Committee Okays Billions for U.S. Bureau Functions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today approved a $3,618,699,000 money bill to run the treasury, postoffice and tax court in the 12 months starting July 1. The Democratic-controlled committee ground out the first of a series of appropriations for the new year with few harsh words for the agencies involved and without substantial reductions.

President Eisenhower had asked for $3,649,872,000 for the three agencies. The cut, as recommended by the appropriations group, was only $31,173,000. The committee in the past frequently has made, or at least claimed, much bigger savings.

The postoffice department gets bulk of the money—$2,975,900,000 as against three billion dollars sought by Mr. Eisenhower. The committee, by Mr. Eisenhower, a reduction of 26 million dollars. The committee noted that the department will wind up the new year 470 million dollars in the red, and said postal rates should be raised to make up the loss.

"Some action must be taken to postal rates more appropriate to the costs of the service," the group said in its report to the house. It described present rates as "woefully inadequate."

The committee failed to suggest where the proposed rate boosts should be applied. President Eisenhower has said first class rates, among others, should be increased. His request has been cold-shouldered by congress.

The committee delivered two of the few mild rebukes in its report to the internal revenue service, which will get 305 million dollars or almost half of the treasury's total.

Members expressed "grave concern" at recent cases in which boxer Joe Louis and others have turned up with big tax payments long overdue. Louis, the committee was told, owes the government one million dollars.

The narcotics bureau (a part of treasury) got $3,250,000, every cent it requested and $125,000 more than this year. This will provide 15 extra agents.

Land Hearing In Gas Firm's Action Begins

Three court-appointed commissioners in a condemnation suit were hearing testimony of appraisers and witnesses Friday morning to determine a fair and just value of property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Bandy and Myrtle Bandy.

District Judge R. W. Beckwith is presiding over the hearing in the jury room at the courthouse here. Commissioners W. O. Smith, Cecil Brim and Curtis Eaton. The commissioners are pledged to make a valuation of the property and an impartial award for damages which will result from the pipeline crossing the land.

Top Campaign Is Readied by Wheat Groups

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 3 (AP)—The nation's wheat farmers are going to beef up their public relations program to tell the public about their problems and to promote wheat products.

The National Association of Wheat Growers at their sixth annual convention here yesterday recommended that 10 per cent of the group's budget be appropriated to formulate a public relations program. Each state association also was asked to put up funds for the promotional program.

The session came after Claude Gifford, Philadelphia, associate editor of the Farm Journal, told the convention that "good public relations consists of 'doing right' and informing the public about it."

Good farm products and good will are the two things the farmer has to sell, Gifford said.

K. S. Quisenberry, assistant director of the department of agricultural research service, outlined research progress in wheat production. Research has increased from $22,000 in 1920 to $730,850.

Report Claims U. S. Plans on Photo Satellite

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Joseph and Stewart Alsop reported in the New York Herald Tribune today that concentrated work has started on a project looking toward launching a reconnaissance satellite vehicle from this country within five years.

The Alsops said in a copyrighted Washington story that the project has been informally dubbed with rather grim humor—"Project Big Brother."

The story said the project is "wholly distinct" from the project for "a tiny earth satellite" announced by President Eisenhower. The Alsops called the latter project "far more modest and militarily meaningless."

Importance Stressed

The dispatch described the new project as of "enormous strategic significance."

Among features of "Project Big Brother" reported by the Alsops were:

The satellite, as now envisioned, would be capable of transmitting to the United States images of the entire land area of the earth, including the now hidden area of the Communist countries.

Details Presented

It is believed that the images will be clear and detailed enough to register air base construction, fleet movements and other major military activities.

The satellite would give a sure "fix on existing Communist bases, which present methods cannot do."

Launching a satellite vehicle to watch the whole world—like the "Big Brother" of George Orwell's novel—shapes up as so difficult and expensive that the project may take longer than five years.

Restriction Is Set on Travel To Red Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States today banned American travel to Communist Hungary except with special permission of the U. S. government.

The United States also said it planned new restrictions on travel by Hungarian diplomats in the United States "at an early date." These restrictions, designed to place Hungarians here under the same limitations as American diplomats in Hungary, are still to be worked out.

The new travel restrictions were set out in a note handed the Hungarian legation here today. The American note complained against persistent "harassment" of employees of the American embassy in Budapest. It also said Hungary is responsible for "intensifying the strains and difficulties" in U. S.-Hungarian relations.

The U. S. note said the United States henceforth will require special passport validation for American citizens wishing to travel to Hungary; "additional restrictions on the travel of Hungarian legation personnel" in the United States will be imposed; and the United States is abandoning consideration of special U. S.-Hungarian talks requested by Hungary because the United States no longer feels they are "feasible."

Hungary had requested the talks some time ago to consider trade problems.

Retaliation Is Set for Enemy, General Hint

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The air force threw out an apparent hint today that bombers now fly armed with atomic bombs ready to retaliate immediately against the homeland of an enemy attacking this country.

The disclosure that interceptors guarding American cities soon will be armed with new-type nuclear weapons for use against invading bombers.

Discussions of the weapons carried in aircraft, Gen. Nathan P. Twining told a jet age conference of 1,000 government, military and civil aviation leaders that "instant readiness means survival."

Availability Cited

The air chief of staff said "it is only common sense that whatever weapons our air force uses must be readily available." He said the air arm has been in "the nuclear bomb business" for more than 10 years and has developed safety features making the chance of accidental detonations "so remote as to be inconceivable."

Handling and carrying ordnance from bullets to A-bombs... is not and will not be a major problem in safety, Twining said.

Atomic Arms Are Installed For Defenses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The air force disclosed today that jet interceptors soon will be armed with atomic weapons when flying defense missions over America.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, continental air defense commander, said "all manner" of safety measures will prevent accidental detonations in flight and at bases where the weapons will be stored.

The four-star airman disclosed the new defense development to a conference studying mounting problems of noise, hazard, air traffic-control and airports in the jet age. The two-day meeting, is sponsored by the privately financed Air Force association.

Partridge, who heads a joint air force-navy command, said that new weapons for attacking invading bombers will make present-day rockets "midgets in comparison."

The day is not far off when we shall have atomic weapons at the various stations in storage and on the planes in flight," Partridge said.

He said the air force is installing even "more safety features" for the handling of nuclear anti-bomber weapons. He did not describe the weapons further but there have been authoritative reports that the air force's new Falcon guided missile, which will be carried by a supersonic interceptor, can be fitted with an atomic warhead.

Still Critical

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Idaho Secretary of State Ira H. Masters was reported still in critical condition in the National Institutes of Health Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., today.

