Eisenhower Eyes Long-Range Plan On Drought Area

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (UP)—President Eisenhower today submitted to congress a long-range federal program to help solve the "critical problems" of farmers in the drought-plagued Great Plains.

In letters to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Speaker Sam Rayburn, he said the 10-state Great Plains region has "special problems requiring special attention." He "strongly urged congressional action this year. Mr. Eisenhower noted that the Great Plains region, "a vast agricultural empire peopled by 12 million of our citizens," has been hard hit by drought and wind erosion that threaten to produce a new dust bowl.

He said the agriculture department is already taking steps to aid farmers in the region, and will do more. He said he will soon ask congress for new appropriations to permit stepped-up activities.

In addition to providing these funds, Mr. Eisenhower asked congress to enact two bills:

1. Authority for the government to enter into "long term contracts" with farms for diversion of croplands into trees, grass or other plantings for "soil and water conservation." At present, such conservation agreements are limited to a year-at-a-time.

2. Authority to relax the requirement that farmers must actually plant their allotted wheat acreage each year in order to maintain their so-called "historic base acreage" for future allotments.

Mr. Eisenhower also transmitted to senate aid house leaders a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and an 11-page agriculture department report outlining the department's program for the Great Plains.

Benson said his department will "carry out vigorously" those parts of the Great Plains program which fall within its administrative responsibility "and will encourage the states, local governments and private citizens to pick up their share of the program."

Some hope was held out that there were survivors when the Rev. Henry L. Wolf, Philadelphia, Pa., reported he had talked by amateur short wave with another amateur in Quito, Ecuador. The Quito amateur said he was informed that a column of men was seen not far from the desert plain. He said Ecuadorian officials hoped the fire had been identified by survivors.

Raging Storm Cripples East, Texas Is Dry

By United Press
A giant Atlantic storm battered the New Jersey coast with road-blocking tides today, but relented a little on shivering Florida.

The massive storm center, hovering off the Virginia coast for the last three days, spawned freakish weather as far west as the Mississippi river.

The normal west-east flow of weather was reversed: Gale force winds and high tides pounded the eastern seaboard, Midwest floods were coated with ice, and Florida farmers plowed under more than 10 million dollars worth of frost-shrivelled crops.

Ironically, the storm's winds and rain coincided with the worst drought in memory in many parts of Texas.

Gov. Allan Shivers announced that three-fourths of Texas was in the drought's grip and the state's (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Canal Firm's Chiefs Picked

All five incumbents of the Twin Falls Canal company board of directors were reelected Tuesday afternoon at the annual stockholders meeting in the Idaho theater, according to Alfred Peters, canal company manager. Returned to the board were N. V. Sharp, Piler, 122-4122 votes; Donald Stafford, Twin Falls, 118,065.47; Pay Prashm, Hansen, 53,377.77; A. E. Kils, Buhl, 99,174.77; and A. L. Kramer, Castleford, 100,004.97.

Attendance for the annual meeting was light, according to Lowell Wilson, secretary-treasurer. He said about 24 stockholders were present for the morning session. About 35 stockholders attended the afternoon meeting.

At noon Wednesday 8,292 passenger and 2,440 truck plates had been sold at the Twin Falls license bureau. During all of 1955 over 16,000 plates were sold.

DRAFT CALL ISSUED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The defense department today issued a draft call for 16,000 men in March, 10,000 for the navy and 6,000 for the army.

T.F. County Ranks High for Wholesale Trade

The 1954 census of business ranks Twin Falls county second in the wholesale trade industry and first in other types of wholesale establishments in Idaho for that year.

A preliminary report prepared by the U. S. department of commerce credits Twin Falls county with doing $23,370,000 in merchant wholesale business and $30,970,000 in wholesale other than merchant wholesale.

Ada county did $64,643,000 in merchant wholesale in 1954 and $39,700,000 in other types of wholesale business.

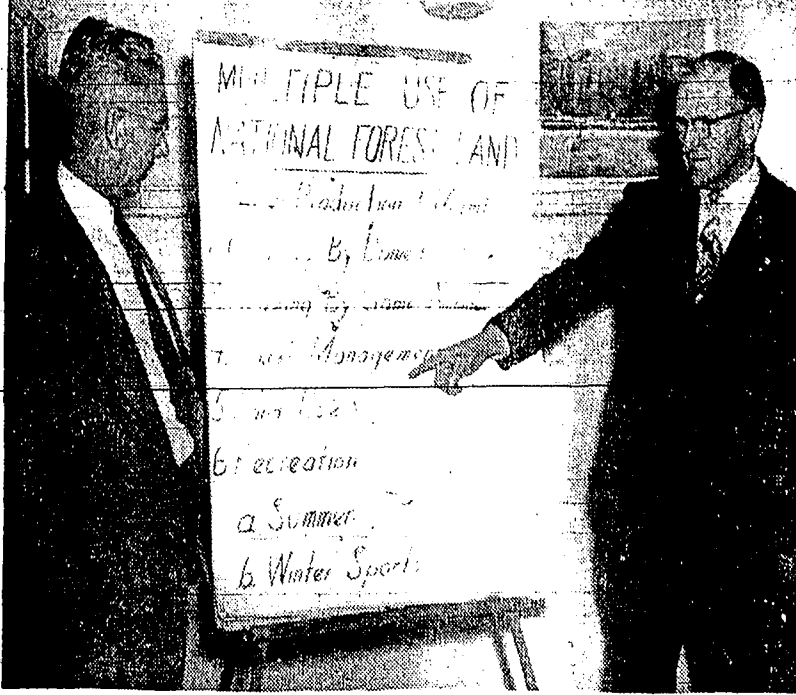

Wholesale trade as defined in the preliminary report includes establishments engaged in selling merchandise directly to retailers; industrial, commercial or institutional users, or to other wholesalers.

Twin Falls county shows a marked increase in merchant wholesale trade in 1954 as compared to 1948. The report lists the gain at 99.4 percent increase.

Merchant wholesale sales for 1948 in Twin Falls county totaled $11,719,000 as compared to $23,370,000 in 1954.

However, the chart shows a drop in other types of wholesale establishment sales in the county from

Forest Topics Listed for Meet Here

Rufus Hall, ranger at the Malta ranger station and coordinating chairman of the Sawtooth national forest staff meeting, points to a few of the major topics discussed by representatives of the eight ranger stations in the forest at the meeting Wednesday morning. Charles I. Daugherty, left, forest supervisor, and the meeting was held to ascertain if the methods currently used in timber cutting and grazing on federal land serve the country in the best way. (Staff photo-engraving)

Multiple Use of Forest Is Meet's Topic

Commemorating the 50th year of the forest service department, the Sawtooth national forest staff met Wednesday to analyze the multiple use of forest land and study results of the program.

Under the general heading of multiple use are topics of watershed management, grazing by domestic stock and big game, timber management, various types of land uses and recreation.

Charles I. Daugherty, forest supervisor, said the program has insured future generations with not only a great natural resource in wood but also fine recreation and sport playground.

He noted by use of controlled timber harvesting, people 100 years from now will be able to take as much timber out of the forest as now.

Looking into the future, the group spent most of the morning studying new 1955 mineral law.

The law, passed by congress, concerns disposition of common minerals such as sand, gravel and pumice on national forest land.

These varieties are not subject to regular mining laws and are disposed through leasing and direct sales.

The staff felt the law was "very satisfactory" and will improve relations between the forest service and mining industry.

In the afternoon the group continued discussion of the mineral bill and then turned to the problem of land acquisition. This is the method of exchanging public for private land for better administrative control, Daugherty said.

Ike Found No Reds; Asserts Demo Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Olen D. Johnston, D., S. C., said today the Eisenhower administration has never offered evidence that it found a single communist on the government payroll when it came into power.

He made the comment to newsmen as a senate civil service subcommittee he heads went to work on a report of its investigation of the employee security program set up by order of President Eisenhower in May, 1953.

Chairman Philip Young of the civil service commission estimated that about 41 percent of the employees listed as fired or resigned under the program were hired under the Eisenhower administration, which took over three years ago.

The remainder, or about 59 percent, had been hired under prior Democratic administrations, he said.

Senator Carlson of Kansas, the subcommittee's only Republican member, said he felt the investigation had done "some good." But he added that he saw no need for a major overhaul of the security program.

Smylie to Speak

Gov. Robert E. Smylie will address a joint meeting of all men's service clubs in Twin Falls on industrial and tourist development at a noon luncheon Feb. 15, reports Kenneth Montgomery, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Additional information on the luncheon, sponsored by the chamber, will be given later, he said.

Committee Takes Permanent Status

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 11 (AP)—A committee formed to promote lower railroad freight rates voted last night to set up a permanent organization.

Morris Rosenblatt, Salt Lake City manufacturer, headed the emergency committee on intermountain freight rates. He said the group decided its task would be prolonged and a permanent organization would be desirable.

Immediate objective, Rosenblatt said, would be to convince the interstate commerce commission that its temporary order reviving class freight rates in the West should be made permanent.

Anti-Polio Vaccine Ordered for Tests; T.F. Region Slated

BOISE, Jan. 11 (UP)—A. W. Klotz, director of laboratories for the state board of health, said today 2,100 cubic centimeters of anti-polio vaccine have been ordered for the initial phase of the state's test of the vaccine's effectiveness. Part of the test is scheduled at Twin Falls.

Klotz said that much vaccine would be sufficient to give 600 children two shots of the serum with enough left over for some side tests before the shots are administered.

Of the total vaccine on order, Klotz said, 1,400 cc's were to come from the Eli Lilly company of Indianapolis and 700 from the Wyeth laboratories in Philadelphia.

Tentative plans for the Idaho test, which was approved earlier this week by the U. S. public health service, provide for the administration of the vaccine to 200 children each in Boise, Pocatello and Twin Falls.

Klotz said the two-shot plan also was tentative, subject to review by medical authorities who would set up the tests and who also would determine how far apart the shots would be spaced, if both are used.

Approval of the state's test of the serum came early this week, a total of $21,500 in federal funds was granted to conduct the experiment under Idaho conditions.

The state board of health has placed an "indefinite postponement" on any mass use of the vaccine because of the polio outbreak which followed inoculations of 32,000 gem state school children in April of 1955.

Spain Asserts Morocco Can Get Freedom

RABAT, French Morocco, Jan. 11 (AP)—An unprecedented promise of limited independence for Spanish Morocco spurred Arab hopes today for the eventual reunification of this strategic North African protectorate.

France has already promised French Morocco "independence within interdependence"—amounting to home rule—and Spanish High Commissioner Rafael Garcia Valino yesterday pledged "parallel evolution" for the Spanish zone.

Assurance Given
French authorities said Garcia assured French resident Gen. Andre Dubois that Spanish authorities are prepared to grant independence to their zone of Morocco "with due respect for the legitimate interests of the two (European) countries concerned."

It was the first time Spain had mentioned a grant of any degree of independence to Spanish Morocco.

Campaign Grows
The announcement, resulting from Dubois' meeting with Garcia yesterday in the Spanish zone town of Khedrafra, lent new weight to Sultan Mohammed V's campaign for Moroccan independence and unity.

The Sultan told French Sen. M. E. A. Bethouart yesterday that he will be satisfied with nothing less than full independence and reunification for Morocco.

Ranch Water; Grazing Land Are Discussed

Water and grazing land improvement on the Salmon River Cattleman's association ranch were discussed at the annual stockholders meeting Wednesday morning in the city hall.

