Juvenile Division Is Started at T.F. As Unit of Police

Creation of a juvenile division in the Twin Falls city police department and the appointment of Patrolman Ernest Marlow to head the division was announced Monday by Police Chief Howard Gillette.

"The handling of juveniles and juvenile cases is one of the most important and difficult phases of police work today," Gillette said. "This division was set up to help juveniles. It is not a juvenile delinquency division but a department for the purpose of preventing delinquency."

Trustees Act In Closing of Small School

FILED, Feb. 14—Filer school trustees Monday night decided to close Maros school at the end of the present school term.

Currently, there are 84 pupils and three teachers at the school, Supt. Tom Turner said. The pupils will be brought to Victory and Central schools in Filer in the future and the teachers will be absorbed into the school system if the opportunity arises, he added.

The school was closed because the cost of keeping it in operation is too high, Turner continued. Since school buses for Filer schools pass the Maros school, the pupils can be transported to Filer at no additional cost, he explained.

The building and the land are being retained by the school district so they will be ready for use in case conditions warrant reopening of the school, he said the board decided.

Bid to Annex Land for City Killed in Vote

The city commission rejected an ordinance Monday night calling for annexation of land between the east boundary of the city and Eastland drive and the railroad tracks and Maple avenue. Following the third reading of the ordinance, board members voted unanimously to reject. Preceding the vote, the board at last week's meeting a petition signed by 40 residents of the area protesting the annexation was submitted to the commission. The petition claimed that annexation of the property would result in hardships for owners and force some to sell their property.

Wintery Fury Still Battering Numb Europe

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The death toll in Europe's disastrous freeze-up today is at least 418 in the West.

No letup was in sight in the heavy snows and bitter cold gripping the northern continent.

Storms and ice packs brought peril to ships at sea.

The century's worst cold wave—now in its third week—stretched right down to the Mediterranean.

It brought untold hardships to residents of southern areas unprepared for bitter weather.

Airlift Slowed
Bad weather slowed the airlift of U. S. army supplies from Germany to Italy. But 350 American soldiers climbed through the frigid night in Gethorn to ready a 35-car relief train for snow-paralyzed Sicily. It carried 21,000 cans of hamburgers, 11,000 cans of chicken, 16 sweaters and other food and clothing.

Ice stopped sea traffic between Sweden and Finland for the first time in 30 years. In the Baltic, a trail between Sweden and Denmark, icepacks were slowly forcing Swedish ships toward a mine field. An icebreaker was fighting to reach them.

The worst ice since 1947 isolated many Danish islands and a blizzard battered southern Denmark.

3 Suns Blaze
At Rana, in north Sweden, three suns and a rainbow blazed in the sky at the same time. The weather bureau said the phenomenon, parhelion, was caused by the refraction of light in snow crystals.

A blinding snowstorm swept the Baltic. The temperature touched zero at Stockholm and 40 below in northern Sweden.

Press reports in Athens said a pack of 100 wolves attacked and devoured four children returning from school near Kalambaka, in central Greece. Searchers found only their caps, books and scattered bones.

Donor Makes It Gallon in Blood Drive

Approximately 50 donors were in line when the American Red Cross bloodmobile opened at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the American Legion hall. With the city population divided into working groups, Tuesday's drive was the responsibility of the doctors, lawyers and local banks although they were given an assist by Granges and service organizations. District Ranger Lewis Clark contributed the final pint of his first gallon while Harriet Dawson, Red Cross nurse, checks the blood flow. The quota was set at 200 pints for the four-hour drawing. T.F. Fails to Hit Blood Quota For Fourth Consecutive Time

Twin Falls county appears to have fallen short of the Red Cross blood quota for the fourth consecutive time.

According to figures at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday, total registration was 166 but the number of rejects and persons unable to wait because of employment or appointments dropped the number of pints to 138. The quota was 200.

Donors began the drawing with a rush at 10 a.m. but it lagged until noon. During the lunch hour it again picked up but many of those who had registered were forced to leave before giving blood.

The Exchange club appeared to have won the interservice club competition plaque as it had 37 donors by 1:45 p.m. The LDS church and nurses and doctors also contributed large amounts.

Watch for Body

A watch along the banks of Snake river near Oweley bridge for the body of Jerry Tesonhildek 44, Castleford, continued Tuesday.

Probing of the bottom and dragging with grappling hooks was discontinued Sunday.

Tesonhildek, reported missing since 2 p.m. Thursday, is believed to have drowned near the bridge. A diver failed to locate the body Sunday.

Colder

Colder weather is predicted for Magic Valley in the five-day weather forecast received Tuesday via the Associated Press.

"I knew winter was not over," commented the AP reporter, reading this report.

"Temperatures averaging much below normal with maximums lowering to 15 to 20, minimums to 10 above to 20 below by Wednesday or Thursday. Snow near end of week with locally moderate to heavy amounts." (Probably.)

Continuance Granted For Phone Rate Case

BOISE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Graydon Smith and his assistants have almost three months to reply to arguments of Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company for a permanent rate increase in southern Idaho. The state public utilities commission continued the case yesterday until May 7 after a day of testimony in which company officials said the firm is not getting an adequate return on its investment.

Smith will cross-examine J. W. Heckman, Idaho manager of the company, and Paul Dunning, its accounting manager, in May. He said yesterday he needed time to study the evidence.

U. S. Farmer Aid Stressed In Area Meet

SPOKANE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Science and self help were proposed to the Northwest Farm forum today as principal ways for the farmer to solve his problems and survive the "price-cost squeeze."

"Technology is the balance wheel that will keep our farmers moving ahead with other segments of society," said Dr. Byron T. Shaw, administrator of the agricultural research service in Washington, D. C.

He said there are opportunities in research to develop new uses for farm products, to develop new crops, to develop new markets and to put production costs.

Earlier, speakers on a panel discussion proposed self help as a remedy for the "squeeze" the higher costs of things a farmer buys and the lower prices he gets for what he sells.

The "squeeze" is the discussion topic for the third annual Forum sponsored by the Spokane Chamber of Commerce to "promote free and open discussion by farmers, labor and industry" on agriculture.

Russell W. Gowland of the Gowland Farm Service in Minneapolis proposed self help through careful management for maximum efficiency on the farm.

Paul to Organize Unit of C. of C.

PAUL, Feb. 14—Paul businessmen Monday night decided to take steps to form a Chamber of Commerce and appointed a committee to carry on a membership drive for the organization.

