holster which he says will fit any amateur to hold a proficient gun drawer. "To prove it he has bested some good gun men and does not practice drawing at all.

Although rather simple looking, a gun cannot be taken from this holster any way but forward. By it for fast draw, the weight of the gun will practically cock the gun in the upward motion.

Shooting aimed over a dog, Farmer, the shot pistol and the hoster are unbeatable. And the nice part of it is he never is tired from carrying a heavy gun all day.

Farmer has set up his work shop in the Herrett's Gun Stocks building. He has made several other guns but the two described here are his current interest.

There is no priority on any bill right now," Johnson told reporters. He indicated that farm legislation and disaster relief bills inspired by flood damage at both ends of the country this year will get early consideration.

Tax cut proposals appeared relegated to the background for the time being.

There was an air of sweetness and good will among the law-makers as they streamed back to Washington to take their places in the opposing firing lines. This may have been due to the holiday season as well as to the absence of any immediate crisis.

Farm Aid, Foreign Policies, Top Congress Items in 1956

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Foreign policy and farm aid legislation look up billing Saturday as congressional leaders returned to Washington for the opening of the 1956 legislative session Tuesday.

Senior Wiley of Wisconsin, top Republican on the foreign relations committee, said recent statements by Russian leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev will spur strengthening of "our over-all military-diplomatic position."

"Suggesting that congressional leaders adopt a new years resolution to 'try to keep partisan politics out of our international relations,'" Wiley predicted the Red leaders' comment will prompt senate and house committees to "give the armed forces the benefit of the doubt on proposed increases" in appropriations.

"If anything, we should be intensifying our guided missile, nuclear and related programs," Wiley said.

Another big battle is wrangling over farm legislation, which Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, said will get early attention.

Johnson, back in Washington after what his doctors called "a most satisfactory recovery" from a heart attack last July, said the senate will meet briefly Tuesday and then recess until Thursday, when President Eisenhower's State of the Union message will be read by clerks in both houses.

After the presidential recommendations have been heard, Johnson said he will confer with the committee chairmen, all Democrats, and then call the senate Democratic policy committee together to map a legislative program.

"There is no priority on any bill right now," Johnson told reporters. He indicated that farm legislation and disaster relief bills inspired by flood damage at both ends of the country this year will get early consideration.

Tax cut proposals appeared relegated to the background for the time being.

Radios Outnumber Bathtubs in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—American homes have more radios than bathtubs, running water or refrigerators.

This was reported Saturday by George C. McConaughy, chairman of the federal communications commission.

In a year-end statement, he said radio set ownership now exceeds 120 million and that 35 million television sets are in use.

The 1954 total was 401 permits for $2,404,280.

That compared with the record of 990 permits for $8,719,450 issued in 1950.

In order to do all this, Farmer makes his own dies, scales and reloading equipment.

Much of his early life was spent in the mountains hunting grouse and pheasants with an older companion. At that time he had a rifle which he placed considerable confidence in, although it was heavy and cumbersome.

One day, after tracking down a big cat, Farmer, only 25 years old, took careful aim at the animal's head and fired and hit the lion in the stomach.

As he put it: "After packing a heavy rifle dozens of miles and not being able to do any better than that I decided to get a handgun I could depend on."

For upland game birds Farmer has perfected a shot pistol which, he says, is far superior to any factory-made handgun.

After reaming out a .45 caliber pistol cylinder, all he had to do was make the barrel, firing mechanism and elevated sight, and cut it off to fit the chamber and "her fire it, using several different amounts of powder and shot. After this he reworked the gun until he had it built to his own high standards.

Using the full length of the cylinder, he can add 100 grains more of shot than the gun's closest rival.

He calls his shot pistol a "toy" but it will take care of any upland bird within 25 yards.

It took him 18 months before he called the project satisfactory.

For large animals Farmer has perfected a pistol with only a three-grain drop at 100 yards. This gun has a muzzle velocity of 2,400 feet per second and shoots a 78- to 85-grain bullet. It was good enough to make one shot kill a deer this past season.

Farmer sells his guns only to pay for the hobby, but at the price, considering the time spent not only on the gun but making the dies and all tools he uses, is like giving the guns away.

He has no idea of going into the business. "If I sold them it would take the fun out of it," he said.

