Polio Vaccine Supplies May Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Parke Davis Drug company may get its polio vaccine production rolling in another 30 to 60 days if the government approves its new ultra violet safety process, it was learned today.

This would clear away the biggest current bottleneck in the vaccine supply line. Parke Davis hasn't re-leased any Salk shots in nearly eight months although it has the capacity to produce millions.

Big reason is that after the safety anafu last summer the firm decided to take time out "to improve the serum over the government requirements." One extra feature is developed involves the use of ultra violet rays in addition to formaldehyde to kill the virus employed in the vaccine.

Informed sources said the new process is expected to come up for action before the government's vaccine committee in about a month.

At the moment, it was learned, most committee members are favorably disposed. A final verdict, however, will depend largely on results of tests now in progress.

The purpose of the tests is to make sure that using the ultra violet rays as a supplement to the present process for inactivating the polio virus, in no way impairs the safety or effectiveness of the vaccine.

Ultra violet rays are extremely short light waves which have the ability to kill viruses. By using them in addition to formaldehyde, Parke Davis believes it will provide extra insurance that no live virus will get into its vaccine.

The radiation is an added feature rather than a basic change in the present approved manufacturing method. There is no indication any other manufacturers are contemplating its use. Authorities emphasized the vaccine currently being released is effective and perfectly safe.

If Parke Davis gets the green light on its radiated vaccine, it will start formally submitting vaccine for government clearance. This could mean a substantial increase in vaccine supplies for the coming polio season.

25 Recruits Added to National Guard Unit's Roster; Advantages Are Cited

Capt. John E. Rogers, Jr., commanding officer of headquarters and headquarters company, 116th armored cavalry regiment, announces 25 recruits have been added to the company's roster since Jan. 1.

Although the headquarters battalion is at full strength, 122 men, the headquarters company is little more than half filled with 70 men. Captain Rogers said a full roster is expected by May 15 in time for the active duty field training at Gowen field, Boise, from June 2 to June 16.

Rogers urged all young men between the ages 17 and 18 to join the national guard. He pointed out that in addition to receiving opportunities to receive education which help in civilian living, national guard service will retire the military obligation facing every man.

By joining the national guard this obligation may be filled by spending from 90 consecutive days, which can be spent at a school, to six months on active duty.

Following active duty, enlistees must remain with the national guard until the tour of duty would total eight years.

Captain Rogers noted that during this time men are able to continue with civilian life. The national guard takes only two hours a week to maintain the reservist status.

For these two hours of drilling, national guard members receive what amounts to a day's pay in the regular army.

The enlistee is accruing longevity with automatic pay raises received by armed service members every two years.

With the large number of schools available, guardsmen are able to further their education along almost any line they choose. Most of these courses are helpful in civilian life, Captain Rogers noted.

Current openings in the local unit include personnel management specialist, administration supervisors and mail delivery clerks in the regimental personnel section.

In the liaison section, reconnaissance sergeant and intermediate speed radio operators are needed.

Communication openings include senior radio mechanic, code clerk, message clerk, switchboard operator, and wireman.

Radio operators also are needed and these positions must be filled by May 15, Rogers said.

Those requesting army schools are usually sent to Ft. Knox, Ft. Ord or Ft. Benjamin Harrison, he said.

Many of the men who have served in the national guard have enlisted in the army, Rogers said. Because of the advanced learning they have received in the national guard, these men usually receive first promotions and other honors. Many have received "soldier of the month" and other similar honors at their camps, he noted.

A man enters the national guard with a rank of Private E-1. He is issued a complete uniform and receives $2.80 for each drill night. After four months he is promoted to Private E-2 and receives $3.24 for each drill.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—A sharp reduction of prices with maximum savings to buyers of all kinds of goods will be the 1956 contribution to our high-level economy, in the opinion of public and private experts in the retail field. They regard lower selling costs as the only solution to our unexampled system of mass production, employment and investment. Otherwise, it may crack up.

It will be a buyers' era because of the fierce competition that will be required to move commodities from the factories, warehouses and retail shelves to homes. In 1955, the best selling year in economic annals, well-paid consumers supplied their wants to great degree. They stocked up, regardless of prices.

Many fulfilled Herbert Hoover's forecast, not only of "two cars in every garage," but two of many other things—refrigerators, television and radio sets, electrical appliances. In fact, the former President, once ridiculed by FDR's politicians and economists for his 1928 prediction, was recently praised by senate committee members for his foresight. They called him the "Churchill of America" in the economic field.

HANDLE SOME 30 BILLION DOLLARS—The mangled and persecuted discount houses have contributed heavily to this trend, and they will continue to do so. They are apparently here to stay, willy-nilly. There are now more than 10,000 in the United States, and they handle more than 30 billion dollars worth of trading. Their ability to lower costs and to survive arouses customers' suspicions of the economic justification for conventional prices in all lines.

CUTTING PRICES—Although several states have rescinded or failed to enact a supplementary fair trade act, the supreme court and many state bodies uphold the federal statute whenever questions reach them. But they are less enforceable than the dry laws in the '30's. Bootlegging is rampant from coast to coast. Both manufacturers and sellers have abandoned attempts to enforce them. Where producers have not announced the termination of minimum price lists, like Westinghouse Electric and the Sheaffer Pen company, the retailers themselves disregard them. They are cutting prices for standard goods from 20 to 50 per cent.

PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECT—These strange developments have had a psychological effect on customers. The reductions have led them to ask whether previous markups at retail were justified. As a result, they are shopping around, becoming more selective as to price and quality, and although it is an unorganized movement, forcing down the price level.