The 78-year-old Idahoan underwent a cancer operation in November, and has been on the critical list since late December. Thursday his doctor said his condition had become worse.

U.S., England Will Cold Shoulder New Soviet 'Peace Bid'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States and Britain today cold-shouldered Russia's latest proposal for separate 20-year friendship pacts with the Western big three.

Britain's position was set forth by Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden. He told a farewell Washington news conference he sees no value in a British-Soviet treaty so soon after a similar 20-year pact was "torn up" by Russia, Moscow last year broke off non-aggression pacts with Britain and France.

Eden declined to comment on the broad aspects of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's latest letter to President Eisenhower since it was not addressed to him. Eden said "the answer clearly must come from you (the United States) and I have every confidence in the answer."

Diplomatic sources were certain that the American answer will be another polite but firm "no." These sources were equally certain that France also will reject Bulganin's proposal, made in a letter yesterday.

Mr. Eisenhower studied the letter at his Gettysburg farm. He and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will be in touch with allied leaders before the American reply is sent to Moscow.

Eden also confirmed that he had proposed during his talks with President Eisenhower this week a "step-by-step relaxation to bring trade with Red China on a par with that of Soviet Russia."

Eden faced nearly 300 reporters from many countries during a farewell press conference at the National Press Club. He answered many questions, and dodged some hot ones.

The silver-haired prime minister volunteered at the outset of his conference that his meetings with President Eisenhower "did exceed my expectations." The white-touled talks, he said, disclosed a "very wide measure of agreement."

Shipping Law On Surpluses Has Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The maritime administration today endorsed the present law requiring that at least 80 per cent of surplus farm products sent overseas must be transported in American-owned ships.

The farm products section of the cargo preference law has been under investigation by the house merchant marine committee. The investigation followed complaints from the state and agriculture departments that the law has hampered disposal of surplus farm products to foreign countries.

Maritime Administrator Clarence G. Morse told the committee that allegations that the law causes retaliatory action by other countries in favor of their merchant fleets are unfounded.

To withdraw or "voluntarily yield to nationalistic pressures or ambitions of other countries" on this issue, he said, would not serve the American economy, national defense or provide against "possible disruption of foreign trade."

Earlier the state and agriculture departments claimed the farm products disposal program had been hampered because Great Britain, Denmark, Norway and Sweden had refused to accept U. S. farm products if they had to be shipped in American vessels.

Premier Will Go To African Meet

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—The new French cabinet, in its first policy-making session, decided today to send Premier Guy Mollet to Algeria Monday to try to calm boiling tempers in the North African province.

The cabinet also decided to ask Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef to open talks on the future of Algeria's neighbor, Morocco.

Mollet asked his cabinet for permission to make the trip to Algeria.

Rose rode in the truck. The truck skidded off the road, Rose was knocked unconscious. The truck driver called an ambulance.

The ambulance collided with a car at an Ann Arbor intersection and was wrecked. Another ambulance was called for Rose.

Rose was dead on arrival at University hospital.

Ill Fortune and Sudden Death Buffet Family in Chicago Area

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—It was a day of ill fortune for the Joseph Gall family yesterday. And then, sudden death, for one of the family's three children.

The boy, James, was killed last night by a bus while his mother, screaming, tried to save him from falling under the wheels. She said the bus door closed on the child's hands and dragged him from her arms.

Mrs. Gall and her son were returning from Children's Memorial hospital where they had visited another son, Robert, 14 months, who is ill of pneumonia.

Mrs. Gall said she and her husband earlier had been ordered to appear in court today in connection with an eviction order. Their landlord, Joseph Chab, 60, is seeking to evict them from their four-room basement apartment. They have another child, Gloria Jean, 6. The father is unemployed.

Police seized the bus driver, George Van Loan, 55, and charged him with reckless homicide and negligent driving.

Gibb confirmed that he had started eviction proceedings. He said the Galls owed him $37.50 in rent for January and had "broken the windows."

Told of the tragedy, Gibb said he had not changed his mind.

"So what does that mean to me," he said to a reporter, "I still got to pay my taxes and I want them out of there."

Winter Retains Cold Grip in Magic Valley

Winter retained its icy grip on Magic Valley Friday but temperatures in some localities had moderated considerably.

At Stanley, the low Thursday night was only half as low as the temperature Wednesday night. The low Thursday was minus 17 compared to a minus 39 the night before and a minus 47 Tuesday night.

Fairfield was the coldest spot in the valley Thursday night with its minus 21 degrees. Hailey, with minus 17 degrees, was on a par with Stanley. In the lower valley Rupert took top honors with 10 below zero, Burley was next with a minus eight degrees and Jerome reported a minus five at 8 a. m.

The temperature in Twin Falls dropped only to minus three degrees during the night while Gooding again took honors for being the warmest spot. Its low was a mere minus one.

Nullification Sought For 2 Dam Permits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Three groups said today they will ask the U. S. court of appeals Monday to set aside a federal power commission order which approved the Idaho Power company's revised plans for two Hells canyon dams.

Attorneys for the groups had announced they would file the petition today but at the last minute postponed the action until Monday.

Signing the petition were the National Hells Canyon Association, the Public Utility Districts of the State of Washington, and the National Rural Electric cooperative.

The petition charged that the Nov. 3 order is defective because it was issued without giving the groups opportunity for a hearing. This "constitutes denial of due process," the petition stated.

On Aug. 4, 1955, the FPC issued a license to Idaho Power to go ahead with its proposed Brownies Oxbow and Lower Hells canyon power projects on the Snake river between Idaho and Oregon. The company's revised plans were then approved by the Nov. 3 order.

The public power groups said the order did not become effective until a week after an appeal had been filed on the basic licensing plan. Therefore, they contended, the FPC was powerless to take any action to implement the licensing order.

The later order approving the revised plans "could not and did not become effective," the groups charged.

A grant of the petition would strip Idaho Power of authority to proceed with its Hells canyon projects. The public power groups said they have opposed Idaho Power's plans from the beginning.

Hells canyon is the deepest gorge on the continent and one of the outstanding dam sites in the Columbia river basin. Whether the government or private interests should develop power there has been a heated controversial issue for more than 15 years.

Check on Gas Starting Here

Representatives of the Intermountain Gas company began a house-to-house survey to analyze the industrial, commercial and residential market in Twin Falls.

The survey is under the supervision of Jack Elliott and Tyler Howard, Intermountain representatives.

The purpose of the canvass is to determine the potential for immediate use of natural gas as well as potential growth of gas use in the next five years, they explained.

The group completed a survey of Buhi last week and following the completion in Twin Falls, the canvassers will move to Wendell, Gooding and Piler in successive weeks.

The company has hired local residents to make the survey.