It was pointed out by President Orion Freeman most of the improvement allocations had been used for improving fences with the grazing problems suffering from the lack of care.

John Noh proposed a reduction of cattle grazing on the ranch this summer to allow the range to recuperate.

"No sheep will be pastured there this year but we should not allow the number of cattle to increase," he said.

P. H. Pringle, vice president, suggested the association begin paying off the mortgage on the ranch with a set amount each year. The stockholders however, voted down this motion, stating the money should be used for improvement.

Freeman urged all members planning to graze livestock on the association land to submit the number of cattle they propose to graze. This will allow directors to establish the allotment for each shareholder and set the number permitted before the season begins, he said.

L. M. Benton, business manager, gave the financial report showing the association finished $2,028 in debt last year.

Wednesday afternoon, the group will elect two directors to the board, which in turn will elect officers for 1956.

State Police in Area Increase Arrest Record by 800 in '55

Patrolmen of district No. 4, Idaho state police, worked 3,999 additional man-hours and made 2,150 arrests in 1955, according to Lieut. Clark Hand, officer in charge of the Magic Valley district.

Also, patrol cars were driven 80,000 miles more than the previous year; citations collected through state issued citations accounted for 1,140 more than 1954. District expenses for 1955 averaged less than four cents per mile patrolled.

Hand said the majority of the new marks were made through the use of three additional patrolmen. The Magic Valley force now has seven men, not including the officer in charge. They are M. J. Bays, Jr., Twin Falls; Richard Young, Twin Falls; Eugene Hogle, Jerome; Marvin Snyder, Jerome; Walter Kirtley, Bliss; William Baker, Shoshone, and Roy Thomas, Rupert.

Court Action Pends Over Sect Children

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 11 (AP)—State child welfare officials are returning to the courts in efforts to make a Short Creek, Utah, couple give up their children or sign affidavits saying they won't teach them to practice polygamy.

Welfare workers led by Lamar Andrus went into the isolated Utah-Arizona border town yesterday to take custody of the eight children of Leonard and Vera Black. They gave up the attempt when townspeople barred their way.

Last night Director John Farr Larson of the state's bureau of services for children said he was instructing Andrus, a child welfare consultant, to:

1. Secure complaints against the people who barred the way, charging them with "interfering with an officer in performance of duty."

2. Ask Cedar City, Utah, juvenile court to start contempt proceedings against the Blacks.

Utah's attempt to take custody of the Black children started after Arizona raided the settlement in July, 1953, and jailed several townspeople in efforts to stamp out the practice of plural marriage there. The Blacks live on the Utah side of Short Creek.

Many residents of the hamlet are "Fundamentalists," who believe that plural marriage is the law of God. Though they insist this is the true doctrine of the church, the church (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

Zoning Expert Hired For Surveys of City

A city planning and zoning specialist from Portland has been employed by the city commission to make a survey of the present and past growth of Twin Falls to determine the zoning requirements of the city.

Ralph Walstrom, member of the firm of Holbrook and Walstrom, notified City Manager Joseph Latimore Wednesday he would arrive in Twin Falls Jan. 23 to begin his survey.

Latimore said he is expected to spend at least two days here. Walstrom will make use of data obtained by the Twin Falls planning and zoning commission in preparing a report for the city commission.

The problem of rezoning the city has plagued the city commission for the past three months. In September the planning and zoning commission submitted a proposed ordinance to the city commission.

A public hearing on rezoning was held in July. Because of objections to rezoning sections of the city the commission decided to employ a specialist.

The problem of rezoning sections of the city now classified as residential districts as neighborhood business districts may be solved by Walstrom's report.

GOP to Seek Swift Action On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Eisenhower administration leaders agreed yesterday to push for quick congressional action on the farm program.

They talked also of the need to get started on a big highway construction effort. Democrats, who control congress, have also shown a desire to get going with farm legislation.

Chairman Ellender, D. La., called his senate agriculture committee to meet with Secretary Benson tomorrow morning and with representatives of farm organizations tomorrow afternoon. The house agriculture committee went to work in a preliminary meeting yesterday.

In the meantime, President Eisenhower arranged to send his special message on federal aid to school construction to congress tomorrow morning. His next message will be the important one on the federal budget, next Monday.

Eisenhower called the top Republican leaders of the senate and house to the White House yesterday morning on his second full day of work there in his convalescence from his heart attack.

Senator Knowland of California, the senate GOP leader, said the President looked fine. Knowland and Representative Martin of Massachusetts, the house Republican leader, (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Hearing Set On Hike for Phone Rates

BOISE, Jan. 11 (AP)—The public utilities commission will open a hearing Feb. 13 on whether to make permanent a temporary rate increase granted to Mountain States Telegraph and Telephone company last July 14.

The commission set the date yesterday. Last July, it said that rates in effect before that time on calls between Idaho points would be "unreasonably low" under present conditions.

Actually, the company has collected the higher rates since May 28, 1953. The additional money collected under the order between then and last July 20, however, was held by district court and has since been repaid to subscribers. It amounted to $2,350,000.

The money collected under the "emergency" authority granted last July has gone to the company directly.

In arguing for the temporary increase last July, Idaho manager J. W. Heckman of Mountain States told the commission that other states in the company's system could not be expected to finance Idaho operations "through another period of inadequate earnings."

Ike Farm Bid Under Attack By Stevenson

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson stepped up the pace of his drive for the presidency today, jumping in to attack Eisenhower administration policies almost as soon as they are announced.

His latest blast was directed at President Eisenhower's farm program. The program was given to congress Monday and Stevenson charged last night that it amounts to "election year" wooing of the farmers.

It was Stevenson's second direct attack on Mr. Eisenhower in three days. On Sunday, he branded the President's state of the union message as "political" and "misleading."

The quickening tempo of Stevenson's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination also took the form of an announcement that he will go to Minnesota Tuesday to lay the groundwork for a possible primary victory.

In his statement last night, Stevenson said "the President's farm message is recognition, at least in the farmer needs help—at least in an election year!"

But he charged that all the administration proposals were originally offered by Democrats and added that there is "serious doubt" that they will be of immediate help to the farmers.

Six Directors Relected by Bank in T. F.

Six directors were relected at the annual meeting of the Fidelity National bank here Tuesday afternoon. The annual report given by President Guy H. Shearer disclosed a year of satisfactory operations.

Relected were Shearer, Roy Painter, S. H. Graves, A. R. Scott, Dr. Gordon H. Oldham and Alton J. Young.

The annual reorganization meeting followed. Shearer was relected president and chairman of the board; Painter and Graves, vice presidents; L. A. Frazier, cashier; Harold J. Stearley, William H. Miller and James S. Kinney, assistant cashiers; Jack Ramsey, manager of the Filer branch; Henry Westendorf and Leah Cedarholm, assistant managers of the Filer branch; Phyllis Minnerly, manager of the motor branch, and Edward C. Shaff, manager of the farm service department.

Survivors of Indians' Raid Being Sought

The scene by Equadoran and American authorities.

A disassembled helicopter left Albrook air force base in the Panama Canal zone aboard two U. S. air force C-47's early today to help in the search.

The planes were to refuel in Guayaquil, they proceeded to Shell Mesa, which had been the missionaries' base, where the helicopter was to be reassembled and start its work tomorrow.

An amphibian of the 26th air rescue squadron, which started the search yesterday and first reported finding the missionaries' plane, is helping in the hunt from Shell Mesa.

Authorities hoped to drop food and a portable radio transmitter-receiver in the area where the smoke column was reported.

In describing the events leading up to the apparent massacre, young McCully said at his Wisconsin home that his brother's wife, Marlow, 26, had remained at the base camp when the men made their last trip.

"They knew it was dangerous work," McCully said. "But they thought they had made friends with the Indians. They had been flying over the territory for months."

"They had exchanged gifts with the Indians, dropping them from the plane and pulling up gifts the Indians tied to trailing strings," he said. "They got an Indian headress and a few other things from the Aucas."

"A couple of fellows had spent the night on the sandbar without harm," he said.

McCully said he did not know just how long the group had been landing on the sandbar.

GOP to Seek Swift Action On Farm Bill

er, agreed there was no talk bearing on the question of whether Eisenhower will run again.

Knowland said the Republicans want action as soon as possible on the Eisenhower farm message, which went to congress Monday. He said the feeling of urgency was based on a desire to deal fairly with the farmers as a vital element of the economy, rather than to seek votes for November.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that the message was constructive and, if properly enacted, would meet the agricultural problems of the nation."

A central feature of the program received bipartisan support. This was the idea of a soil bank, under which farmers would get cash or commodities from the government for cutting back on unnecessary production.

Democrats, including Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, maintained that the soil bank idea actually originated among them.

However, the biggest objection raised to the Eisenhower program—by some midwestern Republicans as well as many Democrats—was that it wouldn't act quickly enough to help farmers whose prices and incomes have been steadily dwindling.

Representative Hope, R., Kans., for instance, said the message held no chance of increased farm income for 1956, "when farmers need it so badly."

Senator Humphrey and some other legislators called for senate enactment of the high rigid price supports which the house voted for last year, perhaps with some changes.

Lions Map Final Plans for Event

The Twin Falls Lions club made final plans for its March of Dimes road block at its meeting Wednesday noon.

Anyone traveling on Addison avenue west from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday will be stopped and "fined" with all proceeds going to the polio campaign. The Lions will be dressed as Keystone cops.

A film, "The Phoenix City Story," was shown by Max Lloyd.

Kenneth Webb announced the beginning of the membership drive. Guests were B. L. Russ, William Murray, Dennis Bolton and Jack Reynolds. Visitors from other Lions clubs were Walter Halstrom, Caldwell, and C. M. Beard and C. M. Hansen, Bell, Calif.

Food Donations Statistics Given

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The government donated almost 300 million pounds—the equivalent of 10,000 freight carsloads—of surplus foods to needy persons in the United States during fiscal year—1955, a check-off records showed today.

Another 200 million pounds—6,666 carloads—of surplus foods were given to schools participating in the school lunch program.

The food came from the surplus stocks of the agriculture department's commodity credit corporation. It is part of Uncle Sam's huge store of commodities built up under government price support and national reserve programs. The value of the food donated for domestic purposes in fiscal 1955 was $167,700,000. The food eaten by the needy was valued at $97,400,000.

Captains in Drive Hold Burley Meet

BURLEY, Jan. 11—Approximately 350 Farm Bureau members, all team captains in the forthcoming membership drive in the state, are attending a planning meeting at the LDS tabernacle here Wednesday.

The captains, with their team members, will attend another meeting in Boise on Jan. 24 in preparation for the drive on Jan 25 and 26.

Speakers at the meeting here are George Wilson, a director in the California Farm Bureau, and Leonard Johnson, Chicago, a director in the American Farm Bureau federation.

Two Elected

CAREY, Jan. 11—Stockholders of the Carey Valley Reservoir company elected two new directors and three others were relected Monday afternoon during the company's annual meeting.

New directors are Harold Tolman and LaFell Edwards. Relected were Lyn Adamson, Milford Sparks and Joe Rush.

Rotary Hears Of Idahoans' Parley Stand

Delegates to the national White House Conference on Education almost unanimously opposed any federal control over educational use of funds in local school districts. Curtis Eaton told members of the Twin Falls Rotary club Wednesday.

Eaton, a state delegate to the national conference, explained one of the six topics discussed at the national conference. "How can we finance our schools, build and operate them?"