To go with his pistols Farmer has perfected a holster which he says will fit any amateur to hold a proficient gun drawer. "To prove it he has bested some good gun men and does not practice drawing at all.

Although rather simple looking, a gun cannot be taken from this holster any way but forward. By it for fast draw, the weight of the gun will practically cock the gun in the upward motion.

Shooting aimed over a dog, Farmer, the shot pistol and the hoster are unbeatable. And the nice part of it is he never is tired from carrying a heavy gun all day.

Farmer has set up his work shop in the Herrett's Gun Stocks building. He has made several other guns but the two described here are his current interest.

There is no priority on any bill right now," Johnson told reporters. He indicated that farm legislation and disaster relief bills inspired by flood damage at both ends of the country this year will get early consideration.

Tax cut proposals appeared relegated to the background for the time being.

There was an air of sweetness and good will among the law-makers as they streamed back to Washington to take their places in the opposing firing lines. This may have been due to the holiday season as well as to the absence of any immediate crisis.

He starts with a commercial frame, building his own barrel, trigger mechanism and hammer on it. After completing the gun he makes shells to fit it.

GAPPNEY, S. C., Dec. 31 (AP)—Bakery truck driver Ralph Bellis complained to police about a bandit who is even more unfair than most bandits. Bellis said he heard a siren and stopped, thinking a police car was behind him. The occupant of the other car, certainly no policeman, robbed him of $40.

Freight Rate Cut Is "Not Enough"

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 31 (AP)—Morris Rosenblatt, chairman of the emergency committee on intermountain freight rates, said the recent Interstate Commerce Commission order reducing freight rates is welcomed but is not enough. The ICC reduced rates for many shipments into and out of the West, but said it would generally remain somewhat higher for shipments west of Denver. Rosenblatt said his group will continue to press its demand for the same level of class rates in effect in the regions east of Denver.

1956 Predictions Are Made By Writer's Oddity Almanac

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—Everybody likes an advance peek at what lies ahead. This curiosity is a human trait, as a human as having mothers-in-law or the nosed. Each year the editors of the Oddity Almanac try to satisfy this curiosity by taking a look in their fuzzy office crystal ball and making a few pertinent forecasts for the year coming up. Here are their picks for '56: Politics—A drive will be launched to get both the Republican and Democratic parties to back a bipartisan presidential election ticket—but cooler heads will prevail. Both major party platforms will denounce rag weed and endorse motherhood, but each will remain silent on the crying question of the hour. "Shall the dandelion be made America's national flower?" Business—As usual, only more so, the nation will hit a 400 billion dollar income, and nine out of 10 Americans will ask, "wonder who got my share?" Sex—It will go on as usual too. No really significant developments on the horizon, although no slump in its present widespread popularity is expected. International affairs—A calm year. The cold war between Elsa Maxwell and the Duchess of Windsor will continue, but no open violence will flare... Babs Hutton will abstain from either divorce or marriage. Automation—A new push button slot machine will make its appearance in Las Vegas, so patrons can lose their cash without leaving off their arms pulling those levers. Industry—Motor car sales, after a brief lag, will spurt tremendously after all firms announce they will give a year's free parking space with the purchase of each new automobile. Women's fashions—The style world will be started by a revolutionary new corset which zippers up the front, thus enabling a fat wife to dress without asking help from her churlish husband.

Dionne Girls Close Rift in Family Circle

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 31 (AP)—Their peace mission accomplished, two of the Dionne quintuplets wound up a holiday visit with their parents Saturday and returned to student nurse duties in Montreal. A spokesman said everything went off smoothly during the brief visit and the family had resolved any misunderstanding that had arisen. The rift became known when none of the four returned home for Christmas. Three of the four surviving quintets made a hurried 350-mile trip to the parental home Friday after the father, Olivia Dionne, had asserted that outsiders were influencing the famed sisters to drift away from their family. Soon after the girls arrived, the father issued a statement that the family had discussed "this trouble we have been having, and we now stand—as all due to a misunderstanding." Saturday, the family explained Cecile and Yvonne had to cut short their visit because Cecile was slated to go on nursing duty at the hospital where both sisters are in training. The statement said Annette would remain with the parents for a few days. Marie, the fourth surviving quint, was unable to make the trip from Montreal because she is convalescing from a recent illness. The fifth sister, Emilie, died in August, 1954. Battle Fought RABAT, French Morocco, Dec. 31 (AP)—French troops patrolling the Rif mountain area of northern Morocco Friday fought a brisk battle with a well-armed rebel band and killed 10 of the outlaws, officials announced Saturday. In requires children under 16 to be off the streets by 11 p.m. and 17-year-olds to be off by midnight. Violators whose parents can't be reached can be placed in the juvenile detention home for up to 24 hours. Their parents are liable to a $100 fine and 30 days in jail.