Protests Made on Poaching of Fish

ALESUND, Norway, Feb. 3 (AP)—Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange called in Ambassador E. M. Arge today at Oslo, to protest repeated Russian violations of Norway's four-mile limit. The Norwegian navy has seized 16 Soviet fishing boats and about 1,000 crewmen in the past four days.

In a statement issued after the meeting, Lange did not say whether he believed that Russia has promised to respect Norway's rights, but he did say he has "reason to hope" Soviet fish poaching is at an end.

Nearly 100 Russian fishing vessels were lying off Alesund today, just outside the four-mile limit, but there was no immediate indication that they intend to try any new tactics.

2 Draw Fines on Speeding Counts

Rink Perfect

Following the flooding of the city ice skating pond with two inches of water Thursday evening, Ernest Craner, superintendent of parks and recreation, reports the rink in perfect condition.

Located on the corner of Locust street and Elizabeth boulevard, the rink has ice approximately three and one-half inches thick.

Craner noted it is in the best condition it has been in for two months. Although several days have been cold enough to freeze the pond, children attempted to use it too soon, causing a rough surface, he said. Thursday night's freeze ambushed the surface, he added.

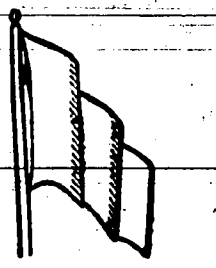

The 100-foot square pond has no warming facilities or building to change skates.

Ice on Roads Is Blamed for Crash Series

BURLEY, Feb. 3—Cassia County Sheriff LePage Layton reports a number of recent minor accidents have been blamed on the icy roads in the area. He said damage was slight in most of the accidents and no injuries were reported.

A 1955 Ford pickup driven by Dyer W. Pettigold, Malba, was damaged $200 when a trailer he was pulling started whipping on the icy road. The truck overturned in the borrow pit. Deputy Sheriff H. O. Warrell investigated the mishap which occurred 12 miles south of Malba on highway 30S.

A 1949 Chrysler driven by Jesse Beutler was damaged $35 when he slowed to make a right turn four and one-half miles south of Burley on highway 27 and slid into the path of a 1950 GMC pickup driven by Rex Weech. Damage on the pickup was $75, Warrell estimated.

Layton reported a 1955 Oldsmobile driven by J. C. Stout was damaged estimated $300 when it collided with a 1955 Dodge driven by Larry Dana at an intersection one mile east of Burley on a county road. Damage to Dana's auto was listed at $300.

Failure to carry out a signalled left turn was listed as the cause of a mishap four and three-fourths miles south of Burley on highway 27. Mrs. Glenn Berryman, driving a 1950 Studebaker, made the signal to turn into her driveway when she looked into the rearview mirror and saw a 1941 truck driven by Delano Yost approaching. She reported she decided to go straight because of the icy road. Yost said he applied his brakes but was unable to stop. Damage to the auto estimated at $150 and to the truck $75.

Damage to a 1952 Cadillac was listed at $125 when it slid into the rear of a 1955 International truck driven by Eugene F. Price two miles east of Declo on highway 30S, Warrell reported. Price said he slowed for a right turn and B. E. Stallings was unable to stop on the icy road. Elmer S. Saxton told Warrell that he had parked his 1948 Plymouth on the right side of the road and had started to pull onto the road when he was hit by a 1950 Hudson driven by Richard Lewis. H. O. Demurrer Denied For Court Action

A demurrer by defense attorneys for Fred Jesser and George Jesser alleging that the complaint fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action against them individually or as partners was denied Friday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker.

Chester B. Brown company, a seed and bean business, brought the suit against George Jesser, Fred Jesser and Jesser and Jesser, partners, in December. It is alleged that $8,082.90 is owed the company by the defendants as a result of transactions involving money and beans. The demurrer said the complaint failed to state whether the alleged partnership is based upon written or an oral agreement; that it was impossible to determine at what time the partnership was created, and whether it continued through the dates the alleged transactions occurred, and whether they were doing business as a partnership.

Attorney Tom A. Alworth represents the company and Rayburn, Rayborn and Kramer and Lloyd Walker represents Fred Jesser and George Jesser.

Truman Flays GOP Stand in N. Y. Address

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said last night the Democrats will give the American people a chance to vote for a President "and not a regency or a part-time chairman of the board."

Truman said the pressure Republicans are putting on President Eisenhower "to run in spite of everything is indecent."

His oblique reference to Eisenhower's health came in a prepared address at a state Democratic dinner here. In what has come to be known as his "give 'em hell" style, Truman spoke of GOP "double-cross ... duplicitous ... cynical way ... partisan advantage ... bluff and bluster with atomic weapons ... ignoble use of foreign policy ... frantic efforts to discredit the Democrats."

Blue-printing a campaign year at a Republican foreign policy Truman told his audience: "I believe that the policies of this administration are leading into a situation of growing danger where the balance of strength may shift strongly against the free world. This would be a terrible disaster."

"I think it is our inescapable duty to point out the danger to the American people. If we stand quietly by and let the people think that all is well, then we will share the blame and guilt. This I am unwilling to do."

Truman said that all signs point "strongly to a Democratic victory in 1956."

"Among our great advantages over the Republicans is the fact that we have a number of men of outstanding character and ability who are available to head the ticket. Some of these outstanding men are active candidates for the nomination—some are not. Some of them are here with us tonight, some are not."

"But whether our candidate is here tonight or not, I can tell you this: We are going to give the American people a chance to vote for a President—and not a regency or a part-time chairman of the board."

"The Republicans on the other hand are desperate. They know they don't have a chance with any one except Ike; and the pressure they are putting on him to run in spite of everything is indecent."

"They are in trouble no matter what they do—and I wouldn't give very much for their prospects, in spite of all their money."

Asked on the dais with Truman were two potential Democratic presidential candidates—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Professional Adjustment Bureau filed suits Friday in Twin Falls district court against Gilbert Marlin and Charles J. Wilson for bills owed by the two men.

McWilliams, $5 for professional services in February, 1953; and Magic City Fuel company, $5.50 for merchandise delivered in December, 1954. The complaint asks $10.12 interest on the hospital bill.

The bureau seeks to collect $75 from Wilson plus $2.75 interest on a bill owed Dr. Lawrence J. Cohen, Portland, since August, 1953. H. N. Jewell, attorney, represents the bureau in both actions.

Report Given On Plans for 1956 Tourney

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors were informed Friday in a letter from high school Principal John Platt that the fourth district class A basketball tournament will return to Twin Falls this year.

In the letter read by Clifford Smith, board chairman, at the weekly meeting Friday noon, Platt suggested a dinner at 6:30 p. m. Feb. 16 at the Rogerson hotel coffeeshop for all coaches and school officials participating in the meet.