Eaton said a substantial majority of the delegates felt that some states do not have sufficient financial resources to take care of the essential needs of the schools.

"The participants favored by a ratio of two to one the proposition that the federal government should increase its financial participation in public education," Eaton said.

He pointed out that of those favoring such increase, the majority approved an increase in federal funds for school building construction. On the issue of federal funds for school operation, the delegates divided almost evenly. A minority was opposed to federal aid for education in any form.

"Federal aid should never be permitted to become a deterrent to state and local initiative in education," Eaton declared. "The administration of federal funds should be through the appropriate state agency for education."

The six topics discussed by the delegates at the national meeting were: what should our schools accomplish; in what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically; what are our school building needs; how can we get enough good teachers; how can we finance our schools, build and operate them, and how can we obtain a continuing public interest in education.

Eaton traced the formation of the organization from the start. He said Idaho received $5,000 to promote and hold a state conference. Governor Smylie then appointed a planning committee and the state meeting was held last fall. In November, representatives elected state delegates to attend the meeting in Washington, D. C.

"The goal they established was the solid recommendations for the betterment of education generally in the United States," Eaton said.

In closing, he noted, "It might be well to say that because of the time element the conferees were forced often to generalize, but in meeting with people from all over the country, if nothing else were accomplished, we can rest assured that this will help perpetuate a needed interest in education."

2 Boise Deviates Returned to Cells

BOISE, Jan. 11 (AP)—An order of temporary bond for two men sentenced to the state prison on morals convictions was withdrawn by the Idaho supreme court yesterday and the men were ordered returned to Ada county jail pending appeals from their sentences.

Bond was terminated for Joe Moore, 54, and Willard Wilson, 31. Moore was given a seven-year sentence and Wilson was sentenced to five years after both pleaded guilty to charges of infamous crimes against nature involving minor boys in Boise.

Supreme Court Justice C. J. Taylor had ordered both men admitted to temporary bond pending a review by the entire five-man court. The order was revoked by yesterday's action.

outlawed polygamy in 1890 and excommunicates members who don't observe the ban.

Andrus entered Short Creek armed with a court order giving the state custody of the Black children. It's the same order upheld in appeals that went to the U.S. supreme court, and Utah officials say they plan similar moves against children of other polygamous families found in the state.

The order gives the parents an out: They can keep their children if they agree not to practice polygamy and not to teach it to their children.

But Mrs. Black, when confronted by the officers, read from a statement: "Why should I be required to sign an unconstitutional loyalty pledge or oath of any kind in order to keep the children I have honorably borne unless all mothers in our state be required to sign an oath?"

Walter L. Budge, an assistant state attorney general said testimony at previous custody hearings indicated Leonard Black had been married to two other women and had fathered a total of 24 children.

COAL SOUGHT

Buenos Aires, Jan. 11 (AP)—An Argentine publication reports the government is seeking an emergency supply of 300,000 tons of coal from the United States.

Survey

A house-to-house survey on "shopping habits" currently under way here is not sponsored by the city of the Chamber of Commerce, City Manager J. H. Lattimore said Wednesday.

Householders contacted by survey workers are under no obligation to answer questions, he noted. The city manager said both he and Kenneth Montgomery, chamber secretary-manager, have received several telephone calls from residents questioning the validity of the survey.

Lattimore added, however, that the city plans a survey on the zoning question soon.

Raging Storm Cripples East Texas Is Dr

1,430,000 Baptists were called to pray for rain on Saturday, Feb. 11. Roads covered.

It was a far different story on the eastern seaboard, where a succession of gale winds and high seas covered scores of New Jersey roads with water.

At chilly Miami, Fla., officials overtaxed power, oil, and natural gas companies hoped the storm would prompt residents to turn off their heaters.

The Miamians, whose heaters aren't geared for wintry weather, plugged in so many electric heaters that television receivers in the city went dim. The Florida Power and light company had to buy 40 extra kilowatts and radio and TV announcers begged their listeners to stop using electricity for heaters.

Snow at Knoxville. Farther north, there was snow on the ground at Knoxville, Tenn. Unseasonable cold deep in the Southland, and a mixture of rain, and treacherous freezing sleet from the Appalachians to Chicago.

On the West coast, Los Angeles was plagued by another smoggy day. The acid haze brought smogging shipping to a standstill at the city's harbor yesterday and the same was expected today.

Panel Is Selected For Soil District

W. A. Loughmiller was relected chairman of the Twin Falls Soil Conservation district at a reorganization meeting of supervisors of the district here Tuesday.

Glen Nelson was relected chairman, Lee Bitzenburg, treasurer and Warren Daigh, secretary. Plans for the annual spring meeting in the Twin Falls district were discussed but date of the tour not set.

Hearing Set On Hike for Phone Rates

Increase application from Mountain States in 1952. Subsequently, the company appealed to the state supreme court. Ada county District Judge C. E. Winstead, since retired, issued a court order permitting the company to collect the higher rates under bond.

After the state supreme court upheld the commission last spring, the company was ordered to repay the money to subscribers. It finished doing so in December. It was also ordered to reduce its rates, effective July 20, but obtained the temporary authority from the PUC to continue them at the same level.

In allowing the emergency rates, the commission said they would allow the company a return varying from 4.7 per cent to 5.8 per cent on its Idaho investment.

"Earnings in the area of these percentages are not unreasonably high," it added.

Elks Prepare Plan on 1956 State Meeting

A. W. Madland, esteemed leading knight of Twin Falls Elks lodge No. 1183 was named general chairman for the 1956 state Elks convention at Sun Valley Tuesday night at an organizational meeting in the lodge here.

The session was attended by representatives of the Twin Falls, Gooding and Jerome lodges. The Twin Falls unit will be the host lodge with Gooding and Jerome organizations serving as co-hosts.

The gathering, planned for May 1-13, marks the first time a convention has been held in a community not having an Elks lodge. The site was chosen at the 1955 convlave at Kellogg.

Plans developed at the meeting here will be presented at the mid-winter meeting of the Idaho State Elks association Sunday at Bismarck. John L. Walker, national exalted ruler will attend the session. Association members are expected to further the convention plans, including programs and speakers.

PROMOTED

EDEN, Jan. 11—Jerry Knapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Knapp, Eden, has been promoted to specialist third class in the army in Germany.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The ancient Virginia doctrine of "interposition," which was first advocated by Thomas Jefferson and James Madison in protest against the alien and sedition acts of 1798, will probably be adopted by eleven Southern states as their final, complete and negative answer to the supreme court's edict against segregation in public schools and parks.

"Interposition" means that when a state or group of states believe that the chief executive, congress or the supreme court (in short, the federal government) have violated the constitutional compact or contract, they may refuse to abide by the alleged violation. It does not mean defiance of the supreme court, according to its proponents, because they contend that the supreme court is the actual violator.

"INTERPOSITION" PLAN—The idea was currently advanced by David Tennant Bryan and James Jackson Kilpatrick, publisher and editor, respectively of the Richmond (Va.) News Ledger. It has swept through the South as the legal remedy for its present predicament. Meeting at Memphis recently, representatives of 11 states agreed to support the "interposition" plan through favorable action in their legislatures.

The News Ledger has published a tentative draft of a constitutional amendment designed to test this theory. It provides generally that the states agree to surrender their power to maintain segregated schools. It also says that, if three-fourths of the states ratify this amendment, "Virginia agrees that it will be bound thereby."

The belief is that such an amendment will not be acceptable to sufficient states to incorporate it in the Constitution. But its submission would permit the segregation question to be settled by constitutional processes rather than by the judicial fiat of only nine men.

INTERESTING ORIGIN—The origin of the "interposition" philosophy makes extremely interesting and generally unknown history. When the first Adams administration sponsored the alien and sedition acts, which abridged personal liberty, freedom of speech and press, Kentucky legislators asked Jefferson, then vice president, to frame a protest. He did so under pledge of secrecy. Madison wrote a similar paper, which was adopted by the Virginia general assembly.

Both documents declared that, when the federal government exercised unlawful power in a "deliberate, palpable and dangerous" manner, thereby violating the compact among the states, "nullification" was the "rightful remedy."

The Southern states today maintain that, in seeking to regulate the conduct of schools and parks within a state, Chief Justice Earl Warren and his associates exercised power which was not delegated to the federal government under the constitutional contract, and in the manner denounced by Jefferson. In other words, the supreme court is violating the Constitution, not the states which refuse to obey its mandate.

"STATES MUST BE OWN JUDGES"—Ironically, the Jefferson-Madison "interposition" strategy was adopted in many states whose present congressional representatives, editors and educators now insist that the South permit the supreme court to upset its traditional social and educational patterns.

In protest against conscription during the unpopular war of 1812, five New England states sent delegates to the Hartford convention. Declaring that the federal government had engaged in "deliberate, dangerous and palpable infractions of the Constitution," they said that the states "must be their own judges and execute their own decisions."

LINCOLN'S PROPOSAL TO BACK COURT—Northern and Western states defied and refused to enforce the fugitive slave law and the Dred Scott decision, which said that congress could not constitutionally abolish slavery in the territories.

Abraham Lincoln branded the Dred Scott decision as a "political trick," and urged the President and congress to disregard Chief Justice Taney's ruling which amounted to "interposition." And, almost 80 years before Franklin D. Roosevelt, Lincoln proposed "packing" the court as a peaceful means of reversing the tribunal's pro-slavery attitude.

Finally, to cite a more modern precedent, many Northern governors, legislators and educators, from Alfred E. Smith to Nicholas Murray Butler, thumbed their noses at congress and court when it was held that the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act were the supreme law of the land.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

THE WESTINGHOUSE STRIKE

Increasing concern is felt over the 73-day strike at 30 plants of the Westinghouse Electric corporation. At some of the plants violence has broken out, and tension appears to be mounting. Losses suffered by the 84,000 strikers and the company are already enormous, and the effects of the national economy are unfortunate. Nevertheless, the parties seem to be digging in for a much longer conflict.

Meeting in New York yesterday, the Westinghouse directors declared the strike "wholly unjustified" and gave complete approval to the position of the company. The inference is that their position is wholly right and that they intend to cling to it. Perhaps it is time to remind them of the motorist who was "right, dead right as he sped along," but who, after the accident, was "just as dead as if he'd been wrong." In disputes of this sort both sides have to yield a little if there is to be a settlement instead of a prolonged slugfest in which no one wins.

The union, too, appears to have clung to an arbitrary position. The chief point at issue is whether the contract shall be extended for one year or five. The company insists that the International Union of Electrical Workers is refusing to give it the sort of five-year contract that was signed with the General Electric company, Westinghouse's chief competitor.

The union wants a one-year contract, with negotiations for a longer contract next year. Whatever the technicalities of the situation may be, unions ought to be careful about giving undue advantages to one competitor.

Perhaps Westinghouse is especially sensitive on the point because of the financial reverses it suffered before the strike began. In any event, the general interest would clearly be served by a compromise that would avoid competitive advantages and at the same time arrest the intensification of ill feelings.—Washington Post.

THE WIDER THE STRICTER

The justification of strikers' picketing, expressed in terms of basic American rights, lies in the guarantees of free speech and of peaceful assembly. What is said or written in this exercise of free speech is governed by the same state laws on defamation that apply to all communication. What is done by such assembly is limited by federal law to peaceful persuasion and by the many state laws against force and violence.