BUYERS' YEAS—Other factors should make 1956 a buyers' year. Automobile firms, for instance, gave huge discounts or turn-in values in 1955, despite relatively large increases in wages and fringe benefits. But it is not expected that the wage scale will skyrocket so sharply in 1956, or that changes-over in styles will be so costly. More stable labor costs should permit reductions. Moreover, automation is producing many labor-saving devices in production, transportation, storage, distribution and retailing—all for the buyers' benefit.

VIEW OF OTHERS

RUSSIANS, MUSIC AND US
Now that the distinguished Russians, Emil Gilels, pianist, and David Oistrakh, violinist, have been here and heard such a stir as has not been seen since the first emergence of the young Menuhin, we have a thing or two to think about.

THE ALUMINUM HORSE
Caught between the swiftness of the plane and the cheapness of the bus, the old iron horse has decided to revamp itself. In fact, it is on the way to becoming the aluminum horse.

DOUBLED SINCE 1950
A research organization called the Population Reference bureau estimates that the number of people in the United States as of June 1, 1950, was 75,995,000. The estimate for Oct. 1, 1955, comes to 166,077,000.

POT SHOTS

ANENT VALLEYS
Dear Pot Shots: Whoever wrote the article "Idaho? Where's That?" is a little confused at where Sun Valley is.

The article states that Sun Valley is a part of Magic Valley. We never have been or ever will be a part of Magic Valley. This is Wood River valley; always has been, always will be.

POT SHOTS NOTE: The term "Magic Valley" denotes a section of the much larger Snake river valley. Don't look now, but Wood River drains into Snake river, making Wood River valley a part of the Snake river drainage. Get an idea where that puts you? Seriously, the term Magic Valley was coined to denote the counties of Camas, Blaine, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Cassia, Minidoka, Twin Falls and the east portion of Elmore county. Up until folks started using the Magic Valley name, it was referred to as southcentral Idaho.

THAT'D TEACH HIM:
Sir: Anyone who actually wishes for snow should be required to shovel the stuff off every sidewalk in town!

ALL FOR IT
A guy calls up to say he's all for the idea expressed the other day in Pot Shots letter concerning gals checking parking meters.

DON'T GIVE UP
Nearly everytime some pups are offered for free, we call up or go to see about them. And every blessed time, the pups are gone already.

IT WAS, TOO
After Mrs. Pot Shots had managed to pile a fine assortment of junk in the basement, she decreed it should be carried out in the alley the night before the garbage collector made his rounds.

SLIGHT MIXUP?
Dear Pot: Somebody at C. G. Anderson's doesn't know their names. In their ad Sunday: "Faith and begorra lassie, 'tis like a bonnie bit of Scotland."

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

As a side-line during the summit conference in Geneva last July 1, I asked some questions, about the condition and conduct of the press in Switzerland. I soon was lost in a jungle of complexities, but in the months since then I have come to understand though not to reconcile with "free-dom" certain legal provisions which, in our journalism, are either unknown or only implied by other laws covering workweek, vacation and limitation to lesser crimes.

I have been tempted to urge Americans to make substantial mistakes in their income-tax returns, not as a way of availing the government but to reap the effect of a Boston tea party. If ten million of our people and corporations were to do this, the burden of the internal revenue would be so heavy that the apparatus would clank to a stop in chaotic collapse.

This could be done with absolute sincerity or a persuasive pretense thereof because not one person in a hundred can make out a return intelligently on the form provided and no legal compulsion can punish anyone for refusing to pay for expert advice in the performance of a civic duty.

However, I might seem to be trying to instigate a massive sabotage and the horrid ordeal of the innocent patriots in the so-called sedition case dates me in my present subdued condition from court-martialing the order of a defense even with free counsel and as fair a venue as the federal jurisprudence may provide.

So, far from crusading for this tempting stratagem toward reform, I shirk my duty for ignoble reasons and thus, I suppose, forfeit my hope of historic grandeur as a Zenger of my own time.

The Swiss have established in their publications and in the popular understanding of the functions of the press a division between the order of a defense even with free counsel and as fair a venue as the federal jurisprudence may provide.

Like the Americans, the Swiss are capable of self-suppressions and slants in their interpretation and selection of the news. After all, if a great Arthur Hayes Sulzberger, of the New York Times, could so solemnly argue both for and against objective and impartial journalism, the intimated slants of Swiss journalism also may be suspected of error or even guilt in deciding what news is and how to express it.

Among the texts which the Swiss foreign-office obtained for me I found an official work by Karl Weber, professor of journalism and the press at the Universities of Zurich and Berne. This was written at the request of the information and press service of the federal government which thus obviously maintains an attitude toward the press which would be technically meddlesome to Americans although we know that in practice our national government's attitude is similar in many ways.

Doctor Weber declared that "the press faithfully reflects the life and thought of a people, but only to the extent sanctioned by the state."

"In other words," he said, "it is subject to the law." We and the British would see a great difference between this approval of state pressure and forbiddance and Weber's bland explanation that this authority is nothing more than legal status and responsibility.

The professor says "liberty of the press" means both "freedom in the state and freedom from the state." But when he adds that the state's powers are "strictly confined to"

That So!

Mammals Range From Tiny to Huge
Mammals are the most advanced and most important group of animals, at least from our human point of view.

Without them, and particularly our domesticated species, man would probably not be able to survive. . . . at any rate, without some of them; he would have to alter his entire mode of living greatly, both because of the loss of countless insects.

For the present, then, let's consider just what makes up a mammal. In the first place, mammals are unique in that they possess three things which all other animals do not have: They possess true hairs (with the exception of a couple of whales); all produce milk in their bodies with which to feed the young; and all have a four-chambered heart.

One group, the monotremes, including the duck-billed platypus and spiny anteaters of Australia, lay eggs—the only mammals to do so, but they, too, conform to these three mammalian characteristics.