Directors voted to sponsor the meeting. Smith also told the board that flight 339 of United Air lines west-bound from Salt Lake City had been rescheduled and will arrive in Twin Falls at 7:10 p. m. rather than 4:15, effective Sunday.

"The flight will include stops in Boise, Portland, Seattle and will terminate in Vancouver, he said. Formerly it ended in Portland, he added.

Kenneth Montgomery, secretary-manager, reported a workshop for industrial and tourist development analysis will be held Feb. 17.

He reported the Merchants' Bureau will announce two plans for obtaining better participation in its activities Monday. A series of meetings held last week by merchants formulated the two plans.

Arbitration Is Rebuffed in 4 Months' Tieup

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Operators of 10 coastwise ships tied up by a strike of the Masters, Mates and Pilots unions have rejected an offer to arbitrate the four-month-old dispute.

Whitney Olson, spokesman for the operators, explained that they did not wish to upset the pattern already established this year in a settlement for deep-water maritime workers.

Three other maritime unions joined the Sailors Union of the Pacific in asking the NWP to make a new try to settle the dispute. The unions represent about 300 men idled by the strike.

The unions were the marine firemen, marine engineers and marine cooks and stewards.

Capt. Charles P. May, leader of the MMP, criticized the unions for opposing the strike, he said:

"We will negotiate our own agreement and we will set our own pattern. These unions have no right to try to negotiate our contract for us."

The MMP is seeking wage increases and other benefits which the employees say would add $152 to the monthly wage of every mate and master. The MMP estimated they would add no more than $50. The other unions feel that a $25 increase would be fair, according to the industry pattern.

Soils Analysis Plan Changed

Idaho soil is going to college. County Agent C. W. Daigh announces a new system for giving the earth a "physical." Although county agents will continue to test soils and serve as soil sample collectors, the agricultural chemistry department at the University of Idaho will make analysis upon request.

Charles Painter, soils specialist of the extension service, said the chemistry department will provide one series of tests for northern Idaho soils and another type for southern Idaho.

About 2,000 samples are tested annually. Under the new system the total may reach 4,000, Painter said.

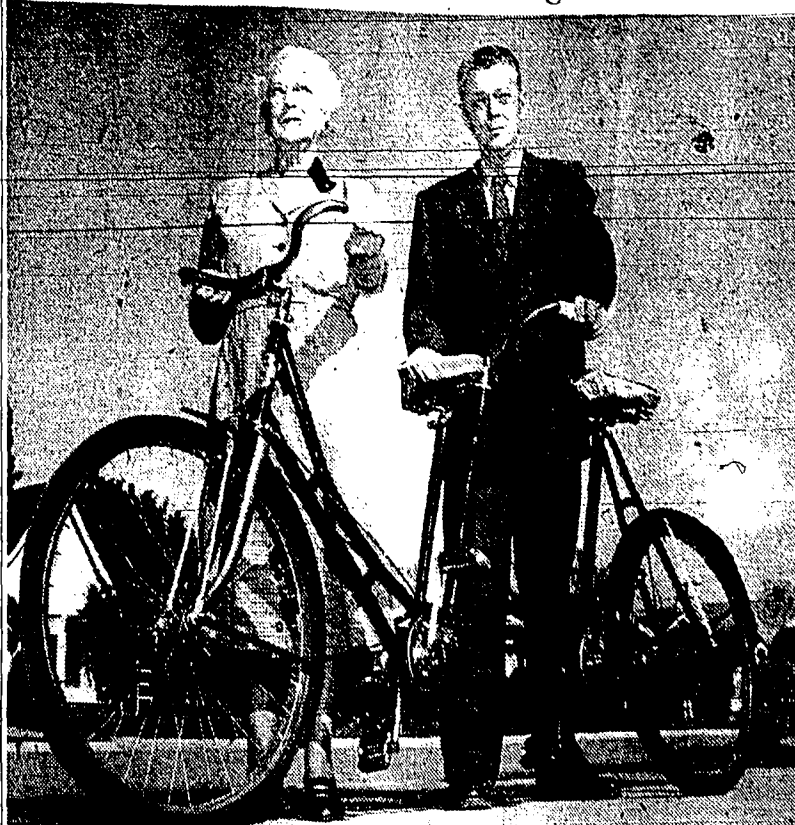

However, Daigh said he does not anticipate many Twin Falls farmers can take advantage of the service because it is doubtful if dry samples can be obtained by Feb. 15, the closing date.

All soil samples will go to the county agent first, Daigh said. There they will be air dried and screened before going to the university. Samples will be shipped in soil envelopes available from the extension service and must be accompanied by a card showing the cropping history and other necessary facts, Daigh stated.

About one pound is required for a complete test.

Southern counties standard test will include phosphorus, phosphoric acid, potash and total salts. Separate tests for total nitrogen and potash also are available.

Collection of Art Shipped by Vans

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Some 100 paintings worth 3.5 million dollars began to leave New York by moving van yesterday for a unique 10,000-mile, coast-to-coast tour of art museums in eight American cities.

A spokesman for North American Van Lines, Inc. said it was the first time a collection of art of this magnitude has been transported by van.

The masterpieces are a select segment of Walter P. Chrysler, Jr.'s collection of 3,000 paintings.

The vans will be protected by state and local police as they move across the country, and their route will be kept secret. In addition to the paintings, the caravan will include a variety of sculpture worth $500,000 which left New York Tuesday.

Portion of Brink's 'Loot' Recovered

BOSTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—First official word that a "small part" of the $1,120,000 Brink's loot has been recovered came yesterday.

The disclosure was made in Suffolk superior court as Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward M. Sullivan argued successfully against a reduction of bail for four of seven alleged bandits in custody in Massachusetts jails.

The prosecutor, pressed by newsmen, said he is "not at liberty to disclose" how much of the money has been recovered.

Study Planned

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Indian Commissioner Glenn L. Emmons yesterday announced appointment of a three-man commission to study on the Navaho reservation in Arizona, Utah and New Mexico and on other reservations in New Mexico and Colorado.

He said the commission was named "in an effort to learn more about the problem of alcoholism among Indians and how to deal with it more effectively."

Demo Hopes Pact to End Brink Walks

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson hopes the Declaration of Washington signed by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Anthony Eden will put a stop to GOP "bomb-brandishing and brink-walking."

Stevenson expressed this hope last night in a speech to 3,200 cheering Democrats at the Bay Meadows Race Track clubhouse in suburban San Mateo.

After concluding his speech, Stevenson returned to San Francisco to spend the night. Today he worked on a speech he will deliver tomorrow to the convention of the California Democratic Council in Fresno.

