MENDOZA, Argentina, Jan. 24 (AP)—An Argentine army expedition dug in today for a final assault to the summit of 22,976-foot Mt. Aconcagua to bring down the statues of Juan and Eva Peron.

Mt. Aconcagua in the Andes is the tallest mountain in the western hemisphere.

A 13-man party of veteran mountain climbers radioed last night that it had set up operations at a base camp 14,000 feet up the rugged mountain peak.

The camp was established in a plateau known as the Plaza de Mulitas, place of the mules, and the usual base of operations for mountain climbing expeditions.

The expedition reported slow progress due to Argentina's coldest summer in years. Heavy snowstorms were reported sweeping the north-west slopes of the mountain and temperatures were well below freezing.

Project Okayed

BURLEY, Jan. 24—Burley Lions club members have approved the purchase of a seven-foot grand piano for the new Burley high school, Ed Frank, president, announced. The education committee, headed by Jim Miller, has been working on the project since construction started on the new building last spring.

School board officials made slight changes in building plans to make room for an adequate closet to house the new piano. Garth Payne, Rulon Budge and Clifford Mullikin reported the findings of the committee at a meeting a week ago and gave the club members a week to consider purchase before final action was taken.

Jurist Airs Delinquency Problem

District Judge Hugh A. Baker, center, credited Magic Valley churches with curbing juvenile delinquency, but warned parents much of the responsibility is theirs, during a talk at a Bickel PTA meeting Monday night. ### Church Credited in Curb of Juvenile Delinquency Problem in Magic Valley

Magic Valley's churches were credited Monday night for the comparatively minor juvenile delinquency rate in this area.

However, District Judge Hugh A. Baker warned some 75 members of Bickel PTA that much of the responsibility for juvenile delinquency here and across the nation lies with the parents. Judge Baker spoke at the PTA's annual Fathers night session in the school auditorium.

The "broken home," charged the jurist, is one of the major causes for a youth to "loosen the bonds of legality." But, he pointed out, divorce does not necessarily constitute a "broken home." A "broken home" and delinquency are caused by "the events preceding these acts or results of acts."

Immoderate use of intoxicating beverages was cited by the judge as one of the chief causes of broken homes and divorcees. There are other matters that contribute materially, he noted, but they usually come after the alcoholic aspect. These matters bring about the divorce and at the same time contribute to the delinquency of youth.

Professional criminals seldom do more than is necessary to commit a crime. Oftentimes a police investigation can lead to the probable age of the offender by evidence of cruelty or destruction at the scene of the crime, said Judge Baker.

Blame for the high rate of juvenile delinquency across the country was placed by the judge primarily on parents, prosperity, automobiles and idleness.

Transportation enables the youth to get away from the home site where he loses certain inhibitions. Prosperity gives the youngster of today much more pocket money than the previous generation, which at the same time enables parents to provide the automobile. Children with chores, schoolwork, or work after school do not have much time to wonder what to do next.

When a child's grades in school start slipping, and his absence becomes frequent, that is the time to start an investigation by his parents into the leisure hours, the jurist warned.

Magic Valley's juvenile delinquency problem is minor, the judge stated, in contrast with other parts of the country. Here the rate is exceedingly low, evidenced by the fact that only one out of every 200 complaints filed against a juvenile is of a serious nature.

This was attributed to the high-principled and religious people who first settled this part of the state. Effect of the church on people is preventive, not corrective, Judge Baker continued, as he urged the parents to let their children attend at least one church service each week in the church of their choice. The best of influences helps youngsters acquire a conscience with which to determine right from wrong.

In conclusion, the judge stressed that he had every confidence in the average youth of this area.

New Charge Is Put on Account

QUINCY, Mass., Jan. 24 (AP)—Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, 44, one of 10 men charged with the $1218.21 Brink's robbery, now is faced with an additional charge—non-payment of his $2 poll tax for 1953.

City Treasurer Frederic A. Mooney, Jr., has said he holds a warrant for Maffie's arrest for not paying his poll tax, which totals $6.85 with interest and costs.

Columnist Envisions Living in Future With Bigger Incomes

By HENRY McLEMORE
I scarcely have to tell you, that over the years I read that respected economist estimate the average American income will be around $40,000 in 25 years or so, I have been paying extra attention to my health.

