South Idaho's Outlook for Water Is Termed Best in Years; Flooding Possible

BOISE, Feb. 8 (AP)—The U. S. soil conservation service said yesterday the outlook for irrigation water in southern Idaho is the best in years. But it warned residents of the Kootenai and lower Columbia to get ready for possible floods. "In southern Idaho and eastern Oregon this season's heavy snow pack breaks a series of years with low water supply," the service said. "This situation is desirable in the southern part of Columbia basin but poses a hazard when coupled with the high water content of snow on the northern rivers such as the Columbia and Kootenai."

School Heads To Showdown Over Incident

The school trustees adopted a resolution condemning the violence. The school trustees called on their "police power" to bar the girls from further classes "until further notice" in view of the rioting which included shouting threats and barrages of rocks and eggs hurled at the girls and at officials who tried to break up the mob.

A faculty member proposed that classes be suspended if further rioting results and his motion turned the otherwise calm meeting of 400 faculty members into a turmoil.

The student resolution condemned "three days" of "mob violence" and urged that "means be taken to protect the future personal safety of the students and faculty and the reputation of the university."

The resolution was unanimously passed after Dennis Holt, president of the University Debating society and a member of the government association, accused the school of "running away from a fight" in suspending the girls.

should be zoned into a C-3 district. Noting Jackson street and Piler avenue already includes a store, Walstrom suggested making the shop legal but placing future expansion on the Harrison street intersection. For the present it should retain its residential status but as the town develops and grows the C-3 classification should be put in effect.

Blue Lakes boulevard north and Piler avenue would have a C-2 designation on lots one, two and three, with lots four and five receiving C-3 and C-4 businesses to act as buffers for the residents surrounding the area.

The small stores located on the Heyburn avenue and Blue Lakes boulevard north intersection should be legalized, Walstrom recommended, but be restricted in expansion. Addison avenue and Blue Lakes boulevard intersection, or Five Points north, should receive a C-4 classification with several lots receiving the designation.

Addison avenue east and Morninglands drive should be classified C-3 according to Walstrom's recommendation. Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 would be available for expansion with lots 9 and 10 left for off street parking facilities. These businesses should conform with the architectural design of the buildings surrounding it, Walstrom added.

The Shoshone street and Ninth avenue east service station would receive a C-4 classification on a non-conforming basis and Blue Lakes Boulevard and Sixth avenue east would get a C-3 district.

For heavy industry, M-1, Walstrom recommended that ground bounded by Rock creek, Oserloh avenue, the city limits and the Union Pacific railroad. He suggested the area around Washington street south and Ramage street in South Park be converted to a commercial district, with the Chamber of Commerce industrial site getting an M-3 rating except for the starch plant which would remain M-1.

Walstrom noted the Rock creek canyon had "tremendous potential" as a recreation area and should be made such by the city. The entire canyon would receive a CG rating. He also recommended the city limit be moved eastward to Eastland drive.

The commission moved to accept the proposed long-range development plan which was suggested by Walstrom on his recent visit. By being able to point out a certain area was not designated on the long-range program as a commercial area, the city would be able to keep the number of "monopoly accusations" to a minimum, Norman Crossley, city engineer, pointed out. The legality of the development plan could not be questioned, as the law only requires proof the city has made careful study of its expansion, he noted.

Residents affected by commercial and other designations in their neighborhood should be heard at open hearings, but they could not stand in the way of city growth, Crossley noted.

In his recent visit to Twin Falls Walstrom commented on the matter stating although the people must be heard, the zoning commission must face the facts not the prejudices.

His last recommendation concerned the mapping, including streets, of land which will be incorporated into the city in the future. Although several alternate commercial sites could be selected, most would revert to residential districts as different commercial areas were begun.

Funeral Held for Francis B. Peck

Sagebrush burns quickly and Zumbel was forced to get up and pull more sagebrush at regular intervals. He did not have a knife. His only weapon was a .32-20 revolver which he fired occasionally. At one time he dozed off to sleep and his rubber-soled boot slipped into the fire burning a hole in the sole. The search party found tracks during their search but because they were filling up with snow the searchers were unable to tell how long they had been made. Benham said at one time he believes he and Scott were within a fourth of a mile of Zumbel's camp. After being brought to town Thursday Zumbel rested for a few hours and then went to his job at the Standard Service station near Five Points west. He said he had been lost once before and was forced to remain in the woods overnight. His first experience occurred while he was working for the forest service on a deer coant in the White river past country near Riggin.

Horses Make Bison Angry, Jeeps Do Not

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Old West is dying. It's so far gone that even the sight of a horse makes the buffalo nervous. They're used to being herded with jeeps.

That's the word of Les Price, proprietor of the country's largest buffalo herd. He's superintendent of the 73,000-acre Custer State park in South Dakota.

"The buffalo herdsman have jeeps now, and the herd is used to them," Price said in an interview. "The buffalo will attack a horse and kill it, now. If you ride out in there among 'em with a horse, you're in trouble."

Kills Are Used

The Custer park herd numbers about 1,500 head after the "winter kill." The herd has to be reduced twice a year by expert marksmen to keep it from getting bigger than the range's grassland feeding capacity.

Conservation measures have brought the North American buffalo population back to around 100,000, Price said, from its low of fewer than 6,000 around the turn of the century when hunters slaughtered them for the skins—at $2 a skin. Before the white hunter came, 60 to 100 million buffalo roamed over an area now covered by 34 states.

The mixing buffalo has been improved somewhat by breeding but he's one of nature's orneriest critters. Price said he believes the mature buffalo bull is the most powerful living thing on the North American continent, short-tempered, unpredictable—a sort of bulldozer with jet speed.

Anti-Social Critics

"They're an anti-social—that's what saves the tourists," he said. "They'll leave you alone if you don't bother them."

A full-grown buffalo bull weighs 2,000 to 3,000 pounds, stands 6½ feet tall, is faster than a horse.

"We've got a dozen jeeps that we use in herding. A jeep weighs about half what a mature bull does. I've seen a buffalo cave in the back end of a jeep with one kick."

Night Observed

Possible Flood Threat Seen in Snake River Runoff This Year

If normal or heavy precipitation falls in the upper Snake river watershed during February, it will be necessary to spill some water from Jackson lake to prevent floods at Heise, Lynn Crandall, Snake river watermaster, reported Wednesday.

Snow surveys taken near the end of January show that the snow pack and water content not only are far in excess of normal but are nearing the depths set in 1943, the peak year on the records of the United States geological survey.

Above Jackson lake the water content is 95 per cent of the Feb. 1, 1943, mark and between Jackson lake and Heise the depth is 72 per cent of the previous high reading. At Island park the water content is 85 per cent of 1943 while at Fall river the measurement is even with the previous record. Along the Teton river the water content is 75 per cent of the previous high.

In 1943 the Snake river reached a peak flow of 35,000 second feet on June 23 and there was considerable flood damage in both Idaho and Wyoming. To prevent a recurrence this year, plans are to spill some water from Jackson lake as soon as the ice melts in the Snake river channel. If this is done, Crandall explained, the flood peak at Heise may be held down to less than 30,000 second feet.

The overall situation will be affected by the precipitation in the next three months, the watermaster continued. While the snow in the high elevations is deep for Feb. 1, it averages just about normal for April 1, he said.

Snow survey stations on the various drainages with amounts of snow, water contents and percentages of normal are Snake river drainage, 61 inches, 12.2 inches, 142 per cent; Morman, 50 inches, 14 inches, 170 per cent; Moran canyon, 78 inches, 22.8 inches, 180 per cent; Arizona station, 69 inches, 21.8 inches, 163 per cent; Huckleberry divide, 73 inches, 22.9 inches, 166 per cent; Snake river station, 77 inches, 23.9

Trio Entered In Finals for Scholarships

Three Twin Falls high school seniors have been named semifinalists in the General Motors national scholarship program.

