Wind-Torn Rains Bring More Flood Threats for Sodden California Area

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Storm punchy California took another one on the chin today as more wind-whipped rains flashed across the state from one end to the other. As much as six inches of rain was dumped on some sections causing flood threats in at least two areas.

Central and southern California got the worst of it this time. The weather man said light rains would continue this afternoon and tomorrow, but clearing was expected over most of the state late tomorrow.

Winds as high as 69 miles an hour at Blue canyon in the High Sierra and 37 miles per hour at Pt. Reyes on the north coast struck during the night. There was new snow in the mountains above the 3,000 foot level. Eureka reported hail.

There apparently was no threat of serious flooding along the Feather and Russian rivers, which did so much damage during the Christmas week deluge.

But residents of Tulare county battled to hold back the swelling Kaweah and St. John's rivers. A state of emergency was declared late yesterday when the streams approached the danger point.

The new storm followed almost immediately on the heels of a disturbance that brought moderate to heavy rain all over almost the whole state Tuesday and yesterday.

Early today, the city of Visalia, about 200 miles southeast of San Francisco, appeared to be suffering the worst effects of the storm. An obstruction in Mill creek, a tributary of the Kaweah river that flows under the business district, caused water to seep into downtown business establishments. The water pressure sent gears shooting up before an automatic agency. Elsewhere, the pressure caused the sidewalks to buckle.

Nearly 500 persons were evacuated from various parts of Visalia and nearby Farmersville and Camp Lincoln. Two national guard units were ordered into the area to help in the evacuations and to keep order.

Plane Switch, Search Made After 2 Calls

DENVER, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Prompted by a telephone threat that an airliner would be blown up en route to San Francisco, United Air lines officials made a quick change of planes last night.

The four-engined craft, due to depart at 10:50 p.m. was taken off the flight line and another plane substituted. It took off with 31 passengers at 12:34 a.m. after a close search of all freight and luggage.

Probe Started

While a UAL spokesman said the anonymous caller undoubtedly was a "crackpot," police and the federal bureau of investigation nevertheless joined in an investigation.

A dynamite time bomb exploded aboard a UAL plane shortly after its departure from Denver last Nov. 1 and the plane crashed in a beet field near Longmont, Colo., killing all 44 passengers and crew members.

John Gilbert Graham, 24, Denver, has been charged with murder in the case. He is accused of planting the explosives in baggage of his mother, Mrs. Daisy E. King, 54, one of the victims, to collect her life insurance.

3 Calls Made

UAL officials said a man speaking broken English telephoned last night to inquire about flights to San Francisco and was told the next plane left at 10:50 p.m. The same person called a traffic agent about 15 minutes later and told him the 10:50 plane would be blown up.

The search of luggage and freight uncovered no infernal device, UAL reported.

TV Station in Twin Falls Is OK'd by FCC

The construction permit of Magic Valley Television corporation to build and operate a new television station in Magic Valley was reinstated Wednesday by the federal communications commission.

The firm was granted a permit to operate on channel 13, on Nov. 9, 1955. However, the grant subsequently was protested by Southern Idaho Broadcasting corporation, operators of KLIK-TV, with the result that the grant was suspended pending a hearing before the FCC.

The hearing was to have been held in Washington, D. C., last Monday. Prior to the hearing, Southern Idaho Broadcasting corporation dropped the protest with the result that a hearing is not necessary.

Officials of Magic Valley Television corporation, which has been assigned the call letters KHTV for the new TV station, announced that the construction of the new station will be started soon. They also said the station will make available to Magic Valley viewers many nationally popular programs not presently available in this area.

Soviet Letter Is Studied by Eden, Envoy

ABOARD THE QUEEN ELIZABETH Atlantic Ocean, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden conferred today with his aides and U. S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich on the still secret contents of the Bulgarian letter to President Eisenhower.

Contents of the letter from the Soviet premier were wirelessly received by the prime minister on Friday in Washington for study with Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Today's meeting with Aldrich was the second they conferred at since last night after both had received coded messages from London and Washington.

Eden was following a procedure set years ago by his predecessor Sir Winston Churchill. He stayed in official quarters, reading and studying the 24 red dispatch cases before sailing.

Lord Kilmer, lord chancellor and chairman of the investigating committee, visited Eden in London for the exchange of atomic information and other defense secrets.

Valley Talent Benefit Show Draws Crowd

PILER, Jan. 26—About 350 people turned out Wednesday night to swell the polo fund coffers by attending the first of two March of Dimes benefit shows held in the Piler junior high school auditorium. Attendance was more than anticipated with the streets and roads made slick and treacherous by a heavy coating of icy snow.

Master of ceremonies was Tom Alworth. Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mrs. Don Albin and Mrs. Robert Blazock, Jr., were the producers.

The Thursday evening program, beginning at 8 p.m., will have the same numbers and performers, with the exception of the master of ceremonies who will be Mitchell Hunt.

Wednesday night's variety show for the March of Dimes consisted of 15 acts representing many communities from the Twin Falls area. Opening and closing the show were Pep bands of Twin Falls and Kimberly high schools along with cheer leaders and twirlers.

The curtain rose on a production by pupils of the Lucille Townley Dance studio. They included Sharon Leno, Carol Wilcomb, Rae Lake.

Ike, Advisers Ponder Russ Secret Letter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower and his top advisers today urgently studied a new appeal by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin for a revival of the "Geneva spirit" of friendship.

The appeal was contained in a personal letter from Bulganin to Mr. Eisenhower, the contents of which neither the White House nor the Russians would disclose.

Informed sources said, however, that Bulganin's message stressed the need for continued East-West talks to ease world tensions. The sources said the Russian premier specifically proposed renewed negotiations on European security, German unity, disarmament and the lowering of East-West barriers.

These were the topics which the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France failed to agree on at a meeting last fall. They had been ordered to try to work out solutions to them by Mr. Eisenhower, Bulganin, British Prime Minister Anthony Eden, and former French Premier, Edgar Faure at their July "summit" conference at Geneva, Switzerland.

Bulganin was reported to have made some new suggestions in his letter on how the deadlocks might be broken. But it was understood he did not propose a new meeting with Mr. Eisenhower and British and French leaders.

Pfost Improves

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Congresswoman Grace Pfost, D., Idaho, says her husband, John, may return to Washington next week from the Virgin Islands, where he was stricken with a heart attack last month.

Mrs. Pfost called her office from St. Thomas saying her husband was being moved from a hospital to a hotel. Pfost underwent surgery after his attack.

U. S. Readies New Plan on Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—The United States will advance new disarmament proposals at forthcoming negotiations with Russia in an effort to break a U. S.-Soviet impasse, informed sources said today.

Included will be a restudied plan for limiting the number of men kept under arms by major military powers. The exact numbers now favored by the United States is a lightly guarded secret.

Date Not Set

The negotiations will be conducted by the five-nation United Nations disarmament subcommittee which has been holding sessions off and on during recent years. Time of the next meeting has not been set yet, but it is expected to be held either late next month or in March in a European capital.

Members of the subcommittee are the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

Mandate Given

The subcommittee is under a mandate to begin its session with consideration of President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan for aerial inspection. Under it, the United States and Russia would exchange military blueprints and inspect each other's territory through aerial photography, to guard against preparations for surprise nuclear attack.

Russia has complained the plan is not really a disarmament plan at all and has called instead for banning nuclear weapons, limiting the size of military forces and promising never to use nuclear weapons. Soviet propagandists have criticized U. S. lack of an over-all disarmament plan.

French Chief Confers Upon New Premier

PARIS, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—French President Rene Coty conferred today with outgoing Premier Edgar Faure and senate group leaders. He probably will name a new premier tonight.

Coty is expected to name Socialist leader Guy Mollet though former Premier Pierre Mendes-France was reported gaining ground in some political quarters.

Faure, upon leaving the Elysee, presidential palace, said the essential problem was to patch a majority in the split assembly to reform the constitution and pacify Algeria.

"Men and parties are often blinded by rivalries while they are in accord on basic problems," Faure said.

Presidential palace sources said Coty would confer this afternoon with Mendes-France and former Premier Joseph Laniel—who with Faure were the three premiers who have served since Coty's election.

Informed sources said the national assembly would meet Tuesday to vote on Mollet—if he accepts.

There also was a growing demand for a "third force" candidate who could unite the two big center political groups headed by Mollet and Mendes-France and by political rival Edgar Faure.

Benson Urges Reduction in Potato Acres

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson recommended yesterday that growers of the summer and late potatoes reduce their plantings this year. He said an average cut of eight per cent below last year is needed to prevent over-production.

A big crop last year was followed by depressed prices and diversion of part of the crop into starch, other by-products and livestock feed.

Planting guides which are being advisory this year, proposed 1,005,200 acres in late crop potatoes, compared to 1,066,000 planted last year.

The guide for the summer crop was put at 65,000 acres compared with 71,300 last year.

Sharpest cutbacks were recommended for Maine, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California.

The guides by major producing states and the percentage cutback from last year, for each, respectively, included:

Maine 129,200 acres or 17 per cent; Idaho 143,300 or 16; Colorado 53,600 or 6; Washington 29,200 or 25; Oregon 26,300 or 11; California 39,900 or 16.

Top Testimony

The house military appropriations subcommittee summoned Defense Secy. Charles E. Wilson to a closed-door hearing in Washington as they began checking whether President Eisenhower's $5-billion-dollar military budget will keep the United States stronger than Russia. Step Taken Toward Dam Case Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—The U. S. court case has moved a step toward a hearing in the Hells Canyon of appeals. The court yesterday set March 12 for the filing of the first brief in an appeal from the federal power commission's order licensing three private power dams in the Snake river.

The brief will be submitted by lawyers for public power groups advocating the federal Hells canyon dam in the same stretch of the river bordering Idaho and Oregon. They are asking the court to set aside the order granted to the Idaho Power company.

If normal procedure is followed, the court may hear final arguments in the case in late April or May. Lawyers for the FCC and the Idaho Power company are expected to get 25 days for preparation of reply briefs, after the appeal brief has been submitted. The court is expected to schedule oral arguments three to four weeks later.

The case was appealed last August. At a conference yesterday, attorneys in the case agreed as to what issues should be decided by the court. They agreed the basic issues are whether the FCC:

Improperly interpreted and applied provisions of the federal power law; denied the appellants a full and fair hearing as a result of procedural irregularities; erred in denying a motion to dismiss Idaho Power company's license applications, and made findings and conclusions which are unreasonable, arbitrary and unsupported by substantial evidence.

High School's "Slate Clean," Ragland Says

Twin Falls Superintendent of Schools E. H. Ragland said Wednesday night that the new Twin Falls high school can now boast a "clean slate" following a final settlement with attorneys for the Triangle Building Company, Inc., Idaho Falls.

Ragland said a check slightly in excess of $125 was paid to the law firm of Holden and Holden, for the contractor, on Wednesday afternoon after approval by the school board. He said the sum represented the remainder of a $500 item held back to pay for minor repairs and adjustments made by local school authorities.

The difference between the two figures represented compensation to Twin Falls school authorities for the necessary "finishing" tasks. The new high school was occupied for the first time in 1953.

Ragland also reminded the public again that bids on the two new grade school projects will be opened at 8 p.m. Thursday in the junior high school library.

The superintendent said he expected a large crowd to be on hand for the big openings and said school officials hoped many Twin Falls residents would be sufficiently interested to attend. Ragland said the bid openings would be public and anyone may attend.