Members of the committee are Art Grove, Harold Wilson, Harold Snyder, Calvin Conner, Otha McGill and Lyle Marshall.

The committee will report back to the organization committee composed of Grove, McGill, Joe Bauer, Ted Winn and Tom Felton. No date has been set for a subsequent meeting of the group.

Battle Flares

BERLIN, Feb. 14 (AP)—East Germany's communist government stepped up its running battle with the Evangelical Lutheran church today with sharp charges of spying and sabotage.

Russia Hurls Fiery Economic-Survival Challenges to West

MOSCOW, Feb. 14 (U.P.)—Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev challenged the capitalist world to an all-out economic battle for survival today. In a major address to the 20th Communist party congress, the first since Josef Stalin's death in 1953, Khrushchev said the Soviet Union also will keep pace with the capitalist powers in arms production. Flanked by Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who has been missing from public functions for

Request for Hit, Run Case Mistrial Denied

Motion for a mistrial in district court action against Archie Parish, Burley, charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident, was denied Tuesday morning as the second day of the trial began.

District Judge Hugh A. Baker denied the motion after Parish's attorney, Kales E. Lowe, had questioned the six-member jury regarding an account of the first day's proceedings published in the Monday edition of the Times-News.

Three members of the jury admitted reading the story but said the account would not influence their decision of the case. Lowe charged that an account of the preliminary hearing contained in the story was prejudicial.

Parish is charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident last July 10 on highway 30 east of Murtaugh. Injured in the accident were Richard L. Brown and E. R. Noble, both Fort Wayne, Ind.

First witness testifying Tuesday morning was William Woodall, Burley, a passenger in Parish's car on the night of the alleged hit and run accident. He told the jury he remembered feeling a "bump" some time during the trip from Burley to Twin Falls. Under questioning by Prosecuting Attorney James M. Cunningham and cross examination by Lowe he could not say at what place along the road he felt the bump.

School Bond Sold at Good Interest Rate

Twin Falls school district sold the last of $500,000 of a school bond issue Monday night at a rate of interest that will save the district thousands of dollars.

Low bidder was Halsey, Stuart and company, Inc., Chicago with an interest rate of 2.2520 per cent. The last previous block of the $1,163,000 bond issue was sold at an interest rate of 2.34 per cent. A representative of the fiscal agent, Edward L. Burton company, Salt Lake City, told board members the sale was made at an excellent interest rate.

Other bids were First National bank, Chicago, 2.2810 per cent; First Security bank of Utah, 2.3187; Mercantile Trust company through the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, 2.3814; Northern Trust company, Chicago, 2.3730; and Blyth and company, Portland, 2.41.

Board members discussed plans for an extensive project on the junior high school building, Lincoln and Washington schools. The work will be financed out of the same bond issue being used to construct two grade schools, an eight-room addition and cafeteria at the high school.

England Says Soviets Boost War Tensions

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Britain formally accused the Soviet Union today of increasing tension by meddling in the Middle East.

The Soviet statement yesterday calling the recent Eden-Elsenhower statement a threat to peace in the Middle East "has given an entirely false picture of the Washington decisions," a foreign office spokesman said.

The Moscow statement yesterday accused President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden of creating "a threat to peace" in the Middle East. It said the situation developing in that region "is clearly connected with the security of the Soviet Union."

It also said the Kremlin would consider the sending of British and American troops to the Middle East a threat to peace and an object of "extreme concern." It charged that such a move would be a "gross violation" of the United Nations charter. It also said this would be an infringement of the sovereignty of the Middle Eastern nations.

The foreign office, in its statement today, said the purpose of the Washington decisions had been "to show the countries concerned that if they become the victim of an attack there will be friends within reach and ready to act in their support."

Loss Estimated At $5,000 in Fire

RUPERT, Feb. 14—Damage estimated at $5,000 was done to the Mulh Roberts company potato cellar and warehouse at Minidoka Monday night. R. E. Komes, manager, estimated the damage.

Komes said the fire apparently was caused by defective wiring which ignited straw in the roof between 8 and 9 p.m. He said the blaze was not discovered until 10 p.m.

The Mini-Cassia firetruck, assisted by neighbors and Rupert firemen, fought the blaze until 5 a.m. Tuesday.

The weekly snow report issued by the Battosuth National forest service shows more snow now than for average years in the waterfalls of the forest and the road to Magic mountain, while open on Sunday, stands in danger of becoming plugged.

Yo-Yo Contest Scheduled for T. F. Saturday

Twin Falls citizens doubtless have been wondering why junior high school students have taken a sudden craze for yo-yos.

These youngsters are out for prizes which will be awarded at the city yo-yo contest at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Junior high school. Under the direction of Juan Maala, world yo-yo champion, the boys and girls will put the bobbles through their paces with eyes on the grand prize, a racing bicycle.

Because the number of entries is unknown, Ernest Craner, superintendent of parks and recreation, said tentative plans call for each contestant to have two or three tries.

"They will be judged on 10 tricks, with 10 points going for superior showing. The tricks include loop-the-loop; around the corner; baby in the swing; creeper; around the world; three-leaf clover; break away; over the fall; walk the dog; and spinner.

In case of ties, the loop-the-loop stunt will be the deciding factor with the contestant who accumulates the biggest count taking top honors.

Girls will be allowed to compete for the bicycle. In addition, a trophy is planned for the winner in the girls' division.

Other prizes are planned in addition to the bicycle which was donated by the Duncan Yo-Yo company.

Judge Denies Mistrial Plea In Case Here

fender was introduced as evidence. It has a dent in the fender above the chrome stripping.

Second witness, Deland Moore, Burley, said he also felt a bump. He told the jury he did not see any cars parked along the highway during the trip. He said he was riding in the front seat of the car with Parish.

Gale Ward, Heyburn, identified the fender from Parish's car. He told the jury he observed the dent in the fender around 10 a.m. July 10 when the car was parked behind a filling station he was operating at that time in Burley.

Moore and Ward were also cross-examined by defense attorneys. Monday Noble, Mrs. Noble and a highway patrolman testified.

Brown was the first witness called by the state. He appeared in court on crutches and with his lower left leg in a cast. Other witnesses called Monday afternoon were Mrs. Brown, who was sitting in the 1933 Ford when her husband and Noble were struck down by a car at 1:10 a.m., and a former state patrolman, Stanley Pace, Ketchum.

Brown testified events leading up to the time he was struck down as he was changing a tire on the 1933 Ford convertible. He said the headlights and rear lights were on when he and Noble began changing the tire. He told the jury he had instructed his wife to press the foot brakes to work the rear stop lights and to turn on the left signal indicator.