Richard Murphy, Norman Talk and Bill Alworth are among 1,600 students chosen to enter the final competition for the 100 scholarships to be awarded this year.

The scholarships are honors to be awarded entirely on the basis of merit. An annual stipend of from $200 (an honorary award) to $2,000 will be awarded on the basis of financial need. Stipend setting is based on estimated college expenses, including a modest allowance for transportation between home and college, and on estimated resources available to the student.

The 1,600 students were chosen on the basis of scores received in the college board aptitude tests taken Jan. 14.

Final judging will be on the basis of secondary school record, scores received on the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination board, ratings by a member of the staff of the secondary school attended, and statements by the student on his background and his interests.

Awards will be made in the student's name to the college he elects to enter. The college will apply the necessary funds to its charges and will be responsible for releasing the additional funds to the student for his other expenses.

Each privately-endowed college in which GM scholars are enrolled will receive for its unrestricted use a sum equal to its tuition charges, with a minimum of $500 and a maximum of $800 per year.

Law Enforced

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 8 (AP)—The official campaign against theaters which do not show enough Argentine films has darkened two of this city's biggest movie houses.

The Gran Rex and Broadway theaters were two of the nine theaters closed yesterday for periods ranging from one to four days for showing less than their quota of locally-made pictures.

Muster Day Drive Is Set By Governor

BOISE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Gov. Robert S. Smyke yesterday proclaimed Feb. 15 as National Guard Muster day in Idaho, kicking off a drive to increase the guard's strength from 4,000 to 4,100 officers and men by that date.

Smyke said the recruiting program was part of a nationwide effort.

If the Idaho guard meets its quota, it will have increased its strength 40 per cent since a step-up in recruitment started four months ago.

An air and army guard units and commandos have quotas for next year. The day also will be marked by open houses and demonstrations at the state's 27 national guard armories.

Proclaiming the day as part of the observance of Washington's birthday, which is Feb. 22, Smyke lauded the guard "for its selfless and heroic service not only in wars of this nation but in times of flood, fire and other disasters."

Students Rioting In Madrid Areas

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 8 (AP)—Riots broke out today at the University of Madrid between Falangist students who supported Generalissimo Francisco Franco and other students protesting Falangist control of student organizations.

First reports said a number were injured.

For the second day in a row rival groups of students demonstrated in Madrid's streets, and today the demonstrators met in battle with stones and clubs at two separate points in the university.

Reinforced police battled to break up the incidents before open warfare spread through the student body. Police prevented students from forming into groups outside the university, but the street was thronged with excited youths.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's visit to the Chicago stockyards, where he auctioned off a shipment of fine fat hogs at a loss to the producer, marks the opening of the administration's attempt to appease an angry agricultural electorate. Instead of sitting in his paneled office, he means to carry the fight to the farm front henceforth.

In addition to pocketbook suffering from the fall-in-income, farmers resent the apparent indifference toward their difficulties at Washington. They have complained that Benson does not consult down-to-earth hog-raisers about their "squeezes" between low receipts and high prices for what they buy.

They think that he listens only to slide rule theorists. In short, they feel neglected by the agency created to safeguard their interests, as Sinclair Weeks labors for the business community, and James P. Mitchell for the employes.

SMUG DEZEANOR—Indeed, although Benson is a sincere and conscientious man, they think that they detect a certain smugness in the atmosphere and attitude at the capital. It is a charge frequently directed against certain members of the Eisenhower entourage, although not against the President. He still stands aloof from the controversies swarming around him.

Secretary Dulles gave support to this suspicion in his magazine interview in which he permitted himself to be interpreted as one of the greatest statesmen, and the salvation of the West in three crises. Benson's endorsement of the Harper magazine article, which depicted the farmer as a "selfish tyrant," aggravated the feeling of bitterness. It is hardly necessary to recall Secretary Wilson's remark that "What's good for General Motors is good for the U.S.A."

IMPORTANCE OF POLITICAL TRIVIA—These may seem like trivial things, but it is often the human trivia which counts in politics. No recent politicians recognized that fact more than Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. In contrast to the men around Ike, they inspired the belief that there was a warm and human regime, seeking only the betterment of mankind here and abroad.

FDR, for instance, obtained enactment of almost all of his social and economic reforms in his first term, or before the 1939 outbreak of war. With our entry, he announced that he had switched from "Doctor New Deal" to "Doctor Win the War."

Postwar problems, as well as conservative opposition on Capitol Hill, prevented Truman from putting through any new reforms, or from expanding FDR's beginnings. But their legislative failures on behalf of important voting elements—their 15 barren years—did not keep them from talking and advocating things the people wanted to hear.

They showed a personal concern for the voters' problems. Eleanor Roosevelt preached the humanitarian gospel from weekly press conferences to the deepest coal mines, from Washington to Guadalcanal. Truman owes his 1948 victory over Dewey to his "whistle stop" tour. He talked an understandable political dislodge, in his "give 'em hell" speeches.

CHILLY LANGUAGE—Benson's language, as well as the retorts of many cabinet colleagues, has been technically correct in his analysis of the farm problem. But it has been cold, formal, detached. It has not reflected a real and deep concern for the farmer's present-day plight.

He points out, for instance, that the value of farmland is at a record high. He notes that farm debt has fallen to the lowest percentage, compared to assets, in many years. He emphasizes that three-fifths of the decline in farm income occurred during Truman's last few years, not on Ike's time.

BENSON IS LEARNING—But these arithmetical rebuttals put no money in farmers' savings accounts. They buy no high-priced tractors, milking machines, fencing wire. They offer not even sympathy. Nor does it appear that the administration's nine-point program will become law in time to help the farmer before the November election.

But Ezra is learning, as his appearance at the Chicago stockyards in zero weather suggests. He is going out to meet the farm folks, and talk in terms they understand. Most importantly, as forecast here, he is finally attacking the problem of the prices and profits—the "spread"—on crops and commodities after they leave the farm.

In short, like FDR and Truman, although he cannot solve their problems overnight, he will show that he is not smug or complacent or indifferent. Other cabinet members may—in fact, should—do likewise.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

OUTWORN 'SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY'
In what is believed to be the first suit under a new law passed by the last session of the Idaho legislature, a coed at the University of Idaho whose home is in Cincinnati, O., has started court action against the university. She's asking for $75,000 damages, claiming that she slipped on ice and fell on a dormitory's steps.

The new law is involved only to the extent that it would permit a claimant to prosecute this sort of action against the state or a state agency. It provides that the "adversely immunity" of the state shall be waived for this purpose to the extent of the insurance the state carries, and it prohibits insurance companies from raising in actions filed against the state, which dates back to the earliest times of the common law in England and which is based on the theory that the king can do no wrong, has stood as a barrier against the prosecution of such claims. Because of the lack of any definitive removal of this barrier, a suit that was brought by another Idaho student who claimed his back was injured when a bleacher in the basketball gymnasium collapsed was tossed out of court two years ago. It has been a situation in which insurance companies writing policies for the state have been able to profit without much, or any, risk.

The intention of the legislature in passing this new law is clear, and it's plainly in line with justice and equity.

Irrespective of the merits of the claim in this present case, it is to be hoped that this new law will stand up under the legal test.

If it shouldn't, it would be up to the next legislature to try again to accomplish its purpose in this regard.—Idaho Statesman.