4 Inspections of Feed Lots Slated For Area Farms

Four feedlot inspections have been scheduled for the annual feedlot tour beginning at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the farm of Duane Ramseyer, four miles north of Filer, according to Donald F. Youtz, assistant county extension agent.

The inspections will be made in the morning followed by a luncheon at the Turf club beginning at 1 p.m., Youtz said.

In the afternoon a panel discussion on livestock feeding problems will be held with Curtis Eaton acting as moderator. The panel will be composed of local feeders, packing company representatives and a University of Idaho specialist, he said.

U.S. Fund Sought To Help Hospitals, Medicine Research

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower asked congress today to authorize a five-year, 250 million dollar program of federal aid for construction of medical schools and other research institutions to step up the nation's "unending war against disease and disability." He said the new facilities are needed to overcome "serious shortages" of physicians, and to make possible a vastly expanded research assault on the mysteries of cancer, heart disease, mental illness and other ailments about which "much remains to be discovered."

The request was the main new feature of a five-point administration program to provide the nation with a "renewed and invigorated attack on our health problems." Mr. Eisenhower outlined the program in a 2,400-word special message to congress.

The President also called for a 28 per cent increase in federal funds for medical research, expansion of private health insurance plans to provide protection against "catastrophic illness," a five-year training program for nurses and medical specialists, and a sharp increase in federal aid funds for construction of hospitals.

Despite "notable advances" in the struggle against disease, the President said, "the nation still has not summoned the resources it properly and usefully could summon to the cause of better health."

"Thus further effort," he said, "... should be a characteristically American partnership—a partnership in which private and governmental enterprise are joined together to advance the national welfare."

He said the nation's medical research and teaching institutions are "inadequate to meet the human needs of the nation."

"I therefore recommend that congress enact legislation authorizing 250 million dollars for a five-year program to assist in construction of research and teaching facilities for schools of medicine, osteopathy, public health and dentistry and other research institutions."

Funds Required

Mr. Eisenhower said institutions receiving federal grants "would be required to supply at least equal amounts in matching funds" of their own.

The five-year program posed by Mr. Eisenhower today is almost identical with two Democratic-sponsored bills which the administration declined to support in congress last year. Informed sources said the policy shift can be attributed to Marion B. Folsom, who succeeded Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as health secretary a few months ago.

The Democratic bills would provide about 60 million dollars a year—compared to Mr. Eisenhower's proposal of 50 million dollars a year—for medical schools and research construction.

Need Stressed

Mr. Eisenhower said there is an urgent need for expanding voluntary health insurance coverage to protect more Americans with protection "against the costs of long-term illness."

George Is Backing Rigid Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Sen. Walter F. George today put his powerful support behind a congressional drive to restore rigid farm price supports on basic crops.

George's statement followed predictions by Democratic and Republican members of the senate agriculture committee that a rigid support bill will be sent to the senate floor.

The Georgia Democrat said the nation's farmers need immediate financial relief. He expressed confidence that congress will provide it by voting for a return to rigid price supports.

The Eisenhower administration has proposed a farm program featuring a soft bank to aid the price-squeezed farmer. But the administration wants to keep price supports flexible.

George said the soft bank "has some good features," but its benefits would be mostly long-range.

Other congressional developments:

Al Sarena—Interior Undersecretary Clarence A. Davis went before a joint congressional subcommittee to tell his story of the disputed Al Sarena mining claim grants in Oregon. Davis wrote the decision awarding full title to claim in some 400 acres of rich timberland to Al Sarena Mines, Inc., Mobile, Ala. Democrats charge the claims were a timber grab.

Investigations—Democratic-controlled congressional committees are asking for record sums to finance election-year investigations. A hot political war may be shaping up over the appropriations, in the house the issue is whether to grant a government operations committee request for an extra $625,000. This would give the committee a total of $1,120,000 for the two-year congressional session, a new record.

Schools—Despite President Eisenhower's pleas, the house civil rights bloc went ahead with plans to tie a no-segregation amendment to the school aid bill. One of the bloc's leaders, Rep. Adam C. Powell, Jr., D., N. C., said the president "must not have thought through very carefully" his recommendation that the house not include the school bill with the integration issue. Powell predicted the integration amendment would lose any vote—because of the President's plea.

Committee—The senate rules committee approved a proposal to create a joint congressional committee on the office of the President. The committee would study all aspects of the election, succession and duties of the President and Vice President.

Wintry Scene For Valley Is Shifted North

Wintry weather shifted its locale to the northern part of Magic Valley Thursday and dumped five inches of new snow on Halley and surrounding areas. The snow, light and fine, was being whipped some by the wind but no roads were reported closed at noon.

Up to 8 a.m. Thursday Halley had 17 inches of snow on the ground. The new fall of snow had only 24 of an inch of water in it.

The district highway office at Shoshone reports three inches of new snow at Carey and a like amount at Shoshone. All roads in the district are open but snow covered and slick.

The snow that was falling in the lower valley stopped Wednesday night. No roads were blocked by the combination wind and snow but on Thursday Jerome reported the wind was shifting the new fallen snow considerably. Rupert and Burley reported approximately three inches of new snow and some wind.

The entire valley was overcast Thursday and temperatures were considerably lower than they have been for some time.

Salk Is Given Golden Medal At Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk today received a gold medal from a grateful nation and praise from President Eisenhower for his "great achievement" in developing a vaccine against polio.

In a glittering ceremony at the health, education and welfare department, Health Secretary Marion B. Folsom read a letter to Salk from President Eisenhower, which said:

"Through dedicated and selfless effort, in the best traditions of medical research, you have brought new hope to mankind in the continuing battle against a dread disease... I am confident that the entire nation joins me in lasting gratitude and appreciation."

Work Praised

President Eisenhower, whose restricted schedule prevented his presenting the medal in person, originally proposed the rare honor.

The gold medal, only the third in history to be awarded for a victory against disease, was struck by the U.S. mint under an act of congress passed last year.

No Cash Authorized

Rep. Irwin Davidson, D., N.Y., sponsored the bill that authorized the government to spend $2,500 on the medal but congress, in the adjournment rush, never got around to putting up the cash.

It was learned, however, that a friend and admirer of Salk contributed the necessary money through the national foundation for infantile paralysis.

Board Sets Meet On School Plans

BOISE, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—John Hewitt, president of the Boise school board, says the board probably will meet Monday to make a definite decision on another site for the city's proposed second high school.

Voters Tuesday defeated a proposed $1,000,000 bond issue for construction of the building on land already owned by the school district.

The vote was 68 per cent in favor, less than the necessary two-thirds majority. A proposal for a $1,000,000 bond issue was turned down by voters last October.

Crash Kills 3

ENID, Okla., Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Three Vance air base officers were killed shortly before noon today when their B-29 bomber crashed on a training flight about five and one-half miles northwest of Washouli in Garfield county.

Officials at Vance said they were still investigating the crash scene. The names of the dead are being withheld until the next of kin are notified.

Self-Governing Plan Falters; Tunisia Rebels Begin to Stir

TUNIS, Tunisia, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Isolated rebel bands and grenade-hurling terrorists have begun to reappear in Tunisia after 18 months of faltering progress toward self-government.

Most of the outbreaks, which began two weeks ago, have been small, but they underline the political and economic crises of the French North African protectorate.

Nationalist violence all but ceased after Pierre Mendes-France, while France's premier, made his dramatic flight here in July, 1954, to offer Tunisians a large measure of autonomy.

Habib Bourguiba, popular leader of the nationalist Neo-destour party, returned from exile to a tumultuous welcome. Moderate nationalist Tahar Ben Amr was named premier, and the two men began negotiating with the French and working at home to improve Tunisia's lot.

Mendes-France's regime toppled before he was able to attain his goal. But his successor, Edgar Faure, carried through to parliament approval of a program of partial home rule last August.

The new setup gave Tunisians considerable control over their home affairs, but the French continue direct defense and foreign relations for the protectorate.

Friction arose when Bourguiba's once-close friend in the Neo-destour Salah Ben Youssef, refused to go along with anything less than full independence. Ben Youssef began denouncing the agreements with France.

Bourguiba, who said only recently "embasies in Pakistan or Indonesia" would be only a facade for his poor country, voiced satisfaction with the agreements as a major step toward independence.

Thus far, Bourguiba and his moderates appear to be winning over the extremists, but in its year and a half of life, the new government has only begun to deal with the poverty and unemployment besetting too many of Tunisia's 3 1/2 million people.

Idaho Man to Get Honor for Heroic Action

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Idaho is the home of one of the persons honored yesterday by the Garmage Hero commission for acts of heroism.

He is John J. Echevarria of American Falls, named one of the recipients of the bronze medal for his part in saving 6-year-old Byron R. Hadley from drowning last summer.

Echevarria, 38-year-old auxiliary operator of a power plant at American Falls, saved the boy when he tumbled into the deep waters of the Snake river last May 28.

When he saw the child drifting rapidly toward a power-plant dam where water was being drawn by turbines through submerged openings, Echevarria ran 200 feet to the top of a low wall and dived in.

The boy's father jumped into the water at the same time and the two men swam cross-current until they were within six feet of the floundering lad.

The boy's father then swam under the water but couldn't lift Byron out. They were only 30 feet from the nearest turbine opening.

Echevarria, who could feel the strong pull of water to the openings, spotted the lad just below the surface.

He grabbed hold and pulled upward as the father tot his hold on the child.

Echevarria then towed the lad to a nearby wall where they were helped from the water by another man. The father also safely reached the wall.

Rugged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (U.P.)—Here's a report on the rugged life in the nation's capital.

Snow fell in the District of Columbia last night.

Today, schools were closed, emergency traffic regulations were in effect.

The snowfall measured one-third of an inch.

CAP to Hold Cadet Parley Here Sunday

A civil air patrol roundup for cadets from Rupert, Burley, Buhl and Twin Falls will begin at 10 a. m. Sunday in the Reeder Flying service hangar at Joalin field, reports Jack Farrar, public information officer for the Twin Falls CAP squadron.

Dwight Shaw, commander of the local squadron, urged all youth of high school age interested in the CAP cadet program to attend. Shaw said there would be orientation flights in a C-47 or a C-45 from the Mountain Home air force base.

Air force liaison officers expected for the roundup include Maj. Jack R. Miller, Boise, and Lieut. Col. Greenwald, Licut. Col. Sauter, both Denver. Don Brownhill, Denver, civilian-technical specialist, also is expected.

The officers will show films, hold panel discussions and answer questions pertaining to the air force for prospective cadets.

Radio communication demonstrations will be another part of the program. Ground-to-ground communications and ground-to-air hookups will be set up, Farrar said.

Refreshments will be served, Farrar said. He added he expects the roundup to last about four or five hours.

'Forum on Faith' Planned Tonight

A "Forum on Faith" will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. today in the Presbyterian chapel, reminds the Rev. Donald B. Blackstone, pastor.

The forum is a point by point study of the basic beliefs of the Christian faith as contained in the Bible. The purpose is to help all interested Christians become more confident and intelligent in Christian faith and life.

Interested persons may sign up in the church office and obtain a study outline. The sessions will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. each Thursday. Everyone is welcome.

Weather

Magic Valley—Mostly cloudy tonight and tomorrow with occasional light snows and wind tonight. Afternoon temperature tomorrow near 30, low tonight 13 to 20, low next night 15, 21 at 8 a. m. and 25 at noon. Depth of snowfall Wednesday 2 1/2 inches.