He is currently touring California in a bid for the state's 68 votes to the Democratic national convention. The California primary election is June 4.

Stevenson, who has been critical in his other California speeches of the administration's foreign policy, said the most encouraging thing about the declaration "is that it stands in sharp contrast to the understand diplomacy to which we have been treated lately."

Fight Slated

ATLANTA, Feb. 3 (AP)—Southern states expressed added determination today in their efforts to rebuff the supreme court's anti-segregation rulings with ancient legal doctrines, appeals, and a new call for creation of a Dixie compact.

South Carolina's senate voted unanimously yesterday on a resolution vowing that state will "exercise all powers reserved to it" to protect its sovereignty and rights of its citizens. The vote was taken on a move to give the measure a routine third or passage, reading today after which it will be sent to the house.

A consolidation of Feb. 6, 1952, of the Idaho Evening Times... Published daily and Sunday at 125 Second Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, by the Times-News Publishing Company.

THE BULGANIN OFFER The United States cannot now or ever be a party to any plan of world settlement which calls for dividing the globe into Communist and non-Communist spheres of influence.

That is perhaps the chief reason why President Eisenhower could do no other than reject Russian Premier Bulganin's offer of a treaty of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union.

It is one thing to recognize, as we do, the existence of a military stalemate in the world today. It is quite another to extend formal recognition, to condone, Soviet conquests in Europe during and after World War II.

Furthermore, we have no assurance whatsoever that a treaty of friendship with Russia would be worth a ruble. Russia's path is strewn with broken treaties of this sort.

As Mr. Eisenhower observed in his written reply to Bulganin, America is ready now as always to negotiate sincerely for world peace.

Russia has so far shown no effort of that kind. Its price for friendship, indeed for peace, is the West's endorsement of all the evil it has wrought.

Even in the world of nuclear forces, free men need not thus court the "friendship" of tyrants. We need not yield to their smiling blackmail. By keeping strong and united we can block their resort to violence, halt further conquest, and one day lift the yoke from the conquered.

As President Eisenhower turns over in his mind the great problem of whether or not to run again, he shows every evidence of deserving the high trust the majority of Americans place in him.

Some of those who like to portray him as simply a "front man" for clever politicians have been saying from time to time that they fear Mr. Eisenhower might be "pressured" into a second-term bid unless he gets a flat turnaround from the doctors.

He is not trying to decide just the simple question of whether or not his chances are good of surviving another term. He is trying to face realistically all the ramifications that grow from a heart attack.

Even if he feels well and the doctors say he is well and he can live safely through the next five years, the question as he sees it is: Can I do justice to the presidency?

He is not assuming for a second that he can be the man he was before Sept. 24, 1955, when the attack struck. He knows he must follow certain rules limiting his behavior and activities. He is trying earnestly to figure out whether following that strict regimen will still permit him to be the kind of full-time President any man is elected to be.

Mulling these things over, some of them out loud at news conferences, the President gives the American people a picture of a man wholly dedicated to doing the right thing for them. He does not want to run, or be elected, under any false pretenses. He wants them to understand exactly what his condition is, and that it might affect the operations of the presidency.

In the light of his candid public comment, the idea that Mr. Eisenhower could be pressured into running looks pretty foolish. He is certainly amenable to talk of doing his duty, but he has made plain that it is for him, not someone else, to decide where his duty lies.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—With ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the most conspicuous beneficiary, the small group of gubernatorial Republicans who sponsored President Eisenhower's entry into politics are collecting handsomely for their foresight.

The allegedly one-sided distribution of favors, however, casts a sharp light on Ike's political intentions, in the opinion of political observers. If he does not intend to run again because of the February medical report, it indicates his intense interest in a GOP triumph next November.

It suggests that he will intervene actively in the selection of the ticket, if he is forced to step aside, and in the writing of the platform. It guarantees that he will campaign as actively as his health permits for the return of a Republican President and Congress.

Party planners breathe easier as the thought. Even if he does not head the ticket, the nominees will seek votes under his sign and blessing. Their cry can be well: "Carry-on with Eisenhower."

FRANK RECOGNITION OF "FRIENDS"—Not even such professional partisans as FDR or Harry S. Truman showed such frank recognition of "friends" as has the military man in the White House. In this connection, it should be noted that landing a federal job is the least desirable and rewarding form of patronage.

DEWEY'S DEMAND GRANTED—But these personal gifts are dwarfed by the largesse showered on other non-capitol hill members of the "Eisenhower team," which again sponsors Ike, or hopes to name the ticket in event of his retirement.

THE FAMED PASANAGUQUOY plan for harnessing the tides of the Bay of Pandy, which Republicans laughed and voted out of existence when FDR advocated it, has White House backing, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine is for Ike first, last and all of the time.

THE SPURNED RECOMMENDATIONS—Eisenhower spurned the recommendations of two of the most powerful members of the New York Republican delegation in the house in filling a judgeship vacancy. He named a man favored by the "state organization" over the candidate of Reps. Daniel A. Reed and John Taber, Reed is top GOP-er on ways and means, Taber on the appropriations committee. And Dewey is the "state organization."

UNEVEN DISTRIBUTION OF FAVORS?—A leading member of the Eisenhower clique, as well as a personal friend, is ex-Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado. On his behalf, he favors the upper Colorado water storage project, although critics contend that more irrigated land will only feed the eight billion dollars surplus of farm crops.

Views of others: THE WEST IS GROWING With the exception of Florida, the most rapidly growing states are in the West. The census bureau report, updating the country's population estimates to mid-1955, shows healthy growth in every Western state—spectacular increases in some.

ALTHOUGH its population of 225,000 is still the smallest in the nation, Nevada's 40.6 per cent gain during the five years made it the fastest growing state percentage-wise. Arizona increased 30.7 per cent in the period; California 23.1 per cent; Colorado 16.9; New Mexico 16.7; Utah 13.4; Montana 7.1; Wyoming 5.3; and Idaho 3.5 per cent.

Only six states showed a population decline: Alabama, Arkansas, Maine, Mississippi, Oklahoma and West Virginia, and gains were so small in Iowa, Kentucky and Vermont that they might be considered as merely holding their own. Florida increased more than 24 per cent.

Quantitatively, California, with an increase of nearly 7.5 million, ousted all other states in growth. It remains second only to New York in number of inhabitants. Healthy population increase is closely associated with economic and social progress. Reasons for population gains include economic opportunity and the call of the sunshine and wide open spaces. The latter does not apply to the smog-ridden Los Angeles area but it undoubtedly plays a big part in increases in the Mojave desert of California and in Nevada, Arizona, Utah and other parts of the Intermountain West.