PERSISTENT BULGANIN

Premier Bulganin just won't take no for an answer. President Eisenhower had hardly put aside the Russian proposal for a 20-year friendship pact before Bulganin was back with the same offer in slightly different form. On the second time around, however, Bulganin suggested that he might be willing to negotiate similar treaties with Britain and France, though only last spring Russia tore up two such treaties in retaliation for ratification of German rearmament.

Obviously, the Soviet premier must believe he is developing a rich propaganda vein. His persistence cannot be explained otherwise. Hitler employed the "big lie" technique. The Kremlin is just as skillful with the "big promise."

In his original reply, President Eisenhower said that deeds and not words were called for. Bulganin now attempts to show that the country has some deeds to its credit. Russia has reduced military manpower, returned a naval base to Finland and cut the military budget by billions of rubles (whatever they may mean). These are deeds? To us they look like window dressing.

It is no accident that the Kremlin is so busy with diplomatic correspondence. Sir Anthony Eden was in Washington and he couldn't be allowed to have the front pages to himself. Unfortunately, some nations and peoples simply don't, or won't, understand the facts of propaganda.

Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin's latest message is not expected until later in the week. We hope that it's President speaks so clearly that neither Russia nor our friends can mix the point. For we can't afford to let Russia's short in propaganda or anything else.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Dear Pot Shots:
On the subject "I pay and pay" the withholding tax that you pay but never see, never receive it and never handle it. Is this something like work and no pay?
If you never actually receive this money—how could you actually pay the money for taxes. I believe that your wages paid, this includes the amount withheld, so how was it paid to you when you never received it?
Who's mastermind can explain this; no money received, yet the report says it was paid to you?
How about a little interest on this money withheld from wages for taxes. It accumulates somewhere, somebody is using it. If taxes are in arrears you pay interest, or do you?? How about payments made in advance?
If you had this money to use for your own account it is possible to reduce your taxes, too. If you give it for contributions. Since you do not receive this money and cannot use it, and do not have enough left from your check to make such a contribution you are denied this privilege of giving and reducing your tax.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—While it was brought up only informally during the Eden-Eisenhower talks, the question of the forthcoming visit to England of Marshal Bulganin and Premier Khrushchev has been the source of some little embarrassment.

Having invited the two communist leaders just after the summit conference at Geneva last summer, Prime Minister Eden has indicated that he has no intention of withdrawing that invitation.

If Bulganin and Khrushchev were to decide that they could not find time to visit Britain, it is hardly a secret that a great sigh of relief would go up in London. But the belief now is that they will go through with the trip in an atmosphere quite different from the glow of hope generated at the summit meeting of the heads of state of the so-called big four powers.

The British today feel that to cancel the invitation would give Moscow a chance to charge that the West was running down an iron curtain and preventing the kind of friendly contacts that the western powers sought to establish at the Geneva foreign ministers' meeting in November. Moreover, any change in the plan coming after the Eden-Eisenhower talks would open the way to Russian propaganda that the step had been taken in deference to American wishes.

This is an extremely sensitive point for Eden in the house of commons where, as he pointed out during the talks, he must make it clear that British policy, whether on China or any other issue, is not dictated by American policy.

At the summit meeting the Russian leaders were as one member of the American delegation put it, fairly drooling for an invitation to visit the United States. But in spite of the general euphoria generated before they did not get a bid. Even before President Eisenhower's heart attack when it was considered certain he would run for a second term, the prospect of the No. 1 and No. 2 communists putting up at Blair house and sitting down to a state banquet in the White House would have caused the Republican campaign managers to turn pale with horror.

Despite repeated hints, the United States has never invited Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, a communist who broke with Moscow, to come to this country.

Eden at Geneva was more impulsive. He asked Bulganin and Khrushchev to come to London and they replied with a hearty affirmative, saying they would come in the early spring of this year. This news was made public shortly after the summit conference ended.

The British expect that the two super salesmen of communism will be more circumspect on their tour of Britain than they were in southeast Asia. They will go to Buckingham Palace and be given a state dinner by Queen Elizabeth. But it will all be quite formal and proper and opportunities for the kind of freewheeling speecmaking that they did in India and Burma will be few and far between.

Nevertheless, while this whole question is in itself unimportant, and it was treated in the informal talks with slightly wry humor, it does serve to illustrate a most important point that has been politely ignored in the British-American conversations. That point is simply this: The Russians are conducting an active peace offensive, taking the initiative at every turn.

However circumspectly they may behave in Britain, avoiding the kind of provocation they gave in Asia, they will again have a world stage from which to talk about peace. All the media of mass communication will be trained on them as they visit the mother of democrats where fair play is a deeply engrained tradition. It will be the cue, one may be sure, for those same Russian smiles. And if there are some barbs aimed in the direction of America they will be discreetly concealed in the usual verbiage about peace and goodwill.

In southeast Asia the Soviet team made world headlines. In the West it seemed that they were often crude and bumptious, as in fact they were. But they were saying for the most part the things that people who had only recently won their independence and who were still engaged in a precarious struggle for statehood wanted so much to hear.

Judged from a perspective of that part of the world, the tour was a striking success.

In the peace offensive they launched more than a year ago the Russians are missing no bet. They continue to push technicians, artists, dancers, specialists of every kind on tours to all countries that will receive them. They are also pressing invitations on all who will come to the Soviet Union or, it should be added, all who can by any stretch of the imagination be influenced by the Soviet propaganda of the deed and the word.

It is, above all, the propaganda of the deed that Moscow pushes in

That So! Many Fossils Resemble Man

For every living animal today—whether insect, bird, mammal, reptile, spider, and worm—a thousand have perished. The tiny substance of our soil is the living graveyard of the countless dead.

In discussing the problem of fossil digging with experts here, are some of the more unusual conclusions I was told: The age of mammals has lasted for more than 60 million years. And surprisingly, many look very much like the skeletons of animals living today. In fact, one prehorned antelope, blue whale, mammoth, and opossum have changed precious little. In many instances, only an expert could spot the differences.

The richest mammal fossil hunting grounds, incidentally, are right here in America and the greatest source of good mammalian specimens in the world is among the arid and eroded badlands of our western states.

By the way, one of the first people interested in mammal remains was our third President Thomas Jefferson. His interest grew from a study of the extinct mammals found at Big Bone Lick, Ky., and other areas in the eastern states. And when Lewis and Clark set off on the expedition to the west they carried instructions from President Jefferson to search for living ex-

Few good fossils remain from natural deaths—such animals bones disintegrate from the action of weather, plant roots, burrowing animals and other elements. Usually, the animals in tar pits; frozen and preserved as they are; trapped and buried as happened with the woolly mammoths and hairy rhinoceros; or buried deeply by some catastrophe.

Looking at fragmentary remains, fossil experts can draw some very good and accurate conclusions. The foot structure, for example, tells them how fast and how well the animal could move. The size of the teeth—which are found as far as evidence long after other body parts have disintegrated because they are the hardest part of any animal's body—they indicate the creature's eating habits, what it ate, how it caught its prey, and the manner in which this food was consumed.