Farmers Told To Watch for Poison Weed

Clifford Davis, agricultural chairman, warned members of the Twin Falls Grange Wednesday to watch for creeping European bluebell weeds.

This weed spreads faster than any of the noxious weeds in Idaho, he said. It has been found in eastern Idaho.

At present, Canadian thistle is the worst farm weed in the state with an estimated acreage of 233,000, Davis reported. The second menace is wild morning glory, he said.

The group discussed proposed freight rate increases following a talk on the subject by Vernon Hulberg, Consolidated Freightways executive.

Grange members voted to donate $25 to the March of Dimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Glick were elected assistant steward and lady assistant steward, respectively, and Mrs. Harmon Ripley was elected Flora.

Mrs. Ivan Bodensick gave a reading and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Carr were accepted as new members.

Members were asked to bring friends, along with card tables and sandwiches to the card party at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Hosts were Mae Mitchell, Mrs. Elva Olsen and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis.

Loan Firm to Hold Meeting

The regular meeting of stockholders of the Twin Falls National Farm Loan association will be held at the American Legion hall at 11:45 a. m. Feb. 1 to select three directors for three-year terms and transact other business.

A free dinner will be furnished by the association for members and guests.

The principal speaker will be the new president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, Fred A. Knutsen.

A program consisting of music and other entertainment is being prepared by the board of directors.

A new office building is under construction on lots recently bought from the Idaho Power company. These lots are directly across the street from the Production Credit association office on Third avenue east. The firm has never owned its own quarters.

The association has closed 96 farm loans representing $97,000 for 1955. Stockholders shared in dividends for the year amounting to $9,197.

4 Buhl Area People Hurt In Collisions

Your Buhl area residents were injured in two traffic accidents about 3 p. m. Wednesday as several crashes were attributed to icy roads.

One was a two-car collision about one mile north of the Clear lakes grade, four miles west of Wendell. In the other mishap a 1955 Buick slid into a power pole at the intersection of the Castleford and Deep Creek roads at the edge of Buhl.

Jimmy Morris, Buhl, and Les Durfee, also Buhl, were drivers of vehicles which collided on the West Point highway west of Wendell. Mrs. Morris was taken by ambulance and Durfee by a passing motorist to private physicians in Buhl for treatment. Both were released.

According to Gooding County Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn, Morris was traveling south and was making a turn onto a county road when the crash occurred.

Bunn blamed slick roads for the accident and said damage to the Durfee vehicle would amount to about $800, while the Morris automobile was damaged to the extent of approximately $500.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Higbie, who live on a rural route, Buhl, were shaken when their car skidded on the snow-packed roads near Buhl city limits and smashed into a power pole. Some of the power lines were torn down by impact of the car, but there were no reports of a power failure.

Mr. and Mrs. Higbie were treated by a private physician and returned to their homes. Mr. Higbie sustained a cut lip. Several traffic accidents in Twin Falls were attributed to icy streets. There were no injuries and most of the cars were damaged only slightly.

Cats driven by Richard W. Denning, 841 Morningstar drive, and Cordis B. Northrop, route 4, Buhl, collided about 1 p. m. Wednesday at Five Points east.

Mrs. Archie Langdon, 287 Taylor street, lost control of her car about 1:15 p. m. and skidded into a power pole at the intersection of Sixth avenue and Third street north.

Damage to the automobile was slight but a light supported by the pole was knocked into the street.

At 1:25 p. m., vehicles driven by Charlotte W. Crockett, route 2, Hansen, and Lawrence W. Loughmiller, route 4, Buhl, collided at Five Points east. The Crockett car was damaged to the extent of approximately $400. The Loughmiller automobile was not damaged.

Harold P. Dillman, 235 Harrison street, and John W. Hardy, 1403 Sixth avenue east, were drivers of automobiles that collided about 2:45 p. m. at the intersection of Third avenue and Second street north.

Damage to both cars was reported slight.

Two automobiles collided about 5 p. m. at the intersection of Sparks street and Filer avenue west. Drivers of the vehicles were Lill McClure, 600 Sparks street, and Jewell C. Wells, 339 Orchards drive. The McClure car was damaged on the right front fender, estimated at $50. Damage to the Wells vehicle was estimated at $75 for the left front fender and grill.

Mrs. Frahm Paid Last Honor Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Frahm were held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel with the Rev. Raymond W. Balshoff officiating.

Music was provided by Mrs. Blake Froehlich and Mrs. Joe Froehlich, Jr. Organist was Mrs. Stanley Phillips.

Pallbearers were Blake Froehlich, Floyd Patterson, William Bailey, Joe Froehlich, Jr., Donald McCloud and Charles H. Colner. Honorary pallbearers were Joe Froehlich, Frank Horach, A. E. Gray, D. A. Patterson, James Slyter, Charles Colner, Keith Jenkins, William Gill and Charles Abrams.

Concluding rites were held in Sunset Memorial park.

term of office—especially expensive illness, which can be a financial catastrophe for many families.

Those particularly needing better coverage, he said, are elderly people, those living in rural areas and the self-employed who are not reached in group plans.

He said he is considering legislation which would permit private insurance companies to pool their risks to "offer broader benefits and expanded coverage on reasonable terms."

But he warned as he did in his budget message that if this idea doesn't work out, he will again ask congress to enact his twice-shelved plan for federal "reinsurance" of private health policies.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Why do retail prices for food, especially meat, remain so high, when the farmers' desperate plight is so obvious? Why do the prices of eggs, an annual cost of hundreds of millions of dollars? Why have farmers and consumers' costs mounted simultaneously with a precipitous drop for basic commodities at the source? Why is almost every body living and eating "high on the hog" except the men who produce and raise the animal for market?

Numerous agencies at Washington are seeking the answer to these questions more seriously than ever before, including hard-headed economists and statisticians. Secretary Ezra T. Benson's marketing experts are tracking the problem from farm to table. The federal trade commission has sent its sleuths into processing plants, warehouses, distribution centers and retail outlets, trying to account for the huge spread between farmers' receipts and housewives' bills.

House and senate agricultural committees, dominated by Democrats, are conducting their own inquiries, with an eye on the farmer-consumer vote. Rarely before, despite many half-hearted and demagogic attempts, has there been such an intensive scrutiny of our food-marketing system. The reasons for the concern, political and economic, are startling.

FARMER GETS ONLY 15 CENTS OF DOLLAR.—The farmer now receives only 15 cents of the consumer's food dollar, as against a record 53 cents in 1945. But the retail purchaser has not enjoyed proportionate benefits, for he pays 59 cents on each dollar for food, compared to only 48 cents 10 years ago. And the farmer is shelling out from 20 to 50 per cent more in production costs.

Where does the in-between amount—the difference between the farmers' "take" and the consumer's "pay"—go?

Benson's non-political market experts have compiled tentative figures in a farm-to-table breakdown. They present the best available figures as of today.

PROCESSOR'S WHOLESALER'S SHARE.—The first amount which they extract from the food dollar is the 30 cents paid to the farmer on his farm, which usually represents a loss to him. Next comes an estimated 26 cents for processing and wholesale handling and distribution of the product.

The processor's net profit from each dollar amounts to about 14 cents, with one-cent going to the wholesaler. Each pays one-cent in federal taxes, 19 cents for labor, and 13 cents for processing and packaging. The transportation costs, including truck and railroad hauls, amount to seven cents.

The grocer's tap on each dollar is about 18 cents, with a net profit of one cent on the dollar. He pays one cent in U. S. taxes, nine cents for labor, and seven cents for all other business costs—rent, heat, electricity for lighting and refrigeration, local and state taxes, spoilage, advertising, depreciation, supplies.

So, here is how it adds up: Farmer, 30 cents; processor and wholesaler—36 cents; transportation—seven cents; grocer—18 cents.

LABOR'S COST OFFSET BY FACTORS.—Labor is estimated to account for about half of all food costs, and wages have been increased all along the line in the last 10 years. But several factors offset this charge on retail food costs, such as labor-saving equipment and greater productivity. But everything else, from taxes to transportation and insurance, has gone up in the postwar decade to make the food itself the least expensive item in a family's budget.

Moreover, as Benson's men note, a housewife now enjoys a "built-in maid service" from the use of packaged and frozen foods and meat already cut for the oven or electric broiler. She can prepare a meal in one hour instead of the three or four hours which her mother slaved in a hot kitchen, leaving her more time for the children, for bridge, or for an outside job. Finally, never did a people eat so well, with a possible reduction in food bills.

However, the marketers insist that there is room for reducing farm-to-table costs, and this problem will be discussed in a future article.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

FOREIGN AID AND CONSTITUTION.—The congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States.—U. S. Constitution, Art. 1, Sec. 8.

Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah believes the constitutional provision quoted above means what it says; that it does not mean congress shall also have the power to raise money for the defense, general welfare, support and tax reduction of foreign nations.

Accordingly, the Republican governor of Utah announced last fall that he was not paying federal income taxes on what he earned in private business. He repeated this defiance of the internal revenue service the other day, by saying he is filing his 1955 return in the regular way but sending no money with it, and earnestly wants a court showdown fight with the treasury department.

The best the government can do for itself, if it has the nerve, is to sue Lee in the federal courts for the taxes it believes he owes.

A decision against the government would blow down our whole system of foreign economic and military aid. For this purpose in the current year, the Eisenhower administration wants congress to put up almost 5 billion dollars in which connection, an interesting table of figures on federal income tax yields has recently gotten into circulation.

The table shows that about 84 per cent of the approximately 80 billion dollars the government will collect from personal income taxes this year will come from the basic tax of 20 per cent. Only 16 per cent—a little under 5 billion dollars—will come from the progressive taxes, which range from 2 per cent to 71 per cent.

So if all personal income taxpayers were to tell the government they'd pay 20 per cent and not a cent more, and the government were to take this defiance as lamely as it has taken Lee's up to now, the government wouldn't get that near 5 billion dollars to toss to the four winds. It would have to live strictly up to Art. 1, Sec. 8 of the Constitution.

BALLAD OF THE TIPS.—There's a town in California named Twenty-nine Palms. These are trees. But there's many a big city in the U. S. (and some not so big) that can boast more palms than Hawaii—and all of them upturned.

These thoughts are provoked by the news that a former head waiter at a New York hotel has been indicted for allegedly failing to report $47,000 in tips over a four-year period while making out his federal income tax returns. Many an ordinary citizen would be willing to pay for a job like that. Moreover, the hotel discloses that it collected between $500,000 and $1,000,000 annually in tips for distribution among waiters.

Tippling, presumably, started out as a reward for good service—a token of friendship between patron and waiter or bellhop. But those days have gone forever. A tip is now a bribe, and a moderate tip will often draw as scornful a sneer as no tip at all.

There's probably a sociological lesson in this. (Who remembers the slogan "No Tippling! Tippling is not American?") We won't go into that. But those New York waiters might rewrite a popular ballad as their theme song: "Sixteen trays, and what do you get? One day older, and a share in a million dollar kitty!"—Salt Lake Tribune.

LONGEVITY.—According to Russian newspapers, the Soviet Union has 717 residents who are more than 110 years old, 40,000 who are over 90 and 4,235 between 100 and 110. A woman living in the Caucasus is said to be 145 and a man in Georgia is said to be 136. The oldest person in the world, according to the same authority, died recently at 180, in, of course, the Soviet Union.

The first thought that occurs to most people is that living in the Soviet Union probably makes everybody feel like a centenarian. In other words, these people are not really the age stated; they just feel as if they are.—Los Angeles Times.