I now own an umbrella for the first time in my life, not wanting to get caught unprotected in a shower. I slip on my underwear at the first indication of a cold snap, have enlarged my medicine chest to accommodate new nostrils, and only jaywalk on one-way streets in the dead of night.

I want to be around when the money starts rolling in for us average folks! What a relief it will be to have to run a lemonade stand on the side in the summer, and be able to go to the movies when other people do, instead of the unearthly hour of one in the afternoon.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Strictly in the line of my duty, I ball-players check out after a few seasons because their legs get tired.

"Well," Miss Gambarelli said, "since your interest is strictly professional, feel this" and she got up and came over and extended her right leg. "Feel that calf. Now the knee. Now..."

I felt that calf and thought of the statue of liberty. "They don't exercise," Maria said. "I have been dancing ever since I was 4 years old. Down in Greenwich village..."

She said: "Yes, I said Greenwich village, downtown, tenements—Hill, both also and basso, Irish and Jew. Walk up, Yivo or six stories. Some buildings only one bath room. Four or five families to a floor. Very nice people, too. One boy across the hall is a great surgeon. Some are priests. The beautiful dancer, Yolanda, of Velos and Yolanda, was one of our girls. Some of us went to public school No. 3 and Our Lady of Pompeii."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON - The Democratic leadership in capitol hill has decided that their only chance of off-setting President Eisenhower's appropriation of so many liberal new deal ideas is to push through a tax cut by wrecking his delicately-balanced budget program.

The opposition maintains that the 1957 budget was framed with the November election in mind, and with Eisenhower as the nominee. In fact, they give Ike's so-called "amateurs" great credit for unexpected political astuteness.

The actual increase for the military establishment amounts to $63 million dollars for 1957. It would have been higher except for a $35-million-dollar cut in the amount for stockpiling weapons. More important than the figure of 903 million dollars, however, is the increase in the request for new obligatory authority.

UNSPENT BILLIONS—Thus, if congress votes the $9.7 billion dollars asked for fiscal 1957, the money available for national security will total $5 billion dollars, inasmuch as there is an unspent carry-over of 45 billion dollars from previous years. Since not even half of this amount can be poured out in a single year, the Democrats believe that at least two billion dollars can be cut from the 1957 request.

COMPLICATED TASK—The same pattern of relatively low increases for 1957, but huge sums in deferred charges, is found in the budget provisions for domestic expenditures. The actual boost over the 1955 outlay is only about $90 million dollars.

BUSINESS TO LEVEL OFF

Business in the year ahead will level off. Corporate profits in 1956 may be no higher than they were in 1955, in the opinion of Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey.

This conclusion is based on federal tax collection estimates made by the treasury in connection with President Eisenhower's new $5.9-billion-dollar budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

This estimate is made despite the fact that corporation profits rose from 34 billion in 1954 to 43 billion in 1955. This nine-billion-a-year increase rate had been expected to continue in 1956, at least in part. But Secretary Humphrey and his experts don't see it that way now.

"This may be unduly conservative, and I hope it is," says Secretary Humphrey. "Last year we had a high volume of income," he continues. "But history shows you don't keep going up."

"The conservative approach is therefore to take profits at the same level." The belief that personal income will rise by the billion dollars in spite of the fact that corporate profits may level off, is explained by two factors.

One is that a million new workers are coming into the labor force every year. Their wages add to the total personal income. The second factor is that wage increases granted last year will eat into corporate earnings this year, and so reduce profits.

Secretary Humphrey says further that a certain amount of price competition may be expected in the year ahead.

He says there is no room for a tax cut in these figures, as he sees it now. Furthermore, the revenue estimates he has made are based on extending the corporate and excise tax increases now scheduled to expire on April 1.

"I am opposed to a tax cut unless I can see where the money is coming from to pay for it, and unless there is a surplus of income over expenses. If we could see a surplus, I'd be for a tax cut."

As to the size of the surplus necessary to justify a tax cut, the secretary says that a two-and-a-half-billion surplus would be important, and a three-billion surplus would be significant. The surpluses now anticipated run from only 200 million this year to 400 million dollars next year.