In addition, all mammals breathe air, have warm blood, and vertebrate-like backbones. But these three qualities they share with other groups of animals. For example, birds share all of these; reptiles and amphibians also breathe air, though the latter do so only in their adult stages; and fish, too, have vertebrate backbones.

If small numbers mean anything, then the mammals are exclusive. Of the million and more known kinds of animals living on this earth at present, more than half are insects; a fifth, or around 200,000 are back-boned, and of these only some 4,000 are mammals. (Some authorities place this higher, but just where to draw the line between a species and a subspecies or even individual variations is difficult.)

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of mammals is their extraordinary range of size, form and habits. For size, they range from the tiny shrew that just counter-balances a worn dime to the blue whale, greatest of all living or dead animals, in length and can weigh as much as 340,000 pounds!

In their extraordinary form, they

Speed Zoning Control Eyed To Curb Toll

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—The National Safety council has said it prefers "realistic speed zoning and enforcement" for control of speed on the highways, rather than mechanical devices on cars.

Asked for comment on the proposal of Rep. Walter Norblad, R., Ope., to seek federal legislation that would set top limits on the speed with which cars could operate, the council issued a statement saying:

"The speed control program recommended by committees of the National Safety council does not include governors or any mechanical limitation of speed. It does recommend realistic speed zoning and enforcement.

"Many accidents occur when relatively low speeds are too fast for conditions. Since accidents occur over the entire speed range, the speed control program must be directed primarily at speed too fast for conditions, rather than entirely for speed in excess of arbitrary general limits.

A recent study by the public roads administration shows that 15 per cent of the passenger cars on rural roads were exceeding 60 miles per hour and 85 per cent were under that figure. Reports received by the National Safety council from 20 states show that 12 per cent of the vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling more than 70 miles per hour. For comparison, there were 23 per cent in the 40-50 miles per hour range. The National Safety council believes that the limitations of speed to 70 miles per hour would have most of the accident problem still with us."

Labor-Backed Demo Wins in Eastern Ballot

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25 (AP)—A Democrat running with full labor backing today won the nation's first congressional battle of the 1956 presidential year.

Elmer J. Holland, a state senator and CIO official, ran up a 3-to-1 margin over Republican David J. Smith in a special election yesterday to fill a vacancy in Pennsylvania's 30th congressional district.

Republicans shrugged off the huge Democratic bulge as having no national significance because the Democrats held a 2-to-1 advantage among the district's 191,929 registered voters.

Gov. George M. Leader called the special election to fill a vacancy resulting from the death of Mrs. Vera Buchanan last November.

Returns from 109 of 311 districts gave Holland 35,830 votes to 12,080 for Smith, bettering the 2-to-1 margin by which Mrs. Buchanan beat Smith in 1954. The voting turnout was light.

The district, one of the most heavily industrialized in the nation, repeatedly has given big margins to Democratic candidates running with the support of the United Steelworkers and other labor groups.

Cuts Ordered in Prisoners' Fare

SPARKS, Nev., Jan. 25 (AP)—Ham and eggs is more than most Sparks city councilmen get for breakfast, so they have voted to reduce the fare of prisoners in the county jail.

City Manager C. B. Kinnison told the council $4,100 was spent last year feeding the jail inmates. He said that averaged $1.50 per man per day and is 95 cents more than the Reno city jail's 55 cents per man per day.

Councilman A. H. Olsen said: "We get much at our house." Kinnison said the council voted to cut the inmates' fancy meals, thereby saving enough by next year to buy a police radio transmitter.

Storm Pushes To East, Puts Snow on Area

By United Press

A new snowstorm drove eastward out of the Great Plains today, icing highways in southern Illinois and Indiana. The snows, following fast on the Southern's first major storm of the winter, laid a five-inch blanket from Missouri northward.

In the West, another in a series of Pacific storms which have plagued northern California dumped heavy rains in the lowlands and snow in the mountain areas.

The western snows extended as far east as Nevada, where Reno reported three inches on the ground. Southeast storm warnings were hoisted along the California coast from Point Conception to Cape Mendocino.

The Midwest snows were falling early today from Minnesota southward into Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. Farther south there was drizzle and fog through the lower Mississippi valley.

Earlier, freezing drizzle disrupted communications in western Kansas. The ice caused more than 100 long-distance telephone line breaks, isolating Liberal, Kans., for several hours.

A school bus carrying 17 children skidded off a snowy road at Seneca, Mo., yesterday and returned in a ditch. No one was hurt, but a highway patrol car speeding to the scene also skidded off the road and a second patrol car was blocked by stalled autos.

The snows followed a rash of freezing and hypothermia deaths in the Midwest. Two Kentucky truckers, trying to keep warm during the night by keeping their motor running, were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning near Antigo, Wis., yesterday.

In Indiana, James from a fault, killed and another heater was blamed for the death of a Richmond woman.

A mass of cold air followed the snows in the Southeast. The storm left up to 11 inches of snow in the North Carolina mountains and two to six inches from Tennessee into the Carolinas.

Safe Driving Awards to Be Made in T.F.

National Safety council safe driving awards will be presented to 13 employees of Consolidated Freightways, Inc., at the firm's annual safety awards dinner Sunday evening in American Legion hall, it was announced Tuesday by Mel Carr, Twin Falls terminal manager.

Safety records to be recognized range from one year to 18 years. Two watches will be presented to transport operators for five years of perfect safety. Recipients will be Mont Bankhead and Wendell Martin.

Making the presentations will be State Patrolman Marvin J. Snyder, Burley, who will be substituting for Lieut. Clark Hand.