POT SHOTS

AND SO IT GOES!
Hi Pot Shot:
Let's get this "lay" and "lie" business settled and forget it. "Lay" means to place or put. "Lie" means to take a position, usually a reclining position. NOTE:
Lay—Laid and have laid—Place, placed and have placed.
Lie—Lay and have lain—Recline, reclined and have reclined.
Examples: I lay (placed) the baby on the bed and she may lie (recline) there quietly all morning.
The hen can lay an egg in the nest and it may roll out into the straw and lie there unbroken.
"Animate" and "inanimate" has nothing to do with the meanings of these two verbs.—College Graduates should have gone back to college and taken a post graduate course in English grammar.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE.
Dear Pot Shots:
"College Graduates" should have stopped at the eighth grade. The coat was lying on the ground, not laying.
The child lay the coat on the ground but after he left it there it was lying. Animate or inanimate does not determine the use of the verbs "to lie" or "to lay" which show action or a state of being.
Almost an Eighth Grade Graduate (Twin Falls)

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.
We have three puppies that we would like to give away to a good home. They are 11 weeks old and are English shepdog and white collie. They should make good children's pets and stockdogs.

ESTABLISHED FACT?
Maybe someone else can answer this question. Apparently it is an established fact, but we don't know why the worst storms in this area come from the east.
The question was put this way: "Why does it get so blamed cold whenever a storm blows in from the east and why do the worst storms always come from the east when the prevailing wind is from the west and southwest?"
Apparently this assumes that the worst storms do come from the east. Maybe some of you good constituents who are weather-minded can shed a little light on the subject. In case you failed to notice, the wind was blowing from the east when the snow hit Twin Falls. When the east wind stopped, the storm stopped.
Anyone got an explanation?

FAMOUS LAST LINE.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—While all the unhappy consequences of Secretary of State Dulles' interview with Lays magazine are not yet evident, the shadow of doubt that it has already cast on the efforts to maintain a constructive bipartisan foreign policy in an election year is already obvious.

This comes at a time when the West is confronted with a new challenge—its position in the cold war struggle between the two YAVAs of life. The interview was a propaganda weapon thrust into the hands of those who could turn it against us most effectively.

Here at home the question of economic aid for underdeveloped countries, already the subject of political juggling and hauling, bulgarian and jeoparded. Martha White Khrushchev of their tour of Southeast Asia held out promises of assistance along with pledges of peace. The Dulles "brink of war" boast has caused in explosive reaction in the populous countries of Asia that have been reluctant to commit themselves irrevocably in the cold war.

Politically in this political year the Dulles statement has served to harden the attitudes of those who are for an all-or-nothing, either-or, pro-white foreign policy. In the past, Dulles has resisted these pressures, coming out from within his own party, as best he could. But now he seems to have invited the kind of reaction that is expressed by "give the neutrals nothing, make them sign up with us."

This hard-bolled attitude "suits the communists down to the ground" because it is an opening for them to say, "we don't demand that you sign up with us. We just want to sign up with you as friends."

That was what Bulganin and Khrushchev said in India and Burma. And while in the West are sure that this is the invitation to the lady who went for a ride on the tiger, in the East where pride and sensitivity are so strong it is taken as a proffer of disinterested friendship.

The discrepancies between the record of the past and the statements in the interview, which is not in direct quotations are nevertheless made on the authority of Dulles, lays troubling doubts about the veracity of the record itself. These discrepancies are likely to haunt the secretary of state for a long time to come. Many of them have been pointed out in indignant editorials in newspapers of right and left in the capitals of American allies and even in normally friendly newspapers at home.

As to the timing, it could hardly have been worse. The interview was given on Dec. 1. It came to light two weeks before Prime Minister Anthony Eden's long-scheduled visit to Washington and on the eve of Dulles' own trip to Asia. The relationship between Dulles and Eden has never been warm and the interview, by raking up their differences, sure, is hardly calculated to improve it.

Last but far from least, the interview has sharpened party and partisan division. It can be argued that this would have happened in any event in an election year. Certainly, four years ago the Republicans went all out to make the foreign policy of the Democrats perhaps the bitterest issue of the whole campaign. But to invite partisan attack, as the Dulles interview by its white-hot added incentive where none was needed, the Democrats, particularly those on the senate foreign relations committee, have been exceptionally kind to Secretary Dulles.

Even the friendliest opposition senators are now, however, in a critical and doubting mood. The interview came in the aftermath of two episodes—they can charitably be called misunderstandings—that irritated both Republicans and Democrats. Congressional leaders of both parties were called to the White House on Dec. 13, many of them traveling considerable distances from their homes, to be briefed by Dulles on the state of the world and administration policy.

Two days after they had left they read in the newspapers that the administration would ask for an additional two billion dollars in foreign aid. No one at the conference remembers hearing such a statement.

Nor were congressional leaders informed that the administration intended to ask for economic aid on a 10-year basis. As one friendly senator put it: "And all this in one month." He might have added that it was the critical month in which the leaders in congress begin to shape the decisions that determine the course of American policy.

Dulles' defenders have said the whole thing is yakey-yak—a tempest in a teapot. This blithely ignores the fact that yakey-yak, if it is to be called that, has echoes in the farthest corners of the earth and that goes for the yakey-yak on the unhappy interview.

Making of Jokes (?) Listed As Major American Industry

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Joke-making has become a major American industry.

There are naturally those who say the "joke" industry—and it is an annual report.

The National Laugh Foundation, already preparing to celebrate National Laugh Week, which begins April 2, has just put out its report on 1955.

Here are the items:

The 34,000 question, Davy Crockett, The Yellow Rose of Texas, Love Is A Many Splendored Thing, do you yourself, the overseas trips of Dulles, the Princess Margaret romance, automation, satellites and Liberace.

The report cites the following as typical 1955 victims:

A Texan bought his wife a Cadillac for a present. She turned to him and said, "Dope, what question did you miss?"

John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, was seen recently in Washington, D. C. on one of his visits to the U. S. A.

Red Influence Is Growing in Asiatic Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—American officials fear that primitive Afghanistan is becoming dangerously involved with Russia. Such a course could lead to Soviet domination over the mountainous Asiatic country which nestles on Russia's southern flank. Russia is anxious to gain a controlling hand over Afghanistan because this would drive a wedge into the anti-Communist Baghdad pact being forced along Russia's southern border.

Arms Offered
The latest Communist move was a reported offer of cheap Czech arms to Afghanistan. London reports said the Czechs offered a wide range of modern weapons to Afghanistan and that other aid would be available from Russia if the Afghans asked for it.

The Afghans apparently have been looking into the possibility of getting some new weapons to modernize their almost feudal forces. American officials said the Afghans have raised the question with the United States informally from time to time but have not presented a specific request.

Authorities said the United States could not consider the question of supplying arms to Afghanistan seriously until some formal request is made.

Keeps Watch
Meantime, the United States is keeping a close eye on Communist efforts to draw Afghanistan closer to the Communist orbit. Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Russian Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev made a strong appeal to the Afghans by visiting their country recently.

The United States has countered the Soviet campaign by extending aid. Since 1951, the United States has given Afghanistan about $7,500,000 in aid which has helped dams and irrigation works and train badly needed teachers.

“Earlier Life” Of Man Given Under Trance

By ALFRED LEECH CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—It seems I was a hill billy in a “previous life.” At least that’s what my session with Hypnotist Arthur Ellen would indicate.

I don’t believe a word of it, and told Ellen so. He smiled, but wouldn’t commit himself either way. Ellen is the fellow who hypnotized a girl on television in a $100,000 show-down. This tidy sum, stacked on a table within arm’s reach, was hers if she could pick it up. But under his spell she couldn’t.

Works Fast One of the few nightclub performers paid to put his audience to sleep, Ellen works fast. Within seconds, I was under. Ellen’s voice seemed far away. I was standing at the time, and I remember I was falling backward. I recall his catching me as I rocked back on my heels.

Seated in an easy chair, I could not arise. I remember struggling to get up, finally falling back breathless. My colleague, Bruce Johnson of United Press, said I was red in the face from the exertion.

Story Taped After that I don’t remember too much, but a tape recording told the sketchy story of my “earlier life.” It was a weird experience listening to the recording of what I had said under hypnosis.

The first scene I “recalled” was a bear emerging from the mouth of a cave. The year was 1870 and I was 21. It was somewhere in Kentucky, I didn’t know exactly where. There were men and women standing around, and there was a fat man with an axe over his shoulder.

Died of Fever I lived in a cabin by the fork of a river, and I died in bed at the age of 30. I knew I was going to die because I had a fever. But there were a couple of important items I failed to recollect. I didn’t know my name, and I couldn’t tell exactly where I lived.

Recalled Childhood Before the “previous life” experiment, Ellen took me through “age regression” back to my third year of this life. Bears, I had a red automobile, one of those little cars kids sit in and push with pedals.

Federal Jury Indicts Three In Bank Theft

BOISE, Jan. 26 (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted James Henry “Blackie” Audette and two other men for the $300,000 burglary of the First National Bank of Cottonwood, Idaho, Oct. 29, 1955.

Charged with entering the bank and stealing the funds were Audette, Walter Clyde McClure and Donald Duane Hall. All three are in custody.

U. S. Atty. Sherman Purrey, Jr., said action would be taken to bring Audette here from Portland, Ore., where he was arrested last week on a U. S. commissioner’s complaint from Boise.

He said detainers had been placed against McClure at McNeil Island federal penitentiary, Wash., and Hall at the Washington state reform school at Muncie. Both are serving sentences on other charges.

The federal bureau of investigation announced last week that lengthy questioning of McClure led to completion of its investigation of the case. The arrest of Audette quickly followed.

Hog Industry Recuperating, Avers Leader SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—Chairman Charles B. Shuman of the National Swine Industry committee said today the hog industry was on its way to recovery from record low post-war prices.

Shuman, who is also president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has called a meeting of the committee for Jan. 31 in Chicago at the request of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Talt Benson. Benson requested the meeting to discuss “very serious” conditions among hog raisers.

Hearings Set on Gas Franchises

BOISE, Jan. 26 (AP)—The state public utilities commission yesterday scheduled hearings in Moscow for the end of February on application of two firms to distribute natural gas in the northern Idaho city.

On Feb. 28 it will hear the application of the Lath National Gas company, filed July 15, 1955. The next day it will consider the request of the Petroleum Gas company, filed Sept. 20, 1955, to serve Moscow and the University of Idaho campus.

Gas for the area is to come from a pipeline being built into northern Idaho from sources in New Mexico and western Canada.

Wool Industry Readies Huge ‘Ad’ Campaign PORT WORTH, Jan. 26 (AP)—An advertising and promotion campaign which the American Sheep Producers council is preparing to launch will be of great benefit to the industry, its president said yesterday.

G. N. Widner addressed the 91st annual convention of the National Wool Growers association. Under the new price support program for wool, producers set aside a certain amount in their support payments to help finance the promotion program.

Widner said this is the first time that an agent of agriculture has been able to do a promotion job for its products. The association also heard panel discussions on the prospects for wool and lamb markets.

U. S. Rep. W. R. Foage, Waco, Tex., chairman of the house agriculture committee, will address the closing session Thursday.

School Money Bill Stalled by House Actions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The drive to bring the Democratic 1.6 billion dollar school aid bill to the house floor was stalled at least temporarily.

The house rules committee began working over the bill yesterday. And so far, the committee showed no signs of letting it go.