On the question of putting a tax cut ahead of debt reduction, Secretary Humphrey declares that in general, a tax cut should precede any large reduction on the national debt.

The big cuts in national debt will have to wait on a general reduction in national security expenditures, which now run 42 billion dollars a year and take nearly two thirds of the budgeted tax dollar.

IKE KNOWS SCORE

Unmistakably President Eisenhower holds both his country and the office of President in the very highest esteem. Possibly millions take that for granted. But there is reason why fresh realization of the fact is important right now.

A lot of people, including politicians whose necks are out this year, seem to have been suggesting that Mr. Eisenhower might properly serve through a second term as a sort of consultant to his cabinet. This concept of the presidency might be likened to a semi-retired board chairman of an industrial corporation.

The President has clearly rejected that view of his responsibilities. His personal comments show that he believes no occupant of the White House should be fit for the fullest exercise of his duties or should put himself out of the picture.

Some critics have said they thought Mr. Eisenhower was underplaying the importance of his post because so many suggestions have been made for trimming the President's functions. As far as the President himself goes, they appear to have misread his purposes.

He agrees with those who want to cut down on the ceremonial and routinely administrative aspects of the job. But this is not the vital part of the presidency.

The heart of the task is the work of making the great decisions that affect the safety and well-being not only of 183 million Americans but of other millions in free lands abroad.

Mr. Eisenhower knows this work cannot be delegated, but on the contrary demands more and more of a President's energies as time adds complexity to the big choices. What he seeks for the office is not relief from this critical labor but time to do it more justly.

Most observers are agreed that success in eliminating the presidency's lesser functions would greatly benefit the country, yet would not necessarily diminish the strains of the office. For they feel, too, that it is not mere physical work—signing papers, dedicating worthwhile projects—of trying to make the great decisions the right ones, with so much hanging in the balance for so many.

Not even Mr. Eisenhower's severest critics need fear that he underrates the magnitude of his assignment. He understands it well enough. And he gives every sign that he can be trusted by all Americans to measure his fitness carefully against this awesome responsibility.

Mother Gains First Round in Custody Fight

SAN JOSE, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Smith, Portland, Ore., who was acquitted last fall of the car-bombing murder of her lawyer husband, has won at least a temporary victory in her fight to regain the custody of her 9-year-old daughter.

The 34-year-old mother was granted temporary custody of the little girl yesterday by Superior Court Judge J. G. Del Matola. The child, Susan, has been living at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ellen Hightower, Los Gatos, Calif.

Mrs. Hightower took Susan from the Smith home at Portland last April 25 after Mrs. Smith was arrested for complicity in the murder of her husband. Mrs. Smith was subsequently tried and acquitted of conspiring with Victor Laureano Wolf, 45, to commit the murder. Wolf was convicted of murder in the second degree.

Mrs. Smith testified yesterday that she saw her daughter Sunday night for the first time since last April, but the little girl did not recognize her.

However, Judge Del Matola ordered Mrs. Hightower to turn the child over to her mother "as soon as it is practical" because there is "no provision in California law" for the present arrangement.

The judge ordered Mrs. Smith to keep Susan in Santa Clara county until it is determined whether she or Mrs. Hightower has the legal right to take care of the child.

Mrs. Hightower's attorneys said in court yesterday they would prove that Mrs. Smith was "dissolute and promiscuous" and therefore an unfit guardian for her daughter.

Curbs Sought For Youthful, Aged Drivers

DETROIT, Jan. 24 (AP)—Special driving restrictions on the teen-ages and motorists more than 65 years old to halt the "blood-bath" on the nation's highways were recommended yesterday by the president of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Elmer Hess, Erie, Pa., said the teen-ages should not be permitted to drive after dark and motorists over 50 should be required to take medical examinations when applying for a new license.

Hess made his recommendations before the 16th annual congress on industrial health which is meeting here.

"No child less than 18 years old should be allowed to drive after dark," Dr. Hess said. "This rule should be enforced by parents."

The AMA president called for legislation to make thorough medical examinations "every two or three years" mandatory for renewing of drivers more than 50 years old.

"It is absurd that merely because a person is licensed to drive when he's young that he should hold the privilege for life," Hess said.