ITS A PROPER PENALTY There may be other ways of dealing with persons guilty of malicious or thoughtless destruction of property, but so far none of them would seem to be more satisfactory than the penalty which Ada county's Probate Judge John Jackson meted out the other day to four Boise teen-agers.

There are the lessons of age-old experience to support the conclusion that the certainty and the definiteness of the penalty for wrongdoing is most effective in keeping wayward humanity in line.

It is a judgment that has stood the test of time, and it's just as good today as it ever was—Boise Statesman.

POT SHOTS

IT'S TOO FRESH At the risk of running a good subject (weather) into the ground, we'll pass along one person's analysis of what's wrong with these days.

Five "just pups" need new homes. Two are male and three are female. They're about 8 weeks old. You can phone Twin Falls 1525-R or pick them up at the H. L. Armstrong place one and three-fourths miles south of South Park.

Dear Pot Shots: We have three 6-week-old puppies to give away. The mother is a purebred black Labrador. One puppy is golden and two are black. All are girls.

Dear Pot Shots: We have five puppies to give away. They will make good pets for children. You can pick them up at 221 West Ave. G (Jerome).

OH, YES! It might sound just a bit trite to call attention to some old saying like the one about not missing the water until the well goes dry, but that's about the case in this incident.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD Concerned, Twin Falls—That's the Hollywood version. Actually, newspapermen probably don't drink any more hard liquor than carpenters, butchers, mechanics, doctors or people in any other trade.

FAMOUS LAST LINE "... When the temperature drops to zero another 15 or 20 degrees doesn't make much difference."

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife never spent a single hour as a student in any public school. None of their children ever did and it need not be doubted that Negroes were absent from the private schools which they attended.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Thomas R. Waring, the editor of the Charleston News and Courier, at last has been able to break through the barrier imposed by the New York press, television, and radio, services against the "southern side" of the so-called integration decree.

Marshall Field was raised in England and went to Eton, a stronghold of traditional and ridiculous snobbery. He did not develop his great affection for the lower orders until Louis Weiss, a pro-Communist lawyer, took him up on a mountain and quizzed him all he saw below.

Ogden Reid, the father of the two young men who now run the Herald Tribune, went to something then called the Browning school in New York. This probably was a post-graduate kindergarten because at 22 he already had behind him a hitch at Bonn university in Germany and time enough at Yale to get his AB.

Mr. Reid, though a nice fellow, was not prodigiously studious. His wife, Helen, spent six years at a place called Grafton Hall in Wisconsin, which would seem to have been a private seminary, judged by the name.

The South is beginning to realize that a tremendous force of editorial propaganda of all media flows constantly from New York. The few New York papers are quoted by the hinterland press and they sometimes quote one another as though they spoke in voices of supernatural wisdom.

About June, 1916, a young applicant for a job sent his card in to Roy at the United Press inscribed, "How would you like to have a Yale man on your staff?"

Mr. Waring raises an ironic point when he says the solution may be the creation of "upper-bracket private schools for prosperous Negroes." Many white families have practiced segregation for generations by planting their scions in exclusive, choosy academies.

GLENN'S FERRY, Feb. 3—Loyal Order of Moose and Women of the Moose will hold a booster night party at the Moose home Saturday. Each member is asked to bring friends.

A film on Mooseheart will be shown and Dept. Supreme Gov. Chester Thomas will speak. A program and entertainment will follow the film and a potluck lunch will be served.

That So!

Poolle Superior Dog Despite It's Hair-Do "Ranger, I've got a husband gradually going crazy. Summer, he wrangles dudes for a living. Just the dudes isn't bad—they drop a lot of hard money. But what my man can't take is the dogs they bring with them. Like those panly-walst, tailor-clipped poolles. It's enough to turn any cow-poke's stomach."

About June, 1916, a young applicant for a job sent his card in to Roy at the United Press inscribed, "How would you like to have a Yale man on your staff?"

Mr. Waring raises an ironic point when he says the solution may be the creation of "upper-bracket private schools for prosperous Negroes." Many white families have practiced segregation for generations by planting their scions in exclusive, choosy academies.

Dogs with their hundreds of breeds—including the forepaw poolle and cat, sheep and goat chickens and turkeys, horses and asses, camels and goats, oaks and corn, apples and oranges, lilacs and roses, even bees—all have been affected by cross-breeding.

By selecting animals and plants which possessed some characteristics in abundance, cross-breeding was affected to accentuate such characteristics. With such deliberate interference—breeding away from the norm, and accentuating the positive—we have dogs which resemble cats with long hair, sheep with barley wool, chickens that lay 360 eggs a year, honeybees that store up tremendous amounts of honey, cat-horses, early-maturing wheat, cat-sized apples, extra fragrant strawberries, gorgeously colored roses, and super-milk cows.

Because he swam in cold water to retrieve birds, the chest and shoulders were left covered for protection. The rear half was clipped to permit freer body movement. Patches were left on delicate parts of the legs where arteries were close to the surface. As for the "topnot" and the "tuft" on the tail, that enabled the hunters to follow him more easily in tall grass.

I'd like to add that I have never owned a poolle—hence I can be somewhat impartial. But as a family dog, I know of few, if any, more intelligent, good-natured, and gentle.

Why does a cow produce milk beyond her animal needs? asks Dr. H.E.B. Eugene, Ore. In one way or another, every domesticated animal and plant has been affected by man; largely through controlled heredity.

BABIES and NEWSPAPERS. "How times have changed," they say. "Synthetics, atomic fission, TV, power steering, super-sonic flight... an endless parade of revolutionary scientific wonders that stagger our imagination." Call it evolution, progress or what you like, however, there are certain fundamentals that carry on year after year, playing the same vital role in our way of life, unchallenged and unchanged either by gimmick or innovation—fundamentals like BABIES and DAILY NEWSPAPERS! Babies, we'll have to admit, are here to stay, and daily newspapers are so firmly established in our way of life that any satisfactory substitute is out of the question. From the beginning, newspapers have taken the lead in keeping the people informed thoroughly and reliably through both their news and advertising columns. Today that distinction stands out more significantly than ever before, with total daily newspaper circulation and advertising at an all-time high! Fundamental as they are, BABIES and NEWSPAPERS have much in common. From the day the youngster is born, the vital statistics of his life are a complete and permanent record in his hometown newspaper. Without exception, births, marriages, deaths and the part every individual plays in public life are recorded in his daily newspaper. That's why the daily newspaper plays such an important part in every home. That's why it's so effective as an advertising medium, day after day, year after year.

Sigma Phi Is 'Standing Pat' On 2 Pledges

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Feb. 3 (AP)—The Williams college chapter of the Sigma Phi fraternity believes it has won its point. It intends to go on admitting any new members it wants to, including Negroes.