However, house leaders hoped the bill can be brought to the floor for a vote next week. The bill calls for federal grants of 400 million dollars a year to states for school construction during the next four years.

The administration plan. Any school aid plan is certain to run into a segregation fight on the house floor. Proposed amendments would bar federal funds to segregated schools.

Group Seans Legal Status Of Gas Plans

WEISER, Jan. 26 (AP)—A group of 57 Weiser businessmen yesterday formed what they termed a Citizens Development association for the avowed purpose of questioning the legality of the cooperative plan for distribution of natural gas.

They called on the Weiser city council and mayor to schedule an open meeting for talking over the constitutionality of a cooperative plan for distributing natural gas. City councilmen have said earlier that no decision on who would be given the Weiser franchise would be made without a public hearing.

Weiser is one of several southern Idaho communities in which cooperatives have been formed. Weiser Cooperative Gas association has been incorporated but thus far has made no formal application for distribution rights.

Intermountain Gas company which has been granted the franchise by the public utilities commission for southern Idaho following a long, costly battle, has applied to the city council for the franchise. The Weiser group named directors including Dr. Robert M. Coals, Earl Johns, Milan Ryder, Kenneth Stock, Tom Chamberlin, Vic Johnson, Gene Stanford, Dr. B. R. Westberg and John Miller.

Statement Given In a statement, the directors said: “We believe that the proposed cooperative system of distribution is impractical and unconstitutional and will involve litigation which could result in the loss of this utility to Weiser for several years.”

The statement continued the Weiser group favors a state integrated distribution system operated under PUC control. The group said it has retained J. N. Leggett, Boise, who resigned recently as an assistant attorney general, as its counsel.

Up to now Pocatello, Alameda and Burley have granted distribution franchises to co-ops. Several other southern Idaho cities have co-op applications pending.

Get Franchises Intermountain has obtained franchises in Boise, where only one reading of the ordinance by the city council remains to adopt the action, and in Twin Falls, Buhl, Piler and Gooding.

Recently a group of representatives from the southern Idaho co-ops, including Weiser, met in Burley and formed an organization to further the cause of the cooperatives. After the meeting, State Rep. Perry Swisher, R., Bannock, temporary president of the group, said the co-ops plan to continue their “fast” program already displayed, thereby hastening instead of delaying the advent of natural gas in Idaho.

Fame TOKYO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Yoshio Yumawa, 41, serving a six-year prison term for 1947 robbery, today asked a judge to reinvestigate his case.

Yumawa said actually he committed only 37 crimes but confessed to the expanded number when police asked him: “Why not become Japan’s number one thief?”

Melba Boosts Polio Gain by $5,500 “Sale”

MELBA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Residents of this tiny southwestern Idaho community raised some $5,500 yesterday in their annual auction for the March of Dimes. That’s more than $27 per person.

Paul Montgomery, a farmer, dressed a doll in 100 one-dollar bills and raffled it off for $300. The winner, Bob Robinson, stripped the doll and gave the money to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. A television set brought the highest amount of any single item—$75.25.

A cake baked by Mrs. Gordon Vogelsson sold 21 different times for a total of $102.50. A second-hand pair of tinclips valued at about 50 cents brought $20. About 1,500 residents of southwestern Idaho attended the auction, the seventh held by Melba, which claims to have originated the idea now used by communities throughout the nation to raise money for polio.

The town raised $7,500 three years ago, a per capita contribution of $37 which it claims is a national record. Foundation officials estimate the average Idaho per capita contribution at about 50 cents.

Six Hog Cholera Cases Reported

BOISE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dr. Arthur P. Schneider, state veterinarian, said yesterday six cases of hog cholera have been reported the past several weeks in eastern Idaho.

He said four came from the Arco-Challis area and two from the Aberdeen sector. All are under state quarantine.

Army Engineers Will Study Bids

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 26 (AP)—The corps of engineers said yesterday it is holding up action on bids submitted for construction projects at Mountain Home air force base because one of the contractors reported an error in his bid.

Col. Myron Page announced Thursday that J. H. Wise company of Boise submitted the apparent low bid of $654,333 for a new operations building, fire station and other improvements at the base.

Yesterday the engineers said the entire matter was in suspension because Wise erred in one phase of his bidding.

Hopeful CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 26 (AP)—Senator Kefauver, D. Tenn., formally entered the New Hampshire presidential primary yesterday and said he thinks his chances to repeat the 1952 victory here “are very good.”

Thrift Is Cause Of Divorce Suit LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Burbank, Calif., woman has won an uncontested divorce from an Allentown, Pa., man on her complaint that his thriftiness prevented her from preparing hot meals for herself.

Superior Judge Walter Evans granted the decree to Mrs. Jane Marie Vatsula. In her complaint, Mrs. Vatsula said her husband, Joseph J. Vatsula, disconnected the electric range in order to save money on the fuel bill. She said he occasionally took her to restaurants to get hot meals but that he would wait outside while she ate and that she had to pay the bill.

Mrs. Vatsula said her husband ate mostly bananas, raisins, bologna and milk.

Special Price Expected for Cuts of Meat

By careful shopping you should be able to find special prices on just about any kind of meat you want for this week-end.

A survey shows that some of the nation's food stores will feature chuck roast for economy and others chuck roast for prime ribs for will trim prices on prime ribs for economical eating. There will be specials, too, on sirloin steaks.

Loins of pork will be widely featured, but you can look for higher prices on pork next week because prices on pork have risen. In fact, hog quotations are posting increases one quarter cent a pound this week on six cent a pound chops.

Some markets plan to offer attractive prices on smoked picnics and fresh hams. Bacon continues on the bargain counter.

Prices on the popular leg of lamb will vary, climbing two to six cents a pound in some places and dipping one to four cents in others. Some markets will feature shoulder and rib lamb chops.

Trying chickens will cost about the same as a week ago in most areas but will be higher elsewhere. Egg prices are going down. Reductions of two to four cents a dozen on large grade A whites will be fairly common.

Produce men say that iceberg lettuce, potatoes and onions are the best buys. They also recommend Canadian turnips, sweet potatoes, pascal celery and cabbage.

Among vegetables described as "moderately priced" are cauliflower, broccoli, cucumbers, peppers, beets, beans, squash and eggplants.

Good value in fruit is to be had in limes, oranges, grapefruit, tangerines (although they're a little higher), emperor grapes and apples. If you like out-of-season items, you'll be glad to know that plums, peaches and nectarines are beginning to arrive from Chile.

A cooperative effort by farmers and food chain operators is under way to get consumers to eat a substantial portion of the nation's tremendous food supply. Under plans drawn up by the National Association of Food Chains, you'll be encouraged to buy eggs, pork and California peaches now; potatoes, beef, veal and cherries in February; cheese, peanuts, rice, ham and lamb in March; dairy products and citrus in June, and citrus in August.

Harriman Hews Closest to Pattern of FDR Among All Top Demo Candidates

This is another in a series on the Democratic Presidential hopefuls.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Closest to the Roosevelt pattern among the three most discussed Democratic presidential hopefuls this year is Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Harriman is an "insensitive" to the nomination. He is a son of great wealth and, like FDR, benefits from the aggressive business triumphs of his forebears.

The Harrimans who preceded him probably would not be voting for him this year if his number came up. Harriman is 64 years old. That is a handicap in a contest with young men before an electorate acutely aware of the importance of a President surviving the term to which he has been elected.

His reach for the Democratic nomination in 1952 was a failure beyond mere defeat. It was from Harriman's young, over-enthusiastic and aggressively new deal supporters that the move came in 1952 to toss some old-timers out of the convention.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., the late President's son, was among the leaders as was the late Blair Moody of Michigan, then U.S. senator. These young men took on such party figures as Sen. Harry P. Byrd, Virginia, and elder statesman James P. Byrnes, South Carolina. But it was Moody, Roosevelt and company who went to the woodshed in the end.

Conservative southerners will not have forgotten that this year, neither will they overlook Harriman's recent statement that there is no room in the Democratic party for moderation. Such things add up against him.

Harriman is no political weakling, however. Since 1952 he has established himself as a professional political politician by winning New York's governorship against one of the smartest campaigners in the Republican party, Sen. Irving M. Ives. If Harriman had slight claim on his party four years ago, he is a major figure now by reason of his public office.

Caroline Desapio, new boss of New York's New Tammany hall, is master-minding Harriman's in a pre-convention campaign. Desapio is a soft spoken, friendly and attractive man with political skill. But his campaign efforts outside New York state have not produced much.

On his home grounds, Desapio has lined up the state organization committee for Adlai E. Stevenson, sparked by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, among others, has been set up and is flourishing. The California Democratic organization slapped down Desapio's effort to make a big deal there.

Of today's top flight Democrats, Harriman was most closely associated with the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He was the only 100 per cent I-love-Harry faithful candidate in 1952. Some of his most publicized services for Mr. Roosevelt and Mrs. Truman had to do with the Soviet Union.

This has not rubbed off on Harriman, however. He was at Yalta. But there is no record that Harriman ever was much taken in by the communists or that he failed stoutly to call fouls on them when others in the administration did not.

At the United Nations organization conference in San Francisco in 1945, Harriman was fresh from Moscow. He was telling all hands that the Russians were double-dealers with whom it would be difficult if not impossible to do business. That background could be of considerable help to Harriman in the campaign to come if he were nominated for President in Chicago next August.

Committee OK's Gas Exemptions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The house ways and means committee approved a bill to exempt farmers from the two-cents-a-gallon federal excise tax on gasoline used on the farm. The saving to farmers is estimated at around 60 million dollars a year.

The bill will be sent to the house as the first concrete piece of legislation requested by President Eisenhower in his farm message earlier this month. The house may vote on it next week.

Public Power—Harriman ridiculed the administration plan for partnership between private and public power agencies on grounds it was merely a "give-away philosophy." A sentimentalist farmer, himself, Harriman and the partnership reminded him of the owners of a cow. "The public owns the cow," he said.

Big Business in Government—We Democrats have always objected to the domination of the national government by a single powerful group within the population—and that is what we have in Washington today. You see it in the neglect of agriculture—the Republican tax cuts—the Republican failure to make good on their promises to labor—and the Republican unconcern about this country's educational crisis.

Five new members of the Twin Falls Soroptimist club were honored with a dinner Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Ostrom Babcock, 123 Eighth avenue east.

Mrs. Sterling Larson introduced new members, Mrs. L. W. Crandall, Mrs. Percy Greene, Mrs. J. E. Higgins, Mrs. O. A. Keizer and Mrs. Zila Roache. A historical review of Soroptimist Clubs International since its formation in 1921 was given by Mrs. Larson.

The local club was organized in November, 1946. Four of the charter members were present. They are Mrs. Teala Bellini, Mrs. Ruth Edmunds, Mrs. Rose North and Mrs. Babcock.

An account of travels through foreign lands was given by Frances Scully. She showed color slides taken on her trip through the Middle East, Orient and the Philippines. Members were urged to complete their collections for the March of Dimes and the membership voted to support the armed forces in their March of Dimes project.

New Members Feted by Club

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A New York union, the Electro-typers Local No. 100, advised congress yesterday that it can help relieve the shortage of newspaper print by not talking so much.

Print fewer pages of the long-winded speeches that are made in the house of representatives and the senate," the union advised, "and you will discover the immense amount of newspaper that can be saved."

Members were urged to complete their collections for the March of Dimes and the membership voted to support the armed forces in their March of Dimes project.

Monopoly Broken In Suit Settlement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The government announced yesterday that International Business Machines corporation has agreed to break up its vast tabulating machine rental business in settlement of an anti-trust suit.