Impatient

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Jan. 24 (AP)—Two motorists waiting on opposite sides of the tracks for a slow freight got impatient at the same time yesterday.

John Christian, 33, Chicago, and Alanzo Ponce, 50, Hammond, Ind., both swerved around the crossing gates. They collided head-on in the middle of the tracks and their cars were hit a moment later by the oncoming train. Neither driver was injured.

Future Is Seen For Helicopters

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24 (AP)—What's the future for helicopters? As flying cranes, they'll lift loads of 10 to 15 tons.

Delegates to End Idaho Convention

BOISE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Some 300 delegates from five western states prepared today to wind up the annual convention of the Intermountain Association of Hardware and Implement Dealers.

Their president, Donald Chisholm, Burley, said yesterday that business conditions improved in 1955 and this year should be even better.

Henry E. Breen, Fairmont, Minn., president of the National Retail Farm Equipment Association, said that implement dealers can help the farmer by being "dependable advisers and not just economic distributors."

MARLBOROUGH, Eng., Jan. 24 (AP)—John Sainsbury, 65, became ill when he took a dose of stomach powder mixed by Vera Crewer, a druggist, and was sent to a hospital.

Miss Crewer, to prove that the medicine she gave Sainsbury was harmless, mixed herself a portion and drank it. She died soon afterward in a hospital.

Officers Seeking Additional Bones

EMMETT, Jan. 24 (AP)—A search got under way today for the remaining portions of the body of a human whose foot and leg bones were discovered Sunday on a sandbar of the Payette river near here.

State police officers and Gem county sheriff's deputies combed the area around the Montour bridge, where the bones were found by 15-year-old Marvin Queen, Montour.

Gem County Coroner Glenn Beatty says the bones may have been washed onto the bar by recent floods.

Youth Killed

NAMPA, Jan. 24 (AP)—A 7-year-old boy was struck in the chest by a baseball yesterday while running across the playground of St. Paul's Catholic school. He died in a hospital about six hours later.

Canyon County Coroner John Alstip identified the victim as Kevin Patrick Niland, son of the Mr. and Mrs. John P. Niland, Nampa. He said an autopsy would be held.

Youth Is Praised On GOP Activity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Vice President Nixon told a young Republican leadership training school today that "the continued success of the Republican party depends in perhaps decisive measure" upon its youthful workers.

Upwards of 200 young Republicans from some 30 states have assembled here for five days of schooling on campaign strategy and techniques, with the broad objective of bringing another four million voters into the GOP camp for the November elections.

Nixon, vacationing in Florida, sent a telegram to Charles McWhorter, chairman of the Young Republican National Federation, expressing gratitude for "the enthusiasm, energy, drive and imagination constantly shown" by the young Republicans throughout the country.

2 Tumor Boards Are Accredited

BOISE, Jan. 24 (AP)—St. Luke's hospital in Boise announced today that the St. Luke's tumor board had been accredited by the American College of Surgeons in Chicago.

The eastern Idaho tumor board at Idaho Falls has also been accredited, hospital administrator Helen B. Ross said. Mrs. Ross said they are the first two boards in Idaho to be recognized.

The St. Luke's board was established in September, 1953, to discuss and register the best methods for treatment of cancer. The board is composed of six doctors.

State School Is Crowded, Notes Board

BOISE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Idaho board of education heard yesterday that the state industrial training school at St. Anthony is bulging at the seams because of a 97 per cent increase in the commitment of minimum girls in the past six months.

There has been an 18 per cent increase in the institution's male population in the same period, Asst. Supt. Robert Parrish told the board.

Supt. Robert Parrish told the board he could offer "no simple explanation" for the increase.

Board members suggested it was due to a mounting wave of vandalism throughout the state, especially among the girls, and to an increase in the state's teenage population.

The school's population is now stands at 120 to 130 boys and 51 girls.

Parrish said the new boys and girls were coming from cities and villages of all population classes and that the commitments "were following no specific pattern."

He said the influx could not be attributed to an increase in the number of commitments by the new juvenile rehabilitation act.

The institution is over-crowded, Parrish said, but the situation will be relieved soon when workmen complete the remodeling of one of the girls' dormitories.