A United States Court of Appeals, all three judges concurring, has ruled in the Taft-Hartley Act's provisions on secondary boycotts do not prohibit a union from picketing one employer, handing "struck" work for another or consumers who buy such products, or justices Learned Hand and Harold Medina, both well known and highly respected, sat on this court. And one would hesitate to challenge the impartiality and integrity of its decision. We would add only this observation:

Picketing as a means to advertise the existence of a dispute and the nature of the grievances, is certainly grounded in fundamental rights. It differs only in mechanics from the statements employers as well as unions often make by way of newspaper advertisements. The further removed picketing gets from the principals in a dispute, however, the more may innocent bystanders be injured—not simply by violence but by by-products of the struggle.

In the name of fairness, therefore, this kind of picketing should be held even more strictly to "publishing the dispute" and to "peaceful persuasion."—Christian Science Monitor.

WHAT IS "USUAL"?

Folks still talk about the weather even though few ever try to do anything about it. Which may explain why we were cornered the other day by an insistent individual who wanted an answer to a relatively simple question: "What is usual weather?"

Before you pipe up and answer that one, better think about it for a few minutes. That's boobytrapped! Would you answer that "usual" weather is mild and so agreeable that a person hardly notices it? Or would you say a mildly windy day with plenty of sunshine is "usual"?

On the other hand, would you term a bright, sunny day "unusual"?

The contention of the persistent guy was that no one ever has anything but "unusual" weather. He knew about that—it was all unusual. But just what in tunket-is "usual" weather?

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In the growing tension of an election year the Democratic opposition planning its "56" strategy will concentrate fire on two prime targets.

The most obvious is Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson who, in the simple way of politics, will be blamed for falling farm income.

But Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay is developing as a serious rival for the No. 1 spot. There are Democratic strategists who believe he is more vulnerable than Benson and that a barrage concentrated on him will pay off more directly in votes in the West where power and conservation are major issues.

In the course of a senate investigation to begin shortly the Democrats are convinced they can document further their charge of a McKay "giveaway" of natural resources. They say the investigation will show that the secretary overrode the recommendations of career experts in the bureau of land management in the department of interior and in the forest service in the department of agriculture to award mining claims to Al Sarena Mines, Inc., an Oregon corporation.

For a fee to the government of $5 an acre mining rights can be obtained on public lands and national forests on proof that minerals exist in sufficient amounts to justify mining operations. The application of the Al Sarena company for such rights in Oregon was rejected by McKay's predecessor as secretary of interior, Oscar Chapman. Proof of the existence of minerals must be established by an assay by an independent outside firm.

When the Al Sarena application was filed again under McKay the assayer was J. A. McDaniel of the A. W. Williams Inspection company of Mobile, Ala. This was more or less unprecedented, since virtually all such work is done by firms in the West. The stock of Al Sarena is controlled by a former Mobile family.

McDaniel's finding of sufficient minerals to justify granting a claim was challenged in a protest by the forest service, which administers the national forests. Thereupon, forest service experts conducted their own assay and reported there was insufficient mineralization. This finding was supported in three separate assays by the bureau of land management.

Nevertheless, after invoking the authority of an expert in the bureau of mines, a step believed to be unprecedented, McKay granted Al Sarena claims to 300 acres. Thereby the virgin timber on this land became the property of Al Sarena. It is estimated to be worth $1,500 to $2,000 an acre, which means a profit of $400,000 to $600,000 regardless of any mining operations.

"This is just an effort to smear McKay and Clarence Davis—he was solicitor in the department then and he's undersecretary now," the secretary says. "We didn't have any choice under that law and Chapman didn't stop it. The application was still pending when I came in here. It was a bad law and we've got congress to pass a new one that doesn't permit that timber to be sold."

"They say the assay samples were thrown away. Well, they were thrown in the river, but there was nothing unusual about that after this one sample reached here. And, of course, we can't keep all those samples. The whole building would be filled up. It's just a political smear."

In May of 1953 McKay took the step that has brought the loudest outcry in the West. His predecessors had intervened with the federal power commission to oppose the application of the Idaho Power company to build a dam on the Hells canyon site on the Snake river. The bureau of reclamation in the interior department had plans for a 722-foot dam—there and public power advocates argued that this was the only way to utilize to the fullest the resources of Hells canyon for power, irrigation and recreation. McKay not only withdrew the intervention, but let it be known he favored the lower dam of the private company.

A little later the interior department announced marketing criteria for the sale of public power. The new rules would have limited the amount of low-cost government power available to rural electric cooperatives and especially those in the Missouri river basin. A considerable volume of public power would have been transferred to private companies under 20-year contracts. The new regulations produced such an outcry that they were considerably modified.

On the issue of public power McKay says that what he has done is to carry out the administration policy of taking government out of business. He insists that he is not opposed to public power as such, merely wanting to keep the government out of projects that can be built by local agencies, whether state, municipal or private.

He says he is reluctant to take the interior secretaryship, being prevailed upon finally on the score that it was his public duty. He adds that his fondest wish is to go back to Oregon to live. If the Democrats go through with all the investigations they are talking about, he may get his wish even before the year is out.

Hog-Nose Snake Hams For Select Audience

Everyone must be familiar with the hog-nosed snake which disguised its shape in clothing. But some harmless sheep-like animals parade in wolf-like costumes, too, and in doing so become accomplished mimics. Thus the fearsome bees and wasps have become "models" for many inoffensive flies. Even in plants, the stinging nettle has become the "model" of a harmless deadnettle. But of all mimics perhaps the greatest actor is our common hog-nosed snake which lives in both eastern and western America.

This stout-bodied, slow-moving faker can put on such a fearful display of ferocity that in many places, particularly through the South, he is the most widely feared of all American snakes. And yet, this little serpent—seldom exceeding three feet in length—is as harmless as an angleworm.

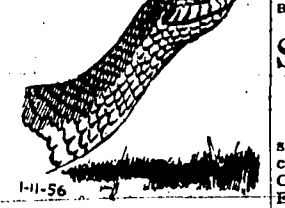

Unlike most snakes, when encountered he will not scurry away. Instead he holds his ground and while coiling his thick body inflates his lungs. With it, he flattens his head and the fore part of his body, assuming a most formidable triangular outline. Then he rears dangerously.

Should you continue to approach the "monster" opens his mouth and as he expels air, hisses loudly. Those unfamiliar with his antics, swear that he expels venomous fumes. Then, to back up his act, he flinches at striking boldly.

However, regardless of the provocation, he will not bite—he strikes with his mouth closed. Persons more bold than I have told me that in striking he does so with his head, always keeping his mouth shut.

If this has not struck terror into the molester, he then goes into the next scene: He appears to be attacked by convulsions. He writhes in what seems agony with his head twisted to one side, mouth gaping open with the tongue lolling out. Particularly in the South, and I say, particularly in the South, because there the spread-out jaws are seemingly in direct imitation of the local water moccasin, a deadly snake, also known as the cotton mouth, because it makes a display of the whitish lining of its mouth.

Should all this—the flattening of the forepart of his body, the rear-

Head and the fore part of his body, assuming a most formidable triangular outline. Then he rears dangerously.

Should all this—the flattening of the forepart of his body, the rearing, the hissing, the writhing—has impressed you, the faker will now go into his final act: He plants rolls over on his back, mouth open and tongue hanging out, with each and every tickle and then remain perfectly motionless.

Pick him up and carry him away if you like and he will remain seemingly lifeless, tongue out—Perfect! Play acting, you'd say. Well, yes, except for one thing. But him over with your foot on his belly, or put him on the ground right side up, and he will promptly roll onto his back. As far as he is concerned, apparently, the only correct position for a dead snake is to be on his back.

Then leave him undisturbed for a few minutes and he will cautiously raise his head and with no further danger being in sight, roll over on his belly and slowly wiggle away.

As fitting testimony to this play acting, consider the times I have paid this hog-nosed snake. Headed adder, blowing adder, humped adder, puff adder, checkered adder, and sand viper.

Will this hoaxer play to a gallery? Not he. Taken into captivity, he quickly loses his inclination to perform—fact is, it is virtually impossible to stimulate him to go through the act. He saves that role for when it counts most: Out in the wild.

AUTO INDUSTRY PROBLEM

While the nation's motormakers were having their greatest year in 1955, with nearly 8,000,000 cars produced, a problem of sorts was building up for them. Despite record sales volume, dealers watched their backlogs of cars more than double in the 12-month span.

On Jan. 1, 1955, their stocks came to 380,000 cars. Now they total 800,000, having risen 440,000 during the year.

Somehow, some way, the manufacturers are going to have to take account of these figures in 1956. If they were to produce and sell just what they did in 1955, obviously the dealer's backlog would climb still further.

Either they must press sales upward to absorb some of these stocks, or cut back production to reduce them.

At least a couple of top motor executives, including Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, foresee a 1956 car production drop of from 12 to 15 per cent. One other is more optimistic, looking for a strengthened demand in the months ahead.

An output reduced by 12 to 15 per cent, if matched with sales approximating 1955 figures, would allow dealers to cut deeply into their burdensome stocks. Production slashed by perhaps a mere five per cent would just enable dealers to hold the backlog at its present level—which many consider too high.

If these cuts are to be avoided, then dealers must sell many more cars than they did in 1955. Curtice, for one, appears to doubt that this is likely. Even in the year just closed, some dealers went to extremes in offering liberal credit in order to unload the stuff pouring in on them from the makers.

This situation was a cause of concern both in industry and government. If credit in 1956 is as a consequence a bit tighter, it may not be easy to push sales to a new high.

All the general economic forecasts for 1956 are pretty cheerful. But it would be foolish to imagine that the automobile industry could cut back more than 10 per cent without having it show in the whole economy. Car-making ramifies widely through many other basic industries which supply materials and parts.

Should the cuts take place and the economy contract a little, we should keep in mind, however, that this doesn't spell recession. The economy is bound to fluctuate some from time to time. A 12 per cent reduction in car output would mean 7,000,000 cars in 1956—second greatest in our history. Hardly a situation calling for the wringing of hands.

The universally favorite scent is said to be bacon. They should smell a skillet of bacon and eggs.

Farm Surplus Purchases for U.S. Hits Peak

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Agriculture department officials said Tuesday the government's investment in surplus farm products has climbed close to $4,750,000,000—the largest amount tied up was $8,206,826,000 as of Nov. 30. Officials said, however, that the movement of additional supplies into government hands under price supports during December had increased the amount possibly another half billion dollars. As of Nov. 30, 1954, the investment was $6,890,017,000.

Present holdings would be even higher except that the government has donated more than a billion dollars worth of its surpluses for needy persons at home and abroad during the past year.

The department also reported that it had sustained losses of $308,320,000 on its price support operations during the July-November period of 1955. For the same period last year, the losses were $271,012,234. Losses occur when products are sold for less than the government pays for purchase and farm loan operations.

Wheat led the inventory list with a total of $1,847,000,000 tied up on Nov. 30. Corn was next with $1,047,000,000 and corn third with $1,467,000,000.

Steps Studied to Avert Flood

Ray Sweet, chairman of the Little Wood River Irrigation district and the flood control board, believes this spot might be the key to averting a disastrous flood in the Carey valley this spring. The river is bounded on the east, for a distance of approximately one-half mile, by a lava formation. This formation is approximately one-fourth mile east of the river channel. Sweet believes that if an opening is dynamited in this formation, at least one-third of the overflow water could be released into the lava. Others believe the water would go only a short distance and then start backing up again. The ice jam in the river now is about a mile long, and in places is 10 feet thick. Water in the reservoir remains at spillway level, needing only a little warm weather to send it over the top. (Staff photo-engraving)

'Mouse' Case Goes to Jury; Family Loses

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 11 (AP)—The jury labored and brought forth a verdict in the "mouse" case today. It was a mouse, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farthing alleged in their court suit. They said they blamed it for the five-day illness that plagued their family of four.