Uneasy World Awaits Peace Signs in 1956

have been reduced since people realize that application of modern means of destruction no longer offers a prospect of victory but merely destruction of the battling parties. New Year's eve celebrations in the United States, Europe and in many far off places were noisy and lavish, reflecting prosperous conditions and hopeful attitudes. But with the fun came tragedy in highway accidents, fires and other mishaps. In the United States public officials and safety engineers appealed for caution on the highways to avoid the toll of 609 killed over the long Christmas week-end. Advance predictions, nevertheless, were that 407 would die before the New Year's holidays are ended.

Long Life Is Promised for 1956 Babies

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP)—If your child was born during 1956 he can expect to live 75 years and he should be making $8,000 a year by the year 2,000. Dr. William F. Ogburn, former president of both the American Sociological Society and the American Statistical association, made the prediction. Dr. Ogburn, now a professor at Florida State university, said a new baby will be born every eight minutes next year. These babies will marry at 20 if they are girls and at 23 if they are boys, he said. Four out of five couples will be happy, one will be divorced or separated. Two out of three who get a divorce will try again. He said next year's average family income will be $4,000 and it will be double that by the year 2,000. "The largest portion of a man's income will be spent on his living quarters in 1956, but since man is also a gambler and a wanderer, $30,000,000 will be lost in gambling and $12,000,000,000 on vacation travel during the year," Ogburn added.

District Court OK's Divorce For 3 in T. F.

Three decrees of divorce were granted Thursday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker.

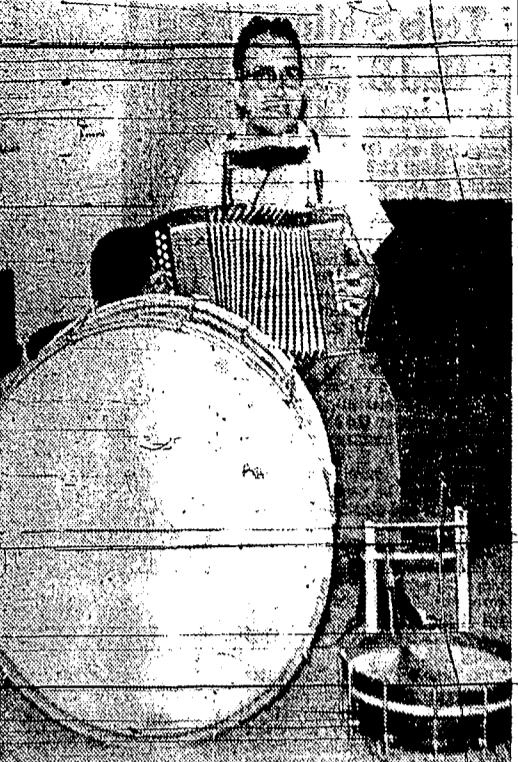

Mrs. Patsy Streep was divorced from William Edward Streep by decree of default. Mrs. Streep was granted custody of a minor child and sole ownership of all household articles. Streep was given title to the 1954 Buick automobile. Harry Turner, Twin Falls attorney, represented Mrs. Streep.

Edwin P. King was granted a divorce from Mrs. Ila Marie King. King was awarded custody of two minor children, $500 to be paid $5 monthly, and $68 a month for permanent support of the children. King was ordered to pay all debts and liabilities incurred during the marriage. The court approved the community property settlement entered into by the couple prior to the divorce proceedings.

J. W. Taylor, Buhl attorney, represented King. King's attorneys were Stephan, Stephan and Leap, Twin Falls.

Clara Belle Arnold was divorced from Ivan LeRoy Arnold by default. She was given custody of a minor child and awarded $50 per month for its support and maintenance. In the property settlement, Mrs. Arnold was given title to a 1954 Pontiac automobile, providing she paid off the indebtedness and sole ownership of all household articles. William Langley, Twin Falls attorney, represented Mrs. Arnold.