Awards will also be made to Arnet Green, E. V. Wall, Wayne C. George, Kerbs, Paul Carlson, Vern Hulbert, Bill Weatherly, Lyle Slason, Ted Kirk, Bill Watson, Don Adams and Alford Kyle.

Guests who will attend include William McAdams, Portland, Ore. district transportation supervisor; Robert Haas, Joseph Bennett and Larry Welch, all of Boise.

In addition to the National Safety council safe driving lapel pins, a number of Consolidated's employees will receive citations for safe driving, signed by Art Nichols, director of safety for the council.

Scheele Hails Polio Vaccine Effectiveness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Surgeon-General Leonard A. Scheele, reporting "impressive" results from the Balk vaccine, yesterday asked that congress extend until mid-1937 the program of federal aid in the fight against polio.

Scheele was challenged on some points by Representative Hinshaw, Calif., who called for an investigation before more is added to the 30 million dollars already voted for the program. Hinshaw said the vaccine hasn't been adequately tested.

Scheele acknowledged "there are some differences of opinion among the top scientists." But those who have done the most anti-polio research agree the public health service is "going along the right lines" in its safety and other guides for the program, he said, and added: "Experience during 1935 has shown that the paralytic poliomyelitis rate was more than four times greater among unvaccinated children than it was among vaccinated children in the same age group and same locality."

"This 1935 experience is all the more impressive because the great majority of children had received only a single injection of vaccine."

On the basis of this evidence we are confident that the vaccine is effective in preventing a very substantial percentage of cases of paralytic poliomyelitis."

"Castle in Air" Doesn't Please

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (AP)—A widow's nine-room house partly resembles a castle in the air and she isn't happy about it.

Because of landlids and erosion, the home of Mrs. Edith Taylor now hangs 18 feet over Portero canyon, 300 feet deep.

Municipal Judge Ben Koenig ordered her yesterday not to occupy the house in nearby Pacific Palisades. He ruled it a "menace to life, limb, health, and the public welfare."

When the $75,000 house was built 18 years ago it was 70 feet from the precipice. Now the back door is in the wild blue yonder and the kitchen floor has fallen out, dumping a washing machine, steamer trunk and other possessions into the canyon.

Mrs. Taylor claimed the city is responsible for any trouble, says the erosion was "an act of God." The judge denied her claim.

Rams Window

A 1930 Buick, driven by Roddey Berry, 146 Sunok street, smashed into the front of James Foodliner, Kimberly road, about 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, cracking two of the front glass windows.

Police said Berry told them the brakes on his car failed. The car hopped the curb in front of the store and hit the window.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 25 (AP)—H. W. Wisco company, Boise, submitted the apparent low bid of $54,833 Tuesday for constructing a new operations building, the station and other improvements at the Mountain Home air force base.

Space Crafts Visualized as Weather Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Dr. Harry Wexler believes satellite space craft some day will serve man as global weather patrols.

They would be of "inestimable value," he says, for both short- and long term forecasting. They might even provide advance warning of new ice ages or other great climatic changes of the distant future.

Chief of Division Wexler is chief of the weather bureau's scientific services division. The satellites he has in mind would be bigger and better and farther ranging than the artificial moons this country will launch during the 1957-58 international geophysical year (IGY).

The IGY satellites, instrument-laden spheres weighing only some 2 1/2 pounds, are expected to flash around the globe every 1 1/2 hours in orbits varying in altitude from 300 to 900 miles.

They "will pave the way," Wexler said, to the more elaborate space vehicles he proposes.

Hope Stressed Wexler indicated hopes that the first unmanned satellites will be followed in time by craft capable of carrying human observers.

His weather patrols, manned or unmanned, would travel in pole-to-pole orbits 4,000 miles above the earth, making a round trip every four hours.

They would survey continuously an area as large as North America and its adjacent seas. Their instruments would report the earth's cloud cover and the progress of existing or incipient storms.

Transmit Data They would transmit information on solar energy and meteoric dust hitting the earth and on the quantities of sunlight reflected and heat radiated from the planet. Such space-borne patrols thus would provide information not otherwise obtainable about the "energy budget" which rules all weather events within the atmosphere.

Chief Chosen For Freedom Project Here

BOISE, Jan. 25—James Koutnik, Twin Falls, has been named Twin Falls county chairman of the 1956 Crusade for Freedom, now being organized on a statewide basis, announces State Chairman Hawley Atkinson.

"We feel that the people of Twin Falls county will make a decided effort to do their part and believe that Koutnik will organize the county organization to do a good job," Atkinson said.

"The people of Twin Falls county," he asserted, "always have responded to calls for the underprivileged. In this campaign in support of Radio Free Europe and a free Europe press, our people will have the opportunity to give material aid to downtrodden people who must depend upon every American citizen to keep the torch of freedom burning brightly before them. We expect Magic Valley people to make a great showing."

"Local citizens always are willing to help in such worthy causes," Koutnik said. "We will give them every opportunity to join in this annual campaign."

Koutnik will begin work immediately which will reach a peak during "Freedom Week" when it is proclaimed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie in February.

2 Jail Escapees Caught by Police

BOISE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Two young men who proved the Ada county jail wasn't "escape proof" last Friday have another chance to test their jail-breaking skills.

Boise police and sheriff's deputies last night captured Eugene R. Snyder, 25, Wichita, Kan., and Gilbert W. Wise, Jr., 24, Boise, while the pair was drinking beer in a local tavern. The arrest resulted from an anonymous tip.

Officers said Snyder, who had been serving time for burglary, and Wise, convicted of forgery, had been burglarizing local businesses since their early morning escape.

Deputies took precautions to make sure the two men don't break out again. They were jailed in the nude with only one blanket to share. Officers probing through Snyder's clothing found out how the prisoners cut their way to freedom: There were two holes in the belt strap of his trousers in which the saw apparently had been concealed.