The firm must also release certain patents it owns—some on a royalty-free basis and others for "reasonable" royalties—and provide American industry with the technical know-how to operate the machines.

In the future, the firm must offer for sale all new tabulating and electronic data processing machines that it produces. The consent judgment filed in New York City also permits persons support the armed forces in their March of Dimes project.

Demo Says Ike's Health Top Issue

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, D. Ore., is telling constituents that a second term bid by President Eisenhower would make the President's health a campaign issue overshadowing all others.

Neuberger wrote that millions of Americans might assume the President was stricken seriously again if a mere virus infection forced cancellation of campaign engagements or speeches.

"That might decide the election then and there," Neuberger said. "There even exists the danger that panicky politicians... might try to have him propped up unwisely with drugs and other such aids so that he could fulfill speaking and TV commitments to the permanent detriment of his well-being, just to get by election day."

Schools Observe Idaho's Holidays

BOISE, Jan. 26 (AP)—The state board of education decided yesterday that all days declared by the governor as state holidays in Idaho will also be observed as holidays by Idaho's public-school children.

Ailton B. Jones, board secretary, said the ruling will serve as additional assurance that students will have the day off on Washington's birthday, Labor day and Veterans day.

He said Attorney General Graydon Smith had written in answer to a board query that the three days, though legal holidays in Idaho, are not specified in the Idaho code as days off from school.

He added that local districts may require students to attend classes on those days if special circumstances require it.

Challenge Hurdled On Court Rulings

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—Four southern governors spurred legislatures of their states yesterday to challenge the authority of the U. S. supreme court to order mixed schools.

Teen-Age Boy Charged With Shooting Fray

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—A gun-wielding teen-ager shot and killed a veteran policeman last night in Chicago's latest outbreak of "wolf pack" terrorism.

It was the second time a Chicago teen-ager had killed within 24 hours. At the very time that Policeman Lyons Kelleher was being gunned down in a south side night club, two teen-agers were surrendering on a street corner for the fatal stabbing of a youth Tuesday night.

Within the past week, juvenile "wolf pack" gangs have slugged a teacher in a school room corridor and swagged along sidewalks, attacking anyone who caught their fancy. Mayor Richard J. Daley called an emergency meeting of top officials yesterday to stop the bloodshed.

Kelleher, a veteran of 22 years on the police force, was killed during a routine checkup at a Negro district jazz spot which was reported to be rendezvous for narcotics addicts.

Killer Wounded His slayer, identified as a 16-year-old Negro youth, escaped while another policeman, badly wounded, emptied his gun at him. A trail of blood on the sidewalk indicated the killer had been hit at least once.

Kelleher, 33, and his partner, William Dennis, 38, entered the Boulevard Colonial room at the Boulevard hotel about 11:15 p.m. The night spot was filled by about 25 hot music fans who were waiting for a jazz band to strike up.

Derrig went into the room while Kelleher stood at the door. Suddenly, a youth broke from the bar and tried to get past Kelleher.

Asks Question The policeman grabbed him and said "Where are you going?" The youth twisted away and came up with a snub-nosed revolver.

Kelleher drew almost simultaneously, but he was too late. The youth fired four shots into his chest and then whirled on Derrig with a shot which pierced his right hand.

Derrig, his gun-hand streaming blood, ran after the fleeing youth, firing as he went. Outside on the sidewalk, the youth turned and brought the policeman down with a bullet in the left leg.

Dies on Floor Kelleher, who had six creditable mentions and three extra compensations on his fine police record, died on the cocktail room floor.

Almost simultaneously Robert Hoffman and Richard Fernandez, both 19, surrendered to two of Chicago's top policemen.

Hoffman had been named as the youth who stabbed and killed 20-year-old William McNeff in a street brawl Tuesday night.

Buddhist Services Held for Resident

BURLEY, Jan. 25—Funeral services for Sawataro Abo were held Tuesday at the McCulloch-Burley funeral home chapel with the Rev. T. Masuda, Ogden, Utah, Buddhist church officiating. He was assisted by Harry Mayeda, Burley.

The first two speakers were Eddie Tanaka and K. Shiozawa. The obituary was read by Walter Sanada. Telegrams were read by Yoshio Aizawa. Talks were given by August Hondo, H. Kiwai and Austin Harrison.

The congregation sang three Buddhist hymns accompanied by Michi Sanada. Two solos were sung by Mrs. Wayne Newcomb. A duet was sung by Sally Sanford and Dona Sanford. Accompanist was Mrs. Rex Lawson.

Active pallbearers were Sonny Onishi, Paul Onishi, Sam Ogawa, Roy Hondo, Henry Kowal and Tak Panishi. Honorary pallbearers were T. Hondo, E. Tanaka, T. Yamagata, K. Shiozawa, J. Koshiki and E. Kawaguchi.

Flowers were carried by Mary Agawa, Tomi Miya, Toheya Tanaka, Edna Tomlinaga, Michi Sanada, Toshimi Agata, Marie Tanaka, Miss Yamagata, Pumi Joo and Shizue Nakata under the direction of Sadie Aizawa. Concluding rites were held at Pleasant View cemetery.

Show Planned

HAGERMAN, Jan. 25—Mrs. Howard Winegar, general chairman of the March of Dimes for Hagerman and Tuttle, announces the annual talent show at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school gymnasium. Dr. Barry S. Beng will be a speaker.

All organizations in the Valley are furnishing numbers for the show, she said. The house to house canvass has been completed, with $341.31 collected. In addition $318 was received on the television program.

VEHICLES CRASH

JEROME, Jan. 25—A 1950 GMC pickup driven by Victor L. Darnall, 16, Jerome, and a 1947 Chevrolet driven by Antonio Apocada, also Jerome, collided at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Approximately $60 damage was done to the Chevrolet. Damage to the pickup was slight.

Poses for Sculptor

Columnist Describes Hazards Of Men Who Work at Home

By HENRY McLEMORE Today's message is addressed to every husband in the United States who isn't a newspaper columnist. The message is this: You're lucky. I could furnish you with 227 reasons to back up the message, but one, I believe, will be sufficient. A newspaper columnist spends more time at home than do most men who work for a living. Before you tell me that a man's home is his castle, and that he should be grateful to stay there most of the time, let me point out a few drawbacks to being almost as much of a fixture in the house as the door-knobs.

Let me repeat that if I had an office in town, and had been long gone since eight-thirty or nine in the morning, wearing a grey flannel suit and a Homburg, Mary would have washed the windows without accident—and, looked for Sam.

I was midway through my column when the alarm sounded again. This time it had to do with the wall socket and the percolator plug. Mary had gotten a shock when she connected the percolator, and it was up to me to do something about it. I finally got it fixed so you didn't get a shock any more, but I am sure I fixed it by being shocked so much myself that I wore out the current. Oh, you lucky fellows who work in town, who don't get home until early evening, and then find the house all straight, and wives so glad to see you that they bring you your pipe and slippers, and kiss you, and say, "You poor dear, I know you must have had a hard day."

An envelope of dry ice suspended from the boxes determines the range of each balloon. When the ice evaporates, the boxes are upended and dump their contents.

Balloon Rips The discharge of the cargo shoots the balloon skyward and at the same time flips it over. The sudden rise usually rips the balloon and its inverted position virtually guarantees that all the gas will be discharged before it hits the ground.

Free Europe Press officials say the balloons float at altitudes well over 18,000 feet and are "well within the specifications which U. S. civil air regulations define as not hazardous to aircraft."

Reds Shaking Fists at Wind And Message

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 24 (AP)—The communists in eastern Europe are shaking their fists at the wind. The wind is delivery boy for some merchandise. The communists didn't order—a truthful, uncensored newspaper from the free world.

Red officials in Czechoslovakia recently have stepped up their criticism of the regular balloon barrage that carries two million copies of a bi-weekly paper into their country and Hungary and Poland.

Although the Free Europe press has taken elaborate steps to insure the safety of its "winds of freedom" operation, the communists claim the balloons are menacing aircraft and causing injury to people on the ground.

Last week the Prague government charged a 14-year-old boy was injured—and his home destroyed when a balloon exploded. On Jan. 20, the Czech communists announced they had suspended all night flights of aircraft because drifting balloons made it too hazardous to fly.

King-Size Wastebasket

This 20-foot-high litter basket in the middle of Times square dramatizes New York City's cleanup campaign. Three times daily a crane dumps trash into it that careless people don't deposit in 292 ordinary-size litter baskets in the area. Officials estimate such litter totals 1,300 pounds in a day. Earl Warren Is Center for Political Row WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren, the man who insists he won't run for President, was the center of political speculation again today.

Mr. Warren's name has continually come up as one of the top possible candidates to head the Republican ticket if President Eisenhower decides against running. And Mr. Warren has continually insisted he would not run.

But many Republicans have believed that the chief justice could not resist a draft if the principal drafter were Mr. Eisenhower.

Mr. Eisenhower obliquely told newsmen yesterday how he felt about the possibility of Mr. Warren running for President.

He recalled that he retired from the army when he entered politics in 1952. And he added: "We shouldn't get too great a confusion between politics and the supreme court."

Many said the President's comment meant he would favor Mr. Warren's candidacy. Many said it meant just the opposite.

Japan Refutes Business Goals Of Occupation

TOKYO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Japanese quietly are shelving many of the business reforms instituted by Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the allied occupation.

"Back-to-the-land" sentiment and practical necessities have combined to turn Japanese trade and industry back toward pre-war patterns.

By amendment of the anti-monopoly law, by legislative exemptions, and by independent government policy decision, the "MacArthur anti-monopoly law of 1947" is being radically rewritten.

Trend Noted
Few foreign or Japanese economists yet go so far as to predict Japan is going all the way back to the zaibatsu-government partnership of earlier years.

But big business is making a comeback with government help, and some observers fear the end result will be a stifling of competition and the spirit of free enterprise.

The reaction against the occupation reform swept in as soon as Japan became independent in 1952. Today, some extremists are demanding that the anti-monopoly law be scrapped entirely.

Spirit Infringed
By strict interpretation, an order cutting back production of cotton yarn also falls into the category of measures infringing the spirit of the original anti-monopoly reforms though not under FTC jurisdiction.

Many measures were taken out of practical necessity in the interests of the domestic Japanese economy or preserving a sound trading reputation overseas.

Japan found that the occupation-sponsored democratization of industry encouraged cut-throat, irresponsible competition and "dumping." The government stepped in to restore order.

Re-Introducing of Tourway Bill Eyed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Designation as the Lewis and Clark National Tourway of the route followed by the two explorers 150 years ago was proposed in a bill offered today by Senator Magnuson, D. Wash.

A similar proposal was rejected in 1950, it being introduced, Magnuson said, because of observance of the 150th anniversary of the expedition last year.

The senator said the tourway would follow present day highways as accurately as possible along the explorers' route from St. Louis, Mo., to Seaside, Ore.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

INVITATIONS FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by Class "A" School District No. 111, in the office of the District School Superintendent, located in the Junior High School building, 411 N. Main St., Twin Falls, Idaho, at 10 o'clock, P. M., on the 31st day of February, 1954, for the construction of a cafeteria classroom annex to the Twin Falls High School located on Filer Avenue East in Twin Falls, Idaho.

Construction to be of concrete, brick, steel and wood. Bids will be received as follows:

BASE BID A: Building construction complete as shown by the plans and specifications including electrical, plumbing and heating.