The board also took up routine matters at Idaho State college and the state school for the deaf and blind at Gooding, which was racked last fall by a controversy over the policies of Supt. Burton W. Driggs.

Driggs told the board that the school has been running smoothly the past few months.

John W. Rensberg, board president, told members that there has been no official communication lately with a four-man team appointed at the last meeting to evaluate the Gooding school.

Traffic Accident Victim Succumbs

LEWISTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A man who was run over by his own car after it was hit from behind by a truck died in a hospital here yesterday.

William H. Berlin, 50, an employee of the Lewiston Orchards irrigation district, was placing some flares on Thain road near here Saturday night.

Deputy Sheriff Abe Prye said Berlin was standing in front of his car when a truck driven by Lawrence Neilson, 30, hit it from behind.

Berlin was struck by the hood of his car, then run over. Neilson was hospitalized with cuts. The flares were to warn motorists of new ditches along the road.

Dejected National Safety Council officials pose beside a poster comparing estimated 1955 traffic deaths and the number of Americans killed in the Korean war. The 1955 toll of 38,500 is seven per cent and 2,500 lives greater than 1954's total of 36,000. The 1955 record is the highest since 1941. Added to this are the 336 traffic deaths over the recent New Year's week-end. Shown above in Chicago, Ill., are David Baldwin, left, director of traffic for the council, and George Stewart, executive vice president. (NEA)

Demo Favors Ike Farm Bid

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case has said President Eisenhower's farm program offers "the only hope of a real solution to our urgent farm problems."

In a speech to the New Jersey Farm Bureau, the senator said the farm problem was too pressing for a purely partisan approach. Citing Democratic support for some of the points in the President's message, Case declared:

"They range from disposal of market-choking surpluses to the removal of the spectre of new dust bowls in the plains states. Many of his legislative recommendations have either been supported or jointly suggested by Democrats."

Case admitted some amendments may be needed to the soil bank proposal, but said it would work to the "short and long term benefit of the farmer—and the country, too."

Enrollment Hikes

REXBURG, Jan. 24 (AP)—Ricks college reported today its enrollment has hit an all-time high of 865 students. The registrar's office said the figure represented an increase of 59 per cent over enrollment of five years ago.

The enrollment has increased steadily since 1951, when 507 students were signed up.

Legible Writing Requested to Keep Letter From Dead File

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—When that are hard to spell. He says that next you write grandma, make sure the address is right. Else it might wind up like 20,625,463 letters and packages did last year—in the dead letter office.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's crew is a little upset about the carelessness of the letter-writing public. Over 18 million of those misguided missives wound up in the trash. About 1,800,000 were greetings for the yule—to people who never got wished a merry or happy one.

A lot of the wrong-way letters contained money. If the sender puts his return address in the left hand corner, the dough is returned to him. About $116,131 was returned last year. The rest went into a relief fund.

Well, the dead letter office is so worked up, it has come up with a set of mailing rules that all of us should paste in our hats.

First, write so the postoffice can read it, even if you have to print. Make sure the address is correct. Write in full without abbreviations. The return address. Use the postal zone number. And if you think your letter is overweight, put it on the scale to assure enough postage.

Abbreviating the names of states can run into trouble. For instance, carelessness with the pen can make "La" for Louisiana look like "la" for Iowa. Write "em out. Likewise there can be confusion in "NC," "ND" and "NH."

Also there are similarities within a single state. Like Bellmar and Belmar, in Maryland. There is Elvaston and also Evanston, in Illinois.

George Post, who heads the coordinating unit of the Minneapolis postoffice, recently reported a variation on the problem of names of streets. A housewife reported she and her husband had moved and had filed the proper change of address form. She wondered why they were not receiving any mail. Bills, even.

Post looked into the matter and learned that the couple had moved into the only house on a recently cut-through, block-long street, which never had been reported to the postoffice. Clerks had been sending the letters back.

James Sheoner, a letter peddler at Pottsville, Pa., knows about streets

Truck Dimension Restriction Eyed

BILOXI, Miss., Jan. 24 (AP)—The director of the Western Highway Institutes said today that bills now pending before congress contained possible restrictions on truck dimensions.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Truck Trailer Manufacturers Association, John Stringer, San Francisco, said such legislation could seriously infringe on states' rights.