The suit was against the Centennial Flouring Mills company. The case dragged on for nearly a week. Attorneys and experts on rodents wore rubber gloves to handle the flour-encrusted main exhibit.

Witnesses told of the many ailments a rodent can transmit.

The defendant contended it couldn't have been a company mouse or the machinery would have flattened it. The company insisted it must have been a Farthing household mouse.

The jury retired with the weighty problem. An hour later the foreman asked the judge if the jury could wash the exhibit to get a closer look. The judge agreed.

The jury returned a verdict for the flour mill. It found the "mouse" was a chicken liver.

Talent Show Set On Dimes Drive

FILER, Jan. 11—Casting is under way for the annual Home Talent show for the benefit of the March of Dimes Jan. 23 and 26 at the Filer Junior high school auditorium.

Harold Brown, Filer March of Dimes chairman, said the showings will begin at 8 p.m. Among the talent selected thus far are Mrs. Lloyd Walker, who will sing a musical comedy number Jan. 25; Tom Alworth, master of ceremonies for Jan. 25; and Mitchell Hupt, Bill, master of ceremonies Jan. 26. Co-producers are Mrs. Charles Cunningham and Mrs. Robert Blatock.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This all-in-one (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Painless Childbirth Approved By Pope Is Noted Technique

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The mighty producer of pain which is disproportionate to a physical cause. There is no suggestion in the given qualified approval this week by Pope Pius XII of a method of prophylactic childbirth that labor and childbirth would always be painless if women would relax and let them be painless. But the suggestion is that the pain should never be excruciating or unbearable.

In simple essence the "psycho-prophylactic" method of birthing about more or less painless labor and childbirth is to educate prospective mothers in the reproductive mechanisms of their bodies and in the nature of pain.

A leading obstetrician and gynecologist told the writer that the method shouldn't be called "Russian" or by any other national name because it was now so universally used. He added that if he should encounter a colleague who didn't make some use of it he'd consider the man incompetent.

Pope Pius discussed the method in detail in addressing a group of obstetricians and other physicians in Moscow. Some women anticipate no difficulties. To them giving birth to a child by the water referred to in medical extremists, in Russia and elsewhere, who have made the method a cult.

As the writer's authorities explained, the method is based only on instruction from their physicians: ignorance is the mighty generator of fear; knowledge is the mighty dispeller of fear. And fear is the

Excused

GREENSBORO, N.C., Jan. 11 (AP)—Court officials excused grand juror James H. Moore yesterday after he was sworn in yesterday for a six-month term.

They found Moore was named in a bill of indictment scheduled to go before the grand jury.

American scene. Moore probably isn't a serious lawbreaker, but he is a trouble maker.

This is the case of the leading of the media. It is a case of such an intense nature that it is the prospective mother's own belief that she will be in pain whatever the method. It is a completely dominating view. It is a view of these women who are "excused" through all this modern world of medicine whether by the education of the psycho-prophylactic method, or by drugs and mild anesthetics. The gynecologist said if education based on knowledge is always the pain-melting drug.

Korean War Ace Killed in Crackup

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Major Louie Moore, one of the leading jet aces of the Korean war, was killed yesterday in the crash of the air force's newest supersonic jet, the F100 Judo-Jet fighter.

The plane crashed and exploded just after it was airborne in the center of the main flying field at Eglin air force base.

Moore was ejected from the plane within three minutes but was unable to parachute. The plane, which was undergoing tests at the Air Proving Ground, was demolished. Cause of the crash was not determined.

Work, Sleep, Play In Comfort

Without Nagging Backache
Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upset or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unhealthily, eat too much, and drink too much, often suffer mild bladder irritation. With that restless, uncomfortable feeling, if you are miserable and worn out because of these stressors, Dian's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these stressors, Dian's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait. Try Dian's Pills. You'll get the same heavy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Dian's Pills today.

Moscow Hails U.S. Opera of Negro Drama

MOSCOW, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Gerashin opera, "Porgy and Bess" made its debut in Moscow last night before the pick of Russia's artistic and theatrical intelligentsia who, rose and gave it a standing, 8-minute ovation.

The folk opera's whimsical charm brought enthusiastic comments from many members of the sophisticated audience but the lewdness or sensuality of some scenes—namely the brutal seduction of Bess—reduced the normal applause to only a polite smattering of handclapping.

Warm Reception
In Leningrad, where "Porgy and Bess" gave its Russian premiere, there were actual protests by public organizations against the scene although the opera generally was received very warmly there.

U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Charles Bohlen gave a reception for the Porgy and Bess troupe at their Spassko house residence after the premiere at the Stanislavsky theater and it turned into one of the gayest parties of the diplomatic season.

The theater audience held lively discussions on the merits of "Porgy and Bess" during the intermission and at the end of the play. Many Russians were seen studying the synopsis in the elaborate program.

Notice Inserted
Producer Robert Breen anticipated puzzlement and misunderstanding concerning the seamy side of Negro life on "Coffish row." He inserted the following notice in the program:

"Although Porgy and Bess is being performed in the Soviet Union for the first time, in the United States it has long achieved the position of a classic. Musically speaking, it is a unique milestone in the development of the American theater although by now it is almost a 'period piece.'"

"The subject matter is of another era, and conditions depicted in this musical drama are as far removed from today's America as conditions depicted in the Russian opera Boris Godunov differ from those prevailing in the Soviet Union today."

The theater, seating 1,400, is sold out for the next 10 days of the opera's performance.

Two Aspects Cited
The performance was an American success in two principal aspects: 1. It was the first American company ever to appear in Moscow and it showed one of the most critical audiences it ever faced an excellent example of a new type of creative, indigenous American art.

2. The troupe acquitted itself even better as cultural ambassadors of the United States. Never before in the Soviet theater did the Stars and Stripes flutter alongside the Red Soviet flag. Never before did an American ambassador stand up to take a bow from the audience.

Idaho's Farm Research Aim Told at Meet

MOSCOW, Jan. 11 (AP)—Idaho's agricultural research is being tailored to fit specific state needs, experiment station workers were told at their annual conference here yesterday.

More than nine out of 10 of the present agricultural research projects being conducted in the state are the result of specific requests by producers, processors or other industries.

J. E. Kraus, dean of the college of agriculture, told the 100 delegates that hardly a day passed that some specific request were not made for farm research.

The resident staff members, workers from seven branch experiment stations and representatives of federal agencies heard Kraus' talk during the second day of their week-long conference.

Wednesday the annual science seminar will be addressed by W. A. Coon, general manager of Armour and company at Spokane Thursday, General Motors company research consultant T. A. Boyd will speak on "Research and the Future."

Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president of the University of Idaho, welcomed the group here.

Airline Employees Put on Furloughs

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—Western Air Lines, closed down by a strike of 850 reservation clerks and baggage handlers throughout the West and Canada, placed most of its flight personnel on furlough without pay last night.

There were no attempts to resume negotiations and Western indicated it was preparing for an extended shutdown.

A spokesman said the 240 pilots and 42 flight engineers were put on furloughs, effective at midnight. The 109 stewardesses will be furloughed at midnight tomorrow.

Payment Sought

Professional Adjustment bureau filed suit Tuesday in probate court against Peter McNulty for non-payment of $247.50 owed the Twin Falls clinic for services given the family between Aug. 1, 1954, and Dec. 25, 1954.

The complaint asks payments of the principal interest in the amount of $247.50 and costs of the suit. H. M. Jewell, Twin Falls, is attorney for the bureau.

Big Balloons Launched by U. S. Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—The U. S. air force announced today that a newly-designed meteorological balloon, big as a two-story house, was launched last Sunday in the continuing study of the causes of recent severe storms in the United States.

The giant plastic balloon which towers upward some 50 feet from its "tail" of meteorological instruments to its dome flies at altitudes above 30,000 feet and is no danger to commercial airline traffic which is confined to altitudes below that, the air force said.

The first of these new designs was set loose by the air force at Vernalis, Calif., 20 miles west of Modesto. The air force meteorological study has been dubbed "Moby Dick."

Air force scientists hope that the information obtained may help explain, for instance, why the 1955 hurricane paths shifted off their normal courses to bring disaster to the eastern seaboard, and the causes of dust storm and gale winds that damaged midwestern crops.

The air force believes the data collected by the cameras, radio equipment and other meteorological measuring instruments will be of great value during the international geophysical year programs to be conducted during 1957-1958.

More than 4,000 balloon research flights already have been conducted. Safely devices prevent the balloon from hanging below 30,000 feet. The devices automatically destroy the balloon if it fails to reach the 30,000-foot level within 50-60 minutes after release or if it descends below that level after reaching the safe altitude.

Some of the balloons heretofore have been mistaken for "flying saucers."

Mercy Mission

A plane drops 500 pounds of food and medical supplies to a ranch near Eureka, Calif., which was isolated when bridges washed out during last month's floods in northern California. The Red Cross made the drop this past week-end after receiving a letter that the ranch had lost its entire winter's supply of food in the disastrous floods. The letter was posted by ranch operator Mrs. Joe McAllister, who was forced to ride two days on horseback through flood waters before she could mail it. Note the "S" made of twisted sheets in foreground to guide the plane to ranch. Arrow at bottom of picture points to ranch hand waiting to pick up the mercy package. A flooded creek winds through the isolated ranch. (AP wirephoto)

Red Chinese Charge U. S. In Violations

TOKYO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Red China asserted today that two U.S. air force planes "openly intruded" over Manchuria Monday in "a grave act of military provocation."

A Peiping broadcast declared the two planes crossed the Yalu river—the boundary with North Korea—and penetrated as deep as the area of Mukden, industrial city 120 miles from the border.

Peiping said that "after aircraft of the Chinese air force took off immediately in pursuit the two American military planes fled."

A spokesman for Red China's foreign affairs ministry was quoted as saying:

"The Chinese government considers it necessary to point out that the incident of U.S. military aircraft intruding into the territorial air of China's northeast (Manchuria) is by no means accidental at a time when the U.S. government . . . adopts procrastinating tactics at the ambassadorial talks between China and the U.S. at Geneva."

The U.S. air force frequently has denied the repeated communist charges of "invading" the air of Manchuria. The U.S. planes normally fly patrol over the Yellow sea off Korea.

Ike's Advisers Discuss Plans For Second Term Campaign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Indications here show that President Eisenhower's political advisers were ready to start formulating for him their recommendations on the question of a second term.

A report that was not denied said that 11 Republican leaders would meet today at the office of Atty.-Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr., to discuss the President's political future.

The report originated with NBC commentator Ray Henle. He said he had been reliably informed that Mr. Eisenhower has decided to run for another term and that the meeting would "discuss the time and method by which the President will communicate his decision to the public."

Brownell, confronted by reporters at a party for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, neither confirmed nor denied the Henle report. After fending off reporters for several minutes, he said:

"In any event, I'm sure it (the meeting) is not as important as this report makes it sound."

Sunday news conference that he had reached a tentative decision on whether to run for re-election. But he did not disclose which way he was leaning and made clear his decision was subject to change.