One Man Does It All

M. J. Dille, Shoshone, is a one-man five-piece band. With his feet he plays a bass drum, a snare drum and cymbals while he pumps an accordion with his hands and blowing on an electric harmonica with his mouth. He can't read music but still he plays for dances and entertainments. (Staff photo- engraving)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

It isn't unusual these days for a person to be able to play a musical instrument or two or three, but playing them all at the same time sort of puts the individual in a class by himself.

M. J. Dille, SHOSHONE, spurns tradition in the music field. He not only plays five instruments but he hasn't spent a cent on training. He can't read a note and doesn't recognize the time markings, but he plays for dances and seems to satisfy his audiences.

The instruments Dille plays include the bass drum, snare drum, cymbals, accordion and electric harmonica. Total cost for the band hasn't exceeded $100 in the many hours Dille spent assembling it aren't counted.

The cymbals and snare drum are mounted on a wooden platform and are controlled by foot on two automobile gas pedals.

Dille plays the bass drum with the other foot and the harmonica is held in place on a chest rest. His hands are free for the accordion.

"Playing five instruments at once isn't so difficult," Dille says. "You need to do something with your feet anyway—many musicians keep time by tapping their feet."

The five-piece band was put together about three years ago, although he played the accordion and harmonica prior to that time.

He started to play the harmonica when he was 6 years old.

Dille, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dille, WENDELL, is a barber in Shoshone. Mrs. Dille plays the piano and organ but she has had lessons as have three of his six children.

Dille has played for the LDS elders' quorum dance at Gooding for the past two years, played for the all-night barn dance at Gooding last fall and has appeared on Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce, Grange and farm institute programs.

A. F. Nelson, who will retire both as chairman and a member of the TWIN FALLS city commission Tuesday, rounded up his official duties with a problem. He had a letter from Theopliet Dietz, lord mayor of Singen, Germany, that he couldn't read. It was written in German. Nelson spent several days trying to find someone to read it for him.

Nelson claims the highlight of his term as chairman of the city commission was when Dietz and other members of the Singen city council visited Twin Falls last April. The Germans were entertained by Twin Falls as a community and by individual residents of the city.

One evening Hermann Buch, building materials wholesaler, and Dr. Gertrud Kempf, physician and social worker, had dinner at Nelson's home. Knowing Nelson has two small daughters the two Germans brought two German dolls with them as presents for the Nelson girls.

"I sat on the edge of my chair, wondering how a dinner with two foreign city officials and two American girls would turn out," Nelson recalls. "But there was no need for concern. In five minutes Ruch and Dr. Kempf were down on the floor with my daughters, playing with them and talking to them in the universal language of understanding."

Interest Increases In Skiing School

SUN VALLEY, Dec. 31—Sun Valley's first "learn-to-ski" week of 1956 will begin with an enrollment of 40 more than last year.

Sigi Engl, head of the Sun Valley ski school, said that the increased enrollment may show a greatest interest than ever in the package all expense ski vacations. From reservations already made, Engl said classes this year will include about as many expert skiers as novices. This is a change from the time when in 1940 Sun Valley first pioneered the "learn-to-ski" week program primarily for beginners.

Engl said the first series of "learn-to-ski" weeks are for consecutive weeks from January 1 to Feb. 11 and the second from Feb. 26 to March 31.

Red Chiefs' Tour Of East Is Hailed

LONDON, Dec. 31—The Soviet newspaper Pravda Saturday described the recent Asian tour of Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Head Nikita S. Khrushchev as the "most important event of 1955."

In a year-end review, the official organ of the Soviet Communist party said the trip "demonstrated once again the sincere desire of the Soviet Union to live in peace with all countries, including the U. S. A., Britain and France."

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 31—This one of rich copper mines and the third largest Montana city is being sued for $3.

Charles Laird brought suit in Silver Bow county district court Friday seeking money he claims is due him for July duty. Laird also seeks recovery of $1,000 for his attorney fees and costs.

Laird claims he was orally summoned to appear in police court for service on Nov. 15. He says he appeared, was empaneled, served on a jury, deliberated on a case with other jurors and helped return verdict.

Laird says on the same day he presented a claim for $3 and that on Dec. 21 the Butte city council denied his claim.

The council denied payment of Laird's claim along with nine others on the grounds that selection of a jury in this particular case was illegal.