Stringer praised the highway departments and the motor carriers associations of the Western states for helping obtain uniform laws governing truck sizes and weights. He said such laws encourage the interchange of highway equipment between states.

Boost Announced In County Budget

POCATELLO, Jan. 24 (AP)—A tentative 1956 county budget of $827,547, some $22,000 more than 1955's, has been announced by the Bannock county commission.

Most of the added funds are earmarked for road and bridge works and weed control and will be offset by increased revenue for license plate sales and the fees for weed eradication. The commissioners said in announcing the budget yesterday.

The budget also will include a $30,000 item for this year's election expenses. Public hearing on the budget has been set for Feb. 13.

Volume Hikes

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24 (AP)—The federal reserve bank of San Francisco yesterday reported dollar sales volume of stores in Utah and southern Idaho up 10 per cent in 1955 compared to 1954.

Sales in the Boise-Nampa area were up eight per cent, those at Idaho Falls up five per cent, and at Salt Lake City they increased 10 per cent.

Just look at these official registration figures for the first 11 months—January through November, 1955

	Ford Sales	Ford Sales Leadership
FORD V-8	1,241,742	.....
Car C—V-8	634,376	..... 607,366
Car P—V-8	262,870	..... 278,872
Car C—Six	845,153	..... 396,589
Car P—Six	334,540	..... 307,202

Here's why!

People just naturally go for 8 cylinders in the FORD package!
—And to a world record extent!
Just think, in the first 11 months of 1955 alone, 344,496 more people bought Ford V-8's than bought the two other low-priced competitive eights combined! They even bought 396,589 more Ford V-8's than the next competitive Six!

Of course, the reason the Ford V-8 is the largest selling eight-cylinder car in the world is that more people like its brand of performance—the kind that comes with the car!

These people aren't amateurs in judging engines. Nearly 24 years of building Ford V-8's to supply their demand is convincing proof of that.

And the Ford V-8 of today is the best yet... by a country-mile!

Smoother and quieter—you can scarcely hear it, even with the hood up! Sossier—just ask the highway patrol officer who drives one. He knows it takes a Ford to catch a Ford!

And, for the very practical question of durability—ask a Ford cab driver. He knows how Fords take it days on end.

So, if it's performance that you want—and wrapped like a gift—the '56 Ford V-8 is your baby.

Come in... try it today!

Florida Gains Problem With Tourist Boom

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—Florida already has the sun and now it's getting the satellite. The choice of Florida as launching site for the first man-made satellite next year was good news for publicity-wise chamber of commerce people here.

But this land of sunshine, bathing beauties, deep sea fishing and fabulous hotels has reached the point where some more claim-to-fame—even a world-gridding satellite—doesn't make any difference.

Florida now regards its tourist business as a steady proposition. What the state needs, according to Gov. Leroy Collins, is new industry. This is so the thousands of tourists who come to Florida and decide to stay can find jobs.

Crackers Outnumbered

Florida's rise to fame and fortune has left native-born "crackers" far outnumbered by transplants called "Yankees." About 1,550 families move to Florida from other states every week.

Collins, the most prominent salesman of the state's industrial possibilities, flew to California this month and came back with a pledge from multi-millionaire Howard Hughes to locate two new projects in Florida. They are rumored to be a medical research center and an unspecified industry, amounting to an investment of 100 million dollars.

Miami laid claim to being the fastest growing city in the South last November when a special federal census revealed that Dade county now has 703,000 permanent residents. With its year-round influx of tourists, Miami falls in the one million class of metropolitan centers.

Records Set

Each new year sets new records for tourism. Despite a freakish and destructive 10-day cold snap shortly after the new year, all signs point to 1958 as the biggest and best year of all time for the tourist trade.

Travel agencies said the number of visitors over the holidays was at least 10 per cent above last season's record. Even the plush $40 a day Fontainebleau hotel at Miami Beach has been booked solid with 1,000 vacationers since it opened a little over a year ago.

The big attraction is the sun. Like a golden magnet it pulls Presidents and pensioners, princes and paupers. And it nourishes a 180 million dollar crop of winter vegetables and 500 million dollars worth of oranges and grapefruit.