He also said he wanted to confer with "some of my most trusted advisers." He mentioned his brother and Hagerty specifically.

Starving Woman Found in House

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—A 75-year-old woman was found injured and near death of starvation with her hungry dogs in her unheated, unshakable house in suburban Oakwood city yesterday.

Allen Glanz of the Animal Welfare League discovered the woman, Mrs. Sarah Cornell, while investigating a complaint that hungry dogs were trapped in the street.

Glanz said Mrs. Cornell said she had been unable to move and had been without food and heat for 10 days since a heavy bear fell on her chest. There was a small hole in the floor of the sickly through which the dogs entered and left.

Probes Eyed For Boost in Wage Scales

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The top leaders of organized labor are looking for a boost in the minimum wage scales on the farm, according to a report in the Washington Post.

The report is based on a survey of labor leaders in the farm belt. It says that the minimum wage on the farm is the lowest in the country and that it is not indexed to the cost of living.

The report says that the minimum wage on the farm is about 10 cents an hour, while the minimum wage in the city is about 15 cents an hour.

The report says that the minimum wage on the farm is not indexed to the cost of living, while the minimum wage in the city is indexed to the cost of living.

Airmen Ordered To 'Trim Down'

RAMSTEIN, Germany, Jan. 11 (AP)—U. S. 12th Air Force men with balloons around their waist will not be allowed to fly until they are "trimmed down," Gen. Robert M. Lee, commander of the 12th, sent a directive yesterday to all personnel demanding they "pare down waistlines to conform with current air force weight standards."

"Failure to comply with the directive" means that "flying personnel will be suspended from flying activities until the reductions have been accomplished," he said.

Chinese Reds Worried Over Soviet Drives

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Diplomatic reports from Peking indicate Communist China is worried that Russia's "super-German" influence in Asia and that Soviet offers of aid may turn out to be at China's expense.

The reports said Peking's suspicions were aroused by the Asian visit of Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev since their was an out-and-out move to extend Soviet influence.

Behind the fear of extended Soviet influence is the double fear that any aid given to other Asian nations may be at the expense of the Chinese Communist regime. Peking was reported very concerned about such diplomacy.

Kelly's Romance Is Called Boring

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Two London newspaper columnists said today the Kelly-Rainier romance is a bore.

"I wish they would live happily ever after and come to the end of a story that is giving me an increasingly agonizing pain in the neck," the tabloid Daily Sketch's columnist Candidus wrote.

The Daily Mirror's columnist Cassandra said that "of all the great boring romances of the 20th century, the Kelly-Rainier contest threatens to be the most formidable."

Plane Sabotage Cited in Report

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The British colonial office said today a Hong Kong airport employee sabotaged an Air India plane carrying Chinese Communist diplomats and pressmen to the Bandung conference last August.

The announcement said the man, identified as Chou Tze-ming, alias Chou Chu, an employee of the Hong Kong Aircraft Engineering corporation, escaped to Pormosa even though he bragged of his work. It said that the Nationalists have refused to hand him over for trial.

Evidence came to light to suggest that he had been procured by persons connected with a Kuomintang (the ruling Chinese Nationalist political party) intelligence organization and had been offered a reward by the colonial office said.

Canine Licensing Requirement Set

BOISE, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Ada board of commissioners has issued an order requiring the licensing of all dogs in rural areas.

The action was taken in accordance with an act of the 1955 legislature. Commission Chairman Heath says the act made such action mandatory, but fixed no time by which it should be done.

Previously, the licensing legislation had been purely permissive. Licensee holders had sought a law with more teeth in it to protect their herds from dogs running wild.

Some passage of the law, the Idaho Wool Growers' association has urged its members to seek speedy action by county commissioners.

Presidential Poll Weaknesses Are Analyzed by Bad Loser

By HENRY MLENORE

Just how one goes about knowing the mind of the man in the street is beyond me, but it is done.

To get a new, and perhaps truer, sense of public opinion, I feel that the polls should tap the hundreds of thousands of voters who have not been tapped—men and women in categories other than the old standard. I have been reading polls all my life but I have never seen how, say, the operators of the automatic milk machines of the country's countless dairies feel about a presidential nominee. They might be against all presidential candidates, and favor a monarchy, for all anybody knows.

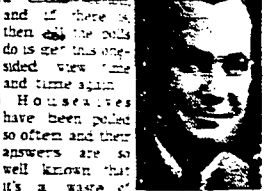

What is the opinion of the men who write rhymes for greeting cards? In a close election their vote could be decisive. The same is true of the men who put the glass eyes in stuffed moose heads, assemble trawlers, and manufacture those devices which elevator starters use and which sound like crickets.

I am vitally interested in presidential campaigns, one reason being that I always have an election wager, and it's rough when I lose. One year I had to push a piano out with my nose from Duluth to Klamath Falls, and another year I saw me pushing a car away from outside Buffalo—and that was even harder.

So, in order to get a true slant on public opinion, I am polling people who have never been polled, who have been entirely neglected by the pollsters. I am sending an average of two questionnaires a week, and here is a sample one sent to 11 manufacturers of darned eggs, cat trawlers, glass eyes, stuffed moose heads, Babilonian literature.

1. If your stuffing a ballot box meant the difference between winning and losing among Harriman, Kefauver and Stevenson, would you stuff, and who for?

2. Would you vote, and try to influence your family to do the same, for a Republican ticket of

Henry Mlenore

Grandma Moses and Charles E. Wilson?

3. Do you think our foreign policy is foreign enough? Or do you think the administration should make even more foreign by bringing over some foreigners to run the farm?

4. Do you believe the farm problem could finally be solved by allowing the farmers to plant their own money, and as much of it as they want?

5. Please name the candidate, or possible candidate, whom you would choose to be elected on a desert island. Also name the candidate, or possible candidate, you would like to see stranded on a desert island by himself.

The answers should furnish a pretty good idea of what the country's thinking.

(Published by M. L. Mlenore, Inc.)

Captain Reports Woman's Suicide

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The captain of the Swedish ship SS Paratropa reported today that a beautiful 27-year-old woman member of his crew committed suicide by jumping overboard a few days before the ship reached New York.

Capt. Sven Lindgren of Gothenburg, Sweden, identified the girl as Gunvor Ekstrom, an assistant cold cook known as Maria to the ship's crew.

He said she was seen standing on the after part of the ship just before midnight on Jan. 4. Lindgren said she suddenly fell forward up on the ship's side and landed overboard.

Captain Lindgren said there was no explanation for the girl's action. He said she left no notes, nor was he certain that her death was no accident.

Tragic Plight of White-Collar Workers Bemoaned by Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Many a white collar worker today believes he has become civilization's biggest sucker, the forgotten man of the 20th century.

day it's the guys in the dirty-white collars. The average white collar worker now is the greatest prisoner of the installment plan and the finance company.

His voice is relatively unheard in the land. Few politicians bother to ask his views or explore his plight. The only people who seek him out are bill collectors, and it is his cash, not his charms, that draws them.

He is in hook to his eyeballs—this average white collar worker—for everything from his furniture to the fillings in his teeth.

Let us get out our crying towel and listen to the woes of a typical white collar worker. Hal Boyle, member of the paper-clip brigade, which run about as follows:

Every other class in America seems to get something special from the government except the white collar class. Why are we overlooked? When do we get our turn at the public trough?

Original Clothes Often Sewed by Women at Home

The woman with the most original clothes is often the woman who sews her own.

Even the amateur home seamstress may draw inspiration from surprising sources. For example, a length of acetate satin blanket binding has been used by one bright home sewing fan to find neckline and cuffs of a simple jersey blouse with distinguished effect.

Local sewing center experts suggest that you make a blouse from any simple pattern. Then instead of using facings or narrow binding, select blanket binding in a matching color. Don't try a contrasting color because there is sufficient contrast in the textures of the two fabrics.

The blanket binding, which is resistant to fading, comes already folded and ready to stitch. Pin it in place, being careful to mitre the corners neatly. If you plan to apply it with straight stitching, put the pins in crosswise; the hinged presser foot of your sewing machine will skip right over the pins, eliminating the necessity for basting.

It is suggested, however, that an edging of decorative stitching can be very effective. If you'd like to add a decorative touch, set your machine for a long basting stitch, just to hold the binding in place. Then select a pretty stitch such as the "leicle" or "wells of Troy" and work around the edge of the binding. Use your automatic sewing-needle machine, if you have one, or the automatic zigzag attachment, which fits all slant-needle and most straight needle machines.

Large Hats Are Being Shown in Spring Fashions

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The horseless carriage lasted despite doubters of 50 years ago, and now the hats that went with the era are back.

Under the brims and blooms that you'll see fluttering in next spring's breezes will be women who wouldn't have left the house in any hat bigger than a pillbox last season.

This week inaugurates officially the spring fashion previews in New York City. More than 100 fashion writers from all parts of the United States are here for six days of steady looking at dresses, coats, suits and hats that make top fashion news from 1956.

Starting from the top, the news they'll see will be big. A man may or may not like the new hat his wife buys for next Easter, but you can bet he'll notice it.

John Fredericks calls his king-sized spring hats his "horseless carriage collection." Designer Adolfo of Emme, who has one spring hat that measures 28 inches across, says they're "1900-ish."

Sally Victor sums it up with breezy directness. "They're big, aren't they?" Mrs. Victor asked. "The cycle has gone as far as it can to the other way. They couldn't get smaller."

Mrs. Victor was seated in her showroom while a black-haired model pulled one after another of her 100-plus styles over her forehead to show customers.

"We've found how to make big hats that don't overwhelm the woman," Mrs. Victor continued. "When hats were really big before they often were grotesque... only women who had a real flair could wear them. These are different."

By being different, Mrs. Victor meant that some of the bigness comes from crowns that are wider or pillboxes that curve out over the forehead and the sides of the head, yet the total width of the hat is not tremendous.

Except for a few wide-crowned, wide-brimmed straw sailor hats, Mrs. Victor's biggest hats have unsoftened straw brims that dip unexpectedly around the face and huge parallel flowers tucked in where the wide, flat crowns join the soft brims.

"I can easily see why women didn't wear big hats before," the millinery designer, who makes all of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's hats, said with a shrug, "they didn't mean anything. They were just big."

"Now, when a woman puts on a new dress or suit with a slim skirt and looks at herself in a full-length mirror, she likes the look a large hat gives her."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

All children, even the haughty secondary-school student, love a little fun. They are especially delighted when their teacher lets down his official mask and puts on that of a human being, a warm smile. When that happens, the weight of anxiety that is ever threatening the classroom lifts and the work seems easier, the whole day brighter.

In the beginners' classes this sense of humor in the teacher is almost essential. These little ones are easily awed by the air of authority that prevails all around them. Their spirits are bound by it and when that happens, their work lacks the free, full power of their intelligence. Intelligence is driven underground by fear in any degree and the teacher must always be on guard against that. A touch of humor cracks fear wide open and frees the spirit of the children.

The most beloved primary teacher in the school used to play a lot with her charges. She used to say, when a child gave the wrong answer, "Just wait a minute until I get on my hearing aid. What was that you said?"

Immediately the child got the idea he needed another answer. If he could not furnish it, he looked about for help and some eager friend was always ready with it. "I thought I must be hearing wrong," she would say and everybody smiled a wide smile and the lesson went on.

When the attendance was seen to be perfect, this teacher hung a card outside the door saying, "This class is on the job 100 per cent."