A pair of trousers worn by Brown when he was struck down were introduced as evidence.

Lowie objected to the introduction of the trousers as evidence but was overruled by Judge Baker.

Testimony of Mrs. Brown revealed she did not see the car which struck down her husband and Noble. She said she was holding down the brake pedal to brighten the rear lights and heard an "impact." She said she saw the rear of a car going down the road and then jumped from the car to help her husband. She told the jury that the headlights and rear lights of the Ford were on at the time of the accident.

She was cross-examined by Lowie regarding the speed of the 1933 Ford and the signal indicator.

Pace told of finding blood on the pavement and a flashlight which was turned on and lying under the car when he arrived at the scene. He said he was notified of the accident by radio at approximately 1:40 a.m. July 10.

He told of assisting in taking measurements at the scene and drew a diagram on a blackboard showing the position of the Ford as he found it.

Leonard Norris, Kimberly, was fined $10 Monday by Jerome Police Judge Russell Shaud on a charge of speeding. Judge Shaud also fined Glen Claiborne, Jerome, $5 on a similar charge.

Probate Judge Henry W. Tucker Tuesday declared forfeit the $35 bond Frankie Redd, Burley, had posted on a charge of negligent driving. Redd denied the charge.

When arraigned last Thursday, Judge Tucker ordered trial held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. When Redd did not appear Judge Tucker declared the bond forfeit.

Union Readies Crackdown on Alleged Fraud: MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Union leaders reported today the AFL-CIO is getting ready to crack down on a series of alleged frauds in handling multi-million dollar union welfare funds.

The move is planned as the first step in carrying out an aim of the newly merged AFL-CIO to clean unions of racketeering and corruption.

Hearings Asked: A five-man ethical practices committee recommended that the AFL-CIO executive council give authority to proceed with hearings in four cases involving affiliated unions. It was intimated that findings against these unions could lead to their expulsion from the AFL-CIO.

A senate labor subcommittee headed by Senator Douglas, D., Ill., already has turned up considerable data in these cases. One case involves an alleged shortage of nearly one million dollars in insurance funds of the Laundry Workers International union.

Local Involved: Another case involves a local, the leader of which recently testified before the Douglas committee accompanied by two bodyguards.

Members of the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee said privately they were determined to root out fraud in handling union welfare funds. One said "all of us are prepared to quit if the executive council doesn't go along with us and take a firm stand."

Infant Dies: Susan Elizabeth Taylor, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Taylor, Jr., 145 Washington street north, died at birth Monday evening in Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

In addition to her parents she is survived by her maternal grandparents, Mrs. Opal Severson, Fargo, N. D., and Martin Felker, Sunnyvale, Wash.; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Taylor, sr., Fall River, Mass.; two brothers, William F. Taylor, III, and Jeffrey David Taylor, both Twin Falls, and one sister, Anne Louise Taylor, Twin Falls.

high school building, is not quite ready for the call for bids, reported Supt. Ernest H. Ragland, Archfield. Cecil Jones and Eugene Breinholt conferred with the board on the work.

The board hired two additional custodians, Gerald Albers and Owen Rowe. Trustees voiced approval of appointment of Marjorie Bergland for the advisory practical nurses committee; at Magic Valley Memorial hospital. The program is operated under the vocational education department of the department of education.

The steering committee, composed of teachers and principals, recommended an end to the practice of excluding students during school hours for outside activity and giving credits for work away from school. The recommendation involves chiefly music lessons given by private teachers during school hours. Superintendent Ragland said board members favored the general intent of the recommendation but thought it should become effective at the beginning of the next school year.

Present at the regular monthly meeting-of-the-board were Mrs. James H. Benham and Mrs. W. P. Roman, representing the PTA Council, and Guy Bradley and Willard M.

WCTU to Have Competition in Liquor Battles

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Temperance leaders in America are making headway with a sort of "creeping prohibition"—local option elections that dry up the liquor industry by bit—but the WCTU have the "Wobblers" to contend with now.

The Wobblers are ladies, too, but they are in favor of drinking.

In consideration of course, their organization—the Women's Association of Allied Beverage Industries, Inc., or WAABI for short—is the female corps of the liquor industry's public relations force.

Defend Industry

The Wobblers are pledged to defend the reputation of the liquor industry and to resist those "dangerous outside forces" that would destroy it.

A Wobbler goes to PTA meetings and the like, ready to stick up for legalized liquor if the girls get talking on the subject. She may even give a speech.

Local Options Hurt

One of their problems is the local option campaigns that the dries have been waging ever since repeal to outlaw liquor on a piecemeal basis.

Of the 500 or so local option elections held every year in the 33 states that allow them the dries win more than they lose. The map is dotted with a growing number of counties, townships and precincts where liquor traffic is restricted or banned.

Temperance workers say they detect a rising public sentiment against the use of alcohol. They believe publicity given to the problems of alcoholism and juvenile delinquency is working in their favor.

WCTU Rolls Gain

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been gaining in membership. It now claims 400,000 members in its 10,000 state and local unions.

Against this the Wobblers are pretty outnumbered. They list 3,500 members in 42 chapters. Most Wobblers are connected with some phase of the alcoholic beverage industry through their jobs or their husbands.

MEETING PLANNED

BOISE, Feb. 14 (AP)—About 30 Boise valley school administrators will attend a conference in Caldwell Wednesday on vocational education policies, the state department of vocational education has said.

Blind

BOSTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Thieves yesterday ransacked the safe and office of the Mutual Credit union without finding so much as a dime.

When police discovered the break, lying in plain sight on a desk three feet from the safe was a five dollar bill. A clerk had left the bill there through oversight.

Work Progresses On River Tunnel

CAMBRIDGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Workers will be busy on two shifts daily the rest of this month excavating portals for a tunnel to divert the Snake river at Idaho Power company's Brownlee damsite, a spokesman for the contractor has said.

Glenn C. Johnson, resident manager for Morrison-Knudsen, said engineers hope to complete the 2,450-foot tunnel by the time spring high water has passed.

Then he said the river can be diverted and construction of the dam—first of three which Idaho Power plans to build in the Hells canyon section of the river—can be started.

Boyle Reports Vital Details Learned in Opening His Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That it costs a family with an annual income of $8,500 about $200 to bring a baby into the world. Including the cigars the proud papa passes around.

That it costs—according to a magazine survey—$7,000 merely to feed a child during its first 18 years. What do kids eat today anyway—orchids?