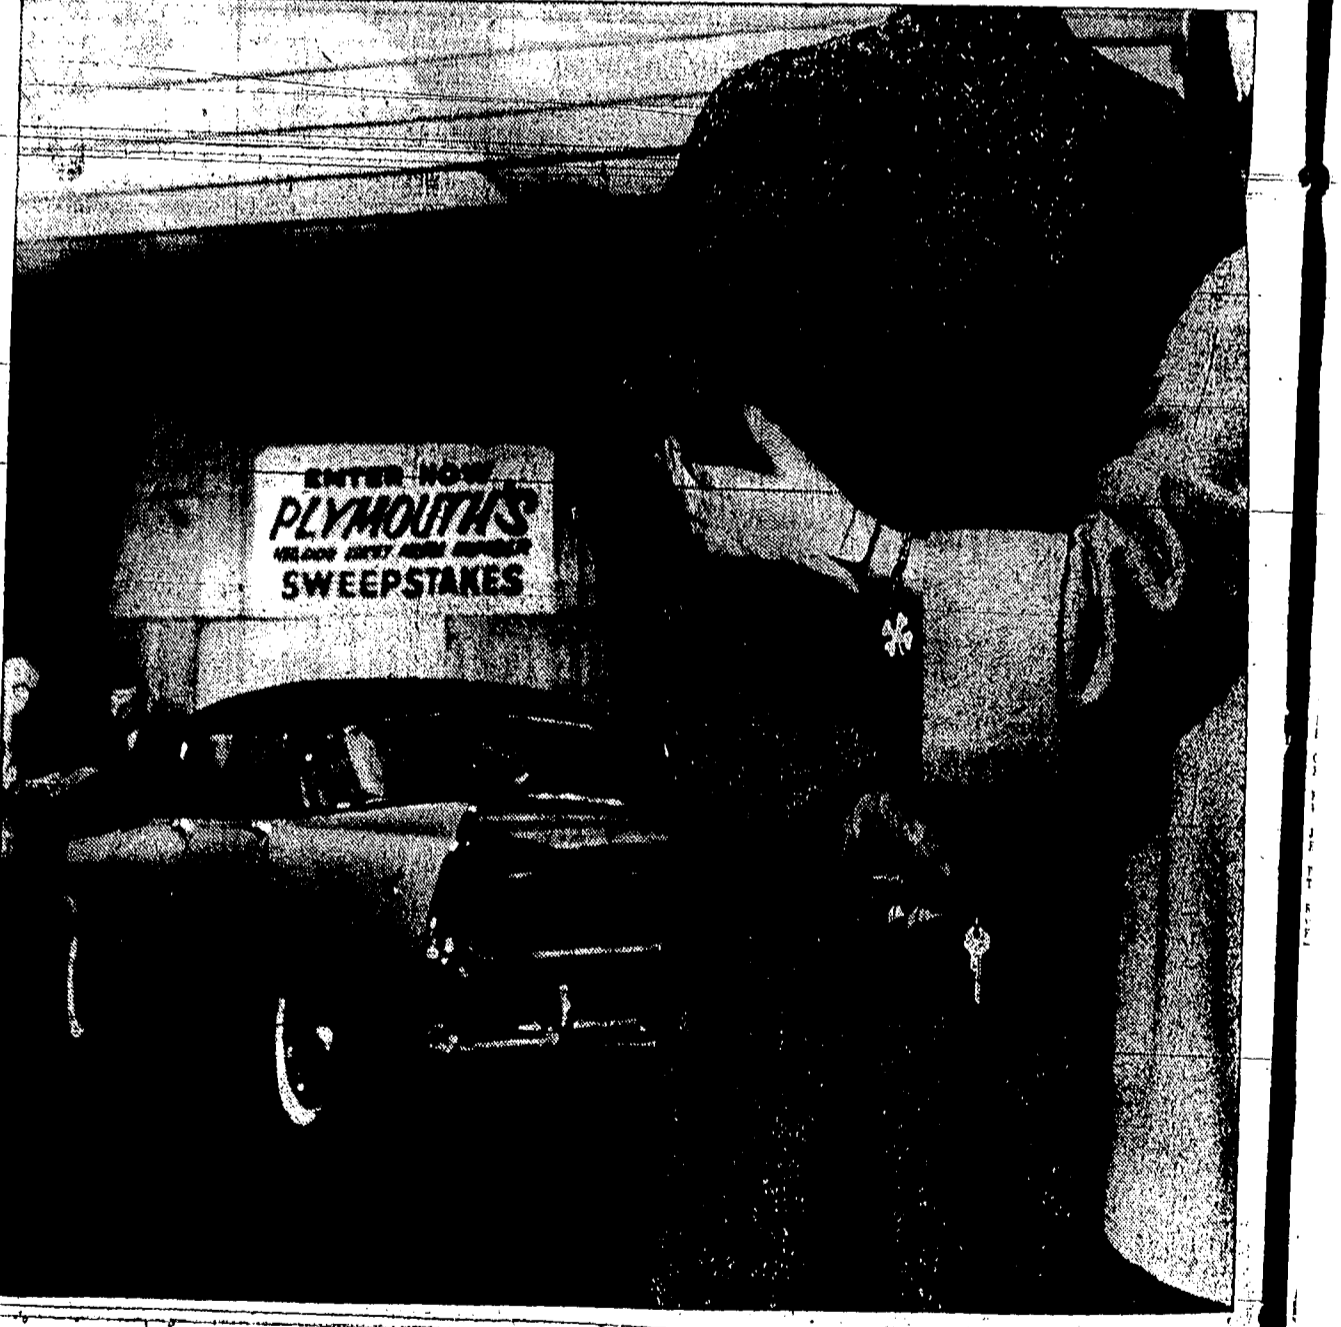

However, experts are the first to admit that looking at a skeleton alone has some very definite shortcomings. For example, the external could not be deduced from their bone structure—the whale's tremendous amount of blubber and the camel's hump, both made of tissue, are not suggested.

Because the young of certain mammals today, like the deer fawns, have a protective spotted pattern it is believed that their primitive forebears may have been marked with horizontal stripes. Eventually, these stripes broke up, changing into spots—and after millions of years these spots in turn disappeared although still retained by the young for protective purposes.

Market Slow On Ostriches; Other Fauna

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8 (AP)—If you were planning to dump your red-necked ostrich on the market just now, don't. The time isn't ripe. Prices are mighty weak, too, on domestic lions and blons.

"If you want to buy a zoo-bred lion, you can pick one up for as little as $50 or $60. They don't make very good pets, though, and they'd be a bit smelly around the house."

Wild ones higher

African-bred lions are a different matter. A wild pair imported to this country will bring around $1,800.

The ups and downs of the animal market were discussed yesterday by about 30 shrewd bargainers—members of the Midwest Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums. All came ready to buy, swap or sell—but the deals were limited.

Frank McGinnis, director of the Detroit zoo, put two red-necked ostrich yearlings and several timber wolves and chimpanzees up for sale but he couldn't find any takers.

Offers List

Robert Bean, director of the Brookfield, Ill., zoo, read off a list of offerings including a black female leopard, Indian tigers, lions, elands, llamas and prairie dogs.

Bean completed a few transactions, but he wasn't too happy.

"I can't sit on these animals forever," he said. "The price of horse meat has gone up again. And, by the way, I've got a pair of American blons I will present to anyone who will take them."

Added Available

Bean also mentioned a female sound. That's a wild sheep from Asia.

"We had her in the children's zoo," Bean said. "She's congenial. She ate only about $100 worth of lion frocks off little girls last summer."

Camas County Woman Passes

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Elizabeth Paralee Reagan, 76, long-time resident of Camas county, died Monday morning in an Emmett nursing home following a long illness.

Mrs. Reagan was born May 27, 1879, at Sevierville, Tenn. She was married to Lemuel Edward Reagan Feb. 1, 1894, in Tennessee. They moved to Lakeside, Wash., in 1900 and to Fairfield in 1908. They lived in Pullman, Wash., from 1912 to 1918, then returned to Fairfield. Mr. Reagan died in 1923. Mrs. Reagan was a member of the Methodist church.