Appointed

BUHL, Jan. 25—James Hart was appointed chairman of the golden jubilee celebration here by Garth W. Atwood president of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday. He will be assisted by Jack Lewis.

Robert Erb, chairman of the merchants committee, reported on special events and closing days for Buhl stores.

Writer's Letterbag Discloses Smith Population Is Growing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail: That there are more than 1,500,000 people named Smith in the United States and the number increases by about 110 every day.

This doesn't include the Smythes, Smythies, Schmitts, Schmidts or Pamiths. That if you pick up a handful of good soil you hold more living organisms in your fist than there are human beings in the entire world.

That American industry in the next ten years will spend $6.5 billion dollars on research and development, more than 1 1/2 times the total expended since the birth of the nation.

That in 1941 only about a million American families owned two or more cars, but now 4.5 million do. But do they fit in to 1941 garage?

That perhaps the most crime-free community in the world is Karakelle, a Turkish village with a population of 450. In the last 99 years not one of its inhabitants has been arrested.

That in autopsies performed on 193 cats killed in highway accidents not one was found to have consumed a wild bird. The stomach contents consisted mostly of mice, young rabbits and rats.

That you may not be able to teach an old dog new tricks. Bill Joseph W. Lippincott, a Philadelphia bird authority, found old crows learned to speak more readily than younger ones.

That the coffee percolator was invented by James H. Mason of Franklin, Mass., in 1865.

That 80 per cent of the successful parlor games now popular in America were invented by amateurs (but please don't send your ideas for new games to me; all I play is "post office").

That physicians for Cesare Borgia, Italian renaissance prince, treated him for malaria by sewing him up for two days inside the carcass of a disembowled mule. He survived, too, and emerged feeling better. Or so the doctors claimed.

That it is safer to drive in the city than in the country. Of the 36,000 fatal car accidents in 1954, some 27,000 occurred in rural areas, only 9,000 in urban centers.

That woman's place is now in the business office as well as in the home. In 1890 men clerical workers outnumbered women eight to one, but today women held a three-to-one edge.

That a "whinnnyburger" is a hamburger made from horsemeat. That a survey made during a heat wave in Chicago showed stenographic errors increased 1,000 per cent.

because of a gradual increase of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. Now, if everybody will just start breathing faster, maybe we can get rid of this cold wave.

That TV actress Betty White of "Life With Elizabeth" says "Men are bigger dreamers, better story-tellers and finer cooks than women." Well, thank you, Betty.

There are only two kinds of camels—the Arabian camel having one hump and the Bactrian having two.

That the half billion common colds caught in America each year cost five billion dollars, an average of $10 a cold—in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses. Can virus "X" match this record? That some scientists believe the world's climate is getting warmer.

PANEL TO MEET HAGERMAN, Jan. 25—The official board of the Methodist church will meet at the church Wednesday evening. All commissions will meet prior to the regular meeting.

Farmer Given Token Check From Bureau

DAVENTRY, England, Jan. 25 (AP)—Farmer David Lloyd reported yesterday he has received nothing from the British government, and has a check to prove it.

The check from the post ministry is for 0 pounds, 0 shillings and 0 pence. Printed across it is a promise that "if presented through a bank within three months the postmaster general will pay the amount stated."

Lloyd, it seems, recently sold six heifers. The local market guarantees farmers a minimum price per pound on such livestock sales. Lloyd's heifers brought more than the minimum.

"So I was entitled to nothing," he explained to reporters, and it seems that the ministry decided they should send me a check for it."

"A clerical error," said a blushing official.

Will Lloyd present his check for payment?

"On the whole, I think not," he opined. "I believe I'll just frame it."

County Shows Accident Drop

SHOSHONE, Jan. 25—Fewer accidents were investigated by the sheriff and his deputy during 1955 than in the previous four years, Sheriff Thomas Conner reports.

Sixty-three persons were fined $2,851 as a result of arrests by the sheriff's department.

Driver's license tests were given to 1,549 persons and $3,977.75 collected. Of that amount, 80 per cent goes to the state and 40 per cent remains in the county.

Sixty-nine prisoners were housed in the county jail during the year with 11 of them on felony charges. In 1954 there were 62 prisoners and four felons.

Papers were served on 89 persons and fees collected amounted to $275.30. An additional 23 persons were sought for process but were not found.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 25 (AP)—Ford Motor company's annual payroll totaled $1,117,563,905 during 1955—the first time in its history it exceeded the billion-dollar mark.

He said the total topped by 129 million dollars the previous record payroll of 1953 and the average weekly pay also was the highest in the company's 53-year history.

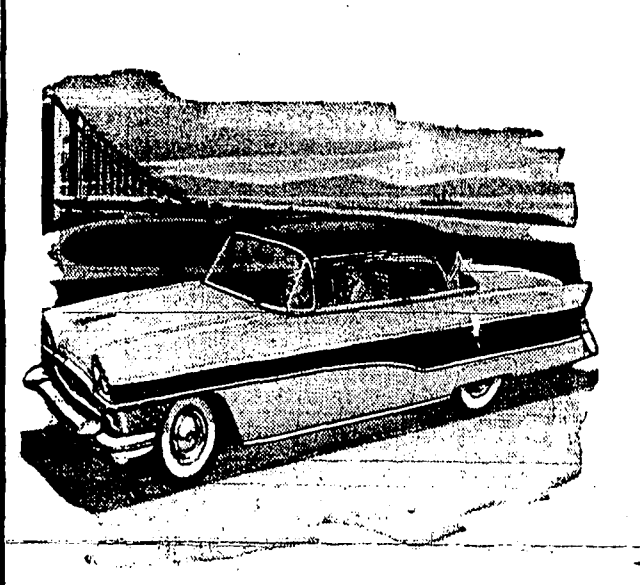

The weekly average was based on 181,616 workers who worked 44.2 hours a week, the spokesman said.