That in 1932 the Polish Olympic team ran up the 1860 steps in the 102-floor Empire State building in 21 minutes flat. Russia, of course, will beat the record—just as soon as it builds a skyscraper that tall.

That the number of girl "office boys" has tripled since 1940.

That while industry prefers women workers, men still hold 354,000 of the 300,000 federal government's clerical posts as recently as 1950.

That Britain has lost its beef-eating tradition to America, where the average citizen ate 160 pounds during 1955.

That it took an industrial worker 49 minutes to earn the price of a pound of round steak here in 1929. Today he does it in half an hour. But don't let your butcher know this—you have enough trouble with him already.

That A. H. Berwald, a 73-year-old pencil manufacturer, tests his pencil leads by leaning out his 10th floor office window and dropping them to the sidewalk. Incidentally, pencils will not only write under water—they work equally well when submerged in molasses. Try it and see.

That—despite all the new labor-saving machines that have been invented, there is still a shortage of 600,000 office workers in the United States.

That many modern roads in France follow the old routes of Napoleon's military campaigns.

That Jane Froman, the singer, is allergic to ostrich feathers.

That opera star Blanche Thebom believes more American women learn about culture from their husbands than vice versa. Now if a mere man said a thing like that he'd be denounced as an unbearable male prig.

That a recent comic book style treatment of "The Story of Jesus" sold half a million copies in two weeks, believed to be an all-time record for any so-called "comic book."

That while more men than women have heart attacks, fewer men are hospitalized for mental disorders.

That few people can name offhand the only one of New York City's five boroughs that is actually on the mainland of the United States. It's the Bronx.

That the "coffee break," so popular with office workers today, originated in Turkey, where the first coffee house opened in 1554.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower will duplicate his 1952 feat of polling a sizeable labor vote, if he runs again, regardless of his position taken by the AFL-CIO leaders in next November's campaign. He carried almost every industrial district four years ago, despite the union-unanimous endorsement of Adlai E. Stevenson.

The popularity with the workers has been cited in current debates on future labor strategy at Miami, where the AFL-CIO executive committee has held its first formal session since their merger. A major problem before them has been whether the new organization shall swing behind the Democratic nominee, or preserve an attitude of official but nominal neutrality.

PERPLEXES LABOR LEADERS — Non-political officers, and there are many of them among the 14 affiliated unions, argue that it would damage the new body, if it turned out as an admittedly partisan faction in its inaugural year. It would be especially injurious, in their opinion, if the labor forces suffered a second successive reverse in opposing Ike.

As with politicians, the uncertainty about Ike's running again perplexes and confuses the labor leaders. Only he and Chief Justice Warren, according to all polls, command enough strength among the 15 million membership in the shops and factories, to roll up a large vote in the face of the bosses' declared opposition.

Thus, if the hierarchy were sure that Ike would step aside as result of the medical examination, they would be more willing to tag along with the Democrats again. None of the other prospective GOP candidates can compete with the Eisenhower-Warren appeal to the men in overalls or white collars.

AFL SPOKESMEN CLASH WITH CIO REPRESENTATIVES — In the discussions at Miami, as well as in postmerger conferences, there has been a sharp clash between Walter P. Reuther's CIO representatives and George Meany's more conservative AFL spokesmen.

As an active new dealer and an officer of Americans for Democratic Action, Reuther openly urges alliance with the Democrats, whether the nominee be Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman or Gov. O. Mennen Williams. He rules out only Gov. Frank J. La Follette, who is too independent in his dealing with the unions, and because of his friendship with the late Senator Taft.

Reuther denounces the Eisenhower administration as too friendly to "big business." Since the AFL-CIO will not hold its first annual convention until after the presidential election, he wants the organization to convene in what would amount to a political convention after the opposing candidates have been chosen.

REUTHER'S BELIEF—A commitment by the executive committee, of course, could not bind the 14 locals. But Reuther apparently feels that he could swing the proposed session of delegates behind the Democratic selection, especially if he is out of the race.

Although Meany counseled delay and caution, many AFDJ regional leaders want to exorcise the merged group entirely from an avowed partisan posture, in which most of the great unions supported Roosevelt and Truman over a 20-year period.

It is their belief that organized labor is now powerful enough to be independent. They think it can achieve broad-and-better objectives more effectively by trying to elect friendly members of congress and state legislatures.

NEUTRALISTS' CONVENTION — Finally, and especially in view of the natural gas bill's revelation of an irreconcilable feud between Democratic conservatives and liberals, the neutralists maintain that it would be almost fatal to become a mere annex of that party. They would stand to lose all influence within the GOP, which normally attracts so many states and industrial centers outside the South.

As a clinching argument, they point out that labor has had the Democrats "in the bag" for more than 20 years, and, judging from their principal candidates' pre-election speeches and pledges, that happy situation should continue.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

HOUSING CREDIT TERMS

The administration last week relaxed terms under which people can buy homes.

Only last July, the veterans administration and the federal housing administration had tightened up on housing credit terms. Both agencies then set 25 years as the maximum period of time on mortgages which they would insure or guarantee. At that time, they also required higher down payments.

Now the VA and FHA have again given approval to 30-year mortgages. They have not, however, eased the down payment provisions.

The easing of housing credit at this time is somewhat surprising in view of the concern which has been expressed in many quarters about some inflationary trends (bringing higher prices on some items) and the rapid expansion of consumer credit, especially in installment buying of automobiles.

The step was taken to keep the home building industry operating at a high level. Private home building declined in December for the fourth straight month and in that month, fell below the minimum goals announced by the administration. The goal is between 1,200,000 and 1,300,000 units in 1950. For the full year of 1949, builders started construction of 1,300,000 houses. This was 9 per cent higher than the year before and only 65,000 behind the record year of 1950.

Whether the latest change in credit terms is wise remains to be seen. It does give evidence of the administration's determination to act quickly in the event of any change in business conditions. But it might be possible to move too fast in some situations. Perhaps the government did this in July when it tightened credit. Or is it the January action which is too hasty?

Easy housing credit now would seem strange if it were decided to tighten up on installment buying and other credit practices in fields other than housing. Federal Reserve Board officials have indicated that they thought such action might be necessary. These experts say business expansion shouldn't be a competitive contest in making credit terms easier.—Des Moines Register.

FOR 'ELDER CRAFTSMEN' — Our society is growing older, and this presents the problem of how better to care for those who are advanced in years but still vigorous. An interesting and valuable experiment has been started here in New York as an outgrowth of the annual hobby show for older persons that was presented by the Welfare and Health Council.