Plans Continued Since the issue came up a month ago, the Williams chapter has gone ahead with plans to initiate the two Negroes, who were picked as pledges last fall for their "great merit." One of them is an officer of his class.

State's Police Force Lauded For '55 Work

BOISE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie yesterday released an interim report from the state department of law enforcement and complimented the department for its performance this past year, particularly in the field of traffic safety.

The report, submitted by Earle E. Koehler, law enforcement commissioner, covered the first calendar year under his administration. The governor also complimented the 1955 legislature for increasing the department particularly in the size of the state police force.

Both Smylie and Koehler attribute Idaho's outstanding traffic safety record in 1955 in part to the increase in the number of highway patrolmen. Fifteen were added on July 1.

Group Urging Idaho to Hike Tax for Beer

BOISE, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Idaho Allied Civic Forces voted yesterday to ask the 1957 state legislature for a county-wide local option law and increased taxes on beer.

The temperance organization also gave its approval to proposed legislation under which "any person who sells liquor or beer to minors shall respond in damage to anyone injured by the acts of such minor while under the influence of such intoxicants."

The ACF, in the first day of its two-day annual meeting, elected the Rev. John C. Boise, as president, succeeding the Rev. Gerald V. Case, also Boise.

At the group's annual banquet, Clayton Wallace, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Temperance League, said that public sentiment in the United States is turning against the use of beer and liquor.

Z. Reed Miller, Boise, legislative chairman, explained that the organization would seek a countywide local option law governing both liquor and beer, including beer in the grocery stores.

Under Idaho's present local option law, voting is done by cities and towns, and does not affect sale of beer, either in bottles or across the bar. "It affects only the sale of liquor by the drink."

The ACF has been urging for some time that beer be taxed at a higher rate. The "Challenge," official organ of the organization, is urging enactment of a stamp tax ranging anywhere from one to five cents per bottle.

The legislative committee also urged appropriation of funds to retain a state narcotics director and support of bills in congress which would prohibit sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages on commercial airlines.

Eden Is Given Ovation After Senate Speech

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden led congress yesterday the United States and Britain must fight communism with "political enlightenment" because guns alone can no longer do the job.

Speaking to vigorous applause from a packed senate and house, as well as from standing-room-only galleries in both chambers, Eden declared:

"It is not so much military containment as political enlightenment which is the need of the day."

The dapper Eden, his own gray hair glistening in the bright lights, got a standing ovation from the lawmakers.

One of the things they seemed to like best was his remark, not in his formal text, that the big thing about American-British relations is their spirit.

"You cannot analyze what it is due to, but it is something that only the free world enjoys," he said. "As long as we treasure and hold it, our nation and yours together, there will be peace in the world."

Eden reported in glowing terms on the three-day conference he completed with President Eisenhower Wednesday.

Famed Paper Freed Again; Presses Roll

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 3 (AP)—Freedom of the press returned to Argentina today when the newspaper La Prensa began publishing as a free newspaper for the first time in five years.

Dr. Alberto Galina Paz, who built the newspaper to greatness only to see it seized by former President Juan D. Peron, pressed a button at 1:45 p.m. which set its 21 unit press rolling to a record 700,000 copies.

La Prensa's famous siren which for years heralded events of world importance sounded for a full minute. At midnight there had been a minute of silence in memory of Roberto Nunes who was killed in 1951 when loyal staff members tried to publish the paper in defiance of Peron.

Room Is Jammed The pressroom was jammed with government officials, men and women prominent in the newspaper field, Argentine leaders and news-reel and television cameramen.

Page Streamlined Except in little resemblance to the La Prensa of old. Gone was the European-style front page of ads. In its place was a streamlined front page of news.

Tyrant Story Seen In the center was a story on the 104th anniversary of the overthrow of tyrant Juan Manuel de Rosas in the battle of Saucos on Feb. 3, 1852, and a notation by Galina Paz that celebration of Rosas' defeat was never observed under Peron.

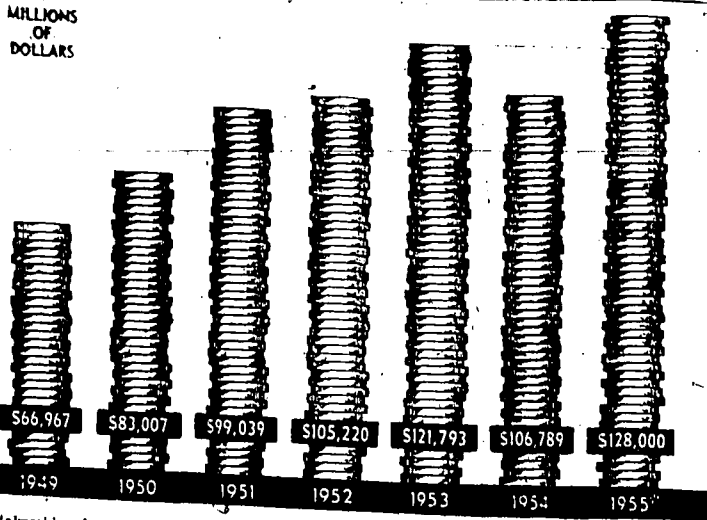

On the right was an interview with President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of the United Press, in which Aramburu welcomed La Prensa back as a free newspaper restoring Argentina to its pre-Peron place in the world.

New Programs For Roads Are Economy Hike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The jumbo road building program now before congress adds up to much better than a shot in the arm for the American economy.

It is more like a bull-in boom. The money involved would run a good-sized war for considerable time. It is roughly 51 billion dollars to be spent over a 13-year period. Approximately 36 billion dollars would be put up by the federal government, the rest by the states.

The dispute on financing some of these road projects ended when President Eisenhower withdrew his request that special new bonds be issued. He accepted Democratic proposals to lay heavy new taxes on motorists — gasoline, tires and such. The roads project has a green light now and a good chance to be enacted at this session.

Money Raised The proposed new taxes would raise 10 billion dollars to 12 billion dollars over a period of 13 years in the form in which the house ways and means committee is expected to propose them. But the over-all hike in federal road spending is expected to be around 23 billion dollars.

Both federal and state spending would extend in this good roads project over a period of 13 years. That breaks down to an average of about four billion dollars of spending annually for all the things that go into the building of roads. There will be machinery heavy and light, shovels, kerosene lanterns, hard surface material of almost every kind.

This money is going to be spread around widely for materials. It will be spread around by payrolls throughout the states. It is a major spending program which should be an important protection against recession, unemployment and human want.