Towering Ice Shelf Chosen As Byrd Camp

KAINAN BAY, in the Antarctic, delayed, Dec. 31 UP—A towering ice shelf some 30 miles east of Little America Thursday was picked as the base camp for Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd's latest Antarctic expedition.

Known as Kainan Bay, the area will be headquarters for "Operation Deepfreeze" during the next three years. It already is being referred to as Little America No. 5.

This is the first time any American expedition has set up shop in the Kainan area, named for a Japanese ship which first visited the spot 40 years ago.

The Kainan shelf ice is regarded as more stable and accessible than that in the Bay of Whales area where the first four Little Americas lay buried under snow and ice.

Located some 800 miles from the South Pole, Kainan Bay has as its nearest neighbors Americans at McMurdo Sound, 400 miles west.

Montana Man Wins Title as Champ "Liar"

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 31 (AP)—Bagging the Burlington Liar Club top award for 1955 was a breeze for a Westerner and his story of a big Montana wind and a sack of flour.

Judges of the world-famed Phony Tale Club, long accustomed to big winds, gave the nod, and temporary possession of a "diamond-studded, gold-plated medal" to Claude T. Yerkes, of Kalispell, Mont.

O. C. Hullett, the organization's founder and president, says Yerkes told about a sheep herder who lived in a small trailer house, and had his provisions brought out by the owner of the sheep.

On this particular occasion, Yerkes said, "the provisions included a 100-pound sack of flour for which there was no room in the trailer, so the herder drove a couple of stout mules in the wall, and hung the sack of flour on them, just outside the trailer door. During the night one of Montana's justly-famous winds swooped down on him. Next morning the sheep herder stepped out of his trailer to find that the wind had blown away the sack and left the flour hanging on the walls.

A Canadian won one of three honorable mention awards for 1955. Vernon Charneloff of Praelo, Sask., won in this category.

Recently a friend of mine asked me about the height of the big pot grain elevator in our town. I told him I didn't know how high it was, but I did know of a carpenter who dropped his hammer while working on the roof. When he went down to get it, he found that the handle had rotted off while it was falling.

He told of returning to his home state after being gone for 50 years. "I wanted to lay a wreath on the graves of my departed relatives," Johnson lied, "but to my surprise, when I got to the cemetery I saw nothing but holes where the graves had been. I inquired from an ancient relative if they had moved the bodies. 'Nope,' he said, 'they buried a renooper in this cemetery by mistake, and they all got up and walked off!'"

Idaho to Be Site for Atomic Power Plant Testing in 1956

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission's facility for testing designs of projected atomic power plants is virtually complete and indications are the first power plant test may start early in 1956.

Construction of the intricate site, at the AEC's eastern Idaho atomic reactor test center, began more than two years ago.

A hint that the commission was in the final stages of construction came early this year when it reported a contract had been let for installing an exhaust system for the engine test facility.

The air force has at least three contracts outstanding with different firms for either study or actual design and construction of proposed atomic nuclear power plants.

Reports were current last summer that one of the projects, that by General Electric company, had progressed to the point where an inactive atomic generator was mounted in a B-37 bomber and flown as part of the study of weight distribution and other technical problems. This reactor was not the final design, but presumably bore some relation in size, shape and weight to what eventually will be constructed as an operating reactor for aircraft.

However, no officials in government or industry have indicated that an actual flight of an aircraft, driven by nuclear power can be attained short of about three years.

The estimated cost for the Idaho aircraft test site is 33 million dollars. It was in Idaho that the AEC made its first test of an atomic power plant, identical to the one now powering the submarine Nautilus.

Shielding has been a major problem in attempts at airborne reactors. In land-based and sea-based atomic plants, tons of lead are used to confine dangerous radiation. Aircraft engine designers have been exploring the use of lighter, but virtually equally satisfactory materials, including variations of fibre glass, as possible shielding for airborne reactors.

The trend in aircraft reactors so far has been to combine the heat-producing features of the atomic reactor with the propulsion system used in ordinary jet engines. Extremely hot air generated in the reactor "trebox" would be compressed as it is in a jet engine, passed through a turbine wheel and then released from a tail pipe in high intensity jet or series of jets, to provide thrust.

World Hails Marshall for His Birthday

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 31 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall celebrated his 75th birthday quietly at his winter home here today receiving congratulatory messages from throughout the free world.