BASE BID B: General construction as shown by the plans and specifications but not including the electrical, plumbing and heating divisions.

BASE BID C: Plumbing and heating as shown by the plans and specifications.

BASE BID D: Electrical as shown by the plans and specifications.

Bids received after the closing time of 10 o'clock, P. M., on the 31st day of February, 1954, will be returned to the bidder unopened.

Immediately after the closing time of 10 o'clock, on the 31st day of February, 1954, the bids will be opened in the office of the District School Superintendent, 411 N. Main St., Twin Falls, Idaho.

Each bid received shall be accompanied by a check or certified check, or a guaranty company, in the amount of the proposed guarantee shall be five per cent (5%) of the total amount of the bid submitted. The proposed guarantee must be payable to the Class "A" School District No. 111, Twin Falls, Idaho. If the bid is to be furnished as a guarantee that the bid submitted will not be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of the bid, it is to be accepted, the successful bidder shall enter into a formal agreement with the Class "A" School District No. 111, Twin Falls, Idaho, and to furnish the required contractor's 100% performance bond. The amount of the guarantee bid bond must be certified to the Class "A" School District No. 111, if the bidder awarded the contract does not enter into such an agreement, the amount of such guarantee bid bond to be considered as liquidated damages.

Proposed Railroad Merger

The above map shows some of the main trackage of four railroads that would become a single company if Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads decide to merge. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway are jointly owned subsidiaries of Northern Pacific and Great Northern. If the merger goes through, it would make the single line the biggest in the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

Incident Is Utilized to Illustrate Needs Of Idaho Communities for New Clinics

BOISE, Jan. 26 (AP)—"Why not put 'em in jail," a 16-year-old youth suggested recently to Dr. John Lowe Butler, Idaho's new mental health director.

"They broke the law, didn't they?" The 16-year-old and the doctor were talking about youngsters who have been implicated in a morals investigation involving at least 16 men and more than 100 boys in Boise.

Butler replied by asking the youth some questions. It turned out that the youth himself had violated two or three minor municipal ordinances in the past week.

"Then, by rights you should be in jail, too," Butler said. "You broke the law, too."

"Oh, not me," the youth answered. "I'm different."

Butler recalled the incident yesterday to illustrate one of the biggest problems he's up against in breathing life into the state mental health program set up by the last legislature.

The youth was an "authoritarian type" who saw too much of life in terms of black-and-white and right-and-wrong, Butler said. He needs to grow up a little.

Butler thinks the same is true in the field of mental health—with many of Idaho's cities.

There's hardly a town or village in Idaho that couldn't use at least one psychiatric social worker to help ease problems of marriage, employment and modern living which often bear fruit in crime.

Nor are there many communities too poor to pay the bill for adequate full-time psychiatric help, Butler said in an interview.

"But we just can't go in there and set up a mental health program," he said. "We'd just fall flat on our faces."

The program Butler thinks will work is one where the more advanced communities—apart from the local mental health associations of doctors, clergymen, school teachers and businessmen—will take the lead in setting up their own clinics, with the state to provide advice and encouragement.

Several Idaho cities are "ripe" for such clinics, Butler said. He cited Boise, Idaho Falls, Moscow-Lewiston, and perhaps also Twin Falls and Postville.

They are "ripe," he explained, not so much because of mounting juvenile delinquency and adult crime—although these are factors—but because the towns themselves have begun to recognize and tackle the situation as a social problem.

The state health board will work closely with such cities in setting up and helping to operate clinics in which locally-paid psychiatrists and social workers will offer their services, Butler said.

"But the community has to want to help itself in the first place. We can't afford to go in there and set it up ourselves, and even if we could we wouldn't do it because people would be suspicious and wouldn't accept us. Besides, it would be none of our business."

Working through the State Mental Health association, in operation for about five years, Butler hopes eventually to see a clinic in every community where the need exists. Private doctors would help staff them. Patients would pay what they could afford.

Butler said he expects that local enthusiasm for such clinics will be helped along by psychiatrists to be assigned to half a dozen communities in the coming months as youth rehabilitation officers.

The youth rehabilitation act, also passed by the last legislature, charges the state health board with disposing of the cases of youthful offenders committed to it by probate courts.

"For lack of better alternatives at present, many of these youths are being sent to the State Industrial Training school—a reform school at St. Anthony," Butler said.

"But it's much better to keep them at home where possible, if the community has a good recreation and employment program going." He said the rehabilitation officers would serve as "sparkplugs" in helping to organize such programs.

The law has been challenged as unconstitutional in Grangeville and Gov. Robert E. Smylie has said it might need some fixing by the next legislature. Butler said he thinks it's a good law.

The mental health department's duties also include supervision of Idaho's eugenics program and coordination between the state's three mental institutions: at Blackfoot, Orofino and Nampa.

Influenza Bug Is Ornerly and Avoids Battle

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Consider that most uncooperative organism, the influenza virus. There are apparently no lengths to which it will not go to discomfort the human race.

Early every winter, regularly, it used to visit Britain—to water-the eyes, stuff the noses and tickle the sneezing membranes of its human hosts. But this year, when scientists backed by 27,000 vaccine-injected volunteers are anxiously waiting for it, the annual influenza epidemic is long overdue.

At the world influenza center headquarters here, scientists are beginning to wonder if all their preparations have been wasted—it would be just like that irritating little (1/10,000th of a millimeter) monster not to show up at all.

Actually, said a spokesman for the center which is sponsored by the world health organization, this is the second straight year the virus has ducked a decisive battle. But last year it did crop up in some areas although not on epidemic scale.

The tools of the battle against influenza are vaccines. Last year 12,000 volunteers were injected. This year another 15,000 volunteers (including American servicemen) have been inoculated against all known strains, including one isolated last year known as "Camarthin 55," after a town in Wales.

"Camarthin 55" has now been reported from several countries including India, Ireland and the United States. It is this ability of the main influenza viruses "A" and "B" to foster variations that make it such a tricky opponent.

"But the community has to want to help itself in the first place. We can't afford to go in there and set it up ourselves, and even if we could we wouldn't do it because people would be suspicious and wouldn't accept us. Besides, it would be none of our business."

Working through the State Mental Health association, in operation for about five years, Butler hopes eventually to see a clinic in every community where the need exists. Private doctors would help staff them. Patients would pay what they could afford.

Medical Phenomenon

Two-year-old Vickie Davis appears to be making medical history by surviving a freezing that sent her body temperature down to 59 or 60 degrees. The child, recovering at a Marshalltown, Ia., hospital, was found frozen and unconscious at her grandmother's home. The temperature outside was about 20 below and almost as cold inside the house. Physicians said as far as they know it is the first time a human has survived such a low body temperature. Doctors immersed the child in 70-degree water for several hours and her temperature rose to 80. She was then placed in a warm room and soon her temperature rose to the fever stage. (AP Wirephoto)

Partnership Is Sought for Water Policy

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Bob Campbell, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, urges a "balanced national policy" on water resources involving a "two-way partnership of the federal government, the states, communities and individuals."

"We are forced to consume less and energy debating whether private enterprise or government should develop our water resources," Campbell told the closing meeting of the National Conference on Water Resources and Policy.

"This is a question that could be solved in no time at all if the hopes of minor political advantage were subjugated to the greater good of all."

"There is a place for government in the development of our water resources and also for private enterprise," he said. "The two should work in partnership."

Moment of Fame Is Recalled By First GI to Step Ashore

HUTCHINSON, Minn., Jan. 26 (AP)—A friendly man behind a lunch counter here hopes some day to return to Ireland to retrace the steps of a 14-year-old boy who walked into the first American soldier of World War II to set foot on European soil.

"The whole thing about being 'first' stay pretty quiet nowadays," said Milburn H. Henke, now 37. He operates a lunch counter next to a filling station at a highway interchange.

"I'd have trouble right now telling you whether it was on the 26th or the 28th of January," Henke said, "but I sure remember it."

"Someone asked for a man from B company. Somebody else said to me, 'You go with him.' I thought it was going to be an unloading detail.

"A general walked up and asked me if I could talk over the radio. I said I suppose I could if I had to, and we started ashore from the landing tug a whole bunch of photographers began taking pictures."

"Then when I said I was from Minnesota, a whole bunch of army mouths fell open. Our outfit was mostly from Iowa, and I think it was taken for granted 'the first' would be from Iowa.

"There were photographers following me around for a week and lots of stories written about me. Then later came a flood of letters—all of 1,000—from people all over the States and from England. Before long there were packages from people I had never heard of. Mostly boxes of cookies and candy. We ate real well right in that period."

"Some of the mail was addressed only 'Pfc. Milburn Henke, Northern Ireland.' But it got to me."

After almost a year in Northern Ireland, Henke spent a brief time in England before going through the North African campaign with the unit with which he had landed—the 34th division, 133rd infantry. His back was broken in a weapons carrier accident in North Africa in September, 1943.

Henke was awarded a silver star in North Africa.

Now 35 pounds heavier than in his army days, Henke lives in an attractive small home in this farm community of about 7,000. It is 60 miles west of Minneapolis.

How about going back to Belfast where he went ashore on that gray January day just 14 years ago?

"I'd like, very much to go back to Northern Ireland, not to North Africa. I'd like to take my family—at least my wife.

"But when you're young, you line everything else up first and things like that come later."

Officers elected for the new organization were Robert Simms, president; Richard King, vice president; Max Swinwell, secretary; John Garmandia, treasurer, and Larry Berni, Clarence Wynn, Dan Sullivan and Loren McPadden to act with the officers as a committee to discuss and prepare business for forthcoming meetings.

Beverly Culley, Darel Georges Wed in Rupert

RUPERT, Jan. 26—Beverly Joyce Culley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. ... Darel Georges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Georges, all Rupert, were married Sunday afternoon in St. Nicholas Catholic church, Rupert.

The Rev. Father Malachy McNeill performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with wreaths of white carnations and pink ...

Sharon Culley, bridesmaid, wore a gown matching that of Miss Georges in design and in rose color. They both carried nosegays of pale pink carnations with satin streamers.

Denny Herbold and Lenard Asson were altar boys.

Mrs. Gene Klasek, Buhl, played the processional, the wedding march and recessional music. Gene Klasek sang "Pansy Angelica" and Mrs. Klasek sang "Ave Maria" following the ceremony.

A wedding reception was held following the service in the parish hall. Mrs. Al Perotto was in charge of the arrangements. Frances Badger, Mrs. Betty Culley and Mrs. Doris Ransom helped serve.

Mrs. Edna Pied was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. LaRue Huchinson and Mrs. James Priesen displayed the gifts.

Mrs. Culley chose a blue afternoon dress for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Georges wore a blue-tinted afternoon dress, and both wore corsages of pink carnations.

For traveling to Nevada, the new Mrs. Georges chose a charcoal knit dress with white and black accessories.

Following their honeymoon trip, the couple will reside in Rupert. The bride was graduated from Rupert high school in 1949, Holy Cross hospital in 1952 and was employed at the Twin Falls Clinic until her marriage.

Georges was graduated from Rupert high school in 1948 and after spending two years in the service has been self-employed at Georges Appliance.

Out-of-state guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arnold, Las Vegas, Nev., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gabard, Pinedale, Wyo. There also were guests from Twin Falls.

Shoshone Pupils Are Encouraged To Enter Poetry

SHOSHONE, Jan. 26—Students of the local grade and high school are being encouraged this week to participate in the poetry contest sponsored by the Idaho Federated Women's clubs.