40,000 Miles Proposed Proposed is 40,000 miles of an interstate highway system. Some of this money would have been spent, anyway, on regular programs. But congress and the President are acutely aware of the death, accident and property loss toll which inadequate highways now exact from motor-minded America.

All concerned agreed that road building must be stepped up. The big project was stymied in congress last year by the dispute over finances. House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. moved to get action by accepting the political fact that the Democrats controlled congress and would not agree to Mr. Eisenhower's bonds.

Accepts Advice Mr. Eisenhower accepted Martin's advice and accepted the new tax proposal. Levying of taxes in an election year is unusual. Both parties would like to avoid it. As it works out, the Democratic congressional majorities are stuck with responsibility for the new taxes which will annoy motorists.

But the motorists will be getting something big in return. The whole story is an example of how politicians can compose their differences if it generally is understood that the voters want action—now.

Tentative Plan Is Made for Events HALLEY, Feb. 3—Representatives of the Sawtooth Range Riding club, the Upper Big Wood River Grange, the Miners union, the Chamber of Commerce and Blaine County post No. 24, American Legion, met at the armory Tuesday evening to make tentative plans for Halley's diamond jubilee celebration.

The diamond jubilee theme will be featured in at least one community event during March, April, May and June, climaxing the celebration of the city's birthday at the July 3-4 celebration.

In March the Legion Loonies show and in April the Sawtooth Rangers annual dance will use the theme. Another meeting has been set for Feb. 6, at which time a secretary-treasurer for the committee will be elected. Delmer Nicholson heads the committee.

Welfare State and Wars Can Damage Country; Are Doing It Now in Britain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—War and the welfare state are the combination which lynch the individual taxpayer. The combination ultimately can lynch an entire country. It can, that is, if it is a tax-paying country.

France and Italy, where there is a lot of tax-strike ballyhoo, have the tax on the books. But a lot of citizens don't pay any or all of them. Not so in the United States and, for example, Great Britain.

Great Britain is a sort of preview for the United States of what is likely to happen here if the U. S. both continues to stumble into wars and expands its welfare statism. Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey told a breakfast group here yesterday that U. S. taxes are so high "they are curtailing to some extent the very basis of our freedom—initiative." He said there must be a money incentive to make a free economy click.

Heavy as U. S. taxes are, the income levels and sales taxes are not in the same class with those imposed in Great Britain. The British have advanced much further toward exhaustion through wars and the welfare state than has the United States, so far. The United States thrives on unmatched production of goods.

The British income tax on individuals and corporations begins at 10 percent. The United States tax on individuals begins at 14 percent. The British tax on corporations begins at 30 percent. The United States tax on corporations begins at 48 percent.

Ike Ghost-Writer Intends to Resign WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's speech writer, Kevin McCann, said today he has decided against a "second term" for himself—regardless of what his boss chooses to do.

"I've got to get back to Defiance, O., to resume my job as president of Defiance college," McCann told a reporter. "If I don't, they're liable to be looking for a new president. They won't be needing me here next year."

For about 11 years now, off and on, McCann has worked for Eisenhower. And after that long association, McCann says, it is a fairly easy task to write Eisenhower's speeches.

Idahoans Think Auto Dealers Are Receiving "Day in Court"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (Special)—The 15-man Idaho delegation to the National Automobile Dealers association convention here feels that it is "getting its day in court, at last."

Charles C. Haight, dealer from Burley and member of NADA's board of directors, labeled the five-day convention "successful and highly opportune."

Highlights of the convention have been addressed by Sena Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., and A. S. (Mike) Monroey, D. Okla. Both men spoke on such controversial convention topics as over-production of car, "bootlegging," and "phantom freight," all of which have plagued dealers in the recent past.

"Bootlegging" is unorthodox resale of new cars, and "phantom freight" is the Detroit-to-dealer shipping charge which manufacturers levy on the dealer regardless of where the automobile may be assembled.

Do Not Stress Petty Fights of Your Children

Don't try to be perfect. No family of children ever grew up without a few fights. Some fights are pretty much a normal part of living.

Lots of times if you leave the fighters alone the warfare peters out when nobody pays much attention.

Many a fight is directed toward the grow-up in the background and gets away from the other child. Fighting is one way some children demand (and get) adult attention.

Of course when the youngsters get to really banging each other you must step in and prevent serious damage.

Suppose one child has been egging the other on, pestering him, annoying him until finally the "innocent" one lets go and wallops the teaser. Whose innocent now? Many times the wallop is given the punisher.

This makes him resentful and the teaser gets the idea that annoying behavior is OK with Mom. He finds it's a successful way to get a little attention in an otherwise dull afternoon.

Neither child has learned anything very useful and you're apt to have more fights.

You'd probably get further with the two youngsters, if, when you separated them you sympathized a bit with the child who was being annoyed, even if he has done the immediate damage.

"I know, he was being a pest," you say. "But still I can't let you beat him up. Even if he is sometimes a nuisance I'd like to keep him around!"

And the teaser you'd better do something about too. Why does he find pleasure in being annoying? Maybe he's the one who really needs your attention. Does he find it hard to keep up with his brother? Does he feel very likely he needs a little special comfort to be made to feel more comfortable just being himself?

Maybe the two children need more time and space apart from each other. Each may need freedom in his own right. Not freedom to be annoying but freedom to be himself and to gain your approval completely on his own and not in relation to the other child.

If you can treat fights this way, with consideration for the needs of both warriors you will probably cut down the frequency of the battles. You won't eliminate them completely. In time the children will grow up beyond the need for fistfights.

Christian Dior Shows Fashions At Paris Event

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Fashion czar Christian Dior introduced today the "arrow look" for 1956—a new silhouette that flattened bosoms but flat.

The Dior silhouette for the coming year, highlight of the Paris 1956 fashion collections, was as straight and thin as an arrow.

He completely erased any trace of a curve this year as he introduced the "arrow look" to succeed the "A" and "H" lines of other years which had pushed the bust up to the breastbone.

The fashion world had looked to Dior's show to help make up its mind on what the 1956 silhouette would look like.

Nearly 500 women crowded into Dior's plush salon on the fashionable avenue Montaigne for the unveiling of his 1956 collection, the most awaited event of the Paris spring fashions.

The silhouette torso line rose straight as an arrow to the shoulders, which dropped off like an arrowhead on both sides in oversized ragnans and puffs.

The waist went straight up like a projectile and landed just under the bust. But the bust was gone and in its place was a line marked by belts and drapes.

The effect was spectacular, but Dior's new girdles, introduced with the new line, made an iron vest look simple by contrast.

The styles won wild applause from oohing and aahing women crowded into three big salons and standing all the way up the main stairs of the Dior establishment to watch his mannequin parade back and forth.