As former army chief of staff, secretary of defense, winner of the Nobel peace prize and author of an international plan for free-world unity, Marshall was greeted by leaders of many nations.

Among a flood of telegrams was a telegram which President Eisenhower sent last night from his vacation headquarters at the Key West, Fla., naval base.

Mr. Eisenhower congratulated Marshall on his "brilliant career of service to our country."

Marshall received other greetings from such U.S. public figures as former President Truman and former Secretary of State James E. Byrnes, and a personal message came from Prime Minister Anthony Eden of Great Britain.

During the winter Marshall stays at his modest estate in this resort community of the North Carolina sandhills and busies himself with private affairs and his garden, avoiding publicity.

He became an unwilling center of a controversy last year when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R. Wis., entered into the Congressional Record a critical letter written by former President Eisenhower came to Marshall's defense.

Big Spending Program Set

DENVER, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company announced plans Saturday to spend a record-breaking 100 million dollars "in this dynamic area" in 1956.

Walter K. Koch, company president, said an 85-million-dollar construction program was completed in 1955.

"Even greater growth seems certain for 1956 in this dynamic area," Koch said. "Our construction program is designed to keep telephone service in step."

In the last 10 years Mountain States has spent 500 million dollars in construction and other expansion moves, and has seen the number of telephones in its territory increase to 1,570,000 from 700,000. Its number of employees grew to 26,000 from 12,200 at the end of World War II.

Idaho's Atom Tests Station Had Big Year

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 31 (AP)—Idaho's national reactor testing station ended 1955 with this record of accomplishment: Lighting of the community of Arco with atomic power, a controlled "explosion" of an atomic reactor and assignment of two new reactors.

The year also saw continued work on one of the hottest atomic experiments, the aircraft nuclear propulsion project. It is intended to provide at atomic engine that could be used to power aircraft.

Announced during the year was the discovery of a second isotope of the chemical element, tantalum. Three scientists on the staff of Phillips Petroleum company made the discovery. But J. E. Evans, E. G. Joki and R. R. Smith said further research would be necessary to determine the real significance of the discovery.

Employment at the station west of Idaho Falls continued to increase with 2,180 permanent employees and 500 construction workers on the payroll at the year's end. The total is expected to increase by about 1,000 during 1956.

The hitching of a boiling water reactor to transmission lines of Power and Light company for a brief test was probably the year's most spectacular accomplishment. The power served the community of Arco for two hours and officials of Argonne National Laboratory said the transmission could have been continued considerably longer with no strain on the reactor.

The controlled explosion of another reactor also was carried on by Argonne. The test was intended to determine what would happen if such an explosion actually occurred. Scientists said it proved there would be no disastrous results.

Two new reactors assigned to the station are the engineering test reactor and the large ship reactor. The engineering test reactor is designed to provide larger pieces of equipment, construction is in progress.

Construction is expected to begin soon on the large ship reactor, intended to develop an atomic engine to power vessels larger than the submarine for which an A-engine already has been built.

The submarine reactor, which served as the prototype for the power plant built in the Nautilus, the world's first atomic submarine, was modified and re-fueled during the year and is being put to further challenging power tests.

Thousands of Polio Vaccine Shots Wasted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Thousands of Salk polio shots went to waste in the 1955 mass inoculation program, it was learned today.

State health authorities revealed in a nationwide United Press survey that enough serum to inoculate more than 35,000 children because "stale" before it was used. They blamed distribution mixups, the safety testing snafu this summer and other factors.

Most of this vaccine was earmarked for the school program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

More than 11,000 additional doses, it was learned, also have been returned to manufacturers since the start of the government's voluntary distribution program.

Dr. G. Poard McGinness, vaccine director of the Foundation, said he estimated vaccine losses this year wouldn't run more than 20,000 shots. But he said even if the 35,000 figure is correct, it represents a "pretty good record."

"With all the clearing and re-clearing of vaccine this summer," he said, "it's surprising a lot more shots didn't become outdated and go unused."

At present, vaccine is declared outdated if it has not been used within a six-month period. In the United Press survey 31 states reported no wastage, but 12 states reported losses ranging from "a little" to more than 13,000 shots.

Nine states reported they have between 53,000 and 100,000 shots close to expiring. But they indicated they hope to get them into children's arms before the deadline.