Dworshak Backs Silver Law Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The government has netted nearly two billion dollars through its operation of the silver purchase program, Senator Dworshak, R., Idaho, said yesterday in arguing against a bill to repeal the program.

He said in a statement he had told a recent hearing of the senate banking and currency subcommittee that the program not only yields "a very handsome profit" but also stimulates domestic silver production.

"There is a widespread misunderstanding throughout the country as well as in congress on the present silver program," he said. Advocates of the repeal bill contend the government has lost money through operation of the program.

Knowland Eyeing Added Primaries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Sen. Republican Leader William F. Knowland today eyed the March 13 New Hampshire presidential primary. His Florida supporters wanted him to enter their primary, too.

In New Hampshire Knowland would risk a bruising collision with President Eisenhower, who already has been entered there. It was understood Knowland would be discouraged from taking the risk if he sought the advice of his good friend, Sen. Styles Bridges, one of the dominant figures in the New Hampshire GOP.

A Florida group opened a "Florida for Knowland" campaign yesterday. The group's leader, Joe Miller, Jr., Miami, said a slate of delegates pledged to Knowland would be entered in the state's May 29 primary.

Knowland announces his candidacy before the March 6 filing deadline. Knowland's consent would not be required.

Local Men to Have Role in Beet Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25—Three Twin Falls men are scheduled to participate in the program of the ninth biennial meeting of the American Society of Sugar Beet Technologists here Jan. 31 through Feb. 3, it was announced today.

They are Julian R. Robinson and M. R. Diehl, of the Amalgamated Sugar company, and Albert M. Murphy of the department of agriculture. Johnson and Diehl have collaborated in preparation of a paper to be presented at a session slated Feb. 2. Murphy will appear at another session on the same day.

From 500 to 800 sugar beet technologists from at least five countries are expected to attend the four-day sessions of the society. More than 140 scientific reports will be presented.

"The papers will reflect recent gains in the already dramatic progress of the beet sugar industry in increasing its efficiency in sugar beet production and processing of beet sugar," said P. B. Smith, of the Great Western Sugar company at Denver, society president.

"In just the past seven years, our research and other developments have enabled our industry to increase per-acre production of sugar beets some 20 per cent. At the same time, man-hours required for the production of a ton of pure beet sugar have been reduced about 24 per cent," Smith added.

Price Support Is Asked for Wheat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Legislation to provide 90 per cent price support in for most varieties of wheat grown in the spring wheat area was proposed today by Senator Young, R., N. D.

The measure will be considered as an amendment to the farm bill now under study by the senate agriculture committee.

The types of wheat which would be affected by the Young amendment generally produce the top milling grades. Young long has contended that under the price support programs to top quality products should receive premium supports.

Current Headaches Cause Is Whether or Not Ike Will Run

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—One of the best ways to get a headache is to try to figure out—particularly since President Eisenhower says he hasn't made up his own mind—whether he will run again.

Anyone who reads the Eisenhower record back to 1946 will find even when he does take a position, that what he said yesterday is not necessarily what he will say tomorrow. Here are some examples:

Sept. 28, 1946—he said there was "no possibility of my ever being connected with any political office." Dec. 31, 1946—he said "A man with no party affiliations could not even discuss running for president of the United States."

Up to that time he had never voted, according to a statement he made in 1948. Then he voted three times—1948-1949-1950—and so could refer in 1952 to "my Republican voting record."

Sept. 11, 1947—he said: "I will have nothing to do with partisan politics. It is my conviction, that no man who has spent his life as a professional soldier should enter partisan politics or seek elective office."

Several times more in 1947 he said he would do nothing to do with politics. But when his name was entered in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary in January, 1948, he kept quiet for some days.

Then on Jan. 23, 1948, he said: "I am not available for and could not accept nomination to high political office. . . my decision to remove myself completely from the political scene is definite and positive." His name was withdrawn from the primary.

In 1952, when his name was again entered in the New Hampshire primary, he had 10 days to say whether he wanted it withdrawn. He kept silent. His name stayed in and he beat the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in the primary vote.

This year his name was entered in the New Hampshire primary and at his news conference last week he neither said he approved nor disapproved. So his name stays in.

From December, 1946, to December, 1950, Eisenhower was president of Columbia university. Then former President Truman made him supreme commander of the North Atlantic treaty forces in Europe. By the fall of 1951 Republican politicians began to express publicly their interest in him for president in 1952.

Eisenhower for President clubs started to form. On Jan. 7, 1952, Eisenhower said he was a Republican and if nominated by the Republican convention that year he would feel obliged to accept it.

But he emphasized that under "no circumstances" would he ask to be relieved of his post abroad to seek the nomination itself.

March 10, 1952—he said "In the absence of a compelling call or relief by higher authority, I cannot see in any personal or political circumstance a sufficient warrant for me to leave this assignment during the immediate future."

April 2, 1952—he wrote the defense department, asking to be allowed to return home by June 1. Truman granted the request. May 20, 1952—he said: "I aspire to no public office in the United States."

May 30, 1952—he said he still would not actively campaign for the Republican nomination.

June 1, 1952—he returned home. June 4, 1952—in a speech at Abilene, Kans., he made a slashing attack on the Democrats. Thereafter he was in up to his neck seeking the Republican nomination.

"Wolf Gangs" Attacks Bring Police Action

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—A fatal stabbing capped a week of shocking "wolf gang" attacks last night and police ordered the pickup of every teen-age Chicagoan with a police record.

The unprecedented roundup was touched off by the murder of William McNeff, 20, on a west side sidewalk.