An "Elder Craftsmen Shop" has been opened at 850 Lexington Avenue under the auspices of the council to offer the public the products of skill and ingenuity that might otherwise have an outlet. It is strictly nonprofit. In fact, it needs donations, which can be made to the council. But it is already operation, and Christmas checks went out to about two hundred elderly persons whose work had been sold through this agency.

There are two requirements. The work must be handmade. It must be made by a person 60 years or over. Thereafter the group that has undertaken this enterprise seeks to find the right outlet for material that is chosen. Moreover, the shop is trying to adapt ideas, designs and materials to a market demand, at a reasonable market price. Thus far the crafts offered have gone all the way from potholders to violins, and there is room for an even wider range.

This is something of a pilot enterprise here, although similar projects have been launched in several cities. It deserves support because it is a down-to-earth way of tackling an important problem. That support can be in the form either of purchase of some of these materials or of actual donation and sponsorship.—New York Times.

NOW WE KNOW WHY — Educators say the experience taboos, pays off. According to one economic survey, the average elementary school graduate will earn $110,000 in a lifetime; the average high school graduate $183,000 and the average college graduate $268,000 during his working years.

Now we know why every so often government wants to all education. All that lovely additional income to tax.—Arizona Daily Star, Tucson.

POT SHOTS

JUST LIKE RAZOR BLADES — I hear men have trouble disposing of razor blades, or at least the ones who don't use electric shavers have that sort of trouble.

But a razor blade is reasonably easy to hide. Sure, someone eventually will "find" it and come up with a finger or two either cut or missing.

It's nothing compared to the job of trying to dispose of one of those typical "Christmas ties" that have been made the butt of so many jokes down through the ages. You can't give them away, they don't burn easily and you'd better not let the person who gave them to you catch you in the act of trying to throw them in the garbage can.

All of which serves to bring me to my proposal. I will be more than glad to take any and all neckties off anyone's hands (or even necks). They won't be sold, given away or otherwise disposed of, yet they won't be destroyed, either. Let's just say the method is my little secret for now, shall we? You can phone Anita (1127-J) (Twin Falls).

WRONG HOURS? — So the Red Cross bloodmobile is returning for 200 more pints of blue blood!

They should expect to fall far short of their quota every time they set the hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. What do they want—blood?

I Work

Pot Shots note: You'll have to think up a better excuse than that one! Just in case your memory is short, the bloodmobile has been here for just about any combination of daytime hours you can mention, including once from 2 to 8 p.m.

FAMOUS LAST LINE — Nevada works on him just like a magnet works on a tack!

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW —

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

When the National Broadcasting company recently flashed on the television screen a jerky string of old newspaper shots of the Russian revolution, padded with trash of no value my own interest in this fateful and ghastly event was sharply stimulated. We are almost all victims of our ignorance and the worst of that blight is that this ignorance is imposed upon us.

True, we have been too busy or too dull to inquire, Westbuck Pegler but the truth is so widely strewn and covered with dust that few can find it even by intelligent study.

Of late I have drawn upon the information and opinion which my old friend and colleague, Karl Bickel, the retired president of the United Press, accumulated on many journeys to and across Russia in the days before the purge. Mrs. Bickel took advantage of these opportunities to acquire Russian and Oriental fabrics, jade, crystal and other attractive gewgaws which she purveyed to retailers in New York.

They have never done the conventional book so the material which Karl freely gave me in reply to a limited original inquiry is still original and historical.

"I don't see the general Russian position as you see it," he wrote, "understanding communism, as I understand it, even without the things put into it by the Russians, producing a thing a great deal different from what Marx intended, would not be for me, or any section of American life. I'm not afraid of communism and I'm not even apprehensive of the Russians."

"I'm not concerned about Russian propaganda because I saw a lot of it and saw it being made in a small way and I know it is clumsy, stupid and non-understanding."

"But to pretend that Soviet Russia is not a great force in the world, to pretend that the Russian socialist state has not already had a great and important impact on our thinking would be to ignore the basic facts of our existence in the last 25 years."

"It was plain to me as early as 1923 that the Russian revolution was the biggest thing that had come into the world since the birth of Christ. That its impact on the thinking of the world, in men and women and their lives and in money and property and civil rights, would be deep and important. And there is no question in my mind that the impact of the social and economic philosophy of the U. S. A. is now beginning to have and will continue to have a great impact on Russian thinking."

"They react more slowly because they are infinitely more suspicious than we are. Their minds are deeply rural."

"Today Russia sees in America the world's greatest city slacker. You can still smell the cow-ward on the face of any Russian. He knows it and likes it. It is basic that in the next 500 years and more Russia will be one of our most important social and international problems."

"Kerensky missed his boat for lack of guts and a will to dominate. If he had had a bit of Napoleon in him, he could have kept his seat, easily. Raymond Robins (an American political agent of the old Chicago Hull House revolutionary clique which produced Sidney Hillman) left Russia about 1919. I never met him although he died at his place just north of Tampa (Bickel lives at Sarasota) only about a year ago. He had a big 'in' with the Lenin crowd and if our state department had followed his advice the whole Russian picture today might have been very different."

(Mr. Bickel refuses to believe Robins' bad reputation. But Robins certainly did not oppose communism, he was a political crony of Harold Ickes who favored a "modified communism" in the United States. Robins cracked mentally and disappeared for a spell in his old age.)

"The Russians asked him to bring over a lot of retailers, engineers, school organizers, etc., and had our government supported that, the whole line-up could have been swung along American lines, although I think it would have been basically socialist."

"But that was too great a job for a man like Robins to handle."

Heads Squadron Rupert Holds Meeting With Gas Company

RENO, Nev., Feb. 14—Lieut. Col. Henry W. Maya recently was appointed commander of the 62nd air rescue squadron at Stead air force base, near Reno.

Colonel and Mrs. Maya, the former Martha Weddle, Twin Falls, reside in Sparks, Nev. Their son, Rodney Maya, is a senior in Twin Falls high school.

for the state department to swallow it. It was suppressed and so was Robins. The original reds under Lenin weren't the Asiatic gang that dominated after his death.

"Most of the things we hate about the Russian administration come to them honestly from the background of government they got from the Romanoffs. The Russian of today is merely an oldtime Russian with a new lacquer smeared over him. He is 90 per cent Russ and 10 per cent communist, but his communism is strained through a Russian mentality and personality."