A number of explanations were offered for the vaccine losses during the inoculation program. Typical was Pennsylvania which reported 10,000 doses became outdated because they were so widely distributed they couldn't be shifted to areas where they were needed before the expiration date.

IDAHO WALLOPS COLORADO A-M BEFORE TWIN FALLS CROWD

Vandals Give Aggies 72-62 Beating; Buhler Buckets 22 Points to Lead Winners

University of Idaho pinned a 72-62 defeat on Colorado A and M Friday evening in a basketball game before a capacity crowd at Twin Falls high school gymnasium.

Matching buckets with the Aggies in the first few minutes of the game sponsored by the Twin Falls Vandal-Boosters club, the Vandals, soon opened up a lead which they never relinquished. Led by Jay Buhler, 5-foot, 11-inch senior forward from Halley who hit six consecutive field-goals early in the first half, Idaho had what seemed to be a comfortable margin. The Aggies refused to collapse, though, and midway in the half trimmed the Idaho lead to a single point, 32-31.

Vanderbilt Upsets Big Auburn Team 25 to 13

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP)—Don Orr, a prince charming of a quarterback, ran and passed Vanderbilt's Cinderella Commodores to a 25-13 upset over Auburn's big Plainsmen Saturday in the 11th annual Gator bowl. For a lad who mislocated his right elbow in the final game of the regular football season and had been a question mark for this game, the Miami junior was terrific. He passed seven yards to end Joe Stephenson for Vanderbilt's first touchdown and scored the next two on short touchdowns.

Aggies Avenge Loss by Edging Vandals 63-58

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 31 (AP)—Colorado A and M held off a second-half rally by the University of Idaho Vandals to win 63-58 and even their two-game series Saturday night.

Friday night the Vandals of the Pacific Coast conference downed the Skyline Aggies 72-62.

The Aggies controlled the backboards most of the game with center Gary Hibbard who also threw in 19 points. But high-point man for the game was Bill Bauscher of the Vandals with 20.

It was tied 4-4 in the opening minutes but the Aggies stepped ahead and held the lead throughout, leading 29-18 at the half. The Vandals rallied in the second period, scoring 40 points. They got to within five points of the Aggies in the last few minutes but could go no further.

Both teams played slow ball. Occasionally a fast break was used, but not often.

Idaho's Jay Buhler who paced the Vandals to their Friday night win in Twin Falls fouled out with three minutes to go. He scored 10 points, Friday he lead scoring with 22, and the Aggies' Richard Gregory who scored 18 Friday night was scoreless Saturday night.

San Francisco Beats Uclans; Utah Defeated

By The Associated Press
San Francisco is the type of basketball team that sports writers call a "Cinderella." The Dons make the experts cringe.

Sports folks consistently have voted San Francisco tops in the Associated Press collegiate rankings this season. The Golden Gateers justified the tribute by sweeping the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic conference tournament at Madison Square garden Friday evening, crushing UCLA 70-53.

Utah, ranked 12th, won the championship, 65-62. And, fourth-ranked Wake Forest spoiled eighth-place off. Duke's unbeaten record with a 76-34 triumph in the semi-finals of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. That set the stage for the Tar Heels' meeting with third-ranked N. C. State in the classic finale Saturday.

N. C. State moved into the finals at the expense of Wake Forest 70-56. Unranked teams stole the spotlight in other sections of the country as the annual holiday tournament frenzy neared an end. West Virginia hit on 33 of 47 free throws Saturday, leading Miami, Fla., 83-72 in the final of the Orange bowl's inaugural tournament. In Kansas, Little Georgia's Thompson scored the big points as Iowa State won its first Big Seven conference tourney crown with a 67-54 victory over Kansas.

Jerome Gains 43-40 Victory Over Rexburg

REXBURG, Dec. 31—The Jerome Tigers wiped out an earlier loss to Madison high school of Rexburg Friday evening by scoring a 43-40 basketball victory.

Although Jerome outplayed Rexburg badly in the first half, the Tigers had to stave off a late rally to tally the three-point victory.

Theron Nelson and Kurt Hill each tallied 14 points for coach Jerry Dellinger's Tigers. Scoring honors for the game, though, went to Rexburg's Don Wildison who scored 22 points in a losing cause.

Jerome's defense was more effective than it had been in earlier games and the Tigers connected on 38 per cent of their field-goal tries to 30 per cent for Rexburg.