Jumped by Quartet
Four youths jumped McNeff and a friend at the entrance of a restaurant. While McNeff pleaded "for God's sake, don't use that blade," one of the toughs plunged a 12-inch switchblade knife into his heart.

The killing was the latest in a series of "wolf gang" attacks which have shocked Chicago in the past week.

On Sunday night, a gang in the teen-ages pulled a semi-pro football player, 18-year-old Donald Stevens, from his car and beat him unmercifully with a wrench. The same gang swaggered along southwest side streets that night, "jumping anybody who came along," police said.

Clipped Teacher
Last week, two 16-year-olds clubbed a teacher into unconsciousness in an elementary school corridor. Hours after the McNeff murder, Deputy Uniformed Police Chief Robert Ryan ordered the mass pickup.

"Bring 'em in as fast as you can find 'em on the streets," he told his men. "I'm putting an end to this terrible situation right now."

Buying Curb Request May Spark Fights

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower's request for power to curb buying on the curb is likely to split the business and banking worlds sharply.

Many of the members of the powerful federal reserve board think it should again have such standby powers to control consumer credit. But at least one president of a regional federal reserve bank sees little need for it.

Some Protest
And some industrial leaders protest strongly against the steps the government is taking to keep the supply tight and its hiring low. They blame federal credit curbs for the slowdown in home building and see tight and costly credit as threatening to hold down sales of new cars in the months ahead.

President Eisenhower makes it clear in his economic report to congress that present business conditions don't call for direct consumer credit controls now. But he points to the spectacular rise in consumer credits in 1955—a spree that ignored all attempts to control credit by managing the money supply—as an experience which indicates that the authority to control the terms of time-buying "would be a useful adjunct" to the government's existing means of fighting inflation.

Opposition to federal credit curbs comes from two chief sources: (1) the home building and mortgage lending fraternity, and (2) the finance companies supplying the funds and setting the terms on which the citizens can buy autos, appliances or apparel.

Based on Time Buying
They point out that the prosperity of 1955 was based to a large extent on time-buying of the output of the nation's factories and mortgage lending for home building. They argue that if they could not buy on time many, if not most, Americans wouldn't buy the more expensive items at all, since they find it hard to get the cash together all at one time.

As to the record total of consumer debt, now above 35 billion dollars, and the debt of about 88 billion still owed on mortgages, the finance companies and the auto makers argue that it is still in a healthy ratio to the rising national income and that the rate of defaults is very low.

Arm 'Injury' Gets First Aid

Red Cross First Aid Classes Are Launched in T. F. Office

First of a series in Red Cross first aid lessons was given Tuesday night in the American Red Cross office, 160 Second avenue north. Elizabeth Reilly, Twin Falls chapter first aid chairman, was assisted by Mrs. John Pope, first aid instructor. Mrs. Zita Roache is director of the local American Red Cross chapter.

Some 21 Twin Falls residents attended the class. The 18-hour course consists of demonstration and fundamentals as taught in the Red Cross first aid manual. Included are artificial respiration, bandaging, splints and traction, control of bleeding, and treatment for household accidents and diseases.

A recent addition to the Red Cross manual training is the civil defense supplement, teaching first aid on a mass treatment method.

Those finishing the first aid course will be asked to take an additional course in advance study. Miss Reilly said. They also will have a chance to join the civil defense first aid group.

Each year, Miss Reilly added, the Red Cross sets up a first aid station at the rodeo, horse show and at Twin Falls county fair. Those who complete their training will be asked to provide their services at these places.

Odd Drought Is Throttling Peru Farmers

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 25 (AP)—The fertile central zone of Peru, the nation's breadbasket and chief dollar producer, is in the grip of a severe and damaging drought.

The dry spell that began with the advent of the Peruvian spring—fall in the United States—has had its crippling economic effect not only on agriculture but on mining as well.

The few rivers that course down to the sometimes arid coastal areas are far below their normal levels, or entirely dry. Mining of zinc, lead, copper and vanadium is almost at a standstill because there is no water to turn the hydro-electric generators.

The rivers usually are fed by melting Andean snows and spring rains. They descend precipitously from the mountains, in some cases from 16,000

Paid

DENVER, Jan. 25 (AP)—The internal revenue department received a check for $55,256,000 yesterday for three months of income taxes.

The air force finance center sent the check, representing all it withheld from alimen's pay around the globe during the final three months of 1955.

feet to sea level within 125 miles. The waters are the life arteries for fertile valleys that produce Peru's "white gold," the cotton that yields more dollars to the nation's economy than any other product. Rice, the basic Peruvian food, and sugar also have suffered.

Experts blame the drought on an unexplained retreat of the Andean glaciers. This was predicted some years ago when it was observed that winter snows were not sufficiently replacing the melting of the eternal cover over the higher peaks. The snow line had begun to rise.

Man of 100 Wins Pneumonia Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (AP)—He's 100 years old and Jonathan D. Voria, retired mining engineer, continues to confound medical men by his ability to survive pneumonia.

Voria was discharged from Queen of Angels hospital yesterday after winning his third bout with pneumonia in two years.

"I'm still pretty tough," said Voria as he took his grip and left for the home of Mrs. Blanche Rigney, his daughter. "Being around young people keeps me young."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

There is not enough "togetherness" in home and school and society today, and we need it, a lot of it. By that word I mean a feeling of belonging to something and someone for the sake of the strength of spirit that belonging brings.

Our families are likely to be groups of individuals, each with his own interests, his own plans and program. That is fine as far as it makes for independence and self-help, but there is a time in everyone's life when loneliness of spirit overcomes him and he longs to belong to somebody or something where he can feel a comforting nearness.