The contest is being conducted locally by the Civic club with Mrs. John Thorne, chairman of the project. Teachers of the grade school and Hazel Cole, English teacher, and Fred Forester, speech teacher, high school, are cooperating in promoting the contest among students.

There will be a judging team from the Civic club to select three winners from each school. The winning poems will be read by the students over the KLIKX television show at 3:30 p. m. Friday and will be sent to Boise to enter the state contest. Copies of the poems, which are selected for the Boise contest, must be in Boise by Feb. 1.

Mrs. Thorne is asking for all entries to be given her by Monday. The poems may be given to the teachers at school or taken directly to Mrs. Thorne.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Corrine came home from school today cry and as soon as her mother said, "What's the matter?" the tears came in a rush. "Maybelle hurt my feelings." "She did? Where did you have them?" "No. She wasn't being kind. She had wrong feelings and carried them in the wrong place, too. Just make up your mind that there will always be someone with an unkind truth to hand you and the best way to take it is to say, 'I know it. So what?' and not let it bother you. Unless, of course, it is something you ought to correct—like the wrong kind of feelings."

First Round Play Starts in Gooding Outlaw Tourney

GOODING, Jan. 26.—Tommy Walker's, Gooding Merchants, U-Otta Drive Inn and Northwest Nazarene college junior varsity were winners of the four first-round games of the 28th annual Gooding outlaw basketball tournament Wednesday evening. Games were played before a good crowd, despite the snow and slippery roads.

Walker's disposed of the Gooding Merchants 60-40, with Gooding dropping the Gooding Merchants 74-49. U-Otta Drive Inn tripped Y-ynn 53-46 and the Northwest Nazarene team defeated Glenns Ferry 60-38. The tourney will continue through Saturday.

Tommy Walker and the Gooding Merchants scored a pair of relatively easy victories in the first two games of the tournament. Tommy Walker of Twin Falls, downed the Fairfields Lions 60-30 and Gooding slapped Shoshone 74-49.

The game between Fairfield and Tommy Walker was close during the first half with Walker holding a 25-18 advantage at intermission time. Bob Latham, who scored 19 points, led the way as Tommy Walker widened the gap in the second half. Top scorer for Fairfield was Clark with 20 points.

Gooding had practically doubled the score against Shoshone at halftime, leading 40-21. From then on it was an easy game for Gooding. Batterfield's 28 points was the top scoring effort for Gooding and set a mark for players in later games to shoot at. Webb accounted for 13 of Shoshone's points.

In the third game of Wednesday night's action, U-Otta Drive Inn of Kimberly topped Y-ynn 53-46 after holding a 25-20 halftime lead.

The game was close all the way, with U-Otta fighting to protect a lead established in the early minutes of play.

Crandall bucketed 18 points for U-Otta while Waite paced the Blues team with 15.

Northwest Nazarene college junior varsity fielded a 49-15 victory over the Glenns Ferry Moose at halftime and wound up with a 60-38 victory despite a late surge by the Glenns Ferry club.

In Thursday's games, Faux Cigaret Store, Buhl, and the Aberdeen Big V's clash at 1 p.m., with American Falls and Dietrich taking the floor at 2 p.m. Mountain Home Air Force base and the Mudkickers square off at 3 p.m. and Okay Foods and Carey play at 4 p.m.

Second round games Thursday night will be Fairfields vs. Shoshone at 8 p.m., Tommy Walker's vs. Gooding at 8 p.m., Y-ynn vs. Glenns Ferry at 9 p.m., and U-Otta Drive Inn vs. Northwest Nazarene at 10 p.m.

Mound Ace's Arm Reported Sound
DES MOINES, Jan. 26.—The Milwaukee Braves will be glad to know that the muscular trouble which hampered Gene Conley's pitching arm in the stretch drive last season has all but cleared up.

Dr. M. D. Oramer, Des Moines orthopedist who has been treating Conley's damaged shoulder since August, Tuesday announced that the inflammation in the throwing muscles has "cleared up 75 per cent."

"Of course the real test would come until the starts throwing again," said Oramer.

The 6-3 moundman from Richland, Wash., who already has signed his new contract with the Braves, hasn't touched a baseball since he came here for treatments.

Cougar Cager Leads Scoring In Coast Loop

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Larry Beck of Washington State led the Pacific coast conference basketball race but UCLA maintained the best team average, statistics from the PCC commissioner's office showed today.

Beck has scored 115 points in six games for a 19.2-point game average. Dave Gambee of Oregon State has 108 points in six games for a 17.7 average. Taft, the Bruins' jump-shot star, has 106 points in four contests for a 26.5 average. Taft also leads in field goal shooting averages with 42 baskets in 71 tries for a 59.3 average.

Other individual scoring leaders are Willie Nauville of UCLA with 92 points and a 23-point game average and Max Anderson of Oregon with 86 points and a 21.5 average.

Bill Bauscher of Idaho retained his leadership at the free throw line, although his consecutive string was broken last week-end. He has made 21 of 23 attempts for a 91.3 average. Bauscher sank his last five free throws of the 1955 season and his first 22 this season for a 90.9 conference record of 25 in a row.

Nauville is the top rebounder with 71 in 363 chances for 19.6 per cent, followed by Jim Coshov, Washington, 16.9 and Anderson 15.7.

In team statistics, UCLA leads the conference in scoring with an 87.8 point-game average, followed by Oregon 87.8, Southern California 87.8, and Idaho 85.3. Defensively, Washington is the leader, holding opponents to an average of 49.3 points a game. Behind the Huskies goes Southern California 54, Stanford 57.3 and Oregon State 52.9.

UCLA leads in rebounds with 81.3 per cent, grabbing 24 rebounds to their opponents 159. Washington is second with a 56.3 per cent mark.

Oregon boasts the best field goal shooting percentage. It has made 90 of 213 attempts for a 42.3 per cent average. Southern California has a 41.8 average. In free throw shooting, Idaho is tops with a 69.9 per cent average.

Judge Says Golf For 'Gentlemen'
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Paul O'Connor, 37, was under order today to pay $2,777 damages to Bruce V. Detson, 44, because he whanged him with a golf club in an argument over the high of two foursomes should tee off first at the Montebello golf course.

Detson suffered a broken tooth. "Golf is traditionally a pastime for gentlemen," said superior court Judge William J. Palmer as he passed sentence.

Giardello Given Ring License
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Middleweight Joe Giardello was given his license Wednesday by the Pennsylvania state athletic commission.

The 25-year-old Giardello, who recently was released from prison after serving part of a term for assault and battery, during a row at a Philadelphia gasoline station, was given a clean bill of health by the commission.

Giardello was the number one middleweight contender before his bout with the law. He now ranks number seven.

NCAA Blasted for Slating Small College Cage Meet

KEARNEY, Neb., Jan. 26 (AP)—Herbert L. Cushing, chairman of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' Advisory Council, today blasted plans of the NCAA to hold a small college basketball tournament.

Cushing, president of Kearney State Teachers college, said an NCAA small college meet would be a "definite intrusion" and would be "almost fatal to the NAIA."

The NCAA announced recently it would hold a small college meet beginning in 1957. The NAIA has held its own tournament for the last 15 years, moving the meet to Omaha last December.

"Loss of revenue from the tournament would be almost fatal to the NAIA," Cushing said. "We of the NAIA feel that action of the NCAA is a definite intrusion on a field now being well served by the NAIA."

He said, "We further feel that the action represents a Johnny-come-lately attitude, since the NCAA has neglected small colleges for a period of 30 years."

Small colleges had no national tournaments or track meets until the NAIA-sponsored events were started, Cushing said.

Failure of the NAIA due to lack of operating funds would leave the small colleges without a voice on the national scene, Cushing said.

He predicted that NAIA members "will not sit idle while the NCAA sets up a tournament which could put the NAIA out of business."

He said he would contact other members of the presidents' advisory council and other college presidents in order to make plans to retain the NAIA in its present position.

Idaho Falls Nips Blackfoot 55-53
BLACKFOOT, Jan. 26 (AP)—A pair of last-second free throws by Idaho Falls guard Ralph Burton gave Idaho Falls a 55-53 revenge basketball win over Blackfoot Broncos Wednesday night.

The Tigers had lost an earlier game to Blackfoot, 64-58. The game was tied eight times in the first half. The Tigers pulled ahead 31-28 at halftime. At the end of the third quarter the Broncos led 40-39.

Gene Hoskins and Dean Baxter of Blackfoot split scoring honors with 15 points apiece. Larsen Hamberlin made 14 for the Tigers.

National League to Play Highest Total of Night Games During '56

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 26 (AP)—The National league's first "nine city" pennant race featured a schedule of 250 night games including 45 at Philadelphia, 43 at St. Louis, and six at Jersey City where the Dodgers will play part of their games in 1956. The night game total, though extremely high, was exactly the same as the number scheduled for last year, despite a reduction of 13 games by the Cardinals, who went all out and tried to fit in 56 after dark encounters in 1955.

Ricks Cancels Pair of Games With Coyotes

CALDWELL, Jan. 26 (AP)—Len Yandle, College of Idaho athletic director and basketball coach, announced Wednesday that two non-conference basketball games with Ricks College scheduled Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 in Caldwell have been canceled.

Yandle said Ricks officials notified him that the team would be unable to meet the dates but could play a single game in Caldwell on Feb. 2.

"Because that is the night before our important conference game with Pacific university, I didn't feel we could play Ricks at that time," Yandle said.

Because of Ricks' refusal to play the two games, Yandle said the Coyotes' two appearances earlier in the season at Rexburg were stricken from the records. The Vikings had whipped the Coyotes twice.

Yandle said there is a possibility the Coyotes may schedule a game with Northwest Nazarene some time next week to take the place of the Ricks contests.

Giambra Captures Nod Over Andrews

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—Slow-starting middleweight Joey Giambra of Buffalo, N. Y., punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews of St. Paul, Minn., Wednesday night in the Norfolk city auditorium. Giambra weighed 158 and Andrews 161 1/2.

Giambra, an aspirant for the world middleweight title recently discharged from the army, was making his first ring appearance in five months. His last fight was a loss to Bobo Olson last August.

Andrews, who fought a losing decision to Joe Giambardo in his ring last summer, was the aggressor in the early going but Giambra finished stronger.

Mantle Says He Will Be in Perfect Shape

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, now the New York Yankees' second highest salaried player, believes the American league champions will repeat in 1956 if their young pitchers come through.

The star centerfielder, fully recovered from a slight injury that limited his world series action in two games, made no prediction concerning his own work next season but indicated he was due for the greatest year of his career.

After signing a contract for a reported $50,000, a $5,000 increase over his 1955 salary, Mantle reported Wednesday he had been given a clean bill of health by the club physician for the first time since he injured his right knee in the world series.

"The doc said the knee is stronger now than at any time since the injury," he said. "For the first time I can run as hard as I wish without feeling any twinge of pain."

Michigan Boxer Collapses, Dies

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP)—Michigan boxing has been hit by its second ring fatality in seven years. Eddie Lee Walker, a 21-year-old Detroit heavyweight, died in receiving hospital Tuesday night after collapsing during a workout at the Motor City gym last Friday.

Walker, a pro for three years, was sparring with Johnny Summerlin, seventh ranked heavyweight contender from Detroit, when he suddenly collapsed in his corner at the end of the fifth round.

He never regained consciousness. The last boxing death in Michigan was Oct. 10, 1949, when Talmage Bussey, a 26-year-old Detroit, died following a knockout by Luther Rawlings of Chicago.