"Do you think Miss Alms will see it and come in?" (Miss Alms was the head and a word of praise from her was as good as a congressional medal.)

"I'm sure she will."

"Can we hide?"

"You do just that and will she be surprised?"

Miss Alms always played up. When the teacher heard the head's touch on the doorknob, she signaled the children and they all got down under the desks.

"Why, I thought all the children were here? Where in the world did they go? The bell didn't ring, did it? They couldn't have gone home?"

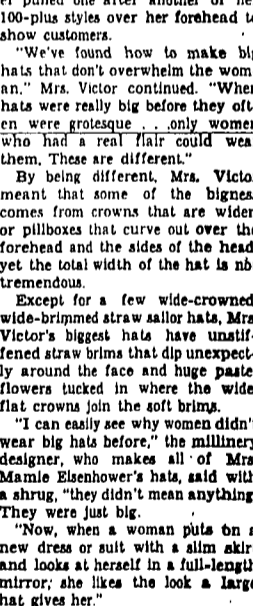

That was the signal for all heads to come up and all faces to smile from ear to ear. "You're wonderful, simply wonderful," Miss Alms would declare, then vanish, and on the work would go in such good spirit that it was well done.

The older pupils like a joke—not a stiff, starch one, but a spontaneous bit of fun that the teacher sparks, a sly hint of understanding with a grin behind it, as when the teacher said to Susie, "Hm, blue sweaters don't care who wears them." Jimmy Susie's best friend, had on a brand new sweater to match hers.

The teacher could say that because he was close to his pupils and liked them. Parents and teachers need to study up on humor in association with children.

Sometimes lying is caused by fear and the first step in overcoming lying is to find the cause, then strive to remove the obstacle. Dr. Patri tells how to correct this dangerous habit in Leaflet P-15, "Lying." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 19, Station G, New York 16, N. Y.

NCAA Control on Grid Games Finds Little Opposition

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—College athletic administrators showed singular unconcern at the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) general session Tuesday about the previously controversial problem of football television control. The 1955 TV committee's report was presented at what was billed as a round-table discussion, but the several hundred who attended had little to say.

Kimberly Nips Shoshone in Cage Contest

KIMBERLY, Jan. 11—The Shoshone Indians stayed with the Kimberly Bulldogs during the first and half of the second period Tuesday night before Kimberly started to pull away to a 59-41 basketball victory.

Perry Prestone was the big gun in Kimberly's barrage with 18 points, including six field goals and the same number of gift tosses. Hughes was high point man for the losers with 15.

The preliminary game was a basket-for-basket affair with the Shoshone junior varsity pulling ahead after the score was tied at 36-all to win 38-36.

Keene, Taft Win Tag Team Mat Tussle

The tag team of Hal Keene and Verne Taft won a victory by disqualification over Professor Roy Shire and Pretty Boy Roque in the main event of Tuesday evening's wrestling card at Radio Rodeo.

Shire took the first fall from Keene in 13:17 with a backbreaker and body press and Taft evaded the score by applying an airplane spin and body press on Roque in 15:28.

After five minutes of action in the third fall, Shire forgot his college breeding and slammed a chair over the head of Taft and was disqualified.

The semi-windup went to Moe Smith in straight falls over Treacherous Phillips. Phillips lost the first fall by disqualification and Smith used a Boston crab to take the second.

The special event between Roque and Ken Hill went to Roque who used a Boston crab.

Officers Named By Shoshone Club

SHOSHONE, Jan. 11—New officers were elected and delegates named to the Idaho Wildlife Federation meeting at Boise, Jan. 13-15, when the Shoshone Rod and Gun club met Saturday night at Memorial hall.

Officers elected are Earl White, president; Larry Tews, vice president; and Myron Johnson, secretary. White will appoint committees for the coming year.

Delegates to the federation meeting are Dick Cole and Everett Sant with Earl White and Oliver Lowry, Jr., alternates.

Serious Problem Is Posed by Unruly Fans, Twogood Says

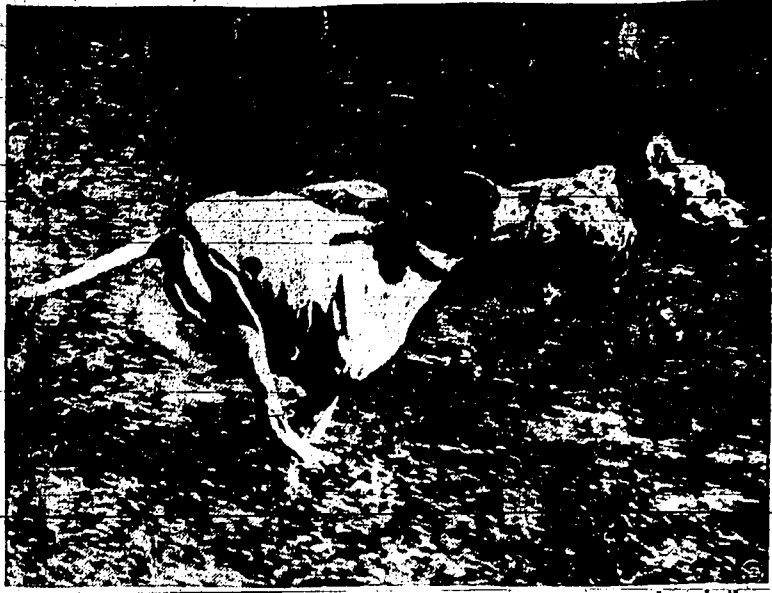

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—Episodes such as the penny throwing that brought a forfeit in last Saturday's California-Southern California basketball game at Berkeley demand drastic administration action, says coach Forrest Twogood of USC. Twogood formerly coached at University of Idaho.

He said that unless the administration action is taken in controlling fans, a serious and perhaps "catastrophic" incident awaits basketball.

"I think it is an administration problem and a serious one," Twogood told the weekly meeting of basketball writers Monday.

Annual Effort to Apply Pro Cage Rules to College Game Are Doomed

By OSCAR PRALEY
NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—College basketball has more politicians than Tammany hall and a hard core of defense-minded, possession-play coaches can be expected to block a new attempt to appropriate the professional 24-second rule for the collegiate game.

The committee report said that 60 college football teams were seen on TV screens last fall, 16 of them on a national basis and the others regionally. Notre Dame was "most televised," appearing in six separate games.

The recruiting problem also was presented, but again the discussion was limited. Athletic directors and faculty representatives met separately Monday and expressed opinions indicating the matter should be left in the hands of conferences rather than be placed under NCAA control nationally. Voting also is scheduled Wednesday.

Discussion of Hunt Problems Is Scheduled

BOISE, Jan. 11—The Idaho Landholder-Sportman council will meet Jan. 20 in Boise to discuss progress of its program during the past hunting season, and to make plans for the coming year. E. Kileas Brown, secretary, said today.

The meeting will be held in the Senate caucus room in the state house beginning at 8:30 p. m. Brown said. Representatives of all member organizations were urged to attend, and individuals wishing to present suggestions of reports to the council were also invited.

The council was organized in 1954 in a cooperative effort between sportsmen's and landholders' organizations to improve hunter-landholder relations. The council has sponsored a uniform "hunting by permission" sign for posting throughout the state, and a statewide educational campaign to encourage mutual respect and responsibility between the two groups.

Idaho Hunting Deaths Show Rise in 1955

BOISE, Jan. 10 (AP)—The state fish and game department Tuesday reported 15 deaths and 22 injuries in hunting weapon accidents last year—an increase of six casualties over the totals for 1953 and 1954.

The casualties reflect a ration of one to about 5,000 big game hunters. "This indicates that hunting in Idaho is relatively safe sport, considering the normal hazard involved," said Ross Leonard, state fish and game director.

"But analysis of the accidents shows that most of the 37 would not have occurred if the person holding the gun had observed standard gun safety practices."

Only six of the injuries were self-inflicted, 12 were due to accidental discharge of firearms, and 13 resulted from hunters being mistaken for game. Juveniles again made up more than half the casualty total.

Former Idaho Prep Star 'Promoted'

SPOKANE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Bob Turner, 18-year-old freshman from Orofino, Idaho, received a "promotion" and a "citation" from Gonzaga University basketball coach Hank Anderson Tuesday.

Anderson announced that Turner, who started the season as a reserve, had been moved into the starting five.

"He is the best frosh I've had here since Jerry Vermillion," said Anderson. Vermillion set several basketball records during his 4-year playing career at Gonzaga.

Turner has shown an excellent shooting eye during the Bulldog's early games, ranking high in both field goal and free throw averages. He also has been a spark plug on the floor recently for Gonzaga.

IOOF Junior Cage Team Beats Frosh

Staging a last half rally, the IOOF No. 11 junior lodge basketball team ran up a 41-31 victory over the Falls high school frosh squad Tuesday afternoon at the senior high school gym.

He explains, "Even if we install the 24-second rule, the zone still could be used unless we give a premium on long shots and make the defense come out of the zone to stop them."

Hobson's theory is that in basketball, as example, the home run pays off more than just the ordinary hit. "Making a long field goal worth three points would kill the deadening zone defenses," he insists. "It would make for a faster game, make the defense come out and as a result, allow more space for drive-in shots."

Yale's Howard Hobson spearheaded the new push when he asserted that the "pro rule has been a fine thing." It's adoption will be the big issue at this year's rules meeting, he admitted, and it "has a good chance."

All of which probably is wishful thinking. The answer is that there are two schisms in coaching. Call it the defense-minded against the offense-minded. Or call it the "country" coaches against the "big city" coaches who have seen the success of the pro brand of play and ache to copy it.

There is no attempt by the city boys to "allicker" the fellows from the hinterlands. But the rural tutors look at it that way and there seems some basis for the accusation that they are guilty of a certain narrowness when they frown on anything born of professional ingenuity as a taint to the purity of their game.

Thus they banded together, under the banner of such as defense-minded Hank Iba of Oklahoma A and M, and killed the adoption of the 24-second rule last year. And they'll probably do it again.

Hobson, sounding the progressive slogan that the 24-second time limit on possession would provide a faster game and help kill stalling, has another suggestion which is so novel that it probably won't even get a hearing.

He would like to see three points given for a basket scored from outside 24 feet. "Only one-ninth of the total scoring is done from outside that area,"

Dietrich Gets 52-42 Victory Over Richfield

RICHFIELD, Jan. 11—Dietrich defeated Richfield Tuesday night after leading all the way in a basketball game on the Richfield floor.

Richfield's sparkplug, Jay Ward, missed the game because of a virus infection which will keep him in bed for a week. Without Ward, Richfield was unable to cope with a smooth-working Dietrich attack.

McClure accounted for 17 of Dietrich's points while Mick Ollieu had 14 for the losers.

What's That? Raft River Is Easy Winner Over Murtana

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Washington Senators Tuesday signed a pitcher who—if he makes the grade in professional baseball—is going to drive radio announcers—and headline writers crazy. His name: Victor H. Scuzkenschneider.

The Senators represented themselves as being delighted with the fellow. He's a graduate of the University of Utah and in the past two years, pitching for the army team at Ft. Sill, Okla., won 21 games, including a no-hitter. He lost three.

Indians Raise Pay For Star Hitter

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians Monday night announced the signing of outfielder Al Smith at "a substantial pay boost" and also that third baseman Rudy Regalado and rookie outfielder Rocco Colavito have agreed to 1956 contracts.