Surviving are two sons, Edward V. Reagan, Fairfield, and William D. Reagan, Vale, Ore.; five daughters, Mrs. Edna Corrie Perry, Wendell; Mrs. Edna Ernst and Mrs. Grace Lee, both Olathe, Wash.; Mrs. Zelma Potter, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Doris Hobday, Fairfield; a brother, John T. Chandler, Boise; a sister, Mrs. Ellen Milligan, Tennessee; 21 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Friday at Fairfield Community church with the Rev. Roy V. Dungan officiating. Concluding rites will be held in Fairfield cemetery under direction of Betty Chapman, Emmett.

Probate Asked in Estate of Woman

A petition for probate of will in the estate of Madeleine Brown, who died Jan. 18, was filed Tuesday in probate court by Anita Winkler. Judge Everett Sweeney set a hearing at 10 a.m. Feb. 26.

Real and personal property listed in the petition would not exceed $5,000 in value.

Known heirs include Erna Sinclair, Salmon; Idell Brown, Burley; Anita Winkler, Twin Falls, and Roy Brown, Kelchum.

Leonard H. Jacob, Twin Falls, is attorney for the petitioner.

Stevenson Stand Offends Negroes

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's "gradual" racial integration policy appeared today to have lost him some support in California's Democratic presidential primary election.

Stevenson told a Negro audience in Los Angeles yesterday that he would not cut off federal funds from segregated schools nor use federal troops to enforce integration. The presidential aspirant said only "gradual" means would settle the school crisis and other American equal rights problems.

$766 Pay Asked

J. H. Henry Produce company filed a complying Tuesday in district court against Albert E. and Pauline Budmark, doing business as Quality Produce company.

The suit asks $766 in payment for merchandise delivered between Nov. 11 and Nov. 14, 1955. Blandford and Blandford, Kimberly, are attorneys for the J. H. Henry Produce company.

Bet Is Made That 3 Main Demos Lose

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A credible witness holding high office in the Eisenhower administration reports that he was offered a bet of 10-to-one that none of the three most widely discussed Democrats would be nominated for President this year.

The three are Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Gov. Averell Harriman. He took the bet, putting up one dollar to collect $10 if all three strike out.

The other bettor argued it this way: Kefauver is likely to wound Stevenson's chances fatally in one or more of the presidential primary contests in which they will oppose each other. They will meet in New Hampshire March 13, Minnesota March 20, Florida May 8 and California June 5.

Having disposed of Stevenson in the primaries, the bettor continued, Kefauver would be knocked off, in turn, by the combined opposition of the Stevenson element, southern conservatives and the old guard. The Democratic old guard is mostly Harry S. Truman, Independence, Mo.

The form chart at that point suggests that New York's Governor Harriman, with Carmine de Sapio up, would gallop around the convention track for an easy win. That is the strategy of the Harriman organization as charted by De Sapio, the new look boss of modern Tammany hall.

The bettor who put up $10-to-1 against any of the three front runners making it this year is convinced that Harriman also will be cut down in the nominating convention. This bettor argues that the Tammany tag will be a serious disadvantage, despite evidence that De Sapio is a reform boss.

Explosion Tears Ordnance Works

BISHOPTON, Scotland, Feb. 8 (AP)—A violent explosion wrecked a government nitroglycerin plant in this Glasgow suburb today, killing a workman and rocking the countryside with a tremor of near-earthquake force.

The blast wrecked the nitroglycerin section of the royal ordnance factory, which makes smokeless powder for the government, shortly after the day shift reported for work. A geyser of flame jetted skyward from the shattered plant, and

Almo Visitors

ALMO, Feb. 8—Dellah Durfee, Renee Eames, Gail Taylor and Sherrel Taylor, students at Ricks college, Rexburg, and Eugene Ward, a student at Utah State Agricultural college, have been visiting here. William Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tracy and family, Pocatello, have been visiting here.

a yellow mushroom cloud took shape over the twisted wreckage. The shock wave set up by the blast shook buildings, overturned furniture and broke windows in an area extending for five miles through the shipbuilding and industrial districts bordering the River Clyde.

'Cats' Stilled By Denial as Joint Jumps

OXFORD, England, Feb. 8 (AP)—The hep set from Oxford University reported yesterday the news of a jump, but strictly from a jump. An advanced student of the Storrville style sock stuff sewed a scribble and poured it on the floor. "Dig me man, those scribbles won't let us cats rock!" He was trying to say in his plaintive way, that those cats prigs have mixed living it.

Told in English Or to break it all the way down, the Oxford proctors have ruled that dancing is not permissible at the University Jazz club.

The proctors are the official guardians of law, order and decorum at the Ivy-festooned old center of culture. Their main job is to see that the undergrads don't say out loud, late, but they also have general supervision of campus club activities.

The jazz club originally was set up last year for listening only, and the proctor-approved rules as provided. Recently the membership has grown, feet have become increasingly restless, and finally the proctors were asked to loosen up a bit and okay a little polite shuffling.

Cold Reply The reply was a cold "no." If students must dance, a spokesman said, there's always the ballet club.

And now a final word from our advanced student back in paragraph two: "Yipe!"

In 1900, the median age at which men married was 25.9 years and for women, 21.9 years.

Executive Denies Words of Leader

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 8 (AP)—Charles R. Sigh, National Association of Manufacturers executive, threw a challenge for a top-level labor-management conference back to AFL-CIO President George Meany today.

Sigh said he had made the first overtures to Meany for such a meeting in December and had been trying unsuccessfully for two months to arrange a date. He said the labor chief "has seized on every possible occasion to claim public credit for making a peace proposal which actually he never made."

The NAM official's blast was prompted by Meany's statement in a news conference yesterday he was succeeding for a second time that the top officials of labor and management get together to set a pattern for collective bargaining and labor relations.

Reds' Strength In China Noted

BOISE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Kenneth Bumstead, British consul-general for the Pacific Northwest, said yesterday that the Chinese Communists are likely to remain in power "for quite a long time." Bumstead, who was consul-general in Shanghai for three years under the Red regime, is paying his first call on Idaho since assuming his new post in Seattle.

Bumstead told newsmen that the police and propaganda power of the Chinese Communists make it difficult for any group to overthrow the government.

The bow and arrow had not been invented by the first men to reach America, scientists believe.

You bet it's a fine car

... but at a down-to-earth price!

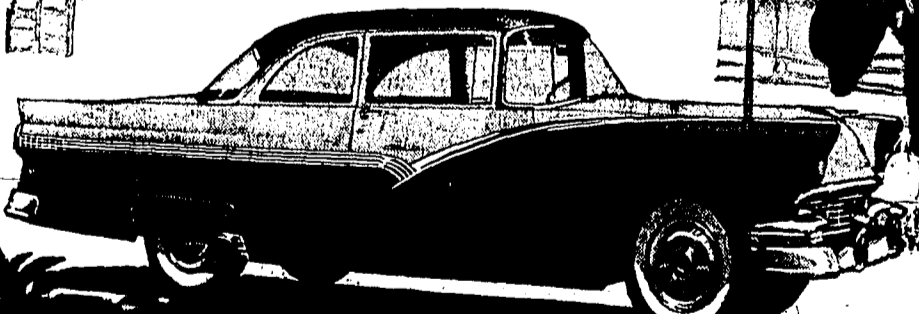

The new Ford is safer, too ... with Ford's exclusive new Lifeguard Design

One fleeting glance at its lower, lovelier lines is enough to identify the '56 Ford as a fine car. And the new '56 Ford is a fine car all the way through.

A session behind the wheel will show that the great Thunderbird V-8* gives you performance unequaled by any other standard eight in its field!