"Karl Marx would rear back in horror if he could see what the native Russian personality and Marx have created in Russia."

"Ivy Lee (the Rockefeller's press agent) about 1925 was trying to do a propaganda job over there. He told me it was impossible to hire an American who could understand what the Russians were trying to do, and evaluate and interpret it. They had a basket of new stuff, probably old enough to students of socialism but without any link with the world as we knew it in 1925."

"In the 20's there was a lot of fooling around among the American oil people—Standard, the Rockefellers, the Sinclair interests, etc. for oil concessions. Neither side trusted the other and the U. S. people either wanted too much or the Moscow people got scared of them."

"The Dutch, British and French oil interests were constantly threatening to declare war if the Americans got a concession. The threat of war in the late 20's and early 30's was very real. Russia was absolutely unarmed for 20 years after the revolution and any army certainly could have captured Moscow."

"They were very weak in the air, too, and terribly scared of a French or British-Finish attack. You have got to weigh those fears and the scars of them to evaluate Russian policy today."

Representing the Rupert cooperative were Buster Goode, chairman; Sherman Bellwood, George Redford, secretary, and William Goodman and Larry Robinson.

The meeting Saturday was for information only, and no action was taken. The cooperative agreed to hold a meeting Thursday to discuss the franchise and said it might make a recommendation to the city council.

At a recent meeting with the council the cooperative informed the council the cooperative has been stalemated in its efforts to obtain a gas contract from the pipeline company. The outcome of that meeting was a decision by the city council to request a conference with Inter-Mountain Gas company.

The Rupert co-op was formed last fall to finance the construction of a six-mile branch gas main and distribution system to serve Rupert. The nonprofit co-op stated that after the system had been paid for, it would be turned over to the city.

The city issued a franchise to the cooperative which negotiated a tentative financing contract with an Omaha investment firm.

Obtaining finances, however, hinges on the ability of the cooperative to obtain a gas allotment and a contract with the pipeline company, which is the wholesale distributor. Recently the distributor advised it would not approve a contract until all questions concerning the legality of the cooperative had been established.

The United States is the only country where almost all the railroads are privately owned, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

READINESS TO FIGHT

It is often said that war is the extension of diplomacy into the area of force. Through the long history of modern diplomacy, the threat of military action has gone side by side with the techniques of negotiation.

It seems strange that anyone in Europe, where this diplomacy was born, should now profess terror at its continued application. But some of the foreign criticism of Secretary of State Dulles' position on the question of deterring aggressors is that surprising.

To be sure, a military stalemate exists between East and West which may suggest to many that any gesture beyond negotiation is mere bluff. But the stalemate may not always exist. The arms race goes on.

Who is to say the Russians would not again resort to force if they thought they could bring it off? Since that prospect always looms, we must indicate that we will not shrink from such a test if it should come. To do otherwise, to say we can cast nothing in the balance but a willingness to negotiate, would be to hand the victory to the Communists.

Readiness to fight—communicated to the adversary—is the best way to avoid it.

Penmanship Is Taught to Businessmen

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—More than 100 Philadelphia businessmen sat down like so many sixth graders today and had a lesson in penmanship.

They learned how to make nice round O's, and how to keep their 1's from looking like 7's. The students, ranging in age from the mid-20s to the late 60s, were taking an intensive four-hour course in handwriting sponsored jointly by the Philadelphia board of education and the greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce.

Loss Totaled
The class is part of an effort to combat an estimated 70 million dollar a year loss in American business and industry caused by poor handwriting. The money goes down the drain when business people—executives as well as clerks—make unreadable letters and figures on bank deposit slips, sales vouchers and other papers.

Wesley E. Scott, director of commercial and distribute education for the school board, got the idea for an intensive course in handwriting when business personnel directors came to him with a problem.

Question Asked
"Can't you send us youngsters who can write better?" the employers asked.

Scott set about surveying the handwriting courses used in a number of school systems and colleges around the country. He took the best features of each and compiled them into a new basic course. A special handbook was devised, and five months ago a pilot course was instituted in 14 high schools of Philadelphia.

"Pupils who took the course showed a very marked improvement in their handwriting," Scott said.

Carried Forward
The chamber of commerce heard about the course and arranged to carry it a step farther—into the "front office" of Philadelphia business houses.

The first adult class included vice presidents, newsmen, personnel directors, accountants, bank officials and department store executives, as well as teachers from schools in the Philadelphia suburbs. Nearly all the students planned to go back to their offices and teach others what they learned.

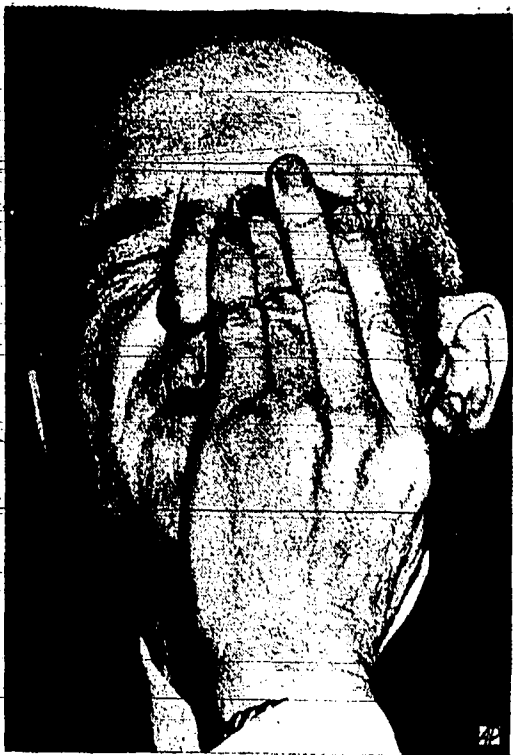

"One executive told me he had finally figured out why no one was paying attention to the memos he was sending out. They couldn't read his writing."

Union Wanted

VALLETTA, Malta, Feb. 14 (AP)—Returns last night showed the Maltese voted more than three to one for union of this British mid-Mediterranean kingdom. The count from Saturday's election was about half completed.

Malta is the midway link in the British Mediterranean lifeline. The firmly held Gibraltar fortress lies at the western end, the riot-racked British colony of Cyprus at the east.

Mitchell said during a stopover here last night that his trip to Hawaii was "private," and he was not going on labor department business. But he said "as a citizen" he believes the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union in Hawaii "very possibly is communist dominated."