Jerome's free throws were 47 per cent accurate and Rexburg was successful on 46 per cent of its gift tries.

High Score Seen For Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Dec. 31 (AP)—Coach Johnny Vaughn of Mississippi thinks his Cotton bowl game Monday with Texas Christian will be a high scoring affair but he fears TCU will do most of it.

The halting coach of the Rebels who brought his team in Friday from Oxford, Miss., to compete in the final at the site of the bowl, said he had been able to move the ball well all season but that the team had been able to move the ball well.

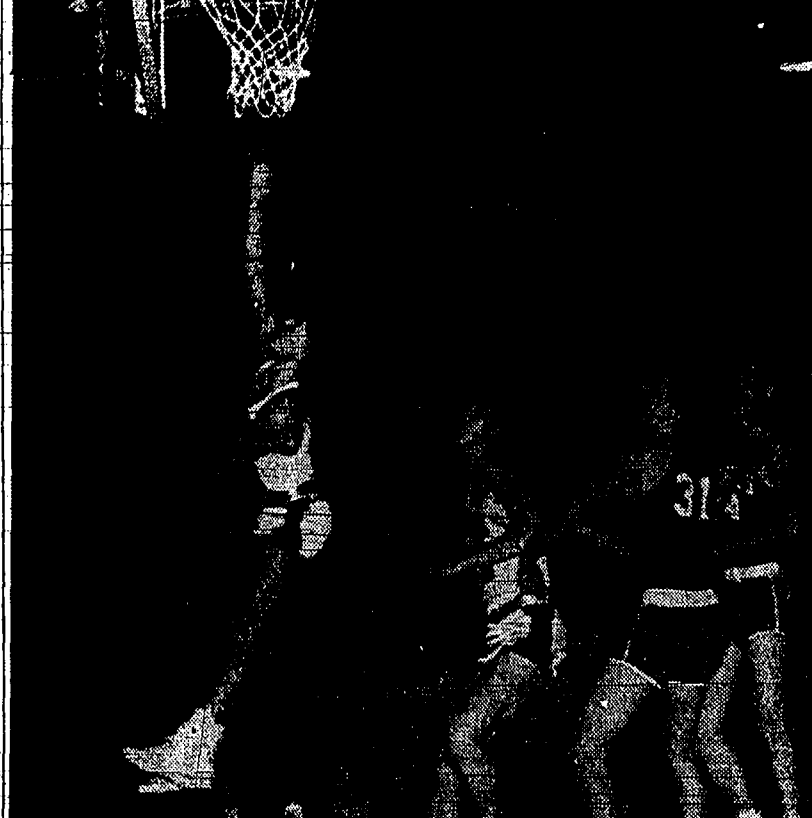

"TU does that, too," Vaughn commented. "Therefore, I think it is reasonable to expect that there'll be considerable scoring."

Primo Carnera Headlines T. F. Mat Card Tuesday

Weekly wrestling shows resume at Radio Rodeo Tuesday evening with Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, being featured in one bout of the double-main event.

Carnera, who has carved out a post-war career as a wrestler, will oppose his opponent, Professor Roy Shires, Columbus, O., by nearly 50 pounds. The 6-foot, 61-inch Italian giant tips the scales at 270 pounds.

In the other main event, Guy Brunett, Salt Lake City, goes up against Jerry Goretzki, New Haven, Conn.

"Iron Mike" Mazurki, who divides his time between the wrestling ring and Hollywood production stages, takes on Hardy Kruskamp, one of wrestling's "most hated" men in the special event.

The matches under sponsorship of the Twin Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars, set under way at 8:30 p.m. Promoter Wex Hager announced that a one-hour time limit would prevail in each of the main events, with 45 minutes allotted to the special event.

Carnera, who has been in the sports limelight for more than 25 years, was a wrestler before he began his boxing career. A circus came to his home town of Segrate, Italy, when Primo was 14 years old and Carnera joined it as a strong man and wrestler. He defeated several of Europe's top Graeco-Roman wrestlers before he decided to become a boxer.

After three years of campaigning for the Golden States he won the world's heavyweight crown, knocking out Jack Sharkey in six rounds. He lost the title to Max Baer a year later.

At the end of World War II, Carnera came to the United States and again from Italy and started touring as a wrestler. He was joined by his family in this country and in 1953 he and his family became United States citizens.