But the outstanding advancement in this new Ford is Lifeguard Design—the biggest safety news in car history. The deep-center Lifeguard-steering wheel has a cushioning effect in a crash. Lifeguard double-grip door locks give extra protection from doors springing open under shock. Optional seat belts are designed to keep occupants securely in their seats for added safety. And optional padding for instrument panel and sun visors helps to absorb the force of contact with hard surfaces inside the car. These stand out among the many features that make the '56 Ford the fine car of its field!

Daughter, 2, Illustrates Evils Of TV's Advertising Power

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The other morning as I was going to work—a bit late, for the first time that day—my eye was caught by my daughter. She was lying flat on the floor working over her post-breakfast bottle. She was staring at our television screen showing a grown-up—but kiddie-looking fellow who himself was sucking at an imitation milk bottle whose theoretical contents were visibly lowered as he said something like this:

"All right, kiddies, it's milk time. Let's go now. Not too fast, but—"

Well, I simply stood there fascinated. I was swept by awe and fear of the art of advertising. I wondered how soon my daughter, having been sold on the virtues of milk would start worrying about deodorants.

Somehow, clover sweet as she is at 2½ years old (except for her feet),

I hugged the idea that Tracy Ann, my daughter, would learn femininity from her mother, my wife, I don't want my child to learn delicacy from an ad man's fear pitch.

What is the impact of television on the average family? What is right and what is wrong with television up till now?

Here are a few off-the-cuff observations—some personal, some not of the new, one-eyed monster, in our living room:

My daughter likes to identify Pinky Lee, Lassie, Rin Tin Tin, the Lone Ranger and other staple childhood fodder (she likes Ollie the Dragon but is suspicious of Howdy Doody), then usually walks away. Having survived the shock of recognition, she returns to her old friends, her toys.

Ancient cartoons with dubbed-in voices bore her within 30 seconds, and she walks away. She also will do this to canned meat if it is put on her plate. She has an unerring appetite for freshness, and likes "Captain Kangaroo" because it is alive.

Both her father and mother also will refuse to follow canned family situation comedies because they are unreal and tiresome, and because canned laughter doesn't make them feel very jolly.

A live show stirs us more than a filmed show, and we'll rove the dial to get one that is alive. There are exceptions—but they only prove the rule.

One of the things that destroys realism most is to have an artist perform a role, then step out of character and immediately make a sales pitch.

This form of commercialism reduces the magic and illusion and force of art. Edward Murrrow and John Daly are among the pioneers who have had the courage and common sense to realize this.

The duty of the artist in television today is to gain an audience. To ask him to go on from there is to demean both himself and the product he is required to plug.

Commercialism is necessary in television, but not in that manner.

Securities Firm Opening Office; Law Is Manager

Western Securities Corporation has opened a branch office at 231 Shoshone street north with David A. Law, former Buhl resident, as manager.

The firm deals in all types of stocks, bonds and mutual funds. It has a direct wire to Salt Lake City.

Law, a graduate of Buhl high school, served three years in the navy during World War II. He received his master's degree from Brigham Young university in 1951. For the last five years he has resided in Arlington, Va. After four years with the central intelligence agency, he managed a stock brokerage firm in Washington, D. C., for the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Law and their three children will live on Madrona street north where they have purchased a home.

Valentine Day Offers Chance For Merchandising Articles

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Love gets the business next Tuesday. It's been more than six weeks since Christmas. And merchants think it's time again for you to give someone something.

So, from now till next Tuesday retailers, manufacturers, florists, telegraph companies, candy makers and greeting card writers will be reminding you constantly of your duty to loved ones on Valentine's day.

And they won't be overlooking the added tip that leap year can give to business. One manufacturer has studied a gift belt with a watch which "warns this is the year to leap."

package for the fitting observance of Mothers day, May 13.

A council of businessmen who might profit from tributes to the nation's chief bill payers are already beating the bushes to see that Fathers day is a dinger in June.

Merchants concentrate most on male shoppers for Valentine's day, although gifts are plugged for both sexes and all ages.

"More men buy greeting cards around Valentine's day than at any other time of the year, including Christmas," says Frank Shaw, sales manager of Rust Craft Greeting Cards, Dedham, Mass. But he adds that leap year cards are proving to be excellent sellers.

Each year of late merchants have plugged harder for sales in connection with the day dedicated to love.

But their preoccupation with this week's opportunity isn't blinding their business eye to the sentimental occasions still to come. Orders for the Easter trade are already in.

Stranding a possible 750-million-dollar trade opportunity, one advertising agency offers merchants and civic groups a promotional

Cards come in all sizes and prices—including a $3 one, a large red satin heart with a pearl bracelet and a heart charm attached.

The Florists Telegraph Delivery association hopes for a record business next week as "purely from the heart, inspired wholly by affection." And it lists as ideas gold bracelets and bar tools. The Paul Masson Vineyards of California get in the act with sherry and port in heart-shaped bottles with the label "To My Valentine."

Candy makers are out in force, with hearts all over the place, including one chocolate valentine card you can eat.

Four Seniors Call Bulganin On Peace Bid

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Four high school seniors in suburban Barrington telephoned the Kremlin yesterday to ask Soviet Premier Bulganin about any new Russian peace proposals. The phone toll was $18.

"But I was so rattled I couldn't think of anything to say," said Charles Mee, 17.

Mee said he is writing a school paper on Russia's latest peace proposals and that he and three friends decided to try to put through a person to person call to Bulganin.

Couple Unharmed In Plane Crackup

WELLS, Nev., Feb. 8 (AP)—A Boise, Ida., couple escaped serious injury last night when their light plane crashed in a field alongside U. S. highway 40 four miles west of Wells.

J. P. Williams, 60, and his wife, Muriel, 49, were able to walk from the wreckage of their plane to a farmhouse across the highway.

Williams said they got lost in a blinding snowstorm and had to attempt a landing. The plane hit the field, bounced, then flipped and skidded 50 feet upside down. Its engine was tossed about 50 feet from the rest of the plane.

Williams received bruises and abrasions and his wife cuts, bruises and a possible slight concussion. They were treated at an emergency station here.

Blast Given

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Senator Anderson, D., N. M., said yesterday the atomic energy commission might be erecting "an absolute iron curtain around thought" in its interpretation of the law safeguarding atomic information.

Anderson expressed that opinion as AEC officials appeared before the senate house atomic energy committee to discuss the report of a non-governmental study group on the peacetime significance of the atom.

Solon Controversies Create Uncertainties About Props

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Congressional controversy over farm policy has created uncertainties about levels at which the government will support prices of most crops grown this year.

With the spring planting season close at hand in southern parts of the country, farmers have been holding the support rates for only two crops—wheat and rice.

Still unannounced are rates for cotton, corn, peanuts, barley, rye, oats, grain, sorghums, flaxseed, soybeans, dry beans and cottonseed. Normally, the support rates for all crops are announced well ahead of planting time.

Farm-law authorizes price props for cotton, wheat, corn, rice, and peanuts to be set at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity under the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support system. But the senate agriculture committee has approved tentatively a proposal to restore rigid 90 per cent supports for these crops this year.

On capitol hill, Chairman Ellender, D., La., called the committee into closed-door session "to see if there are any remaining bugs and kinks we can take out" of the farm bill the group approved tentatively last Saturday.

Ellender plans a final committee vote on the bill tomorrow. That would send the controversial measure to the senate.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who is strongly opposed to a return to 90 per cent props, has set the support rate for this year's wheat crop at 75 per cent of parity, or a national average of $1.81 a bushel. This compares with $2.5 per cent, or $2.08 a bushel, for the 1955 crop.