Wife, Family Greet Victim Of Disorder

OGDEN, Feb. 14 (AP)—A 23-year-old railroadman, missing since last August, was reunited with his wife yesterday.

"How do you do," he said, without recognition, she wept.

Their two children he greeted in the same way. And his mother, and his father, and his sister.

A psychiatrist said he apparently had amnesia, but added he believed his memory would return.

Hal Lemmon, 34, Salt Lake City, drove his car into Mill Creek canyon just outside Salt Lake City, Aug. 29. He was going for a hike. He never came back.

Sits in Park

He says his memory now starts on Aug. 30 in Grand Junction, Colo. He was sitting in a park with $20 and some keys in his pocket. He got a job with the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad. He gave his name as Paul Gordon, Denver, Utah.

On Jan. 25, Ogdan attorneys for the railroad switchmen's union, Clyde C. Patterson and David S. Evans, found him in a Salda, Colo. hospital. He had been hurt in a train accident. He was not sure who he was.

The attorneys brought him to Ogdan. He told them he remembered working one time for the Southern Pacific railroad as a switchman in Los Angeles. He gave them the names of four men there.

Man recognized one of the four and showed him a picture of the man who called himself Gordon. The man recognized him as a man named Lemmon whose father was a school teacher in Salt Lake City.

Yesterday the attorneys told the story to T. R. Johnson, correspondent for the Salt Lake Tribune newspaper. Johnson remembered a man named Lemmon was missing from Salt Lake City. His sister lived in Ogdan. She is Mrs. Douglas Stringfellow.

A missing man's family was contacted in Salt Lake City. A reunion was arranged at Mrs. Stringfellow's home.

Investigations Are Held Into Solon Loyalty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The civil service commission has conceded that it sometimes makes loyalty-security investigations of congressmen and that the information in a "permanent confidential file" But generally few people are questioned except close friends of a congressman.

These disclosures came in reply to a house government operations subcommittee which wanted to find out whether the commission was investigating congressmen and for what.

The civil service commission last year, in reply to a routine questionnaire from the subcommittee, stated: "The commission does not maintain security files on members of congress."

The United Press revealed, however, that the commission had made security investigations of several members of congress, including Sen. Charles E. McNary, Mich., Irving M. Ives, R. N.Y., and James E. Murray, D. Mont. The three senators were checked as required by law because they were members of the international labor organization which meets each year in Geneva.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D. Calif., demanded an explanation.

Civil Service Chairman Philip Young has replied that security investigations have been made of eight congressmen—with their consent. He refused to name them.

Sugar Esters Sponsor New Product Uses

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Science has come up with a new detergent that is just what the ad writers have been waiting for. You can wash the dishes with it. You can brush your teeth with it. You can put out a snow-white wash with it.

And if you get hungry you can take a bite of it. It's edible.

Dr. H. B. Hass of New York, president of the Sugar Research Foundation, told a meeting of the Society of Sugar Beet Technologists that this truly "all-purpose" detergent should be on the market in bar and powder form in the next year or so. Called "Marriage."

Dr. Hass describes it as "a chemical marriage between fats and sugar." The scientific name for it is "sugar ester," and it consists of 42 per cent animal or vegetable fat and 58 per cent sugar.

According to Dr. Hass, sugar ester is colorless, odorless, tasteless, non-toxic and nutritious. It's also cheap—costing about 13 cents a pound to manufacture.

The Sugar Research Foundation has been working on sugar ester for 15 years, Dr. Hass says, and the results are so satisfactory that 40 patents have been expressed interest in manufacturing it. The foundation will grant licenses to anyone who wants to make it.

Boon to Housewives

Sugar ester will be a boon to housewives living in hard-water regions. No more ring around the tub after a bath, according to Hass.

As a dentifrice it will be far superior to any on the market today, he says. Although tasteless, it can be colored up with any flavor.

Industry stands to profit, too. Canning plants can use it to clean containers and fruits and vegetables without danger of impairing their natural flavor. Oil drillers can pump it into their wells to wash out the large quantities of oil that ordinarily cling to rock surfaces and cannot be brought to the surface.

Has Other Uses

Although primarily developed as a cleaning agent, Hass said, sugar ester has also proved valuable to persons with pancreatic trouble.

"These people cannot digest fats," he says. "Often you see elderly people with pancreatic trouble who seem to be wasting away. But adding sugar to the fat serves to emulsify or break down the fat and permit it to be digested."

The sugar is the key to the detergent's cleaning quality. It breaks down dirt or grease and lets the water wash it away.

Brahmas Shatter Afternoon's Calm

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 14 (AP)—The Sunday afternoon calm of downtown Phoenix was shattered by the snorting of Brahmas steers as police took potshots at a pack of the beasts who broke out of their feed pen. Four were cornered after about an hour; the other four were killed.

Some of the policemen perched safely on roofs to fire at the mad-eyed beasts.

One steer charged through the baggage room at Union station, sending redcaps and tourists scattering from his path.

Two men threw their suitcases in the air and ran screaming, and a 4-year-old boy missed the steer's horn by inches as the animal roared down the platform.

Russo-Japanese Talk Is Delayed

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Shunichi Matsumoto, Japan's chief delegate to the Russo-Japanese peace negotiations, said that sessions of the talks had been called off because Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik had gone to Moscow.

Matsumoto told a press conference that there would be no sessions of the Russo-Japanese peace negotiations for at least a week or 10 days.

He said Nicolai Adyrtshiev, one of the Soviet delegates to the peace talks, told him this morning that Malik had departed for Moscow yesterday morning to attend the Communist party congress.

GI Is Unharmful In Gas Poisoning

PARIS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Spec. 3 c Clarence Morin, Hays, Mont., who had been sought all over Europe in a gas-poisoning scare, is unharmful, the U.S. army announced yesterday.

The army began looking for Morin, who is fire marshal of its Chillon base, after a French employee at the base died of carbon tetrachloride poisoning apparently contracted in working with fire extinguishers.