Smith, chosen by local baseball writers as the Tribe's "man of the year" last season, batted .306 to lead the team and rank sixth in the league. Although lead-off man most of the time, he batted in 77 runs and his 22 home runs.

Regalado spent last season at Indianapolis where he hit .316; and rookie Colavito also comes from Indianapolis where he has bettered the 30-homer mark in each of the past two seasons.

Fenwick Hits 42 Points as Walker Wins

With Leon Fenwick pouring 42 points through the hoop, Tommy Walker took a 74-62 basketball victory over Self Manufacturing company in a Municipal league basketball game Tuesday evening. In the other half of the doubleheader, Cook's Grocery walloped Parsian Laundry 45-28.

The Walker club lagged 16-14 midway in the first half, but Fenwick started pouring the points through the net to spark his team to a comfortable win. Byington led the losers with 15.

Cook's led all the way over Parsian with Stapp connecting for 21 points. Hill's 16 was the best scoring effort for the losers.

MIAMI PLACED ON PROBATION ANOTHER YEAR

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association council Tuesday night extended the probation of the University of Miami (Fla.) for one year.

The action was announced by Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, following a closed council session.

Byers said the extension of the probation to next year's annual NCAA convention meant that the Florida school could not enter athletes in any NCAA-sponsored events nor appear in such post-season activities as bowl games.

Miami originally was placed on probation for one year in October, 1954, for granting excessive financial aids to athletes. The council was dissatisfied with remedies effected at the end of the year and extended the probation to the current convention.

Byers said the action by the council meant that it felt that other violations had occurred during the probation period at a time when it was assumed efforts would be made to conform to NCAA regulations.

Oregon Edges Washington in Overtime Tilt

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 11 (AP)—Washington almost won its first basketball game on the road this season, but Max Anderson, Oregon center, snatched the victory away in the last half-minute of a nonconference overtime game 53-51.

Washington, winner of five games at home, had a 51-49 lead and possession of the ball with a half-minute remaining in the overtime period when a bad pass gave the ball to Oregon.

Anderson, who up to then had about the most miserable night of his collegiate career, hooked in a shot to tie the score with 29 seconds remaining, and then with six seconds to go was fouled by Ron Olsen. Anderson sank both shots for the victory.

It was Washington's seventh loss on the road, Oregon, which will go into conference play next week, and against California here, now has a 6-4 record.

Anderson, who usually leads the Oregon scorers, connected on only three of 18 field goal shots and guard Jerry Ross took over the scoring burden, running up 23 points. Gary Nelson, reserve Washington center and forward, led his team with 11.

Conley Inks Pact With Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Right-hander Gene Conley stopped in at the Milwaukee Braves' baseball office to pick up some mail Tuesday and wound up signing his 1956 contract.

The 6-8, 223-pound pitcher from Muskogee, Okla., and Washington State college, sidelined by a shoulder injury at the tail end of last season after an 11-7 record, said he and general manager John Quinn came to terms after a short talk, and that he didn't take a salary cut. Terms of the pact were not announced, but it was reportedly around $15,000.

Mushers Trim Gooding State By 61-31 Count

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 11—The Mushers of Camas county high school got off to a fast start Tuesday night and kept up the pressure all the way to trip Gooding State 61-31 in a basketball game here.

The homecoming Mushers led 16-6 at the end of the first quarter and opened the gap until the final period when Gooding State started to find the range and lost no more ground in the last minutes of play.

Jack Bahington topped the scoring for the winners with 15 points, while Mortenson had 13 for the losers.

An efficient Musher defense gave up only nine field goals to the visitors, but Gooding State proved stronger at the free throw line.

Dressen Sees Better Year for Nationals

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—Manager Charley Dressen has a building problem on his hands if he hopes to get the Washington Senators out of the cellar in the American league—but he isn't discouraged.

"If we can get a couple of fellows we have in mind, add if some of our young stock comes through, we'll make a good run for the first division this year," said chipper Charley at his home here.

"We got some good young talent in that trade with Boston, and some of my young pitchers are doing very well in the Cuban league this winter."

Dressen pointed out that the Washington club had a run of injuries and ill luck last year that isn't likely to be duplicated.

"Lyle Lutzell was going good in the outfield when his jaw was broken," Dressen said. "Then shortstop Pete Runnels had appendicitis, and Eddie Yost had a bad year, and we blame that on his tonsils, which have now been removed."

Dressen is optimistic about the chances of some of the new talent. "I understand Karl Olson is a real fine outfielder if he gets a chance to play," he said. "We hope he'll be our regular centerfielder."

Olson was obtained in the deal with Boston in which first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Bob Porterfield were sent to the Sox. The Nationals also got three promising pitchers in Al Curtis, Truman Clevenger and Dick Brodowski, and outfielder Neil Christley.

"My scouts tell me all these boys can throw the ball real good," said Dressen hopefully.

"Then this boy Jules Becquer we got from San Diego is doing swell in the Cuban league. And we have two pitchers down there running 1-2 in the league. They are Camillo Pascual and Pete Ramos. Ramos pitched in some race."

The Dons ran up a quick 8 to 0 lead, and then bounced it up to 26 to 2, with 9 minutes gone, with Bill Russell, Mike Farmer, Hal Perry and Carl Boldt all hitting.

Then Don's coach Phil Woolpert began substituting, and the score at the end of the first half was USC 48, Santa Clara 23.

USP's Mike Farmer, who regularly plays forward and moves to center when Russell goes out of the lineup, was high man of the night with 18 points. All 15 players on the Don squad saw action in the game.

American Skiers Get Fancy Pants

KITZBUHEL, Austria, Jan. 11 (AP)—American men downhill skiers have showed up in fancy, skin-fitting, blue woolen downhill racing pants for the first time in Europe.

The pants were bought in Austria and the American team is the only one wearing them thus far.

Team manager Nelson Bennett of Sun Valley figures the added bit of streamlining could be the margin in some race.

Federal Jury Indicts Pair Of Ring Guilds

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11 (AP)—A federal grand jury returned an indictment here Tuesday charging the International Boxing guild of New York City, the Boxing guild of Ohio and three of their officers with boycotting and other violations of the Sherman antitrust act.

The international guild is an association of local boxing managers' guilds, whose membership includes the managers of virtually all boxers participating in major matches in this country.

One of the defendants, Albert W. Del Monte of Cleveland, president of the Boxing guild of Ohio, denied that the guild had boycotted anybody, and said it worked for the good of fighters because "the promoters were making all the money from television."

The other individual defendants are Charles Johnston of New York, general president of the International Boxing guild, and William Daly of Englewood, N. J., its general treasurer.

Israel Blamed for Attack on Syria Outpost

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Russia has urged the United Nations security council to condemn Israel for the Dec. 17 attack on Syrian forces at the Sea of Galilee and to warn it that further raids may result in sanctions against Israel.

The New Jersey state legislature gave a leap year twist yesterday to its custom of sending a delegation to notify the governor of the assembly is ready for business.

The speaker sent the assembly's seven female members to "call on" Gov. Robert B. Meyner, a bachelor.

ICE-BLASTED

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Messages from the British Antarctic expedition said today members used dynamite to blast a path through ice floes which trapped the tiny sealer Theron 600 miles from its destination.

Navy to Seek Triple Funds For Buildups

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas has indicated that the navy will ask congress next week for nearly three times as much money for aircraft buying as it got this year.

Thomas also said that the fiscal 1957 budget will call for building a small atomic powered cruiser—the next step in the navy's progressive transition to nuclear power.

And, Thomas told reporters, "I would like to think that we will be prepared to ask for a nuclear powered carrier in fiscal 1958."

He said the budget will call for about two billion dollars for navy plane procurement next year compared to 750 million dollars voted for this year.

Thomas also reported that as a result of his recent Far East trip he is convinced:

1. The navy's P-9F Cougar jet fighters are good enough to combat the Russian MIG jets in the Far East.
2. There has been a build up of Communist air fields and equipment opposite Formosa and some increase in red naval strength but, as he has said before, there is "nothing to indicate any imminent attack."
3. There is "no plan at the moment" for any important change in the size of the Pacific fleet. Thomas described the fleet as able to perform any mission assigned it.
4. Russia has about 100 submarines operating from its Pacific naval bases and they would be a "major threat" in any hostilities. The navy has been concentrating on anti-submarine developments.

Loss Is Reported In Smutty Wheat

PORTLAND, Jan. 11 (AP)—Smut robbed Northwest wheat farmers of five million dollars last year, the highest loss on record, Dr. C. S. Holston, U. S. agriculture department horticulturist, reported today.

Holston, who is stationed at Washington State college, said 34 per cent of the wheat grown in Washington, Oregon and northern Idaho last year graded smutty.

The report was made to the regional smut control committee composed of USDA and land grant college pathologists and representatives of the grain trade. A USDA division report made at the same meeting showed 33.9 per cent smutty wheat.

Benson Readies Northwest Talk

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 11 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson will speak here Feb. 3 at a $25 per plate fund-raising dinner attended by Republicans from Whitman, Garfield and Asotin counties of Washington and Latah and Nez Perce counties of Idaho.

Idaho Governor Robert Smylie and Washington Governor Arthur Langbe also have been invited to attend.

Business Sounded for Tax Deadline

Business and professional others who do not pay withholding from salaries are the first to face a federal tax deadline, reports G. Stacey, internal revenue agent.

It comes on Sunday, so the day is the last date to send pay final quarterly returns for 1955.

A complete return for 1955 may be filed and paid by but does not excuse required quarterly estimate filings.

It is also the last day farmers and pay an estimate allow to complete their returns. Otherwise Feb. 15 is the deadline for their final returns.

Polluted City Air Cited as Big Cause of Lung Cancer Deaths

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The new scientific contribution to the controversy over what is responsible for the remarkable rise in lung cancer makes an impressive case against the polluted atmospheres of industrialized cities, and lets cigarette smoking off the hook.

Like previous studies, including those which indicted cigarette smoking, this one was statistical. It was made in New Zealand where there are fewer of the statistical "variables" which weaken studies of such populations as that of the United States.

In New Zealand the white population came from one place, the British Isles, and so its members are similar in background and racial stock. The native-born population is descended from Britons who went there no earlier (for the most part) than a hundred years ago, which neatly eliminates another variable.

David F. Eastcott, assistant director of the National Health Institute of New Zealand, began his study with the total of cancer deaths among white New Zealanders from 1949 through 1953. He divided these between whites who were native born and whites who had been immigrants.

Now he had two sets of figures. He divided each set according to the site of the fatal cancer—stomach, lung, prostate gland, breast, and so on. Then he was ready to compare the two sets. For no site except one was there a statistically significant difference in cancer incidence between native-born New Zealanders and the immigrant New Zealanders.

The one exception was lung cancer. For all immigrants, the chances of dying of lung cancer were 30 per cent higher than for the native-born. For immigrants who went to New Zealand when 30 years old or older, the chances were 75 per cent higher.

"Moreover," added Eastcott in his report to the technical journal, The Lancet, "it is the same for women as for men and is consistent at all ages over 35 and for all the principal parts of the country."

Citing per capita tobacco consumption in the British Isles and New Zealand, he remarked that "differences in habits of tobacco smoking are unlikely to contribute to this picture." In 50 years beginning in 1900, the New Zealand consumption has always been higher than in the British Isles.

But England and Wales, which contributed most of the immigrants, are heavily industrialized, with many industrial cities and towns. New Zealand is very light industrialized; its few "large" cities are not very large and are anything but crowded.