Should the 90 per cent system become law again, Benson would have to raise the support levels for wheat to about $2.41 a bushel.

Should the flexible system be retained, Benson most likely would reduce supports for corn and cotton from their 1955 levels because of an increase in supplies. Last year's corn rate was $1 per cent of parity, or an average of $1.58 a bushel. Cotton was supported at 90 per cent of parity, or an average of $1.7 cents a pound.

Meeting for Gas Issue Scheduled

WEISER, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Citizens Development association of Weiser invited all mayors and city councilmen of southwestern Idaho yesterday to a meeting here Feb. 14 to discuss the giving of natural gas franchises to Intermountain Gas company.

The association was formed by Weiser businessmen last month to fight a statewide plan for cooperative gas distribution which the association claims is unconstitutional.

Panel of Women Voters Presents Club's Program

When the Twentieth Century club met Tuesday afternoon at the Turf club, a panel from the League of Women Voters discussed individual liberties and national security.

Receiving guests were Mrs. O. H. Weirich, president, and Mrs. Belva Salladay, Mrs. Delta, Sidwell, Mrs. P. C. Dawson, Mrs. P. C. Sheneberger, Mrs. Wayne Wyatt and Mrs. Robert Haller.

The armed forces presented the flag and all present rose to pledge allegiance to the flag. Mrs. R. C. Lawson played background music for the luncheon.

Mrs. M. C. Ollason was appointed secretary to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Ralph Wilson.

Mrs. Horace Holmes, program chairman, introduced the panel and moderator, Mrs. Thomas Hovenden, who was assisted by Mrs. T. M. Robertson, Mrs. Bert Morris and Mrs. Henry P. Jones.

The panel focused attention on the current federal loyalty program.

Mrs. Hovenden opened the discussion with an explanation of why the League of Women Voters was organized. She explained that for the past year, the league has been studying all aspects of the bill of rights.

Mrs. Robertson said she believed loyalty was absolutely necessary and that loyalty boards had to be set up to achieve this in the government.

Mrs. Jones disagreed, saying she did not believe it possible to find men so completely perfect as would be necessary on a board of this type. This theme was discussed by all members of the panel at length.

Mrs. Weirich thanked the board for bringing a varied and controversial topic for club members to consider.

The club voted to donate to the veterans birthday anniversary party at the veterans administration hospital in Boise, to the Idaho Pines project and for maintenance of the general federation headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Wyatt, decorating chairman, used the theme of red, white and blue for the tables, carried out with flags, red and blue crepe paper and red and blue candles.

Care of Your Children By ANGELO PATRI

Many a parent and many a teacher has looked sadly at a boy or a girl and said, "If only he would try, he could make such a fine something or other, but he just doesn't care."

Every young person has his strong points and his weak ones. Education is the process that is intended to strengthen him all around, bring his weak places up to a degree of power and lighten his high spots. This is the mission of the school and the deep wish of all good fathers and mothers.

But neither school nor home can get anywhere with a young person until he wants to go the way he indicates. For example, I knew a child who craved learning to tell time until it became necessary for him to know the time of day when his pet program came on the air. The speed with which he learned to tell when the hour arrives was a thing to see.

We had a boy in school for eight years and never succeeded in teaching him arithmetic nor, of course, algebra. About the time he was to be graduated from elementary school and enter secondary school, he decided he wanted to go to West Point. The guidance teacher told him that was impossible. He could enter no school until he passed in mathematics, and with a high rating at that. That did it. He went to a coaching school and took mathematics, which he studied arduously, and he did go to West Point. Believes he wanted to more than any other child in the world.

There are such children in every community, and the best we can do for them is to help them find the one thing they want to do and open the way for them to do it. But until that deep desire takes hold, we are whittling up wind.

The same thing holds when we are trying to get a young person, or a child, to quit a bad habit. The napper, the pilferer, the greedy eater, the careless or heedless one must want to change his way before he can do so. Our effort is best directed toward inspiring him to want to change.

Stories about fine people help. Pictures of handsome people in fine figures help to inspire the greedy one to eat only when he needs. An example of the right sort helps. Steady teaching backed with faith and prayer and much love for the subject of attention is about all one can do. The hopeful thing is that some day, quite unexpectedly, the example, the teaching, an inner compulsion wakens the young person and his deep desire to be somebody and do something. Until then?

A record book of your child's development is valuable not only for sentiment but for accurate information. It is easy to forget dates and incidents that are important later. Leaflet P-23, "The Record Book," explains the value of this book. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Jerome Beats Buhl 64-45 in Big Seven Basketball Clash

BUHL, Feb. 8—The Jerome Tigers moved from a tie for third and fourth places in the Big Seven conference into a third and fourth place tie by beating the Buhl Indians 64-45 in a basketball game here Tuesday night. Jerome and Buhl had been tied with four wins and three losses apiece, but the victory put the Tigers into a tie with the Minidoka county Spartans at five victories and three losses each.

Buhl's zone defense slowed the Tigers' attack in the first half, but the Jerome team was hitting well on its shots. The Tigers led 15-11 at the end of the first period and 30-23 at halftime.

In the third quarter Jerome stepped up the pace and outdistanced the homestanding Indians. With Jerry Emerson and Bob Mahanes leading the way, the Tigers took a 56-34 lead at midpoint in the second half.

Emerson and Mahanes each garnered 6 field goals, with Emerson adding seven free throws and Mahanes getting five foul punches for a total of 19 and 17 points, respectively.

Buhl's Nick Fisher notched 10 points and played a good defensive game for the Indians.

Skyline Champion Is Given Tourney Break

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8 (AP)—A reshuffle of the draw sheet appeared Tuesday to have given the Skyline conference champion a slight advantage in this year's NCAA far west regional basketball tournament. Brigham Young and Utah currently are battling for the title in the eight-team circuit.

The opposite bracket of the regional matches the champions of the Pacific Coast conference and the California Basketball association, with the latter almost a cinch to be the University of San Francisco No. 1 ranked team.

The regional reshuffle was an almost direct outgrowth of USF's 1955 championship. A year ago the NCAA refused to seed the CBA winner into first-round regional action and the Dons were forced to play an elimination game against West Texas State, the Border conference kings.

Two elimination games were necessary under the Far West setup last year when only the Pacific Coast and Skyline champions were seeded into the regional. USF's title march assured the CBA of an automatic berth with the other two champions, while the Rocky Mountain titlist will play the at-large school for the fourth slot.

The elimination game is scheduled for either March 12 or 13, with last year's contestants likely to repeat. Idaho State has been beaten only once in league action and boasts a 14-5 overall record. Seattle, which trounced the Staters last March, appears a good bet to come back with its current 11-6 mark.

The regional proper will be played on the Oregon State floor March 18-17. USF, unbeaten in 16 starts this year, holds the all-time major college record of 42 straight triumphs. UCLA and Stanford, running one-two in the PCC, will take steps towards settling the argument in a week-end series at Palo Alto. The Bruins are 11-5 and the Indians 13-2 for the season.

The Brigham Young-Utah hassle won't be settled until later. BYU holds a half-game lead over the Utes in the conference scramble and is 13-5 for the year to Utah's 14-5.

The Corvallis winner qualifies automatically for the NCAA finals at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., March 23-24, with the champion of the western regional at Lawrence, Kans., as a first-round foe.

Seattle Defeats Idaho State 89-77

SEATTLE, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Seattle University Chieftains got the jump on Idaho State in the first half Tuesday night and rolled to an 89-77 basketball win over the visiting Bengals.