When a family prays together, sings together, works on a common project toward a common end, this sense of belonging is strong and gives each unit of the group a feeling of importance, strength and power. Too, it brings a certain spiritual sympathy that is finer than bare family loyalty because it has been touched by this spirit.

There need be no fear that a family get-together habit will destroy individuality. We are born individuals and we live that way, alone. That loneliness is a dreaded thing when it falls on the spirit. If a father and son, mother and daughter, or the whole family, form a common taste, a common habit of work and play, they have an insurance against that dread hour when the spirit feels lost in a world of unfeeling strangers.

Kefauver Is Pushing Hard for Party's Nomination, Sheds His Coonskin Cap

(This is the second of four dispatches on the 1952 Democratic presidential hopeful.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver has shaken his coonskin cap. With more dignity, if less sure-fire publicity, he is campaigning again for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Kefauver is 52. He was graduated by his Tennessee constituents in 1948 from the house to the United States senate. He was reelected in 1954.

The senator regained 16 national popularity months before the 1952 Democratic national convention on public interest aroused by his televised investigation of organized crime. He led the field on the first two convention ballots and would probably have been nominated but for the outraged opposition of his party leader.

Kefauver had offended by opposing and defeating President Truman in New Hampshire's 1952 presidential primary. It isn't done. But Kefauver did it. He took his TV show into Chicago, spotlighted a policeman whose bank balance seemed over-large and contributed thereby to the defeat of Democratic Sen. Scott Lucas.

Mr. Truman liked Kefauver with Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois four years ago. Mr. T. says he has no favorite this time, and Kefauver reports they have made up, if not kissed. Maybe so.

The significant thing about Kefauver's candidacy this year is that he is forcing the pace. He announced his candidacy Dec. 15, shortly after Stevenson. Kefauver has signed up for primary elections in Florida, California, New Hampshire and Wisconsin. He is looking Minnesota over, although the former Labor-Democratic organization there is stacked for Stevenson.

But he will meet Stevenson in Florida and California in any event—a man-to-man combat of Kefauver's own choosing. So the chips are down in both states. Stevenson is the front-runner and stands to suffer most from defeat. If Kefauver could beat Stevenson in both states, the chances of the man from Illinois would shrink substantially.

Stevenson and Kefauver each publicly welcomed the other into the pre-convention campaign. The fact is, they are political poison to one another and each knows it. But for Kefauver, Stevenson might have passed up the primaries altogether. It seems that he would have liked it that way.

The senator has another investigation going now—juvenile delinquency. He's chairman of a senate judiciary committee. Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D. W. Va., chairman of the full committee, deprived Kefauver of the plum he wanted. That was chairmanship of the subcommittee to investigate anti-trust and monopoly practices in big business. General Motors recently was on that griddle.

Kefauver rightly figured there would be much good publicity in that subcommittee chairmanship. Kilgore relented a bit. He deputized Kefauver to conduct the Dixon-Yates phase of the subcommittee's work. But the Tennessee has not found a substitute for his televised 1950-51 program of big and little punks.

He has some advantage in the possibility that the party bosses may not be as stubbornly opposed to him now as four years ago. If there was an unbossed candidate who was the people's choice at the 1952 Democratic convention, Kefauver was the man. He had bolsterous rank and file support, especially among younger Democrats. However, if the party leaders are not actively organizing against him this year, neither are they in love with the tall man from Tennessee.

Kefauver is a big man, fit for pro basketball. He isn't handsome but he almost can match Ike's campaign smile. Women always are aware of it when Kefauver enters a room. He likes people close up, doesn't flinch at patting an infant, damp or dry. The senator has a lot more of the common touch than do his principal opponents, Stevenson and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman. They are city folks. Kefauver plays the country-boy role and does it well.

He's a new deal-fair deal candidate, as who isn't, barring those Democrats who couldn't be nominated anyway? He is solicitous about Mr. Eisenhower's health, an attitude generally prevalent among Democrats, most of whom sympathetically insist it would be inhuman to ask Ike to run again.

Kefauver recently described the President as "an outstanding citizen of the world." He said the Republican party was "an awful load for him to pull along." But he has urged the administration, too.

Here are some of his points of view:

Foreign Policy
As of last November, Kefauver figured—the administration's foreign policy "has in large measure been a failure." He said the President's state of the union message failed "to point out how the glaring mistakes of the administration—in foreign policy are to be rectified." And he told New Hampshire voters that the U. S. "has been scaring our friends in the North Atlantic half to death—NATO has been falling apart at the seams and has been held together largely through the efforts of statesmen of other nations."

Security and Defense
"I would feel better if the President's message had given some as-urance that there will be no further attempt to slash the air force and the marines."

TVA
The President submitted "a disgracefully shoddy budget" for TVA. The administration has been "starving TVA to death" for three years and now is trying to "bleed it to death, too." Mr. Eisenhower had proposed that TVA meet most of its future needs by bond issues upon which, of course, TVA would have to pay interest.

Farm
The day after announcing his candidacy, Kefauver told a gathering of Maryland Democratic leaders that Republican "broken promises to farmers" are among "the many issues the Democrats must take to the people." Kefauver is a high subsidy man. He objects to Mr. Eisenhower's program on grounds that (1) it would provide no immediate relief as would a return to 90 per cent of parity payments and (2) a "moral basic objection" that the program is based on a "philosophy of scarcity" instead of surplus to be used for the general welfare at home and abroad.

Labor
He says the Democrats must make a major campaign issue of the Republican party's "ruthless broken promise to labor on the Taft-Hartley act."

Big Business
The relationship among industry, labor and agriculture "has become dangerously unbalanced" by reason of the administration's "big business first philosophy." "We should have a country in which young people will be able to go into business without being pushed around by monopolies and cartels."