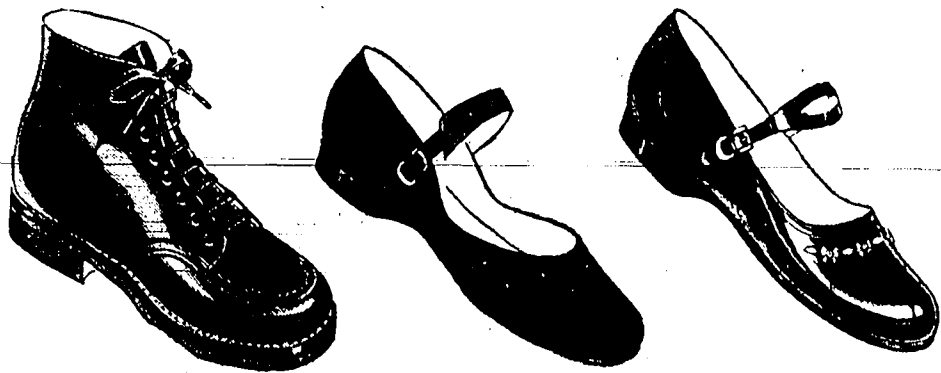

The Montanan had gone on leave and could not be located immediately for a checkup to insure that he had not suffered from the deadly fumes.

In Temple Rites

KIMBERLY, Feb. 14—A reception, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. Bean, was held Saturday evening in the Kimberly LDS chapel.

Beverly Jean Stanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stanger, Hanover, and Clinton W. Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beth Bean, Twin Falls, were married Feb. 8 in the Idaho Falls temple by Albert Choules.

The bride chose a full-length gown of lace and tulle over satin with a Peter Pan collar and long sleeves. Her tulle veil was worn with a Juliet cap fashioned of lace and seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of red roses and streamers tied with baby ribbons. She also carried the traditional tokens of sentiment.

Marion Stanger was the maid of honor and Mrs. Charles Bjelmetz, Eden, was the bride's attendant. Both wore pink antique taffeta ballerina-length gowns with bands of pink trimmed with white roses. They carried bouquets of pink and orchid shattered carnations.

Linda Stanger and Claude Stanger, gift carriers, wore dresses of the same style and material as the bridesmaids. They wore shattered pink carnation wristlets.

Glade Bean was the best man.

Mrs. Stanger chose a blue silk afternoon dress for her daughter's reception and Mrs. Bean wore a pink lace afternoon dress. Both wore corsages of pink shattered carnations and pink roses.

The reception table, covered with a lace cloth over pink, was centered with a five-tiered white cake decorated with pink-tipped roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Vase candelabras with pink heather and roses and white tapers completed the table.

Mrs. Floyd Stanger was in charge of the reception. Assisting in serving were Mrs. M. L. Galley, Mrs. Ethel Frahm, and Mrs. W. C. Lawyer.

Diane Baker was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Albert Bennett, Jr., Mrs. Farrel Hirst and Deon Bean and Leah Stanger presided at the gift table.

During the program, Mrs. Thurman Willis played piano music, Terry Lawyer played several organ selections; Linda and Carla Stanger sang "I Love You Truly"; Leo Stanger sang "Because"; and George Bennett sang "At Dawning." All were accompanied by Mrs. Dudley Whitte.

For her traveling ensemble, the bride chose a dark blue acetate silk tunic dress with light blue accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. She also wore a necklace and earrings set, the gift of the bridegroom.

The new Mrs. Bean was graduated from Hansen high school and Bean was graduated from Twin Falls high school. He has just completed a northwest mission.

Out-of-state guests were Mr. and Mrs. Farrel Hirst, Mr. and Mrs. Al-

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

When a parent sees only defects in a child and speaks to him only about them, there is bound to be trouble. The child feels that no matter how hard he may try, he cannot do anything right—and so stops trying.

No child yet ever came up to the standard his parents or relatives set for him. They quite overlook the fact that they never reached that standard, although they are mature people. Children must have time to acquire good habits and to cultivate their talents. Too, they must have encouragement to do either, and finding fault often rather than finding something to praise will not help.

It is easy to begin "picking" at a child. Someone notices that he chews with his mouth open, or he talks with his mouth full, or he never washes his hands, or he slouches. That fault, whichever it is, has attracted attention. It is looked for and pointed upon again and again. This centers attention even more, so that the habit of finding fault with him is set and the child is made miserable without hope.

We ought to remember that the child is a sensitive human being. Think how we would feel if we were constantly reminded of our shortcomings. Think how hard the day becomes when no one has a good word for us and think how a child, so young, so helpless under fire, must feel.

Children need to be told in clear words that they are liked, loved, just as they are. When they have to be corrected, take them aside one day when they are in happy accord with their lot and whisper: "Just whisper a word of advice. We're very proud of you, son, and want everybody else to feel a liking for you, so be a little careful of how you sit in a chair. Yes? That's the boy. I know you can do it if you just remember." Then immediately change the subject, so the child will not feel the weight of any displeasure he might fancy was set upon him.

The neighbors have a better view of one's child, because they look at him from a distance. They are not so likely to "pick." They will see his good points sooner than his anxious family will and not be so chary of their word of praise.

A mother will keep trying day after day to teach her 8-year-old son, even one older, to raise his hat to the lady he meets on the street. She will not be present when he greets his playmate's mother with a bow and a smile and so is astonished and delighted when that neighbor says, "How did you ever do it? His manners are wonderful. I wish our boy were like him."

Whatever you do, do not tease a hapless child. Dr. Patri explains why not and tells how to guide hapless children in his latest P.S., "The Bad Child." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 98, Station G, New York 16, N. Y.

EL CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 14 (AP)—Rolling, jarring earthquake shook widespread area of southern California at 10:34 a.m. (PST) today, lasted about a minute and one-half.

Blizzard Hits Plains Areas

By United Press

A zero cold wave and high winds stirred up near-blizzard conditions in the northern plains today.

The new wintry blast brought no more than an inch of new snow. But it clawed into heavy snow covers across parts of the Dakotas and Montana, cutting visibility drastically.

Temperatures dropped as much as 35 degrees, hitting their lowest point with 17 below zero at Cutbank, Mont. The 4 below at Bismarck, N. D., was 35 degrees under yesterday's high, and Minot, N. D., has a 32-degree drop to 6 below.

Forecasters said the cold front would stay in the north, moving into Minnesota today. But they warned some cold air would seep southward, colliding with a warm front and setting off drizzle and rains in parts of Illinois and Indiana.

The warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico meanwhile stirred up thunderstorms in the lower Mississippi and Ohio valleys today. It boosted temperatures 30 degrees in Texas and 10 to 15 degrees in Illinois and Indiana.

Incentive Plans Cited for Guard

BOISE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Maj. Gen. John Walsh, director of selective service for Idaho and military head of its national guard, says incentives will do a better job than draft laws in building up the nation's reserves.

Walsh said congress could stimulate interest in the reserves by extending the GI bill of rights to reservists, assisting businessmen who let their employees participate and taking other measures.