The Idahoans never were ahead, although they managed deadlocks at 2-2 and 6-6. Seattle quickly, however, ran up a 14-7 edge and held the lead at 44-36 at the midway point.

Les Roh, Idaho's dead-eye senior, matched Stricklin in point production, each getting 25. Sophomore Lloyd Harris had 24 for the Bengals.

Idaho State Boxers Impressive in Lopsided Victory Over Coyote Team

CALDWELL, Feb. 8 (AP)—Idaho State college's ring team outpointed the College of Idaho 7-1 Tuesday night in a boxing meet.

ISC's Hal Espy decimated 240-pound Joe Kahanawala of the C of I in the feature bout. After two close rounds, the fast-thriving Bengal overpowered his opponent in the final two rounds.

David Abeyta, ISC 125-pounder, wore down Bernard Garso of the C of I with a body attack but the Hawaiian refused to bend.

George Nazano gained the home squad's only tally when he baited Fred Hutchinson to a draw in the 132-pound division.

Ron Cradden scored an easy 30-24 decision over Bob Killen of Payette, representing the College of Idaho.

Next home match for the Coyotes will be Feb. 18 when they play host to Chico State of California.

The win was the second of the season for the Bengals. They will play host to the University of Oklahoma Saturday evening.

Kahanawala's guard with a right high on the head that decked the big Hawaiian momentarily.

Referee Eddie Cole scored it 30-26. In the 147-pound class, Jon Egan of the C of I dropped a 29-28 nod to Tim Manzanera of Idaho State.

Egan took the first round but the Bengal overpowered his opponent in the final two rounds.

Changing Times

BELGRADE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mira Tica, Yugoslav woman's track champion, has been deprived of all her titles "as she has changed her sex" after an operation.

Brigade's daily paper, Politika, Tuesday reported that successful operation has been performed which turned Mira Tica into a man.

The Vandals resumed practice for the Bears Monday after a week of rest.

Suzanne Followed Lamb

This isn't the lamb that followed Mary to school but it has virtually the same effect on the children in a kindergarten class at Itasca, N. Y. A friendship sprang up between Suzanne Morasty, 5, and the little lamb, who was deserted by its mother because of its color. The teacher brought it to school. (AP wirephoto)

Court Orders Cancellation of Firm Policies

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 8 (AP)—A federal court judge yesterday authorized cancellation of all policies of the Inland Empire Insurance company, which is in receivership under a federal court order.

Judge A. Sherman Christenson also approved payment of some preferred claims for wages totaling about $1,400.

And he indicated he would issue an order giving the states of Louisiana, South Carolina and Tennessee 10 days to decide if they wish to proceed with state receivership actions or enter the federal action here. If they proceed under their state actions, no funds will be paid claimants in those cases from funds administered by the federal receiver here until all claimants in the federal action have been paid.

The order cancelling all policies still outstanding is effective in 30 days—plus an additional 10-day notice period.

The Continental Bank and Trust company of Salt Lake City is receiver under the federal court case. Inland Empire was doing business in 21 states and Alaska when it got into financial difficulties after taking over the Louisville Fire and Marine Insurance company of Louisville, Ky., in 1954.

Inland Empire had assets of $4,723,000 when it went into receivership last Dec. 1. An appeal from the order appointing the receiver is now pending before the 10th circuit court of appeals in Denver.

Son of Crooner Hits Pedestrian

TAOSMA, Wash., Feb. 8 (AP)—Pvt. Philip Crosby, 21, son of crooner Bing Crosby, struck and injured a pedestrian while driving through nearby Tillicum yesterday.

Ace Brightwell, 79, Tillicum, was taken to Madigan army hospital where he was reported in critical condition from a fractured left leg, multiple abrasions to his left hand and face and shock.

Young Crosby had been stationed at Ft. Lewis just south of here, until yesterday when he received overseas orders. Washington state patrolmen said Brightwell was hit when he crossed the street to his mailbox.

Crosby was not held and no charges were filed.

Habit Is Fatal for Four

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (AP)—In the last two years Lawrence Burrell has spent 237 days in the Detroit house of correction for driving without a license. He was convicted six times.

Yesterday Traffic Judge George T. Murphy gave Burrell another 90 days. The charge? Driving without a license.

Head-on Collision Is Fatal for Four

COTTONDALE, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Police investigated today the head-on collision of a heavily-loaded pulp truck and an automobile near here yesterday which killed four persons and critically injured a fifth.

Highway Patrolman W. H. McKnight identified the dead as James E. Carroll, 26, Crestview; Ernest Purcell, 25, (no address given); Francis Robert Healy, 25, Fort Worth, Tex., and Edward Tanner, 30-year-old Negro of Marianna.

Clemming White, driver of the truck, was seriously injured.

McKnight said the accident occurred when the truck started to pass a car and rammed head-on into Carroll's vehicle.

Labor Racketeer Is Given Release

DANNEMORA, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Labor racketeer Joseph S. (Joey) Fay walked to freedom from Clinton prison today after serving eight years of a 7 1/2 to 15 years sentence for extortion.

Fay, one of the most controversial figures in politics and the labor movement, left the prison shortly after 6 a. m. He planned to drive to his luxurious 12 room mansion in Newark.

Although he was well known in labor and political circles none of his "big name" friends were at the prison to greet him upon his departure.

Many labor leaders and politicians had visited him at Sing Sing prison before his transfer here in 1953 but they have never come to Dannemora.

Good Tip

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—A tip on a man carrying a cloth-wrapped machinegun at Greer trade school sent detectives and uniformed squads out on the double.

The suspect was spotted carrying a cloth-wrapped object. And it was a machinegun. It turned out that an FBI agent had taken the gun to the school for repair.

Water Supply For Southern Idaho Climbs

acre feet, or 150 per cent of the 1935-36 average.

It is said January precipitation on the Snake river plains between Idaho Falls and Murphy was two and one-half times normal, with the result that runoff forecasts have been revised upward, January rainfall on the Salmon and Clearwater drainages was reported 50 per cent above normal.

Precipitation in southeastern Oregon was reported 90 per cent above average, with a prospect of above normal runoff for most streams.

"Water year runoff forecasts indicate that the net inflow into Owyhee reservoir should be well above the 15-year average, or about 1,300,000 acre-feet," the bureau said.

It added the water supply in the Boise-Payette basin should be about equal to that of 1932.

The battle of New Orleans, last engagement of the War of 1812, was fought 15 days after peace had been made.

WELKER FLAYS SUGAR DIVISION PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Senator Herman Welker, R., Idaho, yesterday in debate on the sugar bill that it provides only "crumbs" to the domestic sugar beet industry.

Welker criticized marketing allotments to Cuban, Puerto Rican and other offshore producers.

Senator Barrett, R., Wyo., also said on the senate floor that Wyoming and Idaho sugar growers were "not too happy" over their allotments but supported the bill because they believed it the best they could get.

The bill would re-divide the U. S. sugar market among domestic and foreign producers.

Welker spoke in favor of the bill, which is being protested by foreign sugar producers. The measure passed the house last year.

"In effect," the senator said, "we are getting very little of the price that's left in the pan and even that is burned. In view of the fact that we are giving so much of the farmers' rights to share in the domestic sugar market to offshore islands and foreign countries, maybe we should have referred the bill to the foreign relations committee."

Welker said the increase allowed under the bill to the domestic sugar beet industry would boost the sugar beet acreage in Idaho by about 2,000 acres.

He said he was interested in "seeing that the veterans should be given a fair increase in the sugar beet acreage and the share in the domestic market in order that they can pay off their debts."

Last Tuesday evening, the senate agreed on unanimous consent for limitation of debate on the bill. The final vote is expected Thursday.
